The season began with high expectations, but those quickly faded. Tony Muser got fired, an interim manager replaced him, and Tony Pena eventually was hired as the manager.

Three managers, 100 losses and a season when off-the-field issues dominated.

Trade talks ran rampant, but never materialized.

Mike Sweeney signed a long-term contract. Paul Byrd politicked for a long-term deal, but got rebuffed by the Royals front office.

Strike talks loomed, but an agreement was met between players and owners.

The bright spots

In all the havoc off the field, perhaps you missed the highlights. There were few of them. In July, the team won nine straight games and showed signs of brilliance.

The Royals were out of contention, and decided to call up young pitching. One by one pitchers Sean Sedlacek, Jeremy Affeldt, Runley Hernandez, Ryan Bukovich and others were brought to the big leagues.

They befuddled opponents. For that brief nine-game stretch, fans believed. The young arms made it happen.

That was the best thing to come from this dreadful season.

Then the doldrums returned. Still, the Royals need to make those prospects stars. They are the future.

But as the 100-loss barrier inched closer, the only reason to watch was Sweeney's chase for the batting crown. It would have been his first, but he finished second in the race.

One other positive: the season ended. Today, the future is bleak. Fans want answers.

Why they don't win

The easy answer is money. You can say the Royals don't have enough of it. But that doesn't explain why Oakland and Minnesota are in the playoffs. Both are small markets.

Perhaps it is the players' hearts and desires. Sweeney doesn't seem like a warrior or a leader of men. He was the only reason to watch the Royals game on Sunday, and he sat out because of minor injury. His batting title hopes were dashed a day earlier, but what about his pride?

Individual stats aside, this team needed to avoid 100 losses. Sweeney should have played. He's the Royals' leader. The man is making $11 million a year — he defines this franchise.

It's darkest before the dawn

It has been 17 years since 1985 —

NICK BRATKOVICH

Nick is a senior in print journalism and public relations. You can e-mail him at neb030@ksu.edu

FUNDS | University, Riley County officials arguing about cooperative extension service agents' benefits

Continued from Page 1

spokesperson said. "We're continuing to pay our proportion of those benefits as well. The portion we pay is just going from 100 percent down to about 40 percent, so we're not failing to pay our bills. We're just sharing the non-retirement benefits."

But Newsome said that under the agreement, it is not the county's responsibility to pay for such benefits — it is K-State's.

The Extension Service receives county funds and federal funds, which are allocated by K-State. The 1945 agreement between the counties and K-State outlines what county and federal funds each should pay for.

Newsome said benefits fall under federal funding.

But Johnson said their actions are legal, and counties were informed about them.

"We just didn't dream this thing up and pop it up on them," Johnson said. "We had many discussions through the summer and spring on how to get through this budget shortfall, because it was very significant."

He said counties have responded to the increased cost by adding it to their budget requests to the county. That is where county commissioners see it as an increase.

Newsome said that when costs are passed from the university to the counties, it levies taxes against the people. In all, he said it is costing Riley County about $3,300 for each of its five agents — about $16,500 total. He said the groups Johnson talked to had no authority to pass costs on to Riley County, or any Kansas county.

"Those people don't have any authority to appropriate any tax money for anyone. The county commissioners are responsible for levying taxes, and we're talking about 105 counties that were never contacted or consulted," Newsome said.

He said he plans to visit with all of Kansas' county commissioners at their annual meeting in about one month. There, he will ask commissioners to make the issue part of the Kansas Association of Counties platform. He also said he will ask President Jon Wefald and Provost James Coffman to look at the situation.

Wefald refused to comment, and Coffman was unavailable for comment.

Newsome said that because the university is responsible for overseeing how Extension Services functions, commissioners are left with little choice.

"If we do not think the director is honoring those conditions, the only recourse we have is to make a political situation out of it and inform our legislators and people throughout the state."

AD ASTRA | Kansas' newest part of history coming to K-State before placement on capitol dome

Continued from Page 1

according to an article in the Topeka Capital-Journal.

In 1988, the Kansas Arts Commission sponsored a competition to select an artist and a design for a sculpture to complete the dome.

Richard Bergen won the competition and has been raising money to complete and deliver the statue through private donors.

"Ad Astra" will replace a 1,000-watt light bulb that now tops the dome on Oct. 7 when a helicopter places it on top of the Statehouse.

A current topic of discussion is that the installation of the sculpture will cost about $700,000. Some criticize the project because of state budget problems. "Ad Astra" also has been addressed by gubernatorial candidates Tim Shallenburger and Kathleen Sebelius.

There are three sections to the cost, Lori Bergen said.

The first section is for installation and modification of the cupola at the top of the dome, which the statue will rest on.

However, the cupola won't be able to support the entire weight of the 4,420-pound statue.

The construction modifications will transfer the weight from the cupola to the dome. The modification includes a platform that will have beams, which will go through the cupola to the top of the dome.

Another division is the cost of installation, which includes the equipment rental and workers.

The last division of the cost is the installation of lights.

Lori Bergen said the state will pay for the installation and modifications with money from government bonds.

Despite comments by Shallenburger about "Ad Astra" being compared to lawn art, Lori Bergen said she feels that all people should be free to express their beliefs, and she doesn't think the statue requires an explanation — it's there for people to look at.

"My dad has been traveling a week and a half, and everywhere they stop, people are overcome by how magnificent it is. People want to touch him, shake his hand and get his autograph," Lori Bergen said.

Lori Bergen said she "got choked up" with emotion when she first saw the completed sculpture.

"It's a magnificent piece," she said.

"First, it's a beautiful design. Second, there's a sense of dignity and history that surrounds the rightful position of the symbolism it represents to our state and the aspirations of our people."

WATKINS | Wildcat junior leads because of familiarity with course; K-State could have advantage today

Continued from Page 6

hard to adjust to.

"I guess the biggest part is that I know where to miss it," he said. "I'm not trying to go at every pin. I'm just trying to get it to the center of the green and let my putter do the talking.

Watkins said experience, along with knowledge of the course, gives the Cats the advantage over the final 18 holes.

"If the wind calms down, players are going to be able to adjust," he said. "But I believe that I have a little more course knowledge, and so does our team, than these other players. They've only played it once or twice and you know we've played it four or five times a week, so I think that will be more towards our advantage."

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished	120 For Rent-Houses	120 For Rent-Houses	145 Roommate Wanted
---	-------------------------------	-------------------------------	-------------------------------

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $400/month. Across from KSU campus. Available January first. Lease and deposit required. (785)537-7794.

FOUR-BEDROOM, THREE bath three acres Bankhill area. Central air, deck, two car garage, sun porch, available 10/1. $900/month. (785)317-3029.

HOUSE FOR RENT available October 1. Three-bedroom, washer/dryer, single car garage. 2039 College View. No pets. (785)456-7255/ (785)456-9000.

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592.

ROOMMATE WANTED in three-bedroom, two bath house. Walk to campus. Call (785)537-2882 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

bulletin board

Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Court yard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

NEW LOCATION as of October 1. Lewis's Auto Repair 610 B South Juliette. 770-8553. $40.00/hour labor rate call for appointment.

Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST SET of Pontiac Keys with key less entry between Z parking lot and Putnam hall. If found please call (785) 395-2050. Reward.

LOST: Two keys with a silver angel and Dillons card attached. Call if found (820)437-6484.

Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

105
For Rent-Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

ONE OR two-bedroom fully furnished. October rent paid. Sublease as soon as possible. (785)770-8866 or (620)870-0660 call anytime.

Fraternities • Sororities • Clubs
Student Groups

Earn $1,000-$2,000 this semester with a proven CampusFundraiser 3 hour fundraising event. Our programs make fundraising easy with no risks. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so get with the program! Contact CampusFundraiser at (888) 923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

120
For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, very nice four-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fireplace. No pets. (785)537-7050.

200 service directory

220
Weight Loss & Nutrition

ANNOUNCING A brand new method for achieving longevity and overall wellness. It's pure simplicity and it's easy. For an explanation on C disk mail $12 to True Publications, 810 Fremont #1 Manhattan, KS 66502.

310
Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol Vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evening, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollarsforopinions.com

NOW HIRING at Bowinkle's; cooks. Apply in person between 2-4 at 3043 Anderson Avenue.

Stay In Class At The Commons
Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

- Fully Furnished
- 2 & 4 Bedroom
- Alarm System
- Swimming Pool
- Washer/Dryer
- Computer Lab
- Fitness Center
- Permit Parking
- Tennis/Volleyball Courts
- Individual Leases

Office Hours: M-F 9-6, Sat. 10-4

530-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS

APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE

110
For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

Found something?

You can place an ad FREE for three days!

Kedzie 103 532-6555

200 service directory

220
Weight Loss & Nutrition

ANNOUNCING A brand new method for achieving longevity and overall wellness. It's pure simplicity and it's easy. For an explanation on C disk mail $12 to True Publications, 810 Fremont #1 Manhattan, KS 66502.

300 employment opportunities

120
For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, very nice four-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fireplace. No pets. (785)537-7050.

310
Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol Vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evening, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollarsforopinions.com

NOW HIRING at Bowinkle's; cooks. Apply in person between 2-4 at 3043 Anderson Avenue.

110
For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

Found something?

You can place an ad FREE for three days!

Kedzie 103 532-6555

120
For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, very nice four-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fireplace. No pets. (785)537-7050.

310
Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol Vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evening, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollarsforopinions.com

NOW HIRING at Bowinkle's; cooks. Apply in person between 2-4 at 3043 Anderson Avenue.

110
For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

Found something?

You can place an ad FREE for three days!

Kedzie 103 532-6555

120
For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, very nice four-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fireplace. No pets. (785)537-7050.

310
Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol Vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evening, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollarsforopinions.com

NOW HIRING at Bowinkle's; cooks. Apply in person between 2-4 at 3043 Anderson Avenue.

110
For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

Found something?

You can place an ad FREE for three days!

Kedzie 103 532-6555

120
For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, very nice four-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fireplace. No pets. (785)537-7050.

310
Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol Vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evening, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollarsforopinions.com

NOW HIRING at Bowinkle's; cooks. Apply in person between 2-4 at 3043 Anderson Avenue.

110
For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

Found something?

You can place an ad FREE for three days!

Kedzie 103 532-6555

120
For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, very nice four-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fireplace. No pets. (785)537-7050.

310
Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol Vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evening, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollarsforopinions.com

NOW HIRING at Bowinkle's; cooks. Apply in person between 2-4 at 3043 Anderson Avenue.

110
For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

Found something?

You can place an ad FREE for three days!

Kedzie 103 532-6555

120
For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, very nice four-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fireplace. No pets. (785)537-7050.

310
Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol Vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evening, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollarsforopinions.com

NOW HIRING at Bowinkle's; cooks. Apply in person between 2-4 at 3043 Anderson Avenue.

310
Help Wanted

Restaurant

WINGS. SPORTS. CAREERS.

ALL the ESSENTIALS!

Buffalo Wild Wings Grill and Bar, a wildly successful and fast-growing restaurant chain specializing in New York-style buffalo wings, has Bartender, Cook, Cashier & Server openings at our:

New Store Opening in Manhattan at 1231 Moro Street

With over 180 restaurants nationwide, our growth has created career opportunities for enthusiastic people with a passion for creating great food! We offer: tuition reimbursement, great pay; $150 CASH referral bonuses; schedules that fit your life; awesome managers; Medical, Dental, 401k with company match; and food to be proud of!

Apply in person starting on Monday, Sept 30th, from 9am - 5pm at 1231 Moro Street in Manhattan. EOE

310
Help Wanted

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xcalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

510
Automobiles

1986 MERCURY Marquis station wagon. V-8, loaded, power everything. Maintenance records, dependable, runs great. Seats 8. Super tailgating! (785)539-9148.

630
Spring Break

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1145 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

110
For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $400/month. Across from KSU campus. Available January first. Lease and deposit required. (785)537-7794.

120
For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, THREE bath three acres Bankhill area. Central air, deck, two car garage, sun porch, available 10/1. $900/month. (785)317-3029.

120
For Rent-Houses

HOUSE FOR RENT available October 1. Three-bedroom, washer/dryer, single car garage. 2039 College View. No pets. (785)456-7255/ (785)456-9000.

145
Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592.

ROOMMATE WANTED in three-bedroom, two bath house. Walk to campus. Call (785)537-2882 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

330
Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

600
travel/trips

1992 PLYMOUTH Laser. $1450 or best offer. (785)395-5955. After 5pm leave a message.

610
Tour Package

5 MOUNTAINS!

18th ANNUAL STEAMBOAT NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK from $199 to $669

Uskithis.com
1-888-USKITHIS

CYBERTERRORISM | Manhattan businesses taking steps to prevent computer cyberterrorism threats

Continued from page 1

"We have a firewall, password security, both internal and external," he said. "We also monitor Internet traffic."

Gibson said intrusion detection software makes it possible for him to know whenever someone unauthorized is using the system.

The firewall used by the city of Manhattan is a combination of hardware and software, Gibson said.

"It can act as a filtering device, both ingoing and outgoing," he said.

However, firewall protection is not an option for K-State's campus, said Larry Robertson, manager of the Information Technology Help Desk.

"We are not allowed to have firewalls," Robertson said. "It would be against the students' freedom of speech to prevent anything from coming into the system like that."

Robertson said the lack of a firewall is the reason that so many junk e-mails manage to get through the K-State system.

If students are worried about their individual computer systems, Robertson said, they should take advantage of the free version of Norton Anti-Virus that is available to all students and staff.

The program can be acquired at www.antivirus.ksu.edu.

Brad Gunther, K-State computer information specialist, said there are several things students can do to protect their systems.

"One of the things that is simple for a student to do is take advantage of the virus software, and make sure they have an updated version," he said.

Gunther also said students should use a program like Windows Update to make sure their programs and systems stay updated.

"Windows Update is basically a program that does all the patching for you," he said. "It lets you know when there is something new to download for a program you are using, and then allows you to download it fairly easily."

Students should also practice safe computing, Vandeventer said.

"Be aware of e-mail," he said. "If it is from someone you don't know or has a strange subject heading, just delete it."

Take a seat.
Let the
classifieds
do the work.

Kansas State Collegian classifieds
103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555

Fat's Bar & Grill

Tuesday
75¢ pints
50¢ draws
$1.25 big beers
$2 pitchers

Wednesday
$1.50 Anything

SELL YOUR STUFF TO STUDENTS

Yes, the students are back in town. They're spending money to furnish their living spaces, and they're shopping in the Kansas State Collegian classifieds.

Sell your stuff.

Call Collegian classifieds at 532-6555.

Read any good books lately?

Clafin Books and Copies

Staff Book Recommendations discounted 20%

FAST CASH$ EARN $50 THIS WEEK!

Donate your life-saving blood plasma and help people in your community.

Call or stop by:
ZLB Plasma Services
formerly Nabi Biomedical
Center
1130 Gardenway
785-776-9177

No appointment needed.
Fees & donation
time may vary. www.zlb.com

Cleaning house?
Sell your stuff to students.

Kansas State Collegian • classifieds • 103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555

GUMBY'S Pizza

Thurs - Sat
11 a.m. - 3:30 a.m.
Sun
11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon - Wed
11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.

FAST, FREE DELIVERY

SUNDAY
NFL FOOTBALL on 7 TVs
$3-60 oz. PBR pitchers
$2.50 Bloody Marys/
Screwdrivers

MONDAY
MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL
$1 PBR draws
$2.75 Absolut drinks

WEDNESDAY
$2 Coors Lt. Ponders
$2.75 Jack Daniels drinks

THURSDAY
PINT NIGHT/
GOLDEN TEE TOURNAMENT
$3 domestic pints w/ $1.50
refills & keep the glass!
$2.50 Bacardi drinks

FRIDAY
$3 domestic big ass beers
$2.50 Captain Morgan drinks

SATURDAY
KSU/COLLEGE FOOTBALL on 7 TVs
$1.50 domestic draws
$4 Red Bull and Vodka

$3 Bellast
O'Malley's
Guinness Fest 2002

Lee's Western Wear

Boots, Hats, Jeans, Belts, Shirts, and much more.
Now carrying Rockies Jeans
8424 E. Hwy 24
2 1/2 miles East of Manhattan
(785) 776-6715
Mon.-Fri. 10-6, Sat. 10-5

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."

539-3338

Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Little Caesars
TUESDAY SPECIAL!
18" GIANT PIZZA
WITH 1 TOPPING
PLUS AN 8 PIECE ORDER
OF CRAZY BREAD

$8.99

539-3333

No Coupon Necessary
Valid only at participating locations. ©2001 L.C.C., Inc.

No Country on tuesdays

• TOP 40
• MAINSTREAM RADIO
• LIVE DJ

TUESDAY NIGHT IS LADIES NIGHT
NO COVER FOR LADIES!

18 AND OVER WELCOME

BAR & GRILL

HUNAN EXPRESS
***Chinese Food Lover's Choice***

BUFFET

Lunch 11:00 - 2:30 $3.99
Dinner 5:30 - 9:00 $4.99

Hours: Sun.-Thurs. 11 - Midnight;
Fri. - Sat. 11 - 2:30 am

Free Delivery: 537-0886

1116 Moro St. Aggieville
(Only a few blocks south of KSU)

Ballard's

LATEST & GREATEST SELECTION OF APPAREL & FOOTWEAR FOUND AT
1218 Moro St. Aggieville
785-539-2441

EXCEED YOUR EXPECTATIONS WITH HORMEL FOODS

We're all competing.

Oct 21: Hormel Foods Information Session
6pm-8pm in the Ramsey Ball

Oct 22 & Oct 23: Interviews
Foodservice Sales, Grocery Product Sales,
Meat Products Sales, Production Management,
Industrial Engineers, Maintenance Engineers, Quality Assurance Management & Staff Accountant

Oct 22: American Marketing Association Presentation

If you want to fully utilize your degree from Kansas State University, take a look at our entry-level career opportunities. Hormel Foods, a Fortune 500 multinational manufacturer and marketer of consumer-branded food products, offers exciting careers with competitive salaries and benefits including profit sharing, 401K with a matching provision, non-contributory pension, relocation assistance, paid vacation, medical, dental, vision plan and more!

Interview with Hormel Foods and become part of a fast-paced environment in an always-changing industry!

Contact the Career Service Center to inquire about an interview with Hormel Foods. If unable to meet with us in person, please email your resume to careers@hormel.com

Hormel Foods

www.hormel.com

WE ARE AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

THE ROAD TO RETIREMENT MAY SEEM SMOOTH, BUT IT'S LITTERED WITH TOLLS.

Fees. Charges. Hidden costs. Over time these things can erode the retirement savings you're working so hard to build. Contact us, a company known for keeping costs low. It ain't a free ride, but it's close.

TIAA-CREF.org or call (800) 842-2776

TIAA CREF

Managing money for people with other things to think about.

RETIREMENT • INVESTMENT • MUTUAL FUNDS • COLLEGE SAVINGS • FINANCIAL • LIFE/HEALTH/ACCIDENT

TIAA-CREF Financial Group is a registered broker-dealer and investment advisor. TIAA-CREF Financial Group is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and the National Association of Securities Dealers. TIAA-CREF Financial Group is a subsidiary of TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Company, a member of the TIAA-CREF Group. TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Company is a member of the TIAA-CREF Group. TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Company is a member of the TIAA-CREF Group. TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Company is a member of the TIAA-CREF Group.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Wednesday, October 2, 2002

Chinese students protest

Lecture at Union heated during Taiwan debate

By James Huria
KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

Chinese students erupted in protest Tuesday night during a lecture regarding the United States' policy toward Taiwan.

K-State Police were called to the scene when members of the audience, primarily Chinese students, held signs and debated with the speaker. The protesters stayed in the Little Theater and surrounding areas for nearly an hour after the speech to continue discussions.

Michael Ponte, senior policy analyst for the Formosan Association for Public Affairs in Washington, D.C., was presenting a Lou Douglas Lecture about his opinion on the United States' policy.

Fonte said the United States should recognize Taiwan as an independent nation because of its strong economy, democratic government and good record of respecting human rights.

But Jessie Wu, a native of China, said Taiwan is part of China and should remain under the same government.

"China is like a family," said Wu, graduate student in industrial and manufacturing systems engineering.

Taiwan has been a part of China since ancient times, but in 1949 a civil war resulted in essentially two governments:

See TAIWAN Page 3

Business leaders stressing ethics

Nationwide letter urges instruction in college setting

By Rogie Dorpinghaus
KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

This week a letter is being distributed nationwide to almost 700 faculty members who teach business ethics and social responsibility. The letter, a response to recent corporate corruption, stresses the importance of teaching ethics in the classroom.

Diane Swanson, faculty fellow and associate professor of management at K-State, and William Frederick, professor emeritus of business administration at the University of Pittsburgh, co-wrote the letter.

"We are asking them to join us in putting pressure on the nation's business schools to make ethics a central part of a business student's education," Frederick said.

Swanson said the requirements for teaching business ethics are not uniform enough. "It needs to be better planned and carried out on the national level," she said.

"Right now, the extent to which each professor covers ethics is left up to each professor."

Frederick said the letter is in response to the string of corporate corruption and crime from companies like Enron, WorldCom and Global Crossing.

See ETHICS Page 8

Merit awards under fire

Study finds scholarships not going to those needing them most

By Lynne Hermansen
KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

Merit scholarships reward students' academic achievements.

However, the scholarships do not always go to students who need the financial assistance most, according to a recent Harvard University study.

Merit scholarships give students recognition for their leadership success and academic achievements.

The purpose of merit scholarship programs is to encourage in-state college enrollment among top students with academic excellence and to cut across economic and social barriers, according to the study.

The study found in its review of merit programs in four states that merit scholarship programs were widening the gap between white and minority students.

Merit programs that were looked at critically include Florida's Bright Futures Scholarship program.

Researchers' results from Florida showed that the program over-represented white students compared to minority students.

In 1998, white students made up 61 percent of the student population but were 77 percent of aid recipients. Black students made up 28 percent of students, while only 8 percent received financial aid.

The study recommended expanding the definitions of merit, putting income caps on the aid and allowing students to receive both merit and need-based aid.

Although K-State does not have data showing a comparison of which ethnic groups receive more merit scholarships, enrollment figures show that the gap between white and minority groups has narrowed slightly during the past three years.

Juanita McGowan, director of the American Ethnic Studies program, said she supports Harvard's findings.

She said some students of color might not be aware of or have access to the opportunity to apply for and receive merit scholarships.

"We must look at the grooming process used to prepare students who apply for scholarships," McGowan said.

"We must ask the question, are all students exposed to these opportunities?"

McGowan said K-State officials should reexamine the way they go about making

See MERIT Page 8

'AD ASTRA'

Students, residents flock to Union Plaza to view dome sculpture

By Jamie Barrett
KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

Rich Bergen vowed not to cut his hair or shave until his father's sculpture is on top of the Kansas Statehouse.

In 1988, Rich's father, Richard Bergen, won a contest sponsored by the Kansas Arts Commission to design a sculpture to be placed on the dome of the Statehouse. At that time, the younger Bergen decided he wasn't going to cut his hair or shave until the project was completed. He figured it would only be about three or four years.

Now, 14 years later, Rich can't wait for Oct. 7 — the day the sculpture will be placed on the dome.

"I'm ready for a haircut," he said. Members of the Bergen family have been traveling across Kansas for the past two weeks, taking the 22-foot-tall, 4,420-pound, silicon, bronze and stainless steel sculpture of a Kans. American Indian to 30 cities around the state. The sculpture paused in Manhattan Tuesday, making stops at both the K-State Student Union Plaza and the Manhattan Arts Center.

Richard said the response he has been receiving from people all over the state has been overwhelming.

"When you do something like this, you never know if it is any good or not, but after I travel across the country and people are oohing and aahing and praising it, and they can't think of enough good words to say about it, I think I must have done a pretty good job," he said.

The sculpture will replace a 1,000-watt light bulb that now illuminates the dome of the Statehouse. What should top the dome has been a question since the completion of the Statehouse in 1901, spurring KAC to have the contest in 1988.

Sarah Price, graduate student in art, said she didn't even know the Statehouse was originally supposed to have a sculpture on top of it.

"I am glad that it is finally getting done," she said. "I think it's a good symbol for the Kansas capitol, both because of the art and the history."

Richard said he used inspiration from books and pictures about Kansas to sculpt every detail of the American Indian, from the loincloth to the medicine bag that hangs around the sculpture's neck. But, Richard said, another important aspect of the sculpture is what it represents.

He said he liked the words "ad astra", Latin for "to the stars," and thought the first two words of the Kansas motto would make a good name for the statue. He then decided he would sculpt the Indian pointing an arrow to the North Star.

"You know you can depend on the star to find your way home — you look at that North Star, and you

Nicole Donnert | COLLEGLIAN

Sadahiro Saeki, professor of mathematics, touches the bow of "Ad Astra" during its two-hour stay outside the Union on Tuesday afternoon. The artist, Richard Bergen, has been touring Kansas with the statue before it goes to Topeka.

Nicole Donnert | COLLEGLIAN

A Native American warrior statue, "Ad Astra," lies on a flatbed trailer outside the K-State Student Union Plaza on Tuesday afternoon. Richard Bergen made the 20-foot-tall statue to be mounted atop the Kansas capitol dome.

INSIDE

Our best side: Ambassadors travel to promote K-State's strengths to future students

Page 5

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

State legislative leaders forecast more large cuts for current budget

The state must cut at least another $100 million from its current budget to avoid having a deficit on June 30, legislative leaders said Tuesday. Committee members said they expect the current $4.4 billion in spending to leave a budget deficit of about $103 million — even with the $41 million in cuts that Gov. Bill Graves ordered in August.

• • •

Powell rules out weapons inspections without new resolution

Secretary of State Colin Powell, clashing with the chief U.N. weapons inspector, said Tuesday the search for hidden arsenals in Iraq should be held up until the Security Council adopts tough new rules.

• • •

Prosecutors to bring criminal charges against ex-Enron official Fastow

Federal prosecutors plan to bring criminal charges as early as today against Andrew Fastow, the alleged mastermind of the financial schemes that toppled Enron in a scandal that shook confidence in the stock market, a law enforcement source said Tuesday.

• • •

AOL to deliver abducted-children alerts to its 26 million members

The nation's largest Internet service, America Online, will begin transmitting Amber Alerts about abducted children onto the screens of computers, pagers and cell phones of more than 26 million subscribers in dozens of states and cities.

Weather

Today 77 | 52

Thursday 72 | 55

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 30

SPONSORED BY:
M·A·N·H·A·T·T·A·N
CHRISTIAN COLLEGE
www.mccks.edu

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Doctrine
4 Makes up one's mind
8 Tug hard
12 Resort
13 Irritate
14 Sheltered
15 No Derby winner
16 Athletic show of versatility
18 Worthless stuff
20 Cattle call?
21 That's a laugh
24 Pizzazz
28 Racers who leap
32 Withered
33 Expert
34 Caravan-sary
36 Zlich
37 Like a model
39 Track-and-field event
41 Red River city
43 Stoic philosopher
44 Sp. lady's title

DOWN

2 Mast
5 Vast 6 New money
7 Create
8 Hosiery shade
9 From the top
10 Raw minerals
11 Film director
12 Lee
13 "It's a Roman-tic?"
14 "Mast"
15 "It's a Roman-tic?"
16 "Mast"
17 "It's a Roman-tic?"
18 "Mast"
19 "It's a Roman-tic?"
20 "Mast"
21 "It's a Roman-tic?"
22 "Mast"
23 "It's a Roman-tic?"
24 "Mast"
25 "It's a Roman-tic?"
26 "Mast"
27 "It's a Roman-tic?"
28 "Mast"
29 "It's a Roman-tic?"
30 "Mast"
31 "It's a Roman-tic?"
32 "Mast"
33 "It's a Roman-tic?"
34 "Mast"

Solution time: 25 mins.

Yesterday's answer 9-11

STUMPED?

For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-228-5858. 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18¢ only) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

FG AQSS RNPPUNP EDZ D
PNDSSG EQHN DKKNRUN.
U HQZZ EN FQZR AN D
AXRRXFSNZZ KUR!
Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE MUSHROOM HAD NO IDEA WHY HE GOT NO DATES. AFTER ALL, HE WAS REALLY A FUNGI.
Today's Cryptoquip Clue: R equals T

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK #1 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 1, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.
The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Dana Strongin at 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(ISSN 291-0201) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Keadie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Keadie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.
© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

BANTER AND BELLOW | Knighting

People suffering from bad hair-dos, asthma deserve ceremonial recognition for struggles

Hats off to the mulleteer

I choose to knight the people of the mullet community as a whole, because it takes raw brawn and fortitude to sport the hair-do.

Although I cannot be categorized as a mulleteer myself, I can respect those who are.

Wearing a hair style that is not popular, or one that could get you shot if you venture into the wrong neighborhood, takes a stout heart. These rat-tailed, Mississippi-mud-flapped partiers have worked too hard to get the kind of negative attention they've been receiving the past few years.

I once saw an old silver mullet man driving an old silver car. How many people would take the time to find a car that matched their hair? People who are worthy of being knighted, that's who.

Men, women and children of the mullet clan add spice to our lives. What other people have the chivalry to wear fluorescent-colored jeans or T-shirts with a howling wolf on the front? I'm talking about the caterpillar-lipped, rusted-out-Trans-Am-driving AC/DC fans. These peeps need some respect, so give it.

People are always talking about wanting "their people" represented in legislation. To heck with that. I want to see a mulletted president. Red, yellow, black or white: every type of mullet emotes strength and courage. Let us be united through a haircut.

If you're low on mullet sightings, I suggest taking a short drive to the Kansas Speedway in Kansas City. Seventy-five percent of race fans have mullets. Then, take a hay bale trolley ride over to the new Cabella's outdoor outfitter and spend the afternoon with hundreds more.

Or, you can attend the Kansas State Fair, which offers mullets galore.

So hats off to Billy Ray Cyrus and Slater from "Saved by the Bell." You have shown us the way.

Wheezy wins in a breath

Layton seems to think we can pull off mass-knightings. If that's the case, then I choose to knight the legions of asthma sufferers.

First and foremost, keep in mind that the asthmatic is a victim. The mulletman creates his own problems. Score one for Wheezy.

Asthma sufferers face uncomfortable lives. Take my life - I didn't even develop problems with asthma until I became a competitive high school athlete. Alanis Morissette - not that I like her - would have to add that to her irony list.

Let's take a trip back to my sophomore year in high school, back to Honors Algebra II with Mr. Kennedy, who expected a certain level of order in his class.

But the class, and his lectures, would inevitably be disturbed by what can only be described as "The Goose," a dry hack I can make at will. I can, and often have to, make The Goose without even coughing - although I sound like an aging dog with kennel cough.

The Goose has calmed over the years. But the embarrassment of sharing it with new people will never take flight.

The asthmatic is also tied down with medication. Forget My Buddy - everywhere I go, it's My Inhaler and me.

Don't be alarmed if you see me sucking on the airway-opener when I'm out. For some reason, partying - sometimes associated with consuming alcoholic beverages - makes my bronchioles swell like a greedy chipmunk's cheek.

Life is hard for those who wheeze. One running partner likened me to a steaming teapot.

Yet the asthmatic moves on, braving embarrassing walks up stairs and forever fearing an oxygen-tanked future.

Let us recognize the asthmatic with a sword-edged shoulder pat through a knighting ceremony. I hope they don't get too nervous during the ceremony - that could be embarrassing.

You can e-mail Banter and Bellow columnists Layton Ehmke, senior in print journalism, and Dana Strongin, junior in print journalism, at banter@pub.ksu.edu.

Photo by Jeanel Drake | COLLEGIAN

The blotter

Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Monday, Sept. 30

- At 2 p.m., William Jeter, 1312 Flint Hills, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $5,000.
- At 7:06 p.m., Myrtle Crawford, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear and probation violation. Bond was set at $2,000.
- At 9:30 p.m., Bradley Shadburn, 2108 Fort Riley Blvd., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $105.

The planner

Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Keadie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

- Recreational Services will be taking entries for the intramural student golf meet from today until Thursday in the administrative office.
- Up 'Til Dawn is accepting applications for six-person teams to raise money for St. Jude Children's Hospital from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Oct. 15 in Holton 203.
- 2002 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Oct. 18, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.
- Lafene Health Center is sponsoring the Campus Health Fair from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Courtyard.
- Career and Employment Services will sponsor a federal jobs panel with representatives from federal agencies at 3:30 p.m. in Union 212.
- Phi Upsilon Omicron will meet at 4 p.m. in Justin 247.
- The K-State Chess Club meets from 6 to 10 tonight in Union 206.
- KSU Aikido will conduct a martial arts class from 7 to 9 tonight in Ahearn 301.
- Balanced College Students will meet at 5 p.m. Thursday in the Ford Hall lobby.
- Pre-Physical Therapy Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Union 209.

Up Next

In Thursday's Collegian

News | Skin concerns

As winter approaches, some choose tanning beds to maintain their summer tints. The Collegian takes a look at health risks involved with closing the lid.

Opinion | Ecstasy and autumn

Susan Powell explores the common party drug Ecstasy and an article she came across linking the euphoric drug to increased cases of Parkinson's disease. Layton Ehmke marvels about the best time of year, autumn, and how it brings out the best in ourselves and nature.

The Edge | Theatre Thursday

"Art" opens in Nichols Theatre Thursday. The play is about a canvas painted white and a group of friends discussing whether it qualifies as art.

Sports | Bouncing back

The volleyball team takes on Texas Tech tonight in Ahearn Field House. Find out if the Cats can rebound from their loss to Texas on Saturday and beat the Red Raiders.

Got something to sell? Advertise in the Collegian classifieds | Stop by Keadie 103 or call 532-6555

BOWINKLES KARAOKE STARTS @ 9pm
DOMESTIC BOTTLES
IMPORT BOTTLES
WELL
KID FRIENDLY
A CHINESE TRADITION

Lee's Western Wear
Boots, Hats, Jeans, Belts, Shirts, and much more.
Now carrying Rockies jeans
8424 E. Hwy 24
2 1/2 miles East of Manhattan
(785) 776-6715
Mon.-Fri. 10-6, Sat. 10-5

royal RP purple ARE YOU IN?
Wednesday, October 2
Don't forget to take your
FREE portrait pictures
Lambda Chi Alpha
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Phi Kappa Theta
6:30 - 9:30 p.m.
Next up: Thursday, October 3
Phi Gamma Delta 10 a.m.-5 p.m. • Sigma Nu 6:30-9:30 p.m.

you can finally buy a book
WORTH ITS PRICE
Campus Phone Books
on sale now in Keadie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Mini-Bingo 1:15 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
Mini-Bingo 6:45 p.m.
"Progressive Bingo"
Sundays & Wednesdays
- Win Big Bucks -
114 McCall Rd.

PIZZA SHUTTLE
DELIVERS
1800 Claflin Road
776-5577
We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

Fat's Bar & Grill
Wednesday
$1.50 Anything
Thursday
$2.50 pitchers
$2 Shiner Bock
$2.50 Fishbowls
Live Texas Music

Delivers the latest! GUMBYS Pizza & Pub
Great Spot Before or After Aggieville closes
702 N. 11th Street
Sunday 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Thurs. - Sat. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Fast Delivery Drive-In, Carry-Out
770-3333

1 Wednesday wildcat $6.99
X-LARGE 16" CHEESE PIZZA • WEDNESDAY ONLY • CARRY OUT ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA
2 BIG ASS 20" One Topping $11.99 or Two for 21.99
Additional Toppings $1.18 per pizza
3 DORM special
12" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 12" POKEY STICKS • $5.99
14" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 14" POKEY STICKS • $6.99
M-TH ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA • CAMPUS ADDRESS ONLY
EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH

Planning a social event?
LUNAR TUNES mobile dj service
Let LUNAR TUNES take care of the entertainment!
• Competitive Rates
• Extensive Music Library
• Reliable Service
• Experienced DJ's
• Personalized Packages
• Weddings
• Anniversaries
• School Dances
• Greek Functions
• Private Parties
785-776-9140
<http://www.lunartunes.8m.com/>

Organization donates comfort dolls

Circle K activity attempts to ease patients' anxieties

By James Hurla
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

This is the stuff love is made of.

Members of Circle K spent Tuesday evening stuffing cotton into comfort dolls for children at a local hospital.

The comfort dolls will be donated to Mercy Health Center as a way to make children at the hospital feel more comfortable, Chelsea Mueller, president of Circle K, said.

"Kids are really scared when they go to the hospital," Mueller, sophomore in psychology, said. "The doll can help them feel better. They can color on them, hold them and show the doctor on the doll what hurts on them."

The dolls are blank material for the children to draw on, and doctors use the dolls as models of what types of procedures the children will receive.

Frank Morrison, chair of the Kiwanis committee in charge of the project, said it is important for the patients to realize that the doll belongs to them.

"It helps the child in a strange environment, who doesn't know what will happen, to have something familiar," Morrison said.

This is the second year Circle K has participated in the doll stuffing, and Mueller said the group will stuff dolls at least once more this year.

While she threads her needle, Kortney Steinhurst, junior in human resource management and geography, talks with Hilary Schepers, sophomore in accounting and finance. After the Kiwanis Club, volunteers helped stuff and sew dolls for Mercy Health Center. The dolls help young patients express where they hurt, as well as give them the opportunity to see in advance what the doctor will do to them.

"There is much benefit for the child that receives the doll," said Kortney Steinhurst, membership director for Circle K and junior in human resource management and geography. "There's a chance to be comforted by something, and we receive the satisfaction of knowing we did what we could."

Steinhurst said the doll stuffing is her favorite of Circle K's activities because of the interaction with Kiwanis members.

"It's a social event as well as helping out — everybody benefits," she said.

Kiwanis sponsors Circle K, which is a service-oriented organization for college students.

Other Circle K activities include tutoring local school children, helping with the Special Olympics and being pen pals with school children around

Kansas.

Kiwanis is an international service organization whose focal point is "Young Children: Priority One," Morrison said.

Kiwanis has been involved in recent years in fighting iodine deficiency, Morrison said, along with many other activities designed to benefit children.

The two clubs produced about 50 dolls Tuesday night, Morrison said, and has produced about 160 since the program began in June 2001.

Morrison said he has not heard much feedback from hospitals or families about the dolls, but said he knows they are appreciated.

"Particularly gratifying is that interest is growing to do volunteering for this project," Morrison said.

Commission approves rezoning of Wal-Mart

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

New steps were taken by the city of Manhattan on Tuesday night toward the development of a new Wal-Mart Supercenter as city commissioners and Mayor Ed Klimek unanimously approved the first reading of the rezoning ordinance with a 5-0 vote.

The vote for the rezoning area, which consists of a 22.5 acre tract of land, came after months of planning and numerous revisions of the various developments.

The first ordinance reading is in effect under ten conditions, among them the provisions of various landscaping and irrigation features and traffic and drainage improvements.

"The city staff has been helpful through this process," said Bob Johnson, developer of the Kansas City Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. "I think that with this plan, we've listened and feel we've added elements to the plan and that it will be a positive asset to the city of Manhattan."

Developers are planning to expand the existing Wal-Mart located east of the intersection of Tuttle Creek Boulevard and Bluemont Avenue. If everything goes smoothly and deadlines are met, Johnson said, the Wal-Mart Supercenter hopes to open its doors by the fall of 2003.

"This will not only serve Manhattan, but the surrounding areas as well," he said.

In addition, with the economic slowdown after Sept. 11 last year, area merchants are hoping the attraction of the new Supercenter will bring new economic growth throughout the city.

"With the continued growth, this redevelopment has a positive impact, and we stand in support of the rezoning," said Lyle Butler, president of the Manhattan Area Chamber of Commerce.

Along with the discussion of the rezoning ordinance, Paul Bertrand, from George Butler and Associates, went over the future plans for the traffic conditions of Tuttle Creek Boulevard, Bluemont Avenue and surrounding streets affected by the expansion.

TAIWAN | Lou Douglas lecture draws protesters

Continued from Page 1

the communists of the People's Republic of China on the mainland and the democratic government of Taiwan, run by the Kuomintang.

The United States currently recognizes one China, but neither recognizes Taiwan as independent nor as part of China.

Fonte said he would support recognizing Taiwan, but whatever decisions the United States makes, the discussions must be kept peaceful.

Many of the protesters, though, said they felt strongly about keeping China unified with Taiwan.

"The Chinese are a traditional people," said Dong Cao, graduate student in electrical engineering. "This is like a family reunion, and we need to have the whole family."

C.S. Chang, a Taiwanese-born Manhattan resident, said many of the protesters were not open to hearing the truth.

"(Fonte) gave a good briefing," Chang said. "Some probably accepted what he had to say, but others refuse to realize it."

Many of the protesters spoke out during Fonte's speech and held signs that read "One China: Peaceful Reunion," and other slogans supporting their view.

Chang said many of the students who grew up in mainland China only were taught what the government wanted them to know and might have a distorted view of the history.

"Some of the students were pretty emotional," Chang said. "But they are allowed to talk — it's a free country. They probably couldn't talk and hold signs like that in China."

Campus Police were unavailable for comment.

PART-TIME JOBS

Starting at $8 per hour

Help needed to take inventory in retail stores.
Average 10-12 hours on weekends.
Weekday daytime hours are also available,
averaging 25 to 35 hours,
depending on your availability.

Apply in person
Landon Room, Ramada Inn

Thursday, Oct. 3, 2002 at
4:30 p.m. or 6 p.m.

Interviews will start promptly

Please visit us at: www.ksu.edu/bakeclub

Physical Therapy Club

First Meeting

Thursday, October 3

7:30 p.m.

A current physical therapist will speak.

All current and prospective physical therapy students are encouraged to attend!

K-State Student Union Room 209

Cindy Zapletal

Fair broadband rules will benefit Kansans

Cable companies control about 70% of the high-speed Internet market nationwide and in Kansas — not because they offer better products or services than their competitors, but simply because they face less regulation. Companies offering the same services should be regulated the same way.

For more information on this and other telecommunications issues, visit www.connectkansas.org

Everyone agrees: broadband — or high-speed Internet access — is vital to the future success of Kansas. Broadband is a critical tool in today's global economic environment, and access to it is an important consideration for companies seeking to move or grow their businesses.

The trouble is, broadband isn't as accessible as it should be. SBC Southwestern Bell has invested millions into Kansas' broadband network in order to provide its version of high-speed Internet access, Digital Subscriber Line (DSL) service to customers, yet because of uneven regulation, many Kansans can access broadband only through cable or not at all.

In fact, cable companies control about 70% of the broadband market nationwide and in Kansas — not because they offer better products or services than their competitors, but simply because they face less regulation. Here in Kansas, cable companies face no state broadband regulation whatsoever. And of course, they're loving it.

Why? Telecommunications companies like SBC which are trying to compete are burdened with dozens of costly rules and regulations. And state regulators are contemplating adding their own rules on top of the regulations already in place. Such heavy-handed regulation raises the price of providing DSL service, slows broadband deployment and hinders network investment. Above all, it creates an unfair competitive marketplace, which ultimately hurts customers like you.

Companies offering the same services should be treated the same way. And less regulation will clearly mean more competition in broadband. It's time for our state's policy-makers to level the playing field for high-speed Internet access. Talk to your legislators about this issue, and urge them to ensure that high-speed Internet deployment moves forward, by making the rules fair. Once they do, all Kansans will reap the rewards of real broadband competition — better prices, more choices, a stronger network and greater access.

Cindy Zapletal
Director, External Affairs

COLLEGE IS TOUGH.

COMMERCE IS EASY.

When you're in college, the last thing you want to worry about is banking. Lucky for you, Commerce Bank has made the decision easy. Open a checking account today and turn your ID card into an ATM/debit card that can be used all over campus and all over town.

Use your card at any of these convenient locations:

OFF CAMPUS

Appleseed Art & Frame
Ballard's Sporting Goods
Candlewood Aesthetics
Center Medical Skin Care
Candlewood Veterinary Clinic
Cory Company Inc.
Cat's Closet
Children's Book Shop
Gortney Chiropractic
Domino's Pizza
Dr. Paul Bullock, Optometrist
Eric Wisdom, D.D.S., P.C.
G. Thomas Jewelers
Guiding Light Greetings, Gifts & Nutrition
Hibachi Hot
Home-Shed Rental Furniture Warehouse
It's Greek To Me
Kansas Veterinary Education Supply
K-Hill Engine Service
Kistner's Flowers & Greenhouse
Olson's Shoe Service
Orthopaedic Sports Medicine
Pet Stop Automotive

ON CAMPUS

Annual Science & Industry Athletics
Bluemont Barber
Cares & Employment
Continuing Education
Diagnostic Medicine
Hall Library
Housing During Services Office
Kansas Education Center
K State ID Center
K State Union Book Store
K State Union Career Center

K State Union Computer Store
K State Union Copy Center
K State Union Food Court
K State Union Recreation Center
Labor Health Center
McLean Auditorium
Moore Hall Food Store
Parking Services
Quick Cuts - Varsity
Recreational Services
Registrar's Office
Student Publications
Telecommunications
Union Business Office
Union Program Council
University Success Office
Veterans Medicine Hospital
Veterans Medicine
Veterans Medical Technology Center

Call, click, or come by • 532-3500 • www.commercebank.com

Commerce Bank

TO THE POINT Merit-based scholarships appropriate

A recent Harvard study found that merit scholarships don't go to students who need financial assistance the most.

News for Harvard: merit scholarships stand behind their name. Their purpose is to reward merit, not assist those with need.

Merit scholarships reward students who have worked hard and are dedicated to their studies. These rewards are a necessary part of the college tuition payment pie.

Ninety-five percent of K-State's scholarships are based on merit, said Larry Moeder, director of student financial assistance. That might seem like a lot, but it does not include students using loans or grants.

Also, awarding high achievers for past successes will encourage good students to come here, therefore strengthening the university.

The presence of merit awards does not, and should not, change the fact that need-based assistance is essential. This aid gives non-merit qualifiers an opportunity to attend college when they may have been unable to.

Students come from varied financial and academic backgrounds. Different types of monies should be available so everyone will have a chance – whether it be a chance for aid or a chance for reward.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Jeanel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Jeanel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   AGE EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

GHOST TOWNS

Future of small communities decided by corporations, urbanization

It's getting easier to forget where we came from.

With the advent of huge, corporate farms and increasing urbanization, many small towns are shrinking – and some have all but disappeared.

Joseph J. D'Amico, of the North Central Regional Educational Laboratory, writes, "Many rural communities are shrinking – and in some cases shrinking out of existence." Although I've known about this trend for a while, last weekend the numbers took on added significance.

I was driving home from my sister's house in Big Lake, Mo. – the sign says "Pop. 127," but it was put up before my sister and her husband had a child, so the real population is more like 130.

As my younger brother and I passed through half a dozen towns in northwestern Missouri, it occurred to me that many of them had more people in their graveyards than in their phone books.

The trend continued – the situation was the same in southeast Nebraska and in northeast Kansas.

We drove past innumerable abandoned homesteads. Their silos stood guard over the fields like obsolete sentinels. Their barns were run down, their paint peeling, their roofs holier than the Rev. Oral Roberts' special vials of miracle anointing oil.

It's been more than a century since many of these buildings arose out of the sweat, blood and tears of tough-as-nails farmers intent on making good lives for their families.

Our nation was built on the backs of hard-working farmers and small-town entrepreneurs. In 1800, there weren't many white settlers in Kansas. By 1900, most of the state's main towns – including Manhattan – were booming. It was the same way across the Midwest.

Farmers have always had to contend with droughts and loan officers, but with the added strain of corporate competition, many have given up and gone to live easy lives in the suburbs.

As our nation's small towns dwindle, we should not forget how those towns began. The hollow farmhouses represent the resolve of tenacious people who wanted to make good lives for themselves.

Life on our ancestors' farms seems to many of us like a wad of never-ending toil, but they wanted to work to get ahead. That's why they moved out of their comfort zones in places like Ohio and Virginia.

They weren't afraid of getting their hands dirty in order to make better lives for themselves and their descendants.

We could learn a thing or two from the people who built those barns and silos that are now worn out and used up. They knew what it meant to sacrifice everything for the sake of those they cared about, even if it meant hard work before life got better.

That's the American Dream in a nutshell – being able to work hard for what we want. It's what makes the United States such a great place to live.

We need to remember the sacrifices our forerunners made to build a life in this country. If we don't keep that in mind as we live our own lives, we might be tempted to get ahead by taking advantage of the system or by trying to do things the easy way.

Real success comes from hard work and determination. At least, that's what the people who built America believed.

Micah is a senior in English and history. You can e-mail him at mph7686@ksu.edu.

MICAH HAWKINSON

Illustration by Jeff Yeung | COLLEGIAN

People should consider all costs before choosing pets

Pet health care is getting more expensive, especially for college students on a budget.

My husband and I laughed at pamphlets in the K-State Small Animal Clinic waiting room promoting animal insurance. I even made a comment like, "Yeah, right. Like people need insurance for their pets. What idiots actually buy into this crap?"

After more than $2,000 in vet bills, we realized we should have been two of those "idiots."

We had no idea our yellow lab, Bailey, would need two separate knee surgeries for torn ligaments. We had no idea she would need any kind of surgery – besides the routine spaying, of course.

We also have two cats to provide for.

This is where people make mistakes – they're not aware of possible complications that could cost them hundreds of dollars, possibly forcing them to surrender their beloved companion to an animal shelter or neighbor's home.

According to a Sept. 15 Kansas City Star article, more than 64 million Americans pay significant shares of pet-ownership expenses to veterinary care. According to the American Pet Products Manufacturers Association, veterinary care will account for the majority of the estimated $31 billion Americans will spend on pets in 2003.

One way pet owners can save money is by avoiding excessive diagnostic testing. Such tests are frequently overdone and cause unnecessary stress for the animals. Treatment often end up being the same, regardless of diagnosis.

Recommendations for multiple tests up front should be a warning sign that veterinarians are trying to add unnecessary charges to your bill, so be on the lookout next time your pet needs a routine checkup.

Pet owners can also save money on vaccinations. Most vets now offer a three-year rabies shot so pets don't have to come back every year. Other vaccinations, such as distemper, parvovirus, feline leukemia, hepatitis and bordatella, are preventative recommendations.

However, if you have no plans to board your pets, the bordatella shot is unnecessary. Also, if you have one cat who is always inside away from other animals, the feline leukemia vaccination is extraneous. These shots are not legally required, unlike rabies vaccinations, and there is increasing evidence that too many vaccines might cause harm.

The age and overall health of pets should be considered when making vaccination appointments. But if your pets are in tip-top shape and are at an age when they are unlikely to become seriously ill or die as a result of contracting a disease, your pet probably doesn't need multiple vaccinations.

One last line of defense against outrageous vet bills is to keep an eye on the charges. If you notice anything suspicious, be sure to bring it to your vet's attention. If there is a problem, it can't be fixed if you don't speak up.

For more resources on dealing with veterinary costs, you can visit the U.S. Human Society's Web site at www.hsus.org, or the Internet animal hospital, Pet Center, at www.petcenter.com.

You can learn additional tips to prevent those vet bills from skyrocketing. My husband and I definitely learned our lesson.

It is still possible for college students to have pets. They just need to have a plan and a budget.

Remember, before you choose a pet, consider all costs – food, health care, cleaning – before making a decision. This, too, will help prevent unwanted expenses.

Being smart about pet costs will leave you with more money to do things you like, instead of wasting hours waiting in a vet's office.

Amber is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail her at adm9559@ksu.edu.

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

Listen, we aren't mad about the furniture anymore, so get over it. But please stay away from our apartment.

For the person who said we need to open our eyes and see how beautiful the world is: We did, and look where it got us.

Yeah, Clovia girls are hot, especially Andrea and Trixie.

There's nothing better in the world than making fun of the greek system, except I'm in a frat.

We steal cable, and they don't even have a clue. Does that mean they're Cox suckers?

If this doesn't make the Fourum, I'm going to tell Dwight. Dwight, who? Dwight around your lip.

Does Paul White get all his information from Saddam Hussein's own press releases? The Gulf War didn't kill even close to 300,000 Iraqis, and Iraq has less than 10 percent of the world's known oil deposits.

A pig's orgasm lasts 30 minutes. In my next life, I want to be a pig.

Some lions mate more than 50 times a day. I still want to be a pig in my next life – quality over quantity.

My life would not exist without Dr. Phil.

If Tim Shallenberger becomes governor, I'm going to move out of the state. I'm going to go to OU.

I pushed snooze 26 times this morning – that's every seven minutes for three hours.

To the person who was wondering what's more logical: What's logical to me is that you evolved from a monkey.

To the person who called in saying he values diversity but can't understand his freaking instructor because he doesn't speak English: That's one of the barriers these people have when they come to this country. It's up to you to really listen to what the person is trying to say. They might not have the language, but they have the brains.

If you want to see fossils, just go to the geology department. Most of the faculty over there are fossils themselves.

I just want to say I feel sorry for the freshman class this year because of keg registration.

To the girl walking from the Rec Center towards Haymaker on Monday night: Maybe you should be a little more discrete about where you reach up to rearrange your underwear. That was gross.

What's the requirement for K-State girls to wear belly shirts? Do they have to have their bellies hanging out over their shirts?

Samsonite. I was way off.

If dogs ruled the world, the big dogs would probably rule, but that just isn't fair, because I know a lot of Chihuahuas with good ideas.

What do you do if your roommate's mom is cooler than your roommate?

Yeah, those Clovers are about as cute as my favorite Ford pick-up truck.

Is calling into the Fourum and saying you're hot the same as sending yourself roses?

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. Not enough fourum? For the full version check out www.kstatecollegian.com.

TO THE EDITOR

Bilingual column shows campus diversity despite ignorant Campus Fourum comment

Editor,

I am writing to express my sincere appreciation for the Collegian for printing the weekly bilingual column in English and Spanish.

Although I am not Hispanic, nor do I speak Spanish fluently, I am pleased to see that our campus is taking steps to accommodate persons of different cultures. It demonstrates an openness and willingness to accept other cultures.

Many people cannot understand what life is like for those whose first language is not the commonly spoken one. Such an experience is made all the more positive when those people feel their cultures are appreciated and accepted.

It pains me when members of a culture fail to show open minds toward people of different backgrounds. It is fine for people to have opinions, but to suggest their country is this way or that, only according to how they see it, and to act as if others don't exist, is absurd.

Such attitudes demonstrate a lack of character, a lack of awareness and most importantly, a lack of heart. In the Sept. 24 Collegian, one Fourum caller mentioned the bilingual columns really "bug" him and that, "We speak English in this country, not Spanish."

I hope this particular person doesn't eat pizza, rice, tortillas, pasta or potatoes; doesn't drive a Toyota, Nissan or Kia; doesn't use any product made with foreign parts and doesn't come into contact with anything not of our "American" culture.

Good luck.

Landon Porter | SENIOR IN MARKETING

Ambassadors represent peers, spread school spirit

By Crystal Becker
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A little ambition, some good public speaking skills and a whole lot of school spirit – that's what K-State student ambassadors are made of.

Matt Dill, senior in finance, and Emily Bell, senior in secondary education, travel year-round through the state, speaking at alumni and prospective student events. They are student ambassadors, and they love their jobs.

"Being an ambassador has been one of the greatest opportunities I've ever had," Bell said.

"It is a really neat opportunity to meet a lot of people involved in the K-State family."

Dill said being a student ambassador is a big commitment, but is worth the time.

"We show alumni and prospective students what K-State is all about from a student's point of view," Dill said. "You get to show them all of the changes on campus and just how far the university has come."

Every year, one male and one female student is chosen to represent K-State at 25 to 30 events sponsored by the K-State Alumni Association, said Missy Decker Heidrick, associate director of alumni programs. Ambassadors give presentations about student life, assist the President's office and attend Student Alumni Board meetings and homecoming events. All travel expenses are paid for, and each ambassador receives a $1,500 scholarship from the Alumni Association, Heidrick said.

"Ambassadors showcase what students are all about," she said. "It's a commitment of ### Interested?

Applications for student ambassador positions are available now until 5 p.m., Oct. 18 at the Alumni Association's office of student activities or online at www.k-state.com/Homecoming.

■ Students may vote on Nov. 6, and ambassadors will be announced during halftime of the Iowa State game Nov. 9.

■ For more information on the student ambassador program, contact Missy Decker Heidrick at (785) 532-5054.

time and energy, but it's a great opportunity to get out and meet new people."

For Bell and Dill, meeting new people is what it's all about.

"A lot of alumni and prospective students can't visit the campus, so we bring the campus to them," Bell said.

Amy Button Renz, president of the Alumni Association, helped develop the ambassador program in 1978.

"The program has come a long way since it first began," Renz said. "It's a wonderful opportunity to even go through the interview process."

Students interested in becoming an ambassador first complete an application form. Selected applicants then complete an interview with a five-to-six-member student panel, followed by a faculty staff panel where applicants give a presentation about the K-State All University Homecoming theme. The student body then votes on the final two applicants, and new student ambassadors are announced at halftime of the Homecoming football game.

Dill and Bell were chosen in October 2001.

"This has been such a great honor," Bell said. "Every time I

Jeanel Drake | COLLEGIAN

Matt Dill, senior in finance, and Emily Bell, senior in secondary education, are student ambassadors who are involved with the K-State Alumni Association. They travel year-round speaking at alumni and prospective student events giving people an idea what K-State is like from a student's perspective.

meet alumni and hear one of their great moments in college, I realize K-State's extensive history and appreciate it more."

Dill agreed.

"Interested students should definitely apply," he said. "This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity."

Monetary goal doubles for Leukemia fund-raising walk

Students, residents invited to participate; $40,000 goal posted for Thursday event

By Scot Gammill
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The annual Leukemia and Lymphoma Society Light the Night Walk will be on Thursday night at City Park in the pavilion off of Fremont Street.

Registration for the event will begin at 7 p.m.

The actual walk will start at 7:30 p.m. and is expected to last an hour. Registration is $25.

"Anyone will be welcome to come and walk if they want to," said Kelly Gerstenkorn, campaign manager of the Light the Night Walk.

The walk will be two miles long, and participants will carry illuminated balloons.

Cancer survivors will have white balloons, and everyone else will carry red balloons.

Last year was the first year the event took place in Manhattan and the fourth year nationwide.

"We raised over $20,000 last year when we did it in Manhattan," Gerstenkorn said. "This year, our goal is around $40,000."

The men of Phi Gamma Delta will be at Rusty's Last Chance at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday to help promote the event.

"Ten or 15 guys from our house will be at Chance handing out shirts and trying to get people to go to the walk," said Kurt Niebuhr, Phi member and senior in industrial engineering.

"This ties in with our charity event we do later on in the year. We do an event called Fiji Run for Leukemia, and last year we raised over $40,000 for them, so they called and asked us to help. We were happy to do it."

Anyone who participates will get a complimentary barbecue meal from Rusty's Last Chance.

"We would like to see a lot of people come take part in this," Gerstenkorn said.

One man's junk is another man's treasure. Kansas State Collegian classifieds • 532-6555

introducing

LARISA'S
AVON
beauty center

Buy great AVON products NOW!
Without the wait!

Looking forward to seeing you soon!

776-2007

Manhattan Town Center
in front of Hallmark

Students-10% off with ID

O'Malley's
Wednesday
Open Mic Night
on the Patio
■ $3 Belfast Bombers ■

Tomorrow Night
Party • On • The Patio
The Schwag
Live @
• 7 •
■ $3 Guinness
Plnts

"Mars and Venus, or Planet Earth? Men and Women in the New Millennium"

Michael S. Kimmel

October 3, 2002
7:00 pm
Forum Hall

Sponsored by:
The Campaign for Nonviolence, The Crisis Center, Inc.,
Department of English, Department of Intercollegiate Athletics,
Institutional Advancement, KSU Housing and Dining Services,
Leadership Studies and Programs, Office of the President, Project
Wellness/Counseling Services/AODES, Social Work organization,
Union Program Council, University For Man, Women's Studies

Presented by:
PEERS and the KSU Women's Center

Michael S. Kimmel is a Professor of Sociology at the State University of New York at Stony Brook and an author who has received international recognition for his work on men and masculinity. Kimmel is the National Spokesperson for the National Organization for Men Against Sexism (NOMAS), and has lectured at over 200 colleges and universities, and run workshops for organizations and public sector organizations on preventing sexual harassment and implementing gender equity, and for campus groups on date and acquaintance rape, sexual assault, pornography, and the changing relations between women and men.

Kimmel is also a well-known educator concerning gender issues. His innovative course, Sociology of Masculinity, is one of the few courses in the nation that examines men's lives from a pro-feminist perspective, and has been featured in newspaper and magazine articles (The Wall Street Journal, The Boston Globe, Newsweek, People) and television shows, such as Donahue, Sonia Live, The Today Show, CNN, Smithsonian World, Bertice Berry, and Crossfire. His co-edited college textbook, Men's Lives, has been adopted in virtually every course on men and masculinity in the country.

His written work has appeared in dozens of magazines, newspapers and scholarly journals, including The New York Times Book Review, The Harvard Business Review, The Nation, The Village Psychology Today, where he was a Contributing Editor and columnist on male-female relationships. He is also the current editor of the international, interdisciplinary journal Men and Masculinities. On the basis of his expertise, Kimmel served as an expert witness for the U.S. Department of Justice in the VMI and Citadel cases.

after hours
friday | october 4
UPPC
LEAVING OUR MARK... ONE EVENT AT A TIME.

union courtyard
< 9p.m. - 12a.m. > charicature artist
free candlemaking
free henna tattoos

union food court
< 11:00p.m. > free chili
forum hall
< 12:00a.m. > free movie
"MURDER BY NUMBERS"

HOTLINE: 532 6572

WEBSITE: www.ksu.edu/upc

ART
A comedy by Vasmina Reza
Presented by KSU Theatre Oct. 3 - 5 & Oct. 9 - 12
Nichols Theatre 8 pm Tlts: $6 std/srns $10 general
McCain Box Office 532-6428 online: ksu.edu/mccain

USED TEXTBOOK SALE

Hundreds of selected new & used textbooks

Various fields of study

Check out these low prices!

(Today thru October 13)

$1.00
Paperbacks

$20.00

$2.00
Hardbacks

ALL YOU CAN CARRY!

Open 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Mon.- Sat.
11 a.m.-7 p.m. Sunday

539-0511

Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE

"We Give You Our Best"

www.varneys.com

Gordon's statements misplaced

Undefeated seasons in college football not a rarity after all

BEN FEHR

You'll have to excuse my colleague Colby Gordon. His apparently limited skills of interpretation have left him with some delusions about my opinions regarding K-State football.

Gordon appears to believe I said the Wildcats would go undefeated this season. However, what I said was that K-State has a good chance to win out in its conference schedule.

You see, and I'm explaining this for Gordon, most teams compete in what they call a "conference." Teams have a non-conference schedule before conference play and, if they're lucky, a conference title and a bowl game.

And I was talking about K-State's chances in the conference.

See? Easy.

But if the Cats do run the table this season, it won't be the first time a good football team never met its match.

Gordon's exact words in the beginning of his third paragraph of his column in last Friday's Collegian read, "Going undefeated in college football is nearly impossible."

And he is right on with this statement, except that, not only is going undefeated possible, but eight of the last 10 national champs have, in fact, accomplished the feat.

When Nebraska and Michigan shared the national championship in 1997, they were both undefeated. And that's just a sample of teams that have won it all.

There have been a number of teams in the last 10 years that have had undefeated seasons and not won a national championship.

When Alabama won it in 1992, Michigan also was undefeated. In 1993, Auburn finished at No. 3 with no losses. In 1994, Penn State ran the table and finished second — Texas A&M also finished perfect in the loss column.

In 1995, Toledo notched an unbeaten season and didn't even crack the top 10.

In 1996, Marshall won 15 straight and finished No. 10, following up with another perfect season in 1999.

Tulane went 12-0 in 1998.

So, I guess one way to put it is that, in the last 10 years, there have been 17 examples of teams that were able to overcome the "nearly impossible" task of ending the year without a loss.

I wonder if Mr. Gordon is rethinking his statement at this point?

Gordon went on to say, "Games against Nebraska and Iowa State at home are only lightly penciled-in victories right now."

Who said anything about penciled-in victories? I just said K-State had a good shot at winning the Big 12. In setting up a scenario where the Cats would win the Big 12, I never said a word about penciling in anything. That statement belongs to Gordon.

After commenting on my story, and on my opinions, in his first ten paragraphs, Gordon moved on.

Gordon proceeded to talk about Kansas coach Mark Mangino yelling at high school officials during a Lawrence, Kan., football game Mangino's son was playing in — an incident that was apparently Gordon's focus for the entirety of his column last Friday.

It seems fathers of high school athletes who yell at refs are not setting an example of good sportsmanship, and they should take it down a notch in the interest of a more positive atmosphere.

That's cutting edge stuff.

See FEHR Page 9

Volleyball hungry for redemption

Loss to Texas has Cats ready for Texas Tech

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Hungry might be a good way to describe the Wildcat volleyball team.

They're eager to get back on the court, Coach Suzie Fritz said, after being embarrassed in their own house by Texas on Saturday.

K-State (6-6, 2-2) will get a chance get back on track, when they take on Texas Tech (6-6, 1-2) at 7 tonight in Ahearn Field House.

"They're hungry to redeem themselves," Fritz said. "We had two pretty good days of practice. We had a great day on Monday, they were just glad to be back in the gym."

"We've been working hard and we feel good about what we did those two days."

The Cats have had just two days of practice to get past the three-game beating they took at the hands of Texas. The consensus from players and coaches after the match was it might have been the worst they've played in a very long time.

But moving on means not dwelling on the past, Fritz said, and working on getting better for the next opponent.

She said she thinks the team has done that.

"They responded emotionally, and they should — it should have affected them," Fritz said. "They should have been upset and frustrated. If

Volleyball action

K-State (6-6, 2-2) vs. Texas Tech (6-6, 1-2)

■ When: 7 tonight

■ Where: Ahearn Field House (5,000)

■ Radio: KMAN - AM 1350

■ Cost: Free with student ID

you don't have a passion for this and care a lot, then you're probably in the wrong place."

K-State's added emotion might go well playing a team that shows a lot of their own,

See VOLLEYBALL Page 10

AMAZING AARON

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Aaron Watkins chips out of the sand trap on hole 13 and saves par. Watkins won the tournament, seven strokes ahead of Texas A&M's Shaun Helmle.

Watkins streaks to 1st tournament win

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The pins were in tougher positions Tuesday for the final round of the Jim Colbert Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Sitting on a one-shot lead after the first two rounds, junior Aaron Watkins said he couldn't play aggressively. Tough pin locations and gusty Kansas winds made difficult shots too risky.

"Where the pins were set, players couldn't aim at the pin, or they would bogey or double bogey. I was aggressive when I thought I could be, but for the most part I really wasn't that aggressive."

Watkins carded a 1-under 215, good enough to win the tournament, seven strokes ahead of Texas A&M's Shaun Helmle.

"It feels really good to win the tournament, especially since it was on our home course," Watkins said. "This one was even more special because it was my first-ever No. 1 collegiate finish."

"I was nervous — I think you're always nervous — but I didn't want the same thing that happened to me at Nebraska to happen at this tournament."

After two rounds in Lincoln, Neb., at the Fairway Club Invitational earlier this season, Watkins was in position to win the tournament.

But in the final round he shot a 78 and slipped to eighth.

Watkins said it's tough to win a tournament if you start thinking about winning. Losing his focus in Nebraska, Watkins found himself out of contention.

This week, he said, he learned a lot from that tournament and wasn't about to make the same mistakes.

"I needed to stay focused, and I knew I couldn't think about winning or losing," Watkins said.

Throughout the second round, Watkins said he didn't know where he was positioned on the leader board.

See COLBERT Page 10

Final-round 299 earns Cats 3rd place again

By Tom Fontana
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The men's golf team fell three shots short of Southern Methodist and Lamar at the Jim Colbert Intercollegiate on Tuesday but finished in third place for the third consecutive time this season.

Trailing SMU by 14 shots following the first two rounds Monday, the Cats shot a final-round 299 on Tuesday to finish with a total score of 917. Lamar and SMU tied for the championship with a score of 914.

"We had three good scores today, and we kind of had one stinker," Coach Tim Norris said. "I'm really happy with the team and with Aaron (Watkins). The individuals stepped up and played well. The total program stepped up. We've got depth top to bottom — we're not just five guys."

The individual winner was Wildcat junior Aaron Watkins, who fired a final-round 71.

Watkins won by seven strokes with a 1-under-par 215, topping Shaun Helmle of Texas A&M.

Helmle struggled Tuesday, shooting

AJ Elgert putts for par on hole 6. He finished the tournament 23 over par.

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

a 5-over 77 on the final 18 holes.

Watkins said he was pleased with his individual performance.

"This was the hardest I have ever had to play this course," he said. "The pin locations were set up for a non-windy week because we've not had any wind up to this point."

"I played the conditions well and put up three consistent scores."

After struggling in the first round in all three tournaments this year, Norris said he was pleased the Wildcats haven't given up after a round in which they've struggled.

"It's hard to put a finger on it — other than our guys know they have to be patient," he said. "We haven't pressed the panic button. They understand that hole No. 1 counts just as much as hole No. 54."

"We would like to stay close and

See GOLF Page 10

1-MINUTE DRILL

K-STATE SPORTS INFORMATION

K-State | Football game with Oklahoma State set for 1:10 p.m.

There will be no live television broadcast of the Oklahoma State at K-State football game on Saturday, Oct. 12, the Big 12 Conference office announced Monday.

The kickoff for the game between the Cowboys and Wildcats will be 1:10 p.m. Central Time.

K-State plays Saturday at Colorado in its first road game of the season. The Colorado game will be telecast live on ABC-TV beginning at 2:30 p.m. on Oct. 5.

Big 12 Conference Telecasts for Oct. 12: Texas A&M at Baylor, 11:30 a.m., Fox Sports Net Regional Cable

Texas vs. Oklahoma (Dallas), 2:30 p.m., ABC-TV

Texas Tech at Iowa State, 6 p.m., TBS Superstation

K-State | Chesang, Mortimer earn Big 12 Cross Country honors

K-State senior Amy Mortimer has been selected as the women's co-Big 12 Cross Country Runner of the Week along with Missouri freshman Amanda Bales, while K-State sophomore Mathew Chesang was announced as the Men's Conference Runner of the Week on Tuesday.

Mortimer finished third overall in the 22-team field at the Roy Griak Minnesota Invitational with a time of 21:06.4 in the 6,000-meter race. The rest of the field consisted of four top-20 teams in Michigan State (ninth), Providence (13th), Marquette (14th) and Arizona State (19th). As a team the K-State women finished tied for ninth with Miami (Ohio), two spots in front of 28th-ranked Minnesota. Mortimer is a three-time All-American in cross country and is winning league runner of the week honors for the fourth time in her career. She has now earned the accolade every year at K-State — 1999, 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Chesang finished sixth overall in the 27-team field at the Griak meet with a time of 24:39.9 in his first 8,000-meter race of the season. The Wildcats finished 22nd as a team in a field consisting of eight of the top 15 teams in the country.

K-State | Cross country to sit out Oklahoma State Cowboy Jamboree

The K-State men's and women's cross country teams, originally scheduled to compete this weekend at the Oklahoma State Cowboy Jamboree in Stillwater, Okla., will instead take the week off after running in the Roy Griak Minnesota Invitational, their third race in four weeks.

Coach Randy Cole cited nagging injuries as the reason behind the decision not to participate this Saturday at Oklahoma State. Injuries kept the Wildcats from fielding complete seven-person teams this weekend in Minnesota. Both team finished with only five runners each.

The list of Wildcats trying to heal includes, but is not limited to, junior Cate Holston and freshmen Rodgers Kipchumba, Joe Moore and Pam Shelite.

The Cats will return to action on October 19, at the Chili Pepper Invitational in Fayetteville, Ark.

The Associated Press

MLB | Twins take 1st game against A's

The Minnesota Twins shook off a serious case of the playoff jitters in plenty of time.

A.J. Pierzynski had four hits, and Corey Koskie homered and drove in three runs as the Twins overcame an early deficit and fielding blunders to beat the Oakland Athletics 7-5 Tuesday in the first game of the AL division series.

In their first postseason appearance since winning the World Series in 1991, Minnesota made three errors in the first two innings while falling behind 5-1 to the A's, who tied the Yankees for the major league lead with 103 victories in the regular season.

MLB | Yankees top Angels 8-5 with late-inning heroics from Williams

Bernie Williams and the New York Yankees still had some leftover late-inning magic.

Jason Giambi hit a tying single with two outs in the eighth inning and Williams followed with a three-run homer, providing another stunning Yankee Stadium comeback as New York beat the Anaheim Angels 8-5 Tuesday night in Game 1 of the AL division series.

NFL | Moss charged with possession

Minnesota Vikings star receiver Randy Moss was charged Tuesday with possession of a small amount of marijuana, adding to charges last week that he pushed a traffic officer with his car.

The new petty misdemeanor count carries a fine of up to $200, but it could also lead to a suspension or fine from the NFL. Police said they found a marijuana cigarette in Moss' car after he was arrested on Sept. 24. Moss was driving in downtown Minneapolis when the traffic officer stepped in front of his car to stop him from making an illegal turn. She was slightly injured when she fell off the car.

OPEN MIC NIGHT

"Chappy" plays "Dock of the Bay" at Open Mic Night at O'Malley's on Sept. 18. Open Mic Nights are offered at three places in Manhattan: O'Malley's on Wednesdays, Dave's Hideaway on Mondays, and Bobby T's on Thursdays.

Photos by
Jenny Braniff | COLLEGIAN

Singers, songwriters provided with chance to test music skills

By J. Scott Bowman
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

As one musician sifted through his papers, searching for the lyrics for one of his songs, he looked up at the audience and warned them he was making it up as he went along.

It showed.

Getting in front of a crowd and playing music is one of the greatest fears of any musician, because things like this happen.

There is only one way someone can overcome that fear, and that is to go out and play. Tony "Buck" Buckner, bartender at O'Malley's, thinks the best place to start off is at Open Mic Night.

"Before I started this, I noticed that there are a lot of good places for bands to play, but not a lot of places for singer-songwriters. And being a singer/songwriter, you want to network and meet other musicians."

"I wanted to create something where you can sit outside, enjoy a pint of beer and listen to some good music. A place where you can relax, like your own front porch, and meet other people."

Buckner has been host to the O'Malley's Open Mic Night since last summer. He said he likes to keep the venue laid-back and prefers meeting people before they perform instead of having a formal sign-up sheet.

"Anyone can come out to play music or read poetry," he said. "I've had people up to the age of 60 come out and play."

The only stipulation I have is that since we're outside, I don't allow any electric guitars or trap sets. I like keeping an acoustic setting."

Three venues in Manhattan offer open mic nights. O'Malley's offers its microphone on Wednesdays, Dave's Hideaway on Mondays, and Bobby T's has one Thursdays.

Most singers and guitarists cover songs, but the more experienced writers and performers will try out new material. All of the artists walk away with a little more experience, Danny Adrian, junior in fine arts, said.

"As a musician, I like to come out and hear other musicians' work," he said. "But I think it really makes you feel better about yourself, and it builds your confidence when you're in front of a crowd and they start clapping for you. That's how you know you're making progress."

"It's really fun and entertaining to come out with friends. And, for me, I like to relax with a couple of beers, think about what I'm going to play and then get up and do it."

With many different kinds of genres represented, figuring out what to play can sometimes be difficult for many musicians. But for Ed Grabianowski, graduate student in journalism and mass communications, it all depends on how he feels.

"I play a variety of music. I'll play a little Tool, Bob Dylan, Black Crowes or throw in a little Cure," Grabianowski said. "I also have a handful of originals, but it depends on my mood and what I've been listening to."

"Sometimes I just feel like being aggressive, even though that can be hard on an acoustic guitar. That's when I'll play

Deedre Frasier, sophomore in English, and Amanda Perkins, senior in music, talk during Open Mic Night at O'Malley's while Scott Anderson, senior in anthropology, plays on stage.

Open mic venues

- Dave's Hideaway on Mondays
- O'Malley's on Wednesdays
- Bobby T's on Thursdays

Tool and other hard stuff. But it also depends on if I just feel like playing a cover or experimenting with other songs."

Having an artistic outlet is important for aspiring musicians. And all of them agree it is great to have a special place to perform in front of a crowd.

"It's great to come out here and perform on your own," Grabianowski said. "With a band, you have to rehearse with them all week, and everyone has to be on the same page. But here, you just come out and play and have a good time."

"It's nice to come out and see other guitarists. Besides, I can't really yell loud in my apartment."

Many accomplished musicians enjoy the spontaneity that an open mic night offers. With several different sounds and styles, deciding what to play can be a challenge.

"I normally play things I'm more familiar with," Grabianowski said. "Other times, I venture out and play things I'm not as familiar with, and that is when I start to get nervous that I might screw up."

"Like I might get a song in my head and I'll run to the Internet and look for the chords. But most open mic nights are in such a laid-back setting that you can experiment a little bit and nobody minds. But it's very thrilling to get the crowd response when it goes well."

Beginners shouldn't shy away, either. Buckner said O'Malley's Open Mic Night prides itself on welcoming newcomers.

"There are about a dozen regulars that come and hang out," he said. "But I'm always introducing new talent that often-times is new to Manhattan. Most of the time, they play covers until they get comfortable with getting in front of people."

Buckner stays on top of his game by performing as well, so he said he knows about getting nervous. That's why he helps out other performers occasionally, he said.

"I normally like to get up in front of the audience once or twice a night to tell the audience to applaud even if it isn't your type of music, because people gain a lot of confidence from playing. Not to mention it's hard. It takes a lot of guts to get up and play in front of strangers."

Buckner said the open mic nights also can be a springboard for local performers by giving them venues to hone their crafts and possibly find future band mates.

"If you have never been out here, come out and check it out," he said. "You can then see what's going on. There is a lot of culture and talent out here that people are missing out on."

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

Andrew Lloyd Webber presents musical as producer

Andrew Lloyd Webber will be back on Broadway in spring 2004 — as a producer.

The composer of "Cats," "The Phantom of the Opera" and "Evita" announced Monday that he'll present "Bombay Dreams," the hit London musical, in New York after an extensive casting search that will include stops in Toronto and Vancouver, Canada; Seattle; San Francisco; New York; and Los Angeles.

The opening date and theater have yet to be announced.

CALENDAR

Performances

All Ages

"Art," a play by Yasmina Reza, will play at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday in Nichols Theatre. Tickets are $6 for students, $10 for the general public, and are available at the McCain Box Office, 532-6428, or online at www.ksu.edu/mccain.

"The Coffee House Murder: Red Chili Chocolate Cheesecake," a murder mystery presented in reader's theater style, will be at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Tickets are $15 for students, $25 for the general public, and includes desserts served throughout the evening. Tickets are available at the Manhattan Arts Center.

The Venice Baroque Orchestra will present Vivaldi's "The Four Seasons," at 7 p.m. Saturday in McCain Auditorium. Tickets are $15 for students and children, $30 for the general public, and are available at the McCain Box Office, 532-6428, or www.ksu.edu/mccain.

18 and over

The Blakes will play at 9:30 tonight at Dave's Hideaway. Cover charge is $3 at the door.

21 and over

Southern Culture on the Skids, the Forty Fives and the Pembertons will play at 9:30 tonight at Auntie Mae's Parlor. Cover charge is $8.

The Schwag will play at 7 p.m. Thursday at O'Malley's as part of the O'Malley's Guinness Fest. Cover charge is $5.

Art

Manhattan Arts Center

1520 Poyntz
The Columbian Artists Membership Exhibit opens Friday and will run until Nov. 6

William T. Kemper Art Gallery

K-State Student Union
A collection of art by art department faculty will be on display until Friday.

Willard Art Gallery

116 Willard
A collection of student sculptures will be on display until Friday.

Radina's Coffeehouse and Bakery

618 N. Manhattan
"Art at 30,000 Feet," a collection of work by Dennis Law, dean of architecture, planning and design, is on display.

Java Espresso & Bakery

1219 Moro
The work of Evgeniya Parish, sophomore in art, is on display.

Strecker-Nelson Gallery

406 1/2 Poyntz Ave.
"Amongst Friends," a show featuring the work of Barbara Waterman-Peters, Larry Peters and Marko Fields will run through Oct. 26.

Urban Design

1204 Moro
"A Slice of Lindsborg" will be on display until Saturday. The show features paintings, photography, fiber art, ceramics and sculpture from 15 artists.

Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art

On campus
Beyond Oz: Children's Book Illustrations from the Region, will be on display until December. The show features the work of children's book illustrators from the Midwest.

Americal | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

MERIT | Study explains scholarship allocations gap

Continued from page 1

prospective students aware of the opportunity to apply for scholarships.

"We need to make sure we are accessing all students," she said.

"I think additional recruiting needs to occur. It needs to be expanded, because if minority students aren't getting in there, how can they even be selected (for scholarships)?"

The KSU Foundation reported that out of the 22,762 students at the two K-State campuses, 5,240 were awarded merit scholarships for the 2002-03 school year.

Larry Moeder, director of student financial assistance, said many students receive multiple scholarships, including merit scholarships.

K-State also provides financial assistance through loans and grants, he said.

Moeder said financial aid with regards to a merit scholarship is only considered when the scholarship donor specifically requests it be considered.

"The donors set the specific criteria for their scholarships for which applicants are eligible, such as being in a certain major, etc.," Moeder said.

"So it is up to them if they want financial need to be looked at, because they are the ones donating the money."

Financial need for students who rely on the funds is met elsewhere through federal and state financial assistance, Moeder said.

Pat Bosco, dean of student life, said he doesn't believe merit scholarships received by K-State students are causing a gap between white and minority students.

"We have a specific initiative to encourage and recognize students across the curriculum," Bosco said.

"Our scholarship programs recognize leaders, people of color, ACT scores, high grades and class rank. We're lucky to be able to give as many scholarships as we do."

Enrollment

The 2000-2002 enrollment figures for ethnic groups were obtained through the registrar's office.

2000
Caucasian	85.9 percent
African-American	2.7 percent
Hispanic-American	1.2 percent
Asian-American	1.3 percent

2001
Caucasian	85.3 percent
African-American	2.8 percent
Hispanic-American	1.1 percent
Asian-American	1.3 percent

2002
Caucasian	85.2 percent
African-American	2.9 percent
Hispanic-American	1 percent
Asian-American	1.2 percent

These figures are not exact. Some students may have responded "other" or not at all and are unaccounted for.

Numbers only reflect enrollment at the Manhattan campus.

The registrar's office reports that 22,762 students attend K-State — 21,683 at the Manhattan campus and 1,079 in Salina.

ETHICS | Corporate scandals fuel ethics debates

Continued from page 1

"It is vitally important for business students, who are tomorrow's corporate leaders, to learn the fundamentals about business ethics," he said.

Frederick explained the fundamentals of business ethics as six things.

"This means honesty in dealing with customers, fairness in setting wages and working conditions for workers, respect and concern for the community where business is conducted, protection of the environment, respect for human rights around the globe, and earning a fair profit for the company's shareholders."

Swanson said the letters are not directed at K-State.

"K-State has been on the forefront on this kind of ethics curriculum," she said.

Swanson said that since 1984, the College of Business Administration has required a business ethics course at the

"The bottom line of business has to measure more than just profits. Business firms are made up of people serving other people, helping to meet their human needs."

William Frederick
PROFESSOR EMERITUS OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

undergraduate level.

Swanson became interested in business ethics while taking her first doctoral seminar from Frederick at the University of Pittsburgh, where she obtained her doctorate in business.

"I felt that he addressed ethics with such a compelling intelligence that I wanted to know more about it," she said.

Debra Volesky, senior in accounting and Swanson's student, said the teaching of business ethics is especially important now because of the numerous corporate scandals taking place.

"We need to get back to the basics," Volesky said.

"When we're dealing with someone else's money, there has to be some level of what is right or wrong."

She said ethics come into play in everyday life in the way people treat each other.

"Although ethics comes from within, if you're having questions about ethics, a course will guide you in the right path and bring it all together," Volesky said.

Frederick said today's business students need to know that ethical behavior is the best course of action.

"Many of the corporate executives who have engaged in unethical and illegal acts will wind up behind bars," he said, and "their careers will be ruined."

dependable, quality
✓ copy service
Claflin Books and Copies

$2 OFF
purchase of $10 or more
Must present coupon
Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-6 p.m.
Sat. 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

Something
Uniforms
Alterations
Embroidery
Different, Inc.
317 Ft. Riley Blvd.
537-1171

GAME GUY
Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent
Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games
Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5
(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA.

Aggie Station
RESTAURANT & PUB
Wednesdays.
After chapter.
$2 burgers
$2 domestic pitchers
$3 microbrew pitchers
Wings, shrimp and chicken nuggets 10¢
710 N. Manhattan • 539-4071

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER
"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."
539-3338
Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Wednesday
live music
THE BLAKES
$2 bottles and wells
THURSDAY
10¢ wings
$2 Captain 'n Coke
$1.75 draws
DAVE'S

FriendSpeak

Conversational English Lessons

Improve your English skills
One-on-one instruction
Times are flexible
Friendly, casual atmosphere

Cats for Christ is offering FREE English Conversation lessons.

If you are interested, please call Christine from 10am-2pm, at the Manhattan Church of Christ, (785)-539-6581.

Call us now! Space is limited!

Western Wireless.

Western Wireless Corporation is looking for customer service representatives to work in our Manhattan call center. Western Wireless is a leading player in the exploding wireless industry and recognizes the important role that quality employees play in that success.

We offer the environment to learn the business, grow professionally and build a future career. Our state of the art call center in Manhattan serves cellular customers in a 19 state area.

¡Western Wireless habla español!
Bilingual Customer Care Representatives
Must be fluent in both English and Spanish
$8.50 per hour

Handling inbound calls from Spanish speaking CellularOne customers, you'll provide quality service in a friendly, caring, professional manner. You'll help resolve billing discrepancies and troubleshoot technical issues. Previous customer service and computer experience is required. Must be able to work in a fast-paced, ever-changing environment and flexible to work variable shifts.
Job Code: SP-CCR.

¡Aproveche esta gran oportunidad de empleo utilizando sus habilidades en español con CellularONE!
Please send, e-mail or fax resumes to: Western Wireless Corporation.
Attn: Customer Services Recruiter,
5960 Technology Circle, Manhattan, KS 66503.
Fax: (785) 565-7672. E-mail: ksjobs@wwireless.com.

For additional company information, see our website at www.wwireless.com.

We are an Equal Opportunity Employer.
CELLULARONE®

ECSTASY. PASSION AND OBSESSION.
ALL ROLLED INTO ONE.

Chipotle

GOURMET BURRITOS. TRUE LOVE.
IN AGGIEVILLE

Try one of our new Specialty Pizzas

Wildcat Special
Chicken Primavera
Bubba's Favorite
Bactochichiss
Overnighter
Chicken Southwest

$2 OFF ANY NEW LARGE SPECIALTY PIZZA

OR

$1 OFF ANY NEW MEDIUM OR SMALL SPECIALTY PIZZA

•AGGIEVILLE 1121 Moro 539-7666
•WESTLOOP 2931 Clafin 539-7447
•3rd & MORO 231 Moro 776-4334

DINE-IN/CARRYOUT/DELIVERY • EXPIRES NOV. 1,
2002 • GOOD ONLY ON THE NEW SPECIALTY
PIZZA • NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER OFFER •
©PIZZA HUT OF MANHATTAN 10/2002

"Bubba's Favorite" - A nice cold bottle of beer and "Bubba's Favorite" Pizza. It just doesn't get any better. This pizza has a slightly spicy flavor profile with crushed peppers cooked into the sauce, add a generous helping of beef, a little bacon, -- cook, and top it off with fresh tomato and onion before serving. If you're not old enough for the beer, we'll still serve you the pizza and substitute a soda instead.

"Overnighter" - Fresh-baked "pic-ton-dies-and". A Latin term for "Bacon, Tomato, Cheddar Cheese, Chicken, Super Supreme". All the toppings of our Chicken Supreme Pizza then we add more cheddar cheese, onion, and top with fresh tomatoes before serving to you. It's quite a feast.
Today, give the town the word with a bunch of rocks, we really call it our Chicken Super Supreme for night!

City officials to inform public about gubernatorial platforms

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

With the November election approaching, the city of Manhattan is taking responsibility to inform the public of candidates' platforms through a forum series sponsored by Manhattan organizations.

The first forum, sponsored by the Manhattan Neighborhood Coalition, will take place at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Denison Fire Station.

The forum will feature 66th-district representatives Russ

Frey, Republican, and Sydney Carlin, Democrat, and 67th-district representatives Roger Reitz, Republican, and Tom Hawk, Democrat, who will speak on issues brought to their attention by the neighborhood group.

"They're looking for seats in the candidate house, and two of them are going to get elected," Dave MacFarland, vice president of the coalition, said. "It's a chance for the public to ask questions."

While candidates will be speaking on topics primarily dealing with neighborhoods, Mary Don Peterson, president of the coalition, said she encourages the public, both residents and students, to be in attendance to ask questions and voice their concerns.

"I think coalition or not, it's always important for voters to find out as much as they can about the candidates in office," she said. "There will be some questions at the forum and a chance to ask questions to the representatives."

Moreover, one topic that will be discussed during the fo-

Sharing the wealth

$120 million will be shared between three universities

When: Thursday

Where: Fire Station on Denison Avenue

Time: 7 p.m.

rum has affected both the Manhattan community and K-State students, Peterson said.

"We'll be interested in how, as a state legislature, they might have economic impact on our community and others," she said. "Obviously, we will want to know about the education formula since two schools in Manhattan have already attend."

MacFarland said he feels that students have as much at stake as the rest of the community of Manhattan does when it comes to a number of topics relating to neighborhoods.

"When they're not in campus housing, they're off-campus," he said. "If they're off-campus, they're living in neighborhoods, and neighborhoods change. Obviously, students and those who rent in neighborhoods have an impact, and this is why students should will be primarily on neighborhoods, Peterson says this topic involves a number of other issues that stem from state and national levels.

"This gives everybody a chance to see what they're going to emphasize and what they think is important," she said. "This is a chance to learn more about these particular candidates and hopefully see what their work in Topeka is and how that affects the hometown."

'AD ASTRA'

Sculpture's tour brings controversial art to Manhattan

FEHR | Comments still hold true

Continued from Page 1

know your directions," Richard said. "To me, that symbolized the government and the state — always dependable and always sure."

Richard has been working on and researching the piece in his hometown of Salina for the past 14 years and has funded the piece with $65,000 received through private donations.

The $700,000 the state is paying to restructure the dome and place the sculpture on top has made the piece controversial to state officials because of budget problems.

Sharon Tally said she came out to see the sculpture because she was interested in the controversy caused by the installation cost.

"It has been controversial all the way through," Tally, Manhattan resident, said. "It fascinated me that partway through, they decided that the dome wasn't strong enough to hold it."

Tally said that despite the cost controversy, she thinks the sculpture is very appropriate for the Statehouse.

"It is a very neat sculpture," she said, "but it is almost too bad that it will be so far removed from the ground. You will have to get out your binoculars to see it on top of the capitol."

Rich Bergen said helping his father take the sculpture across Kansas has been one of the best ways to get the sculpture recognized.

"People we have seen have been great," he said. "They love it, and the kids really love it."

Continued from Page 6

the interest of a more positive atmosphere.

I'm sure Gordon's advice has a good chance of curbing habits of men twice his age.

If Gordon is going to use my columns as the basis for his own, I'd appreciate it if he took the time to make sure he correctly identifies my position on the matter.

Oh, and if I need to be excused, I'll let you know.

You'd be better served to just bank on me being a person who can back up what I write.

I'm not so much into excuses.

Ben is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at fehr7@hotmail.com.

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $400/month. Across from KSU campus. Available January first. Lease and deposit required. (785)537-7794.

120 For Rent-Houses

HOUSE FOR RENT available October 1. Three-bedroom, washer/dryer, single car garage. 2039 College View. No pets. (785)456-7255/ (785)456-9000.

145 Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592.

ROOMMATE WANTED in three-bedroom, two bath house. Walk to campus. Call (785)537-2882 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

100 housing/real estate

105 For Rent-Apts. Furnished

LEARN TO FLY!

K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper

25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free.

Go to the Union Court Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

NEW LOCATION as of October 1.

Lewis's Auto Repair 440 B South Juliette. 770-5553. $40.00/hour labor rate. Call for appointment.

FOUND WOMEN'S purple carduroy wallet.

Aggieville area. Call to pickup. (785)776-6008.

LOST: TWO keys with a silver angel and Dillons card attached.

Call if found (620)437-6484.

TWO RINGS lost in library.

couple of weeks ago. Both purple and silver. Please return (785)539-0173.

VICTORIA RHIN watch

found east side Union faculty parking lot. Call (785)532-6224.

Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

"Stay In Class At The Commons"

Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

- Fully Furnished
- 2 & 4 Bedroom
- Alarm System
- Swimming Pool
- Washer/Dryer
- Computer Lab
- Fitness Center
- Permit Parking
- Tennis/Volleyball Courts
- Individual Leases

Office Hours: M-F 9-6, Sat. 10-4

539-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS

APARTMENTS

2215 COLLEGE AVE

Found something?

You can place an ad FREE for three days!

Kedzie 103 532-6555

200 service directory

300 employment opportunities

310 Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

NOW HIRING host/ barback, waitresses and cooks. Must be friendly, outgoing and able to work weekends. Apply in person. 1130 Moro, Wednesday and Thursday 2-4p.m.

310 Help Wanted

COORDINATOR OF Student Activities. Position available 11/1/02 on the Main Campus of Highland Community College, Highland, Kansas. Full-time with benefits. Responsible for student activities program of the College. Bachelor's required; Master's preferred. Related experience desired. Computer skills. Evenings/ some weekend hours required. Request application packet from Highland Community College Human Resources, 606 W. Main, Highland KS 66035; (785)442-6010; cgroninger@highlandcc.edu. Equal Opportunity Employer.

DANCING POSITIONS AVAILABLE Mustang Gentlemen's Club 1330 Grant Ave., Junction City, KS (785)238-7571. Females 18 years+. Topless only. $2500-$4500/ month. WILL TRAIN. For more information call Ms. Young at club or Ashley at (785)565-9355 Manhattan.

GET PAID For Your Opinion! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking full-time retail Garden Center staff. Sales experience preferred, plant knowledge helpful, weekends a must. Heat tolerance and lifting required. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)226-0307.

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club. Koolbar Club. 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evenings, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

THE OPPORTUNITY of a Lifetime. www.therhinoway.com

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

COMPACT DESKTOP 2000 with printer. Like new. Call (785)323-0054.

ONE COW skull, one buffalo skull, both with horns. Great condition. $30 each. (785)539-5973. Rachel.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

RED TAG SALE. Cash and carry only. Wohler's Furniture. 615 N. Third. (785)539-3119.

450 Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Registered Yorkie pups. Eight weeks old. Had all shots. American Kennel Club registered. (785)527-5276.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

AEROSMITH/ KID Rock, Kansas City 10/6/02. Two reserve seats- Section 13 Row G. Reserve seats are Sold Out! Call (785)776-0639 ask for Katie $150 or best offer.

FOR SALE: Four KSU vs. CU football tickets. Call Ben at (785)565-9475.

FOUR GA/ north end zone football tickets for sale: K-State vs. Texas. Asking face value- $45/ ticket. If interested call: (402)564-0958 after 6:00 pm. Will sell in sets of two.

WANTED: STUDENT football tickets for OSU and Texas games. Call (785)770-9327.

510 Automobiles

1986 MERCURY Marquis station wagon. V-8, loaded, power everything. Maintenance records, dependable, runs great. Seats 8. Super tailgating! (785)539-9148.

1992 PLYMOUTH Laser. $1450 or best offer. (785)395-5955. After 5pm leave a message.

630 Spring Break

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE. Reps needed, earn $$$$. Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578 dept. 2626) / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1145 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

SPRING BREAK 2003 is now sponsored by Student Express! Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza. Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING! Salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentexpress.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

SPRING BREAK insanity! www.inter-campus.com or call 1-800-327-6013. Guaranteed lowest prices! All top destinations! Fifteen years experience! Reps wanted- free trips!

CANCUN • NAYLORS • JAMAICA • BAHAMAS • FLORIDA

SPRING BREAK

PROMOTE TRIPS, SAVE CASH, GO FREE!

1-800-445-6001

WINTER BREAK IN Steamboat

PACKAGES INCLUDE: Lodging, Lift Tickets, FREE Cable Charges, FREE Happy Hours, FREE Parties, Exclusive Discounts

1-800-SUNCHASE

steamboat.sunchase.com

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext.14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $8.00
each word over 20 20¢ per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $9.40
each word over 20 25¢ per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $11.05
each word over 20 30¢ per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $12.25
each word over 20 35¢ per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $13.35
each word over 20 40¢ per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

COLBERT | Watkins continues hot streak, earns 1st collegiate win

Continued from Page 6

He said his teammates probably knew he was in the lead, but they knew not to tell him.

Watkins said anything can happen in golf. He did not know how other players were shooting.

What he did know was that he had a one-stroke lead from day one, and he needed a great final round.

Coach Tim Norris said he knew Watkins could do it.

"He's a great player — a national qualifier and a top-ranked amateur," he said. "I've preached to these guys that their summer play will affect the way they play in these tournaments. Aaron had a great summer at the amateur championship, and he's picked it up right here."

"He hasn't missed a beat." With tough pin locations, Watkins said, the final round was a battle.

On 18, Watkins made a tough five-to-six-foot downhill putt that broke right to left. He said sinking the putt motivated him for holes one and two, which he said are two of Colbert Hills' toughest.

He said he played consistently throughout his morning holes but scrambled a little bit later in the round.

"Hole No. 18 is the hole that got me going again," he said. "That was my third-to-last hole. I started to scramble and struggled to make par but was able to put in a tough shot."

Norris said there wasn't a golfer out there who could have beaten Watkins.

"When Aaron plays his game, he's a threat," Norris said. "He can play in any conditions, and that is what hurt a lot of players out there. Aaron played a great game, and nobody could touch him. It was his day."

Now, Watkins said, it's time to forget about this victory and prepare for Monday's Purina Classic in St. Charles, Mo.

"I can't think about the past," he said, "just like I can't think about winning in the future. I just have to go out there and play my game."

GOLF | Wildcats finish 3rd again at Colbert Intercollegiate tournament

Continued from Page 6

K-State showed its depth throughout the tournament, Norris said, with three of its individuals in the top 20.

Competing as individuals, junior Tim Moody and sophomore Matt Van Cleave finished tied for 20th, while freshman Josh Persons shot a 16-over 232, good enough for an 18th-place tie.

The four other Wildcats competing for the team score didn't fare as well, though.

Junior Nick Schumacher tied for 33rd and juniors A.J.

Elgert and Greg Douglas, along with sophomore Jonathan James, finished tied for 43rd.

Norris said he will continue to look for players that will put the team in contention to win tournaments.

"It's a tough sport," he said.

"You can't substitute after one round."

"What is going to make our team better so that if somebody falls, someone will pick them up and push them to get better? It's about the team. If everybody plays well, we have a definite shot."

VOLLEYBALL | K-State looks to bounce back tonight against Tech

Continued from Page 6

like the Red Raiders, Fritz said.

Texas Tech is a team that tends to build on rallies, trying to use them as momentum for the entire match, she said.

"Traditionally, they are a very emotional team," Fritz said. "Their highs can be very, very high and I can assume their lows can be very low as well."

That means the Cats need to establish a competitive tone early, Fritz said, and take the Red Raiders out of the match from the get-go.

Putting a string of points together is not what K-State did against Texas.

In fact, it was the opposite. The Longhorns were able to muscle together runs of five and six, some of which put the Cats away late in games.

Outside hitter Cari Jensen said that match with Texas proved to the team they need to focus on getting better in practice so they will be adequately prepared for each contest.

"That was a reawakening for us," she said. "It made us realize we need to get better every day. You have to get better each day — get better with every touch."

K-State holds a 9-7 series lead and is 6-0 when playing the Red Raiders at Ahearn.

But those numbers don't matter to Fritz. She said she is focused on getting the team hungry for every match, while driving home that no opponent is worth overlooking.

"I still believe that this team can get it going," she said. "It's going to take a lot of work but I think we can do it."

50¢

5-8 pm

TACOS

$1.50

BOTTLES

1115 MORO

ladies night

always welcome

Shear Dynamics Introduces Terra!
FREE HAIR CUT WITH HIGHLIGHT

- $10 off Pedicure or Massage
- $10 any Body Treatment w/ Christy or Stephanie
- 10% off All Retail
- Matrix•Redken•American Crew•Osis•OPI

GAME WATCH

Watch the Game with US!

1:30pm Tailgate Party / 2:30pm Kick-off

North Dining Area • K-State Student Union

Saturday Oct 5, 2002

Hot Dogs! Pop! Prizes! 32in Screen TV

BRING A FRIEND!

GO CATS

Nightly Specials

WEDNESDAY

ULTIMATE DANCE PARTY

No cover 'till 10:00

$1.50 Wells & Calls

THURSDAY

Starting Oct. 10:

Wildcat Women Calendar Contest

for sign-up info contact Erica 776-1350

SILVERADO SALOON

18 to enter 21 to drink

United Way .... The Best Way

Please Give to United Way

The United Way is a volunteer organization which raises and allocates funds for 13 agencies and two programs in the Riley County Area.

To Show You Care

United Way of Riley County ~ 114 S. 4th St. ~ Manhattan, KS 66502

2 MILLION INVESTORS.

80 YEARS' EXPERIENCE.

1 WEIRD NAME.

TIAA-CREF has a long history of managing portfolios for the world's sharpest minds. Contact us for ideas, strategies, and, at the very least, proper pronunciation.

TIAA-CREF.org or call (800) 842-2776

Managing money for people with other things to think about.™

RETIREMENT • INSURANCE • MUTUAL FUNDS • COLLEGE SAVINGS • TRUSTS • INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT

TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Securities, Inc. your Securities Brokerage Services. The TIAA-CREF Securities products are sold by TIAA-CREF Securities, Inc. 1000 ... (800) 842-2776. Please read carefully before investing in TIAA-CREF Securities products and services. TIAA-CREF Securities, Inc. 1000 ... (800) 842-2776.

CONGRATULATIONS!

K-State Honorary Family

Larry & Diane Hoobler

Sponsored by: Union Program Council & Chimes Junior Honorary

FAMILY DAY: SEPTEMBER 27, 2002

www.union.ksu.edu/familyday.html

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--/--
 Kansas State Historical Society
 Newspaper Section
 PO Box 3585
 Topeka KS 66601

Thursday, October 3, 2002

K-State awaits numbers on water mistakes

University waiting for total amount before paying bills

By Jessica Pitts
 KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

University officials are waiting for final figures before they begin to pay back more than $20,000 in past water bills.

"We are working with the city," said Tom Rawson, vice president of administration and finance. "We are more than willing to pay what we owe."

In September, city officials discovered that K-State's Van Zile Dining Hall had been underbilled about $15,000 for water usage during the past two years because of a meter malfunction.

Meter readers indicated the meter was "dead," so the 68-resident hall with dining facility was billed the minimum charge of $14.94 per month. The hall should have been billed between $600 to $700 a month, an average bill that reflected its historical use, until the meter was repaired.

Usually, the city would have reported the broken meter to K-State, and the university would have replaced it. However, because of a lack of communication, the university was never told.

"I don't think anyone was aware of these problems," Rawson said. "I certainly wasn't. It is my understanding it is the city's responsibility to inform us and then we would be able to replace the meter."

Since the mistake surfaced, city officials have audited the university's meter. They found three more broken meters with underbidding charges adding up to more than $5,000.

The meters are located at

See WATER BILL Page 10

Course schedules available online only

Faculty Senate voices accessibility concerns

By Jessica Pitts
 KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

In an effort to save money, the university course schedule will only be available online starting with the spring 2003 semester.

"With budget issues, we were faced with significant cuts in the registrar's office," Don Foster, registrar, said. "One way to help relieve some of it was to move to an online class schedule."

Not printing paper copies of the schedule saves the department about $22,000, Foster said.

See SCHEDULE Page 5

Photos by Jeanel Drake | COLLEGIAN
 Kristin Stabenow, junior in family life and community service, undresses in preparation to use a tanning bed at Sun Connection II at 1814 Claffin. Stabenow is a frequent tanner now that she lives on her own.

TAKING THE RISK

Cancer statistics not enough to drive away tanners

By Dan Smith
 KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Students might have some of society's brightest minds, but when it comes to rationalizing decisions about ultraviolet exposure, doctors are wondering how some can be so shortsighted.

As salon tanning — a $5 billion industry in 2001 — increases in popularity, health risks related to ultraviolet radiation continue to be ignored by Americans concerned with their appearance — even with death as a possible consequence.

According to American Cancer Society research, 67,000 new cases of skin cancer will be reported in 2002. About 750 of those cases will come from Kansas.

"Our perception of beauty is that tan skin looks healthy," said Dr. Dane Ditto, owner and director of Candlewood Aesthetics Center. "It's been around for quite a while, and it's unfortunate for a lot of young people to think that way."

Ditto said the tanning salon industry isn't the only culprit in skin cancer cases, but it certainly doesn't help the matter.

"That intensification of ultraviolet radiation on the skin increases the likelihood of the skin not surveying closely enough," he said.

"Every day, the immune system is constantly looking for those skin cells that are bad and turn to cancer. When that surveillance system gets damaged, it can allow one cell to slip through, and you suddenly start having abnormal growths."

But, despite doctors' warnings, tanning at salons is on the rise.

"Looking Fit" magazine's 2002-03 Tanning Fact Book reports more than 35 percent of salon owners took in $300,000 or more in 2001, and more than 90 percent say they expect to see their profits increase this year. In addition, 88 percent of salon owners plan to expand within the next year.

Manhattan's seven tanning salons are evidence of the recent trend.

"Between Jan. 15 and June 15, we've usually

See TANNING Page 10

Cassie Corker, junior in arts and sciences, sanitizes a tanning bed at Sun Connection II. Corker works there and cleans the beds as part of her job.

Skin cancer statistics

Skin cancer is the most common of all cancers, according to American Cancer Society research. Because they behave differently, skin cancers are divided into two major groups: non-melanoma and melanoma.

- Non-melanoma cancers make up about 95 percent of skin cancer cases. They are less deadly than melanomas but are more prevalent. About 75 percent are basal cell carcinomas, which usually form on exposed areas such as the head and neck. About 20 percent of skin cancers are squamous cell carcinomas — they form on the face, ear, neck, lips and hands.
- Melanoma cancers, which arise in melanocytes — cells that make the brown pigment called melanin — account for about 4 percent of skin cancer cases but cause more than 80 percent of skin cancer deaths.
- Melanoma is the sixth most common cancer among men, and seventh among women.
- About 53,600 new melanomas will be diagnosed in the United States in 2002, up from an estimated 51,400 cases in 2001.
- About 600 of those will be diagnosed in Kansas.
- Melanoma detection is increasing. Since 1973, the incidence rate for melanoma has more than doubled.
- As of 2001, an estimated 7,800 Americans will likely die of melanoma every year. Since 1973, the mortality rate for melanoma has increased by about 44 percent. However, melanoma rates have remained stable during the last 10 years.

Sources: American Cancer Society, American Academy of Dermatology

Nationally known author, sociologist to discuss gender issues

By Amy Link
 KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

He's a sociologist and author of several books. He has received national recognition for his work in defining masculinity, and he's coming to K-State to share his knowledge on the subject.

Michael Kimmel, New York resident, will present his lecture, "Mars and Venus, or Planet Earth? Men and Women in the New Millennium," at 7 tonight in Forum Hall.

Kimmel is a national representative for the National Organization for Men Against Sexism (NOMAS), and will address several issues, including masculinity, said Susan Allen, director of the Women's Center.

Kimmel was brought to K-State by several groups that were led by the Pro-Active Educators for the Elimination of Rape and Sexual Violence (PEERS) and the Women's Center.

To bring Kimmel to K-State, Allen said the groups needed to raise $5,000.

Michael Kimmel
 SOCIOLOGIST AND AUTHOR

She said the President's Office donated $1,000 to the Campaign for Nonviolence, which was, in turn, put toward financing the Kimmel lecture. The Student Governing Association donated $2,100, and PEERS members raised the remaining amount by asking various organizations on campus to donate money.

Allen said the topics Kimmel will discuss tie into the center's Campaign for Nonviolence.

"I think bringing Michael in will be a good fit to what we are trying to do," Allen said.

Tara Hull, graduate student in public administration and president of PEERS, said this was the first time the group has brought in a speaker of this magnitude.

Hull said she thought the lecture would be very beneficial for the university given the issues Kimmel will address, especially the issue of sexual violence. Hull said sexual violence has been categorized as females being victims and males being perpetrators, and therefore society only has examined the crime through the female perspective.

"When studying these issues, you have to look at both perspectives or nothing will change," Hull said. "I think having a male speaker will be very powerful in reaching the male audience."

Hull said that although PEERS has put extra effort toward advertising to males, the lecture will be very beneficial to both genders.

Philip Nel, assistant professor of English, has heard Kimmel speak before and was impressed by him.

Nel said one example of why Kimmel is respected includes his testimony on behalf of the U.S. Department of Justice in the case against the Citadel for its exclusion of females. Kimmel testified in favor of integration, Nel said.

Nel said he encouraged students to attend because he thinks the Kimmel lecture will be beneficial for them.

"I think most undergraduates are curious about relationships and have many questions," Nel said. "For instance — why do relationships work — how do they work and how could mine be better. I think students will get answers and insights to these questions which are of interest to them."

Allen said she hopes students will develop a new perspective on violence after listening to Kimmel.

"We're having discussions about war and other nations right now, but we need to start with us," Allen said. "Non-violence starts with the self."

INSIDE

When art isn't art:
 Tony-award winner comes to Nichols;
 cast weighs in on play's meaning
 Page 7

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Iraq war resolution gains momentum in House and Senate

Democrats and Republicans in Congress came closer to agreeing Wednesday about a resolution giving President Bush broad authority to use military force against Iraq. Bush hailed the development and suggested war with Iraq could become "unavoidable."

Page 3

● ● ●

Arafat calls on Bush to block attempts to move U.S. Embassy

Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat appealed Wednesday to President Bush to block a U.S. law that calls for moving the American embassy in Israel from Tel Aviv to disputed Jerusalem. "It is a catastrophe. We can't stay silent," Arafat said of the measure passed by the U.S. Congress.

● ● ●

American among three dead in blast outside Philippine army base

A nail-packed bomb killed an American Green Beret and two Filipinos and wounded 25 Wednesday outside a restaurant near a base in the southern Philippines, where the U.S. military helped in the fight against al-Qaeda-linked rebels this year.

● ● ●

Bush announces help to expand use of Amber Alerts to find abducted children

Bush said Wednesday the federal government would help turn Amber Alerts into a nationwide network, with $10 million for training and equipment upgrades. He also announced the Justice Department would establish a national standard for the alerts.

Weather

Today 70 | 58

Friday 73 | 50

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
 Manhattan, KS 66502
 Newsroom.....532-6556
 news@pub.ksu.edu
 Display advertising.....532-6560
 Classified advertising.....532-6555
 Delivery problems.....532-6555
 Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Row's Nest 1800 Claflin Suite 202
539-3698

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Detergent brand
4 Harmonization
8 Pleased
12 Lagniappe
13 Air-conditioned
14 Latvia's capital
15 Hand
17 Press agent?
18 Corn spike
19 Football stat
21 Be curious (about)
24 Staff
25 Ancient 26 Understand
28 Workbench attachment
32 "Star Wars" royal
34 Emeril's expletive
36 Duel tool
37 Helman's "The Little"
38 Auction action

DOWN

1 JFK info
2 Sartorial woe
3 Text supplement
4 Frightened
5 Second person
6 Inquisitive
7 Translucent
8 Where the batter warms up
9 Old Italian bread
10 Aviator
11 Hamlet, e.g.
16 Young fellow
20 Sinbad's bird
21 Fairy-tale villain
22 Bread spread
23 Tease
27 Run up the phone bill
29 Desire
30 Contemptible
31 Saucy
33 Spray can contents
35 "Bei — Bist du Schoen"
36 Bart, to Homer
40 Stage of progress
43 Summer-time tourist area
45 Cause of royal insomnia
46 Harvest
47 Sea eagle
48 Novelist
49 Light on one's feet
53 Litter member
54 Sauce source
56 Ram's m'am

Solution time: 27 mins.

Yesterday's answer 9-12

CRYPTOQUIP

Y D G F F R D C D R N C F C R F Q C
N Y I J V O Y C M X F Y A L G Q
J X A I R O C K X D " V J C M K X V J
R L I K X F C D . "

Yesterday's Cryptquip: MY BULL TERRIER HAS A REALLY HUGE APPETITE. I GUESS HE MUST BE A BOTTOMLESS PIT!

Today's Cryptquip Clue: F equals P

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-225-8888. $10 per minute, touch-tone only. (18- only) A King Features Service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK #1 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to: Cryptopuzzle Book #1, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptopuzzle is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals Q, it will equal Q throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

There was an error in Wednesday's Collegian. The Mike Fonte speech was dedicated to the memory of Lou Douglas. K-State Police were called to the scene at the end of the lecture. The Collegian regrets the errors.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291-020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

SPOTLIGHT | Aviation

Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

Hugh Irvin prepares for take off Monday morning at the Manhattan Airport. When weather permits, Irvin flies from Manhattan, where he lives, to K-State-Salina to teach classes.

Aviations instructor travels to work using unconventional methods

By Rogie Dorpinghaus
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

On Wednesday, Hugh Irvin drove to work because of the weather. Normally, he flies.

Irvin, aviations instructor, lives in Manhattan and works at K-State-Salina.

He flies a VariEze on his commute, which weighs less than half what a regular-sized car would weigh. Irvin said without wind, the plane flies 150 mph.

"It's pretty small and pretty snug," Irvin said. "I wear a sweatshirt underneath a medium-weight jacket, and I have to take off the jacket before I get in the plane. People refer to the plane as 'putting it on' rather than getting into it."

Although the VariEze is a plane that can be built at home, Irvin bought his.

"It comes as a kit," Irvin said. "Ordinary people put them together from plans in their garage."

Despite his passion for flying, Irvin said he wouldn't put a plane together himself.

"I'm not mechanically inclined," Irvin said. "I couldn't build a dog house."

Irvin owns another plane, a Twin Comanche, made by Piper, but doesn't fly it to Salina.

"It is a two-seat tandem airplane where the passenger sits behind the pilot — it's more of a conventional airplane than the VariEze."

Marlon Johnston, department head of aviations, said when he heard about Irvin commuting by air, he found it intriguing.

"With the way the weather can change every day, I felt it took a very confident flyer to commute on a daily basis," he said.

Irvin said since he had an interest in flying at such a young age, he doesn't remember what spawned it.

He said although Superman and Sky King were popular TV shows when he was growing up in Cherryvale, Kan., his interest in flying grew even before those shows aired.

"What made me start flying was a fellow at work many years ago who was the treasurer of the K-State Flying Club," Irvin said. "I took a ground course, joined the flying club, and the rest is history."

Irvin started working at K-State as a computer programmer in 1971.

After almost 30 years as a full-time computer programmer, he discussed switching his full-time career with his wife, Terry.

"I was not too surprised," she said. "I knew he was ready to make a change. I was a little apprehensive at first, but not too bad, because I knew he was still going to work at K-State. The main thing that worried me was the commute. He is happier now, which makes me happy."

She said in his mind he always knew he was going to fly the commute if they didn't move halfway in between Manhattan and Salina.

"I'm not sure I knew about it from the start, but he did," Terry said.

In 2000, Irvin became a full-time flight instructor at K-State-Salina.

He said it wasn't a huge change because he has been a part-time flight instructor since 1983.

"I've been very fortunate to have one very interesting career as a computer programmer and a little over two years of another very interesting career as a full-time flight instructor," he said.

Irvin said while there was a little uncertainty in any big decision, his wife has been very supportive of his decision to switch careers.

"She has a good job in Manhattan," he said. "So when we talked about if we would want to move or not, we decided not to."

Johnston said Irvin instructs students who want to become flight instructors.

"He has a real keen eye for detail," Johnston said. "He works to make sure the students' depth of knowledge is appropriate. Since they're going to teach other people how to perform, he makes sure they have a strong grounding in the fundamentals and the details."

In addition to being intrigued by his daily commute, Johnston admires Irvin's dedication to the aviations program.

"In spite of the commute and the time his class work takes, he still chips in to his responsibilities in serving in committees and doing extra things," he said. "He's still involved in all of the college's activities."

The blotter
Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Tuesday, Oct. 1

- At 12:05 a.m., Kimberly Williams, Ogden, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $40.
- At 1 p.m., Clarence Jones Jr., 925 Gardenway, Apt. 4, was arrested for theft and forgery. Bond was set at $2,000.
- At 6 p.m., Reed Gray, 2413 Purcell's Mill Road, was arrested for aggravated assault and aggravated battery. No bond was set.
- At 8:20 p.m., Luke Didier, 1726 S. Manhattan, No. 11, was arrested for lewd and lascivious behavior. Bond was set at $1,500.

Wednesday, Oct. 2

- At 1:45 a.m., Michael Oakley, 624 Haymaker Hall, was arrested for reckless driving, DUI and transportation of liquor in open containers. Bond was set at $750.

The planner
Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

- Recreational Services will be taking entries for the intramural student golf meet today in the administrative office.
- Career and Employment Services is accepting sign-ups for an Oct. 24 dining etiquette program until Friday.
- Up 'Til Dawn is accepting applications for six-person teams to raise money for St. Jude Children's Hospital from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Oct. 15 in Holton 203.
- 2002-2003 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Oct. 18, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.
- Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house, 918 N. Manhattan.
- The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Peng Zhang at 9 a.m. today in Throckmorton 4031.
- Balanced College Students will meet at 5 p.m. today in the Ford Hall lobby.
- Pre-Physical Therapy Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in Union 209.
- "Study Abroad in Italy" orientation will be from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Monday in Calvin 217.

Up next
In Friday's Collegian

News | Are you protected?
Campus safety comes under the microscope. Find out what safety precautions K-State has, who controls and maintains them and what students need to know to stay safe.

Opinion | Take this job and...
Kathryn Hollingsworth remembers a not-so-pleasant employment application experience. Also, Andrew Lawson examines U.S.-North Korea relations and how policies with this "axis of evil" country go against U.S. views on Iraq.

Sports | Boulder or bust
Football faces its first road test when the team travels to Colorado on Saturday. Find out how the Cats will fare, as well as how the defense will stop the Buffaloes' potent ground game.

Will says
"Color copies are on sale every Thursday in October for 75¢"

Claflin Books and Copies

Ramblers STEAK HOUSE & SALOON

Thursday Night Specials

12 oz. USDA Choice Top Sirloin
Choice of potato, salad and dinner roll all for $7.99 + tax or

"The Couples Special"
2 complete dinners for only $14.99 + tax
8711 E. Hwy. 24 539-4989

Get it.
Collegian Fourum shirts.
$15. Kedzie 103.

HUNAM
Restaurant and Mongolian BBQ
1304 Westloop 539-8888

Lunch Buffet $4.95 All you can eat! Mon.-Sat.

Dinner Buffet $6.95 All you can eat! Friday-Saturday

$1.00 on Buffet (one item only)

FREE DELIVERY
• OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK •

Fat's Bar & Grill

Thursday

$2.50 pitchers
$2.50 fish bowls
live Texas Music

Friday

$2 Bottles

SHUTTLE SERVICE

For students with temporary or permanent disabilities on campus building to building.

For information call 532-6441

Physical Therapy Club

First Meeting

Thursday, October 3

7:30 p.m.

A current physical therapist will speak.

All current and prospective physical therapy students are encouraged to attend!

K-State Student Union Room 209

royal PP purple ARE YOU IN?

Thursday, October 3
Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures

Phi Gamma Delta
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Sigma Nu
6:30 - 9:30 p.m.

Next up: Friday, Oct. 4
Delta Upsilon 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

No Classes Tuesdays or Thursdays?
or
No Classes Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays
or
Semester Off?

Help needed to take inventories, in retail stores.
Average 10-12 hours on weekends.
Weekday daytime hours are also available, depending on your availability.

Starting at $8 per hour

Apply in person
Landon Room, Ramada Inn

Thursday, October 3, 2002 at 4:30 p.m. or 6 p.m.
Interviews will start promptly

12TH STREET PUB

THURSDAY IS STEAK NIGHT

WHEN COMES WITH BAKED POTATO, SIDE SALAD, PLUS FRESH TRUSS

$5.95 $9.95
SLOPPY STEW TOP SIRLOIN

$2 ANYTHING

BOTTLES, CABS, BIG BEERS, MICROS, MARGARITAS AND MUCH MORE

LIVE NO LESSONS AT 10 P.M.

Healthy diet must include iron

Anemia linked to lack of iron, especially in young women

By Kari Kennedy
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The college lifestyle may leave some worrying about nutrition problems, such as eating too much junk food.

However, students may fail to see the consequences of not eating enough of other types of foods, such as foods rich in iron that can help combat iron deficiency anemia.

Denis Medeiros, head of the Department of Human Nutrition, has conducted a study to see if there is any connection between iron deficiency anemia and bone weakness that could be tied with osteoporosis.

"I was teaching a class one day and it dawned on me. Why hasn't anyone studied this?" Medeiros said.

His previous studies have shown that rats fed an iron deficient diet have decreased bone density.

These results will be in an article in the October issue of the Journal of Nutrition, which will be the first publication of this kind of data.

"Publishing this preliminary data is the first step, getting additional funds to study the problem with animals is the second before finally going on to humans," he said.

"We are at the second stage since we have an article coming out in the Journal of Nutrition and have just gotten a grant to study the problem further."

Iron deficiency anemia is the most common form of anemia and affects more than 20 percent of women under age 45, according to the MEDLINEplus Web site.

It is caused by inadequate amounts of iron in the diet or loss of blood, including menstruation.

Symptoms of this disorder

Iron-rich foods

Oysters
Beef liver
Prune juice
Clams
Walnuts
Ground beef
Chickpeas
Bran flakes
Pork roast
Cashew nuts

Source:
www.umm.edu

Jenny Braniff | COLLEGIAN

Denis Medeiros, head of the Department of Human Nutrition, has conducted a study to see if there is any connection between iron deficiency anemia and bone weakness that could be tied to osteoporosis.

can appear in children, but it is most common in women of child-bearing age. Fatigue, irritability and lack of energy are some indicators.

If iron levels continue to stay low, the heart could become vulnerable and the disorder could become life-threatening, according to www.irondisorders.org.

Dianna Schalles, nutritionist and health educator at Lafene Health Center, said students shouldn't assume they have the disorder without seeking medical attention.

"Don't self medicate because it could be something else," Schalles said.

"A person might eat all the red meat they want to, but if they are truly iron deficient, it usually takes prescription levels of iron to help."

Iron deficiency also could affect the strength of bones.

Medeiros plans to study the cause of stress fractures in anemic women to see if iron deficiency plays a role.

"We want to see what chemicals in the blood are changing and if they are reflective of bone integrity," he said.

"Then we will look at anemic females with stress fractures to see if the same chemical markers are there to make a connection."

Aaron Plattner, senior in nutritional sciences, helped Medeiros with the study.

Plattner said he originally was helping with the research because he wanted to learn more about the scientific research process.

However, he found the results interesting.

"I went and bought daily multi-vitamins," he said. "It heightened my awareness of the importance of daily vitamins and minerals."

Although the disorder is a serious health problem, there are ways to prevent and control it, Schalles said.

"I wouldn't want people to panic. The bottom line is to eat a healthy variety of foods packed with vitamins and minerals," she said.

"Make sure you're getting the right sources, and not doing too many things to decrease them."

Bush says war might be unavoidable

Iraq war resolution gains momentum in both House, Senate

By Tom Raum
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Democrats and Republicans in Congress began closing ranks Wednesday behind a resolution giving President Bush broad authority to use military force against Iraq.

Bush hailed the development and suggested war with Baghdad could become "unavoidable" if Saddam Hussein does not disarm.

Full compliance with all U.N. Security Council demands "is the only choice and the time remaining for that choice is limited," Bush said, standing with top congressional leaders in the Rose Garden.

Bush struck a deal on the resolution with House leaders in the morning, and momentum quickly built behind it throughout the day. Leaders of both parties predicted passage, probably next week, by large margins.

"Mr. President, we deliver for your father. We will deliver for you," said Sen. John Warner of Virginia, the senior Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee. In January 1991, Congress authorized the first President Bush to use force to reverse Iraq's invasion of Kuwait.

House Minority Leader Dick Gephardt, D-Mo., said, "We disagree on many domestic issues. But this is the most important thing that we do. This should not be about politics. We have to do what is right for the security of our nation and the safety of all Americans."

At the United Nations, the administration was pursuing a Security Council resolution that would give Iraq 30 days to compile an "accurate, full and complete" inventory of all aspects of its weapons programs — and provide U.N. inspectors military backing to carry out their search.

The 3 1/2-page draft proposal, obtained by The Associated Press, has not been submitted formally. It faces deep opposition from Russia, China and France, each of which holds veto power.

Bush planned an address Monday in Ohio to bolster his case for regime change in advance of the congressional votes, senior White House officials said. The speech, which is in its final draft, is also

"We disagree on many domestic issues. But this is the most important thing that we do. This should not be about politics. We have to do what is right for the security of our nation and the safety of all Americans."

Dick Gephardt
HOUSE MINORITY LEADER
D-MO.

aimed at U.S. allies as Bush seeks support for the U.S. resolution before the United Nations.

As part of the deal with the House, Bush bent to Democratic wishes and pledged to certify to Congress — before any military strike, if feasible, or within 48 hours of a U.S. attack — that diplomatic and other peaceful means alone are inadequate to protect Americans from Saddam's weapons of mass destruction.

The resolution also would require Bush to report to Congress every 60 days — instead of the 90 days suggested by the White House — on matters relevant to the confrontation with Iraq. And it would reaffirm the policy embedded in U.S. law that Saddam should be overthrown.

Still, the resolution would give Bush wide latitude to act, with or without waiting for the United Nations.

The House International Relations Committee worked into the night on the measure, although no votes were expected until Thursday. An identical version was introduced in the Senate by a bipartisan group that included Warner and Sens. John McCain, R-Ariz., and Joseph Lieberman, D-Conn.

Three women, shouting "no war with Iraq," briefly disrupted the House committee's session. Chairman Henry Hyde, R-Ill., ordered them removed from the room.

Rep. Tom Lantos of California, the panel's senior Democrat, said delaying a confrontation with Iraq would only "increase the danger and increase the price" and leave the United States "humiliated before history."

Rep. Gary Ackerman, D-N.Y., said: "I continue to have grave concerns about the administration's complete failure to explain what an unsupported war on Iraq will do to our efforts to establish a stable global order."

Many Democrats and moderate Republicans remained unhappy with the wording, preferring to have stricter limits on the president's authority. But there was also a growing sense of resignation among critics that the president would get his way.

"In this place, everybody's pretty practical at the end of the day," said Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Joseph Biden, D-Del. He said Senate Democrats remained divided, but that he doubted the momentum building behind the resolution could be slowed.

Biden expressed surprise that Gephardt had agreed so readily to a deal with the White House and said he, himself, did not agree with the approach.

The Senate was scheduled to begin debating the resolution first, but continuing disputes, mostly among Democrats, delayed debate.

Congressional leaders said it now seems likely the House will vote first on the measure.

Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle, D-S.D., who did not join Bush in the Rose Garden but attended an earlier breakfast session, said the new Iraq resolution was "an improvement over the president's original proposal."

He said he preferred greater emphasis on eliminating Iraq's weapons of mass destruction and something on reconstruction plans for a post-Saddam Iraq. Still, he predicted the Senate would provide "broad bipartisan support" to give the president "the authority he needs."

In the Rose Garden, Bush thanked congressional leaders for uniting on the draft resolution.

"We will not leave the future of peace and the security of America in the hands of this cruel and dangerous man," Bush said. "Saddam must disarm, period. If, however, he chooses to do otherwise, if he persists in his defiance, the use of force may become unavoidable."

Want to Learn a Foreign Language?

CHINESE • SPANISH • FARSI • HINDI • TAIWANESE • FRENCH

The International Student Center is sponsoring a Basic Language Training program, a 6-week, non-credit course to teach the basics of a foreign language. Classes meet 2 nights/week beginning 10/14/02 and are taught by native speakers. The cost is $25. For more information, call 532-6448 or e-mail at intlstucenter@ksu.edu.

ART

A comedy by Yasmina Reza

Presented by KSU Theatre Oct. 3-5 & Oct. 9-12
Nichols Theatre 8 pm Ticks: $6 std/srns $10 general
McCain Box Office 532-6428 online: ksu.edu/mccain

PART-TIME JOBS

Starting at $8 per hour

Help needed to take inventory in retail stores
Average 10-12 hours on weekends
Weekday daytime hours are also available
averaging 25 to 35 hours
depending on your availability

Apply in person
Landon Room, Ramada Inn

Thursday, Oct. 3, 2002 at

4:30 p.m. or 6 p.m.

Interviews will start promptly

Gettin' Piggy
With It!

$1.50 bottles

Come watch KSU vs. Colorado at the Purple Pig!
Doors open at 2 p.m. on Saturday!
424 Houston 539-7444

USED TEXTBOOK SALE

Hundreds of selected new & used textbooks

Various fields of study

Check out these low prices!

(Today thru October 13)

$1.00
Paperbacks

$20.00

$2.00
Hardbacks

ALL YOU CAN CARRY!

Open 9 a.m.-9 p.m.

Mon.- Sat.

11 a.m.-7 p.m. Sunday

539-0511

Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE

"We Give You Our Best"

www.varneys.com

TO THE POINT Line schedule decision easy way to save cash

K-State's registrar's office is saving about $22,000 by not printing paper line schedules for next semester.

Instead, the schedules will be available online at www.ksu.edu.

This action is an example of how K-State is working to cut back on unnecessary spending.

By choosing only to print a limited amount of schedules and selling them at the K-State Student Union Bookstore, the registrar's office is helping ease budget constraints by cutting back in areas that will not harm students and faculty.

The registrars office did a good job of weighing the pros and cons of the cutbacks, and made sure the changes would not adversely affect students.

Deciding to not print the schedule is a way to make nearly everyone happy. The schedules will be available in limited numbers at the bookstore, and students can print their own versions off the K-State home page.

The majority of students have used the schedule online in the past anyway, so the change won't even affect them.

It is becoming commonplace among universities nationwide to put everything online – from class notes to grades – so it is appropriate that only a few copies of the schedules are printed.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Janel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

EXAMINING ECSTASY

Ignorance of drug's effects proves fatal

Most of us know it's popular, it's as attainable for youth as marijuana and it's the raver's choice for an elevated experience.

Not surprisingly, there is much more to know about Ecstasy.

It seems this drug has exploded onto the party scene within recent years. In actuality, Ecstasy, or MDMA, (methylenedioxymethamphetamine) has been around since 1914.

Ecstasy was first used as an appetite suppressant in the early 1900s. According to www.tcad.state.tx.us, MDMA was relatively ignored until the 1960s when non-medical use was first reported in the United States.

Hippies weren't the only group to embrace MDMA. Until 1985, the drug was used by psychiatrists and psychologists to help those with certain psychological and emotional disorders.

Ecstasy is now ubiquitous to the party scene and is a fairly inexpensive high, costing anywhere from $7 to $30 for a few pills. Although Ecstasy is a low-cost rush that might aid temporary weight loss, its few attributes are overshadowed by potential risks for users.

MDMA is a stimulant combining properties of methamphetamine or "speed" with those of hallucinogens, explains www.ecstasyfacts.org.

It usually is taken in tablet or capsule form. Such capsules often contain other drugs, household chemicals such as rat poison and numerous byproducts of the drug-manufacturing process that are potentially lethal.

Why would an adolescent ignorantly consume such a mystery capsule?

SUSAN POWELL

One notable reason is the effect Ecstasy has on the brain. MDMA causes the brain to release serotonin, a neurotransmitter that helps control the mood. Such a release triggers feelings of euphoria, enhanced mental and emotional clarity and heightened sensory perceptions.

Unfortunately, such moments of euphoria only last so long – an average of three to six hours.

Once the hours of enchantment are over, the brain has been depleted of its supply of serotonin. Users frequently experience feelings of depression, anxiety and paranoia as a result.

Feeling emotionally irritable is the least of an Ecstasy user's problems.

Incidents of heart attacks, strokes and seizures have been reported in some users. Dehydration is also a concern since Ecstasy energizes its users, who often neglect their bodies and succumb to heat exhaustion, kidney or cardiovascular system failure.

According to a study posted at www.newscientist.com, there is a potential risk of Parkinson's disease for MDMA users as well.

The Johns Hopkins University study investigated the effects of Ecstasy on squirrel monkeys and baboons. Up to three consecutive doses were given two hours apart, to simulate how a partyer might take the drug.

Weeks later the researchers found severe damage to dopamine-producing neurons. These neurons are essential for everyday body movement, speech and cognition functions. The lack of these neurons are characteristic of Parkinson's disease.

Besides the health repercussions, there is the issue of legality to contemplate. Ecstasy is classified as a "Schedule 1" controlled substance, sharing the classification with drugs like heroine, cocaine and LSD.

Penalties for possession include fines as high as $100,000 and life in prison, depending on the amount seized.

If a release of serotonin is your desired effect, go rent a comedy. Run around the block. Gorge on Godiva.

Heart failure, heat exhaustion and life in the slammer aren't worth it.

Susan is a senior in English. You can e-mail her at sjp8478@ksu.edu.

Illustration by Anna Wetzel | COLLEGIAN

Time spent outdoors should be enjoyed, especially with winter near

We don't have very much time to enjoy ourselves outdoors. Now is the perfect opportunity to find a little place to chill outside while you still can.

Fall is flying directly at us like a bat out of hell, and winter will follow too closely behind.

Winter is scarier than Teddy Ruxpin, and nobody should have to deal with that.

For those of you who have been locked away in your dorm rooms playing Star Craft for the duration of the semester, you should realize that soon you'll be drudging through snow to get to class.

Your penny loafers will be packed with ice.

Have fun. You'll wonder where the sun has gone. You'll question whether you want to go anywhere when the average temperature is 15 degrees Fahrenheit.

Make the choice right now to savor time outside.

Cranky Collegian photographer

Karen Mikols says she hates Kansas weather because it is unpredictable.

If you haven't figured it out yet, Kansas has bipolar weather. It goes from one extreme to the next without a hint of warning.

One minute it's raining, the next minute it's calm, then windy.

By the way, it's only windy because Nebraska sucks and Oklahoma blows.

Still, with the ever-dynamic temperature patterns, we need to enjoy what we've got.

Here are a few ways to rock on with your socks off:

Take a little trip to any one of the many parks in Riley County. City Park and Girl Scout Park are walking distance from most student housing, and they're right here in "Manhattan." Go and run around for a while. I dare you. Bring a Frisbee, too.

A short drive can get you to CiCo Park, or if you're all about being upper middle-class and white, Colbert Hills golf course is the place to be.

There's still time to simmer at Pillsbury Crossing, too. If you don't know where that is, you are probably a freshman, and you don't deserve to be there anyway. Instead, the freshmen should play on the swings at City Park.

The ultimate outdoor venue nearest K-State has got to be Tuttle Creek State Park. Tuttle offers fishing, camping, boating, Frisbee golf and volleyball. Go there and hang loose before it's too late.

Be a good visitor while you're there. If you bring cups, wrappers and cans, take them out with you. If you build a fire, put it out. Respect the land and become a part of it.

Being outdoors is invaluable, especially this time of year heading into autumn.

There really is no better place to be when leaves are falling than where there are more trees than can be counted. I grew up in a desert, so it's nice to see trees once in a while.

Autumn really is the best season anyway. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow put it best in his "Autumn" poem:

Thou comest, Autumn, heralded by the rain,

With banners, by great gales
incessant fanned,
Brighter than brightest silks of Samarcond, and stately oxen harnessed to thy wain!

Thou standest, like imperial Charlemagne,
Upon thy bridge of gold; thy royal hand

Outstretched with benedictions o'er the land,

Blessing the farms through all thy vast domain!

Thy shield is the red harvest moon, suspended

So long beneath the heaven's o'er-hanging eaves;

Thy steps are by the farmer's prayers attended;

Like flames upon an altar
shine the sheaves;

And, following thee, in thy ovation splendid,

Thine almoner, the wind, scatters the golden leaves!

Layton is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at lre3684@ksu.edu.

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Janel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

Aaron Watkins on the men's golf team is so good. Can I have your autograph?

For those of you who know how to appropriately use a crosswalk: Thank you so much. For all the rest of you morons: Learn how to use a crosswalk.

Erica, why do you keep calling our apartment? You know we have a reputation to uphold.

Whoever stole my clay hipopotamus out of my front yard on Bertrand: I hope you give it as good a life as I did.

JJ Duncan, I couldn't tell by your picture whether you were a girl or a guy, but after your insightful column on stripping, I think I'd like a lap dance.

I think my geography teacher is gay.

K-State can afford alumni center gates that cost $40,000, but can't afford the electric bill? Who's running this university?

My girlfriend calls me "Senator" during sex.

To my boyfriend Rich: Thanks for letting me know when I'm being a bitch instead of breaking up with me. I love you for that.

If you're having sex every day, twice a day, you probably need to get a partner, buddy.

God made evolution happen. There. That settles the dispute.

My Chinese fortune cookie: You will soon discover a hidden talent ... in bed.

To the four girls in Apartment 12: you're hot.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. Not enough forum? For the full version check out www.kstatecollegian.com.

TO THE EDITOR

Chinese student protest story lacked important details; free speech should be practiced in civilized manner

Editor,

James Hurla's article on the front page of the Collegian Wednesday contained many mistakes that need to be corrected.

As the speech organizer and faculty/staff adviser for the Taiwanese Student Association, which sponsored the speech, I feel Mr. Hurla, as a responsible journalist, should have at least checked some of his facts with me.

He did not. I don't even think Mr. Hurla attended the lecture. Thus, he gave a distorted view of the event.

Fact 1: The Chinese students started their protest even before the speech was given. A large number of them congregated outside the entrance to the Union Little Theatre and set up materials and posters, on a table which was meant for the K-State Union Bookstore's display of books on Taiwan. They started holding up their signs and their sheer numbers intimidated people as they walked into the Little Theatre for the speech.

Fact 2: The Chinese students then proceeded to start heckling my introduction of the speaker. I was trying to give a background of K-State's support for the Taiwanese democracy movement since the 1960s. These students did not want to listen to anything I had to say.

They then started to interrupt the speaker, Mike Ponte, throughout the delivery of his speech on U.S. foreign policy toward Taiwan. Mr. Ponte asked these hecklers to at least let him speak, and save their rude and loud comments for the discussion phase of the speech.

That period consisted mostly of the Chinese students holding up their signs and rudely giving their sole opinion that Taiwan is part of China.

Fact 3: The campus police were called in only after the speech, when these Chinese students again congregated outside the entrance of the Little Theatre and started engaging in loud and heated debate with Taiwanese-Americans trying to leave the theater.

Fact 4: This was not a "debate" with the speaker, as characterized by Mr. Hurla. This was a suppression of free speech, which the Chinese students did not want to hear. Their belief system that Taiwan "belongs to them" was not to be subject to any debate, let alone a civilized discussion. Rather, they wanted to squelch the discussion altogether, and they didn't really care what the Taiwanese people feel on this matter.

Fact 5: This lecture was not a Lou Douglas Lecture, but rather was dedicated to his memory. Professor Douglas was a champion of equal rights for all, and encouraged the Taiwanese students and faculty at K-State to dare to dream of democracy for their island.

I did agree with Dr. Chang's comment in the news article that the Chinese students should appreciate that free speech and protest is allowed in the U.S. and not allowed in China.

But the Chinese students there Tuesday night need to realize also that free speech and protest needs to be conducted in a civilized manner, and not as part of a tactic to suppress what other people have to say.

As Mr. Ponte stated last night, there is no reason why China and Taiwan cannot be the best of friends in the future. But to get to that point, the Chinese leaders and future leaders need to realize intimidation and suppression of free speech is not the way.

Grace Hwang | Director of International Programs, KSU Foundation

RAIN GAME

By Katie Lane
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

"A bus isn't a bad way to go for an elderly person who

Greyhound passenger David Wooten said the attack in California didn't affect his decision to travel on a bus.

"The bus allows you to sit back and relax and enjoy the scenery from the window."

Derek Craig, junior in management information systems, and Kevin Peizel, freshman in engineering, tackle Josh Wiggins, junior in business management, as he hangs on to a football. Residents of Goodnow Hall let neither rain nor cold keep them from an afternoon game Wednesday. "When we get bad weather, we play football," Craig said.

Emily Happer | COLLEGIAN

SCHEDULE | Online version more 'user-friendly'

While budget cuts were a huge motivational factor for the online schedule, Foster also said the change was prompted by an increasing number of students using only the previous online version.

"That eased some worries," he said. "At this point, we are

"The university's capability of handling the Web page has been great," he said. "There should be no chance of a student or faculty member not being able to access the page during enrollment."

By Brian Melley
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"He has told us several stories about why he did what he did," Sheriff's Lt. Margaret Mims said.

Two women were crushed to death, said Fresno Sheriff's

"The people in the front, when they saw, they tried to stop the guy, but he already had the driver. Everything happened in seconds," he said. "The bus started tumbling and went off the road and started flipping."

Get personal with the Collegian.

1115 Moro LONGHORNS Tonight!

Watch Friends
on the big screen!

1/2 Price
Drinks

50¢ Tacos
(6-9 p.m.)

Karaoke

F · R · I · E · N · D · S

GUMBY'S
Pizza

770-3333
702 N. 11th

Domestic Pint Night
$3 Keep the Glass!
$1.50 Refills

1st place
$25.00

Tues. Oct. 2
Trevor
Burpee
9pm

Golden Tee
Tournament
Thurs. 8pm

BOWINKLES
THURSDAY SPECIALS
$1.50 WELLS
$2.00 IMPORT BOTTLES
$1.00 DOMESTIC BOTTLES
$4.99 GIMMIE DRESS STEAK
& CHIPS
KARAOKE STARTS
6:00pm

Lee's Western Wear

Boots, Hats, Jeans, Belts, Shirts, and much more.
Now carrying Rockies jeans

8424 E. Hwy 24
2 1/2 miles East of Manhattan
(785) 776-6715
Mon.-Fri. 10-6, Sat. 10-5

If we don't have it, we will gladly special order it!

HUGE AUCTION
 Bid Online and See Full Listing at:
www.purplewaveauction.com
700 + LOTS
 Tools,
 Furniture,
 Vinyl & Porcelain Collectable Dolls,
 Sporting Goods,
 Bass Pro Fishing Equipment,
 Impressive Mahogany Shrink,
 Fenton Glassware
Every Thursday
 at 6 p.m.
611 Pecan Circle
 785-537-5057

PURPLE WAVE
 Auction Company

after hours friday | october 4

union courtyard
 < 9p.m.-12a.m.>
 caricature artist
 free candlemaking
 free henna tattoos

union food court
 < 11:00p.m.>
 free chili

forum hall
 < 12:00a.m.> free movie
 "MURDER BY NUMBERS"

upc LEAVING OUR MARK... ONE EVENT AT A TIME.

HOTLINE: 532 6572 WEBSITE: www.ksu.edu/upc

FriendSpeak

---

Conversational English Lessons

Improve your English skills
One-on-one instruction
Times are flexible
Friendly, casual atmosphere

Cats for Christ is offering FREE English Conversation lessons.

If you are interested, please call Christine from 10am-2pm, at the Manhattan Church of Christ, (785)-539-6581.

Call us now! Space is limited!

“Mars and Venus, or Planet Earth? Men and Women in the New Millennium”

Michael S. Kimmel

October 3, 2002
7:00 pm
Forum Hall

Sponsored by:
The Campaign for Nonviolence, The Crisis Center, Inc.,
Department of English, Department of Intercollegiate Athletics,
Institutional Advancement, KSU Housing and Dining Services,
Leadership Studies and Programs, Office of the President, Project
Wellness/Counseling Services/AODES, Social Work organization,
Union Program Council, University for Men, Women & Studies

Presented by:
PEERS and the KSU Women's Center

Michael S. Kimmel is a Professor of Sociology at the State University of New York at Stony Brook and an author who has received international recognition for his work on men and masculinity. Kimmel is the National Spokesperson for the National Organization for Men Against Sexism (NOMAS), and has lectured at over 200 colleges and universities, and run workshops for organizations and public sector organizations on preventing sexual harassment and implementing gender equity, and for campus groups on date and acquaintance rape, sexual assault, pornography, and the changing relations between women and men.

Kimmel is also a well-known educator concerning gender issues. His innovative course, Sociology of Masculinity, is one of the few courses in the nation that examines men's lives from a pro-feminist perspective, and has been featured in newspaper and magazine articles (The Wall Street Journal, The Boston Globe, Newsweek, People) and television shows, such as Donahue, Sonia Live, The Today Show, CNN, Smithsonian World, Bertice Berry, and Crossfire. His co-edited college textbook, Men's Lives, has been adopted in virtually every course on men and masculinity in the country.

His written work has appeared in dozens of magazines, newspapers and scholarly journals, including The New York Times Book Review, The Harvard Business Review, The Nation, The Village Psychology Today, where he was a Contributing Editor and columnist on male/female relationships. He is also the current editor of the international, interdisciplinary journal Men and Masculinities. On the basis of his expertise, Kimmel served as an expert witness for the U.S. Department of Justice in the VMI and Citadel cases.

CAPABLE QUARTERBACKS

Quarterback Eli Roberson runs the ball against USC in K-State's win Sept. 21. The win was K-State's first victory over a ranked non-conference team at KSU Stadium under Coach Bill Snyder.

Roberson ready for another chance

QB hoping for redemption after last year's Colorado game

By Joel Reichenberger
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The last three years have been a roller coaster ride for K-State starting quarterback Eli Roberson.

He burst onto the purple scene via a long touchdown run on the first play of the 2001 Spring Game. He then cemented his status as a playmaker and fan favorite by running all over Oklahoma's vaunted defense in last year's 38-37 loss.

But those moments don't sit well for Coach Bill Snyder.

"The first snap he took in the first Spring Game out here sent a bad message," Snyder said. "The message it sent to Eli was that 'This is easy. I can practice awhile, go home, relax and watch TV."

"The Oklahoma ballgame sent a bad message," Snyder said. "People forgot we lost a game at Oklahoma last year. They failed to remember that he turned around and pitched the ball to them on the first series of the game and gave them a touchdown."

Nevertheless, Cat fans were lulled into sleep, dreaming of Heisman heroics and championship seasons.

But it all came crashing down against Colorado last season. Roberson struggled — tossing two interceptions and producing 19 yards rushing in a 16-6 loss to the Buffaloes.

That Saturday he looked lost.

"It seems like a situation comes about where those spectacular things happen, and it just builds me up so high," Roberson said. "I let the hype get to me, and I didn't practice as well as I should have for Colorado."

The option, which had proven so effective against Southern California and the Sooners, was pounded by Colorado's defensive line. Then Roberson's shortcomings in the passing game were brought to the forefront as he threw the two picks and didn't score a touchdown.

The rest of the year continued on the same path. Roberson's performances, at times brilliant, were also at times dreadful — so bad that as the 2002 season started, his one-time backup Marc Dunn was named the starter.

Now, Roberson has regained his starting position. He came in to relieve Dunn against USC, completing 10 of 15 passes for 134 yards and a touchdown. He also added 70 yards and another TD on the ground.

But things are once again starting to look eerily similar to 2001. Roberson's coming off another big week. His name is plastered on headlines from KC to LA.

See ROBERSON Page 9

Buffaloes' quarterback has tools for CU offense

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Quarterback by default is a label that's been stamped on Colorado QB Robert Hodge.

After opening day starter Craig Ochs received one concussion too many, then decided to leave the Buffalo football team altogether, Hodge was left to try and lead a team in obvious disarray.

Robert Hodge
COLORADO QUARTERBACK

CU already had lost to Colorado State to open the season, then dropped its game to Southern California, Hodge's first start of the season.

But the senior responded, leading Colorado in a 31-17 romp over then No. 20 UCLA, at the Rose Bowl.

Coach Bill Snyder said that was an accomplishment in itself.

"You just don't walk into the Rose Bowl and complete 50 percent of your passes and have people not believing you can't throw the football," he said. "That just doesn't make sense to me. He can do that, he is mobile and he has some tremendous backs around him that will help him."

"They won't ask him to win the game on his own, they'll put the ball in the hands of the guys that can run it and let the big offensive linemen block for them," Snyder said.

Hodge completed 11 of 22 passes in that game, throwing for 117 yards. He also ran for 12 yards.

Defensive coordinator Bob Elliott said Hodge is a quarterback that relies on his confidence in being able to get things done.

See HODGE Page 9

USC fans still depressed; Cat fans have plenty to be proud about in Kansas

The week is almost over. Two tests down, and only one class to go to on Thursday. Then, I'm off.

Off to join the purple wave.

It will be descending upon poor Boulder, Colo., like Terry Pierce on a USC running back.

Five tried and true Cat fans will be joining me as we pack into the parent's mini van and head to Boulder. If we can withstand the desolation of everything west of Salina, we have a pretty good chance of making it. If only we could continue on to the USC campus, though, I have some business to settle there. Last Thursday, while I used my little space in the Collegian to rant about Eli Roberson, The Daily Trojan's (USC's equivalent of the Collegian) Andrew Dalton felt he had a score to settle with the state of Kansas.

JOEL REICHENBERGER

"Buck up little Trojan fan, it's not all bad," Dalton wrote, attempting to comfort the beaten and bruised Trojan faithful. "It could be worse, you could live in Kansas."

He proceeded to explain how it's good that K-State beat the Trojans because what else do we backwater Kansans have to worry about?

"Think how sad those folks' lives would be without such triumphs," he wrote.

Fortunately, Dalton was gracious enough to point out all the things he thinks make Southern California a better place to live than Kansas.

He starts with California's rich music scene.

All the music from California? You mean the teeny-bop-per crap that dominates top-40 radio? Or was he referring to the never-ending stream of talented artists who sell out to the major record labels and forfeit their unique sound?

This guy acts as if Mozart and Beethoven founded USC.

Of course, he got plenty of facts embarrassingly wrong.

"We gave the world two presidents; they gave the world Bob Dole."

What happened to Dwight D. Eisenhower? He only won World War II while Californians were busy locking up innocent Japanese-Americans.

Granted, Eisenhower was born in Texas, but he moved as a child and was infused with plenty of Kansas charm.

Best of all, Dalton readily admits Southern Californians make terrible fair-weather sports fans.

"They hate that we leave in the seventh inning or after the third quarter," he said.

Why watch a pathetic sports game filled with icky, sweaty dirty people, Dalton implies. I mean, you could just as easily be rehearsing your favorite ballet move.

"We have wine and goat cheese; they have beer and goats."

See COLUMN Page 9

K-State holds on in 5 sets against Texas Tech despite emotional comeback bid from Red Raiders

Volleyball shows its big-match potential

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State expected an emotional match against Texas Tech on Wednesday night.

And that's what the Cats got.

The Cats (7-6, 3-2) snuck past the Red Raiders (6-7, 1-3) in five games at Ahearn Field House, in a match that had more than a win riding on it.

K-State wanted to show it could win a big contest at home.

The Cats already had dropped matches to Nebraska and Texas in the normally friendly confines of Ahearn.

Setter Gabby Guerre said

Game summary

Game 1: K-State 30, Texas Tech 20

Game 2: K-State 28, Texas Tech 30

Game 3: K-State 30, Texas Tech 18

Game 4: K-State 28, Texas Tech 30

Game 5: K-State 15, Texas Tech 12

the team needed this win to get them going.

"It was good that we didn't just let down and say, 'OK they're in the spotlight, let's just let them have it,'" Guerre said. "We fought, and to come back and take this match in five, that's really hard because you have to stay at that emotional level for a longer period of time. That was good for us."

K-State didn't let the Red Raiders get in the match emotionally out of the gate, though.

The Cats sizzled on a season-high .533 hitting percentage in game one, led by junior Cari Jensen, who had six kills and committed no errors.

But in game two, Tech started getting the emotion and momentum it wanted. The Red Raiders scored 22 of 30 points on kills, hitting .260.

Guerre said Texas Tech's emotion played a big factor in that game.

"That team is such a big emotional team," she said. "They can get so high and get so low, too. You never know what you're going to get. You have to stay consistent, and you can't get down — they will take advantage of that."

Game three was much of the same as game one for the Cats. This time, however, defense

See VOLLEYBALL Page 8

Outside hitter Jennifer Pollard goes down for a dig Wednesday night against Texas Tech. The Cats beat the Red Raiders 3-2.

Drew Rose | COLLEGIAN

CAT CALENDAR

Not many home K-State events are planned for the next week, but most of the teams are still in action. Here is how events look for the next week.

Friday

■ Tennis — at the Hoosier Classic in Bloomington, Ind., the Wildcats' first tournament of the fall.

Saturday

■ Football — at Colorado to face the Buffaloes. Kickoff is set for 2:30 local time, and will be shown on ABC.

■ Equestrian — in Ames, Iowa for the Iowa State Western Show. It will be the Cats' last tune-up for their home show on Oct. 25.

■ Tennis — second day of the Hoosier Classic in Bloomington, Ind.

Sunday

■ Equestrian — second day of the Iowa State Western Show.

■ Tennis — final day of competition at the Hoosier Invitational.

Monday

■ Men's golf — in Missouri for the Purina Classic. First and second rounds will be played starting at 9 a.m.

■ Women's golf — in Indiana for the Legends tournament. Players will play 36 holes the first day.

Tuesday

■ Men's golf — Final round action at the Purina Classic.

■ Women's golf — Final round action at the Legends tournament.

Wednesday

■ Volleyball — travels to Norman, Okla. to play the Sooners. First serve is set for 7 p.m.

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

MLB Playoffs | Giants up-end Braves

Barry Bonds didn't have to come up big for the San Francisco Giants to get a jump on the Atlanta Braves.

The rest of the San Francisco lineup knocked around Atlanta's heralded pitching staff while Russ Ortiz threw seven strong innings, carrying the Giants to an 8-5 victory in Game 1 of the NL division playoffs.

Down 8-2, Gary Sheffield and Javy Lopez homered in the eighth to get the Braves close. Atlanta had its chance in the ninth, but Robb Nen got Sheffield to ground into a game-ending double play with two runners on for a save.

● ● ●

NCAA | Notre Dame/Maryland game will count in BCS

Notre Dame is 4-0 in the eyes of the Bowl Championship Series after all.

Reversing a decision made less than two weeks ago, the BCS said Wednesday that the win by the Fighting Irish over Maryland in the Kickoff Classic will count toward qualifying for a BCS bowl game.

The change means the ninth-ranked Irish are now five wins away from qualifying for one of two at-large berths for BCS bowl games — Fiesta, Rose, Orange and Sugar. Under BCS rules, teams must have nine "nonexempt" wins to earn a chance to play in a BCS game.

Until this season, the first 19 Kickoff Classics, along with all the other "preseason classic" games were considered "exempt." However, since the date of the Notre Dame-Maryland game was changed to Aug. 31 from Aug. 24, it took place after the NCAA's window of exempt games.

● ● ●

NCAA | Husker defense receives makeover

Embarrassed in blowouts to Penn State and Iowa State, Nebraska has made a few changes.

The Huskers will have four new starters on defense Saturday against McNeese State.

"It's not an effort to shake things up. It's an effort to play our best players," defensive coordinator Craig Bohl said.

Fabian Washington, a true freshman, is taking over for Pat Ricketts at right cornerback. Redshirt freshman Daniel Bullocks passed up Aaron Terpening at rover.

Patrick Kabongo takes over at defensive tackle for Jon Canton, who is moving over to back up at nose tackle. Trevor Johnson, originally a tight end, claimed Demoiné Adams' spot at right rush end.

● ● ●

NFL | Maddox to get start for Steelers

Many NFL quarterbacks would feel uncomfortable going a few weeks without starting. Tommy Maddox is about to learn what it's like to play after 10 years without a start.

Maddox, a former Broncos first-round flop who revived his career in the Arena League and earned another NFL shot by starring in the NFL, will be the Pittsburgh Steelers' starter Sunday in New Orleans.

Coach Bill Cowher's surprising decision, announced Wednesday at a team meeting, sends 2001 team MVP Kordell Stewart to the bench for the third time in four seasons. It also signals that Cowher is running out of patience with an underachieving team that was favored to win the AFC title but is only 1-2.

IN THE EYE OF THE BEHOLDER

"Marc," played by Garrett Gottschalk, senior in theater, and "Yvan," played by Ryan Mott, junior in computer science, are characters in the play "Art." The comedy, written by Yasmina Reza, will be performed in Nichols Theatre today through Saturday and Oct. 9-12.

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Tony Award-winning drama to be performed this weekend

By Scott Bowman
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Imagine that a beloved friend invites you over to see a recently purchased painting.

A completely white canvas with faint white lines is produced and you are told it was a deal at just under $30,000.

This situation is the main conflict presented in "Art." The play, written by Yasmina Reza in the mid-1990s, won the Tony Award for best play in 1998. It opens at Nichols Theatre this weekend and continues next weekend.

With a cast of three main characters, it is only one act, and uses one set for all three men's apartments. Lew Shelton, director of the play, said this comedy has a fresh outlook on the relationships between men.

"It's a unique modern comedy that shows how strong of a bond friendship can be," Shelton said. "But you see their sensitive feminine side, due to the fact that it was written by a woman. It's very believable. It starts off as a bit of high comedy and then gets so absurd it almost becomes farcical."

The friendships of all the men falter when the characters try to force their own values on each other, Shelton said.

"Most people want their friends to like what they like and, in a way, be like themselves," he said. "At times it can be a feeling so strong that we may be a little fascistic about it. And that is brought out in the play."

Serge, played by Joe Clark, junior in open-option, purchases a contemporary painting for 200,000 francs and is excited to show his two closest friends. One of his friends, Marc, dislikes the painting and is hurt that his friend shelled out so much money for a white canvas without talking to

'Art'

When and Where: 8 p.m. today through Saturday, and Oct. 9-12 in Nichols Theatre.

Tickets: $6 for students, $10 for the general public, available at the McCain Box Office, 532-6428, or online at www.ksu.edu/mccain.

Ryan Mott, "Yvan," receives some advice on how to deal with women from Garrett Gottschalk, "Marc."

him about it. Yvan, the third friend, is torn between the two.

The conflict is about art at first, but it slowly turns into a more personal argument. Tempers flare and Serge and Marc deliver verbal jabs at each other and the innocent Yvan.

But does the canvas really represent art? The cast members are torn. Clark said yes, with a slight exception.

"I believe that if you have something you want to communicate," Clark said. "If you create a piece of art to express that idea, then it is art. And if Serge really thinks that it communicates to him and he believes everything he has said during the play, then yes it is art."

"However, it is hard to say that a white canvas is art. Art has certain rules and there are even rules in breaking the rules. So, it may sound contradictory, but in my heart, yes, I think it is art, but in my head I have to say no it is not."

Garrett Gottschalk, senior in theater, took a more pragmatic view to the canvas.

"If the artist had a message, it could be art," he said. "But, if someone created art that leaves a canvas blank, it is sort of a cop-out. It's like they're trying to fool someone."

Group to bring 'Four Seasons' to McCain

By JJ Duncan
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Venice Baroque Orchestra has strayed outside the usual approach to Vivaldi.

Director Andrea Marcon has led the group into uncharted Vivaldi territory, becoming the first group to record some of the composer's untitled, privately commissioned violin concertos. Some classical music critics argue that the bulk of Vivaldi's work is so similar that it lessens his credibility as a great composer, but Marcon said he is trying to change that view.

With violin soloist Giuliano Carmignola, Marcon will lead the group through a presentation of Vivaldi's "Four Seasons" and some of his lesser known works Saturday at McCain Auditorium.

Q: What do you think will be interesting about this performance for someone who isn't familiar with classical music?

A: For people who are not familiar with classical, Vivaldi is very immediate. He's not a difficult composer, in terms of approach, for the listener. It's easy to be on the same frequency as Vivaldi in his music. And for people who are familiar with the music, it's interesting because we are trying to bring out Vivaldi that is unfamiliar to many people.

Q: Why have you decided to record and perform such obscure, unnamed concertos from Vivaldi along with his most popular work, "Four Seasons?"

A: "Four Seasons" is nearly required of someone presenting Vivaldi. We've tried, in our program, to let the public know the other part of Vivaldi that normally is never played these days.

Those concertos were recorded for the first time ever, by us. In my opinion, Vivaldi deserves more attention than he gets. He did not just write the same concerto 500 times, as Stravinsky said. His range is much wider, and even some teachers don't know his work well enough. Vivaldi operas are still quite unknown.

His concertos for violin are wonderful and they were unknown before our recordings. So performing those is our tribute to Vivaldi and the work he did that is not so famous.

Q: Do you feel vindicated now that your interpretations of Vivaldi's work are receiving so much critical praise?

A: Yes, definitely. I'm happy to read in reviews all over the world how critics are saying that they have never heard Vivaldi like this. They have been surprised at how we were able to interpret his music, especially the later Vivaldi work, which is not known well enough.

He published only about 30 percent of his work, and he decided to sell violin concertos, piece by piece, to customers to make more money. He was happy to sell his music to the customer directly. And many of those pieces are not included in his collection.

We have discovered these treasures later. It is easier to sell named concertos to an audience rather than six concertos without titles, but these Vivaldi pieces are even more genius because they are much more free, asymmetrical and unconventional. They change from major to minor keys very roughly and quickly at times.

He always plays to the listener and keeps the listener awake. He was a composer with spontaneity and freshness. His style is less academic and more interesting in his later work.

The Venice Baroque Orchestra

When and Where: 7 p.m. Saturday in McCain Auditorium
Tickets: $15 for students and children, $30 for the general public, available at the McCain Box Office, 532-6428, or www.ksu.edu/mccain.

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

Penn & Teller signed to Rio hotel-casino

Magicians Penn & Teller have signed a new contract to appear at the Rio hotel-casino through December 2004.

Penn and Teller, both Las Vegas residents, each will receive "several million dollars" a year to perform six nights a week at the Samba Theater, publicist Glenn Alai said Tuesday. Tickets cost $65.

"This town serves as a sort of artistic gymnasium," Penn said. "The Las Vegas audiences force us to keep sharpening the old tricks and coming up with new, more spectacular stunts."

Penn & Teller have been performing their wacky brand of magic for 28 years.

The Rio, owned by Harrah's Entertainment Inc., is just west of the Las Vegas Strip.

Music memorabilia auctioned at Christie's of London

Lyrics handwritten by Paul McCartney to the hit "Goodbye," John Lennon's exam results and a guitar signed by Mick Jagger and Keith Richards went on display at Christie's auction house.

Christie's will sell more than 200 items of music memorabilia, including items from the Beatles, the Doors, Jimi Hendrix, the Rolling Stones, Robbie Williams, Madonna and Oasis today.

There are more than 80 lots connected with the Beatles, including gold discs, autographs, long-playing records, toys, mugs and other souvenirs that fans collected, the auction house said Tuesday.

—Compiled by JJ Duncan

LISTENING BOOTH

The Collegian wants to know what music you are listening to. If you are passionate about music and want to express your opinion, e-mail A&E Editor JJ Duncan at jduncan\_80@hotmail.com. This week we asked Mike Juliff, sophomore in biology, what he's playing.

What five albums are you listening to and why?

1. The Stereo: "Rewind and Record"
"Rewind and Record" is the newest album from ex-Animal Chin frontman Jamie Woolford. It's a great all-around rock album with a touch of emo. It ranges from super high energy songs like "You Better Believe It" to slower, more relaxing songs like "Vice-Versa Inquisition/No Name #2."

2. Morning Musume: "Ikimassho!"
I got this album recently, but it is already one of my favorites. Morning Musume is an extremely popular Japanese group consisting of about 12 girls of ages ranging from about 13 to 25. Regardless of whether you like music in another language, Morning Musume has some of the catchiest songs ever.

3. Self: "Selfifornia"
Matt Mahaffey is a one man/super-genius band. Self is completely original groove-oriented alternative music. The unusual chord progressions are plentiful as they are on all Self albums. This album even has a remix of a previous Self song called "Suzy Q Sallaway," done this time entirely with toys purchased from places like Toys 'R Us.

4. Thrive: "Mission of Safety"
If you like punk, hardcore, or metal, then you will probably like Thrive. All of the songs on here cruise back and forth from some amazingly intense screaming to great singing with sweet harmonies. Songs like "Trust" and "In Years to Come" make great use of these harmonies in the vocals and between the instruments.

5. Recover: "Rodeo and Picasso"
Recover is one of the best emo hardcore bands ever. From the first five seconds of this CD, you can tell that you are about to get a fistful of rock. Recover switches between screaming and singing on most tracks. "A Match Like Memory" is by far one of the greatest songs on this album. It sets down a crunching groove, which is upheld throughout the duration of the song.

—Compiled by JJ Duncan

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

More women considering breast implants; technology making augmentation easier

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It's a trend that's sweeping the young female population.

And with recent technological advancements, it's becoming safer and more affordable.

After a decade of silicone scares, breast augmentations are more popular, especially among college-aged women.

"I have seen an increase in younger-aged women since I came here a year ago," said Kenneth Fischer, a board-certified plastic and reconstructive surgeon in Manhattan. "I feel that more women are getting them done because they're safe, affordable, and there was a good economy so more people could afford it."

Out with the old

According to a recent Washington Post article, 220,000 American women, an all-time high, received breast implants in 2001. In the past two years, more than 5,000 implants were given to women 18 or younger.

The increase in breast augmentations, credited to new technological advancements and cost efficiencies, comes after the Food and Drug Administration limited the use of implants filled with silicone gel.

"With the first implants done in the '80s, they were made of silicone and there was a high leak rate," Fischer said. "Professionals were scared about silicone being associated with a mixed connection to tissue disease."

In addition, researchers from the National Cancer Institute reported in April 2001 that, contrary to popular belief, women with silicone breast implants had no increased risk for most cancers. Now, however, most women receive saline-salt-water mix implants.

"Now that the implants are safe and many are made of saline, more women are getting them," Fischer said. "There's no increase of breast cancer with the augmentation, and there's minimal side effects."

These effects include minimal scarring, swelling, and pain following the surgery, he said.

"Typically, women who have had the surgery go home the same day, three or four hours after the surgery," he said. "Most women complain about pain and tightness, so I tell women to limit their activities."

In addition, with the saline implants, Fischer said women are more likely to have additional surgery.

According to the national average, 25 percent will require revision within 10 years.

"I tell women chances are it won't be their last surgery and the last time they'll be in my office," Fischer said.

Psychological effects

While breast augmentations alter the body, Fischer also noted that implants increase a woman's body perception.

"The benefits of breast implants are psychological," he said. "Typically, Americans want instant gratification, and that's a pretty instant gratifying operation."

Moreover, Fischer said he believes the mass media have a big effect on a woman's choice of breast augmentation.

"Sexuality is strong in America," he said. "Sex sells, so most people see good-looking breasts as attractive and sexy. They look better over time, and everyone wants to feel good about themselves."

However, women like Jessie Luttmann, junior in business, have mixed feelings about the augmentation process.

"If there wasn't surgery involved and it didn't hurt, I'd get them," she said. "But I've heard that it hurts so bad."

Moreover, Luttmann said she didn't need to increase her breast size to help her image.

"I love my boobs," she said. "I don't need fake boobs. It's quite a thing to waste a lot of money on, and most girls who get them seem to be a little too confident."

In addition, while many women feel breast implants will gain attention from the opposite sex, Dan Hill, sophomore in political science, disagreed.

"Breast implants cheapen the woman, because it makes you know they don't have a lot of self-confidence since they have to better themselves cosmetically," he said.

The result

Although breast augmentation stirs controversy, Fischer said the surgery results in a lifetime change.

"People want to feel good about themselves, and it's a relatively inexpensive way to do it," he said. "In the right hands, it can be done very safely, and it can be reversible."

While Fischer has consulted many women in his practice, he has turned away women for various reasons.

"Certain people are better candidates than others," he said. "They have to want breast implants for the correct reasons, and they have to understand the risks and benefits."

"The patient has to have the right motivation."

HANGIN' OUT

Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

On a swing outside Kenoyer Hall, Annie Lewis and Darlene Kaufman, freshmen at Manhattan Christian College, enjoy the afternoon Tuesday. They were spending time with Jesse James, MCC sophomore, and Annie Lewis, MCC freshman.

VOLLEYBALL | Wildcats win nailbiter over Tech

Continued from page 6

was key.

K-State got four blocks in the third game, led by Lauren Goehring, who chipped in three assisted.

Guerre said she was impressed with the team's improvements in that area.

"Our pursuit was a lot better than it has been," Guerre said. "We've been waiting and practicing, and finally it's starting to pay off."

With a chance to finish Tech off in game four, the Cats weren't able to capitalize. Ten kills by Angela Mooney led the Red Raiders to a 30-28 win.

And for the first time since last year's NCAA tournament, the Cats were forced to play a fifth game.

Coach Suzie Fritz said that wasn't too surprising given how Tech plays the Cats.

"They play with such emotion all the time," she said. "We were just cranking on them, and they were coming back."

Tied at 10 in the final game, K-State once again relied on defense. After a few kills by Guerre, a stuff by Guerre and middle blocker Lisa Martin sealed the win.

Fritz said after the loss to Texas last weekend, a win like this could get the team going and prove it can win that big match. This one just happened to be a five-game thriller.

"You've got to have some composure," Fritz said. "Traditionally, we've had good composure at critical times. We're down four or five, and a 15-point rally scoring game can go by like that. So more than anything, we showed that composure tonight."

COMING OUT DAY CONFERENCE

Friday, October 11, 2002

3:00pm - 9:30pm ■ K-State Student Union

Keynote Address:

Why Ending Discrimination Based on Gender Identity Matters to All of Us

Workshops:

Coming Out 101 ■ Now That I'm Out, What Do I Do?
Supportive Friends & Family ■ Building Healthy GLBT Relationships
Valuing Diversity Within the GLBT Community ■ Our Place in History Perspectives on Religion, Spirituality, & Homosexuality

Featured Exhibit:

Love Makes a Family: GLBT People and Their Families

Download the conference brochure & registration form at www.k-state.edu/qa/conference/

Sponsored by K-State Queer-Straight Alliance, Flint Hills Pride Alliance, & Regional AIDS Project

in concert

ON SALE THIS SATURDAY 11AM!

ROAD TRIP!

OUTLETS & KEMPER ARENA BOX OFFICE

CHARGE BY PHONE: 816-931-3330 or Ticketmaster

www.kstate.edu

Shear Dynamics Introduces Terra! FREE HAIRCUT WITH HIGHLIGHT

•$10 off Pedicure or Massage

•$10 any Body Treatment
w/ Christy or Stephanie

•10% off All Retail

•Matrix•Redken•American Crew•Osis•OPI•

shear dynamics
where beauty is just the beginning 785.774.9100
www.shear-dynamics.com

Exp 10/31/02

K-State Student Union Bookstore

RENTS DVDs AND DVD PLAYERS

New Releases

$2.80

Other Titles

$1.86

Bookstore

ROBERSON | Quarterback hopes to right last season's wrongs

Continued from Page 6

And Colorado is back to possibly ruin his day again. It won't happen like that this year, though, Roberson said.

He said with another year of training under his belt, a renewed work ethic and a pledge not to read newspapers, he would be able to overcome his nightmares and shine on the field in Boulder. "I didn't prepare myself well enough to learn the things to do and not to do in the Colorado game," Roberson said of last year's game. "But this week I am really focusing on that, so I know when to run option, when not to — when to throw the ball and when not to throw the ball."

Just like last year when the Cats were only able to scrounge up 1.85 yards per carry in the running game, this year's contest may come down to K-State's ability to run the football.

And with Eli Roberson in the game, a lot of that responsibility falls on his shoulders.

Against USC, Roberson rushed on 23 carries for a net of 97 yards, or 4.2 yards per carry. He also threw for 134 yards, and accounted for nearly two-thirds of the yards the K-State offense earned.

In the entirety of last season, Roberson was only 40 percent throwing the ball, and only threw for more than 50 percent three times.

Against USC, Roberson completed 66 percent of his passes. He said that just shows one way he's a different player from what he was this time last year.

"I am a much better leader," he said. "I feel more comfortable playing with this offense, knowing what I have to do. Going out there, I just have to put all of it together and hopefully do well."

But that doesn't mean that any success that comes his way will go straight to his head. In 2002, Roberson said he is confident he can remain grounded and just concentrate on football.

"I am more ready for all the accolades that come from being a quarterback," Roberson said. "I am just an average quarterback — I'm not Superman. I just go out there and try and do the best that I can."

HODGE | CU's tough luck at quarterback produces quality replacement

Continued from Page 6

"He's capable of doing some things to help them win," Elliott said. "He has some savvy about him, but I don't know that any quarterback should have to carry a team on his shoulders."

And Colorado's QB won't have to. Running back Chris Brown has been the focal point of the Buffalo offense so far this year, scoring six of the team's 10 touchdowns.

But Hodge is a threat to run as well, defensive tackle Tank Reese said. That's something the Cat defense welcomes.

"He's strong, and he definitely has the ability to run,"

Reese said. "But I don't think he can get away from us. If he wants to run, I encourage him to."

But like any other quarterback, Hodge feeds on confidence, defensive back Terence Newman said.

Newman said the focus of the defense, when it comes to Hodge, is rattling the inexperienced QB.

"He's a confidence player," Newman said. "Watching the UCLA game, he made a lot of big plays. Our thing we want to do is get back there and make him as uncomfortable as possible."

But perhaps Hodge has already been as uncomfortable as he can be.

Thrust into a starting role could be enough to rattle anyone, linebacker Josh Buhl said. He said that's what impressed him most when looking at the Colorado quarterback — his composure.

"The way he came in and took over with all the pressure on him, stepping in for a good quarterback, and he handled it well," Buhl said.

Elliott said Colorado's quarterback situation seems all too familiar to that of a year ago.

Ochs was hurt last year as well, but it was Bobby Pesavento who stepped up for the Buffaloes, leading them to a Big 12 title and a berth in the Fiesta Bowl.

"It's hard to tell what kind of impact he is going to have," Elliott said.

"The thing I do remember, though, is that a year ago when Ochs got hurt, a guy named Pesavento came in, and everybody said they would go down the tubes on offense. Well, they got better. So they've had experience with this, and I think Hodge has the chance to be just as good as Pesavento was, and that's when they got hot last year."

"I've seen these guys operate when their first team quarterback is out and they were just as good or better than they have been," he said.

COLUMN | Football low on most Southern Californians' priority list

Continued from Page 6

Yeah, we have beer. And we like it. Apparently the greatest day for the Men of Troy was when Smirnoff Ice was invented. They probably screamed "Oh my gaaadd!!! It tastes so fruity, and it's good for my figure too!!!"

The best part of the whole deal is I know Dalton and the rest of the folks on the USC campus really do care that K-State smashed them.

Why else would it still be troubling him nearly a week after? If he really didn't care, wouldn't he have just turned off the TV when K-State went up 27-6, and gone and worked on his hair?

He cares. He probably thought USC was going to go undefeated. The Men of Troy and their grand return to the national stage, thwarted and embarrassed by a bunch of farm boys from Kansas.

None of their fans have learned to respect K-State.

Their message boards were filled with lines like "Oh Terence Newman held our receivers on every play, and he was really, really mean."

Or, "if only we hadn't dropped 234 passes in a row, well then we'd show you."

Grow up, USC.

Dalton's column can be found at the dailytrojan.com, in the Sept. 26 sports archives.

Joel is a junior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at piotksu@hotmail.com.

Campus Phone Books

On sale in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

120
For Rent-Houses

HOUSE FOR RENT flexible lease dates. Three-bedroom, washer/dryer, single car garage. 2039 College View. No pets. (785)456-7255/ (785)456-9000.

RESERVE NOW for next semester. Four-bedroom, two bath brick home west of KSU stadium. Completely remodeled with everything new. No pets. (785)556-8899.

ADVERTISE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

145
Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592.

ROOMMATE WANTED in three-bedroom, two bath house. Walk to campus. Call (785)537-2882 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Need to sublease?
Advertise your sublease before it's too late!
Kedzie 103 • 532-6555

000
bulletin board

010
Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744, www.ksu.edu/kstfc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

NEW LOCATION as of October 1, Lewis's Auto Repair 910 S. South Juliette. 770-8553. $40.00/hour labor rate call for appointment.

020
Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND WOMEN'S purple corduroy wallet. Aggieville area. Call to pickup. (785)776-6008.

TWO RINGS lost in library, couple of weeks ago. Both purple and silver. Please return (785)539-0173.

VICTORIA RHIN watch found east side Union faculty parking lot. Call (785)532-6224.

030
Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSB, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100
housing/real estate

105
For Rent-Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

ONE OR TWO bedroom fully furnished. October rent paid. Sublease as soon as possible. (785)770-8866 or (620)870-0660 call anytime.

"Stay In Class At The Commons" Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

- Fully Furnished
- 2 & 4 Bedroom
- Alarm System
- Swimming Pool
- Washer/Dryer
- Computer Lab
- Fitness Center
- Tennis/Volleyball Courts
- Individual Leases

Office Hours: M-F 9-6, Sat. 10-4

539-0500

UNIVERSITY APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE

GET YOUR AD HERE.

110
For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

120
For Rent-Houses

NEXT TO campus, very nice four-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7050.

200
service directory

300
employment opportunities

310
Help Wanted

$800 WEEKLY Guaranteed! Stuffing envelopes. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Oakdale Enterprises 1151 N. State suite 231, Chicago, IL 60610.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com.

310
Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

ASSISTANT TEACHER needed for preschool classroom. Monday-Friday mornings 8:30 until 1:00p.m. Call Lisa or Danice at (785)539-7540 or stop by KinderCare at 1205 Hylton Heights.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential! training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

DANCING POSITIONS AVAILABLE Mustang Gentlemen's Club 1330 Grant Ave., Junction City, KS (785)238-7571. Females 18 years+. Topless only. $2500-$4500/ month. WILL TRAIN. For more information call Ms. Young at club or Ashley at (785)565-9355 Manhattan.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking full-time retail Garden Center staff. Sales experience preferred. plant knowledge helpful, weekends a must. Heat tolerance and lifting required. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

ADVERTISING... IT WORKS
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie
532-6555

310
Help Wanted

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol Vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evening, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

COMPACT DESKTOP 2000 with printer. Like new. Call (785)323-0054.

415
Furniture to Buy/Sell

RED TAG SALE. Cash and carry only. Wohler's Furniture. 615 N. Third. (785)539-3119.

420
Garage/Yard Sales

TRINITY PRESBYTERIAN. Saturday, October 5, 8am-noon. 1110 College Avenue. Riding lawn mower, lawns, recliner, desks, televisions, household items, clothing $2 per grocery bag, toys, and much more.

450
Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Registered Yorkie pups. Eight weeks old. Had all shots. American Kennel Club registered. (785)527-5276.

RECEPTIONIST NEEDED. Light office duties. Full or part-time at Blueville Nursery. 4539 Anderson Ave. (785)539-2671.

320
Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD. Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.dh-movement.org elfemarie@humana.org

330
Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

THE OPPORTUNITY of a lifetime
www.theinnoway.com

Fraternities • Sororities • Clubs Student Groups
Earn $1,000-$2,000 this semester with a proven CampusFundraiser 3 hour fundraising event. Our programs make fundraising easy with no risks. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so get with the program! Contact CampusFundraiser at (888) 923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

400
open market

410
Items for Sale

COMPACT DESKTOP 2000 with printer. Like new. Call (785)323-0054.

415
Furniture to Buy/Sell

RED TAG SALE. Cash and carry only. Wohler's Furniture. 615 N. Third. (785)539-3119.

420
Garage/Yard Sales

TRINITY PRESBYTERIAN. Saturday, October 5, 8am-noon. 1110 College Avenue. Riding lawn mower, lawns, recliner, desks, televisions, household items, clothing $2 per grocery bag, toys, and much more.

450
Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Registered Yorkie pups. Eight weeks old. Had all shots. American Kennel Club registered. (785)527-5276.

RECEPTIONIST NEEDED. Light office duties. Full or part-time at Blueville Nursery. 4539 Anderson Ave. (785)539-2671.

320
Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD. Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.dh-movement.org elfemarie@humana.org

330
Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

THE OPPORTUNITY of a lifetime
www.theinnoway.com

Fraternities • Sororities • Clubs Student Groups
Earn $1,000-$2,000 this semester with a proven CampusFundraiser 3 hour fundraising event. Our programs make fundraising easy with no risks. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so get with the program! Contact CampusFundraiser at (888) 923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

530
Motorcycles

1993 SUZUKI Katana. $2000. Call Aaron after 6:00pm. (785)564-0196.

600
travel/trips

610
Tour Package

5 MOUNTAINS!
Up to 7 NIGHTS!
18th ANNUAL STEAMBOAT NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
STEAMBOAT MUSIC FEST
Uskithis.com
1-888-UK-THINKS

WINTER BREAK IN Steamboat.
3 to 7 NIGHTS!
PACKAGES INCLUDE: Lodging, Lift Tickets, FREE Cover Charges, FREE Happy Hours, FREE Parties, Excluding Discounts

1.800-SUNCHASE
steamboat.sunchase.com

#1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE
Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1!
Breckenridge, Vail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin
$179
1-800-SKI-WILD
www.skier.com

WANTED: STUDENT football tickets for OSU and Texas games. Call (785)770-9327.

AEROSMITH/ KID ROCK. Kansas City 10/6/02. Two reserve seats- Section 13 Row G. Reserve seats are Sold Out! Call (785)776-0639 ask for Katie $150 or best offer.

500
transportation

510
Automobiles

1986 MERCURY Marquis station wagon. V-8, loaded, power everything. Maintenance records, dependable, runs great. Seats 8. Super tailgating! (785)539-9148.

1992 PLYMOUTH Laser. $1450 or best offer. (785)395-5955. After 5pm leave a message.

we kick ads.
STUDENT TRAVEL AMERICA
COLLEGE SNOW RIDE
Party 6 days, 5 nts, with a 4 day lift ticket
OURANGO MT. RESORT
COLORADO
call (800) 235-TRIP
www.studenttravelamerica.com

630
Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPadre. 110% Best Prices! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007 endlesssummertours.com

! KSU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST prices, FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE. Reps needed, earn $$$, Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578 dept. 2626) / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1145 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

SPRING BREAK 2003 is now sponsored by Student Express Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza! Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentexpress.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

CANCUN • ACAPULCO • JAMAICA • BAHAMAS • FLORIDA
SPRING BREAK
PARTY 6 DAYS, 5 NTS
FREE TRIP
1-800-445-4595
www.sthtravel.com

Organize a Group of 20 and travel for FREE!
Parties Galore

Deadlines
Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

Classified RATES
1 DAY
20 words or less $8.00
each word over 20 20¢ per word
2 DAYS
20 words or less $9.40
each word over 20 25¢ per word
3 DAYS
20 words or less $11.05
each word over 20 30¢ per word
4 DAYS
20 words or less $12.25
each word over 20 35¢ per word
5 DAYS
20 words or less $13.35
each word over 20 40¢ per word (consecutive day rate)

000
bulletin board

100
housing/real estate

200
service directory

300
employment opportunities

HANGING IN THERE

Lindsay Bauman | COLLEGIAN
Dean Tangeman, senior in horticulture, practices his tree-climbing skills outside of Putnam Hall. Tangeman was taking part in his Arboriculture class, taught by Professor Cathie Lavis.

TANNING | Students not threatened by statistics; health officials stress ways to minimize UV exposure

Continued from Page 1

had about 250 people a day come in," Southern Sun owner Kathy O'Malley said. "Every year has been better and better."

And while health officials continue to stress ways to minimize ultraviolet exposure, O'Malley said her customers are content with taking the risk.

"These days, whether it's the sun, coffee or whatever, something's going to kill you sooner or later," she said. "We try to go through everything with them, though. We give them pamphlets, and we have signs up. We try to educate them the best we can, but a lot of them do what they want."

Kristin Stabenow, junior in family life and community service, said she understands the dangers of tanning in salons, but the benefits ultimately outweigh the consequences.

"They say it's not good for you, but they also say smoking isn't good for you, and people still do it," she said. "Everyone has their little thing they like, and mine is tanning."

Stabenow's experience began in high school for homecomings and proms, but she schedules more sessions in college than before.

"I've started tanning more and more, probably because I don't have my parents around to give me their opinion," she said.

Stabenow's parents might be in the know.

Most of Dr. Ditto's patients are women who began tanning several years ago and are only now experiencing side effects.

"They end up with skin that is actually due to be on a lady who is in her 70s and 80s," he said.

"They're getting that in their 50s and 60s, so it's advancing the age of the skin by 20 or 30 years. They're paying the price, because that many years ago, these were the ladies using tanning booths."

But even as cancer statistics and skin deformation stories increase, students like Stabenow continue to close the lid and take the risk.

"I'll probably have wrinkles in the future, but by then everyone will, so I'm not really worried about it," she said.

Increased wrinkles, splotchy skin and sun spots are common, Ditto said, but those symptoms are relatively mild compared to what ultimately could happen.

"We're going to see the person that's done that amount of damage to their skin in their 40s and 50s," he said. "That's the likely time they're going to be complaining about it. It's one of those delayed types of things that they don't see the downside of right up front, but they eventually will."

WATER BILL | K-State waiting for final figures to begin repayment after meters produced inaccurate readings

Continued from Page 1

Memorial Stadium, at the football practice field and on a property where the university conducts swine research.

"Van Zile was clearly the biggest concern," Bernie Hayden, director of city finance, said.

"The rest, at least in my judgment, were minor."

City officials estimate the revenue loss from the meter at the football practice field is about $4,200. The meter was reportedly about 20 years old, and because the university had installed other lines, the city wasn't sure the meter was being used, thus causing it to bill the university the minimum usage amount — $14.94 per month.

"Again, it was an oversight,"

Hayden said. "One we are working to correct."

At the swine research location, the meter dial was broken since July 2001.

The bill totals $429 for use of water since it has been broken. The city ordered a meter for the area, and 12 existing meters will not be routed through it, Hayden said.

The meter at Memorial Stadium, for which the university owes about $250, serves a bathroom and concession stand.

"These are not a big deal," Hayden said. "We are talking about small amounts of money that the university is willing to pay."

Rawson also said he doesn't expect any delays in repaying the back bills.

"We are looking forward to receiving a detailed bill from the city," he said. "These mistakes are relatively minor compared to the university's total bill."

The Manhattan campus budgeted $474,894 for water usage for the university this fiscal year, Dale Boggs, associate director of facilities, said. That number excludes water usage from Housing and Dining, where the significant underbilling mistake occurred.

"That might be one reason for the delay," Boggs said. "Who is billed for what mistake is a little confusing because of the complicated structure. Once the bill is finalized, the university can begin to determine when and how we will pay the bill."

Replacement meters also have been ordered for the practice field and swine unit, Hayden said, and the cost will be billed to the university.

K-State officials said they will connect the lines that go to the broken meter at Memorial Stadium to other metered lines just north of the location.

In efforts to make sure mistakes like these don't reoccur, all city departments who deal with the water billing process were consolidated under the finance department last Wednesday.

Previously, utilities monitored the meter readers, human resources was responsible for computerized billing, and the finance department was in charge of the accounting and computer system functions that support the departments. Now, all three efforts are consolidated.

"This just makes more sense," said Hayden, who is now directly responsible for the billing process. "Hopefully, the communication will continue to improve between all departments involved with water billing because they are all now under the same department."

The department is now auditing all 12,400 water accounts within the city in efforts to catch any more mistakes. It plans to finish up cycle one today and the remaining two cycles by the end of October.

"We have five sets of eyes looking at every account," Hayden said.

"It is going well so far. We haven't found any other errors."

And he doesn't anticipate any. "I think we are ready to correct the mistakes found and move on," he said. "We have been meeting with university officials and have established a good line of communication. We are in the process of getting a good grasp on the problem and dealing with it on a general basis, not one meter at a time."

Hayden said as soon as the city is sure all K-State water usage is accounted for, he will begin negotiations on how the bills are to be paid.

"I just think it makes more sense to have one amount than to bill them for a piece here and a piece there," he said. "They are willing to pay the bill — we just are finishing the audit in order to move to the next step."

PIZZA SHUTTLE
DELIVERS

1800 Claflin Road
776-5577

We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

Aggie Station
RESTAURANT & PUB

Budweiser
Customer Appreciation Night

99¢
Brewery Light & Dark

1/2
Price

710 N. Manhattan
Aggieville

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."

539-3338

Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

CONGRATULATIONS
to North Central Conference Collegiate Mountain Bike Champion, Mark Smelser,
and the rest of the Kansas State University Cycling 2002 Conference Mountain Bike Champions!

www.ksu-cycling.org

Fall Guinness Fest
2002
Party on the Patio
$3 Guinness Pints
LIVE @ 7
TOMORROW 150 T-Shirts

RC McGraws
Manhattan's Oldies, Country, Night Club

KARAOKE

Thursday, 9-1
50¢ TACOS
hard or soft
$1.99
$1.99 Island Oasis Margaritas

776-9588 • 2317 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Blue Hills Shopping Center

K-State at Fort Riley
Class Schedule Term 1-2003
Programs for Military and Civilians
October 15 - December 14, 2002

Courses Offered				Enrollment Information
Course Title	Course Number	Credit Hours	Blkg/Room	Registration
Monday/Wednesday 1730-2000
World Regional Geography	GEOG 100	3	7604/10	Military enrollment ■ Begins September 3, 2002 ■ Military enrollment includes active duty military, retired military, reserve components, family members, DOD/DAC, ROTC Cadets, and veterans. ■ Military using Tuition Assistance must be enrolled before the second class meeting.
Earth Through Time	GEOG 102	3	7656/16
College Algebra (P)	MATH 100	3	7656/11
Public Speaking I	SPCH 106	3	7656/4
Business/Econ. Stats I (P)	STAT 350	3	7656/8
Working With Parents (P)	FSHS 670	3	7656/12
Monday/Wednesday 2000-2230
Money & Banking (P)	ECON 530	3	7604/14	Civilian enrollment ■ Begins October 7, 2002. ■ Online, telephone, or fax enrollment available beginning the second day of civilian enrollment. ■ A Privacy Act Statement with an original signature must be received for the enrollment to be official. ■ To ensure access to post, you must include driver's license number and state on enrollment form. ■ Enrollment after the first week of classes requires instructor/department approval.
Expository Writing II (P)	ENGL 200	3	7604/10
Industrial Psychology (P)	PSYCH 560	3	7604/13
Wealth, Power & Privilege (P)	SOCIO 541	3	7656/11
Public Speaking II (P)	SPCH 321	3	7656/4
Business & Econ. Stats II (P)	STAT 351	3	1984
Tuesday/Thursday 1730-2000
Accounting for Invest./Finance (P)	ACCTG 241	3	7656/12	Cost ■ $127.00 per undergraduate credit hour
(ACCTG has $15 Extra Fee)
Plane Trigonometry (P)	MATH 150	3	7656/8
Intro. to Music	MUSIC 250	3	7656/12
Intro. to Philosophical Problems	PHILO 100	3	7656/11
Kansas Politics	POLSC 321	3	7604/13
Tuesday/Thursday 2000-2230
Principles of Macroeconomics (P)	ECON 110	3	7656/12	Drop Dates ■ 100% refund if you drop in writing before the second class meeting ■ 50% refund if you drop in writing on or before November 1, 2002 ■ Withdrawals after November 1, 2002 will be recorded on your transcript. ■ If you stop attending class and do not process a drop form you will receive a grade of "F." Active duty military have to see their military education counselor before dropping a class. No drops after November 22, 2002.
Intro. to Literature	ENGL 251	3	7604/10
Public Policy Analysis (P)	POLSC 377	3	7604/14
Social Psychology (P)	PSYCH 535	3	7604/13
Juvenile Delinquency (P)	SOCIO 460	3	7656/11
Family Relationships/ Gender Roles (P)	FSHS 350	3	7656/8
Intro. to Women's Studies	WOMST 105	3	7656/16
Tuesday/Thursday 1730-2000 &amp; Saturday 0830-1030 (All CIS classes have $5 extra fee)
Intro. to Info. Tech.	CIS 101	1	215/835	Special Assistance Kansas State University is dedicated to making academic courses accessible to all persons. Contact the Registration Office at (785)532-5546 or 1-800-432-8222 at least two weeks prior to the beginning of the course if you have a physical or learning disability which would require special accommodations.
Spreadsheet Applications (P)	CIS 102	1	215/835
October 15-26, 2002
October 29-November 9, 2002
Database Applications (P)	CIS 103	1	215/835
November 12-November 23, 2002
Word Processing Applications (P)	CIS 104	1	215/835
December 3-December 14, 2002
Tuesday/Thursday 2000-2230 &amp; Saturday 0900-1200
Environmental Geography II (P)	GEOG 221	4	7656/4

(P) = Course has prerequisite(s).

Course/Schedule Notes
 0830-1030 = 8:30-10:30 am
 0900-1200 = 9:00 am-12:00 pm
 1730-2000 = 5:30-8:00 pm
 2000-2230 = 8:00-10:30 pm

Please check with our office just prior to classes starting for possible changes in the schedule!!

Program and Registration Information available at www.dce.ksu.edu/fortriley

Kansas State University

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Friday, October 4, 2002

Public invited to forum

Gubernatorial candidates to debate issues

By Jessica Pitts
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Kansas political candidates will be visiting Manhattan on Saturday to talk about issues surrounding the November election.

The Kansas Federation of Business & Professional Women will conduct a political forum as part of its fall conference at the Holiday Inn. The event is free and open to the public.

Gubernatorial candidates Kathleen Sebelius and Tim Shallenburger will speak at 9:30 a.m., followed by state treasurer candidates Lynn Jenkins and Sally Finney at 10:30 a.m., and insurance commissioner candidates Sally Praeger and Jim Garner at 11 a.m.

"It is extremely important that the public is aware of where the candidates stand on issues that affect them," Ruth Williams, president of BPW, said, "and we are excited about offering this opportunity."

BPW, a national organization, advocates for women through education and information, Williams said, and be-

See GOVERNOR Page 12

U.N. hopes to act soon

Chief weapons inspector ready to return to Iraq

By Edith M. Lederer
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UNITED NATIONS — The chief U.N. weapons inspector said Thursday he hoped Security Council members would move quickly on whether to adopt a tough new resolution before his team travels to Iraq to look for weapons of mass destruction.

If the rules changed while he was in Iraq, Blix said, "it would be awkward." Blix spoke to reporters after briefing the Security Council on the agreement he reached with Iraq earlier this week on logistics for resuming inspections after nearly four years.

The 15-member council is divided over whether to adopt a new resolution. The United States says a new mandate is critical to the disarmament of Saddam Hussein, but Russia says it is not needed and would cause unnecessary delay to a resumption of inspections.

Council members also disagree over whether Blix could go to Baghdad before a decision is made on a new resolution. The United States and Britain, which are pushing a new resolution aimed at improving access for inspectors, are demanding that Blix wait.

Blix said that many issues

See IRAQ Page 12

FEELING SAFE

Photo illustration by Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

Campus officials address safety concerns

By Crystal Welborn
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When listening to a public address by Dean of Student Life Pat Bosco, prospective students, current students, and community members are usually told that the campus is safe.

However, with state budget cuts slashing into every department, will that report still be accurate?

Although Bosco spoke of K-State's commitment to safety through law enforcement, campus lighting, campus escort service and other safety programs, he said statewide budget cuts are devastating to all areas of campus life, including campus safety.

"As deans, we are trying to do whatever we can to maintain a student-centered university, and we are all trying to balance priorities," he said. "Campus safety is going to have to be addressed in that framework."

Ronnie Grice, director of K-State Police, said campus safety does not have its own allocated budget. Instead, it is covered in the police department's budget, which Grice said is dwindling.

"We don't have much of a budget. It is really small for a department of this size," Grice said.

Inside

■ Read a related story about unreported crimes on Page 11 and a story about Wildcat Walk escort service on campus at www.kstatecollegian.com.

"With the financial situation of the state, we are losing money due to cut-backs."

Grice said although the campus police budget is small, he feels at this time the department is not sacrificing campus safety due to lack of money.

"We have learned to do so much with so little. That's always been our philosophy here in the department," he said. "Right now our main goal is to continue to provide the same quality service we have always provided. You can never cut safety short."

Grice said the student-to-officer ratio is 22,000-to-23. If budget cuts worsen, he said, layoffs may be the only way to keep the department within its budget.

See SAFETY Page 11

Thousands spent on monitoring, upkeep of equipment

By Crystal Welborn
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Several thousand dollars have been spent to monitor safety on campus, said Ronnie Grice, director of K-State Police, but whose responsibility it is remains unclear.

Grice said that while both the security cameras and the emergency phones are monitored continuously by campus police, two separate departments handle the bill when repairs need to be made.

The phones are purchased, installed and maintained by K-State Telecommunications Services. The security cameras, which are purchased and installed by Parking Services, are also maintained by telecommunications, Grice said.

"Telecommunications fixes the phones and absorbs the cost because they said that campus safety is a campuswide function, not a police function," he said.

Information from Grice;

Fred Damkroger, director of telecommunications; and Danny Frence, assistant director of telecommunications, conflicted concerning who checks the phones to ensure they are working properly and how often they are checked.

After a series of discussions with the three officials, they agreed that campus police check the phones at least once a week, and turn in a report to telecommunications explaining the working order of the phones.

Damkroger said the phones are rarely broken, and all but one are in working order right now. He said the phone that is out of order has a severed cord and should be fixed next week.

"We believe it was cut by a sprinkler system," he said. "We have no reason to think it was malicious."

Grice said students don't often use the emergency phones.

See PRECAUTIONS Page 11

4th-annual Light the Night Walk honors cancer victims

Signs of survival, hope highlight fund-raiser for disease research

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Mary Hammel is a survivor.

Ten years ago, Hammel was in an intensive care unit undergoing chemotherapy for acute myelogenous leukemia. She was isolated in a bubble in preparation for her bone marrow transplant. She was not allowed out, and no one was allowed in. And the chemo made her lose her hair.

They were rough times, she said, but she survived.

And Thursday night, she celebrated her 10th anniversary of being in remission by leading the fourth-annual Leukemia & Lymphoma Society Light the Night Walk in City Park.

"It was a rocky road there at first," Hammel said, "but I'm still here."

Hammel, the night's honored survivor, led a 2-mile walk around the park while carrying a white illuminated balloon, which symbolized survival.

Other participants carried red illuminated balloons, which honored those touched by cancer. The event helped raise money for research programs for blood-related

Drew Rose | COLLEGIAN

Members of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity participate in the fourth-annual Leukemia & Lymphoma Society light-the-night walk. Participants were given red and white balloons through a two-mile course that circled City Park.

INSIDE

Unfamiliar ground: Wildcats travel to Boulder for 1st road contest against Colorado

Sports, Page 6

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Bush's Iraq policy makes headway in Congress

President Bush's request for authority to use U.S. force against Iraq advanced in Congress on Thursday, with a House committee voting its approval and Senate leaders predicting wide margins of bipartisan support.

Page 5

Shots fired outside United Nations; gunman in custody

A Korean-American protesting against the North Korean government emptied a seven-shot pistol in front of U.N. headquarters Thursday, hitting several offices but injuring no one. The gunman was Steve Kim, a naturalized U.S. citizen working at a U.S. post office in Des Plaines, Ill.

Congressmen say Saudi Arabia may face punitive action over kidnapped U.S. children

Angry House members warned Thursday of possible punitive action against Saudi Arabia unless the kingdom takes steps to resolve the cases of American children kidnapped to that country in parental disputes over custody.

Researchers moving toward new anthrax vaccine with fewer shots

The government has created a new, genetically engineered anthrax vaccine that promises to cut in half the six shots now needed for protection, and has chosen a pair of biotechnology companies to begin testing it.

Researchers moving toward new anthrax vaccine with fewer shots

The government has created a new, genetically engineered anthrax vaccine that promises to cut in half the six shots now needed for protection, and has chosen a pair of biotechnology companies to begin testing it.

Weather

Today 69 | 44

Saturday 73 | 48

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 32

GEOMETRICS

Furnishings and Uncommon Gifts

407 POYNTZ 537-7677

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Suitable
4 "Wham!"
7 Small 12 Spoon-bender
13 Put away
14 Bakery
15 Groove on 16 A driving force?
18 Lemieux milieu
19 — Haute,
in 20 Gumbo ingredient
22 — U.S.
Pat. Off.
23 It's a long story
27 Existed
29 Name in rap music
31 Heather 34 Black board?
35 Diamond division
37 Bob's longtime partner
38 Lacking slack
39 Gorilla
41 Caboose's place

45 Tartan design
47 Scratch
48 Wheels of fortune?
52 Mrs.
McKinley
53 — be sorry!
54 Solidify
55 First O.
maybe
56 Actress
Georgia
—
57 Anteceding 58 Nevertheless
DOWN

1 Sound portion 2 Needle
mark
3 Princeton athlete
4 Treaty
5 Golden
Rule group
6 — the Champions
7 Bistro
8 Sandy's reply
9 Larry's pal
10 Ostrich's kin
11 Scull need
17 Incite
21 Anticipate 23 Prophetess 24 "Can I take that as —?"
25 Army bigwig
(Abbr.)
28 "Little Women" woman
29 Massachusetts cape
30 Culpa
preceder
31 Trench
32 Japanese airline
33 Wilde-beest
36 Not guys
37 "A Few
Good Men" director
40 Janis or Satchel
42 "Jaws" island
43 Ms.
Hawkins of Dogpatch
44 Leaflet
45 Influence
46 Take out of context?
48 Causic substance
49 "And
— the opposite shore..."
50 Make faces
51 Flamenco cheer

Solution time: 26 mins.

ERA ENCE OLAD
TIP COOL AJOA
APPAUSE IAJON
EIA YADAAE
WOWEIA ROO
GLO OIO GLEUP
VITA OAO GLEUP
FOOII OIO PAA
FOOII OIO PAA
OOO OIO PAA
HEROOII OII
EAOI APPAUIE ANNO CAUE IOW
PEAC HYPE EEE

Yesterday's answer 9-13

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11

12 13 14

15 16 17

18

20 21 22 23 24 25 26

27 28 29 30

31 32 33 34

35 36 37

38 39 40 41 42 43 44

45 46 47

48 49 50 51 52

53 54 55

56 57 58

STUMPED?

For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-228-6855! 99¢ per minute, toll-free/rotary phones (18+ only) A King Features service, NYC.

9-13 CRYPTOQUIP

IE IWRBCYEWI IDLMW
CDLLY. EBL VENKZ IDMBH
IDRI WRBQDLWC BL LZ
LVL-DRNK IWNQHC

Yesterday's Cryptquip: I SUPPOSE SOME PEOPLE MIGHT VIEW A PAINFUL HANGOVER AS "THE WRATH OF GRAPES."
Today's Cryptquip Clue: C equals S

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 1! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to Cryptoclassics Book 1, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475
The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Dana Strongin at 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291-020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 101, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 101, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.
© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

CAMPUS CONNECTION | Backpack pain

Talona Holmes, senior in civil engineering, lugs around her heavy backpack. Engineering students are often burdened with large, heavy textbooks.

Heavy bags cause backaches, tension

By Pete Elsasser
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Judy Vang tried to carry all of her books to class for the first two weeks, but she realized she didn't want to lug around so much weight. Vang, senior in elementary education, said she likes to bring multiple books to class for projects and lesson plans for her education classes. Vang, who is 5 feet 1 inch, carries a backpack that weighed about 11 pounds. "Common sense tells me that I shouldn't take so many things at once," Vang said. "I convince myself that I can study during down time with the extra books, even though it's not convenient to carry."

Vang said she tries to remember to walk with decent posture in order to prevent any pain or tension. She said she tries to avoid hunching over whenever she's walking on campus.

"If I'm walking a long way and carrying it for a long period of time, my back will begin to be tired," she said. "It can be irritating when it starts to hurt my shoulders."

Mark Hatesohl, chiropractor at Chiropractic Family Health Center, said a heavy pack forces the person to lean forward to compensate for the weight. He said the one-strap backpacks affect people differently because they cause the spine to curve with the weight on one shoulder.

He said as a general rule, backpacks shouldn't weigh more than 15 to 20 percent of an individual's total body weight. This applies more for females with a smaller stature.

"For a 160-pound guy, that's not really a big deal," he said. "It would be pretty crazy to be carrying around a 25-pound backpack. However, with college students' classes, two big books can add up."

Hatesohl said stress from heavy backpacks often leads to muscle soreness, tension and back pain. He said some of the tension sometimes causes tension headaches.

"You can avoid a lot of trouble just by keeping an eye on the weight and not walking with awkward posture," he said. "If your back is sore, do some upper body exercises to get the muscles moving."

A closer look

Many of the issues at K-State also affect some of America's other universities. Campus Connection offers a side-by-side view at how some of them are addressed here and at other schools.

Doctor offers tips for relieving pain

By Kari Medsker
IOWA STATE DAILY

AMES, Iowa — Iowa State University-area back experts agree that two straps are better than one when it comes to carrying around a backpack.

Lisa Day, chiropractor at Elbert Chiropractic Clinic, 622 Burnett Ave., said learning to carry the best type of backpack for the back and carrying it in the correct manner can save students backaches.

"The backpack with the double strap is the better one because of the even weight distribution," Day said.

The spine has a natural curve, and all along the spine there are nerves that come out and run to the different parts of the body, Day said.

"If it's left misaligned for a long period of time, it can cause damage," she said.

"The nervous system controls everything in your body."

Day said most of the nerves in the body run from the brain and down the spinal cord to the rest of the body.

The body's billions of nerve fibers supply every cell, tissue, organ and system of the body with messages from the brain.

For those students who have no alternative, Day gave tips for choosing a backpack.

When buying a backpack, she said, find one with two wide, padded and S-shaped straps. She also gave the following tips:

Place heavy items in the backpack first.

Lift the pack with your leg muscles and keep it close to the body.

Adjust the straps so the backpack does not hang more than 4 inches below the waistline.

The blotter
Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Wednesday, Oct. 2

- At 4:41 p.m., Dustin Kemp, Burlington, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $2,000.
- At 7:40 p.m., Anthony Lopez, 3000 Tuttle Creek Blvd., No. 21, was arrested for battery and criminal damage to property. Bond was set at $1,000.

The planner
Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

- Career and Employment Services is accepting sign-ups today for an Oct. 24 dining etiquette program.
- Up 'Til Dawn is accepting applications for six-person teams to raise money for St. Jude Children's Hospital from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Oct. 15 in Holton 203.
- 2002 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Oct. 18, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.
- Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house, 918 N. Manhattan.
- Hale Library will have a free opening reception for "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" from 5 to 7 p.m. today in the second floor of Hale. R.S.V.P. to rcadams@ksu.edu.
- KSU Aikido will conduct a martial arts class from 7 to 9 tonight in Ahearn 301.
- The Canterbury Episcopal Club will meet for worship and praise Sunday at 5 p.m. in Danforth Chapel.
- SGA committee meetings on Sunday in OSAS conference room: student affairs and social services at 6 p.m., allocations at 7 p.m. and academic affairs and university relations at 9 p.m.
- The Lutheran Campus Ministry will meet for worship at 7 p.m. Sunday in Danforth Chapel.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct a resume building workshop at 3:30 p.m. Monday in Union 213.
- "Study Abroad in Italy" orientation will be from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Monday in Calvin 217.

Up next
In Monday's Collegian

News | Candid candidates
Find out what issues gubernatorial candidates Tim Shallenburger-R and Kathleen Sebelius-D believe are important to Kansas residents. Read how the candidates answered questions from Manhattan community members at this Saturday's forum.

The Edge | Lecter's return
Hannibal is back for a third helping this weekend when "Red Dragon" opens. The Pemberton has released a four-song E.P. in an oversized matchbook. Reviews are Monday.

Sports | Football coverage
The football team travels to Colorado this weekend to face the Buffaloes in its first road test of the season. See coverage of the game, including stats and player opinions.

you can finally buy a book
WORTH ITS PRICE

CAMPUS PHONE BOOK

On sale in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

PIZZA SHUTTLE
DELIVERS

1800 Claflin Road
776-5577

We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

THE PURPLE PIG
EST. 1996

Gettin' Piggy With It!

$2 Stadium Cups

Bud Light and Coors Light

Come watch KSU vs. Colorado at the Purple Pig!
Doors open at 2 p.m. on Saturday!

539-7444 424 Houston

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."

539-3338

Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

favorites from our bookshelf

Carter Beats the Devil
-Glen David Gold

This novel is full of suspense and has a wealth of information about the history of stage magic.

Anyone who has any interest in magic, mystery, and a great read should really enjoy this one.

-Dan

Clafin Books and Copies

Independent books for independent minds

GAME GUY

Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent

Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games

Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5

(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA.

FLINT HILLS FESTIVAL OF WINES

Wine & Food Tasting with Large Silent Auction
1-5 PM, Sunday, October 13, 2002
Houston Street Ballroom
427 Houston Street, Downtown Manhattan

Free Burgers
2-4 pm

$2.50 Boulevard Big Beers
$2.50 Miller Light & MGD Bottles
All Day and All Night

The Women's Basketball team is looking for A FEW GOOD MEN to join their practice squad. If interested, call 532-6970 by 5 p.m., Monday, Oct. 7, for more information.

Presented by STANDARD BEVERAGE CORPORATION

as a benefit for the
HOMECARE & HOSPICE FOUNDATION

250 Wines
Meet the Winemakers
Cooking-with-wine Demonstrations
Tickets: $40 ($45 at the door)

Create a party
Buy 6 tickets for the price of 5

For ticket information & credit card orders call:
785-537-0688

Attendees must be 21

www.FlintHillsWinefest.com

Both sexes can benefit from women's rights

Students encouraged to imagine a world where women feel safe, secure

Patrice Holderbach
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Four rules guide the male species, a speaker told students in Forum Hall on Thursday night.

No sissy stuff. Be a big wheel. Be a sturdy oak. Give 'em hell.

Michael S. Kimmel, representative for the National Organization for Men Against Sexism and professor of sociology at Stony Brook University, used humor and statistics to address students about gender relationships during a lecture sponsored by the Women's Center and Peer Rape Educators, or PEERS.

In the last 40 years, women have made gender identity visible. Kimmel said this is evident in the workplace, within families and through the sexual revolution, but men should not be intimidated.

"Our interests as men are to support women in gender equality," he said.

He said society raises children according to gender profiles and continues these patterns into adulthood. Kimmel used his own attire of a necktie and a belt as an example.

"One garment is a noose, and the other points to the genitals," he said.

He invited the females in the audience to express whether they would choose to pursue a full-time career. The number of hands dropped when he referenced their mothers' and grandmothers' generations.

"What you see in this room, is women's expectations about working have changed fundamentally over three generations," he said.

Participating in the women's rights movement creates opportunities for men and women alike, Kimmel said. He said men should promote women in the workplace by sponsoring Family Friendly Workplace as public policy.

If they do, he said, men can have more intimate relationships with women and children. Men are united by their desire to be good fathers and spend quality time with their families, Kimmel said.

"One of the best predictors of women's status, is how much time men participate in childcare," Kimmel said.

The sexual revolution has played a role in improving relationship equality, he said.

"We thought that the sexual revolution was all about us. More access to more partners

Michael Kimmel
SOCIOLOGIST AND AUTHOR

and no commitments," Kimmel said.

On the contrary, he said, women have been more affected by the sexual revolution than men.

Some women live in fear because of sexual abuse, Kimmel said. He said sexual assault continues to influence women's perceptions of men.

"What I called dating, in high school, is now called rape," he said. "We were always told to keep going until she hit us."

He said the "locker room lessons" of his day have since evolved. In today's America, no means no, he said.

After pulling out a splash-guard that would ordinarily be used in the bottom of a urinal, he read the inscription on the back: "You hold the power to stop rape."

Kimmel encouraged audience members to imagine how the world might be if all women could live in freedom from fear for 24 hours.

He concluded by telling the audience to share the responsibility of promoting gender equality.

"The change has already happened," Kimmel said. "Women's equality is inevitable. They've already entered the workplace, and they're not going home."

LOCAL DEBATE

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Legislature candidate for the 66th district, Sydney Carlin, Democrat, holds up a map of Manhattan. The map shows resident houses that could be family homes, which are currently occupied by college students. Carlin was joined by 66th district representative candidate Russ Frey, Republican and 67th-district representative candidates Roger Reitz, Republican, and Tom Hawk, Democrat. The candidates came together for a forum sponsored by the Manhattan Neighborhood Coalition to discuss their platforms. The forum is part of a series sponsored by Manhattan organizations. Look for future coverage in the Collegian.

Do vegetarians eat animal crackers?

Can't get enough Fourum? Get your Fourum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

Fresh. New.
Unexpected.

Suddenly comfort and fashion aren't mutually exclusive. Just like every Birkenstock, our newest designs naturally cradle your feet on our legendary footbed. But they're also a bit more refined. So when you step into the office or out on the town, you're comfortable and ready for whatever the day brings.

BIRKENSTOCK

Olson's Birkenstock
-Aggieville-
539-8571 • 1214-B Moro

Last Night of GUINNESS Fest 2002
Of The Fall

150 Free T-shirts

Manhattan's Largest Guinness Toast

Saturday open at noon

Watch the Cats take on the Buffs
on our big screens

2:30 p.m.

10¢ wings till halftime

royal purple ARE YOU IN?

Friday, October 4
Don't forget to take your
FREE portrait pictures

Delta Upsilon
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Next up: Monday, Oct. 7
Sigma Chi 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Delta Chi 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.
Union 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

ART

A comedy by Yasmina Reza

Presented by KSU Theatre Oct. 3 - 5 & Oct. 9 - 12
Nichols Theatre 8 pm Ticks: $6 std/snrs $10 general
McCain Box Office 532-6428 online: ksu.edu/mccain

Venice Baroque Orchestra
featuring the FOUR SEASONS

Bringing fresh energy to the rich musical heritage of its home city, the Venice Baroque Orchestra is led by the Baroque scholar and performer Andrea Marcon. This concert includes Sinfonia in C Major from the opera Giustino, Concerto in G major for Strings and Continuo, Violin Concerto in E-flat Major, Violin Concerto in C Major, and the Four Seasons. Pre-performance lecture by Dr. David Little in room 204 McCain at 7 p.m.

Saturday, October 5
8:00 p.m.

MCCAIN PERFORMANCE SERIES

Stanislavsky Opera Company

La bohème

Sunday, October 13, 7:30pm

Sponsored by Meadowlark Hills
and the Heartland Arts Fund

Pre-performance lecture
by Dr. Jean Sloop in room
204 McCain at 6:30 p.m.

KANSAS CITY BALLET

Friday, October 18, 8 p.m.

Presenting: Bouronville's Napoli Pas de Six, Flower Festival pas de Deux and Jarantella, Duo to Jardi Tancat, Balanchine's Pas de Deux and Whitener's Lach and Every

The pre-performance lecture by William Whitener 204 McCain at 7 p.m.

TICKETS: Call the McCain Box Office
785-532-6428 and charge your tickets to
VISA, Mastercard, American Express or Discover
from noon to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.
Visit us online at www.ksu.edu/mccain.

K-State fine
Arts fee

Everyday Low Prices on Spirits, Wine and Beer

Bud & Coors 20 Pack Bottles $13.69
Bud & Coors 12 Pack Bottles/Cans $8.38
McCormick 80 1.75L Vodka $11.38
Canadian Club 1.75L $21.66 Sale 19.49
Jim Bean 1.75L $20.43
Jack Daniel's Black 1.75L $33.99
Randall Jackson VR Chard 750ML $11.70
Woodbridge Chard--Cab--Merlot 1.5 $11.88

Similar Savings Throughout the Store
Over 1500 Different Wines In Stock
Are You Paying Too Much? Check Us Out!

Coors and Miller 16oz Cans
Case $13.96
(While Supplies Last.)

USED TEXTBOOK SALE

Hundreds of selected new & used textbooks

Various fields of study

Check out these low prices!

(Today thru October 13)

$1.00
Paperbacks

$20.00

$2.00
Hardbacks

ALL YOU CAN CARRY!

Open 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Mon.- Sat.
11 a.m.-7 p.m. Sunday

539-0511

Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE

"We Give You Our Best"

www.varneys.com

TO THE POINT

Officials should know answers to safety questions

K-State leaders should know safety procedures, but when a Collegian reporter asked some basic questions about security, officials gave conflicting answers.

It took several calls to get clear answers. Even then, we weren't sure whether the information we received was accurate, or whether it was a culmination of the reporter's relayed information among the officials.

Vague answers to safety questions are only increasing the chances of something going wrong. Officials shouldn't have an if-it's-not-broke-don't-fix-it attitude. They should have the latest, up-to-date information regarding campus safety, even if there aren't obvious problems.

University officials don't have the luxury of waiting for a tragedy to happen before coming to a consensus on the safety issues of our campus.

In order for security measures to be effective, officials need to assure people the equipment is here, it works and it will help protect in an emergency.

Students also need to make themselves aware of what security is available. Manhattan is safer than a lot of cities, but people shouldn't be naive in thinking crime doesn't happen here. That false sense of security could lead to horrible outcomes.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Janel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Janel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

JOB SEASON

Securing employment difficult in college setting

Working your way through college is tough, and finding a job is tougher.

How do you find a job when there are thousands of other college students looking for part-time work?

The easy answer to this dilemma is to move to Manhattan early in the summer and find a job before school starts.

However, for those who live in the residence halls or certain apartment complexes, this is not an option. They are given three days before school begins to find a job. For those of us not eligible for work study, this can cause a loss of sleep.

And dire mistakes.

I had applied for more than 15 jobs when I read an advertisement for a waitress that claimed great pay and good hours. The advertisement said to apply in person, so my roommate and I dressed up and jumped in the car.

We thought it was a small restaurant/bar in Junction City. After driving around for an hour, we finally found it. The building was strategically placed next to a strip club, but we hoped for the best and strolled in anyway.

First, we noticed we were the only females in the bar aside from the waitresses. Then we realized the waitresses were wearing less clothes than Demi Moore in "Striptease."

The manager hurried over to us and snidely asked us for identification. We told her we were there for applications and she pulled out a notebook and tore out a sheet of paper. "Write your names and numbers," she said. I asked her if she wanted me to write down past waitress experience.

KATHRYN HOLLINGSWORTH

"Experience doesn't matter here," she said.

After we ran to our car, the job search was on again. We knew we'd have to re-evaluate how far we'd go to earn some cash, and exactly what that cash would be used for.

Some students look for employment to have spending money. For others, it is rent, tuition, car payments, insurance and a host of other expenses. But finding time to attend school and make enough money is a hard stretch.

There are some steps you can take to aid in finding employment.

1) Let people know you are looking for a job. Classmates, friends, roommates and even professors, if you get the chance. The more contacts you have, the higher the probability you will find work.

2) When you are filling out applications, make sure your references know you are using them as references. This gives them an opportunity to know what they are going to say about you, and it helps you not look like a complete moron for listing someone without their permission.

3) Give up your pride. Sometimes, menial jobs can work as a stepping stone to something better. Willingness to start at the bottom is a must.

4) Deviate from the original plan. You might have in mind exactly what you want to do. However, if an opportunity presents itself in another field, take it. Attempt to plan your schedule availability, including days and nights. This gives you an edge on someone who is only available evenings or mornings.

5) Call them back if they don't call you. If you turn in an application and know the establishment is hiring, call them back. This lets the employer know you are responsible and really want the job.

6) If you are given an interview, think about what you are going to say and the questions they might ask. When there are hundreds of applicants for the same position, this interview could make or break you.

After the interview is passed and you are hired, impress your bosses. These are your future references and contacts.

Lastly, don't sigh too heavily with relief — in no time, graduation comes and the job search begins again.

Kathryn is a junior in public relations. You can e-mail her at krh5588@ksu.edu.

Illustration by Jennifer Kimball | COLLEGIAN

American humanitarian efforts could help feed starving North Koreans

With all the hype about Iraq, people often forget there are two other members of the so-called "axis of evil."

And I have to question why we aren't planning to invade North Korea or Iran.

It's especially interesting to look at North Korea's situation. Even as relations with Iraq disintegrate, the Bush administration gets friendlier daily with the North, and for good reason.

Times have changed, and the former communist state is under pressure to reintegrate itself into the world stage.

The key issue, according to www.cnn.com, is that 20 percent of the country will probably starve this winter.

Though there are several environmental factors leading to this situation, the chief cause is the nature of the flawed communist system. The lack of capitalist competition and free trade, combined with economic mismanagement, has dug a deep hole.

For several years, North Korea depended on aid from its traditional enemies — South Korea,

ANDREW LAWSON

Japan and the United States — to feed its people.

The Japanese recently revoked their aid, angered by the North's admission to abducting several Japanese citizens during the past few decades for espionage purposes.

Consequently, 4.5 million people will permanently lose their food aid within the next year, according to CNN.

The majority of the condemned will be school children and impoverished elderly people, those least equipped to survive on limited diets.

Although we cannot make Japan recommence aid, it is with America's power to increase its own contributions, at least for this year.

Hopefully, North Korean economic reforms, like increased privatization and free pricing, will take effect and stimulate food production in 2003. This year's measures were not taken until crops already were planted, making reform too late.

The government should authorize more aid immediately as a stopgap. It is the only humanitarian thing to do.

Unfortunately, our policy toward "enemy" nations is to make the common people suffer in the unlikely hope they will rise up and overthrow their corrupt governments.

Making matters worse is the fact that no armistice was ever signed to end the Korean War. Technically, America is still at war with North Korea, and we still maintain 37,000 troops to guard the border with South Korea, according to CNN.

President Bush's excuse for not increasing aid is the same as in Iraq: North Korea is also suspected of pursuing weapons of mass destruction. In this case, they may have stockpiled some weapons-grade plutonium before 1994, according to CNN.

That year, the North agreed to abandon its nuclear program if a U.S.-led group would assist in constructing light-water nuclear reactors, which do not use plutonium. The first of these reactors began construction in August.

As with Iraq, where an embargo remains in effect until Saddam Hussein can prove he has no weapons of mass destruction,

Bush refuses to increase aid until North Korea allows weapons inspectors to investigate the stockpiling accusation.

There are signs that relations are improving. The White House announced last week that it was dispatching a diplomatic delegation to North Korea. Secretary of State Colin Powell has been meeting with North officials as well.

This isn't enough, though, when North Korea is making significant efforts to gradually open itself to capitalism and democracy.

In fact, they just announced the creation of a free economic zone that will operate without government influence.

North Korea also has agreed to abide by a missile-testing ban.

Overall, the nation is progressing. If the United States wants more, it needs to make the first move.

Who is more evil, the poor starving children or the people who knowingly let them starve?

Andrew is a sophomore in print journalism. You can e-mail him at ac18686@ksu.edu.

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

If you see me rollin' around in my maroon Escalade with 22s, just holler, "J-Diddy."

I think Clovia girls are hot, too, after they get done fightin' over the feed trough.

I live with five other guys, and we don't steal cable. Does this mean we pay for Cox?

Am I the only one who has Boggle tournaments on Friday nights?

A reminder for the drunk guy at the next football game: You cannot save the first eight rows of GA.

If the Collegian sucks, then how come it's nationally recognized and award-winning, and no one has even heard of the Wichita State Sunflower?

Paul White gets his sources from Arabnews.com. How reliable is that? How biased is that?

Sex in the trunk of a Cavalier isn't all it's cracked up to be.

I hate that damn paper clip from Microsoft Office. Now, come on, y'all feel the same way, too. We can revolt.

This is Dwight, and I don't know anything. But I'd sure like to know.

I just watched my roommate pee her pants. She wanted to know what it felt like because she hadn't done it in a while.

To the girl in the second row in leadership class: The next time you wear hip-huggers, wear some underwear.

Pat Bosco, you are hot, so you should be the K-State president. We need a hot, sexy president, not someone who looks like an old prune.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. Not enough forum? For the full version check out www.kstatecollegian.com.

Editor,

I'd like to write and complain about the worst content I've ever seen in the Collegian.

I'm sure it won't surprise you I'm referring to the columns and "America!" strips by Paul White.

I hated his columns in the spring, not so much because I disagreed with his opinions, but because his columns usually lacked any legitimate evidence to back his outlandish claims.

He supported his anti-government, anti-war opinions with content from sources that clearly aren't authorities to accurately discuss the subjects.

I dismissed him as just another misguided liberal college student who has yet to experience the real world, but he popped up again this fall with his "America!" strip, and he's worse than ever.

With his comic, he doesn't have to use facts to back up his outlandish claims.

How Paul White, a college student in the middle of Kansas, knows so much about everything while the rest of America is clueless, is completely beyond me.

On Monday, he wrote a column featuring a ton of rhetorical questions.

The point of his column was to criticize our president's stance on Iraq, and he made several outrageous claims, but he didn't have any evidence to back up anything he wrote.

As an example, White wrote, in his typical I-am-right-and-everybody-else-is-wrong fashion, that a war with Iraq would cost taxpayers $200 billion annually. Amazingly, I was reading www.cnn.com Tuesday, and the top story said the Congressional Budget Office estimated the total — not annual — costs of such a war to be between $9 billion and $13 billion.

Those figures are quite a difference from White's argument, although the gap between the truth and White is not surprising considering the propaganda he's been spewing in the Collegian since the spring.

White seems to think people are misinformed and he has the real answers.

Also, his un-elected tyrant rant is starting to get old. Yes, the 2000 election was very close and bitterly disputed, but George W. Bush was elected by a majority of voters from the Electoral College, exactly as the Constitution lays out.

White is a phony who em-bellishes his arguments and thinks anybody who disagrees with him disagrees with free speech.

He also seems to think anybody who is patriotic disagrees with free speech.

Well, I agree with his right to free speech, and I'm sure he agrees with mine.

So, here's me exercising that right: Paul White, you are a moron. Your columns are lousy and they're full of inaccuracies.

I can't wait until you graduate, because you will then get to experience the real world and see what's really happening, and I won't have to read your columns in the Collegian anymore.

I know 20,000 Collegian readers agree with me when I use my free speech to say "Paul White, please go away."

Sam Felsenfeld | CLASS OF 1998

TO THE EDITOR

Columns merely unsupported rants of misguided, liberal college student lacking real world experience

Freshmen enrollment at Salina decreases, expected to rebound in near future

Officials blame decline on Sept. 11, increase in fees

By Pete Elsasser
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Fewer freshmen are sitting in classes at K-State-Salina due to a decline in freshman enrollment.

According to records from the Office of the Registrar, the Salina campus's freshmen numbered 191 in 2002, down from a high of 256 in 2001.

Dennis Kuhlman, dean of the College of Technology and Aviation, said the main areas K-State-Salina focuses on, engineering technology and aviation, are the same areas in the economy that are now depressed.

"This affects students because they'll choose to look elsewhere for jobs in other occupations," he said. "This is a mistake because there are tremendous opportunities available."

Pat Bosco, dean of student life, said the downturn in the airline economy caused a blip in the enrollment picture. He also said the decrease can be attributed to the fee increases that took effect this fall.

Bosco said that when the Salina campus became part of the K-State family, its students were paying community college level fees. Because of this, K-State officials have been trying to gradually bring their tuition up to the level of Manhattan students.

"They're receiving a Big 12 education," he said. "We want to be able to have resources to continue that type of experience."

This gradual increase, coupled with other fee increases at both campuses, created a bigger tuition hike for Salina students for the 2002-03 school year.

"It was a double hit for them," Bosco said. "It was more than normal."

Matt Melvin, assistant dean and director of college advancement at K-State-Salina, said the campus is aggressively recruiting students. He said he thinks the market demand will increase in two or three years.

"We have to make sure students know that the long-term benefits are still there," Melvin said. "There will be demand for pilots following retirements and especially after the economy improves."

Making Salina better known is important in order to attract more students," Kuhlman said.

"We need to continue to get the word out about our program," Kuhlman said. "We've made significant strides in the past five years to be better known, but we're still a secret."

Kuhlman said it's important to remember that the decrease in the number of freshmen is partially balanced by the record-high number of sophomores. Kuhlman said as the economy improves, he expects enrollment numbers to also improve.

"Even though the number was down, there was a huge retention of all other students," he said. "However, we will have to find a way in the next four years to compensate for the freshmen numbers."

Bush's Iraq policy makes headway in Congress while U.N. refuses to support U.S. war efforts

By Ton Raum
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON D.C. - President Bush's request for authority to use U.S. force against Iraq advanced in Congress on Thursday, with a House committee voting its approval and Senate leaders predicting wide margins of bipartisan support.

"It's up to us today to send a message to the world," said Senate Minority Leader Trent Lott, R-Miss. He predicted Congress would give Bush the authority he wants by next week and "set in motion the beginning of the end of Saddam Hussein."

Reflecting the Senate's determination to move ahead, the chamber then voted 95-1 on a procedural motion that clears the way for votes next week. The lone dissenter was Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va.

The Bush administration was having less success winning over the U.N. Security Council for a new resolution to disarm Baghdad.

After veto-holding Russia suggested such a resolution was unnecessary, Bush showed clear frustration with the lack of headway.

He suggested he would build a coalition of world leaders willing to join the United States against Iraq - even if the United Nations does not.

Bush did not say who would sign on, though U.S. officials mention Britain, Romania and Bulgaria, among others.

"The choice is up (to) the United Nations to show its resolve. The choice is up to Saddam Hussein to fulfill his word," Bush said. "And if neither of them acts, the United States in deliberate fashion will lead a coalition to take away the world's worst weapons from one of the world's worst leaders."

The House International Relations Committee turned back efforts to weaken the resolution embraced by Bush and House leaders and approved it, 31-11, sending it to the full House for debate next week. Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., the chairman, asked members "to support not the president but the cause that is embodied in this resolution."

Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle, D-S.D., announced separate votes would be held next week on two alternatives that would put more limits on presidential authority.

"I think it's too early to give up on making the effort," he said. Daschle said the latest White House draft, negotiated in part by House Minority Leader Dick Gephardt, D-Mo., was an improvement over the administration's original proposal.

Daschle, like Lott, told Senate colleagues as debate began that he anticipated broad bipartisan support when a final vote is taken. "There is no difference of opinion with regard to our ultimate goal," Daschle said.

In New York, the full 15-member Security Council got a closed-door briefing from the chief U.N. weapons inspector, Hans Blix. He was to meet with State Department officials Friday.

U.N. diplomats said Blix was continuing with his announced plan to send an advance team to Iraq; it is expected to arrive in Baghdad

Oct. 19.

Council diplomats said Blix said progress was made but there were "loose ends" still unresolved, including access to eight presidential sites.

State Department spokesman Richard Boucher said the United States does not want inspectors to return "under the current arrangements. ... We want the inspectors to go with the full support of the Security Council."

White House press secretary Ari Fleischer said that if inspection teams return after a four-year absence, "it's vital that ... they have the means and the ability and the will of the world to do their job."

Western Wireless

Western Wireless Corporation is looking for customer service representatives to work in our Manhattan call center. Western Wireless is a leading player in the exploding wireless industry and recognizes the important role that quality employees play in that success.

We offer the environment to learn the business, grow professionally and build a future career. Our state of the art call center in Manhattan serves cellular customers in a 19 state area.

¡Western Wireless habla español!
Bilingual Customer Care Representatives
Must be fluent in both English and Spanish
$8.50 per hour

Handling inbound calls from Spanish speaking CellularOne customers, you'll provide quality service in a friendly, caring, professional manner. You'll help resolve billing discrepancies and troubleshoot technical issues. Previous customer service and computer experience is required. Must be able to work in a fast-paced, ever-changing environment and flexible to work variable shifts.

Job Code: SP-CCR.

¡Aproveche esta gran oportunidad de empleo utilizando sus habilidades en español con CellularONE!

Please send, e-mail or fax resumes to: Western Wireless Corporation, Attn: Customer Services Recruiter, 5960 Technology Circle, Manhattan, KS 66503. Fax: (785) 565-7672. E-mail: ksjobs@wwireless.com.

For additional company information, see our website at www.wwireless.com.

We are an Equal Opportunity Employer.

CELLULARONE®

RELIGION DIRECTORY

UNIVERSITY CHRISTIAN CHURCH
On Clayton across from Taco Bell
Sunday Worship
9:45, 11:00 & 12:15
College Minister Natalie Holden
College Bible Study & Free Food
Sunday 7:30-9:00 p.m.
Quest Campus Ministry - www.uccks.org
776-5440

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
(DISCIPLES OF CHRIST)
9:00 a.m. Sunday School
10:15 a.m. Worship Service
11:30 a.m. Radio Broadcast 95.3 FM
Neil Engle, Pastor, 776-8790
5th and Humboldt-Courthouse Square
David A. Jones, Campus Minister
ECM 1021 Denison, 539-4281

Faith Evangelical Free Church
• Worship at 8:00, 10:30, 12:00
• Sunday School at 9:15
• College Class at 9:15
Steve Ratliff, Senior Pastor
Brian Anderson, Assoc. Pastor
1921 Barnes Rd.
1.6 Miles North of Kimball
776-2086

CALVARY CHAPEL OF MANHATTAN
Sunday Service - 10:00 a.m.
1961 Strong Ave.
Come Just As You Are
Contemporary Worship
Very Casual Atmosphere
Solid Verse By Verse Bible Teaching
Pastor Dade Ronan
785-539-3667
ccofmanhattan@cox.net

College Ave. United Methodist Church
Sunday School 9:15 a.m.
Worship 10:30 a.m.
Praise Worship 7:30 p.m.
1609 College Ave.
539-4191

College Ave. United Methodist Church
Sunday School 9:15 a.m.
Worship 10:30 a.m.
Praise Worship 7:30 p.m.
1609 College Ave.
539-4191

First United Methodist Church
Worship at 8:30, 8:45 and 11:00
Come at 8:30 and 11:00 for more traditional worship with choirs and organ in our beautiful sanctuary.
Come at 8:45 for a BLENDED worship in our auditorium. Free doughnuts, 45 minutes long. Great band. COME AS YOU ARE!
Come at 9:45 for Sunday School in the auditorium. A special class for college students, relating the Bible to YOUR life.
JUST COME.

612 Poyntz, Manhattan Kansas
CAMPUS MINISTRY! Check out the website: ksu.edu/umcm

Blue Valley Memorial UMC
835 Church St. 539-8790
Worship: Sat. 5:30 p.m./Sun. 10:30 a.m.
Free food first Sun. of the month.
e-mail: revs2@flintheills.com
Rev. Dr. E. Carolyn Wills

Lutheran Campus Ministry
Tuesday Supper, 6 p.m.
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Sunday Evening Worship
7 p.m., Danforth Chapel
www.ksu.edu/lcm-elca
Pastor Jayne Thompson
(pastorj@ksu.edu) 539-4451
— Open to All —

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
8:15, 9:30, 11:00AM & 6:00PM
College and Young Married Couples
Sunday School @ 9:30 & 11:00AM
Youth Ministry Opportunities
College Pastor: David Kinnan
Senior Pastor: David Thompson
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.
537-7173
www.westviewcommunity.com

NEW HOPE community church
Pursuing relationships that change the world
WORSHIP SERVICE 10 A.M.
Bible Studies, Men's & Women's Groups,
College and Family Ministries,
Youth & Children's Ministry
Wed. 6:30 p.m.
3905 GREEN VALLEY ROAD
537-2389

Mt. Zion Church of God in Christ
Service Times
Sunday School 10:00 a.m.
Worship Service 11:30 a.m.
Wednesday Bible Study 7:30 p.m.
Friday Joy Night 7:30 p.m.
916 Yuma Street
Supt. Caleb J. Weathersby, Pastor
785-587-9140

First United Methodist Church
Worship at 8:30, 8:45 and 11:00
Come at 8:30 and 11:00 for more traditional worship with choirs and organ in our beautiful sanctuary.
Come at 8:45 for a BLENDED worship in our auditorium. Free doughnuts, 45 minutes long. Great band. COME AS YOU ARE!
Come at 9:45 for Sunday School in the auditorium. A special class for college students, relating the Bible to YOUR life.
JUST COME.

Episcopal Church of K-State
5 p.m. Sunday
Danforth Chapel
Worship and Praise
Fr. Matthew Cobb - 532-9099

First Presbyterian Church
Worship at
9:15 & 10:30 a.m.
Sunday School for all
at 9:15 a.m.
Students Welcome!
www.firstpresmanhattan.com
801 Leavenworth St. • 537-0518

Peace Lutheran Church
Worship Services 8:00 and 11:00 a.m.
Christian Education - all ages 9:15 a.m.
faith@peaceoflutherills.com
Rev. Pat Brown (Pastor), Interim Pastor
With Christ...Gather, Grow, and Go Forth!

Grace Baptist Church
2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child
♦ Sunday ♦
Morning Worship
8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Evening Service or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship of Manhattan
481 Zealand Road. (South on K-177 across viaduct, left on K-18 1/2 mile)
Program each Sunday at 10:45 a.m. Religious education classes for youth.
Day care for toddlers.
The Rev. David Grimm.
For information call (785) 537-2349
www.flintheills.com/~uufellow/

First Assembly of God
You are welcome at...
Weekly Services
Wednesday
Prayer Meeting 7:00 p.m.
Youth Group (grades 7-12)
Royal Rangers (Boys Clubs)
Missionettes (Girls Clubs)
Pastor Bryan Elliott
Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship for College Students 8:00 p.m. - (KSU Little Theater)
Sunday
Sunday School 9:00 a.m.
Morning Worship & Kid's Church 10:00 am
Evening Worship 6:00 p.m.
Nursery Provided for all Services
Rev. Todd Weston, Pastor
2310 Candlewood Dr. Manhattan, KS
(785) 537-7633 www.manhattanag.org

Agape Family Church

Meeting at Wareham Opera House
410 Poyntz
An Affiliate of KJEMA Bible Church aka Kenneth Hagan Ministries
Sunday 9:30 a.m. School of the Bible
Sunday 10:30 a.m. Worship
Sunday 7:00 p.m. Evening Worship
Wednesday 7:30 p.m. Hour of Power
Monday Nite Lite Student Fellowship
7 p.m. K-State Student Union
STERLING HUDGINS - PASTOR
Everyone is welcome.
(785) 539-3570

Come Worship With Us
1st Church of the Nazarene
3031 Kimball Ave.
9:30 Sunday School
10:40 Sunday Worship
7:00 Wed. Bible Study, Teens
Youth & College ministry opportunities
Senior Pastor: Pat Weyranch
539-6376

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center
MASS SCHEDULE
Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m.
Friday 12:10 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.
Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m.
Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.
Father Keith Weber, Chaplain
711 Denison 539-7496

ST. MARY MAGDALENE ORTHODOX CHRISTIAN MISSION
ECM Bldg. 1021 Denison, 2 South.
539-3440
Services: Divine Liturgy 9:30 AM Saturdays in the ECM Nave
Visit the K-State OCF webpage at www.ksu.edu/orthodox

St. Luke's Lutheran Church
330 Sunset Avenue
Saturday-
Traditional Worship 6:00 p.m.
Sunday-
Traditional Worship 8:30 a.m.
College Bible Study 9:45 a.m.
Contemporary Worship 11:00 a.m.
Campus Pastor - Eric Wood
Email: campusmn@flintheills.com
(785) 539-2604

Zuckey Bow!

Open at NOON every day!
One stop shop for bowling supplies

- * COSMIC BOWLING
- * BIRTHDAY PARTIES
- * DATE PARTIES
- * ANY OCCASION

Special rates for larger groups (call for details)

Lots of new items at snack bar!
Flashback Lounge open 4 p.m.-2 a.m., except Sunday.

FREE KARAOKE ON MONDAY NIGHTS!

539-0371
515 Richards Drive (next to Holidome)

Aggies, Raiders face off Saturday

College station will be exciting this weekend

COLBY GORDON

The best game in the Big 12 Conference on Saturday is not in Boulder, Colo. Don't get me wrong, K-State versus Colorado is a big game, but it's not the biggest game in the conference.

No, that honor belongs to the Texas Tech - Texas A&M game taking place in College Station, Texas.

The reason the Texas Tech/Texas A&M game is the most interesting game, is not only because it is a rivalry game, but due to an eyebrow-raising article in the original Texas A&M media guide that came out in mid-August.

The article titled "Worst Atmosphere," which was reprinted from an alumni magazine, provides some interesting opinions on Texas Tech and its fans, particularly in the aftermath of Tech's 12-0 victory over A&M last year in Lubbock, Texas.

If you remember, after last year's game, Tech students tore down a goal post, and then tried to shove it into a section of A&M fans, which predictably started numerous fights.

The media guide article called the Red Raiders "classless clowns," and said Tech fans "were even uglier than the barren stretch of dirt some West Texans call a city."

The article continues on, saying that the Red Raiders, "Even in victory, looked like classless clowns." It then says that, "No school in America better deserves Bobby Knight than Texas Tech."

As Jim Rome would say, "that is some serious smack."

Tech and A&M already were bitter rivals, but this threw fuel on an already-burning fire. I'm willing to bet that Red Raider fans would be more than willing to start some more ruckus in College Station if they can get another victory over the Aggies.

After spending my first two years of college in Texas, I can tell you that Texans take their football very serious. Football is taken serious around here and throughout the rest of the country, but in Texas, and throughout the South, they take it up an extra notch.

Tensions run extremely high when Texas schools face off against each other, but this game atmosphere could reach pure anarchy. Red Raider fans already hate A&M fans, and being called "classless clowns" and "uglier than the barren stretch of dirt some West Texans call a city" does not exactly help the relationship.

Texas A&M apologized for the article being in the media guide, and then quickly shipped out new media guides that did not contain the article.

However, the damage had already been done, and sending out new media guides does nothing more than save a little face for the A&M sports information director.

In response to the article, Tech spokesman Cindy Rugeley said, "Things like that speak for themselves."

Yes they do, and it will make things in College Station on Saturday that much more interesting.

Colby Gordon is a senior in electronic journalism, you can e-mail him at csg555@ksu.edu.

"This game could make or break our season. I hate to refer to last year, but it's like last year when we faced Oklahoma. That game pretty much broke our season. This game should be the same way. If we lose this game, there is no telling what would happen afterwards."

Terence Newman
K-STATE DEFENSIVE BACK

BATTLE IN BOULDER

Taco Wallace runs around a defender in K-State's win over USC. The Cats travel to Boulder on Saturday to take on Colorado.

File photo by Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

Cats put undefeated record on line against Buffs

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The venue for this year's matchup between K-State and the University of Colorado has changed, but the meaning hasn't.

Last year in Manhattan, the Cats were "embarrassed" by a physical Buffalo team - a 16-6 defeat that continued the Cats' reeling, since they had already lost to Oklahoma the week prior.

This season, playing Colorado in Boulder to open Big 12 play, that feeling of not letting what happened in Oklahoma last year has stuck in the Cats' minds.

"This game could make or break our season," defensive back Terence Newman said. "I hate to refer to last year, but it's like last year when we faced Oklahoma. That game pretty much broke our season. This game should be the same way. If we lose this game, there is no telling what would happen afterwards."

What happened afterward last year was a defeat to Colorado, the week after the 38-37 heartbreaker to the University of Oklahoma. K-State

See COLORADO Page 10

Wildcat action

No. 13 K-State (4-0, 0-0) at Colorado (2-2, 0-0)

When: 2:30 p.m. Saturday

Where: Boulder, Colo.

TV: ABC

Radio: Mid-America Sports Network, KMAN-AM 1350 and KMKF-FM 101.5

Series: 40-16-1 in favor of Colorado

Key stat: The Cats have won 10 of 11 games coming off a bye week under Coach Bill Snyder.

Defense ready to face Colorado's ground attack

Big-time backfield featured in CU's run-happy offense

By Ben Fehr
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

779 versus 421.

The first number is the Colorado Buffaloes' season total for rushing yards - the second is their yards passing.

One could say Colorado is off to somewhat of a running start, sort of. Colorado is 2-2, with victories over San Diego State and UCLA.

In those four games, the losses coming courtesy of Colorado State and Southern California, one thing has remained constant in the Buffalo attack - running back Chris Brown is getting the ball with regularity.

Of Colorado's 779 rushing yards on the year, Brown has 512. That's more than 60 percent of the rushing total. And with more than 300 of its passing yards coming by way of ex-starter, ex-Colorado Buffalo Craig Ochse, Colorado likely will gravitate even more toward the run.

Coach Bill Snyder said he expects this as well.

"They are an extremely fine football team in all aspects of the game," Snyder said.

"But I think they've proven that they can do what they do, which is run the ball extremely well."

Snyder said the focus of defending that running attack is, indeed, Brown.

"Big, physical, loves to carry the ball 25-30-35-40 times a ballgame if he can get his hands on it," Snyder said. "Just a hard guy to tackle."

"From that standpoint, it goes back to some very fundamental football for us. You'd better be able to tackle. You'd better come prepared to tackle. And you'd better be in the right spot so there aren't those creases."

Defensive Coordinator Bob Elliott explained that with Brown, defenses have two options - tackle or be run over.

"If I had Brown, I'd give him the ball - 30 plus," Elliott

See DEFENSE Page 10

Thomas Houchin puts pressure on USC quarterback Carson Palmer, forcing him to throw the ball. The K-State defense will have their hands full stopping the running game Saturday at Colorado.

File photo by Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

Equestrian tunes up for home show at Iowa State event

By Brent Gray
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The equestrian team hopes to carry the momentum it gained in its first show of the year into this weekend's Iowa State University Western Show in Ames, Iowa.

The Cats are coming off a first-place finish at the Southwest Missouri State Western Show two weeks ago. They will face the same competition in Ames as they did in their first meet - going up against five other schools, including one community college.

The only difference in competition the Cats will see is that Truman State will be at this weekend's show, because they missed the first show.

The other schools will remain the same: Southwest Missouri State, Iowa State, Southern Illinois and Blackhawk Community College.

Coach Lindsay Breidenthal said the team is ready to get back and compete.

"Our girls are riding as well as they did in the first show," Breidenthal said. "I'm looking for us to finish first at this meet."

In the first western show of the year, Brandi Vogel and Amanda Gigot led the squad.

The two combined for first- and second-place finishes in open horsemanship and open reining, with Vogel finishing first in both.

"I'm looking for Brandi and Amanda to continue riding well," Breidenthal said. "Those two are my go to riders. Right now they are riding very well."

Although the Cats won in their first show of the year,

See EQUINE Page 10

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

MLB Playoffs | Cardinals 1 win away from NLCS after beating Schilling

Curt Schilling couldn't beat St. Louis, either, and the Cardinals need just one victory to sweep the World Series champion Arizona Diamondbacks.

Two days after the Cardinals battered Randy Johnson, Chuck Finley outpitched Schilling in a 2-1 St. Louis victory Thursday.

Miguel Cairo's ninth-inning single off reliever Mike Kopeck drove in Edgar Renteria with the go-ahead run for the Cardinals, who swept the first two games of the best-of-five series.

Finley held Arizona to four hits in the first inning before leaving with a muscle cramp in his pitching hand.

Acquired from Cleveland on July 19, Finley went 7-4 with the Cardinals. The left-hander had been 0-2 in the postseason coming in, losing twice to Seattle in the first round last year.

• • •

Golf | Duval in the lead at Michelob

With his passion for golf renewed by his Ryder Cup experience and his game in a better state than it has been for some time, David Duval once again made Kingsmill Golf Club look easy.

Duval shot a 7-under 64 Thursday - his best round of the season - and shared a two-stroke lead after the first round of the Michelob Championship.

Duval hasn't won since the 2001 British Open, but he got a good start on the 6,853-yard River Course, making seven birdies and an eagle against two bogeys to lead an uncharacteristic scoring parade on the layout.

SPORTS ONLINE

K-State's tennis team travels to Indiana to compete in its first tournament of the fall season. Read about how the Cats think they will fare at the Hoosier Invitational in Bloomington, Ind. at www.kstatecollegian.com.

BY THE NUMBERS

Two different styles

The Cats face Colorado this weekend in Boulder. The Buffaloes are a team notorious for running the ball, while K-State strives for a balanced attack. Here are the featured players each team going into this weekend's matchup.

Passing

K-State

Ell Roberson - 16 for 26, 269 yards, 1 TD

Colorado

Robert Hodge - 14 for 38, 145 yards, 0 TD

Rushing

K-State

Darren Sproles - 57 carries, 348 yards, 3 TD

Ell Roberson - 36 carries, 162 yards, 1 TD

Colorado

Chris Brown - 90 carries, 511 yards, 6 TD

Bobby Purify - 38 carries, 191 yards, 0 TD

Receiving

K-State

Taco Wallace - 12 catches, 254 yards, 2 TD

Derrick Evans - 8 catches, 132 yards, 0 TD

Colorado

Derek McCoy - 9 catches, 191 yards, 1 TD

Beau Williams - 5 catches, 68 yards, 1 TD

Defense

K-State

Josh Buhl - 43 tackles

Terry Pierce - 36 tackles, 2 sacks

Terence Newman - 20 tackles, 2 INT

Colorado

Donald Strickland - 32 tackles

Medford Moor - 28 tackles

Marques Harris - 18 tackles, 2 sacks

• • •

College Football | Conference slate opens this weekend for many teams

Here is a look at games and times of top 25 teams in action.

No. 1 Miami vs. Connecticut, 6 p.m.

No. 2 Texas vs. Oklahoma State, 11:30 a.m.

No. 3 Oklahoma at Missouri, 6 p.m.

No. 5 Ohio State at Northwestern, 6 p.m., ESPN 2

No. 6 Florida at Mississippi, 11 a.m., CBS

No. 7 Georgia at No. 22 Alabama, 2:30 p.m., CBS

No. 8 Oregon at Arizona, 9:15 p.m.

No. 9 Notre Dame vs. Stanford, 1:30 p.m.

No. 10 Tennessee vs. Arkansas, 6:45 p.m., ESPN

No. 12 Washington vs. California, 2:30 p.m., ABC

No. 13 K-State at Colorado, 2:30 p.m., ABC

No. 17 Washington State vs. No. 18 Southern California, 6 p.m.

No. 19 Wisconsin vs. No. 20 Penn State, 2:30 p.m.

No. 21 LSU vs. Louisiana-Lafayette, 7 p.m.

No. 23 Texas A&M vs. Texas Tech, 1 p.m.

No. 24 Iowa vs. Purdue, 11 a.m.

FACULTY MASTERPIECES

"Zero Down" is a mixed media piece by Daniel Hunt, associate professor of art. It is on display in the K-State Student Union Art Gallery.

Hunt said the piece was inspired by the work of H.C. Westerman, a World War II veteran and artist who used a recurring image of planes. That inspiration was first unveiled last year in a faculty exhibit at the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art when Hunt put a large sculpture of a plane's tail section on display.

The planes are made of cast iron, and though the two pieces were not inspired by the events of Sept. 11, Hunt said they did take on a new level of meaning afterward. "I started the big sculpture piece three weeks before Sept. 11, and I stopped working on it for a couple of weeks because I was unsure after that if I should do a sculpture of a crashed plane," he said. "But I had to do it, just not because of that. Afterwards, it took on a whole new meaning. What started off as an homage to H.C. Westerman now had more meanings."

Photos by Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

"Mountain/Yellow" is an oil and wax on canvas by Xuhong Shang. It features an Asian-style mountain background, done in black and gray, obstructed with yellow squares in the foreground. Shang's work contrasts nature with harsh, man-made forms.

"Bead Warrior" is made of paper mache and seed beads by Karen Lauseng.

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

Trey Anastasio rules Jammy Awards

Phish singer-guitarist Trey Anastasio and Gov't Mule were among the winners at the third annual Jammy Awards, which honors music's best jam bands.

The awards were held Wednesday night at Roseland Ballroom in New York. The winners were determined by fans who voted at Web sites or through the music magazine Relix.

Anastasio won studio album of the year for his self-titled debut disc, and tour of the year. Meanwhile, his band, which is coming off of a two-year hiatus this New Year's Eve, won archival album of the year for "Live Phish 11: 11/17/97."

Gov't Mule won song of the year for "Soulshine."

Other winners included the Robert Randolph & the Family Band and Widespread Panic.

The Grateful Dead was honored with a Lifetime Achievement Award.

BOX OFFICE

'Alabama' prevails as Witherspoon comedy debuts at No. 1

Movie-goers headed south with "Sweet Home Alabama," the Reese Witherspoon comedy that debuted as the top film with $35.6 million in its opening weekend.

Jackie Chan and Jennifer Love Hewitt's spy comedy "The Tuxedo" premiered at No. 2 with $15.1 million.

The top 20 movies at North American theaters Friday through Sunday, followed by distribution studio and gross as compiled Monday by Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc. and Nielsen EDI Inc. are as follows:

1. "Sweet Home Alabama," Disney, $35.6 million
2. "The Tuxedo," DreamWorks, $15.1 million
3. "Barbershop," MGM, $10 million
4. "My Big Fat Greek Wedding," IFC Films, $9.4 million
5. "The Banger Sisters," Fox Searchlight, $5.4 million
6. "The Four Feathers," Paramount, $3.6 million
7. "One Hour Photo," Fox Searchlight, $3 million
8. "Ballistic: Ecks vs. Sever," Warner Bros., $2.7 million
9. "Signs," Disney, $2.4 million
10. "Swimfan," Fox, $1.6 million
11. "Trapped," Sony, $1.5 million
12. "Stealing Harvard," Sony
13. "Spy Kids 2: The Island of Lost Dreams," Miramax, $1.1 million
14. "XXX," Sony, $1 million
15. "City by the Sea," Warner Bros.
16. "Igby Goes Down," MGM, $613,890
17. "Spirited Away," Disney, $527,719
18. "Austin Powers in Goldmember," New Line, $489,582
19. "Secretary," Lions Gate, $361,695
20. "Moonlight Mile," Disney, $329,771

MOVIE TIMES

Seth Childs Cinema

"Red Dragon" 4:15, 4:45, 7:30, 9:45 and 10:15

"My Big Fat Greek Wedding" 4:20, 7 and 9:30

"One Hour Photo" 4:40, 7:10 and 9:20

"Barbershop" 4:15, 7:10 and 9:20

"Banger Sisters" 7:20

"Ballistic: Ecks vs. Server" 4:30 and 9:50

"The Tuxedo" 4, 4:45, 7, 7:35, 9:30 and 10

"Sweet Home Alabama" 4:10, 4:40, 7:05, 7:35, 9:35 and 10

"Jonah: A Veggie Tales Movie" 5:15, 7:20 and 9:30

"Four Feathers" 4:10, 7 and 9:45

Audience to choose killer in "The Coffee House Murderer"

By JJ Duncan
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Red chili chocolate cheesecake sounds like some kind of sick tex-mex cook's idea of a good dessert, but it really does exist.

In fact, it will be served during intermission at "The Coffee House Murder: Red Chili Chocolate Cheesecake," this weekend at the Manhattan Arts Center.

Shel Edelman, director and actor in the play, said it is one of many desserts that will be served at the fund-raiser where the audience will choose the killer in the play.

The performance will be presented in reader's theater style, meaning that cast members will be holding scripts. Edelman said this was because of time constraints and the fact that the cast was unable to use the performance space for rehearsal until Thursday.

But that doesn't mean the play won't be any good, Edelman said.

"After about 10 minutes, the fact that we're holding scripts won't even have an effect on the play," he said. "You'll forget they're even there. We don't just stand there with our noses in the books.

"People will respond because it's a very funny script. And when they react in one way or another, like when they are laughing, that's when you consult your script."

The play is about a man named Augustus, who is sealing a deal to sell the recipe for red chili chocolate cheesecake to an English food producer. All of his many guests are angry with him for something. The woman he stole the recipe from, his illegitimate son, and his disgruntled ex-wife are all present, among others.

Edelman, a practicing clinical psychologist at Edelman Associates, plays a psychiatrist who has lost his license to practice and has come to Augustus for financial help.

Everyone is a suspect when Augustus ends up dead.

The murder mystery has its own theatrical twist since the audience chooses who the killer should be, Edelman said.

"We have three intermissions," he said.

"One of those is a real intermission, but at another, the inspector consults the audience about what questions to ask the suspects, and at the final intermission the audience votes on who the killer is.

That determines which of the six endings we will use."

The script was written by Manhattan native Allison Dollar, who now lives in Gallup, N.M. She will visit this weekend to see the performance, Edelman said.

Ticket prices are high since the event is to raise funds for the arts center, Edelman said.

Production costs have been kept low with no set to build, and the cast members and dessert cooks all have donated time to help the arts center.

Edelman, who has long pursued theater as a hobby, playing roles such as Big Daddy in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," said the production will be fun for the cast and the audience.

"We've had a fun time putting it together and goofing around," he said.

"The Coffee House Murderer: Red Chili Chocolate Cheesecake"

When and Where: 8 tonight and Saturday at the Manhattan Arts Center, 1520 Poyntz

Tickets: $15 for students, $25 for general public, available at the arts center, 537-4420.

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

ONCE IN A LIFETIME

Page 8

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Friday, October 4, 2002

Blevens — Shores

Mako Blevens, junior in print journalism, and Charles E. Shores, Jr., National Guard, announce their engagement.

Mako is the daughter of Leotis and Nariko Blevens, Wichita, and Charles is the son of Debora and Charles, Sr., Branson, Mo.

They plan an early winter wedding in Wichita.

Chadsworth — Nelson

Jenny Chadsworth and Eric Nelson, senior in finance, announce their engagement.

Jenny is the daughter of John and Cathy Chadsworth, Wichita, and Eric is the son of Bob and Susan Nelson, Wichita.

They plan a June 27 wedding in Manhattan.

Doornbos — Ceule

Abigail Doornbos, senior in marketing, and Keith Ceule, senior in human resource management, announce their engagement.

Abigail is the daughter of Larry and Jane Doornbos, El Dorado, Kan., and Keith is the son of Jerry and Elaine Ceule, Prairie Village, Kan.

They plan a July 12 wedding in El Dorado, Kan.

New technology making bridal registry easier, more efficient

Computerized system allows guests to access registries at other stores

By Dan Smith
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Jamie Gfeller wasn't looking forward to registering for her Jan. 4 wedding.

Gfeller, senior in family studies and human services, said picking out items to last a lifetime seemed like a daunting task at first.

But when it came time for her and fiancé Tyler Breeden, senior in agricultural economics, to make their list, they were surprised.

"At first, I was really dreading it, but now it's gotten so much easier," Gfeller said. "It's not like you have to write down everything you want."

Thanks to special scanning guns now in use at most department and specialty stores, Gfeller and Breeden had a good experience registering at Pier 1 Imports, Target and Dillard's, she said.

The new technology is a welcome addition for couples and their wedding guests, said Jenni King, Dillard's bridal sales associate and junior in accounting.

"You choose your gifts," she said.

"You choose what you want in your home, whereas it used to be that people would buy what they think you need. You'd get 20 toasters, how many sets of comingware and whatnot."

"Now, you can come in, choose what goes with your taste, design your own living or dining room, and it makes it so much easier on people shopping."

King said wedding guests usually fall into one of two categories, but a couple's list is usually where shoppers start in order to pick out the perfect gift.

"Some people want to come in at the end and see what's left to help them complete things, but there's some people that know what they want to give them, so they come in early," she said.

Even though registry lists

Get registered

Several Manhattan retail stores offer bridal register services to help couples make their suggestions quicker and easier for wedding guests:

■ Campbell's
431 Poyntz Ave., 776-9067

■ Dillard's
102 Manhattan Town Center, 776-4224

■ Geometrics
407 Poyntz Ave., 537-7677

■ JCPenney
101 Manhattan Town Center, 539-9849

■ Sears
103 Manhattan Town Center, 532-0200

■ Patricia's Undercover
1224 Moro Ave., 539-5956

■ Pier 1 Imports
100 Manhattan Town Center, 587-0456

■ Wal-Mart
628 Tuttle Creek Blvd., 776-4897

have become increasingly popular, Abby Moseley, Sears associate, said couples still like the human element when choosing their gift suggestions.

"We have about one or two a day come in and register," she said.

"They usually go to an associate and ask them where the registry is, and some ask for help.

"We have gift ideas on the registry too. They can look at that section and it will give you a list of good ideas for that specific event."

Still, the size of Manhattan can be a disadvantage for some shoppers who have a particular gift in mind, Moseley said.

"Sometimes we only have half of what the couple actually registers for," she said. "It's really hard trying to find them something that we have here."

Because Manhattan's department stores are smaller than others in the region and don't carry entire product lines, Moseley said she suggests couples be thorough when selecting items.

"I usually tell them to pick out as much as they can because depending on how many friends and family members they have, the more that they have on their lists, the more they'll be able to get," she said.

"You don't want like five items on there because they'll be bought right away. I suggest maybe putting on a few expensive gifts because you always have those relatives that have to buy the best gift, but not too many because not everybody likes to look at a list where everything is over $100."

But small stores don't necessarily mean wedding couples have to miss out on anything on their wish lists, Beth Franklin, JCPenney catalog supervisor, said.

"Our store is more on the lower level of registering," she said.

"If you go to the bigger stores like the Topeka JCPenney, where they carry the whole line, they actually can scan what they want there. Then, we can get a list through any JCPenney store in the country. If they're registered here, their guests can go ahead and pull them up at any other store."

That kind of convenience has Gfeller looking forward to her special day.

"It helps because it's so simple that I don't mind doing it," she said. "Registering can take a lot of time, and by making it so simple, it doesn't seem like a burden."

Break down of traditional wedding expenses

This division of expenses comes from standard etiquette

■ Bride and her family
Attire for bride and her mother
Ceremony fees
Flowers for ceremony and reception
Bridesmaids' bouquets
Gifts for bride's attendants
Gift for the groom
Groom's ring
Invitations and stationery
Lodging for her out-of-town attendants
Musicians for ceremony and reception
Photographer
Reception
Transportation of bridal party to ceremony
Videographer
Wedding cake
Wedding coordinator fees

■ Groom and his family
Attire for himself and parents
All boutonnieres and corsages
Bride's bouquet and going-away corsage
Gift for the bride
Bride's ring
Gifts for his attendants
Honeymoon expenses
Lodging for his out-of-town attendants
Marriage license
Officiant's fee
Lodging and transportation for his parents
Rehearsal dinner
Bachelor dinner, if there is one

■ Attendants
Their attire
Travel costs
Gift for bride or groom
Wedding gift for couple
Organize wedding shower(s)

Source: www.weddinggarden.com

Announce your engagement or wedding

www.kstatecollegian.com
or stop by Kedzie 103

K's Nails

Choose one of the following with purchase of a full set (reg. $25):

- $5 off white tips (reg. $30)
- Free soak off
- 2 free Powercat designs
- $10 off solar set (reg. $45)

Bring this ad in • Expires 10/22/02
776-2444 • 2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

THE frame maker

Picture framing with creativity, style and quality. Try us and see the difference

1346 WESTLOOP CENTER
MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66502
539-0567

www.alstardj.com

537-4581 1-800-884-5888

Mark Rose Photography

ENGAGEMENTS WEDDINGS
FAMILIES EVENTS

Please Call for an Appointment
(785) 341-5738

NEED A TUX?

Tuxedos starting at $49.95! Choose from designer labels such as Chaps-Ralph Lauren, Claiborne 2.0, Perry Ellis, Oscar de la Renta, Andrew Fezza, and more! Randall's Formal Wear can also sell you a new or used tuxedo and accessories for any special event!

Randall's FORMAL WEAR

Manhattan Town Center • (785) 770-9011
NEW ON THE WEB www.randallsformalwear.com

Mr. P's Party Outlet

We cater to all your wedding needs.

Wedding Invitations 40% Off

Limited Time

KSU POWERCAT
MARDI GRAS
BEADS
NOW IN!!

776-7547 • 318 Poyntz • Manhattan
M-TH 9:30-8 p.m. • F-SAT 9:30-6 p.m.
SUN noon-5 p.m.

Weisner's Bridal Boutique & Sew Unique

- Over 100 Bridal Gowns (in stock)
- Bridesmaid Gowns
- Bridal Shoes
- Bridal Accessories
- Bridal Fabric
- Tuxedos

Special Orders Welcome

314 Poyntz • Downtown
(785) 776-6100

www.GoToTheBusiness.com/WeisnersSewUnique-BridalBoutique

Ask for help

Some of our wedding services:

- FREE 30 minute initiation consultation
- Vendor locator
- Etiquette guidelines
- Package deals
- Hourly rates

Contact: Charlotte A. Bailey
Certified wedding specialist, member of Weddings Beautiful, a Division of National Bridal Service 776-1535 • cabell@kansas.net

Make every occasion special with a gift from Campbell's

Bridal Gift Registry
Your selection is given the added touch of a distinctive gift wrap and local delivery. Complete Selection of Wedding Invitation and Social Stationery

- China
- Crystal
- Silver
- Linens
- Porcelains
- Jewelry
- Jewelry Boxes
- Glassware
- Stainless Steel
- Dept. 56 Houses
- Music Boxes
- Brass
- Collectibles
- Silk Flowers

10:00AM-5:30PM Mon.-Sat.
10:00AM-6:00PM Thurs.

Campbell's DOWNTOWN
776-9067
5th & Poyntz
Manhattan

Celebration of the Heart

For the special moments in life

Congratulations to the following couples who celebrated summer weddings:

September 7th
Karen Jenkins and Dan Yule
Jessica Gendola and Chris Hornbush
Tali Molek and Jon Kozmich

September 14th
Rachel Powers and Steve Deering
Darrin Palack and Clark Stevens

September 21st
Pam Dillon and John Giesler

September 28th
Lee Louren and Donna Armstrong
Amy Wright and Charles Mammol

Get 25% off on new & bridal gowns during October!

ONCE IN A LIFETIME

Friday, October 4, 2002

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 9

Hoke — Cook

Mary Beth Hoke, senior in management information systems, and Zac Cook, senior in biological and agricultural engineering, announce their engagement.

Mary Beth is the daughter of Kirk and Linda Hoke, Manhattan, and Zac is the son of Larrell and Beth Cook, Plains, Kan.

They plan a January 3 wedding in Manhattan.

McVicker — Dibble

Missy Dibble, senior in hotel and restaurant management, and Dustin Dibble, senior in social science, announce their wedding.

Missy is the daughter of Daryl and Claudia McVicker, Munice, Ind., and Dustin is the son of Max and Pam Dibble, Phillipsburg, Kan., and Don and Ellen Isenhausen, Phillipsburg, Kan.

They wed on June 1 in Manhattan.

Rooney — Wankel

Julie Rooney, senior in Agricultural economics, and Les Wankel, K-State graduate, announce their engagement.

Julie is the daughter of Pat and Jeanette Rooney, Satanta, Kan., and Les is the son of Mark and Anita Wankel, Tallula, Ill., and Rosie Guinan, Petersburg, Ill.

They plan a December 28 wedding in Manhattan.

Budgeting key to planning college weddings

Seeking advice from professionals can keep ceremonial costs down

By Kari Kennedy
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The perfect wedding doesn't have to be financially draining.

College students planning to get married probably won't always have $10,000 to spend on the special event. There are ways, however, to have a perfect wedding and still have money left over.

The first step would be to set up a budget. Web sites like www.weddingchannel.com have worksheets to help people plan for wedding expenses.

Once the budget is set, the couple can begin to decide on what they want for their wedding.

Janice Hill, owner of Vern's Cakes and wedding consultant, said working with professionals can help to ease the stress of planning a wedding.

"Schedule an appointment, bring a Coke and relax," she said. "We try to simplify it so it isn't so hard to do."

Wendy Allison, bridal consultant at Weisner's Bridal Boutique, said consultants help with deciding on dress style and look for dresses that fit the bride's budget.

"Ninety-five percent of the girls we work with buy a white dress," Allison said. "Most either go for something simple or go all out."

The average amount spent on a dress is about $550, she said, but that isn't a set rate.

"Informal is the most cost-effective type of dress. Sometimes you can even find bargains from last season's dresses," Allison said.

Outlet and discount stores also might be good places to look for the dream wedding dress at an affordable price.

Having a beautiful dress may seem like the most essential part of the wedding, but Karen Medlin, owner of Westloop Floral, thinks differently.

"Flowers are probably the most important thing you can do for the wedding," she said. "The flowers are usually the main thing. They can really make a difference."

Buying flowers can get expensive, but florists are willing to help.

"The best thing you can do is to work with florists that you are comfortable with. Tell them your budget, and the florists will help decide how to divide the money up for the best showing," Medlin said.

The normal range for this portion of the wedding is $50 to $500, depending on how many arrangements and the kinds of flowers, according to bridesandgrooms.com.

The wedding cake is another tradition that could get expensive, with the average price of a cake that feeds 100 people at $250.

"Go with something simple," Hill said. "You aren't more or less married if you have an expensive cake."

There are other things that might need to be added to the budget as well. A tuxedo for the groom, place for the reception, music, food and photography aren't all necessary, but make for a more traditional wedding.

Basically, the wedding is up to the couple planning it and what they wish to include. There are ways to have a successful wedding without panicking about going bankrupt.

"It's not a train wreck," Hill said. "It's a wedding."

Wedding planning calendar

This checklist will help couples in planning the most important day of their lives — their weddings.

6-12 Months

- Pick the date and time of the wedding.
- Discuss the budget.
- Consider hiring a wedding coordinator.
- Make arrangements with the officiator.
- Reserve the wedding location.
- Send announcements of your engagement to local newspapers.
- Select wedding dress and veil.
- Choose the bridesmaids and groomsmen.
- Have a formal photo sitting.
- Discuss the guest list with fiancée.
- Plan reception music.
- Discuss honeymoon and reservations.

- Arrange for time off work, if necessary.

4-6 Months

- Select and register wedding gifts.
- Order dress and accessories.
- Order bridesmaids' dresses.
- Have parents select attire.
- Order invitations.

2 Months

- Choose and order wedding bands.
- Order wedding and groom's cakes.
- Check marriage license requirements.
- Plan rehearsal dinner.
- Complete guest list and address invitations.
- Purchase gifts for attendants and groom.

One Month

- Confirm all arrangements and contracts.
- Mail invitations.
- Pick up wedding rings.

- Attend final fittings.
- Purchase guest book and keepsake album.
- Write thank you notes as gifts are received.

2 Weeks

- Get marriage license.
- Give caterer final guest count.
- Arrange to have your gown pressed.

1 Week

- Pack for honeymoon.
- Give attendant gifts.
- Confirm plans with attendants.
- Brief head usher of special seating.
- Prepare wedding day fees.

1 Day Before

- Pack the "going-to-church" bag.
- Attend rehearsal and rehearsal dinner.

Source: www.weddingdetails.com

425 Poyntz Avenue, Downtown Manhattan, 776-7821

Danenberg
JEWELERS

Distinctive Jewelry
Quality Diamonds

Across from the Courthouse
Downtown, Manhattan

50% off
Haircuts, Perms,
& Color
W/ Kristi & Heather
Expires 11/15/02

Adolph's Nail Parlour
314 Tuttle Creek Blvd
Manhattan
537-6016

OPEN to your world of IMAGINATION

During Bernina's Super Saturday Sale
October 19, 2002

All Bernina sewing machines, embroidery machines, software and more will be specially sale-priced.

You'll encounter a wealth of creative ideas and awe-inspiring products, like the new artista 200 sewing and embroidery system. And, you'll receive a very special financing offer:

No Interest and No Payments Until January 2004***
with select Bernina purchases over $1,000

PLUS
No Interest and Payments For 1 Year****
when you purchase the artista 200/200E

If you don't already have a Bernina credit card, come in and apply today!

Bernina Shoppe
330 N. 4th St.
Manhattan, KS 66502
Mon., Tues., Thurs., Fri.
10 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Lace or smooth
Backless 32-40 (A-D)
Detachable Garters
Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie
BRIDAL REGISTRY
1124
Moro
Tues. & Wed. 10-6
Thurs. 10-7
Fri. & Sat. 10-5

Couple of the Month

Kristin Lane
Phillip Goodyear

"It was a blessing from God when Phillip discovered Kristen's bow hunting picture displayed in the Wal-Mart sporting goods section. His interest was sparked. In his quest to find her, he discovered they had a mutual friend. Unknown to Kristen, a meeting was arranged. Neither of them knew that their first meeting would lead to a lifetime of love and devotion."

Reflections
Photography

Call before Friday, October 18 and Receive 50% off your session!

You and your fiancé can apply to be Reflection's Photography's Couple of the Month. Your portrait and the story of your special meeting will be featured in the Once in a Lifetime section. You will also receive a FREE 11x14 portrait.

Call 539-1550, or toll free at 1-800-336-4421.

Gifts of Celebration

SEE OUR UNIQUE GIFT SELECTION

china stemware
table wares cards books accessories
kid's stuff
furniture vases jewelry watches picture frames candles
flatware lamps clocks

bridal registry

GEOMETRICS
furnishings and gifts

407 Poyntz Mon-Fri 10-6, Sat 10-5 537-7677

COLORADO | Cats looking forward to CU on Saturday; team looking to make statement

Continued from Page 6

then went on to drop two more Big 12 matches before turning the season around to make a bowl appearance.

Of that four-game losing streak, Colorado may have been the toughest one to swallow.

Newman remembers the game vividly, he said, because they were flat-out handled by CU.

"They beat us last year. They didn't beat us, they pretty much spanked us," he said. "They said they dominated us. They said they were physical and we were weak."

Indeed, K-State struggled on offense and defense.

On offense, the Cats managed just 74 yards on the ground. Colorado, however, picked up nearly 200 yards running, led by running back Chris Brown, who piled up 114 yards.

Coach Bill Snyder could see the team was different, even before the game with the Buffaloes.

"It was the reaction or response to the previous week," he said. "We were a tremendously different ball team by and large from the week prior to that week. It was our inability to manage our surroundings and by that I mean things that take place outside of the football field. I hope we have learned that lesson."

And though the Cats have looked like two different teams from 2001 to this season, the Buffaloes have been two different squads within the first four games.

Colorado started the 2002 campaign by dropping a rivalry game to Colorado State. They then beat up on San Diego State, got blown out at home against Southern California, but then traveled west to UCLA and handled the Bruins.

Linebacker Josh Buhl said it shouldn't be a secret as to which Buffalo team will show up Saturday.

"The one that played against UCLA," he said. "You can't look much at the game against USC because if you look at that you don't see what they really are and that's a good football team."

A team that won the Big 12 title last season, nonetheless.

And that team even had a loss when playing the Cats last year.

Snyder said that shows that even if Colorado has one loss like in 2001, two losses like they do now or a hoard of defeats, they are still dangerous.

"They could be 0-20 and I would still be immensely concerned about how good they are," Snyder said.

Players don't doubt Colorado is a good football team, Newman said. But they can do without Buffalo players letting everyone in the country know about it, he said.

"They're very arrogant, from players to coaches," Newman said.

"I've seen a lot of press where our players and coaches have been down-grated, from the juco players and from us being K-State and them still being Colorado."

That makes the magnitude of this weekend that much greater, quarterback Ell Roberson said.

They may not get any love from Buffalo players, but they might just make a statement to CU fans, as well as the rest of the nation — a statement that they can play a big game, and win, on the road.

"I don't think we will ever get respect from Colorado," Roberson said. "We don't respect them and they don't respect us. But all this talk isn't going to help anything, we just need to play."

DEFENSE | Colorado's talented backs present unfamiliar challenge for K-State's defense

Continued from Page 6

said. "The thing about him is that his legs are so strong. His legs are so big and powerful that if you tackle low and try to get him around the legs, he'll run right through those tackles."

"It's going to be one of those deals where we better tackle well and wrap up and get our head up, or he's going to run all over us."

Defensive tackle Tank Reese, who had two tackles for losses and assisted on a key sack on Carson Palmer late in the K-State win over USC, said stopping Brown doesn't have to be hard.

"Chris Brown is a tall, big running back," Reese said. "You just have to wrap him up. Any running back is easy to stop. Work on your fundamentals and wrap them up."

Reese said he loves the opportunity to stop recognizable running backs.

"I want to try and stop the big-name guys," Reese said. "Them wanting to run the ball excites me."

Linebacker Josh Buhl said a game where a running attack comes right at the teeth of the defense will be more than welcomed.

"As a linebacker, and as a linebacker group, and as the lynch mob, this is what you want," Buhl said. "You want to be able to stop the run, and that's what we do."

Buhl said Colorado presents an opportunity for the Wildcat defense, and for the team, to make a big statement.

"USC got us back on the map," Buhl said. "We're on the map now and we've got to continue to work our way up. That starts again this week with Colorado."

EQUINE

Team prepares for Iowa State

Continued from Page 6

they had some problems during the second day of competition.

The team only scored three points during the second day, but Breidenthal said there was nothing the team could have done about that.

"That never happens," she said. "Our girls rode the same as they did on the first day, but the judges just didn't agree."

The team will try to improve on some of the little things it didn't do in the first meet, Breidenthal said.

Expectations are high once again this weekend. Breidenthal said she thought the Cats could finish first on both days.

It also will help the English team riders get ready for the K-State English Show in three weeks in Manhattan.

"The girls are really excited," she said. "The only thing we needed to change from the first show is my selection in judges."

we kick ads.

CLASSIFIEDS • 322-6666

GIVE US YOUR OPINION.
CAMPUS FOURUM: 395-4444

Fat's Bar & Grill

Friday

Saturday $2 bottles, $2 wells

Sunday

1/2 price everything

Little Caesar's

PARTY! PARTY! PACK®

THREE PIZZAS, 14" LARGE
WITH 1 TOPPING
2 CRAZY BREAD®

$21.99

CARRY OUT
PLUS TAX
DELIVERY
CHARGE MAY
APPLY

Valid only at participating locations
©2002 L.C.E., Inc.

GO CATS!

MANHATTAN
(Westloop Center)
539-3333

Want to show your purple pride and be a representative for K-State?

Then apply to be a K-State Student Ambassador!

WILDCAT WORLD TOUR OF HOMECOMING

The K-State Alumni Association is seeking one male and one female Ambassador for 2002-2003. Ambassadors will be elected by the student body during Homecoming week.

Pick up an application and a complete description of duties at the Office of Student Activities and Services in the K-State Student Union or at the Alumni Association, located in the Alumni Center. You also can apply online by visiting our Web site at www.K-State.com/Homecoming.

Questions? Call the K-State Alumni Association at 532-6260. Applications are due at 5 p.m., Friday, Oct. 18 at the Alumni Association.

Friday

PBR pints.....75¢

Coronas & Margaritas...$2.50

Tacos.....50¢

Saturday

Watch the game at Dave's!

Pitchers.....$4

Wells.....$2.50

8 oz. Sirloin.....$4.95

Open both days @ 1 p.m.!

DAVE'S
HIDEAWAY

12th & Larnie

GAME
WATCH

Watch the Game with US!

1:30pm Tailgate Party / 2:30pm Kick-off

North Dining Area • K-State Student Union

Saturday Oct 5, 2002

Hot Dogs! Pop!

Prizes! 32ft Screen TV

BRING A FRIEND!

GO CATS

UNIVERSITY OF Western Australia

DO YOU REALLY WANT TO SPEND ANOTHER WINTER IN KANSAS?

How about the sunny beaches of Perth, Australia? Swim in the crystal blue, surf on the weekends and study at the most beautiful campus in Australia during the week. Take classes in an uncrowded, modern city, and in your spare time have fun surfing, tasting wine, riding camels on the beach, trekking in the outback, scuba diving and viewing humpback whales!

STUDY Aboriginal studies, anthropology, agriculture, architecture, business, engineering, humanities and sciences.

Think Australia in 2003
for only $8,095***

CALL CRISSAN OR JESSICA IN THE STUDY ABROAD OFFICE
AT 532-3638 NOW FOR THIS AMAZING DEAL!

*Includes tuition, fees, room and board, orientation, excursions, airport pick-up and much more.

Playback with Payback

SONY

1 Purchase a Sony Net MD™ Walkman® Recorder

- Record your MP3s or CDs at up to 32x speed*
- Store over 5 hours of music on one 80 minute disc*
- Supports MP3, WMA, WAV, ATRAC3™ files
- Music management software supplied
- Up to 56 hours continuous playback using one AA battery (LP4 mode)

MZ-N505 $149.95

2 Plus a MiniDisc 8-Pack

- Recordable up to one million times
- Scratch-resistant, durable media
- High capacity storage
- Exciting color collection

$16.99

3 And Get Paid Back with over 42 Hours of Music

- When you purchase a Sony Net MD Walkman recorder and an 8-pack of Sony MiniDiscs you get paid back the price you paid for the discs! (up to $16.99 by mail-in rebate)
- Now you can build the portable music library you've always wanted.

*When recording in LP4 mode. Results vary based on PC specifications. Transfer time does not include title transfer time. Recording capacity based on 80 minute disc.

NetMD PC2MD RECORD FROM THE NET

NetMD MiniDisc USB WALKMAN

SEARS
Where else?

103 MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER
MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER
MANHATTAN

Campus safety numbers incomplete, unreliable

By Crystal Welborn
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When students consider attending K-State, the federally required annual safety report could lead them to believe that fewer crimes occur on campus than is accurate.

"Ninety percent of all violent crimes are not reported to the police," Tara Hull, assistant advocate at the Women's Center, said.

"We see an average of between two and five women a month for various things, mostly assault," she said. "When you add to that the people who go to Lafene for physical care, the counseling center, or the people who go to their RAs and don't even go to a resource mechanism, the numbers climb to five, 10, 15 people a month."

Ronnie Grice, director of K-State Police, said the problem with campus safety isn't in the reported offenses but in the non-reported offenses.

"We try to encourage everyone to report if they have been a victim of assault, but some people just want to talk to someone," Grice said. "We encourage reporting, but we can't make someone talk to us if they don't want to."

Hull said the reason so many crimes go unreported might be because victims feel embarrassed or worried about repercussions of reporting.

Mary Todd, interim director of the Women's Center, said the problem might also be in the stigma attached to certain types of crime and the reporting of those crimes.

"People have come to us who have gone to get help from their RAs, the campus police or the Riley County police and at some point are made to feel like, 'What did you do to provoke the attack?'" she said. "That's just the way it is."

Hull said if change is going to be made, people need to be verbal about the crimes and report to the proper authorities.

"When things happen on campus, it has to become apparent to the right people for it to become an issue. People have to be verbal and open about it and willing to talk," she said. "The crime has to be visible, people have to file complaints, but if we are lucky we get two people a year who are willing to take it that far, to take it all the way."

Todd said the crime does not always have to be reported, but in order to learn to deal with the pain of the assault, victims should talk to someone.

Although Hull said she doesn't see the incidence of unreported crime declining much, she encourages people to help lower the level of crime by talking about violence.

Todd said the Women's Center is trying to raise awareness of violent crime by making attacks more visible and getting untold stories of violence out in the open and talked about.

"To get people talking about violence and make this issue come out, we are telling the untold stories of violence," she said. "We are collecting stories about people who have violence in their past."

The collection of stories, called "Making Violence Visible: Our Untold Stories," will be displayed in the K-State Student Union when enough narratives are gathered.

SAFETY | Budget cuts could affect campus security

Continued from Page 1

He said that if there are layoffs, students will need to take on a bigger role and become the extra eyes of the department.

However, even if there aren't more budget cuts, questions about campus safety remain.

"There isn't a public gathering that I don't address student safety," Bosco said. "At one time, it wasn't a question people would ask. Now it's always asked."

One concern students have is the safety of campus after dark.

Stephanie Voss, senior in landscape architecture, is often on campus late at night working on architecture projects. Voss said she feels safer on campus than off.

However, Dennis Day, professor for the College of Architecture, Planning and Design, said he worries about his students walking alone on campus after dark.

"I think it can be a problem. I'm always concerned about their safety," he said.

"There haven't been any problems lately, but that doesn't mean that kind of thing couldn't happen today."

So what do campus police officers do to keep crimes from happening every day?

Grice said that at any given time there will be between two and three officers patrolling campus.

"The main thing is, perception is a reality," Lt. David Johnson, said. "As long as they know we are out there, and we are, that is going a long way toward supporting public safety."

Tara Hull, assistant advocate at the Women's Center, said awareness of campus crime is down, and for that reason, the crimes themselves are becoming more frequent.

"There has to be safety awareness, but I don't think there is awareness on this campus. It's amazing what college freshmen don't know about what programs are available to them on this campus," she said.

"I think that it is the responsibility of the administration and departments to keep people informed. Everybody needs to work on campus safety."

K-State discloses reported on-campus crime incidents through an annual safety report, which is federally mandated by the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act.

The Clery Act designates that all colleges and universities must disclose certain timely and annual information about campus crime and security policies, including reported crimes, how to report crimes, the university's steps in preventing crime, and the definitions of crime.

"The safety report is an excellent resource for students," Grice said. "We furnish a lot of the information in the report."

Although in previous years the annual safety report was published in the back of the Campus Phone Book, this year, students can only obtain the information by visiting www.ksu.edu/studentlife/publications.

Bosco said although information about K-State's preventative measures are available in the crime report, he still includes that information in his speeches about campus safety.

Hull said as long as students continue to be unaware of the problems, crime will always exist at K-State.

"When people stop coming through our door, when people stop going to Lafene, when people stop going to their RAs or to their best friends, when crime stops, then campus will be safe, but it is not going to stop," she said. "What we can do is preventative. We can do education, we can acknowledge the negative behavior and be willing to change the behavior so that it won't exist."

PRECAUTIONS | University crime statistics report shows decline in number of aggravated assaults on campus

Continued from Page 1

"We have a relatively safe campus," he said. "We just got our crime statistics report, and the numbers show that in many categories we have a reduction."

According to the safety report, while aggravated assaults on campus have decreased from three in 2000 to one in 2001, on-campus forcible sex offenses have remained at two per year. However, in 2001, the offenses occurred on-campus but not in residence halls.

In the previous year, both offenses were in the residence halls. Non-forcible sex offenses increased from one offense in 2000 to four in 2001.

Grice said students might also be confused about when is the appropriate time to use the phones to contact the police.

"Last year, we had a student who went to the parking lot for class and realized she had a flat tire and didn't use the phone," he said. "Whenever you go to your car at one in the morning and realize you have a flat, use the phone."

Grice said the facilities is in charge of keeping shrubbery cut back to a safe level.

No one from facilities was available for comment.

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent - Apt. Unfurnished

120 For Rent - Houses

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

RESERVE NOW for next semester. Four-bedroom, two bath brick home west of KSU stadium. Completely remodeled with everything new. No pets. (785)556-6899.

HOUSE FOR RENT flexible lease dates. Three-bedroom, washer/dryer, single car garage. 2039 College View. No pets. (785)456-7255/ (785)456-9000.

ADVERTISE
CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744. www.ksu.edu/kscf

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

NEW LOCATION as of October 1. Lewis's Auto Repair 610 S. South Juliette. 770-8553. $40.00/hour labor rate call for appointment.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND WOMEN'S purple corduroy wallet. Aggieville area. Call to pickup. (785)776-6008.

TWO RINGS lost in library, couple of weeks ago. Both purple and silver. Please return (785)539-0173.

VICTORIA RHIN watch found east side Union faculty parking lot. Call (785)532-6224.

030 Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100 housing/real estate

105 For Rent - Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

NICE, FURNISHED, one-bedroom. Close to campus, available Jan. 1. $295/month. Water, trash and gas paid. (785)341-2570.

105 For Rent - Apts. Furnished

"Stay In Class At The Commons" Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

- Fully Furnished
- 2 & 4 Bedroom
- Alarm System
- Swimming Pool
- Washer/Dryer
- Computer Lab
- Fitness Center
- Permit Parking
- Tennis/Volleyball Courts

Office Hours: M-F 9-5, Sat. 10-4

539-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS

APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE

110 For Rent - Apt. Unfurnished

ONE-BEDROOM, ATTRACTIVE, spacious, large double closets, west campus, new carpets, no smoking/drinking/pets. Garage. NICE! (785)539-3055.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

Ad It Up!

Talk with one of our sales representatives by calling...

532-6560

120 For Rent - Houses

310 Help Wanted

320 Volunteers Needed

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

610 Tour Package

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, very nice four-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fireplace. No pets. (785)537-7050.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

DANCING POSITIONS AVAILABLE Mustang Gentlemen's Club 1330 Grant Ave., Junction City, KS (785)238-7571. Females 18 years+. Topless only. $2500-$4500/ month. WILL TRAIN. For more information call Ms. Young at club or Ashley at (785)565-9355 Manhattan.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking full-time retail Garden Center staff. Sales experience preferred, plant knowledge helpful, weekends a must. Heat tolerance and lifting required. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xcalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol Vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evenings, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

RECEPTIONIST NEEDED. Light office duties. Full or part-time at Blueville Nursery. 4539 Anderson Ave. (785)539-2671.

200 service directory

300 employment opportunities

310 Help Wanted

$800 WEEKLY Guaranteed! Stuffing envelopes. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Oakdale Enterprises 1151 N. State suite 231, Chicago, IL 60610.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

ASSISTANT TEACHER needed for preschool classroom. Monday-Friday mornings 8:30 until 1:00p.m. Call Lisa or Danice at (785)539-7540 or stop by Kindercare at 1205 Mylon Heights.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

COACH HANDBAGS and Turquoise jewelry, autographed K-State items. Cache. Clothing and designer girls clothes. (785)565-9608.

COMPACT DESKTOP 2000 with printer. Like new. Call (785)323-0054.

420 Garage/Yard Sales

TRINITY PRESBYTERIAN. Saturday, October 5, 8am-noon. 1110 College Avenue. Riding lawn mower, love-seats, recliner, desks, televisions, household items, clothing $2 per grocery bag, toys, and much more.

450 Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Registered Yorkie pups. Eight weeks old. Had all shots. American Kennel Club registered. (785)527-5276.

500 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

1992 PLYMOUTH Laser. $1450 or best offer. (785)395-5955. After 5pm leave a message.

1993 CHEVY pickup. $3000. 1992 Lincoln Town Car $4000 or take both for $6000. Call (785)770-8229.

1995 CHEVY Lumina. V-6, Air-conditioning, flip-face CD, reliable/ excellent/ sharp car. (785)776-3249 Tony.

NISSAN ALTIMA GXE 94. New tires and brakes. Excellent condition. automatic, 140k. call (785)770-8412.

530 Motorcycles

1993 SUZUKI Katana. $2000. Call Aaron after 6:00pm. (785)564-0196.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1986 MERCURY Marquis station wagon. V-8, loaded, power everything. Maintenance records, dependable, runs great. Seats 8. Super tailgating! (785)539-9148.

1992 PLYMOUTH Laser. $1450 or best offer. (785)395-5955. After 5pm leave a message.

1993 CHEVY pickup. $3000. 1992 Lincoln Town Car $4000 or take both for $6000. Call (785)770-8229.

1995 CHEVY Lumina. V-6, Air-conditioning, flip-face CD, reliable/ excellent/ sharp car. (785)776-3249 Tony.

NISSAN ALTIMA GXE 94. New tires and brakes. Excellent condition. automatic, 140k. call (785)770-8412.

530 Motorcycles

1993 SUZUKI Katana. $2000. Call Aaron after 6:00pm. (785)564-0196.

600 travel/trips

TRINITY PRESBYTERIAN. Saturday, October 5, 8am-noon. 1110 College Avenue. Riding lawn mower, love-seats, recliner, desks, televisions, household items, clothing $2 per grocery bag, toys, and much more.

450 Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Registered Yorkie pups. Eight weeks old. Had all shots. American Kennel Club registered. (785)527-5276.

610 Tour Package

INTERNATIONAL DISCOUNTED airline tickets and rail passes. AAA Travel. (800)365-5222.

WANTED: STUDENT football tickets for Texas and ISU games. Call (785)770-9327.

WANTED: STUDENT GA or ICAT tickets to OSU game. Pay top dollar. Call (785)323-1758.

#1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1! Breckenridge, Vail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin. $179. 1-800-SKI-WILD. 1-800-724-3853. www.mskt.com

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPadre. 110% Best Prices! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007. endlessummers.com

1 KSU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price. FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends-travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252. www.springbreakDIRECT.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE. Reps needed, earn $$$, Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578) Sept. 26-26 / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $8.00
each word over 20 20¢ per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $9.40
each word over 20 25¢ per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $11.05
each word over 20 30¢ per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $12.25
each word over 20 35¢ per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $13.35
each word over 20 40¢ per word (consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD

Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

Student Travel America

COLLEGE SNOW RIDE $199

Party 6 days, 5 nts, with a 4 day lift ticket

OURANGO MOUNTAIN RESORT COLORADO

Call (800) 235-TRIP

www.studenttravelamerica.com

Organize a Group of 20 and Travel for FREE!

Parties Galore

GOVERNOR | Kansas political candidates' visit Manhattan to discuss issues for November's elections

Continued from Page 1

cause this is an election year, the organization is stressing the issues candidates will face while in office.

"We are the leading advocate for working women," she said.

"And by working women, we mean professional and women work at home. The issues affect everyone, and we want to make sure people understand what the candidate they are voting for believes in."

Issues addressed will include education, budget cuts, equal pay between genders and races, water resources, genetic research, and health care.

"I want to encourage voters to become informed in any way you can," Williams said. "The more informed you are, the better choice you will make in November. Our hope is this forum will help voters understand the issues and make an educated choice."

Candidates' forum

The Kansas Candidates' Forum will be Saturday at Manhattan Holiday Inn, Regency B.

Schedule:

9:30 - 10:30 a.m.

Governor

Kathleen Sebelius and Tim Shallenburger

10:30 - 11 a.m.

Treasurer

Lynn Jenkins and Sally Finney

11 a.m. - noon

Insurance Commissioner

Jim Garner and Sandy Praeger

WALK | Event raises money for medical research

Continued from Page 1

cancers, but it also gave participants a time to reflect and commemorate.

"I was up there with a friend of mine saying, 'Wow, has it been 10 years since I went through all that?'" Hammel said. "Sometimes it seems like it was so long ago, and sometimes it seems like it was yesterday."

Despite dismal weather, there were about 60 participants.

"They really are helping to save lives," said Kelly Gerstenkorn, the local chapter's campaign manager. "That's what they're doing."

Gerstenkorn said the group's goal was to raise about $40,000. They will find out within the next week how much they raised, she said.

Members of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity attended to show their support as part of its philanthropy.

"Everybody knows someone who's had it and survived, or had it and died, and so we just wanted to come out and think about them," said fraternity member Jeff Scott, freshman in hotel and restaurant management.

Hammel thanked the fraternity members for their contribution. She also thanked her friends, saying their attendance helped make her 10th anniversary extremely special.

Mary Lindquist was one of those friends. She also carried a white balloon. But she said the walk was not for her.

"I'm doing it for my friend Mary," she said.

But the walk also made her reflect on her battle with colon cancer, which she was diagnosed with one year ago.

"I'm a survivor," Lindquist said. "I'm special."

She also thought about what the balloon symbolized.

"The courage and conviction and the ability to keep going," she said.

Though it was her first time walking in the event, she had no doubt she would return.

"And I hope we can get more people involved," she said.

Hammel said she celebrated her fifth anniversary by running a marathon in Chicago. But this year, it was enough just to be surrounded by loved ones.

"I was just happy to have my friends here with me to celebrate 10 years," she said.

IRAQ | U.N. wants quick decisions on Iraq situation

Continued from Page 1

had been solved during his talks with the Iraqis in Vienna, "but there are some minor matters and some loose ends before we go to Baghdad."

The United States leaped on Blix's reference to "loose ends" to say this reinforced the need for a resolution.

Blix said he recognized the council was debating the issue, but he was going ahead with preparations to go to Iraq "at the earliest possible opportunity."

"It would be awkward if we were doing inspections and a new mandate with new, changed directives arrived," Blix said. "It would be better to have those early."

President Bush, meanwhile, stepped up his pressure on the United Nations to stand with the United States against Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein.

"The choice is up (to) the United Nations to show its resolve. The choice is up to Saddam Hussein to fulfill his word," Bush said.

"And if neither of them acts, the United States in deliberate fashion will lead a coalition to take away the world's worst weapons from one of the world's worst leader."

Secretary-General Kofi Annan told reporters it is "up to the council today or in the coming week to determine what the next stage would be."

"Of course, they are discussing a new resolution which may be passed. But Blix, in the meantime, continues his preparations," Annan said.

Washington wants one resolution that would include approval for military action if Iraq fails to comply. Russia, China and France - all veto-wielding members of the council - oppose the U.S. demand that any new resolution authorize the use of force if Iraq fails to comply with inspectors.

France has proposed a middle ground which would strengthen inspections but give Iraq a chance to cooperate before authorizing any military action.

Blix said the U.N. Monitoring, Verification and Inspection Commission which he heads already has the legal authority to return to Iraq under a series of resolutions adopted since the end of the Gulf War in 1991.

The inspection regime was designed to uncover and dismantle Saddam's arsenal of chemical and biological weapons and his program to develop nuclear arms and ballistic missiles.

"The question was whether one should solve every practical arrangement (beforehand)," Blix said.

"We solved a good deal in Vienna and went over a good deal, but there are some minor matters and some loose ends before we go to Baghdad."

Those loose ends, he said, included the key issue of whether Saddam's network of presidential palaces would remain off-limits to surprise inspections.

Also unresolved were security arrangements for inspectors and flights within Iraq to reach suspected weapons sites.

Britain's U.N. Ambassador Jeremy Greenstock said Blix should wait for the council to act.

"It would be practically - and I would say politically - wise for those discussions to finish so that he (Blix) is 100 percent clear across the full range of his business, tight ends and loose ends, what are his rights and what are his powers," Greenstock said.

Washington wants a complete overhaul of the rules under which the inspections would be carried out, including immediate and unfettered access to the eight presidential complexes, which cover about 12 square miles.

LOST? & FOUND

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555

A Great Way to Earn

$25 Today!

Donate your blood plasma to help save kid's lives.

Earn $25 CASH.

(for approx. 2 hours.)

Call or stop by:

ZLB Plasma Services

formerly Nabi Biomedical Center

1130 Gardenway

785-776-9177

Fees & donation time may vary.

www.zlb.com

ADVERTISE

ADVERTISE

ADVERTISE

CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

REPAIRING

- SHOES
- LUGGAGE
- BACK PACKS
- BOOTS
- PURSES
- LEATHER COATS
- BIRKENSTOCKS

8-5:30 Mon.-Fri. • 8-1 Sat.
216 South Fourth • Manhattan

776-1193

Donaldson P. Tillar III

Lacrosse Classic

Friday 7:30

vs. KU

@ Old Stadium

Saturday 2:30

vs. Colorado School of Mines

@ Rec. Fields

Championship games Sunday 10-4

@ Old Stadium

KSU LAX

K-State Student Union Bookstore

RENTS

DVDS

AND DVD PLAYERS

New Releases

$2.80

Other Titles

$1.86

KANSAS STATE STUDENT UNION Bookstore

PUSH

NOT ALL AIR FORCE ROTC STUDENTS FLY PLANES. GETTING THEIR TUITION PAID BY THE AIR FORCE IS THRILL ENOUGH.

Your pulse quickens. Your heart races. And that's just when you're in line at the burrito buffet. Fast is picking up a full or partial scholarship is just one of many experiences you can have in Air Force ROTC. Get some hands-on training through one of our summer internship programs. Hone your competitive edge at a leadership seminar. Then enjoy some serious downtime with up to $400 extra spending money in your pocket every month. Not to mention graduating with a guaranteed job and no student loans to pay back. Push your dreams, your life, your limits, your mind. Apply for a scholarship today by visiting the Air Force ROTC Web site or calling our toll-free number.

AIR FORCE ROTC

AFROTC.COM

1-866-423-7632

KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

Monday, October 7, 2002

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Football increases business

Local shops, bars taking advantage of gameday crowds

By Nick Bratkovic
KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

Each time K-State plays a home football game, the Manhattan business community cashes in.

"K-State football is a shot in the arm for business when we have a home football game," said Lyle Butler, president of the Manhattan area Chamber of Commerce. "We estimate close to a $1 million impact from a home football game from a whole host of activities."

Those activities include shopping, dining, purchasing gas and buying alcoholic beverages in liquor stores and bars throughout Manhattan. Fans patronize community businesses to celebrate a big win, and bars also fill up during the game with people wanting to watch televised games.

"Home games are wall-to-wall standing," said Jerad Gubbels, senior in construction science management. "There are more customers who tailgate but have no tickets, so they wind up here."

Varney's Book Store managers also see business increase on game days. The store is one destination for souvenir shoppers and families on K-State game days.

Jeff Levin, manager of Varney's, said the store can have five to 20 times more business on a game day.

On game days, the store sponsors activities for children, which include a Moon Walk and free buttons.

Levin said he prefers night games. It allows fans attending the game to visit the city and shop all day.

Cheryl Sieben, director of the Aggieville Business Association, said game time influences weekend business success.

"Game time dictates a lot," Sieben said. "Every business is different, so it depends on the nature of the business and the time of the game."

John Murphy, restaurant manager at Stroud's Restaurant and Bar, said the restaurant prefers day games like Saturday's 1:10 p.m. kickoff against Oklahoma State.

"When we have day games, we will have a 45-minute wait from 4:30 to 9 p.m.," he said.

While eight games have potential to contribute $8 million to the business community, K-State's gridiron success is also free advertising for Manhattan whenever the team is on television.

"It gives us exposure we could never afford to purchase," Butler said. "To be on prime time costs millions of dollars. After the USC game, I heard from families and friends across the country who said the announcers did a wonderful job talking about Manhattan."

See BUSINESS Page 5

West Nile hits home

State braces for increase in incidents

By Patrice Holderbach
KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

Confirming that 97 of 105 Kansas counties have seen at least one case of West Nile virus since August, Dr. Gail Hansen described the phenomena as an "explosive spread."

Hansen, who serves as deputy state epidemiologist and state public health veterinarian for the Kansas Department of Health and Environment, said the findings so far

Affected areas

Only eight counties remain untouched by the West Nile virus. They are Stanton, Sheridan, Harper, Marshall, Chautauqua, Woodson, Allen and Crawford. No human cases have been found in Kansas.

have been comparable to other states, though a stronger analysis would be available at the end of the year.

After the first confirmed case of West Nile hit Kansas in early August, Hansen's department has received daily reports of suspected West Nile cases from across the state, Hansen said.

She said the cases are evenly distributed throughout Kansas.

"Birds and mosquitoes can move pretty fast," Hansen said.

"They don't care about state lines and county lines."

The department has organized a West Nile surveillance program that tests for the virus in migratory birds throughout the state, focusing on areas that have had few or no confirmed cases. Researchers also test for the virus in mosquito pools, birds, horses and mules.

"There are certain areas where they are no longer accepting birds for testing,

See WEST NILE Page 10

No human cases reported in Kansas

By Patrice Holderbach
KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

In the nation, 2,703 people had tested positive for the West Nile virus, and 146 had died from the virus as of Friday, according to the latest available data from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

None of them were residents of Kansas.

See KANSAS Page 10

ON THE LINKS

Brandon Heath, KSU alumnus, attempts a putt during the Fall Fling Disc Golf Tournament on Saturday at Tuttle Creek State Park. The tournament was put on by the High Flyers Disc Golf Club.

Photos by Lindsey Bauman | COLLEGLIAN

Competition stiff at weekend disc golf tournament

By Tony Herrman
KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

Despite rainy weather during the previous week, the sky cleared up Saturday for the first Fall Fling, a disc golf tournament at Tuttle Creek's Manhattan River Pond disc golf course.

The High Flyers Disc Golf club organized the Fall Fling, and several Manhattan businesses sponsored the event.

Disc golf has the same premise as club golf. A player "tees off" by throwing a disc and tries to put it in the basket, similar to sinking a golf ball in a cup.

With clear skies and temperatures in the mid 70s, those who participated said they couldn't have asked for a more beautiful day. Many felt the tournament's only downside was a disappointing turnout — there were eight competitors.

"It would have been cool to see tons of people, but we had a lot of fun," said Brandon Heath, High Flyers Disc Golf president and tournament organizer.

What the tournament lacked in participation, it made up in stiff competition.

Derek Metcalf, freshman in human ecology and sole K-State student competitor, won the tournament with a score of 108. He had 53 strokes in the first round of Mitch Swymeier, KSU alumnus, removes his disc after completing a hole during the disc golf tournament. All participants played two rounds of the course with their total scores going toward the final standings. The day concluded with the awarding of prizes.

See FRISBEE Page 5

INSIDE

Hannibal returns: Hopkins thriller another success; Red Dragon keeps audiences scared

The Edge, Page 7

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Bullet that wounded Virginia woman linked to 4 other sniper spree victims
Tests conducted by the BATF confirmed the same weapon was used in five of the random shootings during the past three days in Montgomery County, Md., and Washington, D.C. No arrests had been made in any of the shootings, which began Wednesday and have left six dead and one injured.

• • •

Congressional leaders say Iraq resolution will pass with bipartisan vote
Congressional leaders said Sunday a resolution authorizing war against Iraq, expected to pass with little dissent, will strengthen the U.S. hand at the United Nations and increase pressure on Saddam Hussein to disarm. President Bush plans to address the nation tonight from Cincinnati.

• • •

Iraq's U.N. ambassador indicates flexibility on presidential site inspections
Iraq's foreign minister toured Gulf countries Sunday in search of help to avert a war, and its U.N. ambassador indicated Baghdad may be willing to grant U.N. weapons inspectors unhindered access to presidential sites.

• • •

Israel said it could destroy more than 90 percent of Iraq's incoming missiles
Israel, which has deployed two of its cutting-edge Arrow anti-missile batteries and is building a third, believes the air defense system would destroy more than 90 percent of any missiles launched by Iraq. The United States promised to give Israel three days notice ahead of any American military strike against Iraq, according to an Israeli newspaper.

Weather

Today 69 | 46

Tuesday 75 | 43

Sebelius discusses issues despite Shallenburger's absence at local debate

Gubernatorial candidate Kathleen Sebelius speaks during a forum Saturday at the Holiday Inn. Republican candidate Tim Shallenburger was unable to attend the debate, leaving Sebelius to address the crowd alone.

Lindsey Bauman
COLLEGLIAN

By Jessica Pitts
KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

What promised to be a heated debate turned into a one-woman show Saturday when Republican gubernatorial candidate Tim Shallenburger canceled because of "official business in the state treasurer's office."

"It is strictly related to my duties as state treasurer," Shallenburger said in a letter. "It is not because of my lack of desire to share my message."

Still, the forum, sponsored by the Kansas Federation of Business and Professional Women, continued with Democratic

Campaigns

For information on the Sebelius campaign go to www.ksgovernor.com and for information on the Shallenburger campaign go to www.timshallenburger.com.

candidate Kathleen Sebelius discussing the issues surrounding the November election to a standing-room-only audience at the Manhattan Holiday Inn.

At the top of her list is a promise to audit the state government "from top to bottom" if she takes office after the Nov. 5

See DEBATE Page 3

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 33

"Come Grow With Us"
Manhattan's Hometown Community Bank Is Building
To Meet The Future Needs Of Our Community.

KANSAS STATE BANK
FDIC
Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Call-length dress
5 Symbol of intrigue
8 Put together
12 New York lake or county
14 Shake-speare's river
15 Tile game
16 Kachina worshipper
17 Last (Abbr.)
18 Turned the soil
20 Not together
23 Stead
24 Long-bellied TV star
25 Of the liver
28 Parisian pal
29 Done on a loom
30 Prompts
32 Looks up to
34 Titanic trouble-maker

DOWN

1 Off-tattooed word
2 — pickle
3 Homer's expletive
4 Harm
5 Desire
6 Silly
7 Putty container
8 Howdah driver
9 Swear
10 Info
11 Oklahoma city
13 Nitwit
19 Fat-free
20 Carte lead-in 21 Cougar kin
22 Sharp

Solution time: 23 mins.

Friday's answer

CRYPTOQUIP

Q E S O Q M M R Q M U D S U J
R W J B Z U S S W J P E S W U
A O W M O T W B Y T S P M Y U S B D
A F W O P M J F T W O P S U Z U M A F I ?

Saturday's Cryptquip: THIS STOCK-MARKET REPORT IS QUITE AMUSING: "MINING EQUIPMENT HITS ROCK BOTTOM."

Today's Cryptquip Clue: M equals O

STUMPED?

For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-228-6851 (free per minute, touch-tone) or visit our website at www.ksc.edu. (18+ only) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

Q E S O Q M M R Q M U D S U J
R W J B Z U S S W J P E S W U
A O W M O T W B Y T S P M Y U S B D
A F W O P M J F T W O P S U Z U M A F I ?

Saturday's Cryptquip: THIS STOCK-MARKET REPORT IS QUITE AMUSING: "MINING EQUIPMENT HITS ROCK BOTTOM."

Today's Cryptquip Clue: M equals O

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 11 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to Cryptic Classics Book 1, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals Q, it will equal Q throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

There was an error in Friday's Collegian. Jenny Chadsworth and Eric Nelson are not engaged. The Collegian regrets the error.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

Misuse of parking spaces baffles California police

By Chuck Shepherd
UNIVERSAL PRESS SYNDICATE

— Police in Irvine, Calif., told the Los Angeles Times in September that they were stunned at the high number of abuses of handicapped parking placards. Among those caught were a teenage girl parked at a Weezer concert three months after her grandmother died and who with a straight face said she was her grandmother ("So you're 80 years old?" asked officer Kyle Olderp) and a woman who said she thought she had inherited her late husband's handicapped parking privileges as part of his estate.

— England's Mentorn production company announced in September that it was finalizing a deal with Channel 4 TV in London for a series in which a terminally ill man would volunteer for what Mentorn called the "ultimate makeover" (the postmortem reconstruction of his body in "plastination," to demonstrate how changes could have improved the quality of his life). Among the possibilities: adding ribs, making knees back-bending, adding a back-up heart and redoing the trachea to better keep out food. The show would be staged by artist Gunter von Hagens, whose Body Worlds exhibit consists of vivid dissections and reconstructions of body parts.

Gun problems

— Among those who shot themselves recently: Police Lt. Walter Warot (carried gun in waistband, shot in buttocks); a 43-year-old man (gun in waistband, shot fatally); a 43-year-old man (carjack, carried gun in his pants); and an 18-year-old man (shot in the hand).

— Also, three Montanans were on the list: Undersheriff Mike Dominick (gun caught in holster); a 19-year-old gang-member suspect (gun in waistband); and a 22-year-old man (gun in waistband, shot off right testicle).

Economic indicators

— In New York City in August, businessman Herbert Black sued socialite Denise Rich (ex-wife of the Clinton-pardoned Marc Rich) for nonpayment of fees he said he earned by saving her nearly a million dollars annually as a personal financial adviser. Included alleged savings were $125,000 in flowers; $30,000 by changing the payment plan for her yoga instructions; and $52,000 in "dog maintenance" (mostly by giving away her two oldest dogs, which were so feeble they had to be pushed by sitters around Central Park in an $8,000 baby carriage).

— Business was booming in August for street dentists in Lahore, Pakistan, according to a New York Times reporter, who witnessed several patients' sidewalk experiences. Tools include pliers, wire-cutters, metal files, a container of moonshine (to rinse off tools) needle-point probes (to inflict a distracting pain elsewhere in the mouth), and a red plastic sheet (so the blood won't stand out so much).

Weird workplaces

— According to the Beijing Morning Post, the government in Chengdu, China, shut down a food-processing plant in August after discovering workers routinely pulled the bones out of chicken feet with their teeth. Workers first boiled the feet in water, then made three slits in the foot with a knife, pried open the skin with their fingers and removed the bones with their teeth.

— In Meriden, Conn., in August, music store owner Jeff Caillouette, 35, was charged with sexual assault for allegedly forcing a then-15-year-old employee to let Caillouette spank him, supposedly as punishment for various workplace mistakes.

Photo by Jeanel Drake
COLLEGIAN

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Thursday, Oct. 3

■ At 11 a.m., Jeanine Reeves, 810 Bluemont Ave., was arrested for criminal use of weapons; purchase or consumption of an alcoholic beverage by a minor; possession of opiates, opium, narcotic drugs or designated stimulants; unlawful possession of substances and driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 1:30 p.m., Wayne Kemnitz, 2521 Brockman St., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 2:35 p.m., Jared Becker, 608 N. 12th, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 4 p.m., Latonia Fayne, Wichita, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 7:55 p.m., Trina Bartholic, Ogden, was arrested for probation violation. No bond was set.

■ At 11:40 p.m., Matthew Brock, 1530 Fair Lane, No. 2, was arrested for battery, aggravated battery and child in need of care. No bond was set.

■ At 11:40 p.m., Robert Brock, 1530 Fair Lane, No. 2, was arrested for aggravated battery. Bond was set at $5,000.

Friday, Oct. 4

■ At 12:05 a.m., Linda Ingram, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $2,500.

■ At 1 a.m., Philip Sedillos, 2410 Justin Drive, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $750.

The planner | Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Fort Riley classes will run Oct. 15 to Dec. 14. The dates have changed since publication of the line schedule. Civilian enrollment starts Oct. 7.

■ Up 'Til Dawn is accepting applications for six-person teams to raise money for St. Jude Children's Hospital from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Oct. 15 in Holton 203.

■ 2002-03 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Oct. 18, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.

■ Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house on 918 N. Manhattan.

■ "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 in Hale Library's second floor.

■ Royal Purple yearbook pictures will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today at Sigma Chi and 6:30 to 9:30 tonight at Delta Chi.

■ A basic library class will be from 10:30 to 11:15 a.m. today in Hale 408.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a resume-building workshop at 3:30 p.m. today in Union 213.

■ "Study Abroad in Italy" orientation will be from 3:30 to 5 p.m. today in Calvin 217.

■ KSU Aikido will conduct a martial arts class from 7 to 9 tonight in Ahearn 301.

■ The privilege fee SGA committee meeting will be at 7 tonight in the OSAS conference room.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a state panel jobs workshop at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union 212.

■ The KSU chapter of the American Marketing Association will meet at 6 p.m. Tuesday at the Pizza Hut in Aggieville.

■ The Pre-Dental Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union Stateroom 1 and will be host to UMKC dental school representatives.

■ KSU Pre-Nursing will meet and have guest speaker Gail Chalmers at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Union 209.

■ Pre-Law Club will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Union 206.

■ Frankenstein: Terrifying Tuesday Lecture Series will have Carol Franko present Mary Shelley's Philosophic Gothic at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in Hale Hemisphere Room.

Up next | In Tuesday's Collegian

News | Celebration of culture

The Festival of Nations is today in the K-State Student Union Courtyard from noon to 1 p.m. Find out what students learned from observing other cultures. Also, Big 12 fans are going online to name the conference's top mascot. Willie needs help from the Wildcat faithful. Check out where to vote and where he stands in the contest.

Opinion | Same-sex marriage

Nasrina Burnett writes about same-sex marriages, advocating that laws shouldn't stand in the way of people's happiness. Also, Angel Wilson makes her debut on the page addressing a handful of observations and myths regarding campus diversity.

The Edge | Jam tunes

With its own awards presentation, countless festivals around the country, and a leader in Phish's Trey Anastasio, jam music is unavoidable. Find out how the music has infiltrated Manhattan and check out who is setting the trend locally.

Sports | Giving it all

Linebacker Josh Buhl had a great individual effort against Colorado during K-State's 35-31 loss to the Buffaloes on Saturday. Read about his performance, including reactions from players and coaches on Buhl's performance this season. Also, football wasn't the only Wildcat squad competing this weekend. Men's golf is at St. Charles, Mo., for the Purina Classic, and the women are in Indiana for the Shootout at the Legends. Get caught up with updates from both locations and insight from players and coaches.

you can finally buy a book
WORTH ITS PRICE
CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
On sale in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

Monday Night Football
Green Bay vs. Chicago

MONDAY JOE'S
KING OF THE WING

JOE'S TAP ROOM
ONLY 10¢ Best Wings in the 'Ville
Why pay more?

$2 Big Domestic Beers

royal purple ARE YOU IN?
Monday, October 7
Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures
Sigma Chi
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Delta Chi
6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
Next up: Tuesday, Oct. 8
Tau Kappa Epsilon 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Sigma Phi Epsilon 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.,
Union 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

GAME GUY
Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent
Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games
Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5
(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA

Some large bookstores charge YOU a membership fee in order for you to receive a discount.

At Clafin, no membership is required to receive a discount.

Please ask our staff about our book discounts.

There are some restrictions as a limited number of books (including all textbooks) are not discounted.

Clafin Books and Copies

PIZZA SHUTTLE
DELIVERS
1800 Clafin Road
776-5577
We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

Little Caesars
MONDAY madness!
1 LARGE 14" PIZZA WITH 1 TOPPING
$4.99
NO LIMITS!
No Coupon Necessary
Valid only at participating locations. ©2001 L.C.E., Inc.
539-3333

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER
"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."
539-3338
Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

HUNAM
Restaurant and Mongolian BBQ
1304 Westloop 539-8888
Lunch Buffet $4.95 All you can eat! Mon.-Sat.
Dinner Buffet $6.95 All you can eat!
Friday Seafood Buffet $7.95 Crabs, lobsters, shrimp, etc.
$1.00 on Buffet Please present coupon and valid ID
FREE DELIVERY
• OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK •

50% off
Haircuts,perms & color
w/ Kristi & Heather
Expires 11/15/02
Adolph's Nail Parlour
314 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Manhattan
537-6016

BEAT THE CLOCK Mondays
Gambino's Pizza
5-8 p.m.
The Time is the Price for a Large Cheese Pizza!
Toppings $1.29 a piece.
Make it a specialty pizza for $3 more.
DINE IN • CARRY OUT • DELIVERY
537-9090

MONDAY
Bucket o' Beer
9 Domestic Bottles
13 Imports
*****
10¢ Wings
Open Mic Night
DAVE'S HIDEAWAY
12th & Laramie

Web sites allow students to grade professors, give others feedback

Similar service being developed for K-State Online

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

One night during a psychology class, Kasey Kerber, graduate student at the University of Nebraska, decided it was time for a change.

After battling with a difficult professor and struggling through a complicated textbook, Kerber wished he would have known what he was getting into when he decided to take a class from this professor.

"It got to the point where I wondered if there was any way I could have known about the professor before taking the class," he said.

This inspired him and two students from the University of Florida to develop www.myprofessorsucks.com, a Web site that allows students to evaluate their professors.

"Initially, I was going to set up a bulletin board online, but luckily I had friends in Florida who had a better idea," Kerber said. "From that point on, we really got the whole site running in about two months. I did the design work while they did the technology work."

The Web site gives students opportunities to grade their professors and post comments about what they like and dislike about professors.

Furthermore, the site allows students to view a professor's grade and the opinions of other students.

Brandon Hagman, sophomore in mechanical engineering, said he supports the use of these types of sites.

"I think it's a good idea for students because it helps them find out the best teacher who's teaching the classes they're taking, and therefore they'll do better in the class," Hagman said. "I would grade my teacher mainly to help out other students. I've had both good and bad teachers, and I think other students should have the right to know which ones are going to help them and which ones they'll find difficult."

Although the Web site was created to inform students, Kerber and his fellow developers were worried about students' negative output in evaluations.

"When we first created the Web site, we were expecting a negative reaction, but it really hasn't been," Kerber said. "About 60 to 70 percent of the evaluations have been positive."

In addition, the site's creators chose to honor strong professors with the A+ Club, a collection of 25 percent of the professors included on the site.

"We felt that with the A+ Club, we could reinforce the positive evaluations," Kerber said. "It's a testament of good teaching."

The site's grand launch was in August 2001. More than 200,000 visitors have viewed the site, and more than 3,000 colleges from the United States and Canada have been included, Kerber said.

"We have been very popular in campuses we have a reach at," Kerber said. "We found that once word gets out, there is nothing but growth."

Kerber said the Web site's unique name has increased growth with college campuses throughout the nation.

"We were trying to find a name that if you heard it, you would actually be able to remember it," Kerber said. "It's definitely memorable. We do have people put off by the name, but once you get to the site, we really do try to remain unbiased."

Although Kerber thinks his

Web site generates a positive response toward collegiate teaching, Student Body President Zac Cook said similar Web sites such as www.pickaprof.com, are nothing but trouble.

Like Kerber's site, www.pickaprof.com allows students to log in and compare professors and classes through student reviews. However, the site also posts the overall grade histories of each professor on campus, showing the number of As through Fs the instructor gave in each of his or her classes.

"I was disturbed because I don't believe you should have a site where they show the overall grades from classes," Cook said. "I saw with that, students think the quality of the class is how many people got As and could turn away from a good professor who doesn't give out as many. I really think that people think they can get a shortcut."

In addition, the new developments of K-State Online will allow students to review teachers, so students can avoid joining an online Web site, Cook said.

"Right now, students can comment on how their teacher is doing, and in the future, we'll be able to have our own 'pickaprof,'" he said. "We haven't got into the specifics of things, but we're supposed to add more."

While a number of similar Web sites are developing, Kerber said the professor evaluations have been positive for students and teachers.

"We don't think the evaluations should be the basis of teachers being fired, so we're taking more of a responsible stance," he said.

"We've had positive comment from our students, and some of our best features were created when professors gave us the ideas to improve the site."

DEBATE | Sebelius discusses government audit

Continued from Page 1

election.

"It has been 20 years since a complete audit has taken place in the state government," Sebelius, Kansas Insurance Commissioner, said.

"We can't afford to do business as usual. There are waste inefficiencies, and we need to shift that money into strategic plans."

The audit would be performed by government teams and private-sector members, Sebelius said, in order to "continue to look at a better way to do government."

Sebelius performed the same type of audit to the state insurance commissioner's office, and she said because of that experience she believes the process is "not only valuable, but it restores accountability so the citizens of this state know where their tax money is going."

"The cost of government is high," she said, "but the people I have been talking to are not seeing it in their classrooms or business communities."

The inefficiencies found in the audit must go first to public education, Sebelius said. Kansas ranks 41st in teachers' salaries.

"Students are getting out of school, and they can go to any surrounding state and make more money than they can make here," she said. "We need to shift this. We need to keep quality teachers here."

And as for higher education, the candidate said there is no question a post-12th grade education is needed in the 21st century.

"We have 19 wonderful community colleges, excellent Regents schools and a number of vocational schools in this state," she said.

"When times are tough, we do not have the luxury of cutting education programs. If we retreat from our commitment to education, there will be a serious disturbance in the state."

She said she was "somewhat stunned" the K-12 funding formula hasn't changed in 10 years. To counter that, she called for increases in the base per-pupil state funding.

"Legislative increases have not kept pace with inflation," she said, "which forces the school districts to fall back on local property taxes to finance their budget."

The problem with that, she said, is those property taxes vary statewide, and some school districts are receiving much more funding than others.

"Quality education should not be an accident of geography," she said.

"It should be funded at the state level."

Sebelius ended by saying she was enthusiastic about the campaign, despite the challenges facing the state.

"Challenges create opportunities to discuss what priorities we need to focus on," she said. "And that discussion needs to start in the communities."

Sebelius said she would focus on putting together community coalitions that would help elect "appropriate legislators so we can have an effective legislature again."

"We can balance the challenges by starting at the core of the government," she said. "Kansas can have a better, brighter future, and that is why I am running for governor."

Bullet linked to 4 other sniper spree victims

By David Dishneau
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ROCKVILLE, Md. — The bullet used to shoot a Virginia woman matches ammunition used to kill at least four of six victims of a sniper spree in Washington, D.C., and suburban Maryland, investigators said Saturday.

Tests conducted by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms confirmed the same weapon was used in five of the random shootings during the past three days in Montgomery County, Md., and Washington. Tests were still underway to determine any links to two additional shootings in Maryland.

"The round that we collected there is in fact a match to the rounds that were used here in Maryland and also in D.C.," said Maj. Howard Smith, of the Spotsylvania County, Va., sheriff's office.

The 43-year-old Spotsylvania woman was shot in the back in a parking lot at a craft store in Fredericksburg, Va., about 55 miles south of Rockville, at about 2:30 p.m. Friday.

No arrests had been made in the scattered shootings that began Wednesday. Authorities were talking to one man late

Saturday afternoon, but they stressed that he was not a suspect, and no weapons were found with him.

In the Washington suburbs where the killings occurred, police still encouraged residents to go about their normal lives and enjoy their weekend.

"The community is safe for the moment," Montgomery County Police Chief Charles Moose said earlier Saturday.

Authorities said late Friday that .223-caliber bullets used to kill four of the victims came from the same weapon, perhaps a hunting or assault rifle.

Stanislavsky Opera Company
LA BOHÈME
Sunday, October 13, 7:30pm
Sponsored by Meadowbrook Hills
and the Heartland Arts Fund
Pre-performance lecture
by Dr. Jean Sloop in room
204 McCain at 6:30pm.

MCCAIN PERFORMANCE SERIES
Kansas City Ballet
William Whitener, artistic director
Friday, October 18, 8 p.m.
Presenting: Bournville's Napoli Pas de Six, Flower Festival
pas de Deux and Tarantella, Duato's Jardi Tanca, Balanchine's Pas de Deux and Whitener's Each and Every Pre-performance lecture by William Whitener 204 McCain at 7p.m.

Rogers & Hammerstein's
SOUTH PACIFIC
Wednesday, October 23, 7:30p.m.
Sponsored by Commerce Bank and the William T. Kemper Foundation
TICKETS: Call the McCain Box Office
785-532-6428 and charge your tickets to
VISA, Mastercard, American Express or Discover
from noon to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.
Visit us online at www.ksu.edu/mccain.

Shear Dynamics Introduces Terra!
FREE HAIRCUT WITH HIGHLIGHT
•$10 off Pedicure or Massage
•$10 off any Body Treatment
w/ Christy or Stephanie
•10% off All Retail
•Matrix•Redken•American Crew•Osis•OPI
Exp 10/31/02

Bobby T's
Monday Night Football Mega Blowout
50¢ Wings
Biggest, Baddest,
Best Wings in Town
10¢ Peel & Eat
Shrimp
Monday Night Football
•Trivia
•Madden 2003
•Bingo
Win $475 CASH &
Prizes
Win a 27" Color TV &
Microsoft X-Box
$5.95 Chicken Fried Steak
$2.95 Chili Dog

BILL BROWN MASTER EDITOR LECTURE FOR 2002

Matt Mansfield, one of the world's top newspaper designers, describes how our business has changed.
What we saw -
How 9/11 changed the way newspapers present news
Big 12 Room
K-State Student Union
10:30 a.m.
Wednesday
Oct. 9, 2002

Delivers the latest!
GUMBYS
Pizza & Pub
770-3333
1 Monday manis $3.99
LARGE CHEESE PIZZA-MONDAY ONLY
CARRY OUT ONLY-TOPPINGS EXTRA
2 stick it to me Tuesday
BUY ONE POKEY STICK AT REGULAR PRICE
GET ONE EQUAL OR LESSER VALUE FREE
3 Wednesday wildcat $6.99
X-LARGE 16" CHEESE PIZZA-WEDNESDAY
ONLY-CARRY OUT ONLY-TOPPINGS EXTRA
EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH

Planning a social event?
LUNAR TUNES
mobile dj service
Let LUNAR TUNES take care of the entertainment!
• Competitive Rates
• Extensive Music Library
• Reliable Service
• Experienced DJ's
• Personalized Packages
• Weddings
• Anniversaries
• School Dances
• Greek Functions
• Private Parties
785-776-9140
<http://www.lunartunes.8m.com/>

K-State Student Union Bookstore
RENTS DVDS AND DVD PLAYERS
New Releases $2.80
Other Titles $1.86
K-STATE STUDENT UNION Bookstore

TO THE POINT Evaluation sites afford students better insight

Internet sites such as pickaprof.com and myprofessorsucks.com provide students and professors with class statistics and personal evaluations on individual professors.

These sites are supplying a service to students because they hold teachers accountable for the validity of their classes.

Unlike university teacher evaluations, professor-rating sites allow students to see what their peers' opinions. This system is more helpful than T-values, which don't seem to create much change.

These Web sites also give power to the students. They can look at what others are saying and base their schedules on those comments.

However, students shouldn't put too much weight in these statistics. These sites only show comments from people who felt strongly enough to go online.

Student Body President Zac Cook said K-State has plans to implement a rating system similar to those mentioned above.

This would be a great way for university officials to empower students to share their opinions.

Outside Web sites, along with a university system, allow students to share information regarding the quality of education and instruction.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Jeanel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Jeanel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

THE GOLDEN YEARS

For society's aging people:
comfort or imprisonment?

Editor's note: Lorena is pursuing a doctoral degree in curriculum and instruction. Every Monday she will tackle an issue in her native language, Spanish, as well as English. Gloria Freeland, associate professor of journalism, edits the columns for clarity. Both columns convey the same message and allow the Collegian to reach a more diverse audience. Lorena is a graduate student in curriculum and instruction. You can e-mail her at lorena@ksu.edu.

A higher standard of living, medical advances, public health improvements and better health education have opened new opportunities for our aging population. But as the population of the elderly increases, it creates a challenge for our society. How do we accommodate the elderly in a society that worships youth and is terrified of death?

Wealth, political power, abilities and knowledge cannot stop the process of aging and eventual death. At best, old people are perceived as wealthy segments of the market. At worst, the elderly are seen as a curse. The process of aging goes on despite the efforts and investments in medical and technological ways to stop that process. Older people are invited to behave as younger ones do. There is a great pressure to push them to exercise, practice intensive sex or travel to dangerous places.

There is a contradiction between the need to live the final part of human life with poise and dignity and social demands to look beautiful, youthful, sexy, athletic and immortal. We leave our older parents alone but ask them not to feel lonely, nor to complain, nor to ask for our company. We tell them we are too busy to be with them in times when they need family the most.

They are confined in dangerous apartments, spending years in total loneliness in front of a TV set. If they have an accident or become depressed, we blame them for refusing to be in a nursing home, where professional people would take very good care of them. Then we create the perfect justification to put them into this imprisonment. We sentence them to lose their freedom and rights not in the name of the law but in the name of love.

Society avoids this unfair treatment of the elderly, hiding behind the idea of institutional efficiency. Private enterprise — with no emotional or spiritual links with the older person — is supposed to provide a loving, caring, compassionate and gentle care that family members refuse to provide.

The fear is not about the confrontation with the aging process — that, after all, is a natural personal experience. The fear comes from the anticipation of going through such an experience in total loneliness. The argument that family members cannot afford to keep the older members of the family at home because of economic reasons is false. It seems the wealthier the family, the sooner the elderly are confined to these "golden jails."

Perhaps, out of loneliness and abandonment, the older person rediscovers community, and finds out, maybe too late, that it's not always a family that is a loving community. Often, a group of older strangers may become the person's new caring, loving, compassionate family and home.

LORENA BARBOZA

Para los ancianos de nuestra sociedad: ¿comodidad o prisiones?

Los altos niveles de vida, los avances médicos, las mejoras en la salud pública y una mejor educación e información sanitaria abren nuevas oportunidades para los ciudadanos mayores. El número de ancianos crece y eso conlleva un reto para la sociedad sobre cómo acomodarlos en un ambiente en el que se privilegia la juventud y se vive aterrorizado por la muerte.

La riqueza, el poder político, las habilidades y el conocimiento no pueden detener el proceso de envejecimiento y la muerte. En el mejor caso, los ancianos mayores son percibidos como un segmento rico del mercado. En el peor de los casos, el anciano es visto como una maldición. La naturaleza sigue su curso, y su proceso continúa a pesar de los esfuerzos e inversiones en salud y tecnología que se hacen para detenerlo. Los ancianos son invitados a comportarse como jóvenes y hay una gran presión para que hagan ejercicios, tengan sexo, viajen a lugares peligrosos.

Hay una contradicción entre la necesidad de vivir la parte final de la vida con dignidad y compostura, y la demanda por lucir bellos, rejuvenecidos, sexualmente atractivos, atléticos e inmortales. Dejamos a nuestros padres mayores solos y al mismo tiempo les pedimos no sentirse solitarios, no quejarse y jamás exigir nuestra compañía. Les decimos que estamos muy ocupados para estar con ellos en el momento en que más necesitan de la familia.

Confinados en peligrosos apartamentos, pasan sus años en soledad frente a la televisión. Si tienen un accidente, o se deprimen, los acusamos por rehusarse a estar en un asilo, donde gente profesional podría encargarse de ellos. Y entonces creamos la perfecta justificación para ponerlos en un encarceramiento ilegal. Los sentenciamos a perder su libertad y sus derechos, no en nombre de la ley sino en nombre del amor.

La sociedad evita la confrontación con esta injusta condición de los ancianos, ocultándose detrás de la idea de eficiencia institucional. Es la empresa privada, sin ningún vínculo emocional ni espiritual con las personas mayores, la que supuestamente debe proveer el amor y el cuidado compasivo y gentil que la familia se rehúsa a dar.

El temor no es confrontar el proceso de envejecimiento, que después de todo es una experiencia natural, sino la expectativa de vivirlo en soledad total. La justificación de que los miembros de la familia no pueden darse el lujo de mantener a los mayores de la familia en casa, debido a razones económicas, es falsa. Mientras más rica la familia, más pronto confina a sus ancianos en cárceles doradas.

Quizás, a fuerza de soledad y abandono, la persona mayor redescubre a la comunidad, y encuentra, tal vez demasiado tarde, que no siempre una familia es una comunidad amorosa, y con frecuencia un grupo de ancianos extraños puede llegar a convertirse en la nueva familia y el nuevo hogar amoroso y compasivo.

Illustration by Melesa Lorett | COLLEGIAN

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

If I submitted a column in Japanese, would you print it even though a few people could read it?

Where can Susan Powell find a couple of Ecstasy pills for $7 to $30?

I'm tired of the Wildcats playing preschool ball against college teams. We're never going to win a national championship this way. Bill Snyder needs to adjust his plays to the skill levels of other teams or find a different job.

That's odd. Your girlfriend calls me "Senator" during sex, too.

My friends have standard basic cable. You know, the kind with 12 channels. Does that mean they have tiny Cox?

People need to stop using the Fourum as their sex confessional.

I'm all for Paul White's freedom of speech, but not when he gets his facts wrong.

To those of you complaining about the smaller Fourums: The complete versions are online. There's even a note below the Fourum that says that.

It's cool we're going to have the international symbol for a free Tootsie Pop on top of the Capitol building.

Whose job is it at the paper to go through and listen to all of these?

Why does my Black and Decker doorknob have a limited lifetime warranty?

I was just calling to warn people not to buy into the $800-per-week stuffing envelope thing in the Collegian ads Thursday. I checked with the Better Business Bureau, and that's not a legitimate company.

My grandma has skin cancer, and most of her body is scar tissue, and she always has sores that have to have bandages on them, because every time another spot or mole shows up it has to be cut off because it might be cancerous. So if that's how you want to be when you get older, go ahead and tan.

First, Bush is an idiot. Then Sept. 11 happens, and he's a genius. Then he starts to look like an idiot again. Maybe this whole Iraq thing is just so he can start another war to look good again.

The Chinese students who interrupted the Taiwan democracy speech the other day and the Chinese soldiers who shot the Chinese students in Tiananmen Square in 1989 are on the same side.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. Not enough fourum? For the full version check out www.kstatecollegian.com.

TO THE EDITOR

Attack on columnist unjustified, better information needed to support argument

Editor,
I would like to question Sam Felsenfeld's resources and information he gathered to try and express his point of why Paul White is a moron.

Basically, Felsenfeld narrows his whole argument down to the fact that White does not provide enough evidence for his claims. I would like to challenge Felsenfeld's resources and evidence.

First, he says White is wrong with his $200 billion amounts for the war. If you check out www.cnn.com/2002/ALLPOLITICS/10/01/iraq.congress.ap/index.html, you will see a month's cost for Iraq to be about $13 billion. That is a conservative estimate since we all know the government usually overspends. If I am correct, "annual" means a full year. In a year, we have 12 months, which brings the spending total to roughly $156 billion on the very conservative side. White was really not off in those numbers.

Second, Felsenfeld attacks White on where he got his information. Does White's information always have to be U.S. influenced or based? We all know the U.S. media are very biased in their reporting and do not usually report all the facts. I urge people to check out www.fair.org or www.atm.org for a lot of unbiased reporting on issues. By going outside the United States, people are able to get a more worldly view and get some facts that local media are not reporting. We are involved if we go to war, so why not try to find the truth? The problem is that our media are the government's best propaganda creators when it comes to major events like war. So instead of seeing different views and opinions, we get blocked due to bias.

Third, Felsenfeld attacks White because he thinks White lacks real-world experience. Does he know White? Does he know where and what White has done in his life? I doubt it, so he can't accurately judge what White is thinking or where his views are centered. I am not defending White or any political party, since both of them are in really bad shape. But I am behind the idea that people can't simply base their arguments about others, saying they are using weak facts, when they themselves are off.

Fourth, I have read most of White's stuff, and nowhere did he ever say he was right and everybody else was wrong. He is running with a minority opinion, and that is usually the one least popular. If you look around we have reached a point where so many news networks all say the same thing. Isn't that kind of odd in such a diverse country?

Andrew Maenche
SENIOR IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

By Rogie Dorpinghaus
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

"We don't have just gays and lesbians registering. We have straight people registering as well," Siefers said. "We're wanting to increase the quality of experience in our community, and it benefits the society as a whole to address these issues."

■ Registration
Due Oct. 8

"It's a visual of the Coming Out Day," she said. "The idea of the conference is to enhance the lives of people by educating and creating awareness."

Metcalf dominated play from the tee, winning the Closest to Pin contest with his drive on hole 11 in the first round. In the Closest to Pin contest, the competitor who has the drive that comes nearest to the pin, otherwise

Although he had two more strokes on his second round than his first round, he trimmed his score on the sev-

"Hole 13 is definitely one of the elusive ones – it tries to pull you into some danger. It

For more information about a possible K-State disc golf club, contact Metcalf at dgm6667@ksu.edu.

"People come to town, and they eat and then wander around," she said. "But it is a lot of window shopping."

The International Student Center is sponsoring a Basic Language Training program, a 6-week, non-credit course to teach the basics of a foreign language. Classes meet 2 nights/week beginning 10/14/02 and are taught by native speakers. The cost is $25. For more information, call 532-6448 or e-mail at intlstudentcenter@ksu.edu

For more info contact Elfrieda Nafziger
Office of International Programs, 304 Fairchild

TIAA-CREF.org or call (800) 842-2776

630 Humboldt • 785-565-5400
2706 Anderson • 785-565-5440
1-800-222-7458

ITRUST encourages responsible credit card spending. To learn more about handling credit, contact Consumer Credit Counseling Service at 1-800-368-0212.

HEARTBREAKER

Ell Roberson is wrapped up by the Colorado defense in K-State's loss Saturday in Boulder. The Cats return home to play Oklahoma State on Oct. 12.

Photos by Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

Wildcats rally in 2nd half, come up short in Boulder

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

BOULDER, Colo. — At Folsom Field on Saturday, the atmosphere of a sandlot game was in the air.

As trash blew across from end zone to end zone and opposing players yelled at each other after every big play, it was evident the game between K-State and Colorado wasn't just about going 1-0 in conference play.

Teams were playing for bragging rights. And now the Buffaloes have them.

Colorado was able to withstand K-State's second-half comeback Saturday afternoon in Boulder, defeating the Cats 35-31.

"I am not disappointed in the effort of our players, and I am not disappointed in their approach to trying to come back and win the ball game," Coach Bill Snyder said. "They had to do it on more than one occasion. They got down by two and came back. They got down by two and came back. They got down by two and came back."

"So I think by my count, that's three comebacks in one ball game. That does take great resolve by a lot of young people, and I appreciate that."

K-State did have a chance to tie the game on three occasions late in the fourth quarter.

The first time the Wildcats were pinned deep in their own territory and eventually had to punt.

K-State's next possession took it all the way to the Buffalo 4-yard line. But on fourth down, Darren Sproles couldn't get past Colorado defenders and pick up the first down.

Then the last time the Cats would have the ball, they would once again be on CU's side of the field. But that time they elected to kick a field goal and let the Wildcat defense attempt to get the ball back for them.

But the defense couldn't come through for the Cats.

Snyder said like any tough decision that doesn't work out, hindsight is always 20-20.

"Under the circumstances, I would take it back if I had the opportunity," Snyder said.

Offensive coordinator Ron Hudson said there was a lot of discussion about kicking the field goal instead of looking for the end zone on the fourth down.

See COLORADO Page 9

Colorado's big plays thwart comeback

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

BOULDER, Colo. — Billed as a match-up between a Colorado team that depends on the run and a K-State defense ranked better than 112 other Division I teams was anything but that on Saturday.

The Buffaloes scored on two home-run throws by quarterback Robert Hodge, and the Cats allowed Colorado to put up nearly 500 yards of total offense on the board — almost twice as much as they normally allow.

It was a total breakdown on defense, letting Colorado score via the big play, line-backer Josh Buhl said.

"There were a lot of big plays we shouldn't have given up, a lot of third-down situations we should have won and didn't," he said. "Overall, we played OK, but we made too many mistakes."

The Buffaloes' first big play came when Hodge hooked up with receiver Brian Calhoun for 71 yards. It was the first and only play of the drive for Colorado, a score that put the Buffs up 14-0.

See BUFFALOES Page 9

Colorado wide receiver Jeremy Bloom is tackled by K-State's defense in K-State's 35-31 loss to Colorado on Saturday.

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NFL | Chiefs win another close one
Priest Holmes caught a 19-yard touchdown pass from Trent Green with 27 seconds left as the Kansas City Chiefs beat the New York Jets 29-25 Sunday.

• • •

MLB Playoffs | Twins edge A's

Not only are the Minnesota Twins here to stay, now they're going home — to open the American League championship series.

Brad Radke pitched 6-2/3 innings to beat Oakland 5-4 Sunday.

The Twins made their first playoff appearance in 11 years despite a tiny payroll and baseball's off-season plan to eliminate them. But facing consecutive elimination games, the Contraption Kids won 11-2, then crossed half the continent to win the tense clincher about 30 hours later.

BY THE NUMBERS

Colorado 35, K-State 31

First quarter

CU: Brown 1 yard run (Brougham kick), 9:34
CU: Calhoun 71 yard pass from Hodge (Brougham kick), 6:02

Second quarter

K-State: Sproles 1 yard run (Britt kick), 12:01
K-State: Roberson 71 yard run (Britt kick), 9:53
CU: Brown 85 yard run (Brougham kick), 5:54

CU: Bloom 94 yard pass from Hodge (Brougham kick), 1:45

Third quarter

CU: Wallace 1 yard pass from Hodge (Brougham kick), 8:27

K-State: Sproles 80 yard run (Britt kick), 7:32
K-State: Sproles 3 yard run (Britt kick), 1:14

Fourth quarter

K-State: Britt 35 yard field goal, 2:16

Rushing: K-State — Roberson 21-178, Sproles 16-121, Wilson 3-14, Mann 3-4, Davis 1-3, Colorado — Brown 26-167, Purify 10-32, Hodge 3-7, Team 3-31, McCoy 1-(-9).

Passing: K-State — Roberson 5-13-1-83, Sproles 0-1-0-0, Colorado — Hodge 13-20-0-289.

Receiving: K-State — Wallace 3-44, Hill 1-32, Sproles 1-7, Colorado — McCoy 3-74, Drumm 3-22, Hackett 2-12, Bloom 1-94, Calhoun 1-71, Wilder 1-9, Sypniewski 1-6, Wallace 1-1.

Team Statistics	KSU	CU
First downs	15	15
Rushing	9	5
Passing	3	8
Penalty	3	2
Rushing attempts	44	44
Yards gained	343	208
Yards lost	23	14
Net yards	320	194
Net yards passing	83	289
Passes attempted	14	20
Passes completed	5	13
Had intercepted	1	0
Total offensive plays	58	64
Total net yards	403	483
Avg. gain per play	6.9	7.5
Fumbles: number-lost	4-0	2-1
Penalties: number-yards	9-72	11-97
Number of punts-yards	6-250	7-349
Avg. per punt	41.7	49.9
Punt returns: number-yards	6-54	3-4
Kickoff returns: number-yards	3-60	3-31
Interceptions: number-yards	0-0	1-0
Fumble returns: number-yards	0-0	0-0
Miscellaneous yards	0	0
Possession time	29:44	30:16
Third-down conversions	4/13	7/16
Fourth-down conversions	1/2	1/1
Sacks by: number-yards	0-0	1-9

TOP 25

K-State dropped six spots in the latest Associated Press top 25 poll. The Cats also fell to No. 23 in the ESPN/US Today rankings. Colorado is receiving even more votes than it did last week after its win over the Cats. Here is a look at the rest of the AP Top 25.

AP Top 25 Poll	Record	Points
1. Miami (73)	5-0	1,849
2. Oklahoma	5-0	1,707
3. Texas (1)	5-0	1,698
4. Virginia Tech	5-0	1,632
5. Ohio St.	6-0	1,552
6. Georgia	5-0	1,485
7. Oregon	5-0	1,390
8. Notre Dame	5-0	1,349
9. Florida St.	5-1	1,182
10. Tennessee	4-1	1,132
11. Iowa St.	5-1	1,000
12. Washington St.	5-1	998
13. Michigan	4-1	986
14. N.C. State	6-0	877
15. Penn St.	4-1	710
16. Florida	4-2	687
17. Iowa	5-1	582
18. LSU	4-1	569
19. K-State	4-1	435
20. Southern Cal	3-2	301
21. Air Force	5-0	298
22. Washington	3-2	293
23. Wisconsin	5-1	223
24. Auburn	4-1	222
25. Mississippi	4-1	173

Others receiving votes: Alabama 150, UCLA 123, Colorado 97, California 80, Texas Tech 50, Kentucky 43, Bowling Green 39, Marshall 39, Louisville 23, Pittsburgh 21, Arkansas 15, Nebraska 9, Boston College 7, Colorado St. 7, Oregon St. 6, Michigan St. 4, Texas A&M 3, Clemson 2, Boise St. 1, Southern Miss. 1.

Men's, women's golf teams striving for improvement, consistency

1st round key if Cats hope to crack top 3

By Tom Fontana
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When the men's golf team tees off in its fourth event of the 2002-03 season today, it will try to improve upon the third place finishes posted in the first three events.

The Cats will travel to St. Charles, Mo., today to compete in the Purina Classic at the Missouri Bluffs Golf Club, a course Coach Tim Norris said has some familiar aspects.

"It has zoysia grass fairways, which is the same as Colbert Hills. That should help us, but we just have to hit the fairways," Norris said.

"If conditions are good, it could turn into a shoot-out, so we can't afford to get off to a bad start. A.J. (Elgert) and Aaron (Watkins) have played it before, so they will be able to help the young guys out."

Poor first rounds have plagued the Cats in their three tournaments, something Norris said the team must improve.

"We've done a pretty good job of hanging in there, but we just need to get off to a better start in the first round," he said.

The tournament will use a team format of the best four of five scores plus one individual. K-State's lineup will consist of juniors Elgert, Watkins and Greg Douglas, sophomore Matt Van Cleave and freshman Josh Persons. Junior Tim Moody will compete as an individual.

Fourteen teams make up the field for the Purina Classic, including four Big 12 opponents — Kansas, Baylor, Missouri and Texas Tech. Joining them will be Arkansas State, Charlotte, Florida Southern, Illinois, Louisiana-Lafayette, Mississippi State, Rice, Tulsa and West Florida.

The first round will begin with a shotgun start at 8:15 a.m. today, with the second round to follow at 1:15 p.m. The 14-team field will conclude the tournament Tuesday with a shotgun start at 8:15 a.m.

Norris said he is pleased with where his team stands heading to St. Charles.

"We've had some good individual performances and some good team performances, but we're capable of better," Norris said.

Depth has helped the Cats stay near the top of the leader board. That depth was apparent last week at Colbert Hills, when three team members competing as individuals placed higher than four of the Cats competing for the team score.

Norris said that translates into competitiveness between his own players.

"It keeps everybody on their toes," Norris said. "I'm happy with the depth. We just need to keep playing hard."

Sophomore Matt Van Cleave prepares to tee off on hole two at Colbert Hills Golf Course. Van Cleave competed as an individual in the 2002 Jim Colbert Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Emily Happer
COLLEGIAN

Women tee off at tough Legends course

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Inconsistent shots have plagued the women's golf team so far this season.

Coach Kristi Knight said the team needs to look for more consistency in the Shootout at the Legends in Indiana today and Tuesday — the team's third tournament.

"We've definitely got talent, but we need to close the big gaps in scoring," she said. "One thing that will help is Stephanie Limoges getting in the mix. Steph came from behind (Wednesday) during qualifying to earn a spot on the team."

Limoges, a sophomore from Elk Point, S.D., competed in five rounds for the Wildcats as a freshman. Her highest finish was at the Sunflower Invitational in Wichita, Kan., last season, where she tied for 56th place.

Knight said there has been a lot of battling to travel to each tournament.

The tough intra-squad competition is exactly what the Cats needed to get ready for the Legends, Knight said.

The Legends is a long 6,117-yard course, featuring plenty of sand and water. On top of that, the Cats will face a competitive field.

Teams competing at the Shootout include Bradley, Eastern Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Iowa State, Indiana, Kansas, Kent State, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Toledo and Wisconsin.

Knight said the last time the Wildcats played the Legends, K-State golf was not as competitive — the team finished near last place.

For the first time this season, the Wildcats will compete against No. 11 Indiana.

Karen Dennison, ranked No. 13 by golftweek.com, leads the Hoosiers, followed closely by junior Ambry Bishop. Bishop holds the women's course record at the Legends of Indiana with a 5-under 67.

K-State also sees No. 17 Kent State for the second straight tournament.

"We just need to beat them all," Knight said. "They are all in our division."

Monday, October 7, 2002

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 7

MIND GAMES

Hopkins, Norton deliver success in 'Silence of the Lambs' prequel

"RED DRAGON"

★★★★★

Movie review By JJ Duncan

Producers always have trouble letting go of a franchise that makes money, but the conglomeration of people who put together "Red Dragon" have been vindicated by an excellent film.

It isn't often an Academy Award-winning film makes it to number three. That's because by the third film the idea has been played out, and things get boring and ridiculous. No longer is the film even disguised as art by the third time. It is simply a means of cashing in on a profitable name.

Anyone who saw "Hannibal" had no reason to believe "Red Dragon" would be any different.

But "Red Dragon" successfully revisits the first Thomas Harris novel in the series to give the audience a prequel to the genre-defining thriller "Silence of the Lambs."

Special agent Will Graham (Edward Norton, "Fight Club") was wounded in the process of capturing Hannibal Lecter and retires to spend time with his family. The FBI pays the agent a visit after two families have been brutally murdered in two different cities, and they want his expert opinions about the killer.

The catch is, they want him to get together with former teammate, forensic psychologist and convicted cannibal, Hannibal Lecter, to help find the murderer.

The tension between Norton and Hopkins is not nearly as intriguing as the pairing of Jodi Foster and Hopkins. But "Red Dragon" creates the most fleshed out, interesting character in the series besides Lecter himself in Ralph Fiennes' abused serial killer.

Fiennes plays Francis Dolarhyde, a man who has been turned into a monster and has taken the name and image of the Red Dragon. His on-screen transformation is realized beautifully through Fiennes' acting ability and the writing of Thomas Harris with Ted Tally.

It should be noted that "Manhunter," the original 1986 version of the movie, was no dud either.

"Red Dragon" isn't a remake of a bad movie. It's a different version of the same book, but both movies are excellent.

Producer Dino DeLaurentis, who also produced "Hannibal" and "Manhunter," barely convinced Anthony Hopkins to revive his role of Hannibal Lecter, and it's a good thing he did.

Hopkins creates a caged animal in Lecter that is still insanely obsessed with revenge and makes mistakes but is still much scarier than the Lecter of "Hannibal." Together with a cast of literally some of the best talent in Hollywood, he makes the movie work.

Where "Hannibal" was a joke and almost a parody of itself that shamelessly relied on gore, "Red Dragon" is a psychologically intense thriller that relies on relationships and character development to move the movie forward.

Illustration by Stefanie Shank | COLLEGIAN

'The Tuxedo' plot unrealistic, waste of Jackie Chan's talent

"THE TUXEDO"

★★★★★

Movie review By Adam Lee

Hollywood and Hong Kong speak different languages, and they never seem to understand each other completely.

A perfect example of this is the way Jackie Chan never seems to get a clear leading role in an American film. "The Tuxedo" finds the martial arts comedian in his most asinine pairing yet.

Chan plays Jimmy Tong, a cab driver who is socially inept but professionally precise. He is too shy and verbally clumsy to get the attention of the woman with whom he is infatuated, but his amazing ability to weave in and out of traffic at high speeds gets him a job chauffeuring the charming millionaire industrialist Clark Devlin.

One income isn't enough for Devlin. He also works part-time as a secret agent using a robotic Armani tuxedo to battle the evil bottled-water tycoon Diedrich Banning. Banning plans on contaminating the world's freshwater supply with a chemical agent that fatally dehydrates anyone who drinks it to boost his company's sales.

If that's not stupid enough, Banning has developed an army of water striders to deliver the chemical across the globe. Is there any organism you could enlist in your quest for world domination that's lazier than water striders? Why not use something cool, like Sea Monkeys or orangutans with wet suits?

A car bomb leaves Devlin comatose, and Tong does the one thing his employer told him not to do. He tries on the tuxedo and gains the suit's secret powers.

Posing as Devlin, Tong teams up with sexy secret agent Del Blaine (Jennifer Love Hewitt). Blaine's job is to collect intelligence, yet she doesn't even consider why a Chinese man with broken English goes by the name of Clark.

Blaine isn't just a dense character — the entire movie is void of common sense. Casting Hewitt alongside Chan was a bad move. She doesn't have the comedic skill of Chan's former partners Chris Tucker or Owen Wilson.

A 48-year-old martial arts star and a 23-year-old sexpot make for an extremely odd couple, but the two never develop any energy in tandem. Director Kevin Donovan focuses on a far more interesting pair with several close-ups of Hewitt's chest.

Chan's physical abilities are wasted. Chan is known for doing his own stunts, but several of the action sequences of "The Tuxedo" are obviously computer generated. They look silly and are a big disappointment.

Chan, however, still finds a way to exhibit his ability to use his body to create both action and comedy — often at the same time. With the suit supposedly providing Chan's character with his ass-kicking power, his facial expressions during the Kung Fu scenes reveal an everyday man who's just along for the ride.

Chan keeps his character separated from the powers of the tuxedo, but he should have kept his distance from this waste of celluloid.

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

'Spawn' creator loses court battle, co-creator awarded damages

A federal jury has upheld writer Neil Gaiman's claim that he co-authored two characters in the "Spawn" comic books.

Following Thursday's decision, arbitrators must decide how much money series creator Todd McFarlane owes Gaiman for co-creating the characters Medieval Spawn and Cogliostro in an early "Spawn" issue.

They also will decide how much McFarlane must pay Gaiman for not crediting him with writing part of another "Spawn" issue.

His lawsuit in U.S. District Court claimed McFarlane used Cogliostro, Medieval Spawn and another character Gaiman created, Angela, without his authorization. Afterward, McFarlane and Gaiman obliged a young fan by autographing a collaborative issue of "Spawn" that had landed them in court.

THE CHARTS

Billboard Hot 100

Top 10

1. "A Moment Like This," Kelly Clarkson. RCA.
2. "Dilemma," Nelly (featuring Kelly Rowland). Fo' Real.
3. "Gangsta Lovin'," Eve (featuring Alicia Keys). Ruff Ryders.
4. "Complicated," Avril Lavigne. Arista.
5. "Hey Ma," Cam'ron featuring Juelz Santana, Freekey Zekey & Toya. Roc-A-Fella/Def Jam.
6. "One Last Breath," Creed. Wind-Up.
7. "Cleanin' Out My Closet," Eminem. Web.
8. "Work It," Missy "Misdemeanor" Elliott. The Gold Mine/Elektra.
9. "I Need A Girl (Part Two)," P. Diddy & Ginuwine (featuring Loon, Mario Winans & Tammy Ruggieri). Bad Boy.
10. "Move B***h," Ludacris featuring Mystikal & Infamous 2.0. Disturbing Tha Peace/Def Jam South.

Billboard 200 Top Albums

Top 10

1. "Elvis: 30 #1 Hits," Elvis Presley. RCA.
2. "Home," Dixie Chicks. Monument/Columbia.
3. "Let Go," Avril Lavigne. Arista.
4. "Believe," Disturbed. Warner Bros.
5. "Nellyville," Nelly. Fo' Real.
6. "Voyage to India," India. Arie. Motown.
7. "The Eminem Show," Eminem. Web.
8. "Sea Change," Beck. DGC/Geffen.
9. "Up," Peter Gabriel. Real World/Geffen.
10. "The Lost Tapes," Nas. Ill Will/Columbia.

Hot Adult Contemporary

Top 5

1. "Complicated," Avril Lavigne. Arista.
2. "One Last Breath," Creed. Wind-Up.
3. "Where Are You Going?" Dave Matthews Band. RCA.
4. "The Middle," Jimmy Eat World. Dreamworks.
5. "A Thousand Miles," Vanessa Carlton. A&M.

Hot Country Singles

Top 5

1. "Beautiful Mess," Diamond Rio. Arista.
2. "Somebody Like You," Keith Urban. Capitol.
3. "The Impossible," Joe Nichols. Universal.
4. "Ten Rounds with Jose Cuervo," Tracy Byrd. RCA.
5. "Where Would You Be," Martina McBride. RCA.

Top Electronic Albums

Top 5

1. "Dirty Vegas," Dirty Vegas. Capitol.
2. "AHundredDaysOff," Underworld. V2.
3. "Heaven," DJ Sammy. Robbins.
4. "18," Moby. V2.
5. "Trance Party (Volume Two)," The Happy Boys. Robbins.

Weekly charts for the nation's best-selling recorded music as they appear in next week's issue of Billboard magazine. Reprinted with permission.

Live recording unpolished, leaves listeners anticipating full-length album

Band's 4-track release representative of style; Pembertons preparing for big-time properly

From the packaging to the final note of "Chokecherry Wine," the Pembertons have released an E.P. precisely representative of the band's style.

Recorded live at Auntie Mae's Parlor, "Starting the Fire" is a quick four songs that come off with a surprising balance of polish and warmth for a live album.

The Manhattan country rockers sing the kind of blue-collar rompers that recently have been resurrected.

For a band trying to get together the cash to put out a full-length album, the Pembertons have intelligently opted to release a strong no-budget live recording that captures its spirit but promises more in the future.

It should come as no surprise for those familiar with the history of drummer Dave Spiker. The same technique was used to raise money for Ruskabank's first album by releasing the live cassette "Swank." It's a good lesson for local bands trying to get together enough cash to get into a studio, but that's not all it takes.

Forget that the CD is three inches in diameter and comes in this cool oversized matchbook with a cowboy hat on the cover. The music is strong, and that's what counts.

The first impression a listener gets is that Bro's vocals

"STARTING THE FIRE"

★★★★★

Album review By J.J. Duncan carry the songs by giving them a gritty credibility from a man who sounds like he's lived as hard as the songs sound.

Upon closer inspection, the minimalist drums, reeling lead guitar and tight rhythms are just as important. John Evans' searing guitar solo in "These Hands" completes the song.

The Pembertons have built up a steady following and an identifiable sound and image.

Anyone who has ever seen singer and guitarist Bro leaning into the microphone, eyes closed, holding his telecaster with sweat dripping from his bushy beard, is left with a long-lasting impression.

The E.P. leaves room for improvement in its unpolished recording technique but promises impressive results in a full-length effort. Still, there's no way you can hear this without singing the words "Well there ain't no good truck stops in Heaven" by the second time through.

Looking for a copy?

Copies of The Pemberton's "Starting the Fire," Live E.P. is available for $5 at CD Tradepost and at live shows.

Courtesy art

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

Career and Employment Services

Employer of the Month

OCTOBER PROGRAMS

Show Me The Money: Evaluating Job Offers

Learn from industry reps about topics related to job offer NEGOTIATION and SALARY.

- Tues, Oct. 29 3:00pm-5:00pm
Union 212

Experiential Learning Orientation

Learn about INTERNSHIPS, COOPERATIVE EDUCATION, SUMMER JOBS, and PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT.

- Wed, Oct. 9 2:30pm
- Tues, Oct. 15 2:30pm
- Thurs, Oct. 24 2:30pm
- Wed, Oct. 30 3:30pm
Holtz Hall

Government and Overseas Jobs

- State Jobs Panel
Tues, Oct. 8 3:00pm-5:00pm
Union 212
- Overseas Teaching Panel
Tues, Oct. 22 7:00pm-9:00pm
Union 212

Resume Building

- Mon, Oct. 7 3:30pm
Union 213

Resume Critique

- Wed, Oct. 9 3:30pm-5:00pm
Holtz Hall
- Thurs, Oct. 31 3:30pm-5:00pm
Holtz Hall

153

ci

Careerium

The Careerium is a new addition to the Career and Employment Services Center. It is a place where students can learn about the career opportunities available at Chevron Phillips Chemical Company LP.

cpchem.com/jobs

We will be conducting on-campus interviews on Thursday,

October 17th. Stop by Career Services for more information.

Chemical Engineering

Mechanical Engineering

Electrical/Environmental Engineering

Business Administration/Finance/MIS

www.cpchem.com/jobs
The Chemistry of Excellence

ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWING

Don't miss the chance to meet on-campus with employers offering full-time employment and internship opportunities. Register now with CES to vie for interviews with the following companies and more yet to come. Stop by Holtz 100 or go to our website www.ksu.edu/ces to learn more about registering for "Wildcat Works." Your registration also makes your resume available to employers via a web resume book and enables your access to a variety of nationwide job and internship listings.

Submit Resumes from October 1-7

ABF FREIGHT SYSTEM, INC.
CARDINAL GLASS INDUSTRIES INC ENTERPRISE RENT-A-CAR
HONEYWELL
CONOCOPHILLIPS
DOW CHEMICAL
FEDERAL RESERVE BANK/KC
HORMEL FOODS CORP
NAVSEA - PUGET SOUND NAVAL SHIPYARD
EFG
MASS MUTUAL
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS COMPANY
UNION PACIFIC
CARGILL

Submit Resumes from October 8-14

PAYLESS SHOESOURCE
SUSTAINABLE ENVIRONMENTAL SOLUTIONS
STATE STREET - KANSAS CITY
BD (BECTON DICKINSON)
DILLARD'S INC
HALLMARK
KIEWIT INDUSTRIAL COMPANY
RAYTHEON
TYSON FOODS
EXCEL CORPORATION
FIRST NATIONAL BANK
SCHLUMBERGER TECHNOLOGY CORPORATION
SIX L'S PACKING CO

Submit Resumes from October 15-21

TRAVELERS INSURANCE
FARM CREDIT BANK
MGM, INC
AGRILIANCE LLC
LAND O'LAKES

ERNST & YOUNG COMMUNICATION ADVISORY SERVICES

COLORADO | Buffaloes win 2nd straight over KSU

Continued from Page 6

He said the coaches wanted to put the game in the hands of the defense because it was stopping Colorado in the second half.

"It was discussed, yes," Hudson said. "We just thought we could get it. All those things are in hindsight now, but we really thought we could get that done."

But K-State never got the ball back. The defense held the Buffaloes for the most part, but a late pass interference allowed quarterback Robert Hodge to take a knee and guarantee victory for Colorado.

From a Colorado standpoint, it was appropriate for Hodge to finish the game with ball in hand, since he turned the most heads — mainly the heads of K-State's defenders.

Hodge completed 13 of 20 pass attempts, throwing for 289 yards and three touchdowns.

Linebacker Josh Buhl said Hodge's performance was to be commended.

"He played well," Buhl said. "We thought we were going to be able to rattle him, but he kept his composure, and he played a good ball game."

On the opposite side of the ball, K-State quarterback Eli Roberson had an effective day running the football.

He carried the ball 21 times for 178 yards, averaging nearly 8.5 yards per carry. The junior's big run came in the second quarter, when he scampered for 71 yards to tie the game at 14.

Offensive lineman Nick Leckey said it was frustrating because the rest of the team couldn't rally behind what Roberson did offensively.

"He had a tremendous day, and we just couldn't back him up," he said. "He was just amazing."

But Roberson said he wasn't as pleased with his performance, given the Cats lost.

He said the offense's inability to score inside the red zone reflected on him.

"We get down to the 10-yard line, a situation where we are supposed to score, and we didn't," Roberson said. "We have to have that fire attitude, and we didn't have that today. We let Colorado get to us. I don't think they did anything — we just didn't perform."

Not performing translated into the Cats dropping their conference opener in now back-to-back years. And despite the defense holding the Buffalo offense to just 115 yards in the second half, Buhl said they lost the game because they didn't perform in the first half.

"We definitely played better in the second half," he said. "But we had to. We had to try to make something happen. We did, then we didn't. Then we did, and we did, but it wasn't enough."

BUFFALOES | Colorado halts Cats' comeback bid

Continued from Page 6

Then, in the second quarter, Colorado converted on two third-down conversions, each of which resulted in touchdowns.

Running back Chris Brown broke away from the Cat defense for 85 yards on the first of two scores in the quarter. K-State had Colorado in a third-and-2 situation, but a counter play through the middle spelled TD for the Buffs.

"It was just a busted assignment," defensive tackle Tank Reese said.

With just three minutes left in the opening half, CU struck one more time. Hodge connected with Jeremy Bloom on a third-and-nine play for 94 yards, putting Colorado up two scores going into the locker room.

Buhl said that was a big nail in the coffin.

"That was a back breaker,

Big play Buffs

Colorado scored three touchdowns of 70 yards or more. Here is a look at each of them.

- 71-yard pass from Robert Hodge to Brian Calhoun (Colorado 14-0)
- 85-yard run by Chris Brown (Colorado 21-14)
- 94-yard pass from Robert Hodge to Jeremy Bloom (Colorado 28-14)

because we have responsibilities on this defense," Buhl said.

"We know where we were supposed to be and how to get there. If you don't get in your responsibilities, an offense is going to find that. And they found that today, and that's why there were those big plays — they didn't have any sustained drives. They only had big plays where you don't get where you are supposed to be — that's what's going to happen."

At halftime, K-State had given up more points to Colorado than it had in any other game this season.

The Cats also hadn't given up a pass play of more than 25 yards all season until Hodge threw three passes for more than 40 yards on Saturday.

Defensive coordinator Bob Elliott said the defense didn't show up to play against the Buffs.

"That was a bad day," Elliott said. "They did a nice job with a few things early that were different and caught us off guard — we didn't adjust to them very well. By the time we had adjusted to them, we settled down pretty good at the end of the first half and let them get away with two big plays. Big plays were the things that killed us today. You can't play defense and give up big yardage like that. You just can't do it."

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

120 For Rent-Houses

HOUSE FOR RENT flexible lease dates. Three-bedroom, washer/dryer, single car garage, 2039 College View. No pets. (785)456-7255/ (785)456-9000

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

RESERVE NOW for next semester. Four-bedroom, two bath brick home west of KSU stadium. Completely remodeled with everything new. No pets. (785)556-6899.

ADVERTISE YOUR SUBLEASE LET'S RENT SECTION

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744, www.ksu.edu/kstc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100 housing/real estate

"Stay In Class At The Commons"
Now Leasing for 2002-2003!
• Fully Furnished
• 2 & 4 Bedroom
• Alarm System
• Swimming Pool
• Washer/Dryer
• Computer Lab
• Fitness Center
• Permit Parking
• Tennis/Volleyball Courts
• Individual Leases
Office Hours: M-F 9-6, Sat. 10-4
539-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS
APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE
we kick ads.
classifieds • 539-0500

105 For Rent-Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

NICE, FURNISHED, one-bedroom. Close to campus, available Jan. 1. $295/month. Water, trash and gas paid. (785)341-2570.

120 For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/ pets. $800/1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, very nice four-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7050.

150 Sublease

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for three-bedroom/ two bath apartment for spring. Rent $260/ month, split utilities. Contact Lindsey. (785)587-9708.

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

$800 WEEKLY Guaranteed! Stuffing envelopes. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Oakdale Enterprises 1151 N. State suite 231, Chicago, IL 60610.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

ASSISTANT TEACHER needed for preschool classroom. Monday-Friday mornings 8:30 until 1:00 p.m. Call Lisa or Danice at (785)539-7540 or stop by KinderCare at 1205 Hyllon Heights.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential! training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking full-time retail Garden Center staff. Sales experience preferred, plant knowledge helpful, weekends a must. Heat tolerance and lifting required. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xcalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

RECEPTIONIST NEEDED. Light office duties. Full or part-time at Blueville Nursery, 4539 Anderson Ave. (785)539-2671.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

CLARINET For Sale Buffet R-13. Great condition, just cleaned, new pads. $1800. Please call (785)587-9053.

COACH HANDBAGS and Turquoise jewelry, snowmen, K-State items, Cache clothing and designer girls clothes. (785)565-9608.

COMPACT DESKTOP 2000 with printer. Like new. Call (785)323-0054.

DRAFTING TABLE with parallel bar. 42.5 inches by 30.5 inches. Call (785)293-5552.

450 Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Registered Yorkie pups. Eight weeks old. Had all shots. American Kennel Club registered. (785)527-5276.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

WANTED: STUDENT GA or ICAT tickets to OSU game. Pay top dollar. Call (785)323-1758.

320 Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD, Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.dh-movement.org. elfernan@humana.org

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

THE OPPORTUNITY of a Lifetime www.therhinoway.com

1993 SUZUKI Katana. $2000. Call Aaron after 6:00pm. (785)564-0196.

600 travel/trips

610 Tour Package

INTERNATIONAL DISCOUNTED airline tickets and rail passes. AAA Travel (800)365-5222.

WINTER BREAK IN Steamboat

PACKAGES INCLUDE: Lodging, Lift Tickets, FREE Cover Charges, FREE Happy Hours, FREE Parties, Exclusive Discounts

1.800-SUNCHASE steamboat.sunchase.com

#1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE

Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1 Breckenridge, Vail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin

1-800-SKI-WILD 1-800-754-0453 www.ski.com

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPade. 110% Best Price! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring! Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007 endlesssummer.com

1 K-SU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price. FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

530 Motorcycles

1993 CHEVY pick-up $3000. 1992 Lincoln Town Car $4000 or take both for $6000. Call (785)770-8229.

1995 CHEVY Lumina. V-6. Air-conditioning, flip-face CD, reliable/ excellent/ sharp car. $2600 negotiable. (785)776-3249 Tony.

600 travel/trips

610 Tour Package

INTERNATIONAL DISCOUNTED airline tickets and rail passes. AAA Travel (800)365-5222.

WINTER BREAK IN Steamboat

PACKAGES INCLUDE: Lodging, Lift Tickets, FREE Cover Charges, FREE Happy Hours, FREE Parties, Exclusive Discounts

1.800-SUNCHASE steamboat.sunchase.com

#1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE

Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1 Breckenridge, Vail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin

1-800-SKI-WILD 1-800-754-0453 www.ski.com

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPade. 110% Best Price! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring! Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007 endlesssummer.com

1 K-SU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price. FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

530 Motorcycles

1993 CHEVY pick-up $3000. 1992 Lincoln Town Car $4000 or take both for $6000. Call (785)770-8229.

1995 CHEVY Lumina. V-6. Air-conditioning, flip-face CD, reliable/ excellent/ sharp car. $2600 negotiable. (785)776-3249 Tony.

630 Spring Break

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE. Reps needed, earn $$$ Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578 dept. 2626) / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1145 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

SPRING BREAK 2003 is now sponsored by Student Express! Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza. Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentexpress.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext. 14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext. 14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext. 14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext. 14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext. 14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext. 14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext. 14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext. 14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext. 14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. Call 532-6555

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$8.00
each word over 20
20c per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.40
each word over 20
25c per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.05
each word over 20
30c per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less
$12.25
each word over 20
35c per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less
$13.35
each word over 20
40c per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103
(across from the K-State Student Union).
Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
The office is open except on holidays.

PAWNEE
Mental Health Services
Contract Services - As needed basis
Interpreters needed in the following languages:
Hungul Spanish

- Ability to effectively interpret and translate in the Hungul or Spanish language between client and support/clinical staff
- Translates discussions, questions and answers so that the client and clinical staff may participate in discussions
- High school diploma or equivalent required, ability to fluently communicate in English and Hungul or Spanish
- Successful completion of Interpreter Development Services 5 day (40 hour) "Professional Training For Medical and Social Service Interpreters" at the first available opportunity following agreement of contract services, training provided at no cost to the contractor

Please submit resume, references and salary requirements
HR Coordinator,
P.O. Box 747, Manhattan, KS 66505-0747
Equal Opportunity Employer

PAWNEE
Mental Health Services
Contract Services - As needed basis
Interpreters needed in:
American Sign Language

- Ability to effectively interpret and translate in American Sign Language between client and support/clinical staff
- Translates discussions, questions and answers so that the client and clinical staff may participate in discussions
- High school diploma or equivalent required, ability to fluently communicate in English and American Sign Language
- Successful completion of Interpreter Development Services 5 day (40 hour) "Professional Training For Medical and Social Service Interpreters" at the first available opportunity following agreement of contract services, training provided at no cost to the contractor

Please submit resume, references and salary requirements
HR Coordinator,
P.O. Box 747, Manhattan, KS 66505-0747
Equal Opportunity Employer

Fraternities • Sororities • Clubs Student Groups
Earn $1,000-$2,000 this semester with a proven Campus Fundraiser 3 hour fundraising event. Our programs make fundraising easy with no risks. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so get in the program! Contact Campus Fundraiser at (888) 923-3230, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

Don't Sweat
The future is in the Collegian Classifieds
103 Kedzie KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 532-6555

Student Travel America
COLLEGE SNOW RIDE From $199
Party

WEST NILE | Deadly virus affects animals in all but 8 Kansas counties

Continued from Page 1

because they have found numerous birds," Hansen said. No human cases of West Nile have been recorded in Kansas, Hansen said, but this does not keep the public from worrying.

"Physicians, members of the public, clinics call. Mostly what we try to do is educate them," Hansen said. "Part of the reason it's gotten a lot of press is because it's a new disease on this continent."

Virus hits home

A Sunset Zoo curator recorded last month one of the first North American emus to die of West Nile virus.

"We're almost certain that it did die of West Nile virus," Ryan Gulker, general curator for Sunset Zoo, said.

He said postmortem tests indicate the zoo's emu died of West Nile virus, but the public should not be alarmed.

Gulker looked after the female bird when zoo officials first found it was ill in early September. The emu displayed West Nile symptoms when she became disoriented, lost control of her motor skills and staggered, he said. Dr. Adrian Mutlow, Sunset veterinarian, saw the bird's health deteriorate during the course of a few days.

"That particular emu was looking a little bit wobbly," Mutlow said. "By lunchtime, she was very wobbly. In a matter of a few days, she couldn't even stand up. She couldn't get her balance."

Mutlow said caretakers placed the emu in a crate to prevent injury, and they began treatment for possible diseases. They provided supportive care and antibiotics, and they considered the possibility of bacterial meningitis.

"West Nile was definitely on the cards," Mutlow said, "but at

West Nile information

For information about West Nile virus, go to www.aznet.ksu.edu/westnilevirus. To report a dead bird, call (866) 452-7810 or visit www.mnh.ku.edu/birds.

the time, all that we could say was that it was a neurological disease."

As the bird's condition worsened, it was transported to K-State Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory for more intensive care and placed in a sling, Mutlow said.

"It wasn't long after that the bird actually died," Mutlow said.

Before the bird died, a blood test had been run, and a mouth swab tested for West Nile, Mutlow said. Zoo officials said the initial test came back negative.

But after testing brain tissue, Vet-Med researchers determined the cause of death was most likely West Nile.

Gulker said the test is "highly accurate" but not validated.

"It means it's not scientifically proven over and over again," Gulker said.

Official results will be available after Cornell University conducts and verifies tests for West Nile. Cornell is the nation's only research center that can positively identify West Nile, Gulker said. Cornell researchers were not available for comment.

Taking action

Since the first West Nile outbreak struck North America in 1999, media attention has pressured zoo officials to respond actively. An equine vaccination can be injected into birds, but no evidence exists that the vaccination defends against the virus in birds.

To vaccinate a bird, Gulker said zoo personnel must chase and catch it — a difficult process, which can create a dangerous, stressful environment for the bird and catcher. Additionally, the risk of injury to the animal exists. One or two more injections would be necessary after the first.

"Animals have their territory," Gulker said. "If you are chasing them around it, they get very stressed. That's something we like to minimize, because of what can happen when you are doing that. We felt that the benefit of catching all the animals didn't outweigh the negative aspects."

Though Gulker said monetary costs did not factor into the decision to withhold vaccinations, the decision of which birds, if any, to consider for vaccination did influence the outcome. Sunset Zoo is home to 80 birds of 30 species, Gulker said.

He said the vaccination was rejected a few months ago, partially because there was no proof of its efficacy.

Gulker said some zoo officials may have decided to inoculate their birds as an attempt to address media pressure. He said Sunset will continue to take the same actions it had before West Nile was detected.

"We were taking precautions initially," Gulker said. "The biggest thing was to make sure we didn't have any stagnant water by running or changing it daily. That's the biggest thing anyone can do."

Gulker said geographical location can make an environment more susceptible to mosquitoes, which can be vectors of West Nile. When flamingos became increasingly infected by West Nile, zoo officials along the East Coast, including Florida, began to use the vaccine more frequently, he said.

Remember the basics, Gulker advises the public. Spray insect repellent containing DEET, wear long clothing in the outdoors and eliminate stagnant water, which can be found anywhere and can be host to virus-infected mosquitoes.

"There's probably more stagnant water at the university than the zoo," Gulker said.

Across the nation

Meanwhile, researchers and veterinarians from the American Zoo and Aquarium Association continue to network resources in search of a proven West Nile vaccine. They plan to meet this week in Milwaukee to discuss developments and make recommendations.

Dr. Dominic Travis, a veterinary epidemiologist at Lincoln Park Zoo in Chicago and co-coordinator of the AZA West Nile Surveillance Plan, said the option to vaccinate is voluntary, and the AZA has no policy on the equine vaccination.

AZA member institutions can send animals to Cornell University to test for West Nile, Travis said. Any day now, veterinarians at Sunset Zoo will receive official results regarding the emu's death from Cornell.

Nonetheless, Hansen reminded Kansans that the amount of people who will come into contact with the virus is slim. She suggested they avoid going outside at dusk and dawn, especially on rainy days.

"It's preventable, though older people are more vulnerable. Are you going to get rid of all the mosquitoes and all the birds in Kansas? No. I don't think you want to do that, nor is it realistic," Hansen said.

"West Nile virus in humans isn't very common. If you read the news, you'd think that hundreds of thousands of people were dying."

As of Friday, 146 Americans had died as a result of West Nile, and 2,703 had been infected, according to the latest available data from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

KANSAS | 12 states have no confirmed human West Nile cases

Continued from Page 1

Kansas is among 12 states that have not confirmed any human West Nile cases, according to the press release.

A Colorado man who worked in Hamilton County, Kan., contracted West Nile virus in late September, but whether he was infected in Kansas or Colorado could not be verified, according to a press release by the Kansas Department of Health and Environment.

Sharon Watson, public information director for the Kansas Department of Health and Environment, said that as of Thursday, 97 of Kansas' 105 counties have produced at least one case of West Nile in mosquito pools, birds, horses or mules — but none in humans.

"We expect that West Nile virus will be in every county, by some point — by the end of this year, or next year. We don't know for sure," Watson said.

She said with the coming of winter, the number of cases reported would likely decrease.

"Once we get our first hard freeze, which we would expect in October, we will see the mosquitoes die off or hi-

West Nile human cases

This data reflects laboratory-positive cases as of Friday, the latest available data.

	Cases	Deaths
Kansas	0	0
Colorado	5	0
Nebraska	80	4
Missouri	137	3
Oklahoma	4	0

Source: The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, www.cdc.gov/od/oc/media/wncount.

berate throughout winter," Watson said. "Those mosquitoes that survive the winter and resurface in the spring will cause the virus to become a problem again."

According to the CDC, West Nile can be transmitted only through the bite of an infected mosquito.

"As long as we have mosquitoes and people going outside and getting mosquito bites, then yes, we're going to have people getting West Nile."

The CDC offers guidelines for prevention, diagnosis and treatment at www.cdc.gov/ncidod/dvbid/westnile.

ART

A comedy by Yasmina Reza

Presented by KSU Theatre Oct. 3 - 5 & Oct. 9 - 12
Nichols Theatre 8 pm Tlts: $6 std/sms $10 general
McCain Box Office 532-6428 online: ksu.edu/mccain

RADINA'S
coffeehouse & bakery
ANNOUNCING
LIVE MUSIC

Stop in and enjoy local musicians every Monday Night

Expires 10/11/02

Buy one,
get one
FREE drink
Excludes smoothies
RADINA'S

6:30 a.m. - 11 p.m. M-F
7 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sat.
8 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sun.
616 N. Manhattan
(next to Chipotle)

Kansas State University
Blood Drive

HEROES

Every Day

Honor your hometown fire or police department by signing a postcard to be returned to your community.

K-State Student Union
Oct. 7-11, 10:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
Peters Rec Center
Oct. 7-9, 4-8:30 p.m.
Haymaker Hall
Oct. 10, 1-7 p.m.

If you can't donate, please volunteer at the Union, October 7-11.

+
American Red Cross
Together, we can save a life

Everyone who comes in to donate will be given a Wildcat collapsible Koozie!

Sponsored by Phi Gamma Delta

The UPC Multicultural Committee presents...
Festival OF Nations
Featuring the Brazilian Culture
12:00 - 1:00 PM
Monday
OCTOBER 7 2002
K-State Student Union Courtyard
Broaden Your Horizons!
Learn More About Another Cultural Background
UPC Multicultural Committee
UNION GRAMCOUNCIL

FREE FOOD
FREE ENTERTAINMENT

USED TEXTBOOK SALE
Hundreds of selected new & used textbooks
Various fields of study
Check out these low prices!
(Today thru October 13)

$1.00
Paperbacks

$20.00
ALL YOU CAN CARRY!

$2.00
Hardbacks

Open 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Mon.- Sat.
11 a.m.-7 p.m. Sunday
539-0511

Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
www.varneys.com

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Tuesday, October 8

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

October 8, 2002

Teenager wounded by sniper

Injury of youngest victim instills fear near capital

By Stephen Manning
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BOWIE, Md. — The Washington-area sniper struck again Monday, shooting and critically wounding a 13-year-old boy as his aunt dropped him off at school, authorities said.

The shooting of the gunman's youngest victim yet heightened fear across the densely populated neighborhoods surrounding the nation's capital. Schools kept youngsters indoors at recess and lunchtime, and parents raced to pick up their children early under the watchful eyes of police.

The child was shot once in the chest before the start of classes at Benjamin Tasker Middle School and was in critical but stable condition at Children's Hospital in Washington. Doctors said they were optimistic he would survive.

"All of our victims have been innocent and defenseless, but now we're stepping over the line," Montgomery County Police Chief Charles Moose said, tears streaming down his face. "Shooting a kid — it's getting to be really, really personal now."

See SNIPER Page 10

Petition for library hours continues

By Lindsey Tipling
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A petition started by the Student Governing Association will allow students to show how they feel about hours at the library this year.

Seth Bridge, academic affairs committee chair, said the petition is a positive way for students to protest something they do or do not support on campus.

"We decided this would be the best course of action to express how the students are feeling," Bridge said.

Bridge said students could feel like they have made a

See PETITION Page 10

A TASTE OF CULTURE

Above: Eric Aggson and Ron Harvey, both of Blue Springs, Mo., perform with Grupo Axé Capoeira of Leawood, Kan. The group came to the K-State Student Union to represent the native martial art of Brazil for Festival of Nations on Monday. Top: Susan Bae, senior in kinesiology, is served some collard greens as part of the Brazil portion of the Festival of Nations on Monday. Other Brazilian foods such as empada and feijoda black bean soup also were served.

Photos by Jenny Braniff | COLLEGIAN

Martial arts group puts on show at Union festival

By Rogie Dorpinghaus
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Matt Karstetter saw sparks flying as machetes clashed in the K-State Student Union at the Festival of Nations on Monday.

Karstetter, freshman in open-option, came to the festival, which was sponsored by the Union Program Council's multicultural committee, to fulfill one of the requirements of his University Experience class. He picked the festival featuring Brazil because "it was out of the norm."

Karstetter said that although he liked the performance, he isn't planning on joining the martial arts group that was showcased, Grupo Axé Capoeira.

"It was awesome and fast-paced," he said. "Although I don't think I can move like that."

The Afro-Brazilian martial arts group is stationed in Kansas City. It cost UPC $500 to bring the group to K-State.

Tommy Turner, sophomore in construction science, saw this group perform last year in the Union, and he liked how the moves flowed together.

"I saw something new and was up for it," Turner said.

When Turner moved back to Kansas City this summer, he started taking courses from Grupo Axé Capoeira. Now he commutes from Manhattan to Kansas City a few times a week to continue his lessons.

"It's more than a martial art because there are so many aspects that keep you interested," Turner said. "It's really diverse."

Eric Aggson, the director of Axé Capoeira, said this martial art was developed by slaves in Brazil and at one time was banned in Brazil. He also said Axé Capoeira is where break dancing came from.

Khad Crabbe, senior in mathematics and music, said Turner is a "bold soldier" for traveling to Kansas City three or four times a week to stay involved in the martial art.

"I was interested in it, but it's too far, too much, and I have too little time," Crabbe said. "If they had a dojo here on campus, I think it'd make it a lot bigger."

A dojo is a martial arts master who teaches others the art.

The performance may have looked choreographed but Tonya Aggson, Eric's wife, said everything was improvised.

"It was action-response. You move so you don't get kicked," she said.

Erica Smith, the co-chair of the UPC multicultural committee, was excited about the attendance at the festival.

"It was awesome," Smith, senior in

See FESTIVAL Page 10

INSIDE

Signs of success: K-State linebacker has career day despite Cats' loss against Colorado

Sports, Page 6

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Bush warns Iraq to disarm or face U.S.-led coalition

President Bush, seeking support for war against Iraq, called Saddam Hussein a "murderous tyrant" Monday night. His address opened a week of debate in Congress over resolutions giving the president authority to wage war against Iraq. The House and Senate planned votes for Thursday, and the Bush-backed resolution was expected to pass by wide margins.

Page 3

Hamas vows revenge, U.S. steps up criticism after 14 Palestinians killed

The Islamic militant group Hamas threatened new attacks Monday after Israel fired a missile into a crowded Gaza street and killed 11 Palestinians. The United States said it was "deeply troubled" by the raid in which three other Palestinians died and 110 were wounded.

Page 5

Bush takes step toward halting lockout after port talks break off

President Bush moved Monday toward reopening crippled West Coast ports, creating a special board of inquiry to determine the impact of a labor dispute that has brought shipping trade to a virtual halt and is estimated to be costing the economy up to $2 billion a day.

Page 8

American Red Cross Blood Drive

Current total: 127 Goal: 850

Weather

Today 74 | 48

Wednesday 72 | 49

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 35

National sub franchise slated to open in November near Westloop

Restaurant will offer residents toasted subs

By Nick Bratkovic
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A new toasted submarine shop is coming to western Manhattan.

Quizno's Subs is set to open in early November and will be located where Haynes West Hair Salon once operated off Anderson Avenue, across from the Westloop Shopping Center.

Dave Dreiling, who is a co-owner of Quizno's, said bringing the restaurant to Manhattan was a logical move. He had charted the company for several years, and he watched it expand and grow as franchises sprang up nationwide.

"Quizno's is the fastest growing sub franchise because it is a better product," Dreiling said. "So I think we will compete very well." According to www.quiznos.com, a new store opens every 16 hours. The site said they sign a franchise lease every four hours.

pete very well."

According to www.quiznos.com, a new store opens every 16 hours somewhere in the world. The site said they sign a franchise lease every four hours. The growth in the franchises is what impressed Dreiling, and now he is going to be part owner in one of the 1,700 worldwide Quizno's stores.

"There is a total of 12 stores in Kansas," Dreiling said. "They have done very well."

Dreiling said the bread separates Quizno's from other sub sandwich places in Manhattan because it is toasted.

"All of our subs are toasted, and we offer a good soup and salad line," Dreiling said.

"We also have a low-fat menu."

Dreiling also said it is an alternative to other fast food options.

The sandwich line features a classic Italian, the traditional and a Santa Fe Smoked turkey sandwich. Salads include a turkey ranch and Swiss salad, a honey mustard chicken salad and a pair of side salads. In addition, Quizno's offers soups ranging from Boston clam chowder to creamy broccoli cheese soup.

Dreiling said his business partners possibly plan to open additional Quizno's in Manhattan.

Now, however, with the store scheduled to open next month, Dreiling and his staff are focused on opening this

See SUBS Page 10

Construction on the new Quizno's Subs continues across from Westloop on Anderson Avenue. The store is scheduled to open in November in the former location of Haynes West Hair Salon.

Nicole Donnert
COLLEGIAN

Interview Suits
23 Years of Launching Careers
with Professional Clothing
Borck Brothers
Westloop Shopping Center
785-537-8636 • www.borck-bros.com

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Lose intention-ally
5 Agana's Island
9 Height of fashion?
12 Re planes and such
13 "The King"
14 Abbr. on the biz page
15 Scatter-shot
17 "My country, —"
18 Regimen
19 Get to 21 Needed liniment
24 Manual laborer
25 Principal
26 Left alone
30 Frequent-ly, in verse
31 Liquid
32 "Norma"
33 Shy
35 Pivot
36 Tackled the weeds
37 Helsinki denizens
38 Adoles-cents
40 Pop
42 "That's a laugh!"
43 Top-40
48 "Born in the —"
49 Place
50 "Hi, sailor!"
51 Pigs' digs
52 Kennel cries
53 Judicious
DOWN
1 Scrooge's cry
2 Main-lander's memento
10 "Beowulf," for one
11 Slam-dance
16 Disen-cumber
20 A billion years
21 Cupid's forte
22 Eatery
23 Go to bed
24 Prude
26 Lost one's footing
27 Clitem
28 Be worthy of
29 Hide-aways
31 Anew
34 Charged bit
35 Pageant headgear
37 Fed. safety org.
38 Therefore
39 Bridge position
40 Dance lesson
41 Comic-strip penguin
44 Mid-afternoon, on a sundial
45 "Caught ya!"
46 Pooch
47 Spud spot

Solution time: 25 mins.

WIDE REVEAL
ACROSS
1. LOSE
5. AGANA
9. HEIGHT
12. RE
13. KING
14. ABBR.
15. SCATTER
17. MY
18. REGIMEN
19. GET
21. NEEDED
24. MANUAL
25. PRINCIPAL
26. LEFT
30. FREQUENT
31. LIQUID
32. NORMA
33. SHY
35. PIVOT
36. TACKLED
37. HELSINKI
38. ADOLESCENTS
40. POP
42. THAT'S
43. TOP-40
48. BORN
49. PLACE
50. HI
51. PIGS
52. KENNEL
53. JUDICIOUS
DOWN
1. SCROOGE
2. MAINLANDER
10. BEOWULF
11. SLAM-DANCE
16. DISCUMBER
20. BILLION
21. CUPID
22. EATERY
23. GO
24. PRUDE
26. FOOTING
27. CLITEM
28. WORTHY
29. HIDEAWAYS
31. ANEW
34. CHARGED
35. PAGEANT
37. FEDSAFETY
38. THEREFORE
39. BRIDGE
40. DANCE
41. COMIC
44. MIDAFTERNOON
45. CAUGHT
46. POOCH
47. SPUD

Yesterday's answer 10-8

CRYPTOQUIP
Q JTLLOQA CIOBAS NC
ZOAD NARB. WTRXQLBS
Q WBG JNSBAG QAS
AQZBS XOZ "RNZIQG."
Yesterday's Cryptquip: WHEN WOODWORKERS DISAGREE, IS THEIR UNION LIABLE TO BREAK UP INTO SPLINTER GROUPS?
Today's Cryptquip Clue: J equals R
CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to Crypt Classics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.
The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Dana Strongin at 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.
© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

FACES IN THE CROWD

U2 front man tabbed most powerful musician

Illustration by Adam Hayes COLLEGIAN

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bono, the globe-trotting, conscience-tugging singer with the Irish rock group U2, is the most powerful man in music, according to a poll of music industry figures.

Bono, whose given name is Paul Hewson, tops a list compiled by music magazine Q. The top 10 names were released Thursday.

U2, formed in Dublin more than 20 years ago, remains one of the world's top-selling groups.

Bono, 42, also has emerged as a powerful lobbyist for causes such as relieving the debt of the world's poorest nations.

Earlier this year, he traveled through Africa with U.S. Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill. Time magazine profiled him under the headline "Can Bono save the world?"

Q magazine will publish the full list of the 50 most powerful people in music in its November issue.

Peppers going multicultural

The Red Hot Chili Peppers hope to live up to their spicy name by infusing their music with a stronger Latin zing.

"We all listen to a lot of Latin music, and we've been strongly influenced by it," the band's bass player, Flea, said Sunday in Caracas.

The Chili Peppers performed in Venezuela's capital city, the latest stop in the band's tour of seven Latin American countries. They've played in Mexico, Panama and Costa Rica, and will perform in Chile, Brazil and Argentina this month.

The band is promoting its new album, "By the Way," which has shot to No. 1 on the charts in more than 16 countries. The four-member band from Los Angeles will be producing Spanish versions of songs in the future.

"By the Way" features "Cabron," a song partly sung in Spanish, which is inspired by Los Angeles' Mexican-American culture.

"We'll be releasing more in Spanish," said lead singer Anthony Kiedis. "We love the energy that we get out of Latin American audiences."

9/11 victim inspires college

Wheaton College plans to name a new student center for one of its alumni: United Airlines Flight 93 passenger Todd M. Beamer, who immortalized the phrase "Let's roll" during the attacks of Sept. 11, 2001.

Wheaton College, Beamer's alma mater, wants to name its proposed $21.6 million student center after him, school President Duane Litfin said Saturday. School officials are trying to raise $13.5 million before they start construction on the multi-level center. Donors, who have already given the school $5 million, suggested the building be named after Beamer, a 1991 alumnus.

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Friday, Oct. 4

■ At 2:15 p.m., Janice Walker, Topeka, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $2,500.
■ At 4:30 p.m., Akkawit Aindilokwong, 1630 Humboldt, Apt. A, was arrested for aggravated sexual battery. Bond was set at $5,000.
■ At 5:50 p.m., Robert Kammo, 731 Blumont Ave., was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. No bond was set.
■ At 6:01 p.m., Anthony Moss, 2000 Casement, No. 2, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $750.
■ At 7:05 p.m., Lewis Vaughn, Topeka, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $10,000.
■ At 7:24 p.m., Timothy Frazier, 2000 Casement, No. 2, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $750.

Saturday, Oct. 5

■ At 1:38 a.m., Troy Straub, St. George, was arrested for probation violation, possession of simulated controlled substances or drug paraphernalia, unlawful possession of substances and DUI. Bond was set at $1,500.
■ At 2 a.m., Chad Winnie, St. George, was arrested for failure to appear and DUI. Bond was set at $877.50.

was set at $877.50.
■ At 3:35 a.m., Kevin Mitchell, 2024 College View, was arrested for purchase or consumption of an alcoholic beverage by a minor and DUI. Bond was set at $750.
■ At 2:20 p.m., Peggy Wilson, Ogden, was arrested for failure to appear. No bond was set.
■ At 4:30 p.m., Austun Davidson, 2104 Sloan, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $750.

Sunday, Oct. 6

■ At 1:22 a.m., Joshua Krinhop, 626 Vattier, No. 3, was arrested for probation violation. No bond was set.
■ At 1:40 a.m., Justin Oliver, Arkansas, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $5,500.
■ At 2:01 a.m., Michael Schwarz, Overland Park, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 2:14 a.m., E. Bernard Franklin, 3023 Sandstone, No. 3, was arrested for possession of simulated controlled substances or drug paraphernalia, unlawful possession of substances and DUI. Bond was set at $2,500.
■ At 12:09 p.m., Aaron Devine, 3000 Tuttle-Creek Blvd., No. 89, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $154.50.
■ At 7:55 p.m., Eric McChristian, Topeka, was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $1,500.
■ At 8:10 p.m., Guymon Carter, Topeka, was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $1,500.
■ At 8:17 p.m., Lora Carter, Topeka, was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $1,500.

The planner | Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Fort Riley classes will run Oct. 15-Dec. 14. The dates have changed since publication of the line schedule. Civilian enrollment starts Oct. 7.
■ Up 'Til Dawn is accepting applications for six-person teams to raise money for St. Jude Children's Hospital from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Oct. 15 in Holton 203.
■ 2002-03 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Oct. 18, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.
■ Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house on 918 N. Manhattan.
■ "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 in Hale Library's second floor.
■ A library orientation tour will be from 8 to 8:20 a.m. today at Hale reception desk.
■ Basic library classes will be from 10 to 10:45 today in Hale 408 and 7 to 7:45 tonight in Hale 114.
■ The A.Q. Miller School of Journalism and Mass Communications and Student Publications Inc. present the 2002 Bill Brown Master Editor Lecture: Matt Mansfield from the San Jose Mercury News will speak on "How 9/11 changed the way newspapers present news" at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Union Big 12 Room.

■ Frankenstein: Terrifying Tuesday Lecture Series will have Carol Franko present "Mary Shelley's Philosophic Gothic" at 12:30 p.m. today in Hale Hemisphere Room.
■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a state panel jobs workshop at 3:30 p.m. today in Union 212.
■ The International Student Center will present a coffee hour, "Egypt: A place to visit" from 4 to 5 p.m. Wednesday in the International Student Center.
■ SGA committee meetings tonight in OSAS conference room: senate operations at 6 and governmental relations at 9.
■ The KSU chapter of the American Marketing Association will meet at 6 tonight at the Pizza Hut in Aggieville.
■ The Lutheran Campus Ministry will meet for supper and Bible study at 6 tonight at 1745 Anderson Ave.
■ The Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30 tonight in Hale Library Tower Room 3.
■ Pre-Law Club will meet at 7 tonight in Union 206.
■ Pre-Dental Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union Stateroom 1 and will be host to UMKC dental school representatives.
■ Career and Employment Services will conduct an experiential learning orientation workshop at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in Holtz Hall. Call (785) 532-6506 for reservations.
■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a resume critique workshop from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Wednesday in Holtz Hall.

Up next | In Wednesday's Collegian

News | Stressed out?
Stress levels have been on the rise. Massage therapy might be the answer. Find out what the positive aspects of getting a massage are and what options are available in Manhattan.
The Edge | Edible alternatives
Organic food is an eating trend that more and more college students are recognizing. Find out what qualifies as organic food, where to find it, and what its benefits are.
Life | At a loss
Find out how balding students deal with losing their hair. Also, learn about available preventive measures.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
1800 Claflin Road
776-5577
We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

you can finally buy a book WORTH ITS PRICE
Campus Phone Books on sale now in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

royal RP purple ARE YOU IN?
Tuesday, October 8
Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures
Tau Kappa Epsilon
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sigma Phi Epsilon
6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
Next up: Wednesday, Oct. 9
Boyd Hall 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Theta Xi 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.
Union 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Aggie Station
RESTAURANT & PUB
TUESDAY KARAOKE
DAMN NEAR EVERYTHING
$1.50
ANY BOTTLE
CORONA BUD LT. ETC.
CAPTAINS & WELLS
710 N. MANHATTAN

DAILY LUNCH BUFFET
11-2 p.m.
TUESDAY BUFFET
5-7:30 p.m.
$3.99
all you can eat
indiana

DAVE'S HIDEAWAY
tuesday 11:50 Everything
2.95 All-U-Can-Eat Spaghetti
wednesday THE MUSIC
1 Hamburgers
1 Fries
2 Bottles and Wells

GUMBY'S Pizza & Pub
Delivers the latest!
770-3333
1 STICK IT TO ME
Buy one Pokey Stick at regular price, get one of equal or lesser value for FREE
2 special
12" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 12" POKEY STICKS • $5.99
14" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 14" POKEY STICKS • $6.99
M-TH. ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA • CAMPUS ADDRESS ONLY
3 Wednesday
X-LARGE 16" CHEESE PIZZA • Wednesday Only
Carry Out Only • Toppings Extra
EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH

Want to show your purple pride and be a representative for K-State?
Then apply to be a K-State Student Ambassador!
The K-State Alumni Association is seeking one male and one female Ambassador for 2002-2003. Ambassadors will be elected by the student body during Homecoming week.
Pick up an application and a complete description of duties at the Office of Student Activities and Services in the K-State Student Union or at the Alumni Association, located in the Alumni Center. You also can apply online by visiting our Web site at www.K-State.com/Homecoming.
Questions? Call the K-State Alumni Association at 532-6260. Applications are due at 5 p.m., Friday, Oct. 18 at the Alumni Association.

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER
"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."
539-3338
Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Businesses upgrade to newer, more efficient drug-testing method

New technology allows for easier processing, quicker retrieval of results

By Tara Patty
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Businesses all over the country have turned to body-fluid analysis to test potential employees for illegal drug use, and the process is becoming easier and cheaper than ever.

Wanda Coleman, assistant manager of Dillons West, said her store no longer uses traditional urine testing. Instead, she said, they test the saliva of job applicants.

Coleman said she has to ensure the person being tested hasn't had a mint or any other candy in their mouth within 10 minutes of the test.

"It's kind of like a toothbrush. You stick it in their mouth for two minutes, and it gathers saliva," she said.

Aaron Smith, senior in digital art, said he thinks illegal drug screening is necessary for employers. He has undergone several illegal drug screenings for employment purposes.

Employers may encounter problems, Smith said, if their employees call in sick or don't come to work because of illegal drug use. He said he would always be willing to cooperate with employers when it comes to drug screening.

Coleman said Dillons administers illegal drug screening because of corporate policy. After the specimen is collected, she said, the store then sends it in for testing and receives results back within four days.

This is an improvement over the traditional urine testing the store used to do, she said.

Most companies that analyze these samples are located on the east coast, she said. The company the store uses for the saliva tests is located in Kansas.

Dillons has been administering the saliva test for the last 18 months, she said.

All potential employees take the test before they can be hired. However, hired employees undergo additional testing only if they are involved in an on-the-job accident.

"I think it's a good thing to use drug testing," Coleman said.

"We are big on safety — you don't want someone to be smoking pot and then coming to work and being clumsy."

Randy Wilkinson, human relations specialist at Sears in Manhattan Town Center, said Sears also uses illegal drug screening as a part of the hiring process.

The store uses a new local company that offers results instantaneously, compared to the two-week wait with other companies.

Wilkinson describes the new test as similar to a pregnancy test. Once the specimen is taken, the test administrators stick an indicator into the urine to see if there are traces of THC in the sample.

Sears employees are tested before they are hired or in case of an accident or suspicion of drug use.

"There is actually a correlation between drugs and theft," Wilkinson said.

The screening is administered within 24 hours of an employee's hiring, he said. This helps cut down on the possibility of someone circumventing the test if they have been using controlled substances.

The test is given in a secure environment, he said. If someone does test positive on the initial screening, the specimen is sent in for an actual analysis. In these cases, a medical examiner will call the individual to see if he or she is taking any prescription drugs that may have shown up on the test.

The same course of action is used with the saliva testing, Coleman said. The medical examiner investigates any positive result before notifying the Dillons store of any problems with the testing.

"We don't want to accuse someone of being a drug user if they aren't," she said.

HALLOWEEN HARVEST

Kelley Perkins, Manhattan, hands her daughter Kelley, 2, a pumpkin at Westside Market. Perkins brought her children to pick out pumpkins to decorate for Halloween.

Lindsey Bauman | COLLEGIAN

Bush says Iraq could be plotting attacks on United States

By Ron Fournier
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — President Bush, seeking support for war against Iraq, called Saddam Hussein a "murderous tyrant" Monday night and said Hussein might be plotting to attack the United States with biological and chemical weapons.

Saddam and his "nuclear holy warriors" are also building a nuclear weapons program and could have a nuclear weapon in less than a year, Bush said in prime-time address.

"If we allow that to happen, a terrible line would be crossed," the president told civic group leaders at the Cincinnati Museum Center. "Saddam Hussein would be in a position to blackmail anyone who opposes his aggression."

"I am not willing to stake one American life on trusting Saddam Hussein," Bush said.

His address opened a week of debate in Congress over resolutions giving the president authority to wage war against Iraq. The House and Senate planned votes for Thursday, and the Bush-backed resolution was expected to pass by margins.

Still, doubts lingered at home and abroad about Bush's plans.

Even as he spoke, new polls revealed lingering unease among voters about going to war, particularly if casualties were high or fighting distracted attention from America's sagging economy. Democrats criticized Bush's insistence upon confronting Iraq alone if the United Nations failed to act.

Bush hopes an overwhelming vote in Congress will persuade reluctant allies in the United Nations to adopt a tough new resolution forcing Saddam to disarm — by force, if necessary.

The president said U.S. intelligence shows Iraq to be building manned and unmanned aerial vehicles that could be used to target the United States with chemical or biological weapons.

He said Iraq had trained members of Osama bin Laden's al-Qaeda terrorist group, and that a "very senior al-Qaeda leader" has received medical treatment in Baghdad.

On the anniversary of the first U.S. airstrikes in Afghanistan, Bush tried to explain why Iraq should be the next front in the war on terror. He hoped to dispel doubts of domestic critics and to persuade other nations to support a U.N. resolution ordering Iraq to submit to tough new weapons inspections.

Advisers said the biggest questions Bush hoped to answer were: Why now? Why Iraq?

"While there are many dangers in the world, the threat from Iraq stands alone because it gathers the most serious dangers of our age in one place," Bush said. "Iraq's weapons of mass destruction are controlled by a murderous tyrant, who has already used chemical weapons to kill thousands of people."

The address was loaded with political implications, coming four weeks before the Nov. 5 congressional elections that will determine control of the House and Senate.

dependable, quality
✓ copy service

Clafin Books and Copies

A Great Way to Earn

$25 Today!

Donate your blood plasma to help save kid's lives.

Earn $25 CASH.

(for approx. 2 hours.)

Call or stop by:

ZLB Plasma Services

formerly Nabi Biomedical Center

1130 Gardenway

785-776-9177

Fees & donation time may vary.

www.zlb.com

Little Caesars
TUESDAY SPECIAL!
1 18" GIANT PIZZA
WITH 1 TOPPING
PLUS AN 8 PCE ORDER
OF CRAZY BREAD
$8.99
*TAXES & RESTAURANT CHARGES NOT INCLUDED
539-3333
No Cash Necessary
Valid only at participating locations. ©2001 L.C.E., Inc.

GAME GUY
Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent
Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games
Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5
(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA

UPCC
LEAVING OUR MARK...ONE EVENT AT A TIME.
HOTLINE: 532-6572 WEBSITE: www.ksu.edu/upcc

FREE Haircut
w/ Best Hilite Weave in town
w/two colors $50 to $70
by Kelly
TINA
Studio 32
FOR HAIR
776-8830 Candlewood

International Coffee Hour
(Everybody is welcome and it's free)
Egypt: A Place to Visit
Presenter: Mr. Mahamed Awadallah
Come to know the interesting and different types of tourism and places to visit in EGYPT, meet people from different cultures, taste Egyptian food and have fun.
Wednesday, Oct. 9, 4-5 p.m.
International Student Center, KSU.

It's a lot of talk for just a little.
FREE PHONE
5,400 MINUTES
$30
We also have now
Free Roaming & Long Distance
Nationwide Plans
CELLULARONE
Call us anytime you want.
SIMPLICITY CHOICE VALUE 30-DAY SATISFACTION GUARANTEE
1.800.cell.one cellularone.com Cellular One proudly supports
The National Youth Anti-Drug Media Campaign www.TheAntiDrug.com
Cellular One
1115 Westloop Place 785-537-4646
800-467-7858 Ask for Brett, Rich or Will.
Manhattan Town Center Mall 785-776-1414
Ask for Angela, Scott or Mike.
Offers good for a limited time on new activations on select rate plans only, and are subject to change without notice. Not available in all areas. May not be combined with any other offers or discounts. Included minutes apply to calls from within local service area only. Unused minutes expire each month. "Night" minutes apply to calls made from 8:00 p.m. to 8:59 a.m. Monday through Thursday, and "weekend" minutes apply to calls made from 8:00 p.m. Friday to 11:59 p.m. Saturday from within home calling area only. Long distance, additional fees apply for taxes, assessments, surcharges, roaming, long distance, operation-assisted, credit card or other bill charges. Incoming and outgoing calls are rounded up and billed in full. Minutes expire from the time the network begins to process the call (before the call rings or is answered) through the termination of the call. Phone after other mobile calls. Minutes have no cash value. Taxes apply to original purchase price. Minutes may take up to 10 weeks to process. Phone must be purchased by Oct. 25. Only one rebate per phone purchase. Service is subject to the terms of our standard 12 or 24 month service agreement that includes a $200 fee for early termination and a mandatory arbitration provision for each phone. Activation fee and deposit may be required. Digital handset required. Outside the digital coverage area, service may be dropped, and certain digital features may not function. Rate plan may be changed upon notice to the customer if more than 50% of usage is outside the Wireless Network on nationwide rate plans. Must reside within a Wireless Network-covered market to have nationwide plans. On nationwide plans, weekend minutes apply to calls made within our 30 state regional area. Featured hardware available at Cellular One stores and participating dealers while supplies last. Service is not TTY compatible. See coverage maps and written materials in-store for complete details. Other restrictions may apply. Cellular One is a registered service mark of The Cellular One Group. © 2002 Western Wireless Corporation.

Kansas State University Blood Drive
HEROES Every Day
Honor your hometown fire or police department by signing a postcard to be returned to your community.
K-State Student Union
Oct. 7-11, 10:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
Peters Rec Center
Oct. 7-9, 4-8:30 p.m.
Haymaker Hall
Oct. 10, 1-7 p.m.
If you can't donate, please volunteer at the Union, October 7-11.
American Red Cross
Together, we can save a life.
Everyone who comes in to donate will be given a Wildcat collapsible Koozie.
Sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Delta

ART
A comedy by Yasmina Reza
Presented by KSU Theatre Oct. 3-5 & Oct. 9-12
Nichols Theatre 8 pm Tix: $6 std/srns $10 general
McCain Box Office 532-6428 online: ksuedu/mccain

TO THE POINT Rural schools benefit from Spanish classes

Spanish Via Satellite does a great service for students in rural classrooms.

The program, started at K-State 14 years ago, began in order to help out rural schools that lack foreign language education funding. The program has grown from serving five schools in 1989, to 90 rural communities today.

As a land-grant university, K-State is keeping with its roots by providing this service for rural communities. The program not only educates young people, but it also helps them prepare for college and the world.

Students can learn about vocabulary, language structure, cultural practices and geography by use of the satellite broadcasts.

It is important for students and adults to understand that the English language and culture isn't the only one present in America. It is important to learn other languages, as well as explore the traditions and cultures of other people, to function in today's world.

K-State Spanish Via Satellite course instructors should be commended for their efforts to put foreign language into rural classrooms. Efforts like these show the dedication K-State instructors have to the learning process in all stages of education and rural communities.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Janel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Janel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

FIGHTING FOR RIGHTS

Laws against same-sex marriage deprive some of basic civil liberties

"Here comes the bride, here comes ... the other bride?" Same-sex marriage in the United States isn't about the right to choose a certain lifestyle. It is about offering the same rights and civil liberties to all citizens without discrimination. It is not about "gay marriage," because under current law, homosexual people can marry. They just have to marry someone of the opposite sex.

The issue at hand is whether the government should be able to place limitations on who can marry whom. Until the Supreme Court ruled otherwise in 1967 some state laws made it illegal for people to marry outside their race. Thankfully, justice prevailed, and today people are free to marry regardless of race. Will the same justice someday be given to same-sex couples?

Currently, only one state acknowledges same-sex marriage as legitimate. In Vermont, same-sex couples can marry, but if they reside elsewhere, that state's government will not recognize the marriage.

According to www.gay-civil-unions.com, Kansas legislators declared in 1996 that "a marriage contract is a civil contract between two parties who are of opposite sex, and that all other marriages are contrary to public policy and void. It is strong public policy only to recognize as valid marriages from other states those that are between a man and a woman."

This issue is not entirely under state jurisdiction. The Defense of Marriage Act, signed into law in 1996 by President Clinton, stipulated that while the states could decide for themselves what they recognize as marriage, the federal government would only recognize marriages between opposite-sex couples.

Why is it so important to be able to legally achieve ball-and-chain status instead of simply being lifetime partners? A legally recognized marriage includes certain benefits, which any two people wishing to share their life together need.

The ability to make medical decisions on behalf of a partner, property rights, joint adoption, immunity from testifying, insurance benefits and domestic violence protection are some of the rights married couples share.

On the federal level, visitation of a partner in a hospital or prison, immigration and Social Security survivor benefits are examples of the partner privileges same-sex couples are being deprived of.

Additionally, the U.S. Supreme Court declared marriage to be "of fundamental importance to all individuals" when ruling on Zablocki v. Redhail in 1978. The court described marriage as "one of the 'basic civil rights of man'" and "the most important relation in life." The court also added that "the right to marry is part of the fundamental 'right to privacy'" in the U.S. Constitution.

According to www.census.gov, there are 601,209 households with same-sex partners in the United States - 3,973 of them in Kansas. That means 1,202,418 people are unable to exercise their "basic civil rights" by having the "most important relation in life" guaranteed to them as

NASRINA BURNETT

U.S. citizens under the "right to privacy" in the U.S. Constitution.

If you would like to help end this injustice you can contact the Queer Straight Alliance, QSA - an on-campus group devoted to bringing together gay, lesbian, bisexual, transsexual and straight individuals. You can e-mail the organization at QSA@ksu.edu or check out its Web site, www.ksu.edu/qsqa, for meeting times and events.

The issue of same-sex marriage is clearly about legal protection under the law, regardless of whether it conflicts with personal religious beliefs, cultures or upbringing.

It isn't about a lifestyle. It's about equal rights and civil liberties, beliefs in which our country was founded, and which we can't ignore.

Nasrina is a senior in philosophy. You can e-mail her at neb6793@ksu.edu.

Illustration by Ben Dolezal | COLLEGIAN

Let's play 'singled-out': it's time to dispel false myths about minorities

It has recently been brought to my attention this campus is lacking something - people of color are singled out on this campus in multiple areas.

Those making the distinctions are using excuses to fuel common myths.

Below are a few examples of when this happens.

Scholarships: There seems to be this popular opinion that all people of color get to attend school for free. Since when is financial aid free?

Maybe I missed the memo, but many people I know are having a difficult time.

"But what about the athletes?" you might ask.

Well, they aren't going to school for free, either. Yes, they might receive certain advantages - like early enrollment and team dinners - but that still isn't free. Their job is to play sports. Some people receive a paycheck for a job well done. Others receive Nike warm-ups with matching sneakers.

Minority Studies programs:

Why do we need African-American, Hispanic or Latino-American, Native-American or Asian-American studies?

Why not have classes where we explore the things done by people who look like me?

This isn't discrimination - it is fairness. If I am expected to know the significance of the War of 1812, then you should be expected to know who is considered the Father of Black History.

Besides, you might learn about people who have never been on MTV nor BET.

Reparations: Repeat after me, "Reparations are not about money." Of course, with a lawsuit worth trillions of dollars, that can be difficult to believe.

But it's true.

The issue of reparations is about a debt owed. Civil rights, affirmative action and welfare have nothing to do with reparations. The Civil Rights era was about blacks gaining respect as human beings, period. What was achieved was done with the blood, sweat and tears of my ancestors.

ANGEL WILSON

Affirmative action is not "free" money, either. People seem to think this means they are the victims of reverse discrimination. First of all, the opposite of discrimination happening would be discrimination not happening. Therefore, reverse discrimination would be discrimination not happening.

Also, affirmative action was implemented to allow opportunities for the under-represented. Again, I said opportunities, not handouts. I don't want you giving me anything, but I do want the chance to prove myself.

White guilt: No one wants you to feel guilty.

I know slavery is not your fault. I know your grandparents might have also been discriminated against. I know your roommate is black. I know you are Ja Rule's biggest fan.

Louis Farrakhan said it best: "We are not saying you are guilty. We know that you didn't do anything. But you are responsible. It's just like saying O. J. Simpson was acquitted because he wasn't guilty, but you still turn around and sue him because you feel that he shares in the responsibility of Nicole's death."

What most people of color want is merely an acceptance of responsibility. If you have ever benefited from slavery, then you share responsibility.

Raise your hand if you're not a person of color. How does it feel to be singled out?

It's time to stop the excuses and start looking at people of color as regular students, not just people here for a meal ticket.

Angel is a graduate student in college student personnel. You can e-mail her at angelw@ksu.edu.

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

Paul White needs to realize he's taking advantage of America's freedom of speech. If he said anything like what he writes here in a country like Iraq, he would be killed.

Why do hot chicks always have fat friends? Why can't fat friends hang out in a fat group together?

The only failure in most people is the failure to look ahead, instead of behind.

Man who fart under sheets wake up with unhappy wife.

Is it just me or is Johnny Depp always stoned in every movie he's in?

Is it OK to strip if it's for a good cause?

The students at CU need to get a little thing called class. I guess that's one thing their parents can't buy for them.

If you run into a tree stump while you're canoeing, it can be very painful. But rest assured, if you're wearing a koozie on a rope, your beer will be safe.

Yeah, I've got your hippo, and I'm not feeding it near as much as I should be.

I think instead of the "Lynch Mob," our defense should be called "Synch to Lob" ... over our corners, that is.

Fizz is now spelled K-S-U-D-E-F-E-N-S-E. Four hundred and eighty-some yards is disgusting.

Joe at Goodcents: I want to make you breakfast.

I have been to every school in the Big 12 to watch football games, and it is official: K-State has the ugliest girls in all of the Big 12.

So I'm at this Dead Lemon concert, and this girl totally flashes me. Dead Lemon is my new favorite band.

If a Dead Lemon member was in a coma and on life support, would he be a fruit or a vegetable?

I'm not sure which is more amazing about the wedding budget article: The amount of errors your proofreaders missed, the fact a college student still doesn't know when to use an apostrophe or that you think a $10,000 wedding is expensive.

Don't pay for your parking permit in one payment. Just pay the installments in little, yellow envelopes like I do.

Open the door. Get on the floor. Everybody walk the dinosaur.

Woodway girls are the coolest, especially Hagatha Christie and Mama Lupé.

To all those wondering: Hagatha Christie is a witch who lives in our closet and Mama Lupé is a little, Mexican lady who cooks the tortillas in our refrigerator.

Ell Roberson couldn't throw it into the ocean from the beach. If he's not going to lead, then maybe we should find somebody else. What a concept.

Does the cable company in our town get together with the cable companies in other towns to compare their Cox?

Do you agree with Dead Lemon? I agree with Dead Lemon.

This ain't no disco. This ain't no country club, either. This is Manhattan.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. Not enough fourum? For the full version check out www.kstate-collegian.com.

TO THE EDITOR

Decision to eliminate printed line schedule upsetting

Editor,
Budget this and budget that. Quite frankly, I am getting sick and tired of it all.

The administration's latest cut of the paper version of the line schedule really annoyed me. They say it will save $22,000. Sounds like a lot of money right? In one sense it is, but when compared to the budget as a whole, it's nothing.

Why would anyone want to eliminate something used so much? I don't know statistics, but I would bet more than 90 percent of the students and faculty touched a paper line schedule last semester.

Not all students have computers all the time, and half the time it is more pain than it's worth. It's not like a better system was put in place. The only thing changed about the online schedule is that a little gray box appears around the class your mouse cursor is over. Wow, a gray box. That was probably a $10,000 expense.

Even after you finally decide which class you like, by the time you switch back over to KATS, either your session has timed out, or the computer has locked up. All this is going to do is shirk costs off to the departments. How much is it going to cost in faculty time, extra computers mandated to be available and paper?

One of the main mantras of K-State is we are a student-centered university. Isn't it about time we start making cuts that don't directly infringe on the students? Why not cut down on facilities budget? I don't think it is crucial to higher learning to have meticulously maintained flowers around every corner. Don't get me wrong. I think they look great. But when times are tough, we need to cut the fat and keep the file. Students first. Flowers second.

Joshua Sturgis | SENIOR IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

Professor explains benefits of schools receiving Spanish lessons via satellite

By Lynne Hermansen
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Many rural schools across the country lack in providing a foreign-language education. Spanish via Satellite, started at K-State in 1989, gives students whose schools are not equipped to teach a foreign language the opportunity to learn Spanish.

Charles Thorpe, SVS course instructor, explained how the program works and the effects it has had on rural schools and students as part of the Vernon Larson International Luncheon series Monday at the Ramada Inn Ballroom.

"Our main goal has been to untie the tongues and open the eyes to those who want to get to know their fellow human beings," he said.

Thorpe said many students can receive a foreign-language education, but underfunded rural schools are left out in the cold.

"We want those underserved schools to know they haven't been forgotten," he said.

SVS teaches Spanish I and Spanish II courses twice a week. The broadcasts are produced at the Educational Communications Center in Bob Dole Hall.

Courses cover the vocabulary, language structure, cultural practices, products, history and geography of Spanish-speaking countries.

"Our main goal has been to untie the tongues and open the eyes of those who want to get to know their fellow human beings."

Charles Thorpe
SPANISH VIA SATELLITE COURSE INSTRUCTOR

Thorpe said.

He said the German by Satellite program at Oklahoma State University was the model for K-State's program.

The summer of 1989 was the first year of the SVS pilot program and involved five schools.

This year, the program serves about 90 schools, Thorpe said.

The program hit its peak in 1996, but Thorpe said students still are engaged in foreign studies.

"We are not ready to go out of business," he said. "We are just getting started."

The program, now in its 14th year, can be received through www.ksu.edu/ecc/svs or the university house channel on the Dish Network.

Thorpe said he believes it's more important than ever to receive a foreign language education.

"We have had a false sense of security at home and abroad. There is this attitude that you're in America now, so you speak English, and we have assumed that everyone else can speak English," he said.

"We need to learn about each other and be able to talk to each other."

Thorpe said his life has been richly blessed by the people who have passed through the program.

"You win some. You lose some. But at the same time, you get both," he said.

"My deepest wish is that they might have some thought about the power of language, the cultural lessons and the commonality of all human beings."

Thorpe, who is from Wichita, previously taught German and Spanish in public and private schools.

Mel Chastain, educational communications center director, said Thorpe's primary interest always has been the students, even while he was trying to learn the new technology of the program.

"We knew we had something pretty good then," Chastain said. "Right from the start, he was interested in teaching and having the students understand the culture from which that language comes from."

Hamas vows revenge; U.S. steps up criticism after 14 Palestinians killed, 110 wounded

By John Rice
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Islamic militant group Hamas threatened new attacks Monday after Israel fired a missile into a crowded Gaza street and killed 11 Palestinians. The United States said it was "deeply troubled" by the raid in which three other Palestinians died and 110 were wounded.

Israeli said its troops were searching for Hamas militants when they raided Khan Younis with 40 tanks backed by helicopters shortly after midnight Monday. Most of the dead fell victim to a missile fired into a crowd. The Palestinians said they were civilians. Israel said most were fighters killed in battle.

"Everyone should know that as our people were not safe in Khan Younis, so Israelis will not be safe in Tel Aviv," said Abdel Aziz Rantisi, a Hamas leader. "We will strike everywhere."

In Washington, State Department spokesman Richard Boucher couched U.S. criticism of the operation with a restatement of American support for Israel's right to self-defense.

Javier Solana, the European Union's visiting foreign policy chief, said he was shocked by the number of casualties. "I think that it is even more dramatic because of the efforts that the Palestinian people were making in order to get out of the way of violence in recent weeks," he said.

Israel's deputy defense minister, Weizman Shiri, regretted the loss of civilian life.

"But what can we do?" he said. "It's war."

The four-hour raid was the deadliest against the Palestinians in three months and besides the dead, 25 of the injured were in critical condition, doctors said.

Most suffered shrapnel wounds in the head, chest and abdomen. The dead ranged in age from 14 to 52.

The Israeli military said Khan Younis is a stronghold of the Islamic militant group Hamas, which has killed hundreds of Israeli civilians in suicide bombings. It said during the raid, troops arrested a wanted man carrying a homemade explosive device.

But there was no indication of a specific target, as in previous strikes against wanted militants that also claimed civilian casualties.

As the raid began, the military said soldiers exchanged fire with armed Palestinians, killing two.

Doctors said a 45-year-old woman also died. The missile was fired in a densely populated neighborhood as the Israelis were pulling out.

Brig. Gen. Yisrael Ziv, the army commander in the area, said troops met heavy resistance from Palestinian gunmen, and many armed men gathered in the streets as the Israelis withdrew.

Palestinian witnesses gave a different account.

Wissam Abdeen, who was hit by shrapnel in the arm, said that as troops withdrew, residents emerged from homes to inspect the damage, and there were no gunmen in the crowd. Another witness, Walid Sabah, whose 17-year-old son Abdullah was killed by the missile, said there were armed men in the street but they were not shooting.

Abdeen said as troops withdrew, he heard helicopters. "A big explosion lifted me and blew me 30 feet away," he said.

Ziv said the battle was filmed from a pilotless plane; the army has not responded to an Associated Press request to see the footage. Ziv said none of the dead Palestinians were on Israel's wanted list.

Most of the dead and wounded — including children as young as 9 — were taken to the city's Nasser Hospital.

There, as more than 500 people gathered outside near the morgue, shots from Israeli machine guns and assault rifles hit the courtyard.

Ziv said the shooting by Israeli forces was prompted by mortar fire from a nearby position; at the hospital, two explosions were heard before shooting began.

Last month, Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat appealed for an end to attacks against Israeli civilians. But a few days later Islamic militants staged a pair of suicide bombings that killed seven Israelis, prompting a 10-day Israeli siege of Arafat's West Bank headquarters.

Israel withdrew from the devastated Ramallah compound under U.S. and United Nations pressure last week, and there have since been signs of a fledgling Palestinian campaign to move to a strategy of nonviolent resistance to Israel's occupation.

2003 Royal Purple yearbook

we've got the stories you've got to read.

Buy your copy for $32.95
in Kedzie 103
or call 532-6555.

here for auto
SAVINGS

Westgate
Wheel Aligning & Balancing
776-4239
610 Hayes Dr. • Behind Wal-Mart

Car Clinic, Inc.

"We care about you and your car"

- Tune ups, electrical repairs
- Heater & A/C service
- Computer engine analysis
- Transmission services

Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

214 Colorado 539-1040

AUTOMASTER
REPAIR & SERVICE

15% OFF the Services Below
(expires Nov. 30th)
with coupon

tune up • flush & refill cooling system • motor vac • lube, oil, and filter • transmission service

785-539-4757
700 Pecan Circle
M-F 7:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m.

Precision Automotive Inc.
537-5050

Westside Location
1120 Waters St.
Behind Car Quest West

Go Cats!

Complete Car & Truck Service & Repair Center
Domestic & Imported

Mon.-Fr. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

AUTOCRAFT
Domestic & Import Specialists
COMPLETE AUTO REPAIR & SERVICE

Including Brakes • Tune-Up •
Complete Engine Overhauls •
Major & Minor Repairs

ASE Master Certified
GM Master Certified
Nissan Master

Over 15 years experience

Open Mon-Fri, 8am-5pm
201-B Service Circle
(behind Wal-Mart)
537-5049

Motorcycle Supply

Apparel • Helmets
Leather • Tires
Batteries
STREET & DIRT

431 S. 5th
Manhattan • 776-6177

GOODSON
AUTO TRIM

Complete Upholstering &
Fabric • Custom Made Auto
& Truck Seat Covers • Convertible Tops • Headliners • Boat Upholstery &
Covers • Vinyl Tops

776-7679
201 SARBER LN • BETWEEN K-MART & WALMART

PIT STOP
AUTOMOTIVE

SPECIALS

- Tune-Ups • Brakes
- Exhaust • Shocks

OIL CHANGE, LUBE,
FILTER, plus disposal
(Up to 5 qts.) $19.95

TRANSMISSION Flush complete fluid exchange $79.95

Coolant Exchange with New Antifreeze $59.95

4 WHEEL COMPUTER
ROTATION AND BALANCE $29.95
Includes free brake inspection for cars and light trucks
(By appointment)

MOST CARS
Wilbur Hunter-ASE & Ford
Certified 42 Years Experience
Owner Bud Valerius

1629 FAIRLANE • MANHATTAN • 785-539-6650

'CLIP N SAVE'

Oil Change Special (Up to 5 Quarts of oil filter and lube changes) $19.95

Tire Balance and Rotation w/
Free Brake Inspection (Most cars and light trucks) $29.95

OPPY'S WESTSIDE AMOCO
3001 Anderson Ave. 605 S. 3rd St.
785-539-4331 785-776-9940
MANHATTAN, KS 66502

ASE Certified
Call for appointment
Accept all major credit cards
(Expiration 12-15-2002)

AMOCO

776-8311

ExpertTire

Oil Change & Filter
• Install new filter
• Includes flush up to 5 quarts of premium motor oil
• Lubricate chassis (if applicable)
• Free 14 Point Courtesy Check
Most vehicles. Add $2 for additional tire.

ExpertTire
$11.99 (off)
OCT 19

Synthetic Blend Oil
Protects vital engine parts Better than conventional motor oil
Only $21.99

FREE
Brake Inspection
• Low Brake Pad? • Pulvation?
• Grinding or Squeaking? • Pulling?
We'll visually inspect your vehicle's braking system including brake pads / shoes, master cylinder, hydraulic system, brake hardware and measure the thickness of the brake drums and rotors.
Offer ends 10/15/02
ExpertTire

Complete Radiator System Service
• Inspect cooling system & pressure test for leaks
• Flush system
• Refill with correct amount of recycled anti-freeze
• Add coolant / bleeds
A Manufacturer's
Scheduled
Maintenance
Service
$49.99 (off)
OCT 19

Brake Service
• $20 off per axle
• Nationwide warranty
• Offer applies to both disc and drum brakes
FREE
Brake Inspection!
$40 OFF (off)
OCT 19

Computerized Wheel Alignment
• Inspect your vehicle's steering/suspension
• Align vehicle to manufacturer's specifications
• Road test vehicle
$39.99 (off)
OCT 19

Belts, Hoses,
Wiper Blades,
Headlights
• Save On Installed Parts Price.
$5 OFF (off)
OCT 19

Fantasy football offers release

Fans able to fight back in world of no loyalty

NICK BRATKOVICH

Fantasy football causes people to do strange things. You forget who your team is.

Loyalty is thrown out the window.

Suddenly, you don't care if the Broncos won, as long as Brian Griese scores enough points.

As an avid fantasy football player, I care more about my franchise than I do any other team.

Sounds myopic, huh?

But when your team is successful, you don't care as much if your favorite teams get beat. Their games are less important.

It just changes everything. Sports used to be about cheering on the hometown football team, or whichever your favorite team happened to be.

Fantasy football changes that.

In a way, it is the fans' revenge on greedy millionaire athletes.

You get to worry only about the money and have little loyalty to the players from year to year. The thrill of competition gives you a reason to cheer. If the Chiefs suck, so what? You have your own team to care about.

Fans are not as loyal as they once were. Maybe that is a product of the world we live in.

This world of free agency where all we ever hear about is the money, where contract disputes plague fans late into training camp, and where salary caps muddle our perceptions of the game.

In this world, where players move on after years of greatness with a team, and the game is increasingly called a business, fantasy football makes the sport pure again.

It is the fans' way to fight back.

You can just focus on the individual player's productivity. Did you start the right guy? Who is going to perform better against what defense? How much does the Art Modell factor enter into play with starting a quarterback?

(The Modell factor predicts 10 points for each Cleveland Browns player every time they play Baltimore.) It doesn't always work.

Still, fantasy football is the fans' answer to the junk the business side of football puts us through.

It is a chance to have a league of our own.

As I write this, I realize one thing. I am pretty freaking lame, but nonetheless addicted to fantasy football and to winning.

With that, I give my quarterly awards for fantasy football.

■ Biggest disappointment: Marshall Faulk

■ Second biggest disappointment: Kurt Warner

■ Most memorable quarter: Shaun Alexander's second quarter performance in week four against Minnesota

■ Biggest surprise: Deuce McAllister

■ Second biggest surprise: The Chiefs' offense.

Is there anything stranger in the world than Kansas City leading the fantasy league in points?

Anyway, that is my two cents for this week. Rock on, fantasy leaguers.

Nick is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at neb8030@ksu.edu.

BUSY, BUSY BUHL

Junior linebacker sets career marks in Cats' loss to Colorado

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

BOULDER, Colo. — Josh Buhl was in on a lot of tackles Saturday.

Maybe not every tackle, or even most of the them — but enough to grab the attention of K-State players and coaches.

Buhl recorded a career-high 19 tackles in the Cats' 35-31 loss to Colorado this weekend, a bright spot on what was a dark day for K-State, Coach Bill Snyder said.

"Josh has played well throughout the course of the season," Snyder said. "He can be in a lot of places, but sometimes wherever you are may not be the right place. He is a guy that plays with a great deal of passion, and one of those guys I am sure suffered through a lot of frustration and wanted to make some plays and tried to turn it loose every snap he could."

Buhl said that's exactly what he tried to do. Of his 19 tackles Saturday, the junior recorded 11 in solo efforts. He notched 11 solo tackles against Nebraska last year.

After the game, Buhl was oblivious to his personal accomplishments. But even when he was informed of his performance, it didn't make the feeling of defeat go away.

"However many it was, it

See BUHL Page 9

K-State linebacker Josh Buhl tackles Colorado wide receiver Derek McCoy in Saturday's loss against the Buffaloes. Buhl had 19 tackles during the game — 11 of which were unassisted.

Jeanel Drake | COLLEGIAN

Tennis turns in successful showing at Indiana tourney

By Ben Fehr
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Six of 15 singles wins.

Five of eight doubles victories.

That makes for a .478 winning percentage, a mark the Wildcat tennis team brought back from weekend action in a Big 12 versus Big 10 battle in Bloomington, Ind.

The tournament pitted K-State, Missouri and Kansas against Indiana, Ohio State and Iowa.

Three Wildcats improved their singles records to 2-1 in Indiana. Maria Rosenberg beat Steffi Hoch, Andrea Cooper defeated Chelsea Glynn, and Hayley McIver beat Gloria Okino.

Coach Steve Bietau said he was looking for a progress report from this weekend's action and was particularly impressed with the play of Rosenberg, Cooper and McIver.

"Going in, we wanted to see what kind of progress we'd made," Bietau said. "My feeling was, from what I'd seen in practice, that it had really been a productive summer."

"It's nice to see, because (Rosenberg's) worked so hard to make herself better. She was much improved in the area of being able to finish points. Not to just stay in and grind it out, but to step up and hit winners."

Bietau said Cooper did a number of good things as well.

"Andrea was another one I felt took a big jump," he said.

"She was very competitive against the three in this tournament. She was really struggling at the beginning and was able to sort of calm herself and get back in it."

"And then later in the second set, when it is tight and you have to come up with some big shots to stay in it, she did that. Her game has really gone up a couple of notches."

Bietau said another player whose game has gone up a notch is McIver.

"Hayley is another one," Bietau said. "She beat two players this weekend that she couldn't beat last year. She's more fit, and she's able to block out some distractions she couldn't deal with before."

Though K-State did have some players do well, senior Petra Sedlmajerova, who went 0-3 in singles play.

Bietau said this had a lot to do with

File photo by Drew Rose | COLLEGIAN
K-State's Andrea Cooper competes against Missouri's Caitlin Thompson last season. The Cats won all six singles matches and shutout the Tigers on April 7 at Ahearn Field House.

the opponents Sedlmajerova was pitted against.

"Petra came into this and she's 0-3 on the weekend," he said.

"But she's playing against the ones. The difference between winning or losing there is probably a couple of points in a set. The difference between winning or losing at No. 4 is twenty points a set."

Bietau said that Sedlmajerova is now in a position to grow as a player.

"She's real competitive," he said. "Coming away from a tournament 0-3 is not something she's used to and it's not something she likes. That sort of cranks up the pressure on her to say, 'All right, what did I do wrong here, and what do I have to get straightened out before regionals?'"

Bietau said his team can take away some benefits from this weekend.

"Our players have an improved confidence level," Bietau said. "There is a really strong sense of accomplishment for the ones who did move up, and there's also that example for the ones who didn't."

"This weekend we gained confidence, an example and lessons about what to do next."

Equestrian riders nab top-3 finishes in weekend shows

Wilson and Fox lead Cats, qualify for Regionals

By Brent Gray
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Wildcat equestrian team came away with a first-place finish this weekend on the first day and a third-place finish on the second day of the Iowa State Western Show in Ames, Iowa.

The team scored 25 points on the first day, but on the second day the Cats did not come away as lucky — only scoring 13 points, which earned them a tie for third with Southwest Missouri State.

"The girls did very well," Coach Lindsay Breidenthal said. "What went wrong on the second day was more of the horses' fault than the girls'."

The weekend was highlighted by two Cat riders qualifying for regionals.

Junior Beverly Wilson took first in Intermediate II on Sunday, and senior Amber Fox finished in first place in Beginner. Both riders' efforts were good enough to assure them spots at the Region 2 Championship Competition on March 9 in Kewanee, Ill.

To qualify for post-season competition, a rider must "point up" from her current division. To be eligible, she must earn 35 points during the year. If the rider is in open division, she must earn 28 points.

Points earned carry over from year to year unless the rider competes in open competition.

Senior Amanda Gigot paced the Cats over the weekend, placing first in open horsemanship and second in open reining. She earned High-Point Rider honors for the second day and Reserve High-Point Rider on the first day.

In each of the previous three shows, Gigot earned High-Point Reserve Rider.

"Amanda did very well," Breidenthal said. "She pulled her weight on this team all weekend."

During the first day, Gigot and junior Brandi Vogel helped the Cats grab first place. Vogel won first in the open horsemanship, and Gigot finished second in open reining.

The difference in the two days was the horses, Breidenthal said.

"On the second day the horses were a

See EQUINE Page 9

1-MINUTE DRILL

K-State Sports Information

Basketball | Men's team announces walk-on tryouts for 2002-03 season

The K-State men's basketball team will have its annual open tryout at 6:30 p.m. Monday in Bramlage Coliseum. Interested students must pick up and complete a tryout information packet, which is available at the men's basketball office located in suite 133 of Bramlage Coliseum.

"We are looking for hard working kids who would like a shot playing Division I basketball," assistant coach Charles Baker said.

"We believe this will be an exciting season and are extending an invitation to talented individuals that may have been passed over in the recruiting process to come and work out with us."

In order to be eligible, a student must be enrolled in a minimum of 12 course hours and in academic good standing. Players desiring to try out for the team must also have passed a physical exam in the last 12 months and possess proof of medical insurance.

Since Coach Jim Wooldridge arrived at K-State prior to the 2000-01 season, at least one student has made the K-State team as a walk-on.

• • •

The Associated Press

NFL | Chiefs hope Andersen will be OK

Maybe time's catching up with the oldest player in the NFL.

Forty-two-year-old kicker Morten Andersen pulled a hamstring on his plant leg while warming up for Kansas City's game at the New York Jets on Sunday.

Even though he booted three field goals — extending his streak to 23 in a row — the Chiefs are pulling "guys off the street" in case Andersen can't be ready for this week's game at San Diego, Coach Dick Vermeil said Monday.

The biggest concern may be kickoffs. Andersen couldn't get much distance on his kickoffs Sunday.

• • •

NBA | Sprewell told to stay away

Latrell Sprewell was fined $250,000 and told to stay away from the New York Knicks for failing to tell the team he broke his shooting hand two weeks before training camp.

The fine was believed to be the largest ever imposed by an NBA team on a player. Although he was not officially suspended, Sprewell was effectively banished from the Knicks until he can make what team president Scott Layden called "a positive contribution."

Sprewell underwent surgery last week to repair a broken bone in his hand and will be sidelined at least five more weeks. The Knicks open the season Oct. 30.

• • •

MLB | DJ fired for prank call

The Phoenix disc jockey who made an on-air prank call to the widow of St. Louis Cardinals pitcher Darryl Kile was fired, the radio station announced Monday.

KUPD-FM morning radio personality Beau Duran called Flynn Kile at her hotel and asked if she had a date to last Thursday's playoff game.

The stunt outraged St. Louis Cardinals manager Tony La Russa and prompted an apology from the Arizona Diamondbacks.

KUPD suspended Duran last week, but in a written statement Monday, general manager Chuck Artigue said Duran was fired. Kile, a starting pitcher for the Cardinals, died from blocked coronary arteries in June while in Chicago for a game.

BY THE NUMBERS

Tiger Woods still leads the PGA world in yearly earnings through the first week of October. Woods isn't scheduled to play in a tournament for a few more weeks. Here is a look at the rest of the top 25 money leaders.

PGA Tour Money Leaders

	Trm	Money
1. Tiger Woods	16	$6,496,025
2. Phil Mickelson	24	$3,870,371
3. Ernie Els	17	$3,180,695
4. Vijay Singh	26	$2,842,873
5. Rich Beem	27	$2,822,862
6. Jerry Kelly	26	$2,698,749
7. Justin Leonard	24	$2,612,235
8. David Toms	24	$2,597,406
9. Retief Goosen	14	$2,471,004
10. Sergio Garcia	20	$2,319,993
11. Fred Funk	27	$2,270,911
12. Shigeki Maruyama	23	$2,103,594
13. Nick Price	17	$2,079,912
14. Len Mattiace	25	$2,079,646
15. Jim Furyk	22	$2,004,309
16. Chris DiMarco	25	$1,961,830
17. K.J. Choi	24	$1,939,120
18. Charles Howell III	29	$1,928,647
19. Jose Maria Olazabal	18	$1,906,027
20. Rocco Mediate	20	$1,897,933
21. Robert Allenby	23	$1,860,317
22. Chris Riley	25	$1,838,374
23. Loren Roberts	23	$1,829,543
24. Bob Estes	23	$1,803,100
25. Davis Love III	23	$1,768,379

IMPROMPTU PLAYING

Ryan Hurley, of Scholar, performs at O'Malley's for Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Manhattan Inc. "It's fantastic to play outside on the patio, plus it's for charity," he said.

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Local musicians join in national trend of jamming out

By J. Scott Bowman
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Mother Kali percussionist Clint Hutchens slows the beat down and looks at his band mates.

The connection everyone has in the band is close. They try to know what each person is thinking on stage, and at their best, they are able to communicate with a glance.

Josh Finley, bassist, looks at Hutchens. Knowing what's about to ensue, he nods his head, and the beat picks up as the band slips into a jam session.

"The part of a jam session that I enjoy most is that it feels good creating music with no boundaries," Finley said. "It's fun because you can do anything you want to do. There are no rules when you are out there jamming."

Jam sessions are common for several bands that have gained a following in Manhattan. It gives them an opportunity to explore and create music. Often, structured songs are brought together from these sessions, Finley said.

Jam music is part of a national trend that has been brought into the pop mainstream by artists such as the Dave Matthews Band, but its roots go deeper than the fiddle solo of "Ants Marching."

The Jammy Awards recognize jam musicians across the nation, and the Bonnaroo jam music festival drew more than 70,000 people to a 500-acre farm in Manchester, Tenn., in June.

The music has infested college campuses across the country, and K-State is no exception.

Mother Kali is an Indian-influenced jam band that consists of five members, three of whom play percussive instruments.

The band has a repertoire of structured songs, but the musicians still rely heavily on jam sessions to realize a creative goal.

"It gives you so much freedom to play," Finley said. "We have several structured songs, but normally we just cut loose. I'd have to say that most of our shows are improvised."

We like to have a good time, so changing it up all the time creates a special connection between us and the audience, and that makes it all very interesting."

Scholar, while not a jam band, is influenced by jam music in its style. The band plays a more straightforward pop that owes more to the style of Dave Matthews. Tom O'Toole, guitarist for Scholar, said much of what they do is based on audience response.

Jamming creates spontaneity. The audience is often on its toes anticipating what will happen next, and that makes it intriguing, O'Toole said.

"It's an artistic outlet for us," O'Toole said. "And with having such a busy schedule anymore, it gives you an opportunity to let go. It's a big release for everyone. But it's especially a very rewarding experience for the audience."

Other bands in Manhattan owe a nod to jam music. Special Guest is known for jamming nearly a full hour with no vocals. Loco Macheen, Finley's other band, melds many musical influences to create one melting pot of sound.

The free-form impromptu performances these bands use have a long history that can be traced back to jazz musicians.

The Grateful Dead, formed in the early 1960s, was well versed in jazz, blues, country and rock 'n' roll, and often experimented with improvisation. The Dead gained a following based on its entertaining and original concerts. They created a spontaneous sound that caught on, and they continued to tour for decades.

Fast forward two decades to a group called Phish. After catching on as a Grateful Dead-inspired jam band, a new generation was exposed to songs longer than five minutes.

With a similar sound, they had broad influences, including the Dead, as well as artists like Frank Zappa and ZZ Top.

Some of the other more modern popular bands that fall into the same jam band category are Widespread Panic and Rusted Root. The style has permeated mainstream pop through artists such as Ben Harper, Tim Reynolds and Gov't Mule.

No matter how broad a background members of a band may have, they all tend to meld together. However, most jam band bands will name the Grateful Dead as one of their largest influences on their love for jamming, Hutchens said.

Jam music online

- The Jammy Awards
www.jammys.com
- Bonnaroo Music Festival
www.pauserecord.com/events/bonnaroo.html
- Jambands.com
www.jambands.com

Editor's note: This is the second part of a series that examines specific national trends in music styles and the local bands working in those styles.

"I know that for me, it's The Grateful Dead, Moe., and Rusted Root. And I know our lead singer (Shiva Kumar) is really moved by Dead Can Dance. But one thing that is similar to each one is that there is so much texture involved with the music."

For Mother Kali, jamming normally starts when a percussionist picks the beat. Then musicians add their own sounds for a loosely structured song, Finley said.

Some musicians not only like the loose structure and the creativity that comes from jamming, but they find it more comfortable, Hutchens said.

"Personally, it's more relaxing as a stage presence," Hutchens said.

"When you cover a song, you think about it the whole time. And then you start to worry about it over and over. You think, 'I have to play this chord here and keep the beat just right there.'

"But when you jam, you just don't worry as much. Most times, if you make a tiny mistake, people won't notice, so you can just concentrate on whatever you want. You can cut loose and zone out, and just let the music come."

"It seems like there are a lot of bands that are testosterone-filled and like to come out and shout about how they're going to kick everyone's butt," he said. "On the other hand, there's us. We like to have fun and let the music speak for itself."

The musicians agree that both the band as well as the audience benefit from jamming, O'Toole said.

"I know for me, I've written all of my music from jamming," he said. "Someone will come up with a riff or a beat, and I'll remember that when I write music."

The bands appreciate the loyalty of jam music fans, O'Toole said.

"It's great that people come out and watch us, too. I think people are starting to find out that the music scene, and not just jam band-wise, in Manhattan is growing, and we love the support."

Clint Eldman of Loco Macheen plays on his antique washer and cans. "We came here to play for the charity and mainly to just have a good time," he said.

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

"K-19" debuts in St. Petersburg theaters for Russian veterans

Veterans of the Soviet K-19 nuclear submarine gave mixed reviews to the Hollywood film based on their crew's story, praising the heroism the actors portrayed but taking issue with what they called the film's many inaccuracies.

The 52 veterans were flown in from cities across Russia and Ukraine to attend the Russian premiere of "K-19: The Widowmaker" Sunday in St. Petersburg.

The film, which stars Harrison Ford and Liam Neeson and opened in the United States in July, is based on a real accident that befell a Soviet nuclear submarine.

The K-19, the first Soviet submarine to carry ballistic missiles on board, was on its first training voyage in the neutral waters of the Northern Atlantic in July 1961, when its reactor cooling system sprang a leak, sending the core temperature skyrocketing and threatening a meltdown.

The submarine's captain and 139-man crew stayed on board to repair the system, and exposed themselves to severe radiation.

Eight crew members died within weeks of the accident, 12 died over the next two years, and 20 others suffered long-term illnesses.

Some shed tears during the film's screening at St. Petersburg's famous Mariinsky Theater.

Industry leaders report increased interest in Christian music

Merging several styles into Christian music has helped increase its audience and sales and attract young listeners, industry leaders say.

"The music is amazing and refreshing," Dale Baker, a marketing representative with EMI Records, told the Chillicothe Gazette. "You've got every style in there: rap, hard rock, dance, everything." Christian music sales increased 13.5 percent in 2001, and 18 percent through the first seven months of this year, the newspaper reported in a recent series.

NEW RELEASES

DVD (*also on video)

"Scooby Doo"
"Enough"
"Jason X"
"The Son's Room"
"Jason Goes to Hell"
"Beauty and the Beast"
"The Big Picture"

Music

Peter Green: "Peter Plays the Blues"
Kid Johnny Lang: "Smokin'"
John Michael Montgomery: "Pictures"
Michael Feinstein: "Livingston and Evans Songbook"
Sinead O'Connor: "Sean-Nos Nua"
George Winston: "Night Divides the Day"
Jurassic 5: "Power in Numbers"
WC: "Ghetto Heisman"
Ben Folds: "Ben Folds Live"
Bjork: "Family Tree"
Ben Jovi: "Bounce"
Art Garfunkel: "Everything Waits to be Noticed"
Gov't Mule: "The Deep End, Vol. 2"
Jennifer Love Hewitt: "Barenaked"
King Crimson: "Happy With What You Have to be Happy With" Kottonmouth Kings: "Rollin' Stoned"
Luna: "Close Cover Before Striking"
Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers: "The Last DJ"
Yes: "Keys to Ascension 2"
Christina Milian: "Christina Milian"
Yasmeen: "When Will it Be Me"

Supported by

Digital Shelf

5,000+ different DVD titles
701 N. 11th 776-6959

www.ksuDIGITALSHELF.com

Location: Digital Shelf Pt. II
1344 Westloop

Hours:
Mon.-Sun. 11 a.m.-midnight

sell us your DVDs & video games

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

Bush taking step toward ending lockout after port talks break off

The formation of the board of inquiry – a step taken only rarely by presidents – is required under the Taft-Hartley Act before the president can order management to let the workers back in.

COLLEGE IS TOUGH. COMMERCE IS EASY.

When you're in college, the last thing you want to worry about is banking. Lucky for you, Commerce Bank has made the decision easy. Open a checking account today and turn your ID card into an ATM/debit card that can be used all over campus and all over town.

Use your card at any of these convenient locations:

OFF CAMPUS

Apples & Art & Frame
Ballard's Sporting Goods
Candlewood Aesthetics
Candlewood Medical Skin Care
Candlewood Veterinary Clinic
Cay Company Inc.
Cats' Closet
Children's Book Shop
Corner Chiropractic
Domino's Pizza
Dr. Paul Bellock, Optometrist
Eve Wisdom, D.D.S., P.A.
G. Thomas Jewelers
Gonding Light Greening Gifts
& Nutrition
Hibiscus Hut
Homeside Rental Furniture
Warehouses
Joe Grack, Inc. Me-knowlege Veterinary Education
Supply
K-Hill Engine Service
Kishner's Flowers &
Floriculture
Lioness Shoe Service
Orthopedic Sports Medicine
Pulstep Antiques

Randall's Formal Wear
Reed & Elliott Jewelers
Reid's Hallmark
Rosa's Last Chance
Rosa's Next Door
Rosa's Other Side
Stonerock Family Physicians
Taylor's Shoes
Texas Star Cafe
The K State Place
The Palace
The People's Grocery
Varrity's Bookstore

ON CAMPUS

Animal Science & Industry
Athletics
Bluebonnet Buffet
Career & Employment
Continuing Education
Diagnostic Medicine
Duke Library
Housing Dining Services
Office
K-State Extension Forestry
K-State ID Center
K-State Union Bookstore
K-State Union Cats' Den
K-State Union Computer Store
K-State Union Copy Center
K-State Union Food Court
K-State Union Recreation
Center
Labette Health Center
McCain Auditorium
Moore Hall Food Store
Parking Services
Quick Cats - Varsity
Recreational Services
Registrar's Office
Student Publications
Telecommunications
Union Business Office
Union Program Council
University Cashier's Office
Veterinary Medicine Hospital
Veterinary Medicine
Instructional Technology
Center

Call, click, or come by • 532-3500 • www.commercebank.com

Commerce Bank

Golf teams stumble in early rounds, look for improvement

Watkins can't repeat Colbert performance; men in 12th after 1st day at Missouri event

By Tom Fontana
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Another poor first round haunted the K-State men's golf team for the fourth consecutive tournament Monday at the Purina Classic in St. Charles, Mo.

The Cats were in last place heading into the afternoon round after opening with a first-round score of 301. As has been the case all season, the second round was a different story.

K-State shaved 15 shots off its morning score to finish with a 286, jumping two spots to 12th at 587.

"The afternoon round was fine. But the morning score was just too high," Coach Tim Norris said. "It was a combination of a lot of things. Aaron Watkins started slow, but finished fast. It's not anything you can put a finger on. It's just golf. We were one score away in the afternoon from posting a really good team score."

Junior Aaron Watkins struggled through the first few holes

Monday, but he rebounded to finish in a tie for 21st place, carding a 1-over 143.

"Aaron struggled to open the morning round," Norris said. "He was 4-over after three holes, but he was 3-under for the last 15 holes."

Juniors Greg Douglas and A.J. Elgert finished the first day in a tie for 44th, shooting a 7-over 149.

Freshman Josh Persons shot 11-over in the opening round but was the only Wildcat on Monday to post a score under par with an afternoon 70.

"Josh is a true freshman, so he's still got butterflies," Norris said. "But he showed a lot of poise after an 82, coming out with a 70."

Norris said the low scores can be attributed to the excellent conditions at the Missouri Bluffs Golf Club, along with the lift, clean and place rule that enables players to clean the ball when in the fairway.

"The conditions were the exact opposite of the ones at Colbert Hills last week," he said. "There was no wind. The greens were soft - not a lot softer than Colbert, but there was a noticeable difference."

Illinois leads the Purina Classic after posting a 559, four shots better than Baylor and eight better than Iowa State and Florida Southern.

"We had a lot of poise, a quality that will carry us throughout the year," he said.

"With the conditions and scoring, we weren't able to separate from the pack today. But you look at this afternoon and we had the seventh best score. We were in last place after this morning, but we made some pretty good progress this afternoon."

Norris said he hopes the team can post lower scores today when the 14-team field concludes the tournament with a shotgun start at 8:15 a.m.

"We need some scores under par," he said. "Wasn't so much the high scores today, but we didn't have enough low ones. Low scores will be the theme tomorrow."

Another slow start sinks K-State women; team still looking forward to final round

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Slow starts continue to plague the Wildcat women.

The women's golf team had a tough Monday morning, shooting a 318 to open the Shootout at the Legends in Franklin, Ind.

The team's afternoon-round 301 wasn't enough to make up any ground either. Coach Kristi Knight said K-State sits in 10th, 30 shots off the leader going into today's final round.

It could be the first time the team has not placed in the top five this season.

"Placing in the top five is out of the question," Knight said. "I just want everyone to have a good round tomorrow and do some good things."

Monday just wasn't a good day, she said. Putts that didn't fall were the biggest problem, Knight said. The team wasn't hitting the ball badly - they just weren't finishing.

"Players, at times, were being too aggressive and didn't judge their distances well," she said. "Eight-foot putts for birdies ended up as five-foot putts for par. And we had to earn that."

You can't start poorly and expect to be competitive, Knight said. Not in this field.

Kent State shot a 301 in the morning round, then followed it with a 288 for a day-one total of 589 to lead the field going into today's final round.

After seeing them win the Mary Fossum Invitational in Michigan Sept. 21-22, Knight said it would be tough to compete.

"Hopefully we will have a good day two and put up a good number, but we can't compete with this field," she said. "We had a good comeback in round two, but (Monday) morning was just too bad."

Senior Miranda Smith had a taste of how her day was going to go on her first hole.

She started on No. 4, a short par four with a hazard in front of the green and out of bounds on the left. Smith pulled out her driver, and she ended up hitting a duck-hook out of bounds.

Knight said it was the strangest fluke, but four of the six Wildcats also hit it out of bounds on that same hole.

It was those kinds of penalties that killed the Cats in day one, she said.

Smith was not available for comment, but Knight said Smith played respectably. She shot a first-round 79 and an afternoon-round 73 to lead the squad. Smith sits in a tie for 22nd place overall.

"Miranda was very unhappy," Knight said. "Nobody had really seen the scoreboard until we were loading the van. Somebody said a 301 wasn't bad, but they didn't hear we shot a 318 in the morning. Miranda was very disappointed. Everyone was."

"This morning, nobody could get going, and we had to count a 79 and two 80s. It's a difficult course, but really, everyone was just struggling."

So for the fourth-straight tournament, the Cats have started slowly but put together a solid second round. Knight said that will hopefully give the team confidence for today's final round.

"The first round is behind us," she said. "Now we are playing for us."

Thank God the Fourum is back. I have been paying $2.95 a minute to confess to Miss Cleo all summer.

Can't get enough Fourum? Get your Fourum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110
For Rent-
Apt.
Unfurnished

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

ADVERTISE
CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

120
For Rent-
Houses

HOUSE FOR RENT flexible lease dates. Three-bedroom, washer/dryer, single car garage. 2039 College View. No pets. (785)456-7255 / (785)456-9000.

RESERVE NOW for next semester. Four-bedroom, two bath brick home west of KSU stadium. Completely remodeled with everything new. No pets. (785)556-6899.

we kick ads.
CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

150
Sublease

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for three-bedroom/ two bath apartment for spring. Rent $260/ month, split utilities. Contact Lindsey, (785)587-9708.

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. 1031 Moro. $350/ month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

200 service directory

310
Help Wanted

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking full-time retail Garden Center staff. Sales experience preferred, plant knowledge helpful, weekends a must. Heat tolerance and lifting required. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xcalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

NOTICE OF JOB OPPORTUNITY. Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office will receive applications for a Telecommunications Officer. This is a full-time position with benefits available. Ability to perform in stressful situations is a necessity. Duties involve responsibility of dispatching Radio Patrol Vehicles to assigned calls, operations of enhanced 9-1-1 computer terminal and computer aided dispatch. Position requires intermediate computer skills and familiarity with Windows 2000 or NT systems. Must be of good moral character, with no felony convictions or past background which would show disrespect for the law. Must be at least 18 years of age and willing to work evening, weekends, and holidays. Base wage is $8.73. For additional information contact the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Office, 106 Main, Westmoreland, KS 66549. (785)457-3353. Drug and alcohol testing is a prerequisite to employment. Applications will be accepted through October 10, 2002. Pottawatomie County is an equal opportunity employer.

310
Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/ Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $360/ month. 12th and Vattier. Available December 1. Cozy. Water/ trash paid. Sublease or lease. (785)539-5516 or (785)313-2823.

TWO-BEDROOM. TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

FOUR-BEDROOM. NEAR campus, central air, washer/ dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/ pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus. nice four-bedroom plus house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7050.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com.

RESEARCH ASSISTANT needed to monitor people in a sleep experiment at KSU. Five nights per week for six weeks, 10:30 p.m. to 7:00 a.m., starting Oct. 21 (excluding Thanksgiving week). $12- $14 per hour. Contact peej@ksu.edu for details and application.

330
Business
Opportunities

THE OPPORTUNITY of a Lifetime
www.therhinoway.com

400
open market

410
Items for Sale

CLARINET FOR Sale! Buffet R-13. Great condition, just cleaned, new pads. $1800. Please call (785)587-9053.

COACH HANDBAGS and Turquoise jewelry, snowmen, K-State items, Cache clothing and designer girls clothes. (785)565-9608.

Student Travel America

COLLEGE SNOW RIDE Party 6 days, 5 nts, with a 4 day lift ticket

DURANGO MT. RESORT COLORADO

call (800) 235-TRIP
www.studenttravelamerica.com

DRAFTING TABLE with parallel bar, 42.5 inches by 30.5 inches. Call (785)293-5552.

465
Tickets to
Buy/Sell

WANTED: STUDENT GA or ICAT tickets to OSU game. Pay top dollar. Call (785)323-1758

500
transportation

1993 CHEVY pick-up $3000. 1992 Lincoln Town Car $4000 or take both for $6000. Call (785)770-8229.

1995 CHEVY Lumina. V-6. Air-conditioning, flip-face CD, reliable/ excellent/ sharp car. $2600 negotiable. (785)776-3249 Tony.

330
Business
Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/ Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

1985 YAMAHA Maxim X 700. 10,000 miles, new front tire, excellent condition. Great bike! $1600. Call Keenan (785)395-5681.

600
travel trips

610
Tour Package

#1 College Ski Week

BRECKENRIDGE Ski 5 resorts for the price of 1

1-800-SKI-WILD

CLARINET FOR Sale! Buffet R-13. Great condition, just cleaned, new pads. $1800. Please call (785)587-9053.

COACH HANDBAGS and Turquoise jewelry, snowmen, K-State items, Cache clothing and designer girls clothes. (785)565-9608.

Student Travel America

COLLEGE SNOW RIDE Party 6 days, 5 nts, with a 4 day lift ticket

DURANGO MT. RESORT COLORADO

call (800) 235-TRIP
www.studenttravelamerica.com

DRAFTING TABLE with parallel bar, 42.5 inches by 30.5 inches. Call (785)293-5552.

465
Tickets to
Buy/Sell

WANTED: STUDENT GA or ICAT tickets to OSU game. Pay top dollar. Call (785)323-1758

500
transportation

1993 CHEVY pick-up $3000. 1992 Lincoln Town Car $4000 or take both for $6000. Call (785)770-8229.

1995 CHEVY Lumina. V-6. Air-conditioning, flip-face CD, reliable/ excellent/ sharp car. $2600 negotiable. (785)776-3249 Tony.

330
Business
Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/ Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

1985 YAMAHA Maxim X 700. 10,000 miles, new front tire, excellent condition. Great bike! $1600. Call Keenan (785)395-5681.

630
Spring
Break

KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1145 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

SPRING BREAK 2003 is now sponsored by Student Express! Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza! Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentexpress.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

WINTER BREAK IN Steamboat

PACKAGES INCLUDE: Lodging, Lift Tickets, FREE Dinner Charges, FREE Happy Hours, FREE Parties, Exclusive Discounts

1-800-SUNCHASE steamboat.sunchase.com

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext.14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Mardigras. TRAVEL FREE, Reps needed, earn $$$, Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578) ext. 2626 / www.springbreakdirect.com

REACH more readers

Place your classified ad online. Get more bang for your buck.

www.kstatecollegian.com

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility for the first wrong insertion.

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$8.00
each word over 20
20¢ per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.40
each word over 20
25¢ per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.05
each word over 20
30¢ per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less
$12.25
each word over 20
35¢ per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less
$13.35
each word over 20
40¢ per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD

Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

REACH more readers

Place your classified ad online. Get more bang for your buck.

www.kstatecollegian.com

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility for the first wrong insertion.

FESTIVAL

Martial arts group performs at Union festival

Continued from Page 1

apparel marketing and design, said. "We got a lot of people to stop, stare and ask questions."

Smith said the UPC tries to feature cultures that students might not be aware of, and they chose Brazil to correlate with Hispanic Heritage Month, which will take place until Oct. 16.

"We sponsored the festival to bring awareness and diversity on campus to a lot of people who don't get exposed to different cultures and backgrounds," Smith said. "We feel it's important to bring it to the K-State campus."

The festival also included free Brazilian food consisting of feijoada (black bean soup with pork), empada (crust filled with chicken and onions), collard greens and risotto al gorgonzola (fried rice). The food cost the UPC $475, Smith said.

"My favorite was the collard greens because it reminded me of a home-cooked meal," Abryn Neal, senior in business management, said.

The next Festival of Nations will be in November and will feature the Native American culture.

PETITION | Students continue to lobby for increased hours at Hale

Continued from Page 1

contribution by signing the petition.

"This is a pro-active, positive way for students to show opinions," he said. "It gets them involved in the process and shows them that an individual can make a difference."

Library hours were cut at the beginning of this year, but have since been reinstated.

"The reason we are still doing this is we want to show that students do care about this issue," he said.

Bridge said students should be aware that although the library hours have been reinstated this semester, there is no guarantee for future hours.

Vicki Conner, senate vice chair for SGA, said the cut-back in library hours was a small part of a larger problem.

"The difficulties with the library hours is it is just one more problem with the statewide budget cutbacks," she said.

Conner also said it is vital for students to voice their opinions.

"It is so important that we, as students, express to the state that we can't take any more cuts."

The library is a central study area for students and is an important part of each student's learning experience, Conner said.

Bridge said he is hopeful

The petition

I, the undersigned student, a member of the Kansas State University Student Body, feel that the reduction of Hale Library hours impedes my progress as a student. The library hours of the previous academic school year would best meet my needs. I wish to voice my concern and urge you to address this serious matter immediately.

about the petition.

Students can sign the petition in the Office of Student Activities and Services on the first floor of the K-State Student Union.

"We have been circulating the petition through different living groups and student organizations," he said. "I am hoping for 1,000 to 2,000 signatures."

Students are required to include their name and student identification number, Bridge said.

"We have got many signatures so far," Conner said. "We don't really use petition campaigns that often, but we knew it was not just a few students. This has affected such a large portion of students."

John O'Hara, Student Senate chair, said he feels petitions have been underused in the past, and he hopes they will be used more this year.

"It almost gives the student a say in what is going on," he said. "They get to sign that paper and show how they feel."

BUHL

Linebacker sets career marks against Buffs

Continued from Page 6

wasn't enough to win the ball game," Buhl said. "I didn't do enough to make enough big plays. We didn't play well as a team."

But Buhl did play well as an individual. His performance was just nine shy of the K-State all-time mark for tackles in a game — 28 by Danny Lankas in 1967.

And if Buhl could follow what Lankas did in his career, it will put him near the top of the career tackles list.

Buhl had 79 tackles in his first two seasons, but has 51 already this year.

Defensive back Terence Newman said the Colorado game just shows what Buhl is capable of doing.

"That's Josh Buhl for you though," he said. "He plays with his heart. He didn't want to lose like anyone else, but he plays his butt off."

But Buhl's performance wasn't good enough as the Cats gave up nearly 500 yards in offense to the Buffaloes.

Buhl said what got under his skin the most were the big plays they gave up.

K-State surrendered three plays of 70 yards or more to Colorado — all of which resulted in scores.

That was the difference in the game, Buhl said.

"There were some things we shouldn't have given up," he said.

"We're going to have to bounce back. We're going to have to scratch this off the board and continue on."

SNIPER | Injury of teenage victim instills fear among D.C. residents

Continued from Page 1

President Bush denounced the attacks as "cowardly and senseless acts of violence," and he promised government support to local authorities and schools.

The sniper has shot eight people since Wednesday, killing six of them.

Five died in Montgomery County within five miles of each other, and the sixth died on a Washington street. The latest attack was in neighboring Prince George's County, just north of the nation's capital.

Police say there have been no eyewitnesses and little to go on.

Ballistics tests found that the bullet which struck the boy was identical to those which killed some of the other victims and wounded a woman in Virginia, said Joe Riehl, an agent with the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

All victims were hit by a single shot.

In Monday's attack, a shot was heard and the boy slumped over, telling his aunt he thought he had been shot, Prince George's County Police Chief Gerald Wilson said. Police cars surrounded the school, and officers put up crime scene tape and searched the campus.

Schools in Montgomery and Prince George's counties initiated a code-blue alert, keeping students inside during recess and lunchtime.

Sharon Healy had just sent her 12-year-old son, Brandon, off to Benjamin Tasker on his bicycle when she heard of the shooting shortly after 8 a.m. She said she ran there and pulled him out of class.

"You think you're safe, but you're only as safe as your next step," Healy said.

In Lanham, Dana Buckner picked up her two children at Seabrook Elementary School as the school day came to a close. They normally ride the bus.

SUBS | Fastest-growing national franchise to open in early November

Continued from Page 1

store.

The store will have 15 to 20 employees, and Dreiling said they will start taking applications next week. It brings jobs for K-State students, as well as another option for eaters.

"The key is in the variety it gives people to choose from in Manhattan," Lyle Butler, president of the Manhattan Area

Chamber of Commerce said. "It allows people who live here a different place to eat. It gives us a whole new place in Manhattan to eat at."

Joe Elkinton, general manager of Goodcents Subs and Pastas, said it will bring another choice to Manhattan.

"I look forward to them being here," he said. "I'm interested to see the variety they are going to offer Manhattan."

EQUINE | Riders impress, qualify for Regionals

Continued from Page 6

little more sore and wouldn't cooperate with us," she said.

Overall, the show was a success, Breidenthal said, and now the Cats look forward to taking time off and tuning up their skills.

The Wildcats' next western show is Nov. 16 and 17, in Columbia, Mo.

For English riders, though, the next action is at home.

Breidenthal said the team still has a lot of work to do.

"We are going to try and make some corrections," she said. "We need to fix some of the small mistakes we've made, and we'll be ready for the next show."

Shear Dynamics Introduces Terra!
FREE HAIRCUT WITH HIGHLIGHT

- $10 off Pedicure or Massage
- $10 off any Body Treatment

w/ Christy or Stephanie

- 10% off All Retail
- Matrix•Redken•American Crew•Osis•OPI•

shear dynamics
 where beauty is just the beginning
 1700 Lawrence Road, Lawrence, KS 66044
 785.776.9100
 www.sheardynamics.net

Exp 10/31/02

ROTC

NOT ALL AIR FORCE ROTC STUDENTS FLY PLANES. GETTING THEIR TUITION PAID BY THE AIR FORCE IS THRILL ENOUGH.

Your pulse quickens. Your heart races. And that's just when you're in line at the bureau's office. But is picking up a full or partial scholarship just one of many experiences you can have in the Air Force ROTC. Get your hands on training through one of our summer internship programs. Hone your competitive edge at a leadership seminar. Then enjoy some serious downtime with up to $400 extra spending money in your pocket every month. Not to mention graduating with a guaranteed job and no student loans to pay back. Push your dreams, your life, your limits, your mind. Apply for a scholarship today by visiting AFROTC.COM or calling our toll-free number, 1-888-423-7532.

U.S. AIR FORCE ROTC

K-State Student Union Bookstore

RENTS DVDS AND DVD PLAYERS

New Releases $2.80
Other Titles $1.86

K-STATE STUDENT UNION Bookstore

royal RP purple

ARE YOU IN ?

Monday, Oct. 7 Sigma Chi 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Delta Chi 6:30 - 9:30 p.m.	Tuesday, Oct. 8 Tau Kappa Epsilon 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Sigma Phi Epsilon 6:30 - 9:30 p.m.	Wednesday, Oct. 9 Boyd Hall 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Theta Xi 6:30 - 9:30 p.m.
Thursday, Oct. 10 Ford Hall 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Phi Delta Theta 6:30 - 9:30 p.m.	Friday, Oct. 11 Haymaker Hall 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

altering | STATE

DON'T BE LEFT OUT!
 Get your free portrait pictures so you can be in the 2003 Royal Purple yearbook to order your yearbook with the new DVD-ROM go to Kedzie 103 or order one during your portrait pictures.

LIVE OFF CAMPUS?
 Union Courtyard
10a.m.-5p.m
 until Oct. 25

KANSAS STATE COLLEGE

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Wednesday, October 9, 2002

Deer endanger drivers

Motorists must watch for animals during fall months

By Crystal Becker
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When James Area drives home late at night, he's cautious — and for good reason.

Area, senior in international marketing and business, lives along McDowell Creek Road, about five miles outside Manhattan. The location is nice, but the neighbors are pesky.

"I counted 21 deer at one time in the pasture next to our house last year," Area said. "Deer are pretty heavy along the road, especially when you go toward the Konza prairie."

Area, who had a deer-vehicle accident in high school, said about five accidents have occurred in front of his house since spring 2002.

"I've had to stop several times because deer were crossing the road," he said. "It definitely gets worse when it gets colder out. You don't see them nearly as much in the summer."

Lloyd Fox, big game program coordinator for the Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks, said deer move the most from late September to January because of their mating season.

See DEER Page 12

Bush asks courts to force ports to reopen

By Leigh Strope
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Bush asked a federal court Tuesday to reopen West Coast ports and impose a cease-fire that would end a caustic 10-day labor lockout, which has cost the fragile economy as much as $1 billion a day.

"This dispute between management and labor cannot be allowed to further harm the economy and force thousands of working Americans from their jobs," Bush said in a hastily arranged announcement outside the Oval Office.

Bush's politically charged decision made him the first president in a quarter-century to intervene in a labor dispute under the Taft-Hartley Act. His speech, which was moved up 15 minutes, coincided with an announcement by the dockworkers' union agreeing to an 11th-hour truce proposed by Labor Department officials to return to work for 30 days under terms of the expired contract.

Shipping companies and terminal operators had not agreed to reopen the docks, however, after locking out workers 10 days ago. Their refusal forced the Bush administration to seek the court's help.

"We needed to reopen the ports, and we needed both parties to agree," said a White House official close to negotiations, who insisted the timing of Bush's announcement was not changed to scuttle an agreement. "We only had one side agreeing."

See WEST PORTS Page 12

Sex offender arrested

Graduate student to face charges for aggravated sexual battery

By Jessica Pitts
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A man arrested Friday for aggravated sexual battery could face an additional five charges, Riley County Assistant Attorney Valerie Peterson said.

Akkawit Aimdilokwong, 26, remained confined on a $5,000 bond on Tuesday.

Aimdilokwong, a graduate student in chemical engineering, was arrested for an incident that occurred in City Park between May and August, said Lt. Jay Mills of the Riley County Police Department.

Aimdilokwong
GRADUATE STUDENT
CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

"He allegedly came from behind and grabbed the woman," Mills said of the incident. Mills said that Aimdilokwong is a suspect in as many as five other sexual assault cases, including an incident that occurred at Manhattan Public Library in which a woman was grabbed in a sexual manner by a man she did not know.

Mills said he could not disclose the locations of other incidents until those cases had been reviewed by the Riley County Attorney's Office. They have been forwarded to Peterson for review.

"I received them Monday," Peterson said. "The suspect has had prior cases that he pled to, and we are in the process of reviewing the new cases."

Aimdilokwong, a convicted sex offender, was arrested April 17 in the K-State Student Union for aggravated assault.

Reports indicate that Aimdilokwong had been banned from campus but was

Sex offenders

Information, including photographs, about registered sex offenders residing in Kansas can be found online through the Kansas Bureau of Investigation at www.accesskansas.org.

allowed to take classes over the Internet. However, Scott Jones, assistant dean of student life, said he could not confirm those reports because the information is part of a student's record, which is private information.

Aimdilokwong is scheduled to appear in court at 2:30 p.m., Oct. 15.

STRESS RELIEVER

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Austin McCabe gives Angela Brewer a massage before kickboxing class. McCabe and Brewer are both juniors in elementary education. "I get a massage to relieve tension and stress, plus my shoulder has been bothering me, and it feels much better now," Brewer said.

Massage therapy helps reduce tension

By Shannon Hartenstein
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Record-high stress levels among college students could make opportunities for rest, relaxation and reflection more elusive than ever.

A study of K-State students from 1989 to 2001 showed a 50-percent increase in the frequency of reports of stress-related symptoms, said Fred Newton, director of University Counseling Services.

"We've been on a steady climb that's starting to peak at this point," he said. "It's a buildup of many factors."

Stress buildup can damage the body, causing muscle discomfort and pain. Massage therapy could be a solution to minimizing those symptoms, Austin McCabe, junior in elementary education, said.

McCabe recently started a massage therapy business for Haymaker Hall residents to gain practice hours for Kansas' certification process. Her 15-minute Swedish chair massages can help hall residents release some tension built up from stress.

"Research has shown that massage can relieve stress," she said.

Massage helps improve circulation, lymph product drainage, mobility and flexibility, McCabe said.

The therapy also helps remove metabolic wastes, increase oxygen and nutrient flow, and helps stimulate endorphin release, according to the American Massage Therapy Association Web site. Massage also helps clients feel more relaxed, calm, creative and alert, and it reduces mental stress and anxiety levels, according to the site.

"It can be really healing for someone in a high-stress situation," Crimprers massage therapist Ali Acker said. "Being able to make the body relax is very beneficial. It helps you take a moment for yourself, which is a big thing because a lot of people's lives are so busy that they don't take time to relax."

But finding time to relax could be difficult for busy students. About two-thirds of students work while attending school, responsibilities which are often added to the challenges of managing relationships, classes and other factors, Newton said.

No single factor is responsible for increased stress levels, which consistently have been rising during the last 13 years, Newton said. Some stress may be caused by political and societal pressures, he said.

"We're in a more complex and rapidly changing society, so students are feeling some of that pressure," he said.

Stress levels haven't suddenly and drastically increased, as some media hype indicates, Newton said.

See STRESS Page 12

Faculty Senate passes policy limiting use of night exams

By Sarah Rice
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A policy regulating time used outside of regularly scheduled class for exams was passed at Faculty Senate on Tuesday afternoon.

The original proposal would have required professors to cancel classes to make up for the hour used for an evening exam or use that class time for a review session.

However, a majority of senators said they believed the policy was inappropriate.

Aruna Michie, arts and sciences senator, said if classes with evening exams have to sacrifice class time to make up for those minutes, then classes with field trips have to do the same.

"There are a lot of classes that go far over their assigned credit hour," Michie said. "There are plenty of people who are exceeding their three hours."

Other senators said they felt that with a review session as the only alternative to canceling class, they were being told how to teach.

"It is purview of faculty to decide whether a review session is warranted," Elizabeth Dodd, arts and sciences senator, said.

After the amendment, an overall policy addressing the use of time outside of class was passed. The policy permits evening exams to be given only in classes with a minimum of 100 students. Exceptions will be given to classes that need special technological classrooms only available in the evenings.

All time used outside of regular class time must be listed in the line schedule beginning with the spring 2004 semester.

Jackie Spears, academic affairs committee chair, said the policy was drafted because of faculty and student concerns.

Faculty are teaching more evening classes and they were concerned with evening test conflicts, Spears said. Students had conflicts with work schedules when evening tests were not listed in the line schedule.

INSIDE

Science project: Some swear by it; others remain doubtful about organic foods

Page 9

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

'Ad Astra' remains earthbound
The "Ad Astra" statue, which is to top the Statehouse, remained earthbound Tuesday because of a problem involving bolts. Another attempt to put the statue into place wasn't expected until Wednesday.
Page 8

Iraq might not strike unless provoked
CIA Director George Tenet told lawmakers Tuesday that Saddam Hussein might not use his weapons of mass destruction — unless provoked by fear of an imminent U.S.-led attack.
Page 9

Kuwaiti gunmen kill U.S. Marine
Two Kuwaiti gunmen attacked U.S. forces during war games Tuesday in the Persian Gulf, killing one Marine and wounding another before they were shot to death by U.S. troops. Kuwait called the assault a "terrorist act."
Page 9

U.S. al-Qaeda suspect seeks asylum
A U.S. citizen charged with conspiring to fight with al-Qaeda in Afghanistan sought asylum Tuesday after being arrested in Malaysia. The U.S. government has charged Ahmed Ibrahim Bilal and five others with belonging to a terrorist cell in Portland, Ore.
Page 9

American Red Cross Blood Drive
Current total: 281 Goal: 850

Weather

Today 71 | 50

Thursday 77 | 53

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 36

SPONSORED BY:
M·A·N·H·A·T·T·A·N
 CHRISTIAN COLLEGE
 www.mcccks.edu

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Un-matched
 4 Wild a clever
 8 Detail, for short
 12 Mom's dessert
 13 Session with a shrink
 14 Grouch
 15 Doo
 16 Passos
 18 Really bad
 19 Very thin person
 20 Abbott's first baseman
 21 Bric-a—
 24 Bring about
 28 Really bad
 32 Angry
 33 TV Tarzan
 34 Author Zora—
 36 McKinley's first lady
 37 Sad to tell, ...
 39 Really bad

DOWN

1 Piece of work
 2 Frisbee, e.g.
 3 Sweet-heart
 4 Distress
 5 Sweltering
 6 Not his or mine
 7 Ship's front
 8 Offspring
 9 Expert
 10 Perfume-label word
 11 Rather's employer
 17 O'Hare's pl.
 19 Make a smaller dict.
 22 Sleeping
 23 "Band-stand" bigwig
 25 Hairstyle
 26 Pakistan's language
 27 Authentic
 28 Make sound
 29 Podrida pot
 30 No-hitter specialist
 31 Gen. Robert—
 35 Frank
 38 Lord Peter Wimsey's creator
 40 Conk out
 42 Charged bit
 45 Put to work
 47 Picture of health?
 48 USC rival
 49 Polio vaccine pioneer
 50 Praiseworthy poem
 51 "The Simpsons" network
 52 Adversary
 53 Playwright
 54 3-dimensional meas.

Solution time: 25 mins.

Yesterday's answer 10-9

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-228-8888 (9 a.m. to 5 p.m. EST) or visit our website at www.kscolligian.com. A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

C J S Y I Y M M J I F U Q B U
 L Q F O B K D F O I B T F C D T U S
 U Q F S I D E M K S Q F B C
 U I L B T C B E F U F I T I O J L E T ?

Yesterday's Cryptquip: A RUSSIAN FRIEND OF MINE ONCE PURCHASED A PET RODENT AND NAMED HIM "COMBAT".

Today's Cryptquip Clue: I equals S

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 11 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to Crypt Classics Book 1, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475. The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error. © 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Dana Strongin at 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

BANTER AND BELLOW

Everyday fashion trends vary

Practicality, unique good

Usually, I buy clothes that adhere to practicality — thus, I am a practical guy. I like lots of pockets and thick sweaters. I cherish durability. My clothes should take a beating but still serve me well, kind of like my own personal Rosie, the household robot from "The Jetsons."

When it's cold, I wear my favorite blue sweater with fuzzy-wumpies all over it. For weather that gives me goose bumps in my liver, I wear a Harley-Davidson coat and black Schwinn beanie.

I choose to wear one of three pairs of green cargo pants that looks very similar. Sometimes, they serve as pajamas, too.

When dressing for normal days, I rely on comfort. My mom, being a descendant of Swedes, sent me black Brasko clogs. These shoes offer excellent back support. I also like to wear black combat boots and black Adidas running shoes.

If I have to impress, I may sweat trying to decide on a shirt. It has to be clean, or at least have no large salsa stains. The definition of "large" depends on how much clean laundry I have.

The shirt should also smell like me. I'm not talking about the 30-foot-radius of B.O. lurking around the state fair. It should be a quiet bouquet of my personal fragrance and cologne.

Listen, dudes, it really isn't that big of a deal to ask your friends if a shirt you've been wearing for five years makes you look like a sea-donkey. It's legit.

Here are some tips: Make a statement. Be different. Bend a few social norms, but don't wear cowboy hats.

Comfort, cuteness better

How much effort I put into my clothes depends on the day.

Some mornings, I wake up feeling like a slug. I will ooze to Kedzie in an old cross country T-shirt and my favorite purple sweatshirt hoodie. My running sneakers (not the ones I actually run in — those are goofy because they're so wide-toed) complete the ensemble.

Comfort takes on a new level on days when I just know I'm going to need a hug. Then I pack some macaroni and cheese for lunch, and wear clothes that make me smile — something blue or soft.

My ultimate fantasy, though, would be that I could wear my fuzzy leopard slippers to class. Maybe workplace guidelines will go out the door — then I will celebrate in cushy freedom.

Some days I'm supposed to look "grownup." As you can tell by the photo, I never grew too far "up." Because this is — literally — a stretch for me, I have to be sure to include some tall shoes and a sleek ensemble — maybe something with a collar.

Then there are times when I pander to the young lads out there. During the day, then, I might pick something cute. And when I go out, it's time for my favorite jeans. I'll throw in a snazzy shirt and a belt, too, and maybe a little lip gloss.

But the running shoes will stay. Looking good is great, but feeling good is better. My clothes reflect what I need for the day — comfort, security, professionalism or maybe just a wink or two.

You can reach Banter and Bellow columnists Dana Strongin, junior in print journalism, and Layton Ehmke, senior in print journalism, at banter@pub.ksu.edu.

Jeanel Drake | COLLEGIAN

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Monday, Oct. 7

- At 6:50 a.m., Mark Dungee III, 804 Allison, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $1,000.
- At 10:01 a.m., George Dunaway, 730 Allen, No. 69, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $2,500.
- At noon, Charles Hill, Ogden, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $750.
- At 3:13 p.m., Vera McCullers, 2108 Fort Riley Blvd., No. 31, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $1,500.
- At 3:14 p.m., Theslaus Robinson, Milford, was arrested for battery and criminal trespass. Bond was set at $500.
- At 4:45 p.m., Richard Coronado Jr., 922

Gardenway, No. 5, was arrested for aggravated indecent liberties with a child, criminal sodomy and indecent solicitation of a child. Bond was set at $25,000.

At 4:58 p.m., Margarito Silva Jr., Alma, was arrested for failure to appear. No bond was set.

At 5:35 p.m., Toni Keener, 931 Claflin Road, was arrested for failure to appear and driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $900.

At 7:48 p.m., Naomie Boatwright, Randolph, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $250.

At 10:47 p.m., Matthew Asbury, 155 Redbud Estates, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $89.50.

Tuesday, Oct. 8

At 1:10 a.m., Samuel Combs, Ogden, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $421.50.

The planner | Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

Fort Riley classes will run Oct. 15 to Dec. 14. The dates have changed since publication of the line schedule. Civilian enrollment began Monday.

Up 'Til Dawn is accepting applications for six-person teams to raise money for St. Jude Children's Hospital from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Oct. 15 in Holton 203.

2002-03 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Oct. 18, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.

Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house at 918 N. Manhattan.

"Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 on the second floor of Hale Library.

The A.Q. Miller School of Journalism and Mass Communications and Student Publications Inc. present the 2002 Bill Brown Master Editor Lecture: Matt Mansfield from the San Jose Mercury News will speak on "How 9/11 changed the way newspapers present news" at 10:30 a.m. today in the Union Big 12 Room.

A "How to Find Journal Articles" class will be from 11 to 11:50 a.m. today in Hale 408.

A basic library class will be from 2:30 to 3:15 p.m. today in Hale 408.

Career and Employment Services will conduct a résumé critique workshop from 3:30 to 5 p.m. today in Holtz Hall.

Career and Employment Services will conduct an experiential learning orientation workshop at 2:30 p.m. today in Holtz Hall. Call (785) 532-6506 for reservations.

The International Student Center will present a coffee hour, "Egypt: A place to visit" from 4 to 5 p.m. today in the International Student Center.

The K-State Chess Club meets from 6 to 10 tonight in Union 206.

KSU Aikido will conduct a martial arts class from 7 to 9 tonight in Ahearn 301.

Lafene Health Center is providing walk-in flu vaccines from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the center. Cost is $7 for students and $10 for faculty and staff.

Computing and Network Services will have an open forum from 10 a.m. to noon Thursday in Union 207. All campus and network system administrators are invited.

The Department of Geology will present a seminar, "Domestic and International Perspectives on the Petroleum Industry," at 4 p.m. Thursday in Thompson 213.

The Manhattan Alliance for Peace and Justice will have an Iraq discussion with speakers at 7 tonight in the Manhattan Public Library Auditorium.

Up next | In Thursday's Collegian

News | The science in foods

Find out which foods you should eat before a test or before going to sleep. Check out which foods to avoid when you are nervous or upset.

Sports | Overcoming adversity

K-State's roller hockey team has had to deal with a lot of adversity as a club sport. Players practice in Junction City and play in St. Louis. Read about their response to dealing with these obstacles.

The Edge | Music at Mae's

The Phonocaptors will bring their old school garage rock style to Auntie Mae's Parlor on Thursday. Taking its cues from acts such as the MCS and the Stooges, the St. Louis band plans to rock Manhattan.

Opinion | Rock 'n' roll and infomercials

Layton Ehmke recounts the rock revolution in the United States, and Susan Powell writes about the gadgets being sold through infomercials to make flipping pancakes and plucking eyebrows easier.

Ladies Night
 50¢ Tacos 6 - 9 p.m.
 $1.50 Bottles

LIVE IN CONCERT

CORY MORROW ~ OCT. 17
PAT GREEN ~ OCT. 25

DOORS OPEN AT 8 P.M.

TICKETS ON SALE AND GOING FAST!

Come Get Stunned!

Great Fall Specials

Bring in this ad to receive the savings. Not valid on gift certificate sales. Only good for one visit.

Specials For The Month Of October

- 60-minute massage for $35.00 (Save $10.00)
- Soothing Stone Therapy for $40.00 (Save $10.00)

Expires 10/31/02

Body First

2308 Anderson
 Manhattan, KS
www.bodyfirst.com

785-587-8300

BoWinkle's
 K Sports Bar
 3034 Anderson

Replay of Game starts @ 5

THURSDAY SPECIALS

$1 Domestic Bottles
$2 Import Bottles
$1.50 Wells

$1 Draws
$2.50 Boulevard Draws
$7.95 10 oz. Sirloin Steak Dinner
$8.95 KC Strip Dinner

$4.95 Chicken Fried Steak & Chicken Fried Chicken Dinner

Karaoke Starts @ 9

Planning a social event?

LUNAR TUNES
 mobile dj service

Let LUNAR TUNES take care of the entertainment!

- Competitive Rates
- Extensive Music Library
- Reliable Service
- Experienced DJ's
- Personalized Packages
- Weddings
- Anniversaries
- School Dances
- Greek Functions
- Private Parties

785-776-9140

<http://www.lunartunes.8m.com/>

K-State Student Union Bookstore

New At the K-State Student Union Bookstore

Burt's Bees

Earth Friendly Natural Personal Care Products

- Lemongrass Insect Repellent
- Burt's Beeswax Lip Balm
- Citrus Facial Scrub
- Wings of Love Lip Shimmers Lipstick
- Facial In A Kit
- Head To Toe Starter Kit
- Baby Bee's Buttermilk Lotion

K-State Student Union Bookstore

15% Off

Your next purchase of any Burt's Bees product.

Expires October 31, 2002. Applicable to in stock regular priced merchandise only. Not valid with any other discounts or coupons.

820 Kansas State Union
 532-6583

BILL BROWN MASTER EDITOR LECTURE FOR 2002

Matt Mansfield, one of the world's top newspaper designers, describes how our business has changed.

What we saw - How 9/11 changed the way newspapers present news

Big 12 Room
K-State Student Union
10:30 a.m.
Wednesday
Oct. 9, 2002

Car registration available online in Riley County

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The long lines and extra hassles of vehicle registration for some students and Manhattan residents will now ease up after Riley County and five other entities in Kansas have decided to offer online car registration.

The added convenience, said Riley County Treasurer Eileen King, will benefit those vehicle owners who find it hard to register through mail or in person.

"We decided to offer online registration for the convenience of people and to cut down on our lines on the last day of the month," she said. "Especially in bigger counties, at the end of the month it was a big problem with long lines, so we worked with the state and got it going."

King, along with five other county treasurers across the state, worked with a company specializing in online vehicle registration to write and develop the new process.

"It's available statewide, and it was one of those things that everyone needed to sign onto," she said. "I'm not sure how many rural counties have accepted it yet, but some of it depends on how many people are computer literate and comfortable about doing financial transactions on the Internet."

While the new registration process is an added convenience for some, others may not be able to reap the benefits of it being offered online.

"It is limited because only those people who don't have to bring in an additional piece of paper can do it online," King said. "Also, people that have specialty license plates cannot register online."

In addition, only those car owners with participating insurance companies are allowed to access the online vehicle registration, she said.

"You can find out if your insurance company participates when you go to the online site," King said. "If it is listed, you're good to go. If it is not listed, you can notify the state."

Furthermore, all online registration payments must be purchased with a credit card, and a convenience fee, usually two or three percent, is added since all payments are handled through an official payment corporation.

"Right now, payments are only handled by credit card because it's a state system," King said. "The state has not been able to work it out where we can do e-checks."

While only two Riley County residents have used the new registration, King said it will benefit a number of people, including students like Casey Quinn, junior in mechanical engineering, who now has his parents register his car because of his busy schedule.

"I had to take time out of my day to go and register," he said. "It's hard for me to get down there from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. because I have to get out of class or have to get off from work."

However, with the new online registration, Quinn said it was a convenience he would consider using in the future.

"With the online registration, it would be easier," he said.

"Also, students wouldn't have to drive all the way home to register and can do it at their convenience."

Although the online registration is in its beginning stages, King said it has gone smoothly so far.

"For our office, it has been really nice," she said. "It is better customer service and gives people what they want."

Volunteer travels with Red Cross blood drives

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Ask Chris Blanton what cities he's been to, and he'll laugh.

"Pick one," he says. "Everywhere - western Kansas, eastern Kansas, Oklahoma."

Blanton works full time for the American Red Cross as a specialist III. For the first six months, he was on the road. Now, he is located in Manhattan where he helps run a Red Cross express, a smaller blood drive set up with just two beds.

When he's not doing that, he's helping with bigger blood drives, such as the one this week at K-State.

Blanton said his work includes making blood bags, checking paperwork, helping with medical history forms and taking blood.

"There's lots of variety," he said. "You're always at different places with different setups. It's repetitious, but not like some jobs where it's the same day in and day out. It's one of the best jobs I've ever had."

He has worked there now for two and a half years.

Two different staffs are helping with this year's blood drive - one at the K-State Student Union and one at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. The goal each day for the Rec location is 50 units. On Monday, the Red Cross received 44 units, and as of 6 p.m. Tuesday, they received 30 units. Monday's total from both locations was 120 units.

In previous years, K-State and the University of Kansas have competed in the biannual blood drive. KU's blood drive last week collected about 160 units each day, Blanton said.

"KU had a lot more turnout

Above: Red Cross volunteer Chris Blanton bandages the arm of Marilyn Peine, senior in life science, Tuesday afternoon at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. The blood drive is in the K-State Student Union and at the Rec Complex this week.

Left: Chris Blanton shakes up Marilyn Peine's pint of blood during her donation. Blanton is a Manhattan resident who volunteers at the drive.

Photos by Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

Where to donate

In order to donate blood, you must be at least 17 years old, at least 110 pounds and in good health. Also, you may not donate if you have had a tattoo within the last 12 months. Check out www.redcross.org for more information.

These are the times available for donations:

- K-State Student Union
10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today - Friday
- Rec Complex
4 to 8:30 p.m. today
- Haymaker Hall
1 to 7 p.m. Thursday

than K-State," Blanton said, "and K-State always beats KU."

K-State's goal for the entire week is to collect 850 units. Blood received during the drive will be used throughout the Central Plains Region of American Red Cross blood services.

This region provides blood to more than 100 hospitals, including Mercy Health Center. Phlebotomist Gayle Simmons, Wichita resident, also works full time for the Red Cross. She said working for the Red Cross is rewarding, and she enjoys her co-workers and the people she meets.

However, she said working on her end is difficult.

"It's hard for me because I don't like to hurt people, so especially when kids don't have a good vein or are scared, it's hard," she said. "But we have to do it to save lives, just like they do when they come in."

Saving lives is exactly what made Hilary Hilton, freshman in open-option, come donate for her first time.

"This is hard for me," she said. "I hate needles."

But she thought of it in a different manner.

If she ever had a child who needed blood, she would want someone to donate.

"So I thought I could be that donor that could save someone's life," she said.

It's that attitude of saving lives, though, that Blanton said he likes.

"It's nice to be a part of that," he said.

"It's kind of a win-win situation."

ROYAL PURPLE
yearbook
we've got the stories
you've got to read.

Get your 2003 Royal Purple yearbook for $32.95
in Kedzie 103, or call 532-6555.

9 Thank God the Fourum is back. I have been paying $2.95 a minute to confess to Miss Cleo all summer.

Can't get enough Fourum? Get your Fourum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

after hours
friday | october 11
co-sponsored by the Royal Purple yearbook
uppc
LEAVING OUR MARK...ONE EVENT AT A TIME.

union courtyard
< 8p.m. - 12a.m. >
FREE body art
FREE face painting
FREE temporary tattoos
FREE self defense class < 9-11p.m. >
FREE "strike a pose" pictures (get pictured in the yearbook!)

union food court
< 11:00p.m. >
free breakfast bar
forum hall
< 12:00a.m. > free movie
"enough" starring Jennifer Lopez

HOTLINE: 532 6572

WEBSITE: www.ksu.edu/uppc

VERADO SALOON

Wildcat Women Calendar Contest

THURSDAY OCTOBER 10, 17, AND 24
FINALS NOVEMBER 7

DRINK SPECIALS:
$2.50 BACARDI DRINKS
$2.75 CORONAS
$2.75 MILLER LITE 16OZ CANS

FOR SIGN-UP INFORMATION CONTACT
ERICA 776-1850

Please Give to United Way Campaign 2002

By donating to agencies like Big Brothers and Big Sisters, the Boys and Girls Club of Manhattan and Girl Scouts of Kaw alley Council, your gift gives children the opportunity to develop the skills and abilities needed to make healthy choices throughout their lives.

United Way of Riley County
114 S. 4th St., Manhattan, KS 66502

LOVE MAKES A FAMILY
Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, & Transgender People and Their Families

Forty families are featured in this exhibit of diverse families with gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender (GLBT) members. Photographs are accompanied by text edited from interviews with each family member. Together, the words and images show in a visible and positive way, the existence, the love, and the power of GLBT families.

On display in celebration of National Coming Out Day.

Friday, October 11, 2002 ■ 9:00am - 2:00pm
K-State Student Union ■ First Floor Concourse

Sponsored by K-State Queer-Straight Alliance & Flint Hills Pride Alliance.

Special thanks to the Office of Diversity Resources at the University of Kansas Medical Center for making this display available to the K-State community.

The 2003 Japan Exchange and Teaching Program

Teach English in junior and senior high schools in Japan
Learn about Japanese culture and people
Gain international experience

Requirements

- Have an excellent command of the English language
- Obtain a bachelor's degree by June 30, 2003
- Be a U.S. citizen
- Be willing to relocate to Japan for one year

Applications are now available. The deadline for applying is December 5, 2002.

For more information and an application contact the Consulate General of Japan in Kansas at 1800 Commerce Tower, 911 Main Street, Kansas City, MO 64105-2076. Tel: (816) 471-0111 x105 or 1-800-INFO-JET or email: jetcgkc@yahoo.com. The application can also be found at www.us.smb-japan.go.jp

TO THE POINT Faculty Senate's exam decision bad for students

Faculty Senate's decision to not cancel classes on evening exam days might have more ramifications than senators think.

Students already are putting in more hours than necessary in many classes. For instance, five-credit-hour modern language classes require an additional eight to 12 hours of lab, which is not included in the line schedule when enrolling. And many architecture and journalism labs require upwards of 20 hours per semester.

Canceling class on exam days would have been an integral step in addressing these other concerns students and faculty might have. One arts and sciences senator even said "There are a lot of classes that go far over their assigned credit hour." This was her justification for continuing to keep these exam days when, in fact, it should have been evidence for just the opposite.

Faculty Senate and other campus officials should instead see if teachers are cramming too much into one 3-credit-hour class. Students enrolling in 15 hours shouldn't expect to sweat through a semester that has now accumulated the workload of 20-plus credit hours. Tuesday's vote stalled efforts to fix the problem.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Jeanel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

The house where I live, now converted into five apartments, is in complete shambles.

There is a hole in my dining-room ceiling due to leaky pipes in the apartment above mine, my roof leaks in multiple spots when it rains, the awning above my neighbor's porch is almost to the point of collapse, electric outlets don't work or short out on numerous occasions - I could go on and on.

My landlord constantly fails to pay the gas and trash bills, leaving everyone in the house without hot water and with no place to store garbage. It once got so bad that our trash wasn't picked up for five weeks.

My husband and I have called numerous times for someone to come out and fix things. However, we have to go through a property manager, who then is supposed to relay our messages to our landlord.

This rarely happens. Our living conditions have gotten so bad recently that the post office stopped delivering our mail. It said the front steps to our apartment were dangerous enough to make the mailman afraid he would be "seriously injured."

AMBER KOEHN

I don't think the steps were quite that bad, but the post office would not resume mail delivery until they were fixed. I had to call the city building inspector to come out and make my landlord fix the steps, because he never returned the six or seven calls I made.

We've written letters to our landlord and property manager complaining about our poor living conditions.

We even explained the various ways they were in breach of our contract.

Yet they still haven't done anything to make our house a safer living environment.

These problems should not be occurring.

Landlords should make an honest effort to negotiate problems with their tenants, instead of leaving people to dwell in potentially condemnable houses.

According to the Residential Landlord and Tenant Act, implemented by the Kansas

Supreme Court in 1979, landlords must do the following:

1) Comply with the requirements of applicable building and housing codes materially affecting health and safety,

2) Exercise reasonable care in the maintenance of common areas,

3) Maintain in good and safe working order and condition all electrical, plumbing, sanitary, heating, ventilation and air conditioning systems, and appliances supplied or required to be supplied by the landlord,

4) Provide and maintain on the grounds, for the common use by all tenants, appropriate receptacles for the removal of garbage and waste incidental to occupation of the dwelling unit and arrange for their removal, and

5) Supply running water, reasonable amounts of hot water at all times and reasonable heat, except where the heat or hot water is generated by an installation within the exclusive control of the tenant and supplied by a direct public utility connection.

My landlord clearly is violating these requirements, and he's probably not the only one. But tenants also need to be responsible and honor their commitments, even if their landlords aren't fulfilling their end of the bargain.

When we sign leases, we promise to respect the outlined obligations, but we also have options if our landlords fail to meet theirs.

Several agencies, such as the Kansas Bar Association and the Consumer Protection Division of the Kansas Attorney General's Office, will help you file a complaint if you think your tenant rights have been violated.

You also can write to Attorney General Carla J. Stovall, Consumer Protection Division, Kansas Judicial Center, Topeka, KS 66612, or call the toll-free Consumer Hotline at (800) 432-2310.

There is hope for those of us ignored by our landlords, and by taking advantage of the aforementioned resources, we can keep those "slumlords" from taking advantage of us.

Amber is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail her at adm9559@ksu.edu.

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Jeanel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

Illustration by Jeff Yeung | COLLEGIAN

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

Oh my God, we have Miss Cleo working for the Collegian now.

I'm not for sure what the heavy-set gal's name from last Saturday night was, but if you could return my plunger to 1919 Platte St., I really need it. And we had a good time, didn't we?

In a time of budget cuts and tuition increases, President Wefald and the athletic director still find room to take K-State's most expensive aircraft to Colorado for the weekend.

As Mexican-American, I'm really offended Angel Wilson seems to lump all minorities into one group. White people have done injustices to Mexicans throughout history, and vice versa, but you don't hear us whining about it or blaming an entirely different generation for those injustices.

I met a guy this weekend who purrs during sex. Awesome.

I don't have cable, but sometimes I go to my boyfriend's house to watch television with him and his roommates. Does that mean I'm using them for their Cox?

Why can't Heinz 57 add 12 more ingredients so it can be Heinz 69?

Our picture keeps shifting. Does that mean we have bent Cox?

Gumby's equals stomach aches and bad gas.

You guys can talk all you want about how many times you get to have sex and all of that, but I got to go over to Katie's house last night and eat pie. Anybody else able to say that?

I want to know how the Wildcats are supposed to win a ballgame when their biggest opponents are the officials. I guess we're supposed to pay them more than the other teams.

Stop printing the Cox Cable jokes. They're freakin' stupid.

Kellogg's is offering a free Bart Simpson watch when you purchase Corn Pops. That's a heck of a deal.

If you're wondering where all the left-handed desks have gone, they're taken up by all the right-handed people who are too lazy to move to the inside rows.

Thinking of comments for the Forum is hard work. I need a break.

I don't get it. Why are there so many freakin' K-State fans in this town?

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. Not enough forum? For the full version check out www.kstatecollegian.com.

Streisand's political commentary unwanted

Barbra Streisand used to be one of my favorite performers. Call me a sucker, but I just couldn't resist her performances.

Then, a few days ago, I stumbled upon her Web site at www.barbrastreisand.com.

The site's interface is clean, it's easy to navigate, and I was having a good time until I discovered something.

On the site's navigation bar sits the "News" button. I clicked it and opened myself to a new and exciting world of intense mental pain.

In the "Statements" subsection, there is a description of Streisand's participation in the Democratic National Gala on Sept. 29. She helped raise $6 million to get a Democratic majority in the House of Representatives.

This is not bad. If you can squeeze a few million out of a bunch of liberals or conservatives, more power to you.

My problem is with Streisand's speech and politicized rendition of "The Way We Were," which were full of venomous, partisan rubbish.

"The Way We Were" is, according to barbrastreisand.com, one of the songs most closely associated with Streisand. This makes it all the more shocking to me she would actually sing lines like "Unprecedented growth in the economy. / The Dow was up, the deficit was down ... People / See their savings slip away / As they feel the world around them / Become more fright'ning ev'ry day."

MICAH HAWKINSON

In effect, the song pins all of America's problems of the past two years on the Bush administration.

She paints the Clinton administration as having no troubles. She attributes economic booms to Clinton's leadership. Then, she demonizes all things Republican.

I'm not a big fan of the Republican party or of the Bush administration, but I can tell when criticism is nothing more than rhetoric. And Streisand's commentary certainly was that.

What really annoys me is Streisand's lack of credibility as a political pundit. She has no formal political training, but she rabidly politicizes everything. To Streisand, the Republican Party is an evil monstrosity that will destroy our nation, and the Democratic party is a wonderful organization full of fine people.

It's a neat picture, but it has a problem: the world isn't binary. Not all Democrats are nice, and not all Republicans are Nazis.

It seems to me Streisand has little useful political commentary, and I don't care if she's "On Pins and Needles" to share it - I still don't want it. I'll get my political insights from someone who can see beyond black and white.

Micah is a senior in English and history. You can e-mail him at mph7686@ksu.edu.

Group passes out petition

Ordinary Women protest war on Iraq

By Lynne Hermansen
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A petition is circulating around campus to show opposition to the possibility of the United States preemptively declaring a war on Iraq.

Ordinary Women was the organization that started the petition.

Hayley Cherveny, Ordinary Women member and junior in dance and psychology, said the group has heard about recent hate crimes against K-State students of Middle Eastern descent.

Because the alleged crimes weren't reported, Cherveny said, the group would like to protect the confidentiality of the people involved.

Cherveny said the group is opposed to a war in the Middle East because many members believe it could trigger hate crimes against students of Middle Eastern descent.

Ordinary Women started the petition to show they don't have a discriminatory view of these students.

The group will be collecting signatures and furthering its cause from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day this week at a table in the K-State Student Union.

Also, students who agree with the petition have been passing it around their classes this week.

Cherveny said the response has been positive, and they have collected many signatures, although she didn't have a specific number.

Mandy Zelch, junior in music education and member of Ordinary Women, said the purpose of the petition is to gather as many signatures as possible and send the petition to Kansas representatives and senators.

Zelch said the group is also going to try to get the petition printed in full as an advertisement in the Collegian sometime next week. Although Ordinary Women is collecting signatures to combat racial hate crimes they believe are happening at K-State and the surrounding area, Maria Beebe, International Student Center program coordinator, said she doesn't know of any racial hate crimes from people she knows in the international student community.

"I haven't heard of any problems they have encountered," she said.

"This thing kind of started after Sept. 11, but I haven't seen anything out of the ordinary."

Beebe said that if international students are experiencing hate crime problems, they should contact the International Student Center or Office of Student Life for assistance and support.

"There are always going to be people being picked on for their color, race or ancestry," she said.

"But I really haven't seen anything unusual."

Erica Townsend, junior in marketing and international business, said Ordinary Women wanted to show, in a peaceful way, that they don't support racial hate crimes against K-State students.

"It is imperative to make it known that it is out there," she said.

LONG HOURS

Jeanel Drake | COLLEGIAN
Scott Peavler, junior in landscape architecture, works on a development plan for a fraternity Tuesday evening in Seaton Hall. Peavler spends about 12 hours a day working toward his architecture degree.

you can finally buy a book
WORTH ITS PRICE
CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
On sale in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

Olson's Shoe Service

Replace Heels & Soles
& Repair Western Boots,
Women's & Men's Dress, All
Birkenstock, Handbags & Backpacks.

Edwin C. Olson Sr., Certified Pedorthist
- Aggieville -
539-8571 • 1214-B Moro

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

Fall 2002 Boyds Bear and Friends Special Event
Saturday October 12th

Featuring Jack B. Twinkletane a musical jack-in-the-box bear and matching pin.
Available for one day only!

704 N. MANHATTAN AVE. • IN AGGIEVILLE • 539-7654
MON-FRI 8:30-8:30 • SAT 8:30-5:30 • SUN 12:00-5:00

ART

A comedy by Yasmina Reza

Presented by KSU Theatre Oct. 3-5 & Oct. 9-12
Nichols Theatre 8 pm Thts: $6 std/srns $10 general
McCain Box Office 532-6428 online: ksu.edu/mccain

Delivers the latest!
GUMBY'S
Pizza & Pub
770-3333

1 Wednesday $6.99
wildcat
X-LARGE 16" CHEESE PIZZA • WEDNESDAY
ONLY • CARRY OUT ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA

2 BIG ASS 20" One Topping $11.99 or Two for 21.99
Additional Toppings $1.18 per pizza

3 DORM
12" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 12" POKEY STICKS $5.99
14" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 14" POKEY STICKS $6.99
M-TH ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA • CAMPUS ADDRESS ONLY
EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH

FLU SHOTS at LAFENE

Thursdays
October 10, 17, 24 & 31
Prepay at the Business Office, room 112
Lafene Health Center

8:30 - 11:30 am
1:30 - 4:30 pm
(No appointment necessary.)

Cost: $7 students, $10 faculty/staff
20 minute wait period required following injection
Call 532-6544 for more information.

Western Wireless

Western Wireless Corporation is looking for customer service representatives to work in our Manhattan call center. Western Wireless is a leading player in the exploding wireless industry and recognizes the important role that quality employees play in that success.

We offer the environment to learn the business, grow professionally and build a future career. Our state of the art call center in Manhattan serves cellular customers in a 19 state area.

¡Western Wireless habla español!
Bilingual Customer Care Representatives
Must be fluent in both English and Spanish
$8.50 per hour

Handling inbound calls from Spanish speaking CellularOne customers, you'll provide quality service in a friendly, caring, professional manner. You'll help resolve billing discrepancies and troubleshoot technical issues. Previous customer service and computer experience is required. Must be able to work in a fast-paced, ever-changing environment and flexible to work variable shifts.
Job Code: SP-CCR.

¡Aproveche esta gran oportunidad de empleo utilizando sus habilidades en español con CellularONE!

Please send, e-mail or fax resumes to: Western Wireless Corporation.
Attn: Customer Services Recruiter,
5960 Technology Circle, Manhattan, KS 66503.
Fax: (785) 565-7672. E-mail: ksjobs@wwireless.com.

For additional company information, see our website at
www.wwireless.com.
We are an Equal Opportunity Employer.

CELLULARONE®

URBAN DESIGNS In Aggieville at 1204 Moro engraving • jewelry • conservation framing • art
Phone: 539-2563

OCTOBER 8 - NOVEMBER 9
SNIPPET
AN MFA THESIS EXHIBIT BY JOSHUA CROSS
OPENING RECEPTION:
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11, 5:30 - 7:30

GTM SPORTSWEAR
Warehouse Liquidation
SALE!

Oct 10, 11, 12, 13
Thurs. thru Sun.

Assorted Polo Shirts $8
Hats $1
Sweatshirts as low as $6

We're blowing out inventory
AT OR BELOW COST!

Jackets $15
Special Group of Overruns $10 per bag
(Bag provided at store)
Stuff as full as you can!
Choose from selected jackets, tees, sweatshirts, and more.

Long Sleeve & Specialty T- Shirts $5
Stadium Blankets $10
Lined Nylon Windpants $10
Denim & Twill Shirts $8

520 McCall Road
Manhattan, KS
785-537-0844

Store Hours
M-F 8:30 a.m. - 7:00 p.m.
Sat 9:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m.
Sun 12:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Baseball doing its job

Sting of Cats' loss lessened with onset of playoffs

BEN FEHR

Well, there goes K-State's shot at an undefeated season.

Too bad — I thought they were going to take down Colorado for sure.

But, after two days to reflect on what happened, I've come up with a way to distract myself from the shocking loss to the Buffaloes. I've turned to baseball.

It's only been about a year since we were able to witness one of the greatest World Series of all time as Arizona wrestled baseball supremacy from the vice-like clutches of the Yankees.

And, so far, this year's post-season is shaping up nicely as well.

But this time around, there are some new guys in town.

It won't be Arizona or New York in the Series this year. The Diamondbacks fell to the St. Louis Cardinals and the Anaheim Angels dispatched the Yanks.

The annual American League showdown between New York and Oakland will be replaced this season by an exciting Anaheim versus Minnesota matchup.

I must say I'm a little bit surprised by the way things have played out. I thought the Yankees were going to take care of Anaheim. Especially after Anaheim blew a lead late in the ball game at Yankee Stadium in game one of the Division Series.

It seemed as though "Yankee mystique" was alive and well in the city that never sleeps.

But the halos came storming back, and when the smoke cleared, Mike Scioscia's club had themselves a trip to the American League Championship Series. You have to tip your hat to the Angels' season, coming back to win 96 games after an abysmal 6-14 start.

Oh, and then there's the whole money issue, I mean, in the name of all that is holy, how did the Yankees get topped by a team with a payroll some $64 million shy of their own?

Justice, if you ask me. And then there's Minnesota.

Earmarked for contraction at the beginning of the season, the team's fate hanging in the balance, and all the Twins do is go 94-67 in the regular season, grab the American League Central crown by 13.5 games, and take out the A's in the opening round of the playoffs.

Unfortunately for the Twins, utility infielder Denny Hocking won't be able to go in the series against Anaheim because outfielder Jacques Jones mangled Hocking's right-hand middle finger in a post-game celebration in Oakland.

So that's pretty funny. I'll take the Angels in six in this one.

On the National League side, the Cardinals will face off against the San Francisco Giants. The Giants earned a shot at the NLDS via the Atlanta Braves.

I really like the prospect of a great series that goes along with this one.

For the Cardinals, there is a powerful lineup featuring the four-hole pop of Jim Edmonds and for the Giants you have the any-and-every-time pop of Barry Bonds.

And the Giants have hard-hitting Rich Aurilia and Jeff Kent to their credit as well.

And the Cardinals will counter with the hard-hitting Edgar Renteria, J.D. Drew and Albert Pujols.

BACK TO WORK

Jennifer Pollard makes a pass against Texas Tech Oct. 2 at Ahearn Field House. After taking the weekend off from play, the Cats travel to face Oklahoma today.

Lindsey Bauman | COLLEGIAN

Cats back in action against tough OU

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State's volleyball team has enjoyed a few extra days off to refocus and get prepared to face Oklahoma tonight.

But those days haven't been as productive as they could have been, Coach Suzie Fritz said.

Either way, the team will have to be ready for the Sooners, a team that's big and better than they were the last time the Cats faced them, Fritz said.

"All of those teams that have been traditionally at the bottom of the conference are better," Fritz said. "It concerns me whoever we play, no matter where they are."

Those teams include the Sooners and Iowa State. The Cats beat the Cyclones in four games in Iowa two weeks ago, but didn't play as well as they should have, Fritz said.

She said she was concerned going into that match because of some poor practices in preparation for ISU. Tonight's road match has the same feeling to it, Fritz said.

"Yesterday (Monday) we lost a day," Fritz said. "Every time we take two days off, it seems like the next time we come back it takes us a while to get going."

"I didn't think our focus was there — it was the same thing I felt going into Iowa State. I was extremely concerned about complacency. But I think they came back (Tuesday) with very good energy."

The Cats will need that energy to combat four Oklahoma players that are over six feet tall.

Fritz said OU's size is comparable to some of the teams K-State has already faced this season.

"Oklahoma is very big, like Iowa State was very big," Fritz said.

"But I don't think a match from one opponent prepares you for another other than that you gain experience."

K-State gained plenty of experience

Volleyball road test

K-State (7-6, 3-2) at Oklahoma (4-10, 2-4)

When: 7 p.m.

Where: Howard McCasland Field House (2,000), Norman, Okla.

Series: Oklahoma leads the all-time series 40-15-1 in its last match, a five-game thriller with Texas Tech.

The Cats escaped 15-12 in the final game, led by some defensive stops, as well as some runs of three and four — both of which allowed K-State to pull away from the Red Raiders.

The Wildcats have now held eight opponents to a hitting percentage below .200 — where K-State holds a 7-1 record.

Fritz said scoring in bunches has been something the team has improved on since the beginning of the year.

"Trying to string points together, we are getting better at it," Fritz said. "In rally scoring, you have to have the ability to put something together."

Men's golf finishes 9th

Improved conditions at Purina Classic not enough for Cats to make much noise

By Tom Fontana
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The men's golf team failed to finish in third place for the first time this season at the Purina Classic on Tuesday.

After starting the year with three third-place finishes, K-State finished in ninth place out of 14 teams Tuesday with a final-round score of 285, giving them a total of 872 in the classic.

Calm conditions helped players for the second consecutive day in St. Charles, Mo.

"There was no wind to speak of for the second straight day," Coach Tim Norris said. "The guys played well today. We played the ball down today, so the scores were a little higher. Not a lot higher, but enough to make a difference."

Aaron Watkins led the Wildcats for the third time this year, finishing at 3 under par. The junior co-captain finished in 12th place after a 4-under 67 in the final round.

"Aaron played well," Norris said. "I think everybody played well today. It's not like we were playing for a trophy. It was all about pride today."

Junior A.J. Elgert carded a 2-under 69 in the final round, good enough for a 32nd-place finish.

K-State couldn't climb out of the last-place hole it dug itself into during the first round Monday. Norris said the failure to play a solid first round hurt the Cats again in the long run.

"If you take just the second and third rounds, we were right there," he said. "When you start in last place, a top-five finish is nearly impossible."

See GOLF Page 13

Women move up to 10th

After tough opening rounds, team improves; Wildcats find groove by playing 'their game'

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The next time K-State tees off, they need to get the ball rolling early.

The Wildcats finished the Shootout of the Legends in Franklin, Ind., on Tuesday with a combined score of 921 (318-301-302) — good enough for 10th place, moving up one spot from yesterday's standings.

It was the first round that hurt the Cats, though.

"I'm proud of the way we were able to come back from Monday's morning round," Coach Kristi Knight said. "We played well after that, but we can't shoot a bad round like (Monday) and expect to be competitive."

Those days happen, and the team will move on, she said. The field played too competitively.

Kent State won its fourth-straight tournament of the year with a combined score of 888, 33 points ahead of the Cats. The Golden Flashers finished seven strokes ahead of second-place Missouri.

After the opening round, Knight said she just wanted the women to play their game.

Junior Christine Boucher did just that.

She finished the tournament in a three-way tie for 14th with a combined 225 (80, 74, 71).

It was her third top-20 finish this year.

But it wasn't easy.

After the first two rounds, Boucher sat in a 10-way tie for 26th at 10 over par. In the final round, she jumped eight spots by carding a 1-under 71.

"I was disappointed in my first round. I had four penalties — three in the water and

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NCAA | Colorado put on probation

Colorado's football team was put on two years' probation by the NCAA on Tuesday for recruiting violations under former coach Rick Neuheisel.

The NCAA cut the school's football scholarships and accepted Colorado's self-imposed recruiting limits, including reducing the number of visits by recruits from 61 to 51 during this school year.

The improper recruiting contacts began during the 1995-96 school year.

• • •

MLB | Royals coach sent to pen

Even though he was attacked by two fans during a late-season game, Tom Gamboa didn't want the Kansas City Royals to switch him from first-base coach to bullpen coach.

He still hasn't been given a reason for the change by General Manager Allard Baird.

Baird said Tuesday the move wasn't related to what happened during the ninth inning of a game against the White Sox in September, when two spectators jumped out of the stands and attacked Gamboa.

• • •

NCAA | Nebraska captains questionable for Saturday's game

Nebraska rush end Chris Kelsay missed his second straight practice Tuesday with a hamstring injury.

Kelsay, a senior co-captain from Auburn, strained his right hamstring after just eight plays Saturday in the Cornhuskers' 38-14 win over McNeese State.

Coach Frank Solich hoped Kelsay and fellow co-captain Deluan Groce, a cornerback who missed practice Tuesday for an undisclosed reason, would be ready to play Saturday against Missouri.

• • •

Hockey | Fleury suspended indefinitely

Chicago Blackhawks forward Theo Fleury was suspended indefinitely by the NHL on Tuesday for violation of his substance abuse aftercare program.

The 34-year-old Fleury, who has struggled with substance abuse and anger-management problems, signed a two-year, $8.5 million contract with the Blackhawks on Aug. 15.

He said he missed two practices last week because his father had surgery to remove a tumor.

Drs. Dave Lewis and Brian Shaw of the National Hockey League/National Hockey League Players' Association Substance Abuse and Behavioral Health Program are administering Fleury's care.

TRANSACTIONS

Here are the weekly sporting transactions for all major sports:

Auto Racing

NASCAR — Penalized Rusty Wallace 25 points, Roger Penske 25 car owner points, and fined Billy Wilburn, crew chief for Wallace, $25,000 because their car had an unapproved spoiler. Ben Leslie, crew chief for Mark Martin, was fined $1,000 because their car had unapproved rear window straps and, Mike Hillman, crew chief for Mike Wallace, and Thomas Klein, crew chief for Brett Bodine, were fined $1,000 apiece because their cars carried unapproved suspension parts.

Major League Baseball

TORONTO BLUE JAYS — Signed J.P. Ricciardi, general manager and senior vice president for baseball operations, to a five-year contract. NEW YORK METS — Exercised their 2003 option on the contract of 2B Roberto Alomar. Waived RHP Satoru Komiyama.

PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES — Agreed to terms with INF Tomas Perez on a two-year contract. Named Scott Sheridan minor league athletic trainers coordinator.

National Basketball Association

PHOENIX SUNS — Waived G Maurice Baker and F Bobby Lazor.

National Football League

NEW YORK GIANTS — Signed CB Reggie Stephens. Waived WR Jonathan Carter. NEW YORK JETS — Placed CB Jamie Henderson on injured reserve.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES — Re-signed QB A.J. Feeley on injured reserve. Designated F Shane Willis for assignment to Springfield of the AHL.

National Hockey League

COLUMBUS BLUE JACKETS — Assigned RW Chris Nielsen, RW Matt Davidson, RW Andrei Nedonost, D Derrick Walser and D Dwyer Westcott to Syracuse of the AHL.

DALLAS STARS — Signed G Mike Smith to a three-year contract.

LOS ANGELES KINGS — Agreed to terms with D Brad Norton on a one-year contract. Assigned D Jason Holland to Manchester of the AHL.

Announced D Aaron Miller is not on the roster due to injury. OTTAWA SENATORS — Sent F Jason Spezza, F Brad Smyth and D Brian Pothier to Binghamton of the AHL.

TAMPA BAY LIGHTNING — Placed F Brian Holzinger on injured reserve. Designated F Shane Willis for assignment to Springfield of the AHL.

WASHINGTON CAPITALS — Signed C Dainius Zubrus to a two-year contract.

College

NCAA — Placed Colorado's football program on two years' probation and reduced their number of football scholarships for recruitment violations.

GEORGIA TECH — Named Stuart Wilson assistant swimming and diving coach.

OHIO VALLEY — Named Jason Dougherty men's interim basketball coach.

WINTHROP — Named Russell Sarfaty women's assistant basketball coach.

See FEHR Page 9

See TOURNAMENT Page 13

Forget your Pill? Now you can.

Check out Depo-Provera, the birth control you think about just 4 x a year.

Depo-Provera is 99.7% effective.

Not only is Depo-Provera 99.7% effective, but you need just one shot on time every 3 months to stay pregnancy-protected. So, unlike the Pill, Depo-Provera isn't your every day birth control.

Remember, Depo-Provera doesn't protect you from HIV/AIDS or other sexually transmitted diseases.

Some women using Depo-Provera experience side effects. The most common are irregular periods or spotting. Many women stop having periods altogether after a few months and some may experience a slight weight gain. You shouldn't use Depo-Provera if you could be pregnant, if you have had any unexplained periods, or if you have a history of breast cancer, blood clots, stroke, or liver disease. When using Depo-Provera, there may be a possible decrease in bone density.

Ask your health care professional about prescription Depo-Provera.

See what Depo-Provera is all about.
Call toll free 1-866-519-DEPO or visit Depo-Provera.com.

Birth control you think about just 4 x a year.

Please see important product information on adjacent page.
© 2002 Pharmacia Corporation UX0021617.01 9/02

SWIM SCHOOL

Carly Tracz, 7, listens as Anne Clark, sophomore in fine arts, instructs her to kick while holding onto a float board. Swimming lessons are offered in the Natatorium.

Emily Happer | COLLEGIAN

'Ad Astra' sculpture remains earthbound over bolt problem

By John Hanna
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — It's not quite to the stars. There are too many difficulties.

The "Ad Astra" statue, depicting a Kansa Indian and destined to top the Statehouse, remained earthbound Tuesday, as engineers and construction workers tried to solve a problem involving the bolts meant to keep it on its lofty perch.

A crane moved "Ad Astra" into place Monday afternoon as hundreds of people watched, only to lower the statue back down a few hours later. Another attempt wasn't expected until at least Wednesday.

"We're not going to fly the statue up today," Gregg Lynch, project manager for the contractor, J.E. Dunn Construction Co., said Tuesday.

"We're going to do this right."

The statue, by Salina sculptor Richard Bergen, depicts a loincloth-clad Kansa with his bow drawn and arrow aimed at the north star. Its name comes from the state motto, "Ad Astra Per Aspera," Latin for "To the Stars Through Difficulties."

The latest delay disappointed a crowd of about 50 people who gathered Tuesday outside a barbed-wire construction-site fence on the Capitol grounds.

"But the important thing is that it gets up there and gets up there right," said Chuck Sodergren, a retired school administrator from Topeka who also saw Monday's statue-raising. "I think with any project, you have little problems. The important thing is that you take care of them."

Seventeen bolts are supposed to connect a two-inch-thick plate at the base of the statue to another two-inch plate at the top of a tower on the dome. The statue weighs about 4,100 pounds and stands more than 20 feet tall.

The holes in the statue's plate and the holes in the dome tower's plate were slightly off. That meant five of the 17 bolts, five-eighths of an inch in diameter, wouldn't tighten enough.

Commission accepts 2nd Wal-Mart reading

Manhattan closer to store's approval after rezoning ordinance passes 5-0

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

After a unanimous vote by city commissioners Tuesday night, the city of Manhattan is even closer to the approval of a Wal-Mart Supercenter being built and expanded on its existing location.

The City Commission passed the second reading of the rezoning ordinance for the proposed Wal-Mart Supercenter with a vote of 5-0. The first reading was passed Oct. 1 after speakers from Wal-Mart Inc. and Eric Cattell, assistant director for planning, informed commissioners of the new site's developments.

"With regarding the zoning matter, there have been no changes from last week," Cattell said.

The rezoning for the proposed Supercenter includes two commercial lots on a 22-acre tract of land, including one for the shopping center and one commercial outlet.

Lot one will consist of the 209,924 square foot Supercenter, consisting of general merchandise retail, groceries, tire, maintenance and a variety of other services.

The commercial outlet will include a 62,018 square foot vacant commercial lot for future development. No specific plans have been made for the outlet at this time.

Before approval of the second reading, Manhattan residents voiced their opinions of the rezoning tract of land, with a majority of concerns including parking and traffic issues.

Manhattan resident Michael Dikeman said he felt the new Supercenter will cause traffic congestion for the surrounding area.

"We're trying to fit a square peg in a round hole in this area," he said. "I foresee it's going to be an extremely complex area. I haven't seen anything that indicates the traffic will be improved. It seems to be a real, real problem."

However, Mayor Ed Klimek said that both the city and Wal-Mart developers have taken a large number of conditions into consideration throughout the past several months.

"There has been a great deal of planning put into this," Klimek said.

While the second ordinance reading was passed, the development process is far from complete.

The Manhattan Urban Area Planning Board is planning to meet Oct. 28 to consider the final development plan.

Although the process is timely, Wal-Mart developers, as well as Manhattan planners, are anticipating the new development.

"We're looking forward to working with the city of Manhattan," said Bob Johnson, developer of the Kansas City Wal-Mart Stores Inc. "We appreciate the support and look to open late next year."

EVOLUTIONARY THEORY AND CHRISTIAN THEOLOGY
How substantial is the evidence for evolution? Isn't evolution in conflict with central doctrines of the the Christian faith?

Dr. Keith Miller
Friday, October 11, 2002 7:00-9:15 PM

Westview Community Church
3001 Fort Riley Blvd.
Manhattan, KS

DRY CLEAN CITY INC.

NOW
Drop off clothes
at K-State Student Union Bookstore

776-1515 E. Highway 24
Manhattan KMart Center

2003
January
Intercession

LOOK
for the
January Intercession
Course Listing in the
October 15th Collegian

Also Available Online at:
www.dce.ksu.edu/dce/intercession

Division of Continuing Education
DCE
K-STATE
Kansas State University

MAJORS FAIR

OCTOBER 15, 2002

11 a.m. to 3 p.m.
K-State Student Union
Grand Ballroom

SPONSORS
Academic and Career Information Center
Arts and Sciences Open Option Program
Housing and Dining Services

Colleges
Agriculture
Architecture, Planning, and Design
Arts and Sciences
Business Administration
Education
Engineering
Human Ecology
Technology and Aviation
Veterinary Medicine

Aggie Station
RESTAURANT & PUB

Wednesday
after chapter

$2 domestic pitchers

$3 wheat & pale ale

10¢ wings, shrimp & chicken nuggets

710 N. Manhattan • 539-4671

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."

539-3338

Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Depo-Provera
Contraceptive Injection
medroxyprogesterone acetate injectable suspension

Birth control you think about just 4 x a year.

What is DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?
DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection is a form of birth control that is given as an intramuscular injection (i.m.) in the buttock or upper arm every 3 months (13 weeks). To continue your contraceptive protection, you must return for your next injection promptly at the end of 3 months (13 weeks). DEPO-PROVERA contains medroxyprogesterone acetate, a chemical similar to (but not the same as) the natural hormone progesterone, which is produced by your ovaries during the second half of your menstrual cycle. DEPO-PROVERA acts by preventing your egg cells from ripening. If an egg is not released from the ovaries during your menstrual cycle, it cannot become fertilized by sperm and result in pregnancy. DEPO-PROVERA also causes changes in the lining of your uterus that make it less likely for pregnancy to occur.

How effective is DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?
The efficacy of DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection depends on following the recommended dosage schedule exactly (see "How often do I get my shot of DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?"). To make sure you are not pregnant when you first get DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection, your first injection must be given ONLY during the first 5 days of a normal menstrual period. ONLY within the first 5 days after childbirth if not breast feeding yet. If exclusively breast feeding, ONLY at the sixth week after childbirth. It is a long-term reversible contraceptive when administered at 13 weeks (13-week) intervals. DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection is over 99% effective, making it one of the most reliable methods of birth control available. This means that the average annual pregnancy rate is less than one for every 100 women who use DEPO-PROVERA. The effectiveness of most contraceptive methods depends in part on how reliably each woman uses the method. The effectiveness of DEPO-PROVERA depends only on the patient receiving every 3 months (13 weeks) for her next injection. Your health-care provider will help you compare DEPO-PROVERA with other contraceptive methods and give you the information you need in order to decide which contraceptive method is the right choice for you.

The following table shows the percent of women who get pregnant while using different kinds of contraceptive methods. It gives both the lowest expected rate of pregnancy (the rate expected in women who use each method exactly as it should be used) and the typical rate of pregnancy (which includes women who become pregnant because they forget to use their birth control or because they did not follow the directions exactly).

Method	Lowest Expected	Typical
DEPO-PROVERA	0.1	0.1
Oral (pill-taking)	0.7	6.2
Female sterilization	0.1	0.1
Male sterilization	0.1	0.1
Oral contraceptive (pill)	-	-
Condom	0.1	-
Progestin only	0.1	-
IUD	-	-
Ring/patch	0.1	-
Condom (without spermicide)	2	12
Diaphragm (with spermicide)	4	18
Condom (with spermicide)	5	18
Withdrawal	1	18
Periodic abstinence	1-3	20
Spermicide alone	3	21
Vaginal sponge	6	18
Used before childbirth, used after childbirth	9	28
No method	93	93

Source: Trussell et al. Obstet Gynecol 1992;76:153-162.
*When Nupur package insert.

Who should not use DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?
Not all women should use DEPO-PROVERA. You should not use DEPO-PROVERA if you have any of the following conditions:
• If you think you might be pregnant.
• If you have any vaginal bleeding without a known reason.

What other things should I consider before using DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?
You will take a physical examination before your doctor prescribes DEPO-PROVERA. It is important to tell your health-care provider if you have any of the following:
• A family history of breast cancer.
• An abnormal mammogram (breast x-ray), biopsy, breast disease, breast nodules or lumps, or bleeding from your nipples.
• Kidney disease.
• A prolapsed or heavily menstruating period.
• High blood pressure.
• Migraine headaches.
• Epilepsy (convulsions or seizures).
• Diabetes or a family history of diabetes.
• A history of depression.
• Use of anticoagulants or other blood-thinning medications.

This product is intended to prevent pregnancy. It does not protect against transmission of HIV (AIDS) and other sexually transmitted diseases such as chlamydia, genital herpes, genital warts, gonorrhea, hepatitis B, and syphilis.

What if I want to become pregnant after using DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?
To use DEPO-PROVERA is a long-acting birth control method. It takes some time after your last injection for it to wear off. Based on the results from a large study done in the United States, for women who stop using DEPO-PROVERA in order to become pregnant, it is expected that about half of those who become pregnant will do so in about 10 months after their last injection; about two thirds of those who become pregnant will do so in about 12 months; about 80% of those who become pregnant will do so in about 15 months; and about 93% of those who become pregnant will do so in about 18 months after their last injection. The length of time you can use DEPO-PROVERA has no effect on how long it takes you to become pregnant after you stop using it.

What are the risks of using DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?
1. Irregular Bleeding: The side effect reported most frequently by women who use DEPO-PROVERA for contraception is a change in their normal menstrual cycle. During the first year of using DEPO-PROVERA, you might have one or more of the following changes: irregular or unpredictable bleeding or spotting, an increase or decrease in menstrual bleeding or no bleeding at all. Unusually heavy or continuous bleeding, however, is not a usual effect of DEPO-PROVERA, and if this happens, you should see your health-care provider right away. With continued use of DEPO-PROVERA, bleeding usually decreases, and many women stop having periods completely. In clinical studies of DEPO-PROVERA, 50% of the women studied reported no menstrual bleeding (amenorrhea) after 1 year of use, and 68% of the women studied reported no menstrual bleeding after 2 years of use. The reason that your periods stop is because DEPO-PROVERA causes a resting state in your ovaries. When your ovaries do not release an egg monthly, the regular monthly growth of the lining of your uterus does not occur and, therefore, the bleeding that comes with your normal menstruation does not take place. When you stop using DEPO-PROVERA, your menstrual period will usually, a time, return to its normal cycle.

2. Bone Mineral Changes: Use of DEPO-PROVERA may be associated with a decrease in the amount of mineral stored in your bones. This could increase your risk of developing bone fractures. The rate of bone mineral loss is greatest in the early years of DEPO-PROVERA use, but after that, it begins to resemble the normal rate of age-related bone mineral loss.

3. Cancer: Studies of women who have used different forms of contraception found that women who used DEPO-PROVERA for contraception had no increased overall risk of developing cancer of the breast, ovary, uterus, cervix, or liver. However, women under 35 years of age whose last exposure to DEPO-PROVERA was within the previous 4 to 5 years may have a slightly increased risk of developing breast cancer similar to that seen with oral contraceptives. You should discuss this with your health-care provider.

4. Unintended Pregnancy: Because DEPO-PROVERA is such an effective contraceptive method, the risk of accidental pregnancy for women who get their shots regularly (every 3 months [13 weeks]) is very low. While there have been reports of an increased risk of low birth weight and neonatal infant death or other health problems in infants conceived close to the time of injection, such pregnancies are uncommon. If you think you may have become pregnant while using DEPO-PROVERA, for contraception, see your health-care provider as soon as possible.

5. Allergic Reactions: Some women using DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection have reported severe and potentially life-threatening allergic reactions known as anaphylaxis and anaphylactoid reactions. Symptoms include the sudden onset of hives or swelling and itching of the skin, breathing difficulties, and a drop in blood pressure.

6. Other Risks: Women who use hormone-based contraceptives may have an increased risk of blood clots or stroke. Also, if a contraceptive method fails, there is a possibility that the fertilized egg will begin to develop outside of the uterus (ectopic pregnancy). While these events are rare, you should tell your health-care provider if you have any of the problems listed in the next section.

What symptoms may signal problems while using DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?
Call your health-care provider immediately if any of these problems occur following an injection of DEPO-PROVERA:
• Sharp chest pain, coughing up blood, or sudden shortness of breath (indicating a possible clot in the lung).
• Sudden severe headache or vomiting, dizziness or fainting, problems with your eyesight or speech, weakness, or numbness in an arm or leg (indicating a possible stroke).
• Sudden pain or swelling in the calf (indicating a possible clot in the leg).
• Sudden pain or tenderness in the lower abdominal area.
• Persistent pain, or bleeding at the injection site.

What are the possible side effects of DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?
1. Weight Gain: You may experience a weight gain while you are using DEPO-PROVERA. About two thirds of the women who used DEPO-PROVERA in clinical trials reported a weight gain of about 5 pounds during the first year of use. You may continue to gain weight after the first year. Women in one large study who used DEPO-PROVERA for 2 years gained an average total of 8.1 pounds over those 2 years or approximately 4 pounds per year. Women who continued for 4 years gained an average total of 13.8 pounds over those 4 years, or approximately 3.5 pounds per year. Women who continued for 6 years gained an average total of 16.5 pounds over those 6 years, or approximately 2.75 pounds per year.

2. Other Side Effects:
• A small study of over 1,000 women who used DEPO-PROVERA for up to 7 years, some women reported the following effects that may or may not have been related to their use of DEPO-PROVERA: irregular menstrual bleeding, amenorrhea, headache, nervousness, abdominal cramps, dizziness, weakness, or fatigue, decreased sexual desire, leg cramps, rashes, vaginal discharge or irritation, breast swelling and tenderness, bloating, swelling of the hands or feet, backache, depression, insomnia, acne, pain, pain on hair growth or excessive hair loss, hot flashes, and joint pain. Other problems were reported by very few of the women in the clinical trials, but some of these could be serious. These include convulsions, jaundice, urinary tract infections, allergic reactions, fainting, paralysis, osteoporosis, lack of return to fertility, deep vein thrombosis, pulmonary embolism, breast cancer, or cervical cancer. If there are any other problems, occur during your use of DEPO-PROVERA, discuss them with your health-care provider.

Should any precautions be followed during use of DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?
1. Alcohol: While you are using DEPO-PROVERA for contraception, you may skip a period or your periods may stop completely. If you have been receiving your DEPO-PROVERA injections regularly every 3 months (13 weeks), then you are probably not pregnant. However, if you think that you may be pregnant, use your health-care provider.

2. Laboratory Test Interference: If you are scheduled for any laboratory tests, tell your health-care provider that you are using DEPO-PROVERA for contraception. Certain blood tests are affected by hormones such as DEPO-PROVERA.

3. Drug Interactions: DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection is an anticonvulsant that may significantly decrease the effectiveness of DEPO-PROVERA if the two drugs are given during the same time.

4. Nursing Mothers: Although DEPO-PROVERA can be passed to the nursing infant in the breast milk, no harmful effects have been found in these children. DEPO-PROVERA does not prevent the breast from producing milk, so it can be used by nursing mothers. However, to measure the amount of DEPO-PROVERA that is passed to the infant in the first weeks after birth, you should wait until 6 weeks after childbirth before you start using DEPO-PROVERA for contraception.

How often do I get my shot of DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?
The recommended dose of DEPO-PROVERA is 150 mg every 3 months (13 weeks) given in a single intramuscular injection in the buttock or upper arm. To make sure that you are not pregnant at the time of the first injection, it is essential that the injection be given ONLY during the first 5 days of a normal menstrual period. If used following the delivery of a child, the first injection of DEPO-PROVERA MUST be given within 5 days after childbirth if you are not breast feeding or 6 weeks after childbirth if you are exclusively breast feeding. If you wait longer than 3 months (13 weeks) between injections, or longer than 6 weeks after delivery, your health-care provider should determine that you are not pregnant before giving you your injection of DEPO-PROVERA.

For only CB-7.5

Pharmacia & Upjohn Company
Kalamazoo, MI 49001, USA

Pharmacia & Upjohn

Iraq might not strike unless provoked

Debate runs into snag in senate

By Tom Raum
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — CIA Director George Tenet told lawmakers Tuesday that Saddam Hussein might not use weapons of mass destruction — unless provoked by fear of an imminent U.S.-led attack.

Tenet's assessment, which came as both the House and the Senate debated a resolution to authorize President Bush to use force against Iraq, appeared somewhat at odds with Bush's assertion that the Iraqi leader might be planning a chemical or biological attack on U.S. interests.

Bush's drive to win war authority, meanwhile, hit a snag in the Senate.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., a fierce opponent of the president's Iraq war resolution, was using delaying tactics in an effort to block the measure. Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle, D-S.D., said that could easily put off a final vote until next week.

However, eventual approval of the administration-backed resolution appeared likely, and it was gaining broad bipartisan support in both chambers.

Both the House and the Senate worked into the evening on the measure and a final House vote was expected by late Thursday.

Secretary of State Colin Powell made appearances on both sides of Capitol Hill to urge lawmakers to pass the resolution with large bipartisan margins and without amendments.

"I think the resolution is timely, and we need it now," Powell told reporters. He said it would help strengthen his hand at the U.N. Security Council.

Meanwhile, Bush continued to try to drum up U.S. and international support for his hardline policies.

Bush told a Tennessee audience that "the full force and fury of the United States military will be unleashed" should he decide to use force against Iraq. "And make no mistake about it, we will prevail," Bush added.

The night before, in a speech to the nation from Cincinnati, Bush warned that Saddam Hussein might attempt "cruel and desperate measures," including using chemical and biological weapons against U.S. forces or his own people.

But Tenet, in a letter read before a joint hearing of the House and Senate intelligence committees, suggested Baghdad "for now appears to be drawing a line short of conducting terrorist attacks with conventional or chemical or biological weapons."

Should Saddam conclude that a U.S.-led attack against his country could not be deterred, "he probably would become much less constrained in adopting terrorist action," said Tenet.

Tenet also briefed Senate members privately.

The Bush administration has made the case that going after Saddam is necessary because he has the capability to use weapons of mass destruction and is trying to expand it. The administration also stresses that he has used them in the past.

Tenet provided a slightly different take, suggesting that just because Saddam has such weapons doesn't necessarily mean he'll use them at this time.

Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, noted that if the conclusion is that Saddam would be more likely to use weapons of mass destruction if attacked, "it's a relevant fact in terms of unilateral force."

Levin opposes U.S. action against Iraq with out U.N. backup.

Byrd, who has been criticizing the Iraq war resolution daily since the Senate began debate last Thursday, told colleagues at a party luncheon that he planned to make full use of Senate rules to try to derail the legislation, participants said.

Byrd, a former majority leader, is widely regarded for his knowledge and skilled use of Senate rules.

Sen. Joseph Lieberman, D-

Conn., a Democratic sponsor of the resolution, complained about the tactics. "This is too important a matter to frustrate," he told reporters.

But Daschle suggested the delaying tactics might only be postponing the inevitable — approval of the measure. In the meantime, he said, some Democrats would still try to modify the wording to narrow the scope of the resolution — even if they were unsuccessful.

Daschle suggested that a procedural vote scheduled for Thursday — essentially to decide whether to stay on the bill or go to something else — would be a critical vote that will signal the depth of the resolution's overall support.

Also Tuesday:
■ At the Pentagon, a Defense Intelligence Agency official, John Yurechko, said Saddam is actively making biological and chemical weapons and trying to hide that fact from the world.

■ Sir Christopher Meyer, Britain's ambassador to the United States, told a foreign-policy audience in Washington that, "As far as Saddam Hussein and weapons of mass destruction are concerned, for the international community inaction is not an option."

■ Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Joseph Biden, D-Del., introduced a bill to offer immigrant visas and permanent U.S. residence to selected Iraqi scientists "in exchange for credible information on Iraq's weapons programs."

BITTERSWEET REWARD

Katie Lester | COLLEGIAN

Bridget Corcoran, freshman in microbiology, sprinkles peanuts over her resident assistant, Diana Hyle, junior in English. Hyle was made into a human ice cream sundae after her fourth floor West Hall residents put more pennies into her jar than any other staffer. Along with Marlatt Hall, West helped raise money for multiple sclerosis research.

Kuwaiti gunmen slain after killing U.S. Marine during war games

U.S. intelligence not ruling out terrorism

By Diana Elias
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KUWAIT — Two Kuwaiti gunmen in a pickup truck attacked U.S. forces during war games Tuesday on an island in the Persian Gulf, killing one Marine and wounding another before they were shot to death by U.S. troops. Kuwait called the assault a terrorist act.

The Pentagon officials said the assailants pulled up to a group of Marines conducting urban assault training on Failaka, an uninhabited island off Kuwait's coast, and opened fire with small arms.

They then drove to another site, stopped and attacked again before being killed by Marines, officials said.

Marines later found three AK-47s and ammunition inside the vehicle, according to a statement released in Washington by the Bahrain-based U.S. Fifth Fleet. It said the injured Marine was hit in the arm.

In a brief statement, the Kuwaiti Interior Ministry condemned the attack and identified the assailants as Anas al-Kandari, born in 1981, and Jassem al-Hajiri, born in 1976. It said both were Kuwaiti civilians.

U.S. intelligence has not determined if the attackers had any terrorist links, said an intelligence official, speaking on the condition of anonymity.

An Interior Ministry official, speaking on condition of anonymity, described the two men as fundamentalist Muslims. More than 30 of their friends and relatives were detained for questioning, he said.

"The ministry announces that this is a terrorist act," the Interior Ministry said in a statement.

"It will not allow anyone to undermine the country's security."

Pentagon spokesman Lt. Daniel Hetlage said the Marines returned to their ships shortly after the attack, but would resume exercises on the island Wednesday.

Failaka Island, about 10 miles east of Kuwait City, was abandoned by its inhabitants when Iraq invaded Kuwait in 1990, and Iraqi forces heavily mined it during their occupation.

After a U.S.-led coalition liberated Kuwait in the 1991 Persian Gulf War, the government compensated islanders for their property and resettled them on the mainland.

The island has since been cleared of mines and many Kuwaitis fish there on weekends. Some former residents visit occasionally.

The shooting attack was unprecedented in Kuwait, a U.S. ally since the Gulf War. More than a decade later, most Kuwaitis remain supportive of the close relationship.

LECTURE AT 10:30 A.M. TODAY IN THE UNION BIG 12 ROOM

THE BILL BROWN MASTER EDITOR LECTURE FOR 2002

ATTACK ON AMERICA San Jose Mercury News

'ACTS OF WAR'

THOUSANDS FEARED KILLED IN WORST U.S. TERRORIST STRIKE

HIJACKED PLANES HIT TRADE TOWERS, PENTAGON

A LONG DAY OF DREAD
Dead American struggling with a new, harrowing world.

Unparalleled assaults shock, paralyze nation

Matt Mansfield, one of the world's top newspaper designers, describes how our business has changed.

What we saw —
How 9/11 changed the way newspapers present news

10:30 a.m.
Wednesday
Oct. 9, 2002

Big 12 Room
K-State Student Union

Matt Mansfield

Mansfield is assistant managing editor for visuals at the San Jose Mercury News, judged one of the world's best-designed newspapers by the Society for News Design.

A design coach for Knight-Ridder newspapers, Mansfield is 19th ranking professional in the 2001 Brown Master Editor program, underwritten by Ag Press, of Manhattan.

SPONSORED BY THE A.Q. MILLER SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM & MASS COMMUNICATIONS AND K-STATE STUDENT PUBLICATIONS INC.

LECTURE AT 10:30 A.M. TODAY IN THE UNION BIG 12 ROOM

FEHR | Despite loss, K-State football in good shape

Continued from Page 6

Unfortunately for the Cards, newly acquired All-Star third baseman Scott Rolen is doubtful for the series after spraining his shoulder in the series against the Diamondbacks.

So that's not the least bit funny.

The intangible in this series is obviously the Cards' motivational advantage over the Giants, fueled by the loss of Darryl Kile.

"I'll take the Cardinals in six on this side as well. Don't bank on my predictions though."

After all, I did take the liberty of setting up a scenario where the Cats ran the table in the Big 12. And we all know how that prediction turned out.

But here's another prediction anyway.

The Cats will refocus and come back to have a successful season, and this year's baseball postseason will be fun to watch in the meantime.

Ben is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at fehr7@hotmail.com

royal purple ARE YOU IN?

Wednesday, October 9

Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures

Boyd Hall
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Theta Xi
6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.

Next up: Thursday, Oct. 10
Ford Hall 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Phi Delta Theta 6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
Union 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Don't miss
KANSAS STATE VOLLEYBALL
on KMAN News/Talk 1350
Tonight's game: at Oklahoma
(Big 12 Conference match)
7 p.m.
Ad sponsored by Clafin

$2 OFF
purchase of $10 or more
Must present coupon
Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-6 p.m.
Sat. 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

Something
Uniforms
Alterations
Embroidery
317 Ft. Riley Blvd.
537-1171

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
1800 Clafin Road
776-5577
We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

As Senior VP of Financial Planning at a major movie studio you could:

O.K. a $93 million budget

Hire 7,500 extras

Rent 273 palm trees
(and 1 big fan to make them sway)*

How do you get a job like this? Start today.
Apply for a Summer Dream Internship at:
www.StarHereGoPlaces.com/biz1

Start here. Go places.

If you know business and accounting, you can get a job anywhere. Because the skills you learn in business — strategic and analytical thinking, communication, and leadership — are always in demand. In some of the coolest industries in the world. Even in the movies.

Start going places with a Summer Dream Internship. Register online today and complete your application by 2/01/03 to compete for one of two $5,000 paid internships. Eight other students will receive cash value awards of up to $1,000.*

*Contest Rules: complete rules can be found on the CollegeClub.com Web site. NO PURCHASE NECESSARY. Contest entry period runs 10/01/02 – 2/01/03 and is open only to legal residents of the 50 United States, eighteen (18) or older at time of entry, enrolled in a full/part-time accredited college or university, and is subject to the complete Contest Official Rules. Entries may be submitted on the StarHereGoPlaces.com Web site located at www.StarHereGoPlaces.com or on the CollegeClub.com Web site located at www.CollegeClub.com. All entries become the property of Sponsor, as defined in the complete Contest Official Rules. Employees and family members of Sponsor not eligible to participate. Sponsor is not responsible for technical or other malfunctions, lost or unavailable network connections, or failed electronic communications that may occur in the processing of the entries. The authors of the two (2) Grand Prize winning essays will each receive their choice of one of the "Summer Dream Internships" provided by Sponsor, which includes five thousand dollars ($5,000) to be paid over the course of the internship. The Grand Prize is not transferable, except by Sponsor, who may substitute prize with a prize of equal value or opportunity. No cash or prize substitution is allowed and other restrictions apply. The authors of the three (3) winning Runners-Up essays will receive one thousand dollar ($1,000) gift checks. The authors of the five (5) winning Honorable Mention essays will receive five hundred dollar ($500) gift checks. Void where prohibited. Winners will be responsible for any and all taxes. Sponsor: The American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, 1211 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10036-8775; CollegeClub.com, a division of Student Advantage, Inc., 2035 Corte Del Nogal, Suite 200, Carlsbad, CA 92009.

THE EDGE

Wednesday, October 9, 2002

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 11

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

London's Science Museum prepares tribute to fictional spy James Bond

A famous golden gun and a razor-rimmed bowler hat emerged from their wrappings as curators at London's Science Museum began piecing together a tribute to James Bond.

The "Bond, James Bond" exhibition, which opens Oct. 16, boasts the biggest collection of Bond memorabilia ever assembled, including exploding plaster casts, laser-firing watches, bulletproof racing cars and exotic costumes worn by "Bond girls."

CALENDAR

Music

All Ages

"Art," a play by Yasmina Reza, will be at 8 p.m. today and will play through Saturday in Nichols Theatre. Tickets are $6 for students, $10 for the general public, and are available at McCain Box Office, 532-6428, or online at www.ksu.edu/mccain.

Sandip and East Meets Jazz, made up of Sandip Burman, Paul Bollenback and Dave Pietro, will play at 7:30 tonight in the West Ballroom of the K-State Student Union. Admission is $3 for students and children, $5 for adults.

Pierce Pettis will perform as part of the BirdHouse Concert series at 8 p.m. Friday. Tickets are $12 for students, $15 for the general public, and are available at the Manhattan Arts Center, Claffin Books and the Dusty Bookshelf.

"La Boheme" will be presented by the Stanislavsky Opera at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in McCain Auditorium. Tickets are $20 and $18 for students and children, $40 and $36 for the general public, and are available at McCain Box Office, 532-6428, or at www.ksu.edu/mccain. A pre-performance lecture will be at 6:30 in McCain 204.

18 and over

Orange will play at 9:30 tonight at Dave's Hideaway. Cover charge will be $3.

21 and over

The Phonocaptors and Onward Crispin Glover will play at 9:30 p.m. Thursday at Auntie Mae's Parlor. Cover charge will be $2.

The Inking will play at 10 p.m. Thursday at Pat's Blue Rib'n Barbecue.

Art

Urban Design

1204 Moro
The MFA Thesis Exhibition of Joshua Cross, graduate student in fine arts, opened Tuesday and will be on display until Nov. 9.

Radina's Coffeehouse and Bakery

618 N. Manhattan
"Dark Winter Branches," recent drawings by Katie Kingery-Page, will be on display until Oct. 30.

Manhattan Arts Center

1520 Poyntz
The Columbian Artists Membership Exhibit will run until Nov. 6.

William T. Kemper Art Gallery

K-State Student Union
A collection of art by art department faculty will be on display until Oct. 18.

Willard Art Gallery

116 Willard
The work of Ian Harvey will be on display until Oct. 18.

Java Espresso &amp; Bakery

1219 Moro
The work of Evgeniya Parish, sophomore in art, is now on display.

Strecker-Nelson Gallery

406 1/2 Poyntz Ave.
"Amongst Friends," a show featuring the work of Barbara Waterman-Peters, Larry Peters and Marko Fields will run through Oct. 26.

Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art

on campus
"Beyond Oz: Children's Book Illustrations from the Region," will be on display until December. The show features the work of children's book illustrators from the Midwest.

PURE FOOD

Advocates swear by organics;
conflicting evidence existsBy Rachel Krier
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Wayne Martin has a reason for advocating organic food. While working on a 3,000-acre farm at age 20, Martin brought a truck full of fresh-cut wheat into the barn to be unloaded. But before he could, the farm owner, with a plastic tub and spray nozzle strapped to his back, told him to hold up a minute. Martin witnessed his boss "fog the bins with this foul-smelling chemical."

"It smelled like death to me," Martin said.

Martin later found out the chemical was malathion, but he said he knew that whatever it was, the dry wheat was going to soak it up like a sponge in that moist environment.

When Martin asked his boss about it, he said "That's why the worms won't eat it."

After that, Martin abandoned conventional farming methods and discovered the alternative of organic farming. Martin is now a modest organic farmer, and he spends most of his time managing People's Grocery Cooperative store.

Martin said he justifies his advocacy of organic foods as a matter of simple common sense.

"The less toxic chemicals you ingest, the more you lower your chances of health complications," he said.

Martin is not alone in his commitment. The national and international demand for organically processed foods has been increasing by 15 to 20 percent every year during the past decade, according to the September 30 edition of Newsweek. With the new spotlight on organic foods, the United States Department of Agriculture has stepped in to regulate production and advertising claims.

Any producer who wishes to label food as organic must have that to be inspected and certified by the USDA.

To claim 100 percent organic or simply organic (at least 95 percent), farmers must have documented proof that the food was produced without hormones, antibiotics, herbicides, insecticides, chemical fertilizers, genetic modification or germ-killing radiation.

Martin said he not only appreciates the chemical-free aspect of organic foods but also their increased nutritional value.

"It's a documented fact that organic foods have more nutrients," he said.

"It is important to feed your body at a cellular level. Feed your cells, not your stomach, and your reward is being healthy."

The Journal of Alternative and Complementary Medicine published a study on Nov. 7, 2001, in which the researcher concluded that organic crops contain significantly more vitamin C, iron, magnesium and phosphorus, and significantly less nitrates, than conventional crops.

However, opposing studies that do not support organic foods can also be found.

"More information is needed," said Mary Higgins, assistant professor and extension nutrition specialist. "There is no conclusive research that organic foods are healthier than conventional, or the other way around."

Six months ago, Jason Hamm, senior in general management, started sorting through this conflicting information. Since then, he has been eating organic foods. He made the decision after learning about the petrochemicals, such as pesticides and herbicides, which companies put in food.

"It's pretty shady stuff if you really dig down into it," Hamm said.

"Educate yourself about it, because you are not going to get a lot of information from media sources."

Though this may sound like a political statement, Hamm said it is mostly about his own health. He questions the motives of commercial producers who, he said, put profit before people, and he said he trusts that organic foods are produced with care for the consumers.

When Katie Winslow, senior in theater, discovered organic foods a year and a half ago, she noticed how a little care can make a big difference.

"Organics give me a pure form of energy," Winslow said. "I've noticed a big change in my attitude. I'm happier. Physically, my body is shaping itself differently."

Though she doesn't claim to be an expert on organic foods, Barbara Knous, associate professor and extensive specialist in nutrition, said she does know about the physical and mental effects of food in general.

"If people feel what they are eating is healthier, sometimes they just feel better. It's a placebo effect," Knous said. "But there are some people who are sensitive to pesticides, herbicides and additives. For them, organic food might be the right way to go."

Knous also said that due to the higher prices of organic foods, they may not be the best choice for everyone. Organic advocates say they don't mind spending more on their food and supporting small, family-based organic farmers while they are at it.

"You get full because your body has all the nutrients it needs," Kristina McCollum, senior in creative writing, said. "I think it is as much about your attitude and lifestyle as it is about your need for food."

Photo illustration by Nicole Donert | COLLEGIAN

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

STRESS | Massages help students relieve tension

Continued from Page 1

But students may need to take action to stay physically and emotionally stress free, he said.

"The more stressors and stress situations you have, the more you have to counteract with stress reducers," he said. "There are several ways — massage therapy being one of them — for people to regulate and reduce stress levels."

That's where the dim lights, candles and soft music in Acker's massage room at Crimpers in Aggieville come in. For a half hour to an hour, depending on the treatment, clients can relax and begin healing muscles with deep-tissue and relaxation massages, she said.

"I want them to walk away feeling like, 'That rocked. That felt good,' and that they enjoyed doing something for themselves," Acker said. "It just gets the body slowed down. Touch is such a wonderful thing — the body really responds to that."

Aside from squeezing a massage into busy schedules, students need to get regular sleep and exercise, eat properly and drink plenty of water to help their bodies deal with stress, McCabe said.

Acker said most massages cost about $30 to $45 per hour, depending on the treatment. Though it could be more costly than other alternatives, the service might be necessary to help keep the body feeling healthy and pain-free, Acker said.

"I would say they're necessary for people who are in situations where they're putting a lot of stress in their muscles," she said.

Acker said clients with more severe problems usually need two to three services to release years of toxin build-up. After the initial cleansing, clients could benefit from massages once a month to once every two months, she said.

However, stress levels differ, Acker said. Clients with less stress and pain problems don't need massages as frequently, she said. Those individuals can benefit from a massage once every two months.

But more is better, McCabe said.

"If you can afford it, get it three to four times a week or as often as you exercise," McCabe said. "Or just as a special treat, maybe once or twice a month."

Nancy Gyurcsik, assistant professor of kinesiology, treats herself to one-hour weekly massages. For three years, she has been getting weekly deep athletic massages to help her relax and keep her body in healthy condition.

"When you're so busy all week with work and doing things in personal life, it's just the hour that's time for me to relax and slow my life down," she said.

Gyurcsik said massage also helps her relieve muscle soreness from regular exercise and prevent injuries.

Some muscle soreness also could result from inactivity, she said. Students often don't stretch their lower backs and leg muscles since they sit for long periods while studying or

Got Stress?

Students should do some research before going to a massage therapist.

It's important to feel comfortable around the person giving the massage, because for many massage treatments, the client will be taking off most of his or her clothes. Different therapists give different types of massages, and students should find out what type of massage they like.

Source: Nancy Gyurcsik, assistant professor of kinesiology

■ Deep Tissue/Relaxation Massage: They help relieve tension in the lower back, legs, quads, calves and all muscles in neck and head area. A deep tissue massage helps relieve stress built up in the muscles by taking toxins out and returning the body to equilibrium, while a relaxation massage helps clients experience a mental and emotional state of relaxation. Both last about 30 minutes to an hour.

Source: Ali Acker, massage therapist

■ Swedish Chair Massage: Focuses on the upper body, including the head, neck, shoulders and arms. The massage lasts about 15 minutes and allows clients to become relaxed and comfortable, while giving them time for reflection.

Source: Austin McCabe, junior in elementary education in class, Gyurcsik said. That repetitiveness could cause inflexibility and discomfort that massage could help, she said.

Whether a massage provides stress relief, pain loss or relaxation, McCabe and Acker both said that students should experience the benefits themselves.

"Everybody needs to be pampered," Acker said.

"Everybody has stress, everybody has back pain, neck pain, shoulder pain, knee pain. Just because we're students doesn't mean we can't enjoy those services."

DEER | Motorists cautioned to be more attentive

Continued from Page 1

"The peak of accidents and breeding season coincide," Fox said. "The most critical time of year is around Nov. 15."

Fox said driving is especially dangerous in the fall because it is darker during peak driving hours, when people are traveling to and from work.

"There are increased driving hazards half an hour before sunrise and sunset, because deer are more active at this time and it's harder to see," he said.

"People are also 20 times more likely to have an accident with a deer during the night than they are during the day. These are the times when our eyesight is primarily the weakest."

Fox attributed an increase in deer-related accidents to poor visibility, an increase in the number of commuters and the deer mating season.

He also said vehicle speed influences accident rates.

After the speed limit was reduced to 55 mph in 1974, there was a reduction in deer-related accidents.

In 1996, when the speed limit was increased to 65 and 70 mph, there was an increase in accidents, Fox said.

"Speed is the one thing that we have the greatest ability to modify," Fox said. "A few microseconds can make the difference between a deer crossing the road safely, you slowing down in time, or hitting the deer."

The know how:

$120 million will be shared between 3 universities

■ Look for deer

Be especially alert at dawn and dusk, and scan the roadsides for deer movement.

■ Slow down near woods, parks, golf courses, streams and deer-crossing signs

Deer are most common in these areas. Streams are natural travel routes for deer, especially if the surrounding area is wooded or undisturbed. Pay attention to deer-crossing signs, and slow down in areas where you have seen deer before.

■ Be prepared for deer to travel in groups

Slow down when approaching deer. There may be other deer nearby, so be ready for a second or third deer to cross the road also.

■ Don't speed

The faster you are going, the longer it will take you to stop for a deer.

■ Slow down when approaching deer along the roadside

Deer have a tendency to bolt when approached, sometimes onto the roadway. After seeing a deer, use flashers to warn oncoming drivers.

■ Always wear your seat belt

Statistics show that most people injured or killed in deer-related accidents weren't wearing their seat belts. Motorcyclists should be especially careful. Fatality rates are higher in deer-motorcycle accidents.

■ Do not take unsafe evasive action

The most serious accidents occur when drivers lose control of their vehicles while trying to avoid an animal. It is usually safer to hit a deer than to swerve and hit a tree, or worse, another car.

■ Use high beams as much as possible

■ Keep brakes and car parts working properly

If you hit a deer

■ Pull over to the side of the road

■ Turn on emergency flashers

■ Exit vehicle, but do not try to move the deer

■ If it is injured, dial *47 for the nearest highway patrol dispatcher. Failing to report a traffic accident totaling $500 or more is a misdemeanor.

Sources: Kansas Department of Transportation, Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks

Eichkorn said accident numbers have increased in recent years.

"Drivers should be aware of their surroundings," Eichkorn said.

"Drivers should watch for deer-crossing signs. They are put there for that reason."

Fox advises motorists to be cautious, especially at night.

"I tell my daughters to not use the cruise control at night," he said.

"It slows reaction time, and every mile per hour counts."

WEST PORTS | Bush asks court to reopen West Coast ports; truce would keep ports open through Christmas

Continued from Page 1

The petition asked for an 80-day "cooling-off period" and was signed by five of Bush's Cabinet secretaries. Bush wants the court require work at the ports "resume at a normal pace."

In papers filed in U.S. District Court in San Francisco, the Justice Department said an injunction should be granted because "the president of the United States has determined that the labor standoff between the defendants 'has resulted in a lockout that affects a substantial part of the maritime industry.'"

The Justice Department filing said "the result of the ongoing lockout has been the halting of virtually all trade handled by ILWU workers on the West Coast. The continuation of the ongoing lockout at the West Coast ports threatens to imperil both the national health and safety."

A court-ordered truce would keep the ports open during the crucial Christmas season, when retailers rely on imported goods to stock their shelves.

White House advisers welcomed the chance to deflect questions about Bush's handling of the economy. Polls show a growing number of voters who want Bush to spend more time talking about the economy than Iraq. His economic policies have either stalled in the Senate or have failed to jump-start the economy. Now, he has an economic cause to promote.

At the same time, Bush's intervention was expected to energize organized labor, traditionally a Democratic ally, just four weeks before midterm elections. Democratic candidates depend on heavy turnout from union workers, and some presidential advisers fear Bush's intervention will drive angry labor voters to the polls.

"No president has ever been on this side of management this overtly," said Richard Trumka, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO. Bush encouraged the two sides to settle their differences before the cooling-off period.

"I expect both sides to put the concerns of our national health and safety first and work in good faith to resolve their differences as quickly as possible," Bush said with Labor Secretary Elaine Chao, Agriculture Secretary Ann Veneman and Transportation Secretary Norman Mineta at his side.

Bush made his decision after an inquiry board hand-picked by the White House reported that the standoff was unlikely to end soon. "We have no confidence that the parties will resolve the West Coast ports dispute within a reasonable time," the panel declared.

Little Caesars
WEDNESDAY
HOT & READY
1 LARGE 14" PIZZA
WITH PEPPERONI
4:30 PM - 8:00 PM
$5.00
Includes Tax
Valid only at participating locations. ©2001 L.C.E., Inc.
539-3333

GAME GUY
Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent
Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games
Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5
(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA.

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Mini-Bingo 1:15 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
Mini-Bingo 6:45 p.m.
"Progressive Bingo"
Sundays & Wednesdays
- Win Big Bucks -
114 McCall Rd.

HUNAM
Restaurant and Mongolian BBQ
1304 Westloop 539-8668
Lunch Buffet $4.95 All you can eat! Mon.-Sat.
Dinner Buffet $6.95 All you can eat!
Friday Seafood Buffet $7.95
$1.00 on Buffet
FREE DELIVERY
• OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK •

Wind Power Forum
Wed., Oct. 16
7:30-9:30 p.m.
K-State Student Union
K/S Ballroom (2nd floor)

Sponsored by:
Northern Flint Hills Audubon Society
Flint Hills Sierra Club
Students for Environmental Action

CHARLES BENJAMIN
attorney based in Lawrence, Kan.

RON KLATASKE
executive director of Audubon of Kansas

RICHARD NELSON
renewable energy engineer with Engineering Extension Programs in the College of Engineering

ALAN POLLOM
Kansas state director of The Nature Conservancy

DR. KYLE WETZEL
president of K. Wetzel & Company, Inc.

GENE YOUNG

Try one of our new Specialty Pizzas

Wildcat Special
Chicken Primavera
Bubba's Favorite
Bactochichiss
Overnighter
Chicken Southwest

Overnighter - Remember the few slices of leftover pizza you wrapped and threw in the fridge and snacked on at breakfast time the next day? Wait till you try this one - creamy white sauce, ham, pork, bacon, eggs, and mozzarella cheese. Lunch brunch, dinner, late night snack or for breakfast the next day, this pizza is good anytime.

Chicken Southwest - Not to be confused with the airline! A blend of cheddar and mozzarella cheese, chicken, olives, tomato and onions. Add our special South of the Border Sauce and you've got a spicy little snack here. Want to go a little further South - add jalapeño peppers at no extra charge!

$2 OFF ANY NEW LARGE SPECIALTY PIZZA
OR
$1 OFF ANY NEW MEDIUM OR SMALL SPECIALTY PIZZA

• AGGIEVILLE 1121 Moro 539-7666 • WESTLOOP 2931 Claflin 539-7447
• 3rd & MORO 231 Moro 776-4334

DINE-IN/CARRYOUT/DELIVERY - EXPIRES NOV. 1, 2002 *GOOD ONLY ON THE NEW SPECIALTY PIZZA *NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER OFFER *PIZZA HUT OF MANHATTAN 10/2002

Pizza Hut

GOLF | Tough conditions challenge Wildcat men

Continued from page 6

"We've done that in every tournament. This time we were just further behind than we would have liked to be, and we couldn't come back."

After the team struggled in the opening round Monday, Norris said he was happy with the way the team continued and didn't give up.

"Everybody bounced back," he said. "A.J. played well today, and it seems like his game is coming around. Top to bottom, we didn't get down."

Norris said the conditions at the Missouri Bluffs Golf Club offered a bit of change for the K-State squad.

"It is such a different type of tournament than Colbert Hills," he said.

"This may be the tournament with the lowest scores that we play in. It's not that easy, but the conditions were good."

"The lack of wind and the soft greens really helped the scores because you could be aggressive," he said.

K-State returns to Colbert Hills on Oct. 17 for a dual match with Oklahoma.

Norris said he won't take too much from the Purina Classic this week as they prepare for the Sooners.

"I'm not real concerned with this tournament," he said. "We will play on much tougher courses. It's not a bother that we played this way."

TOURNAMENT | Women finish 10th at Indiana

Continued from page 6

one out of bounds," Boucher said. "But I played well after that and started hitting the fairways."

"I wasn't hitting my driver well in the first round, but I got it figured out and am hitting it really well now. I just wish I would have made more putts."

That's what she will be working on for the next tournament, she said.

Knight said she was proud of how the Cats got the ball rolling Tuesday.

They put the first round behind them and played up to their abilities.

She said she was especially proud of sophomore Stephanie Limoges, who played as an individual.

Limoges shot three consistent scores (83-82-80) in her first tournament of the season.

"I'm proud of the way Stephanie improved each round," Knight said. "I'm proud of her efforts, and this will give her some confidence and do nothing but help her nerves."

"It was a rocky start, but she battled through 54 holes and came out smiling - no excuses," Knight said. "I think there are definitely some things she will build on."

The Wildcats are back in action Oct. 14-15 for the Marilyn Smith Sunflower Invitational in Wichita at the Willowbend Golf Club.

At the Legends

The Cats finished 10th at the Shootout at the Legends on Monday and Tuesday. Here is a look at their individual scores, as well as the team scores of the Big 12 teams that competed in the tournament.

■ Big 12 Scores

2. Missouri, 895
9. Iowa State, 914
10. K-State, 921
11. Kansas, 925

■ K-State Individuals

- T14. Christine Boucher, 225
- T22. Miranda Smith, 228
- T42. Karen Quintelier, 234
- T55. Elise Carpenter, 237
- T78. Sarah Heffel, 245
- T78. Stephanie Limoges, 245

"We'll look at the stats and try to figure out what it takes to get back on track," Knight said.

"There are some things we will need to work on."

First, Check the Collegian Classifieds.

The Collegian should be the first place you look when you need something. Whether you want football tickets for the next home game, are looking to buy a good used car, want to find the perfect person to take to your next date, or are hoping to find a new place to live... You'll find it in the Classifieds.

103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

110
For Rent-
Apt.
Unfurnished

120
For Rent-
Houses

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

RESERVE NOW for next semester. Four-bedroom, two bath brick home west of KSU stadium. Completely remodeled with everything new. No pets. (785)556-8899.

HOUSE FOR RENT flexible lease dates. Three-bedroom, washer/dryer, single car garage. 2039 College View. No pets. (785)456-7255 / (785)456-9000.

ADVERTISE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
532-6550

000 bulletin board
010
Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744. www.ksu.edu/klc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper, 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

IRAQ FORUM: The Case Against War, October 9th from 7-8:45p.m. at The Manhattan Public Library Auditorium. Open to the public.

020
Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030
Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100 housing/real estate

105
For Rent-
Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

NICE, FURNISHED, one-bedroom. Close to campus, available Jan. 1. $295/month. Water, trash and gas paid. (785)341-2570.

"Stay In Class At The Commons" Now Leasing for 2002-2003!
•Fully Furnished
•2 & 4 Bedroom
•Alarm System
•Swimming Pool
•Washer/Dryer
•Computer Lab
•Fitness Center
•Permit Parking
•Tennis/Volleyball Courts
•Individual Leases
Office Hours: M-F 9-5

539-0500
UNIVERSITY COMMONS
APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE

One man's junk is another man's treasure.

110
For Rent-
Apt. Unfurnished

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT $300/month. Available January. 928 Leavenworth. A very cute apartment. Absolutely No Smoking. Call Stan (785)537-7681

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT $360/month. 12th and Vattier. Available December 1. Cozy. Water/trash paid. Sublease or lease. (785)539-5516 or (785)313-2823.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT in house available now. 622 Vattier, $600/month. Trash paid, pets considered. Call MDI. (785)776-3804

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

120
For Rent-
Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carpet, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, nice four-bedroom plus house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7050.

145
Roommate
Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for four-bedroom, two bathroom apartment for next semester. Rent $240/month. Call Emily at (913)908-5435.

145
Roommate
Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment. $265 rent plus utilities. Call Lisa (913)593-3310.

150
Sublease

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for three-bedroom/ two bath apartment for spring. Rent $260/month, split utilities. Contact Lindsey, (785)587-9708.

ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus. 1031 Moro. $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310
Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

$800 WEEKLY Guaranteed! Stuffing envelopes. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Oakdale Enterprises 1151 N. State suite 231, Chicago, IL 60610.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

310
Help Wanted

ASSISTANT TEACHER needed for preschool classroom. Monday-Friday mornings 8:30 until 1:00p.m. Call Lisa or Danice at (785)539-7540 or stop by KinderCare at 1205 Hyton Heights.

COMPUTER AIDED DRAFTING learn utility functions, layers, blocks, and standard drawing protocols in Beginning-CAD. Intermediate-CAD expands to 3-D applications. Fall evening classes in cutting edge lab. Beginning-CAD, $88 October 23-November 13 and Intermediate-CAD, $86, November 14-December 9. Enrollment is limited. Call Manhattan Area Technical College, (785)587-2800.

COMPUTER COURSES Build your resume with an evening computer course like Beginning Microsoft Word, Web Page Design, or Adobe Photoshop. No computer experience? Take Intro to Computers. $45-$58 per class. Comfortable atmosphere, small classes, convenient parking. Call Manhattan Area Technical College at (785)587-2800.

THE OPPORTUNITY of a Lifetime www.heronway.com

400
open market

410
Items for Sale

CLARINET FOR Sale! Buffet R-13. Great condition, just cleaned, new pads. $1800. Please call (785)587-9053.

COACH HANDBAGS and Turquoise jewelry, snowmen, K-State items, Cache clothing and designer girls clothes. (785)565-9608.

DRAFTING TABLE with parallel bar. 42.5 inches by 30.5 inches. Call (785)293-5552.

415
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

LARGE, COMFY sofa great for naps, studying, watching movies with friends. Only $25. Call (785)776-6281.

465
Tickets to
Buy/Sell

SELLING STUDENT general admission tickets for Texas, Iowa State and Nebraska games. Please call (785)341-6348, if interested.

WANTED: FIVE student GA and two reserved tickets for ISU. Please call (785)587-8079.

320
Volunteers
Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD, Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.drh-movement.org elfemarie@humana.org

330
Business
Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400
open market

410
Items for Sale

600 travel/
trips

610
Tour Package

1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1 Breckenridge, Vail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin. $179. 1-800-SKI-WILD. www.ski.com

WINTER BREAK IN Steamboat 3 to 7 NIGHTS! Packages include: Lodging, Lift Tickets, FREE Lunch, FREE Happy Hours, FREE Parties, Exclusive Discounts. 1-800-SUNCHASE steamboat.sunchase.com

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPadre, 110% Best Prices! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007 endlesssummertours.com

630
Spring Break

640
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

650
Tickets to
Buy/Sell

660
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

670
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

680
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

690
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

700
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

710
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

720
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

730
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

740
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

500
transportation

510
Automobiles

1981 CADI Limo, good condition. Call (785)323-1414.

1993 CHEVY pick-up $3000. 1992 Lincoln Town Car $4000 or take both for $6000. Call (785)770-8229.

1995 CHEVY Lumina, V-6, Air-conditioning, flip-face CD, reliable/ excellent/ sharp car. $2600 negotiable. (785)776-3249 Tony.

530
Motorcycles

1985 YAMAHA Maxim X 700, 10,000 miles, new front tire, excellent condition. Great bike! $1600. Call Keenan (785)395-5681.

1999 SUZUKI Bandit, 1200S, Fast Street fighter, black, many sweet mods, most speed, best looks for the money. $4900. (785)341-5059.

600
travel/
trips

610
Tour Package

620
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

630
Spring Break

640
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

650
Tickets to
Buy/Sell

660
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

670
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

680
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

690
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

700
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

710
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

720
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

730
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

740
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

750
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

630
Spring
Break

1 KSU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price, FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE, Reps needed, earn $$$ Group Discounts for 6+ 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578 dept. 2626) / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1145 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

SPRING BREAK 2003 is now sponsored by Student Express! Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza. Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentexpress.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

660
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

670
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

680
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

690
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

700
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

710
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

720
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

730
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

740
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

750
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

760
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

770
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

780
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

790
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

800
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

810
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

820
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

830
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

840
Furniture to
Buy/Sell

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$8.00
each word over 20
20¢ per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.40
each word over 20
25¢ per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.05
each word over 20
30¢ per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less
$12.25
each word over 20
35¢ per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less
$13.35
each word over 20
40¢ per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

BALD SPOT

Puberty, enzymes blamed for hereditary hair loss

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

He's 23 and going bald. But Jeremiah Gudding, senior in public relations, said it doesn't bother him.

In fact, he jokes about it with his friends and fiancée, Sherry, who happens to be a cosmetologist.

"I tell her I should stop hanging out at her shop because I don't advocate her haircutting abilities," he said.

Going bald at age 23 is not unusual, though.

Dr. John Adams, of Advanced Dermatology in Manhattan, said most men start balding between puberty and age 35. Male pattern baldness, which is hereditary, is the No. 1 cause of hair loss, he said. Some men might even start noticing hair loss as early as age 15, because it is triggered by the onset of puberty.

During puberty, an enzyme makes the body's testosterone more potent. In people with the hair loss trait, some cells are more sensitive to this change. These sensitive cells quit growing hair, resulting in male pattern baldness.

Gudding said he was 17 when he began to notice hair loss. His hair was long — down to his jawline. Then, by his senior year in high school, it had thinned out quite a bit, he said. By his freshman year in college, he was almost bald.

"I think I deal with it a little more than most guys that go bald in their 20s because I dealt with it at a much younger age than the majority of men that have to go through that," Gudding said. "Plus, I'm not single, so that helps."

But when his hair loss began, he was single. He said he was self-conscious about it then and worried about its effect on dating.

"It's just one of those things you are self-conscious about, especially when you are that young. When you are 17 or 18, it's a little tough to deal with," he said. "Now, it's like, whatever. I just deal with it."

Gudding said his father is bald, so it did not surprise him when he started balding.

It is a myth that hair loss is inherited only from the mother's family, Adams said. It can be inherited from either side.

"However, genetics are not very reliable. You can't say if a person's father had it, they will have it. It doesn't work that way," he said. "We haven't found the exact way it's inherited, but it is. It's bizarre."

Though hair loss is typical among men, attitudes about it can vary.

Gudding said that even though he is comfortable with it, his dad is not.

"He's working the comb-over thing," he said. "His hair in front is like 8 inches, and he combs it over to the side, and I just don't understand that."

"I will never have a comb-over."

Amy Phillips, designer at Hair Experts Design Team, said the salon sees many college-aged men experiencing hair loss.

"Some are self-conscious about it, and some aren't, so we just kind of take it one situation at a time," she said.

She said knowing that it happens a lot makes guys feel better. She also said certain hairstyles are better for balding men.

"Typically, the best look is to avoid the comb-over," Phillips said. "Deal with it by cutting it shorter. That'll make it look a little better."

Gudding said he tried every non-surgical treatment before he started shaving his head. He tried Rogaine, Propecia — a hormone-based treatment — and even herbal remedies.

"Rogaine worked, but I had two little Afro puffs on the side, and I didn't think that was really too appealing," Gudding said.

He had an allergic reaction to Propecia, and the last treatment he tried was just too expensive, he said.

"I'd rather be bald than go through all the bad stuff that I have to do to go through the treatment," Gudding said.

So, for the last couple of years, Gudding has shaved his head.

"It's not that I want to hide the fact I'm bald," he said. "I just like it."

In fact, Gudding said there are more advantages than disadvantages to being bald.

"I like the fact that most of the time I don't get carded, so I don't have to worry about having an ID strapped to my head at all times," he said.

And when he goes for job interviews, he said it makes him look older and more experienced.

It also demands more respect at work, he said.

"It gives me more of that authoritative appearance," he said.

Plus, Gudding said, it complements his personality.

"It should be the other way around — you look like you act," he said. "But I have to act a little how I look."

Hair loss facts

- The No. 1 cause is male pattern baldness.
- It's determined by both parents' genetics.
- It can start at puberty.
- 25 percent of men start balding by their 30th birthday.
- Two-thirds of men are bald/balding by age 60.
- The average person loses 50-100 hairs per day.
- Chinese, black people and American Indians are the least likely to lose their hair.
- Whites are the most likely to lose their hair.
- 80 percent of white men are affected by age 80 or older.
- Men and women bald differently.
- It's not caused by hygiene or wearing hats.

Sources: Dr. John Adams, www.msnbc.com and www.helioshealth.com

Male Pattern Baldness

The symptoms of male pattern baldness are obvious: A man notices

Healthcare providers may use a pattern baldness classification system to diagnose male pattern baldness.

There are six basic stages of pattern baldness, depending on which areas of the scalp are balding. For instance, men in stage IV pattern baldness have a moderately receding hairline and a small bald spot on the top of the head, while those with stage VI balding have hair only on the sides of the head.

Check out some famous people and in what stage their balding is.

— Compiled from Dr. John Adams and www.helioshealth.com

Bruce Willis
stage III

Woody Harrelson
stage V

Pope John Paul II
stage V

Patrick Stewart
stage VI

Mahatma Ghandi
post stage VI

Michael Jordan
post stage VI

Illustrations by Adam Hayes | COLLEGIAN

Other notable balding people:

Homer Simpson	stage VI
Jerry Seinfeld	stage III
Tom Hanks	stage III
Regis Philbin	stage II
David Letterman	stage V
Garth Brooks	stage V
Moby	stage V
President Bush	stage II
Al Roker	stage V
Ron Howard	stage V
Jason Alexander	stage IV

SOURCE SEARCH

If you are setting up or planning to go on a blind date and would like for it to be a part of a feature for the Collegian, e-mail Features Editor Kecia Seyb at kms3589@ksu.edu, or call the newsroom at 532-6556.

Photo Illustrations by Jeanel Drake | COLLEGIAN

Treatments available to halt, reverse hair loss among men

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Those experiencing hair loss can take several preventive measures.

Dr. John Adams, with Advanced Dermatology, said one of the most effective non-surgical treatments is called Propecia. It is a once-a-day pill that blocks the enzyme responsible for hair loss. He said between 50 to 60 percent of people who take it will stop losing hair, and some will even grow hair.

"It's kind of a miracle drug for young men, if you catch it early," Adams said.

"You can prevent going through stress, anxiety and going through any medical procedure."

It costs about $60 per month, he said, and requires a doctor's prescription.

A less costly treatment is Rogaine, now an over-the-counter medication. Rogaine stops the hair loss but does not cause hair regrowth.

Rogaine and Propecia must be taken continuously to remain effective.

"Both you have to continue taking the rest of your life," Adams said. "If you stop taking them, your scalp will look like you never took them."

Those who quit using Rogaine will notice hair loss again in about three months. Those who quit using Propecia will notice hair loss again in about six months to two years.

A medical procedure called hair transplantation can disguise hair loss. During the procedure, doctors cut existing hairs into individual hair follicles and transplant them into areas of the scalp without hair.

Adams said this procedure has improved greatly in recent years.

"Now a lot of people have it done, and you don't know they've had it done," he said. "That's the key to a good surgery."

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Thursday, October 10, 2002

K-State to relocate Ft. Riley courses; budget problems force cutbacks

Officials say proposed change result of declining enrollment on base

By Rogie Dorpinghaus
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State is negotiating to move its courses available at Fort Riley to the Manhattan campus.

In a letter about budget problems to the Collegian and the Manhattan Mercury, President Jon Wefald, Provost James Coffman and Vice-President for Administration and Finance Tom Rawson said K-State will end its presence at Fort Riley.

The change may take place in January, Coffman said.

Coffman said the decision for the change is due to a combination of several reasons.

"Basically, it's a matter of declining enrollment at Fort Riley courses," he said. "We can use the money that we are spending there more effectively if we combine with other needs on campus."

Elizabeth Stevens, associate provost of continuing education, said the change has not been finalized yet, but K-State has approached Fort Riley to change the courses to be more accessible to more people, in addition to soldiers.

She said K-State still has an existing contract with Fort Riley, though.

Stevens said the contract is automatically renewed on a yearly basis unless one of the parties wants to terminate it.

Coffman said the move's intention ultimately is to expand K-State's evening courses option.

Stevens said with the courses moving to the main campus, K-State will be able to provide stronger evening courses to non-traditional students, which will affect an overall growth in enrollment.

Coffman said K-State's revenue will benefit from this change.

"We will benefit far more by generating more revenue with the same expenditures," he said.

In addition to K-State offering classes at Fort Riley, several other institutions offer courses there as well.

K-State and Barton County Community College have collaborated on a working partnership to help advise students at Fort Riley.

Stevens said courses will continue to be taught by Barton County Community College advisers at Fort Riley.

"The advisers will assist students who want to find out about K-State programs and will be directed to campus and distance learning," Stevens said.

— Jamie Barrett contributed to this article.

Woman stabbed in dispute

By Tara Patty
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A Manhattan man was being held Wednesday on a $27,500 bond after stabbing his girlfriend in the arm with a pocket knife Tuesday.

James Rice and his girlfriend were having an argument in a vehicle, said Lt. Kurt Moldrup of the Riley County Police Department. He then stabbed her in her right forearm and threatened to kill her, Moldrup said.

Rice allegedly demanded that she enter his house at 605 S. 15th St., where he sexually assaulted her before she was able to contact police.

Police arrived on the scene and arrested Rice on probable cause. He faces aggravated battery, criminal threat, kidnapping, criminal restraint, rape and aggravated criminal sodomy charges. He is also being held for three probation violations.

INSIDE

Mixed media:
Artists combine colors, elements in Aggieville exhibit
at Urban Design

The Edge, Page 7

College-aged make up most of uninsured

New census figures report number of people without health insurance increasing

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It's on his to-do list.

But Aaron Brantley, senior in mechanical engineering, said finding a new health insurance policy is not his highest priority. Brantley was dropped from his parents' insurance after turning 23, and he has been without coverage for three years.

However, Brantley said being uninsured doesn't worry him.

"I haven't really needed it," Brantley said. "And the parents' policy doesn't cover it, and I never purchased anything through the school or any other organization, and I'm not currently employed, so I couldn't get it through them either. Plus, I have enough money if something was to happen — for a short time, I could cover it."

Brantley is not alone.

About 41.2 million U.S. residents lacked health coverage for all of 2001, according to census figures released last week. This indicates an increase of about 1.4 million people.

The largest portion — at 28.1 percent — was 18- to 24-year-olds. The second largest portion was 25- to 34-year-olds at 23.4 percent.

Most college students are covered through their parents' insurance policies while they are enrolled full-time. However, once students turn 23, they lose that coverage.

Brantley said not having insurance makes filling prescriptions more costly, but he said obtaining a new policy will have to wait until he graduates in May and gets a job.

"I definitely plan to get right on that once I get out of school," he said.

Carol Kennedy, director of health education and promotion at Lafene Health Center, said student privilege fees cover physician visits, so uninsured students can utilize this service for no charge. However, charges are applied once any equipment or testing is used.

"The privilege fee is not health insurance," Kennedy said.

She said it is very important students are insured.

"It's essential," Kennedy said. "Students who feel they can't afford it should look into the policy through the Kansas Board of Regents. It is a reasonable cost."

To reduce costs, all six regents schools provide the same health care plan for students. Undergraduate students have two options: the Limited Plan and the Comprehensive Plan.

The Limited Plan costs $179 per semester for undergraduates under age 26. It costs $235 per semester for undergraduates 26 and older.

The Comprehensive Plan costs

FEED YOUR MOOD

Different types of foods affect physical, emotional conditions

By Katie Lane
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

You are what you eat.

Each part of the day can be affected by what type of food a person eats. From breakfast to falling asleep at night, food affects mood.

As the alarm clock blares, the snooze button goes into action.

Eating a traditional meal for breakfast will help you wake up, Leon Rappoport, psychology professor, said.

"Coffee is a stimulant, and that will get you going," he said. "Toast and the sweetness of jelly will certainly get you up, but it's not a good idea for a regular part of your day. If you have a carbohydrate meal, you will get a longer, more persistent rush."

The saying that breakfast is the most important meal of the day is true for Andrew Bauman, sophomore in marketing.

"I always make sure I have a bowl of cereal with milk and OJ," Bauman said. "I am crabby if I don't eat much. A well-balanced diet is something that will keep you from being cranky."

Eating a nutritious breakfast, especially on an empty stomach, can keep energy high throughout the day, said Dianna Schalles, health educator and nutritionist at Lafene Health Center.

"If you have candy, it might give you a temporary surge of energy, but that could backfire," she said. "You want something balanced with a little protein and fat."

Noon rolls around, and the tummy starts grumbling.

Lafene patients who complain of tiredness report the feeling worsens after lunch, Schalles said. Most of the time, people complain about feeling sleepy after eating a meal high in carbohydrates. She said she recommends a high protein meal at lunch to increase alertness.

Bauman isn't sure if eating heavy foods for lunch alters his mood, but he said it affects him mentally.

"Some foods, if they are heavy, psychologically make me not feel so good," he said. "If I eat something good for me, then I feel good."

The day begins to slow, and the tummy still is hungry.

Snacking between meals can be healthy, if the food is healthy, Rappoport said. Sweet foods will cause an energy surge, but will make people's moods more variable.

"You don't want to eat sugary snacks," he said. "You don't want to drink a lot of sweet drinks. The quick rush will last about 30 minutes."

As the stress of the day weighs on students, they often turn to comfort foods.

These are foods people associate with childhood. Students turn to comfort foods for emotional reasons, such as stress, Schalles said.

When struggling to fall asleep, carbohydrates such as bread can help a person.

Foods with caffeine can be used to help make a person more alert.

Photo illustrations by Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Although sweets provide a surge in energy, the effects usually wear off within 30 minutes, causing mood swings.

See MOOD FOOD Page 10

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Mocking card, shell casing emerge as potential clues in hunt for sniper

A tarot card with the taunting words "Dear policeman, I am God" and a shell casing emerged Wednesday as potential clues in the hunt for the sniper terrorizing Washington's suburbs.

Page 8

U.N. inspectors outline agreements with Iraq on resumption of inspections

Seeking to ensure Iraq's cooperation, U.N. weapons inspectors have sent the Iraqi government a letter outlining agreements reached on the resumption of inspections.

Page 9

Person draws gun on U.S. troops in Kuwait; troops fire at gunman

In the second violent incident involving U.S. forces in Kuwait in as many days, a U.S. serviceman fired his weapon at an unidentified civilian vehicle.

Page 10

Russia urged to speed up efforts to reduce its stockpile of weapons

The United States and other industrialized democracies are urging Russia to speed up efforts to reduce its vast, poorly secured stockpile of nuclear and chemical weapons, a State Department official said Wednesday.

American Red Cross Blood Drive

Current total: 432 Goal: 850

Weather

Today 75 | 54

Friday 81 | 58

Contact Us

Kedzie 103

Manhattan, KS 66502

Newsroom.....532-6556

news@pub.ksu.edu

Display advertising.....532-6560

Classified advertising.....532-6555

Delivery problems.....532-6555

Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 37

Westport Cleaners

1120 Westport776-2323

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Detergent brand

4 Harmonization

8 Pleasance

12 Lagniappe

13 Air-conditioned

14 Latvia's capital

15 Hand

17 Press agent?

18 Corn spike

19 Football stat

21 Be curious (about)

24 Staff

25 Ancient

26 Understand

28 Workbench attachment

32 "Star Wars" royal

34 Emeril's expletive

36 Duel tool

37 Hellman's "The Little"

39 Auction action

41 Links standard

42 Fitch

44 Show contrition

46 Gerry-manders

50 Fetch

51 Divine archer

52 Evaluate

56 — Domini

57 Rock band

58 Maul behind

59 Ring out

60 Over-blown advertising

61 CBS logo

2 Santorial woe

3 Taxi supplement

4 Frightened

5 Second person

6 Inquisitive

7 Transparent

8 Where the batter warms up

9 Old Italian bread

10 Answer

11 Hamlet, e.g.

18 Young fellow

20 Sirin's bird

21 Fairy-tale villain

45 Cause of royal insomnia

46 Harvest

47 Sea eagle

48 Novelist

49 Light on one's feet

53 Litter member

54 Sauce

55 Ram's m'am

22 Bread spread

23 Tease

27 Run up the phone bill

29 Desire

30 Contemptible

31 Saucy

33 Spray can contents

35 "Bel — list du Schoen"

36 Bart, to Homer

40 Stage of progress

43 Summer-time tourist area

DOWN

1 JFK info

10 A waltz

11 A waltz

12 A waltz

13 A waltz

14 A waltz

15 A waltz

16 A waltz

17 A waltz

18 A waltz

19 A waltz

20 A waltz

21 A waltz

22 A waltz

23 A waltz

24 A waltz

25 A waltz

26 A waltz

27 A waltz

28 A waltz

29 A waltz

30 A waltz

31 A waltz

32 A waltz

33 A waltz

34 A waltz

35 A waltz

36 A waltz

37 A waltz

38 A waltz

39 A waltz

40 A waltz

41 A waltz

42 A waltz

43 A waltz

44 A waltz

45 A waltz

46 A waltz

47 A waltz

48 A waltz

49 A waltz

50 A waltz

51 A waltz

52 A waltz

53 A waltz

54 A waltz

55 A waltz

Solution time: 27 mins.

Yesterday's answer 9-12

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11

12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22

23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33

34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44

45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55

56 57 58 59 60 61

For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-226-6981 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only) A King Features Service, NYC.

STUMPED?

9-12 CRYPTOQUIP

Y DGFERDC DRNC FCRFQC

NYIIV OYCM X FXYALGQ

JXAIRCK XD "VIC MKXVI

RL IKXFC.

Yesterday's Cryptquip: MY BULL TERRIER HAS A REALLY HUGE APPETITE. I GUESS HE MUST BE A BOTTOMLESS PIT!

Today's Cryptquip Clue: F equals P

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK #2 Send $4.95 (check/m.o.) to Cryptquip Book 2, P.O. Box 535475, Orlando, FL 32853-5475

The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals Q, it will equal Q throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

There was an error in Wednesday's Collegian. Chris Blanton is a full-time American Red Cross employee. The Collegian regrets the error.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291-020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Keadie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Keadie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

SPOTLIGHT | Faculty

"With the changing demography, the state of Kansas and the United States, I feel we at Kansas State University have a unique opportunity to get everything right related to diversity. That's what's so very exciting about this job," said Myra Gordon, associate provost of diversity and dual career development.

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Gordon brings diversity experience to K-State

By Ashley Huseman
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Equipped with a wealth of experience in handling diversity issues, Myra Gordon, K-State's new associate provost for diversity and dual career development, is prepared to improve campus climate in terms of diversity.

As associate provost, Gordon will work with the provost in overseeing multicultural programs and services, and she also will work with multicultural organizations. Her job requires her to deal with faculty, department heads and deans on diversity issues, said Carla Jones, senior associate dean in the Office of Student Life.

In the area of dual career development, Gordon hopes to assist the spouses of new K-State employees by finding employment for them in the Manhattan area.

"Dual career development means that the employees we want to attract to our campus also come with spouses that need to find employment," Gordon said. "We have a long way to go in this area."

Gordon started her work at K-State in July, and she said she is excited about K-State and the Manhattan community.

"I am as happy as I can be," Gordon said. "Manhattan is a small community, and it is different in some respects, but I find the people to be congenial, open and nice."

Originally from Lynchburg, Va., Gordon is married to Anthony Cobb, a computer information specialist in the Information Technology Assistance Center. She also has an 8-year-old son, Bomani.

Gordon said she has several goals as the new associate provost. Among them are fundraising, curriculum transformation and diversification of faculty.

"There needs to be more support for diversity initiatives," she said. "We need more funding for programs and scholarships."

Gordon said she believes teachers can make a big difference in producing students who are knowledgeable about cultural diversity.

"With a combination of content and pedagogy, we will be able to produce measurable cultural competencies," Gordon said.

Gordon stressed the importance of international education. She said now, more than ever, America needs to open up to the rest of the world.

"We are now living in an interdependent world, so America has to get itself in the right relation to the rest of the world," Gordon said. "We need more study-abroad programs and more money to support them. It is important that we learn about other cultures."

Gordon enjoys working with institutional data and research, and she said she plans on doing more research so K-State can measure its progress in cultural and diversity issues. She would like to research climate, demography of faculty, student retention and other aspects of the K-State campus.

"It's important to establish baselines so we know when we've made progress," Gordon said.

Gordon also said she is meeting with many individuals about their multicultural experiences at K-State. She is listening to what is working and what is not, and listening to suggestions about changes that need to be made.

Gordon, who received her doctoral degree in psychology from the State University of New York, brings experience in diversity issues to K-State.

She has been the assistant vice president for student affairs at Fort Hays State University, has written grants and has been present on the national speaking scene.

"I have been involved in efforts to work on issues of diversity since I graduated from college," she said. "From my research agenda to the positions I've held, all of it makes me well-experienced in this area."

Gordon said this position at K-State was an offer she couldn't resist.

"The promotion of diversity is already well-established here," she said.

"I am convinced that our provost and president are completely committed to issues of diversity."

Serving in Kansas before and having a positive experience also helped her with her decision to come to K-State. Plus, she said it was important to be in a research extensive institution.

Pat Bosco, dean of student life, said Gordon's experience will benefit K-State.

"Dr. Gordon will help us do better in all of the areas of diversity," Bosco said. "We are very fortunate to attract someone of her experience. She's been employed in small and large schools and has had great success. Plus, she will provide enormous energy in helping us respond to dual careers."

The blotter

Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Tuesday, Oct. 8

- At 10:47 a.m., Seth Post, 5610 Blue River Hills, was arrested for aggravated battery. Bond was set at $2,500.
- At 11:21 a.m., Kendalee Schmidt, Ogden, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $65.50.
- At 12:12 p.m., Guy Fuller, Ogden, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $750.
- At 3:10 p.m., Kristopher Whitlatch, 805 Greenfield Circle, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $3,000.
- At 5:50 p.m., James Rice, 605 S. 15th, was arrested for aggravated battery, criminal threat, kidnapping, criminal restraint, rape, aggravated criminal sodomy and probation violation. Bond was set at $27,500.
- At 7:36 p.m., Cruz Moniz, Fort Riley, was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $250.
- At 11:29 p.m., James White, 116 S. 17th, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.
- At 11:35 p.m., Amy Carmickle, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.

Wednesday, Oct. 9

- At 2:43 a.m., Antwaan Goodridge, 1330 Yuma, was arrested for obstructing a legal process or official duty, driving on a canceled or suspended license and DUI. Bond was set at $3,000.

The planner

Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Keadie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Fort Riley classes will run Oct. 15-Dec. 14. The dates have changed since publication of the line schedule. Civilian enrollment started Monday.

■ Up 'Til Dawn is accepting applications for six-person teams to raise money for St. Jude Children's Hospital from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Oct. 15 in Holton 203.

■ 2002-03 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Oct. 18, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.

■ "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 on Hale Library's second floor.

■ Lafene Health Center is providing walk-in flu vaccines from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. today in the center. Cost is $7 for students and $10 for faculty and staff.

■ Royal Purple yearbook pictures will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today at Ford Hall and from 6:30 to 9:30 tonight at Phi Delta Theta.

■ Computing and Network Services will have an open forum from 10 a.m. to noon today in Union 207. All campus and network system administrators are invited.

■ A basic library class will be from 1:30 to 2:15 p.m. today in Hale 408.

■ The Department of Geology will present a seminar, "Domestic and International Perspectives on the Petroleum Industry," at 4 p.m. today in Thompson 213.

■ The Ag/Ambassador REPS meeting will be at 5:45 p.m. today in Waters 231.

■ Golden Key Honour Society will meet at 8 p.m. Friday in Aggieville.

Got something to sell? Try the Collegian classifieds. Stop by Keadie 103 or call 532-6555.

Aggie Station

RESTAURANT & PUB

Budweiser

Customer Appreciation Night

99¢

Bird Light Bottles

$1.50 Wells

1/2 price food all day

710 N. Manhattan Aggieville

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."

539-3338

Free pregnancy tests

Totally confidential service

Same day results

Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

royal purple ARE YOU IN?

Thursday, October 10

Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures

Ford Hall

10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Phi Delta Theta

6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.

Next up: Friday, Oct. 11

Haymaker Hall 10 a.m.-5 p.m

Union 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

DAVE'S HIDEAWAY

12th and Laramie

Thursday

$2.50 Coronas & Margaritas

50¢ TACOS

75¢ Miller Draws

Friday

10¢ Wings

$1.50 Wells

$2.00 Frozen Drinks

DRY CLEAN CITY INC.

NOW

Drop off clothes at K-State Student Union Bookstore

776-1515 E. Highway 24

Manhattan KMart Center

HALLOWEEN HEADQUARTERS

Hurry! Halloween is almost here!

RESERVE YOUR COSTUMES NOW!

Our trained staff will help you we have a million ideas!

- All types of costumes
- All sizes
- Masks, props, accessories
- Make-up
- Clowns

Mine's Costumes

10/10

CONGRATULATIONS and Best Wishes to the Taiwanese community on their nation's Independence Day

Paid Advertisement

Lecture focuses on how Sept. 11 altered media

Newspapers take steps to connect with communities

By Jessica Pitts
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 11 affected the way newspapers connect with their communities, a speaker said Wednesday.

"We weren't afraid of putting flags in our newspapers," Matt Mansfield said. "We weren't afraid to say a thanks to our readers that we might not normally say for fear it may be seen as non-objective."

Mansfield, assistant managing editor for visuals at the San Jose Mercury News, was the visiting professional for the Bill Brown Master Editor Lecture on Wednesday.

"Papers reconnected with their communities in ways they haven't for a really long time because of those events," he said.

The Minneapolis Star Tribune published three spreads on the jobs firefighters, police officers and paramedics do — spreads Mansfield said would have never been considered before the attacks.

Mansfield said newspapers also realized they still have the power to influence people.

"People want to buy newspapers," he said. "Even with lots of TV coverage of Sept. 11, people still turned to the newspaper. Why? Because it allowed us to step back from the images we were seeing on TV and allowed us to get a more in-depth opinion and analysis of what was happening. That is what newspapers do."

Sept. 11 also allowed newspapers to rediscover the power of photography, he said.

"We captured moments in history through photography and laid them out there for the whole world to see," he said.

Those images did not appear without discussion. The San Jose Mercury News ran a large picture of people jumping from the World Trade Center.

"It is not a decision you make lightly," he said, "but we wanted to present life full and clear. I don't think we should shield readers from the truth. We were having quality conversations in the middle of the day about what pictures to run when I didn't really want to have to have a conversation.

Matt Mansfield, assistant managing editor for visuals at the San Jose Mercury News, talks to students and faculty at the Bill Brown Master Editor Lecture on Wednesday in the Union Big 12 Room. Mansfield was visiting the A.Q. Miller School of Journalism and Mass Communications all week, speaking at classes and working with journalism students.

"That is what a newspaper does. Those kind of conversations, I hope, I think, happened in a lot of newsrooms across the country that day."

Mansfield said the Sept. 11 coverage was great because journalists reached beyond what they normally do.

"We saw people in New York and Washington, D.C., reaching as far as they could reach, and we wanted to be part of that."

That is where newspapers changed the way they present news, he said.

"I think there was a real reverence, elegance and sophistication to this coverage that just really didn't exist before in newspapers," Mansfield said. "We treated tragedy as something we can one up and move on to the next one. We didn't forget this one."

And they won't forget. "We will become the only people to mark it," Mansfield said of the anniversary. "The country will move on. But, if people are still reacting to this next year, we should cover it because it is news. If they feel it, we should cover it."

Organizations band together to increase voter registration

With deadline Saturday, campus leaders suggest importance of voting

By Kennis Look
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A voteless people is a hopeless people.

This is the message Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity has been telling students from a booth in the K-State Student Union Plaza this week.

Using informational pamphlets and motivational mantras, the group has been trying to encourage students to register to vote in the upcoming Nov. 5 election.

The Delta Sigma Theta sorority, the Black Student Union, and the NAACP joined the Alpha Phis in their effort to raise awareness about low voter turnout among college students.

Part of the group's strategy of encouraging students to vote entails showing plunging voter turnout statistics among college students.

"Our goal is to reach everybody - the whole student population," said Akeia Haddox, junior in hotel and restaurant management and political action chair for BSU.

Kelly Williams, senior in psychology and president of Delta Sigma Theta sorority, said these organizations have decided to participate in a national program to raise awareness about voter registration among college students.

"It was the numbers. Voting percentages are way low among college level students, and we thought we could make a difference by coming out and encouraging people," Williams said. "We've done this program in the past, and we thought it might be good to bring it back."

Paris Rossiter, senior in art and president of BSU, said it's especially important for college students to be aware of their voting rights and responsibilities.

"I'm actually very encouraged so far," Rossiter said. "We're meeting our day-by-day quota, and we're even going a little bit beyond."

Students should take active roles in determining which representatives will make decisions that affect them, Rossiter said.

"We're the ones who are going to be taking the reins of leadership in this country after we graduate," he said.

Rossiter also said many students still are apathetic toward the election, and are hesitant to register if they never have. He urges students to "stand up and be counted."

Students interested in registering to vote will have an opportunity to do so all week. The booth will be open through Sunday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

One man's junk is another man's treasure. Kansas State Collegian classifieds • 532-6555

www.uclassifyit.com
Sell your textbooks online and get back MORE MONEY!!
STUDENTS helping STUDENTS!

PIZZA SHUTTLE
DELIVERS

1800 Claflin Road
776-5577

We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

Ramblers
STEAK HOUSE & SALOON

Thursday Night Specials

12 oz. USDA Choice Top Sirloin
Choice of potato, salad and dinner roll
all for $7.99 + tax
or
"The Couples Special"
2 complete dinners for only $14.99 + tax
8711 E. Hwy. 24 539-4989

It's a lot of talk for just a little.

FREE PHONE
Call 1-800-456-7890

5,400 MINUTES
$30

We also have now
Free Roaming & Long Distance
Nationwide Plans

CELLULARONE
Call on someone you know

SIMPLICITY CHOICE VALUE 30-DAY SATISFACTION GUARANTEE

1.800.cell.one cellularone.net Cellular One proudly supports The National Youth Anti-Drug Media Campaign www.TheAntiDrug.com

Cellular One
1115 Westloop Place 785-537-4646
800-467-7858
Ask for Brett, Rich or Will.

Manhattan Town Center Mall 785-776-1414
Ask for Angela, Scott or Mike.

Offers good for a limited time on new activations on select rate plans only, and are subject to change without notice. Not available in all areas. May not be combined with any other offers or discounts. Included minutes apply to calls made within local service area only. Unused minutes expire each month. "Night" minutes apply to calls made from 8:00 p.m. to 5:59 a.m. Monday through Thursday, and "weekend" minutes apply to calls made from 8:00 p.m. Friday to 11:59 p.m. Sunday from within home calling area only. Texted as indicated, additional fees apply for texts, messages, attachments, downloading, long distance, operator-assisted, credit card or other bill charges, incoming and outgoing calls are rounded up and billed in full. Minutes expire from the time the network begins to provide the call (before the last ring or is answered) through its termination of the call. Phone after other major release. Feature has no cash value. Rates apply to original purchase price. Features may vary by plan. Service may be ending, and certain digital features may not function. Rate plan may be changed upon notice to the customer if more than 50% of usage is outside the Western Wireless network on nationwide rate plans. Must reside within a Western Wireless-covered market to have nationwide plans. On nationwide plans, weekend minutes apply to calls made within our 20 state regional area. Featured hardware available at Cellular One stores and participating dealers while supplies last. Service is not TTY compatible. See coverage map and service materials in store for complete details. Other restrictions may apply. Cellular One is a registered service mark of The Cellular One Group. © 2002 Western Wireless Corporation.

Let's Tave
Manhattan's Downtown Sports Bar & Grill

TEX-MEX NITE
Thursdays

50¢ Tacos
Poco Burrito $3.99
Nacho Platter $4.29

DRINK SPECIALS

18 oz. Margarita $2
Corona $2
Mike's Hard Lemonade $2

105 N. 3rd • Manhattan
(785) 776-9879

RC McGraws
Manhattan's Oldies, Country, Night Club

KARAOKE

Thursday, 9-1

50¢ TACOS
hard or soft

$1.99
$1.99 Island Oasis Margaritas

776-9588 • 2317 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Blue Hills Shopping Center

Read it. Live it. Wear it.
Can't get enough Fourum?
Get your Fourum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

ENDING K&S
PERFORMANCE SERIES
2002 SUMMER SERIES

HOT ROD & CUSTOM CAR NATIONALS
OCTOBER 11-12-13
KANSAS SPEEDWAY
KANSAS CITY, KS

MECUM CAR AUCTION
Saturday

NASCAR RIDES!
(available for purchase)
by DRIVETECH

• MODEL CARS • ARTS & CRAFTS
• NASCAR COCKPITS • PLYMOUTH CARS

SWAP MEET
FREE PARKING!

FRIDAY 8-5pm GENL. ADM. $12
SATURDAY 8-5pm AGES 6-12 $6
SUNDAY 8-3pm UNDER 6 FREE

CARS 4 SALE CORRAL

GOODGUYS (925) 838-9876
SPEEDWAY (913) 338-RACE
www.goodguys.com

OVER THE TOP

PACK IT WITH PURPLE!
K-STATE VOLLEYBALL
VS.
COLORADO
Ahearn Fieldhouse

Wildcat Weekend
Come to Volleyball after the Football game!

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 7:00PM
K-STATE STUDENTS GET IN FREE WITH A STUDENT ID

PACK IT WITH PURPLE!

TO THE POINT Students should use parents' health benefits

U.S. Census figures released last week indicate the number of people without health insurance increased by about 400,000 in 2001.

The 18- to 24-year-old age group makes up the largest portion of that increase – 28.1 percent. The second-largest portion is people aged 25 to 34.

Once most people turn 23, they are removed from their parents' insurance plans. This could be one reason why many students are without health coverage.

Students can get health insurance through Lafene Health Center. The costs for undergraduates under 26 range from $179 to $235 per semester for the Limited Plan to $403 to $539 for the Comprehensive Plan.

Students should take advantage of their parents' health plans while they still can – receiving full physical, dental and eye check-ups – to help prevent possible problems if they are unable to pay for coverage once they turn 23.

But they also should look at all possible options regarding health insurance before turning 23, to gain an understanding of what kinds of plans are affordable and readily available for people in their age brackets.

Getting sick or injured can be a scary thing, but it's not as scary as being sick or injured without health insurance.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Janel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

ROCK 'N' ROLL

Modern music not creative; lessons from past useful

I need to see some new heavy, tough and true rock 'n' roll. It's suppressed these days. What I do see is a bunch of simpletons like the White Stripes, The Strokes and The Vines making it huge in the music business. Bully for them, but I need a bit more complexity.

LAYTON EHMKE

These guys have started a mini-revolution, and change is good, but I believe this one is a revolution without substance. I don't see the sincerity or creativity in this music. It's all rehatched, garage-band garbage.

Eric Hoopingarner, Wildcat KS-DB-FM 91.9 music gatekeeper, said, "Record sales are considerably low right now. Pop music is not as popular as it was even three years ago. It's too early to tell, but this mini-revolution has already had an impact on the music industry."

Hoop knows what he's talking about – music fans are ready for revolution.

On Oct. 6, the New York Times reported that, "While Britney Spears has sold 52 million albums worldwide in the last four years, sales have nose-dived, from 24 million for her first album, to 19 million on the second, to 9 million. For any other artist, 9 million would be a blockbuster, but for Spears, it shows her popularity has seriously eroded."

I understand how hard Britney, Christina Aguilera and the others work. But what I don't understand is how people absolutely worship them for it. These entertainers are just pawns who get worked and played to death and are thrown away after their big "fad" is over.

Popular music is sick with a lack of creativity. Anybody who can sing and has an appealing face can be a star. If Justin Timberlake learned to play the guitar, or at least picked up the harmonica, I might have a shred of respect for him. However, I don't think I want to hear songs he tries to write all by himself.

I'd rather be buried in a box full of spiders for a week listening to Ja Rule.

I pine for the sincerity and passion Led Zeppelin's album, "Physical Graffiti," offers. It cradled finesse and thought of rock as a sculptured sound.

Let's not forget Eric Clapton, who redefined blues with unbelievable groups. If you haven't heard this music, you've been missing out.

You've been missing out because mainstream radio feeds you absolute crap. Tom Petty's new single, "Last DJ" – which will never experience radio play – reflects my feelings exactly.

"Last DJ" is a fantasy about one lone DJ who refuses to give in to the system: "There goes the last DJ who plays what he wants to play ... ." The maverick jock even moves to Mexico rather than submit to playlists prepared at national headquarters (www.cnn.com).

Musicians need to utilize one piece of advice: Do something different. Take a cue from Sevendust, Blind Melon, 311 or Radiohead. What is wrong with thinking differently?

Have all people been brain-washed into believing they can make it big in one day? The "American Idol" mentality is killing music. You can't wake up one day and say, "I want to be a rock star." Then, BOOM! Jim Morrison shows up. It doesn't work like that. It takes something more, like years of work, skill and talent.

Maybe Lenny Kravitz was right when he sang about rock 'n' roll being dead. I hope not though, because it kicks a**.

Layton is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at lre3684@ksu.edu.

Illustration by Anna Wetzel | COLLEGIAN

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Janel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   ASK EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

Holiday gift-giving season would be better with presents you've seen on TV

With only 75 shopping days left until Christmas, it's time to start making those lists.

Fortunately, there is an abundance of commercials saturating the airwaves with ideas you can buy from the comfort of your own home.

Tired of giving Grandma potholders and Soap Opera Digest? Turn your attention to the Perfect Pancake maker. It alleviates those painful wrist injuries.

Isn't reducing the risk of carpal-tunnel worth a measly $19.95 (plus $6.95 shipping and handling)?

Stressed about choosing the right present for that teenager? IGIA's Twist-a-Braid is your god-send. Just insert three sections of hair into the Twist-a-Braid, and a totally cool hairdo will result.

Just one easy payment of $29.99, and it might make it to your doorstep by the holidays.

The Roll-a-Hose is the ideal gift for that gardener who happens to neglect his or her tools. This hose is "compact, easy to use and snag resistant," and it includes a free Roto

Spray nozzle. This item also includes harmful chemicals known to cause cancer, birth defects and "other reproductive harm."

Just add a note to the gift tag, and Dad will know not to drink from the hose.

We must not forget Sparky on our day of giving. Although only a canine, he fully understands the commercialism of Christmas, and therefore anticipates a present or two beneath the tree.

Imagine his delight when receiving the Flowbee Pet Grooming System. Since dogs have innate affection for loud noises – vacuums in particular – this product will bring joy for years to come.

If you worry about those extra holiday pounds gained while gorging on turkey, dressing and pecan pie, the Hollywood 48 Hour Diet will be your caloric catharsis. This "quick, amazing weight loss is just two days away" thanks to a few glasses of diuretics.

Let's ignore the fact that many of the items advertised at 1 a.m. on UPN do nothing more than glorify our laziness. Why would you use your own hands to braid your hair if you can buy something to do it for you?

And not just "something" – a

$30 something.

Who needs to exert energy unrolling and rolling up a water hose when you can buy one that recoils for you? Isn't a bit of terminal illness worth it?

Think of all the exercise you can elude by chugging a product that dehydrates you, leaving you with cramps or bouts of dizziness. All of these amazing products are not only life savers, but available online at www.i-saw-it-on-tv.com.

With a sedentary click of the mouse, you can purchase your pair of Blublockers and have them delivered to your door.

Think of the time and effort you'll save as you wait six to eight weeks for your product to arrive.

Susan is a senior in English. You can e-mail her at sjp8478@ksu.edu.

Because my mom never taught me to say no, I now have 33 copies of the New Testament.

To all the K-State fair-weather fans: I will dance with you in a six-sided ring of fire, only to proceed to shove you outside to Josh Buhl, who will rip your head off and lateral it to Terence Newman, who will return it 87 yards, only to let Eli Roberson spike it in the end zone. Go Cats.

I had nothing to do with slavery. Therefore, I'm not responsible for slavery. Period.

Why does a dog stick his head out of the window when you're doing 60 mph, but he gets pissed off when you blow in his face?

If I were Angel Wilson and I had written an inane and socially detrimental rant the Collegian tried to pass off as a column with a valid argument, I'd probably want to hide my face, too.

This is from Mr. Goodcents: Quizno's, you're going down. We have the bigger and better subs.

And pasta.

I would like to thank Angel Wilson for finally coming out with a column in the Collegian that represents all the minorities on campus and their opinions, and not just the basic lily-white, average K-State college student.

Skinny girls hang out with fat girls because the fat girls are the only cool ones.

To the guy who said the girls at K-State are all ugly: The only reason you think we're ugly is because every last one of us probably turned you down.

Is it bad that my roommate wants me to wax her armpits?

Hot chicks have fat friends because their fat friends make them look better. If they had hot friends, they wouldn't look as good.

If I ever find you, I'm going to feed you to my hippo.

Eli Roberson needs to start listening to his coach and not call audibles on fourth and goal. And Snyder needs to yank him.

I agree. That lady at Chick-Fil-A has got to go.

You're such a big, fat liar. You don't have the hippo – we have the hippo. And he's not starving – he's being fed just fine.

Why didn't anyone remind me to bring the Vaseline when I went to Varney's?

Terence Newman can tackle me anytime.

Hey, wait a second, I think Eli Roberson just called another audible.

How can Angel Wilson write a column telling us not to single out people of color while at the same time argue that slave reparations should be granted to citizens based strictly on color? I guess being singled out is good if it's convenient.

Maybe if Dead Lemon spent as much time practicing as it does shamelessly promoting itself in the Fourum, I might consider going to one of its gigs.

Sam Felsenfeld is my new, personal hero. Thank you so much for putting Paul White in his place.

As far as the local music scene is concerned, Dead Lemon is dead weight.

Sorority girls should be exempt from speech class. Better yet, they should be exempt from speaking.

Thank you, Angel Wilson for challenging the myths about people of color. Your thoughts were a reflection of many people of color on this campus and beyond.

Obviously Josh Sturgis is not in horticulture, because if he was, he would realize the flowers on campus look like crap.

I'm Jewish and I'd like to know where my reparations are. The government of Egypt owes me. Does anybody remember the Exodus?

Eli Roberson is a ball hog.

I'm Russian, and I want reparations for all the work my ancestors did as they died in Stalin's labor camps.

I like the way teachers word questions on tests. By the way, this statement is not factual.

I said I wanted more hours at the library. I was talking about the liquor store, not Hale, you fools.

To the girl in the white Sat-urn who tried to hit me when I was crossing Manhattan Avenue Monday morning: I was surprised how easy it was to get your personal information based on your license plate number.

This message is for all you guys: Yes, you may be very interesting and funny, but girls are not as intrigued as you may think. Why don't you start asking about us for a change?

Girls, if you don't climb mountains or at least get outside, you don't need Northface stuff.

To the girl in my history class: Please, for your sake, put some underwear on.

To the guys in our apartment: Thanks for the squirting of the fire extinguisher. I almost died.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions.

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

TO THE EDITOR

School leaders fear future state budget cuts would leave lasting scars on Kansas higher education

Editor,

In the midst of ongoing news about the fiscal environment in Kansas and budget shortfalls in the recent past and projected future, much has been made of the magnitude of the problem and little has been said about the real impact. Because K-State has been diligent in diagnosing evolving fiscal parameters and planning accordingly – “coming up with the money,” as they say – some news consumers might have the impression the damage has been minimal and the future predicted cuts will just trim off more of the proverbial fat. Nothing could be further from the truth. The purpose of this letter is to be explicit about the impact of the state's revenue shortfall on the university.

An overview of the fiscal climate and how it affects K-State

To put the current situation into context, it is important to realize that K-State entered into this crisis already at the bottom of the Big 12 in per-student funding. This has been reflected in faculty and staff salaries. It has been (rightly) noted that most states are faced with a similar dilemma. However, when compared to our five designated peers – Iowa State, Oklahoma State, Colorado State, Oregon State and North Carolina State – K-State is funded at 80 percent of the peer average. Thus, the university always sails close to the wind and goes into these cuts in a very non-competitive position.

Going into the current fiscal year (FY03), which began July 1, K-State lost $7.9 million in buying power. This results from an actual general fund (tax money) reduction of $1.4 million and unfunded mandates in the amount of $6.5 million. This amounts to a 5-percent reduction in the general fund budget. In August, Gov. Bill Graves made $41 million in additional “allotments” (budget cuts) statewide, which reduced our budget by another $1.5 million, an additional 0.92 percent. This adds up to a $9.4 million reduction (6 percent) from the general fund budget. This affects a total budget (tax money plus tuition) that already was funded at only 80 percent of the average budget of the aforementioned peers.

At this point, we would like to digress for a moment to thank the governor and those legislators who had the courage to create the tax package that was passed in the 11th hour of the 2002 legislative session. Without that, the budget cuts for all of education would have been close to 20 percent.

This brings us to projections for the rest of FY03 and for FY04. It now seems likely that an additional 2 to 4 percent of the general fund portion of the budget will be cut during the current fiscal year. This amounts to an additional $3.2 to $6.4 million at K-State this year. Fiscal year 2004 projections suggest a state shortfall of more than $800 million starting July 1, 2003. If all but $450 million of this shortfall were to be eliminated by simply not funding what some would think of as commitments, such as the normal transfers to the Highway Fund, and by reducing the statutory ending balance below 7-1/2 percent, and so forth, that remaining amount would still be a further 10 percent reduction in K-State's general fund budget. This amounts to an additional $15 to $16 million. The total loss in buying power at K-State during the two year period (FY03 and FY04) would amount to 18 to 20 percent of the general fund budget, or $27.5 million to $31.7 million.

These numbers would mean K-State would be changed permanently from the kind of institution Kansas has come to rely on for a huge array of teaching, research and informational outreach needs.

This is so because the large majority of the budget is expended as salary, since people are the most important aspect of everything the university does. In addition to reducing operating budgets substantially, 50 positions have been eliminated and 90 more held vacant through college- and unit-level hiring freezes. That adds up to 140 jobs. Depending on how further cuts come to be distributed across different categories of personnel, a further $20 million budget reduction equates to more than 500 positions at K-State.

About tuition

At this juncture, we would anticipate readers might be thinking, “Wait a minute, what about that 25-percent increase in tuition and fees we have been reading about?” Good question. Several points need to be made about tuition.

First, those increases were meant to make badly needed improvements in the university. What has happened instead is that these new funds have gone to reinforce areas made critical by the reduction in state support. Thus, students stand to pay a lot more and get less in the interest of maintaining basic functions.

Second, the tuition has made a significant difference in shoring up some of the worst-hit aspects of the university. However, two large segments of K-State cannot generate tuition, nor can they spend it. These are the Agricultural Experiment Station and the Cooperative Extension Service. Everyone who is keeping up with events across the state and nation knows that in addition to basic economic challenges traditional to agriculture, we are experiencing a sustained drought. This is not the time to reduce research support for agriculture, and yet that is exactly what is happening for the reasons noted above.

Third, with the kind of general fund cuts contemplated in the numbers noted above, and with the kind of tuition and fee increases they imply, we are experiencing the precipitous privatization of public institutions.

The effects

Now, let's return to the direct effects of the fiscal shortfalls to date. A few examples are given to afford the reader greater insight into the degenerative effect of the budget reductions.

The university is making every effort to maintain availability of classes. Having said that, class sizes are getting larger, and substantial bottlenecks exist in key areas. Accounting and statistics are two prominent examples that every student and faculty member will recognize.

Due to the large number of positions eliminated and frozen, specialties are being dropped, and faculty and staff are taking on additional work on top of their normal jobs.

At the point the university's ability to provide adequate numbers of class sections begins to falter (not much past the current point), then enrollment drops, students are truly disenfranchised, and loss of tuition revenue begins to compound the loss of general fund dollars. This is the doomsday spiral that must be avoided at all costs.

Library hours were reduced and then restored from a small and shrinking reserve for the balance of this semester. What about next semester, or next year?

Basic infrastructure, like plumbing systems, is beginning to fail at a greater rate. When this affects the interface between the pipes in the tunnel and instructional or research lab equipment, departmental operating accounts get hit further to make repairs. As those funds decline, basic needs such as paper clips, telephone bills and copying costs are compromised by attempts to replace or repair equipment. A vicious cycle results.

The hours of students and other employees assigned to check and maintain instructional technology equipment every evening (to be sure it is operating properly for faculty the next morning) have been cut. Now they only check the notes from that day's use to see if any problems have been reported. This equipment is starting to accumulate malfunctions. This is more than a nuisance. Rather, it creates a waste of critical time for faculty and students who depend on this equipment to work properly.

The critically needed redesign of the information technology system that supports the Student Information System has been restructured and the timeline extended. People are being redeployed from other functions to support this effort. This comes at a time when computer security is under constant attack from outside hackers, and reinforcements really are needed there at the same time.

Effective Dec. 31, K-State will discontinue its program in the state's Small Business Development Centers. We are the only Regents university in the state to have done so.

The university is discontinuing our long-standing presence at Fort Riley. Large cuts in the cooperative Extension Service have resulted in personnel with statewide responsibility not having travel funds. Technology can make up for some of this problem but by no means all.

The position of associate provost for international programs is not being filled this year even though a successful candidate has been identified. The timeline for the search for a new dean of the College of Arts and Sciences has been restructured to move it into the next fiscal year and provide an opportunity for the new dean to have some concept of what kind of college and budget he or she will inherit.

What about the future?

The more planning that can be brought to bear on these issues, the more able the university is to address them. Some, perhaps much, good can come of that. However, strictures on the scale implied by the numbers go far beyond responsible planning and priority setting. Scenarios under discussion now imply damage that will be lasting and mission changing. In addition, good planning is made substantially more difficult by the very nature of the legislative process.

Last spring, we did not know if we would be left with an estimated $8 million or $20 million reduction in our general fund budget until late May, and the fiscal year started less than six weeks later. An even bigger array of possible outcomes exists today.

The truth is this: If K-State receives more budget cuts, there is no question that we are putting the entire university in harm's way.

Universities like the University of Kansas and K-State are of extraordinary importance for our state's quality of life and its economic vitality in the 21st century. Continuing large budget cuts will severely hurt our state universities for years to come.

Jon Wefald | PRESIDENT
James Coffman | PROVOST
Tom Rawson | VICE PRESIDENT FOR ADMINISTRATION AND FINANCE

Yes, the students are back in town. They're also spending money to furnish their living spaces. They're shopping in the Kansas State Collegian classifieds. Call to place an ad today: 332-6555.

SELL YOUR STUFF

you can finally buy a book
WORTH ITS PRICE

Campus Phone Books
On sale in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

As an engineer in the U.S. Air Force, there's no telling what you'll work on.
(Seriously, we can't tell you.)

United States Air Force applied technology is years ahead of what you'll touch in the private sector, and as a new engineer you'll likely be involved at the ground level of new and sometimes classified developments. You'll begin leading and managing within this highly respected group from day one. Find out what's waiting behind the scenes for you in the Air Force today. To request more information, call 1-800-423-USAF or log on to airforce.com.

9 Thank God the Fourum is back. I have been paying $2.95 a minute to confess to Miss Cleo all summer.

Can't get enough Fourum? Get your Fourum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

Ta Kala Diokomen
Congratulations
to our newest initiates!

AOT,
Your Sisters

in concert

Special Guest: MESHUGGAH
Live Performance
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16 • KEMPER ARENA
IN KANSAS CITY

TICKETS STILL AVAILABLE!

ROAD TRIP! Ticketmaster OUTLETS & KEMPER ARENA BOX OFFICE
CHANGE BY PHONE: 816-931-3338 or ticketmaster.com

www.toothand.com www.dissectional.com

Volleyball returns with quick shutout of Sooners

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It was about time K-State's volleyball team made a statement.

In Norman, Okla., Wednesday night, it did just that.

The Cats (8-6, 4-2) put away the Sooners (4-11, 2-5) in three games on what was one of K-State's most efficient matches of the season.

K-State hit a scorching .331 for the match — a season high.

The Wildcats were led by Lauren Goehring, who had 11 kills, and committed just one error.

"We played very well tonight," Goehring said. "We strung some points together, and Gabby (Guerre) set the ball well for us. It's easy to hit well when the set is good."

Guerre also was able to get into a rhythm offensively.

She scored on nine kills Wednesday, hitting .500 for the night.

Coach Suzie Fritz said what Guerre was able to do offensively helped the hitters get into a rhythm as well.

"Gabby played well tonight," Fritz said. "When she can get into a match offensively, that frees up the hitters for us."

Fritz said she has tried to stress putting strings of points together rather than just getting a couple here and there.

In the first game, the Cats were able to get a few runs of four together to put away the Sooners. Fritz said the other two games went about the same.

"We put a priority on doing that tonight," Fritz said. "We had a competition to see how many in a row we could get, and if they got one, then we just tried to start another one up."

Fritz said she was pleased with the way the Cats played overall. She said there wasn't anything she was displeased with — they just played consistent, and took care of business.

Game 1: K-State 30, OU 20

Game 2: K-State 30, OU 20

Game 3: K-State 30, OU 19

"We knew we had to play well," she said. "Oklahoma was definitely better than they were a year ago, so we knew we had to get it done. I am very proud about how we executed tonight."

ROLLING through the PLAINS

Despite unlikely environment, hockey team thriving at K-State

By Brent Gray
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

With rolling plains and plenty of farmland, Kansas is known more for its agriculture than its hockey.

But some students are spreading the sport into the plains.

The K-State roller hockey club has been around for a decade, but it has only been in an organized league for the past three years. K-State's club is a member of the Great Plains Central In-line Hockey League.

Though only a part of the league for three years, the squad has reached great milestones.

In its first year in the league, the team finished third in the nation. This year's squad is seeking to eclipse that finish.

"This team has more talent on it than any other team we've had," Todd Young, junior in construction science, said. "We are really looking for some big things this year."

When the team finished third in the nation last season, the high was unimaginable, Young said.

"It was such a great feeling," he said. "But when we got back here, no one really knew what we did. So that took a little away from what we did."

Drew Rose | COLLEGIAN

Jerry Remsbecker, faculty adviser of the roller hockey team, plays goalie. The team travels to St. Louis every other weekend to compete in squad tournaments.

in Junction City.

"The facilities aren't the best but we do what we can with them," Remsbecker said.

For the squad's games, they drive to St. Louis, but the six-hour drive nearly every other weekend can wear on the players, Young said.

"It makes it hard to keep your focus sometimes," he said. "But a lot of the time we get to the tournament and we get so into the game it makes all the sacrifice worth it."

See HOCKEY Page 10

CAT CALENDAR

Plenty of Wildcat action is in store for next week. Here is a look at Cat action for the next seven days.

Friday

■ No events scheduled.

Saturday

■ Football — Wildcats face Oklahoma State at 1:10 p.m. at KSU Stadium.

■ Volleyball — K-State plays Colorado, 7 p.m. in Ahearn Field House.

Monday

■ Women's golf — at the Wichita Sunflower Invitational in Wichita. First and second rounds in first day.

Tuesday

■ Women's golf — Final round action of the Wichita Sunflower Invitational.

Wednesday

■ Volleyball — Cats travel east to face in state rival Kansas. First serve is set for 7 p.m.

Thursday

■ Men's Golf — Home dual against Oklahoma at Colbert Hills Golf Course.

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

MLB | Tigers hire Trammell

The Detroit Tigers hired Alan Trammell, one of their former stars, as manager Wednesday with the hopes he can turn around a franchise that has endured nine straight losing seasons.

Trammell is the Tigers' fifth manager in seven years.

Detroit was 55-106 last season — tying Tampa Bay for the worst mark in the majors — and hasn't had a winning record since 1993, during the latter part of Trammell's stellar career as a shortstop in Detroit.

• • •

Racing | Driver killed

A driver on the minor league ARCA series crashed into a wall Wednesday and seconds later was broad-sided by another car, killing him and injuring the other driver.

Eric Martin radioed his team, "I'm all right" after he spun and rammed the wall backward coming out of the fourth turn during practice at Lowe's Motor Speedway. But the other car, driven by Deborah Renshaw, came around the turn going at least 160 mph and plowed into Martin's car on the driver's side.

"The first hit, I guess he just kind of lost his breath," veteran driver Ron Hornaday said. "The second one, a driver is never ready for that second impact, and that's the one that got him. It's nobody's fault — it's just a brutal sport sometimes."

• • •

MLB | Cardinals have faith in Rolen

The St. Louis Cardinals took a chance with Scott Rolen on Wednesday, adding him to their roster in the hope of using the All-Star third baseman later in the NL championship series.

Rolen sprained his left shoulder in a collision with pinch-runner Alex Cintron last week in Game 2 of the Cardinals' sweep of the Arizona Diamondbacks in the NL division series.

Rolen, who had 31 home runs and 110 RBIs this season, reported marked improvement Monday and Tuesday and apparently convinced manager Tony La Russa he would be able to play later in the best-of-seven series.

• • •

NCAA | Clausen's injury still a mystery

Tennessee coach Phillip Fulmer said quarterback Casey Clausen was "making progress" Wednesday and denied reports the third-year starter has a hairline fracture in his left collarbone.

Clausen has not practiced all week after hurting his left, non-throwing shoulder in last week's 41-38 six-overtime win over Arkansas.

Neither Fulmer nor other team officials have described Clausen's injury, only saying he was probable for Saturday when No. 10 Tennessee (4-1, 1-1) travels to No. 6 Georgia (5-0, 2-0) for a key Southeastern Conference game.

When asked Wednesday if Clausen's shoulder was broken, sprained or bruised, Fulmer said, "He's got a sore shoulder," and wouldn't elaborate.

• • •

MLB Playoffs | Santiago leads Giants

Benito Santiago didn't mind a bit when the St. Louis Cardinals pitched around Barry Bonds.

Santiago made them pay for it.

Following walks to Bonds, San Francisco's veteran catcher hit an RBI single and a two-run homer to help the Giants beat St. Louis 9-6 Wednesday night in Game 1 of the NL championship series.

After Cardinals starter Matt Morris walked Bonds with two outs in the first, Santiago hit a roller up the third-base line for a single that scored Kenny Lofton to make it 1-0.

In the sixth, with Bonds aboard after another walk, Santiago hit a drive over the left-center fence to the back wall of the bullpen for a 9-3 lead.

It was Santiago's first homer in the 2002 playoffs.

Football's loss to Colorado hurt, but memories of trip to Boulder will live on

Great. I was hoping the terrible, yet inevitable moment when I had to realize college football wasn't life would hold off for a couple more months this season.

Seriously, last year my pipe dreams where brought to a crashing end after week four, and this season I am brought back to earth after week five? Can't a guy get a break?

It's just no fun to watch four different games while eagerly checking the ESPN.com scoreboard every 30 seconds when I know that eventually I will cross the sad news that K-State bit the big one.

The weekend didn't start out all bad, though.

My five friends and I, safely belted into my parents' mini van, were successful traveling across the black hole that is western Kansas and eastern Colorado, and late Friday we found ourselves in the weird world of the Rocky Mountain state.

I say a weird world, because nothing there seems quite like it does in Kansas.

On Friday night, we stayed with my ridiculously generous uncle. We arrived at his house expecting to be directed to a couch and put in bed. But oh no.

In Colorado, the tables were covered with chips and cookies and the coolers stocked with ice cold beer. At this point, our neighbor to the west stood with a clear leg up on good ol' Kansas.

When we woke up the next morning, we were commanded to take all of the leftover food and beverages to help stock our tailgate. Without complaining, we obliged and began the home stretch into Boulder.

We wound up tailgating in a strictly Colorado Buffalo alumni parking lot. I had heard the horror stories of Buffalo fans, but to be honest, the ones I encountered were pretty cool.

One guy in particular, tailgating right next to us, couldn't be more friendly. Even after the loss, he still didn't talk any trash. When we hurriedly locked ourselves in the van to avoid the raging hordes of Buffalo fans, he tracked us down and politely refilled our beverage supply.

While I did hear that a lot of other K-State fans did encounter inherently terrible Colorado fans, such was just not the case for me.

We stayed at the Boulder Ramada Inn that night, and the bizarre nature of the Buffaloes continued to present itself. Apparently, at the Boulder Ramada, the locks on the room doors malfunction rather frequently.

Let me tell you, that made for a nice surprise at 2:30 in the morning. No one in the entire hotel could get into our room. Our dreams of ordering late night Colorado pizza were dashed as the clueless manager tried in vain to open the door. And they didn't even give us the room for free. Service with a smile, huh? The Ramada isn't exactly high on my list of places to visit again.

Boulder itself is an interesting town. There are two bar districts, "The Hill" and Pearl Street. The former seems to be more geared toward the college crowd, while the latter is full of more hippies and homeless people than Lawrence.

They were everywhere. People were trying to sleep in every nook and cranny of the city. A homeless hippy almost took my friend down for inadvertently attempting to pee on him.

I guess the hobo didn't realize that's what happens when you try to sleep right outside a bar and look like a pile of dirty towels.

Needless to say, we were happy to be on our way by Sunday afternoon. Little did we know the best part of the trip still lay ahead.

The world's largest prairie dog lives in Oakley, Kan. I had no idea Kansas could claim this amazing landmark until I saw it with my own eyes.

The 8,000-pound giant likes to sit up on its hind legs and play games. He lives a happy life in Oakley and is fed well. He often could be seen grabbing a wandering goat or the six-legged cow and eating it whole.

See COLUMN Page 10

JOEL REICHENBERGER

Thursday, October 10, 2002

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 7

HODGE
PODGE

"Eye of Round" by Joshua Cross hangs on the wall at Urban Design of Aggieville.

The cow in the lower left-hand corner was an image Cross found that originally was about the size of a silver dollar until he scanned it at a high resolution and printed it on several sheets of paper to enlarge it, he said.

Cross also emphasized the importance of color and shapes in his larger pieces, which are made from either masonite or luan mahogany. Colors found in interior decorating and magazines are used to reference pop culture and time periods, he said.

"I don't usually use brushes, I use knives or sticks or something to give very harsh industrial shapes," he said. "I use hole saws to get perfect circles in the wood. It's a play between the loose backgrounds and the structure of the subject matter."

"Images are not necessarily the subject matter. The shapes can be that as well."

Artist uses mixed media, colors, shapes for show at Aggieville's Urban Design

Photos by Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

ABOVE: "Problematic Sidewalk" is a mixed media piece by Joshua Cross. It is on display at Urban Design of Aggieville.

The piece consists of collage glued to printing blocks Cross found at a thrift store. The image of the "50-Foot Woman" was used as a reference to a high school joke, Cross said.

"I was walking around, and I saw this magazine that had a story about the Lolita Complex, and the girl on the cover caught my eye, but I looked more closely and she was, like, 11 years old," he said. "And we noticed that there were more and more girls that look that way. From 50 feet away they look of age, but you get closer, and it's just not right, and it's something to stay away from."

"So '50-Foot Woman' became a code word for these girls, and the piece is about that experience in high school."

RIGHT: Several pieces from Joshua Cross' MFA Thesis Exhibition hang on the wall at Urban Design.

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

Use Harry Potter to spread Christian message, churches are told

He's been attacked by evangelical Christians for glamorizing the occult, but young wizard Harry Potter could be a powerful force for spreading the gospel, an ecumenical church group said Wednesday.

A new booklet published by Churches Together in Britain and Ireland cites J.K. Rowling's best-selling books as a good way of illustrating important themes like the battle between good and evil.

The Harry Potter books "ask people to look again at the selfish material world and the presence within it of Christian values — truth, love and, supremely, self-giving and sacrifice," says the booklet, which accompanies the book "Presence and Prophecy."

"Christianity is not 'vanquished' or irrelevant," said the Rt. Rev. Michael Nazir-Ali, bishop of Rochester and chairman of the group that produced the booklet.

...

Publisher donates copies of Grisham novel for city's 'Festival of Lights'

A publishing company has donated 1,000 autographed copies of John Grisham's novel "A Painted House" to the city of Blytheville to help support its "Festival of Lights."

A new exhibit in this year's festival, called "Christmas in a Painted House," depicts a scene from the Grisham novel, featuring a cotton field behind a painted house with a little boy and his father playing catch in the front yard.

The entire scene will be created with Christmas lights, George Hubbard, festival co-chairman, said.

"A Painted House" is based on Grisham's childhood in Black Oak.

Hubbard said Doubleday attached a commemorative signed nameplate to the books, which will be sold to help defray costs in purchasing the display.

The book costs $35 until Nov. 22, when the price will increase to $50, festival officials said.

...

LISTENING
BOOTH

The Collegian wants to know what music you are listening to. If you are passionate about music and want to express your opinion, e-mail A&E Editor JJ Duncan at jjduncan\_80@hotmail.com.

This week, we asked Rachael Griess, senior in biology, what music she's been enjoying lately.

What five albums are you listening to and why?

1. Van Morrison: "Moondance"

I love Van Morrison. I listen to this album basically for three or four of the songs on it. It's not the one with "Brown Eyed Girl," and that's a good song, but it gets played so much. This has other good stuff on it.

2. Led Zeppelin: "III"

This has "Tangerine" on it, and that song makes me really happy. Their sound makes me high without anything else. I guess I should listen more to what Page is doing, but I usually focus on Plant's voice.

3. Allman Brothers: "Greatest Hits"

I listen to this for "Blue Skies" and "Whipping Post." I like the studio jams on the album. They feel really familiar.

4. Martin Sexton: various songs

He was in Lawrence two weeks ago, and he's a folk singer some of my friends saw. He has an amazing range, so he sings really high up there sometimes.

5. String Cheese Incident: various songs

I like the jams they do. Some of it is a little too poppy for me, though. I listen to it a lot because my boyfriend got me into them and it reminds me of him.

— Compiled by JJ Duncan

St. Louis band to pack popular garage rock into Auntie Mae's

Singer's old stomping grounds offer up entertainment, venue for rock 'n' roll fans, performers

By JJ Duncan
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Phonocaptors will bring their energetic live show to Auntie Mae's Parlor tonight with Onward Crispin Glover play the 'Ville.

After two years together, the band has released a self-titled E.P. and a full-length album, "The Future of Phono," and is now working on a third album with a tentative January release date, guitarist and vocalist Jason Hutto said.

Based in St. Louis, the band has a sound that borrows from the loud garage rock made popular by bands such as the Stooges and preceded in rock 'n' roll by the likes of the Rolling Stones and The Who. Hutto attended K-State in the early 1990s and was in the local band Bosom.

He said the Phonocaptors have been around just as long, if not longer than many of the garage rock acts that have become popular recently, such as the Vines and the White Stripes.

Q: What can people expect from a Phonocaptors show?

Hutto: It's going to be energetic, and something a little different for most people. Even if we play the same stuff every night, it's always a different set for us.

We can't predict what will happen onstage, but it's always energetic and entertaining.

Q: How has St. Louis treated you as a band?

A: It's great. We fare well here. It's a good town with a lot of good bands,

More at Mae's

The Phonocaptors and Onward Crispin Glover play the 'Ville.

■ When
9:30 tonight

■ Where Auntie Mae's Parlor

■ Cost
$2 cover

and we're just one of them. But it's nice to get out of town too. We're trying to do the weekend warrior thing right now and play out of town on the weekends.

Q: What's distinctive about the Phonocaptors?

A: If people like rock 'n' roll, they'll like it. We're not trying to deliver anything in particular, but we want people to be entertained. The show is all over the place. We don't have a mission statement. Maybe we should for PR purposes, but we just don't.

As a guitarist and songwriter, this is a freeing band. Everyone feels free. It's not chaos by any means, and I don't want to portray it that way, but there is an element of looseness.

It's like when you watch videos of the Stones' old shows and they would just fall in and out of different songs. That's part of what we do, and I enjoy that looseness in trying to capture what's going on in a moment. I don't think a live show should be like a recording. Anyone can buy a CD and listen to it and love it to death, but until you see a band live, that's how you decide what bands you really like. At least I've always seen it that way.

Q: What do you think about performing in the close-quarters that Auntie Mae's offers?

A: I love Auntie Mae's. I used to sit at that bar six nights a week when I went to school in Manhattan.

That was around the time Truck Stop Love and the Roach Factory were around. It was kind of a haven for us. And it's funny that the cultural mecca of Manhattan holds like 60 people, and those are all people who really want to be there.

It's a blast when we go back. Everyone has a good time.

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

Study refutes effectiveness of monthly breast self-exams

Despite findings, doctors still encouraging BSEs

By Tara Patty
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A recent study in China found that women who regularly performed breast self-exams were no less likely to die from breast cancer than women who don't.

However, local physicians said this does not mean women should stop performing the exams on a monthly basis.

Carol Kennedy, director of health education and promotion for Lafene Health Center, said the findings of the study are no reason to stop performing breast self-exams (BSE).

"The bottom line is we are not advocating anyone to stop doing this," she said.

There is no other method for college-age women to detect abnormalities, she said. Mammograms, which are recommended for women over the age of 50, are ineffective for this age group. However, she said there are lumps found in young women, and BSE is one way to find them.

Jay Reppert, physician at Lafene, said exams can detect lumps missed by mammograms.

This is another reason women should not abandon BSE.

"There is no harm in doing it," he said. "It is inexpensive and may save a person's life."

Reppert does agree, though, that there is no strong evidence to promote BSE as a cancer screening measure.

"I agree there's not enough evidence," he said.

"But it's hard to see why we shouldn't."

There is a significant amount of cancer that is found by individual women either by using BSE or by accident, he said.

There are certain things people should look for when they are performing BSEs, including

Pink Ribbon Luncheon

For more information on breast cancer, attend the Pink Ribbon Luncheon sponsored by Mercy Health Center. A speaker will address issues related to breast cancer.

■ When
noon to 1 p.m., Oct. 15

■ Where
1823 College Ave.

Call 587-4279 to reserve a spot.

internal and external factors.

Kathy Dickey, clinic supervisor of the Riley County Health Department, said BSE should be done in conjunction with clinical breast exams and yearly mammograms, depending on the woman's age. A BSE alone is unlikely to help a woman detect cancer in the earliest stages, but the exams do make women aware, she said.

Dickey said she begins telling girls to perform BSEs when they are teens and should perform BSEs on a regular basis and be aware of differences.

"I tell people to feel for a small hard pea or a small kernel of unpopped popcorn," she said. "Anything that wasn't there before."

Dickey said women should also pay attention to changes in skin texture or dimples and the way their breasts hang. However, BSEs aren't enough to prevent breast cancer.

Women who have noticed different through BSEs also should have exams by a doctor. Routine mammograms should be performed annually every year after women turn 50 or as prescribed by a doctor depending on different risk factors.

Baseline mammograms are for women between the ages of 35 and 40, Dickey said, so doctors have an image to go by for future procedures.

ALTERNATIVE MEDICINE

Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

Manhattan resident Ana Franklin does Tai Chi in a front yard at the intersection of Juliette Avenue and Laramie Street. Franklin is a yoga instructor and met with her friend, Alejandro Gonzalez, who knows Tai Chi. She is learning Tai Chi from him and is teaching him yoga. The duo meets Wednesday afternoons.

Sniper leaves tarot card, shell casing outside school

Federal agency continues search for clues in D.C. suburbs as victims' families mourn losses

By David Crary
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BALTIMORE — A tarot card with the taunting words "Dear policeman, I am God" and a shell casing emerged Wednesday as potential clues in the hunt for the sniper terrorizing Washington's suburbs.

The card and casing were found near a middle school in Bowie, where a 13-year-old boy was critically wounded Monday, a source familiar with the investigation said on condition of anonymity.

Authorities said the shell was .223-caliber, the same kind of bullet used to kill six people and wound another in Washington and its Maryland and Virginia suburbs in the last week. The casing is believed to be the first one recovered since the slayings began. Michael Bouchard, an agent with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, would not say whether authorities had linked the casing to the attacks.

Montgomery County Police Chief Charles Moose also wouldn't comment when asked about the tarot card, and angrily suggested unapproved information had been leaked.

All the victims have been felled by a single bullet. Investigators say the sniper, or snipers, fired from a distance with a high-powered hunting or military-style rifle.

 after hours friday   october 11 co-sponsored by the Royal Purple yearbook LEAVING OUR MARK... ONE EVENT AT A TIME.	union courtyard &lt; 8 p.m. - 12 a.m. &gt; FREE body art FREE face painting FREE temporary tattoos FREE self defense class &lt; 9-11 p.m. &gt; FREE "strike a pose" pictures (get pictured in the yearbook!)	union food court &lt; 11:00 p.m. &gt; free breakfast bar forum hall &lt; 12:00 a.m. &gt; free movie "enough" starring Jennifer Lopez
HOTLINE: 532 6572      WEBSITE: www.ksu.edu/upc

sure, you can quit.
or stick around
and [learn]
how not to.

In Army ROTC, you'll develop skills you can use in the real world - thinking on your feet, staying focused under pressure, taking charge. Give it a shot. Visit the Army ROTC department. We'll stick around for you.

ARMY ROTC
Unlike any other college course you can take.

For more info call the Admissions Officer at 785-532-5177 or visit our web site at: www.ksu.edu/armyrotc

The Men of Beta Sigma Psi wish to formally invite these lovely ladies to...

*MASH*BASH***
2002

April Jacobs	Janel Walther
Jackie Moore	Nicole Wegner
Kelly Liddy	A.J. Bradley
Haley McMullen	Amber Fox
Noelle Alexander	Erin Duryea
Laura Smith	April Kuhlman
Macie Friend	Amy Maple
Kristen Swofford	Jamie Oder
Lauren Monahan	Amy Urban
Angie Ridgeway	Merideth Fey
Misti Johnson	Holly Serk
Kristin Campbell	Abby Hunt
Loni Woolery	Staci Sherer
Rachel Wassenberg	Ashley Price
Laura Boeckman	Laura Helmke
Laramie Bolt	Melissa Brisbin
Trista Stane	Christen Buller
Brandi Erickson	Erin Tysinger
Ashley Roush	Hillary Spellman

Manhattan Arts Center Presents
Pierce Pettis
Friday, October 11 at 8 p.m.
Part of the Bird House Series

Tickets available at:
Clafin Books and Copies,
The Dusty Bookshelf,
& Manhattan Arts Center

Ad sponsored by Clafin

GUMBYS
Pizza

770-3333
702 N. 11th

Domestic Pint Night
$3 Keep the Glass!
$1.50 Refill

1st place $25.00

Tues. Oct. 22 Golden Tee
Common Ground
9pm

Thurs. 8pm

BOWINKLES
THURSDAY SPECIALS

- $1.50 WELLS
- $2 IMPORT BOTTLES
- $1 DOMESTIC BOTTLES
- $4.95 CHICKEN FRIED STEAK & CHICKEN FRIED CHICKEN DINNER

KARAOKE STARTS @ 9pm

January 2003
Intercession

Look
for the
January Intercession
Course Listing in the
October 15th Collegian

Also Available Online at:
www.dce.ksu.edu/intercession

Division of Continuing Education
DOE KSTATE

ART
A comedy by Yasmina Reza

Presented by KSU Theatre Oct. 3-5 & Oct. 9-12
Nichols Theatre 8 pm Tks: $6 std/snrs $10 general
McCain Box Office 532-6428 online: ksu.edu/mccain

the provost's lecture series 2002-2003

10:30 a.m. - Noon
Friday, October 11
Fiedler Auditorium
Fiedler Hall

The Future of the Scholarly Work of Faculty

Dr. R. Eugene Rice
Scholar-in-Residence and Director
Forum on Faculty Roles and Rewards
American Association for Higher Education

Provost James Coffman
Host

Presentations followed by Q & A
For more information, visit the Provost's web site:
www.ksu.edu/provost/pls0203.htm
Students Welcome

Upperclassmen show better results in school

Some claim high school not adequately preparing new students for college

By Scot Gammill
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A recent study at the University of Nevada at Las Vegas has shown the grade point average among college freshmen is 2.8.

But the study also has shown that as students near graduation, their grades tend to go up.

"In general, this is always the case with students in their freshman year," said Kevin Donnelly, assistant dean of the College of Agriculture.

"It is only natural that grades will go up, because students get more into their major, and they are more interested in certain subjects."

The average GPA of an incoming freshman is 3.2.

The average GPA of freshmen after their first year in college is 2.752, and when they near graduation, their GPA rises to 3.071.

"The drop in GPA seems to be a national trend," said Michael Lynch, associate vice president for educational and personal development.

The reason for the GPA drop might be because students don't prepare well in high school and think they can do the same in college.

"There is unquestionably an adjustment from high school and college," Donnelly said.

"Grades can vary a lot depending on your preparation from high school, and it may take a student a semester or two to adjust to that."

Lissa Brown, senior in accounting and finance, agreed with Donnelly.

"High school wasn't too difficult, and when you come to college, you don't have parents over your shoulder looking after you," she said.

"You have a lot more freedom, and some students don't realize that."

Brown also had some advice for freshmen.

"It is good to start studying now and get used to it because it will help you later on when you are having trouble in a class," she said.

"I got average grades as a freshman, but my grades started going up because I got more into my major and the classes were more interesting to me."

University Registrar Don Foster disagreed.

He said he doesn't feel that high school has anything to do with preparing you for the college lifestyle.

"It is a matter of a different change in climate that will affect you," Foster said.

"In high school, you go to the same classes every day, and it is very structured, but in college, you have more free time, and you have to structure time between class, studying and other university activities. It almost forces you to prepare yourself."

Jeff McPeak, senior in agricultural engineering, said he had to adjust to college life and didn't feel he was prepared for studying in college.

"I wouldn't say I've worked harder since I was a freshman, I got used to college and my grades got better," McPeak said.

"I also think coming out of high school, I didn't know how to study, so I wasn't very prepared."

U.N. members outline agreements on resumption of Iraq inspections

Letter outlines Security Council plans for weapons inspections

By Edith M. Lederer
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UNITED NATIONS — Seeking to ensure Iraq's cooperation, U.N. weapons inspectors have sent the Iraqi government a letter outlining agreements on the resumption of inspections.

The letter, circulated to Security Council members on Wednesday, asks Iraq to confirm its acceptance of agreements on a host of issues including that it "clarified" during the Vienna talks that inspectors "will be granted immediate, unconditional and unrestricted access to sites, including what was termed 'sensitive sites' in the past."

Those sites include the Ministry of Defense and facilities of Saddam Hussein's Republican Guards, which were previously off-limits to inspections.

The letter noted that a 1998 agreement between Iraq and the United Nations requires advance notice to inspect eight presidential sites, but raised the possibility for change.

"Should these sites be subject, as all other sites, to immediate, unconditional and unrestricted access," it said, inspections would be conducted there "with the same professionalism."

professionalism."

The United States is demanding the 1998 exemption be lifted and all presidential sites also be subject to surprise inspections. Iraq said it has nothing to hide at the sites, but considers them a symbol of their sovereignty and wants the agreement, which was endorsed by the Security Council, to remain in effect.

The letter was signed by chief weapons inspector Hans Blix, who is in charge of dismantling any chemical and biological weapons and long-range missiles that Iraq possesses, and Mohamed El-Baradei, director-general of the International Atomic Energy Agency, responsible for dismantling any Iraqi nuclear weapons.

It was sent to Gen. Amir Al-Saadi, an adviser to President Saddam Hussein who headed the Iraqi delegation at the Vienna talks.

In the letter, dated Tuesday, Blix and ElBaradei said they were putting the agreements in writing and asking for confirmation at the request of Security Council members.

The letter also asks Iraq to confirm that no relevant material will be destroyed except in the presence of inspectors, that inspectors can interview any

Iraqi they believe "may have information relevant to their mandate" wherever they want, and that inspectors can use helicopters "without limitation in all parts of Iraq and without any area excluded."

On the question of satellite imagery, it says inspectors "may wish to resume the use of U-2 or Mirage overflights" under arrangements that existed before inspectors left in December 1998.

The letter also details arrangements for offices, Iraqi escorts, communications, ground transport, security, and visas for arriving staff.

Under sanctions imposed after Iraq's 1990 invasion of Kuwait, U.N. inspectors must certify that Iraq's weapons of mass destruction have been destroyed. Iraq has banned inspectors from returning for nearly four years, but agreed late last month to let them come back.

The United Nations and Britain are seeking a new resolution to toughen inspections and authorize use of military force if Iraq doesn't comply with the inspectors — but France, Russia and China want Iraq to be given a chance to cooperate and oppose any green light now for military action.

One man's junk is another man's treasure. Kansas State Collegian classifieds • 532-6555

www.kstatecollegian.com

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

120 For Rent-Houses

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

RESERVE NOW for next semester. Four-bedroom, two bath brick home west of KSU stadium. Completely remodeled with everything new. No pets. (785)556-6899.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744. www.ksu.edu/ksc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

NEW LOCATION as of October 1. Lewis's Auto Repair 610 B. South Juliette. (785)770-8553. $40.00/hour labor rate call for appointment.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100 housing/real estate

Fraternities • Sororities • Clubs Student Groups

Earn $1,000-$2,000 this semester with a proven Campus Fundraiser 3 hour fundraising event. Our programs make fundraising easy with no risks. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so get with the program! Contact Campus Fundraiser at (800) 923-3230, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $300/month. Available January. 928 Leavenworth. A very cute apartment. Absolutely No Smoking. Call Stan (785)537-7681

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $360/month. 12th and Vattier. Available December 1. Cozy Water/Trash paid. Sublease or lease. (785)539-5516 or (785)313-2823.

TWO-BEDROOM. TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

105 For Rent-Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

"Stay In Class At The Commons" Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

• Fully Furnished
• 2 & 4 Bedroom
• Alarm System
• Swimming Pool
• Washer/Dryer
• Computer Lab
• Fitness Center
• Permit Parking
• Tennis/Volleyball Courts
• Individual Leases
Office Hours: M-F 9-5

539-0500 UNIVERSITY COMMONS

APARTMENTS 2215 COLLEGE AVE

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

ONE-BEDROOM ACROSS the street from campus. No pets. Call John at (785)313-7473.

120 For Rent-Houses

NEXT to campus, nice four-bedroom plus house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fireplace. No pets. (785)537-7050.

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE with over 2,000 square feet. Close to campus. No pets. Call John at (785)313-7473.

TWO-BEDROOM. TWO blocks from campus, central air, washer/dryer hook-ups, garage, off-street parking. Available November 1. 1508 Jarvis, $650. (785)341-5160.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for four-bedroom, two bathroom apartment for next semester. Rent $240/month. Call Emily at (913)908-5435.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment. $265 rent plus utilities. Call Lisa (913)593-3310.

INDIVIDUAL DSL/CABLE access. Newly remodeled house, 5 minute walk to campus, off-street parking. $240 monthly, call (785) 776-3454 or (785) 317-2456.

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592 or (785)341-5105.

150 Sublease

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for three-bedroom/ two bath apartment for spring. Rent $260/month, split utilities. Contact Lindsey, (785)587-9708.

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. 1031 Moro. $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

200 service directory

300 employment opportunities

310 Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

$800 WEEKLY Guaranteed! Stuffing envelopes. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Oakdale Enterprises 1151 N. State suite 231, Chicago, IL 60610.

ASSISTANT TEACHER needed for preschool classroom. Monday-Friday mornings 8:30 until 1:00p.m. Call Lisa or Danice at (785)539-7540 or stop by KinderCare at 1205 Hylton Heights.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

EARN MONEY WHILE SLEEPING! Adult U.S. citizens, 18-40 years, less than 6' 1" tall, are needed for a research project. Subjects will sleep in a sleeping bag in a cold chamber for 4-5 consecutive nights (Sunday-Thursday) to evaluate comfort. Sign up as soon as possible at 64 Seaton hall. Earn up to $350.

FULL OR Part-time position available for chiropractic assistant. We seek a very special person, a good communicator with excellent people skills to join our enthusiastic and very dedicated team. Please apply at Sorrell-Chiropractic at 2815 Anderson Ave. Manhattan.

NEED HELP with my computer. (785)539-4112.

310 Help Wanted

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xcalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

PART-TIME OFF and on evenings and weekends help needed with carpentry, repair, and painting. (785)537-7050.

WEEKLY HOUSE-CLEANING, private home. Send qualifications, resume to: Student Publications, 103 Kedzie, c/o Box 5, Manhattan, KS 66506.

320 Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD. Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.drmovement.org www.humana.org eiffemarie@humana.org

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

THE OPPORTUNITY of a Lifetime www.therhinoway.com

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

52" COLOR TV Magnavox $575 or best offer (785)537-9212.

CLARINET FOR Sale! Buffet R-13. Great condition, just cleaned, new pads. $1800. Please call (785)587-9053.

COACH HANDBAGS and Turquoise jewelry, snowman, K-State items, Cache clothing and designer girls clothes. (785)565-9608.

410 Items for Sale

DRAFTING TABLE with parallel bar. 42.5 inches by 30.5 inches. Call (785)293-5552.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

LARGE, COMFY sofa great for naps, studying, watching movies with friends. Only $25. Call (785)776-6281.

435 Computers

21-INCH MONITOR, Sony Triniton CRT 1600x1200 resolution. 25mm aperture grill pitch. Specifications available at http://docs.us.dell.com/docs/monitors/55347/specs.htm $250, call (785)341-8691; if no answer leave message.

COMPUTER- IBM 333 mhz, 256 mb dram, 20 gb and 6 gb hds, cdr and cdrw, Windows XP, Wordperfect 2002 Suite. Inquires call (785)539-5634.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: student GA tickets for OSU, Texas, and ISU games. Call (785)539-5213.

SELLING STUDENT general admission tickets for Texas, Iowa State and Nebraska games. Please call (785)341-6348, if interested.

THREE ICAT tickets for sale against Oklahoma State and Texas. Please call (785)587-9937.

WANTED: FIVE student GA and two reserved tickets for ISU. Please call (785)587-8079.

WANTED: GA or ICAT tickets for OSU game. Call (785)565-0702.

500 transportation

1981 CADI Limo, good condition. Call (785)323-1414.

1993 CHEVY pick-up $3000. 1992 Lincoln Town Car $4000 or take both for $6000. Call (785)770-8229.

1994 FORD Tempo good condition, high miles, manual transmission. $900. (785)323-1687.

510 Automobiles

1995 CHEVY Lumina. V-6, Air-conditioning, flip-face CD, reliable/ excellent/ sharp car. $2600 negotiable. (785)776-3249 Tony.

1997 HONDA Accord SE. Automatic, loaded, keyless entry, alloy wheels, tinted windows, well maintained. Call (785)770-9327.

1998 TOYOTA Tacoma Extended Cab 4x4, maroon, five-speed, cruise, power windows and locks. Great truck $11,500 firm. Call (785)341-6715.

530 Motorcycles

1985 YAMAHA Maxim X 700. 10,000 miles, new front tire, excellent condition. Great bike! $1600. Call Keenan (785)395-5681.

1999 SUZUKI Bandit. 1200S. Fast Street fighter, black, many sweet mods, most speed, best looks for the money. $4900. (785)341-5059.

600 travel/trips

FOR SALE: student GA tickets for OSU, Texas, and ISU games. Call (785)539-5213.

WANTED: FIVE student GA and two reserved tickets for ISU. Please call (785)587-8079.

WANTED: GA or ICAT tickets for OSU game. Call (785)565-0702.

WANTED: FIVE student GA and two reserved tickets for ISU. Please call (785)587-8079.

WANTED: GA or ICAT tickets for OSU game. Call (785)565-0702.

510 Automobiles

1981 CADI Limo, good condition. Call (785)323-1414.

1993 CHEVY pick-up $3000. 1992 Lincoln Town Car $4000 or take both for $6000. Call (785)770-8229.

1994 FORD Tempo good condition, high miles, manual transmission. $900. (785)323-1687.

610 Tour Package

#1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1 Breckenridge, Vail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin. U.S. Ski 1-800-SKI-WILD 1-800-754-0413 www.us Ski.com

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPADRE. 110% Best Prices! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007 endlessummers.com

1 KSU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price. FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE. Reps needed. earn $$$$. Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578 dep 1 2 2 2 6) / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

CANCUN • NAYAGUAY • JAMAICA • BAHAMAS • FLORIDA SPRING BREAK PROMOTE TRIPS, SAVE CASH, GET FREE 1-800-448-4849 www.thstravel.com

WINTER BREAK IN Steamboat 3 to 7 NIGHTS PACKAGES INCLUDE: Lodging, Lift Tickets, FREE Lunch Charges, FREE Happy Hours, FREE Parties, Exclusive Discounts. 1.800.SUNCHASE steamboat.sunchase.com

Student Travel America COLLEGE SNOW RIDE From $199 Party 6 days, 5 nts, with a 4 day lift ticket DURANGO MT. RESORT COLORADO call (800) 235-TRIP www.studenttravelamerica.com

Organize a Group of 20 and Travel for FREE! Parties Galore

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $8.00
each word over 20 20¢ per word
2 DAYS
20 words or less $9.40
each word over 20 25¢ per word
3 DAYS
20 words or less $11.05
each word over 20 30¢ per word
4 DAYS
20 words or less $12.25
each word over 20 35¢ per word
5 DAYS
20 words or less $13.35
each word over 20 40¢ per word (consecutive day rate)

000 bulletin board

100 housing/real estate

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

400 open market

500 transportation

600 travel/trips

HOCKEY | Commitment to team makes roller hockey club special

Continued from page 6

in Junction City.

"The facilities aren't the best, but we do what we can with them," Remsbecker said.

For the squad's games, the team drives to St. Louis, but the six-hour drive nearly every other weekend can wear on the players, Young said.

"It makes it hard to keep your focus sometimes," he said. "But a lot of the time we get to the tournament, and we get so into the game it makes all the sacrifice worth it."

Though the commitment is great, the players each have reasons for their commitment.

"The drive is not a lot of fun, but it can't be avoided. It's a big commitment and it just comes with the club," said Terence Takeguchi, senior in management information systems. "I played hockey in middle school and high school and to come to K-State and join a club was only natural."

Although players must weigh their commitment level and desire to play hockey against the downsides, the club does not have any problems fielding a team.

"We have a lot of players outside of the state," Takeguchi said. "People would be surprised with the turnout we get."

In a sport that requires four players plus a goalie in the rink at a time, the Cats travel with about 12 players. They had 18-20 players try out this year and hope more come next year.

The one weakness the team has is at goalie, Remsbecker said.

"The goalie we've got should not be playing goalie," he said.

And though it's not common for a faculty adviser to criticize any of his players, it is different when it's self-criticism.

Remsbecker, a 51-year-old computer information specialist at K-State has been given five years of eligibility by the league to play for the Cats.

And the players like having him, Young said.

"It is great to have him back there," Young said. "We play better with him back there. I think it's because we see him back there, and he's not giving up, so why should we?"

The Cats will make the drive to St. Louis again Oct. 19 for another tournament.

But instead of focusing on the time spent in the car, players focus on the time spent with each other.

"I've made some great friends on this team," Young said. "The time we spend in the car together is just time we come closer. This team has a very tight bond."

pretty popular with the ladies, and it's easy to see why.

Fortunately, Rosco is a die-hard Cat fan and told me he was heartbroken to see the Cats go down.

I have to agree with the donkey on this one. It was tough to see the Cats lose, but at least we didn't waste a trip to Colorado.

Joel is a junior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at pilotksu@hotmail.com.

INSURANCE | Affordable policies available at Lafene for students

Continued from page 1

$403 per semester for undergraduates under age 26. It costs $529 per semester for undergraduates 26 and older.

Students in graduate schools have different options.

Becky Diederich, student insurance representative for Student Resources, located in Lafene, said all students enrolled in at least seven hours are eligible. There are no other prerequisites, she said.

Neither plan covers dental or optical, Diederich said. They mainly cover injury and sickness.

"You pay for what you get," she said. "If you want, you can go somewhere and pay $500 a month, but for someone who is young and healthy and doesn't require a lot of prescription meds, you aren't paying for that on this insurance. It's just a more cost-effective plan."

MOOD FOOD | Foods can make sleeping, studying, exercising easier

Continued from page 1

"It is often foods we remember as a child and that reminds us of our family," she said. "If those things brought us comfort as a child, it provides that comfort we aren't finding elsewhere."

Comfort foods, like chocolate, are sources of relief when a person is sad or lonely, Sara Hupp, sophomore in history, said.

"They can make you happy temporarily," she said. "Eating a candy bar just makes me feel better. It is one thing to do it every so often when you need the comfort, but if you eat it all the time, it loses its effect."

Butterflies start fluttering in the stomach right before a test.

The types of food eaten before a test can affect your performance, Schalles said. Some foods, like those with caffeine, should be avoided before a test, she said.

"I think that caffeine could be a problem," Schalles said. "If it's excessive, depending on the person's tolerance level, it might backfire on them and make them more anxious."

Schalles also said avoiding food before a test could be just as detrimental.

"You want to make sure you aren't hungry," Schalles said. "You want some energy to your brain."

As the day comes to an end, it is time to go to sleep.

The myth that a warm glass of milk can induce sleep might be true, Rappoport said.

"A glass of milk, and maybe some toast, is enough to give the feeling of being filled up," he said. "That can facilitate sleep. If you eat too heavily, you're likely to have digestive problems."

After a good night's sleep, a new day begins with a new mood.

Although food doesn't affect everyone's mood, there are some connections between what people eat and how that changes their mood, Schalles said.

"Food and depression and stress reduction can all relate," she said. "There is definitely a link between good nutrition and your mood levels."

COLUMN | Despite Cats' loss, weekend trip provides good times

Continued from page 6

The giant prairie dog was not the only inhabitant of the roadside tourist trap, though. Rosco the flying, talking miniature donkey also lives there.

Now Rosco is a crazy son of a gun. He runs around and talks and eats and plays with the many tourists all day long. Imagine the donkey from Shrek, except cooler, and more of a pimp. Yes, it is true. Rosco the miniature donkey is

By Robert Burns
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON D.C. — In the second violent incident involving U.S. forces in Kuwait, a U.S. serviceman fired his weapon at an unidentified civilian vehicle after a person in the vehicle pointed a gun at him, U.S. officials said.

The officials, who discussed the matter on condition of anonymity, said initial reports from U.S. authorities in Kuwait did not indicate whether the U.S. troops were

Army or Marines or whether anyone was wounded.

The initial report said U.S. troops in a Humvee utility vehicle were overtaken by a civilian vehicle and that as the civilian vehicle went by, a person inside drew a gun and pointed it at the Americans. One of the Americans opened fire, and they reported having seen the civilian vehicle veer off the roadway.

It was unclear whether anyone in the civilian vehicle was hit by the U.S. gunfire.

The Americans continued

driving without stopping to investigate further, the U.S. officials said.

The incident Wednesday happened on mainland Kuwait. On Tuesday, two gunmen drove up in a pickup truck and opened fire on Marines engaged in urban assault training on Failaka, an island 10 miles east of Kuwait City. The attackers then drove to a second location and attacked again before being killed by Marines.

The Kuwaiti Interior Ministry identified Tuesday's assailants as two Kuwaitis and said they had committed a terrorist act.

There was no immediate word on the motive behind Wednesday's incident.

The Bahrain-based U.S. Fifth Fleet said it was checking on the report of Wednesday's incident, and U.S. officials in Kuwait would not comment.

Kuwaiti Interior and Defense ministry officials contacted by The Associated Press said they had no immediate information.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555

When you're looking for a bargain, check out the Collegian Classifieds.

If you don't find what you need, advertise in the Open Market section!

As Senior VP of Financial Planning at a major movie studio you could:

O.K. a $93 million budget

Hire 7,500 extras

Rent 273 palm trees
(and 1 big fan to make them sway)

How do you get a job like this? Start today.

Apply for a Summer Dream Internship at:
www.StartHereGoPlaces.com/biz2

Start here. Go places.

If you know business and accounting, you can get a job anywhere. Because the skills you learn in business — strategic and analytical thinking, communication, and leadership — are always in demand. In some of the coolest industries in the world. Even in the movies.

Start going places with a Summer Dream Internship. Register online today and complete your application by 2/01/03 to compete for one of two $5,000 paid internships. Eight other students will receive cash value awards of up to $1,000.*

*Contest Rules: complete rules can be found on the CollegeClub.com Web site. NO PURCHASE NECESSARY. Contest entry period runs 10/01/02 - 2/01/03 and is open only to legal residents of the 50 United States, eighteen (18) or older at time of entry, enrolled in a full/part-time accredited college or university, and is subject to the complete Contest Official Rules. Entries may be submitted on the StartHereGoPlaces.com Web site located at www.StartHereGoPlaces.com or on the CollegeClub.com Web site located at www.CollegeClub.com. All entries become the property of Sponsor, as defined in the complete Contest Official Rules. Employees and family members of Sponsor not eligible to participate. Sponsor is not responsible for technical or other malfunctions, lost or unavailable network connections, or failed electronic communications that may occur in the processing of the entries. The authors of the two (2) Grand Prize winning essays will each receive their choice of one of the "Summer Dream Internships" provided by Sponsor, which includes five thousand dollars ($5,000) to be paid over the course of the internship. The Grand Prize is not transferable, except by Sponsor, who may substitute prize with a prize of equal value or opportunity. No cash or prize substitution is allowed and other restrictions apply. The authors of the three (3) winning Runners Up essays will receive one thousand dollar ($1,000) gift checks. The authors of the five (5) winning Honorable Mention essays will receive five hundred dollar ($500) gift checks. Void where prohibited. Winners will be responsible for any and all taxes. Sponsor: The American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, 1211 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10036-8775; CollegeClub.com, a division of Student Advantage, Inc., 2035 Corte Del Nogal, Suite 200, Carlsbad, CA 92009.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Friday, October 11, 2002

Professor dies Thursday

Department head suffers surgery complications

Charlie Hedgcoth
PROFESSOR AND BIOCHEMISTRY
DEPARTMENT HEAD

By Pete Elsasser
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Charlie Hedgcoth, professor and biochemistry department head, died Thursday at Mercy Health Center.

Hedgcoth, who was 66, had been at K-State since 1965, and had been serving as department head since 1999.

Subbarat Muthukrishnan, professor of biochemistry, said Hedgcoth had been suffering from a brain tumor and died of post-operative complications.

Hedgcoth was born in Graham, Texas, and served in the U.S. Coast Guard from 1954 to 1958.

By 1965, he had earned his undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of Texas.

Hedgcoth was active in the Manhattan soccer community. He had served as the faculty soccer adviser for more than 25 years.

Muthukrishnan said Hedgcoth took pride in teaching students with the newest material, and his research always had been a principle focus. Muthukrishnan said Hedgcoth had recently been involved with the move of the biochemistry department to Ackert's addition.

"He had the greatest

See DEATH Page 10

5 arrested for vehicle burglary

2 still in custody under $5,000 bond

By Lynne Hermansen
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Five arrests were made Wednesday in connection to vehicle break-ins.

William Jeter, 19, Anthony Crowder, 19, two 16-year-olds and a 14-year-old were arrested by the Riley County Police Department in two northwest Manhattan neighborhoods early Wednesday morning.

The five suspects were arrested for burglary and theft. Jeter and Crowder also were arrested for contributing to a child's misconduct.

Jeter and Crowder still were confined Thursday. Bond was set at $3,000.

According to the Riley County Police Department, Richard Paynter, 1827 Cedar Crest Drive, chased the suspect when he heard his car alarm go off.

He confronted one of the minors, and the ensuing fight resulted in the minor also being arrested for battery.

No serious injuries were reported.

All stolen stereo items were recovered

5 Kansans infected

Humans affected by West Nile

By Sarah Rice
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Five human cases of West Nile virus were confirmed in three Kansas counties Thursday by the Kansas Department of Health and Environment.

The positive cases were among a group of samples sent to the Center for Disease Control (CDC), in which five came back negative and seven are still pending. Sharon Watson, KDHE public information director said. These are the first human cases reported in Kansas, but 620 cases have been reported in horses.

Affected areas

The first West Nile virus human cases have been confirmed in three Kansas counties. Rice County has three cases, and Shawnee and Wyandotte counties each have one.

The patients range in age from 28 to 72. Four of the five are recovering at home, and one remains hospitalized.

"I don't know specifically how serious the person is," Watson said. "It is a serious condition based on the length of hospital stay." Watson said more serious cases are seen in patients older than 50 and those with conditions like cancer that leave them with a weak immune system.

"Generally, it affects people over 50. The CDC is still trying to research why that is because there is not a clear explanation," she said.

Watson said with cases of West Nile in birds and horses in 98 of the 105 Kansas counties, it was not a surprise to see human cases.

"We knew humans would follow in a short time," she said. "We have been sending information to physicians and working with them. When they do find cases, they send sample results they have taken and then blood samples are sent to the CDC. The tests aren't as specific, so sometimes they show what looks like a positive, but indeed it turns out negative."

At the Riley County Health Department, no cases have been suspected for West Nile,

See WEST NILE Page 10

"Being a minority can be an uncomfortable environment to be in. HALO helps you come to grips with that. It's a support system."

Naureen Kazi

SOPHOMORE IN BIOLOGY AND PRE-OPTOMETRY AND HALO PUBLIC RELATIONS CO-CHAIR

MELTING POT

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Walid Alali, graduate student, tangoes with Bianca Luna, senior in biochemistry and Spanish. "I took this class just for fun and to learn a little tango, because it looked really hard. I got the first step and then after that, I was lost," Luna said.

Hispanic Heritage month teaches multiculturalism

By Pete Elsasser
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When Bianca Luna moved to the United States at age 17, she didn't know how to say much in English beyond the word 'Hi.'

Luna, born in Veracruz, Mexico, moved to Garden City and struggled to learn English.

"I took classes in Mexico," she said, "but I didn't learn much more than 'hi' and 'umbrella.'"

After becoming conversational in English in about a year and a half, she progressed from English as a Second Language classes, to advanced placement and honors classes to graduating from high school with high honors.

See LUNA Page 10

Schedule

Remaining Hispanic Heritage Month activities are as follows:

Tuesday: movie Like Water for Chocolate, 6-9:30 p.m., K-State Student Union Little Theater

Oct. 18: Salsa and Merengue lessons, 7-8:30 p.m. Union Station

Gran Baile (a dance) 9 p.m. - 1 a.m., Union Station, $2.50 per person

Source: HALO

Out-of-state tuition has some searching for alternatives

Students find no way out of Kansas law restricting residency

By Rogie Dorpinghaus
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

One student pays $86 per credit hour to attend K-State. Another student pays $328 per credit hour to attend K-State. The difference? One student is a Kansas resident.

A difference of more than $3,300 for an out-of-state student taking 14 credit hours makes some of those students try to get out of the additional cost.

"The thing that frustrates me the most is we're talking about thousands of dollars," Aaron Leiker, junior in electronic journalism, said.

Leiker is from rural Colorado, six miles from the Kansas border, and knew most of his life he was going to attend K-State.

He knew because his dad is an alumnus. Leiker said he started attending K-State football games in 1990, and since then, he's been to almost every bowl game.

Leiker wasn't as upset about paying out-of-state tuition his first semester attending K-State as he is now.

"The big tuition increase we all saw hurt my financial situation more," Leiker said. "A 25-percent increase is a lot more on $6,000 than $2,000."

He looked for a solution.

Leiker asked K-State's admissions if he could get in-state tuition if he became a Kansas resident himself by changing his driver's license and registering to vote in

Kansas.

The Kansas Residency Law states that a student seeking to establish Kansas residency must demonstrate that education was not the primary purpose of coming to Kansas and may not be a college student in the 12 months prior to the academic term for which residency is requested.

There is a 360-acre section of land under Leiker's name in Wallace County, Kan., and his parents own 800 acres in

INSIDE

Coming to town: Singer-songwriter in Manhattan for performance at arts center

The Edge, Page 7

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

House passes Iraq war resolution, Senate poised to do same

The House voted 296-133 Thursday to give President Bush the broad authority he sought to use military force against Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein, with or without U.N. support. The Senate was poised to do the same and to deliver Bush a major national security policy victory.

Page 5

'Enough damage' - police link 7th death to Washington-area sniper

The death toll from the Washington-area sniper rose to seven Thursday as authorities said ballistics evidence had linked the killer to a man gunned down at a Virginia gas station.

Page 8

House OKs $355 billion defense bill; Pentagon buildup to combat terrorism

The House overwhelmingly approved on Thursday a compromised $355.4 billion defense bill with money for new destroyers, helicopters and missiles and granting President Bush most of the Pentagon buildup he requested following last year's terrorist attacks.

Page 9

American Red Cross Blood Drive

Current total: 624 Goal: 850

Weather

Today 83 | 54

Saturday 66 | 24

Contact Us

Kedzie 103

Manhattan, KS 66502

Newsroom.....532-6556

news@pub.ksu.edu

Display advertising.....532-6560

Classified advertising.....532-6555

Delivery problems.....532-6555

Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 38

Philanthropy raises more than $2,000 for shelter

By Shannon Hartenstein
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Cardboard boxes and sleeping bags were all they had. If they were lucky, someone might have invited them in for a meal, a shower or to use the restroom.

More than 50 greets experienced homelessness during Alpha Tau Omega fraternity's third-annual Homeless 4 Hunger event.

One or more representatives from seven sororities and 22 ATO members slept outdoors in boxes Sunday through Thursday night.

"We just want to spread awareness through Manhattan about the hardships of being homeless," said Dustin Kammerer, ATO member and junior in public relations.

The philanthropy raised more than $2,000 through a clothing and canned food drive, sorority- and participation fees, and Homeless 4 Hunger T-shirt sales, said Dan Sobek, ATO member and junior in business and hotel and restaurant management.

Additional donations of money, canned food and warm clothing were accepted at a community barbecue Thursday night in City Park.

All proceeds and donations benefit the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

"They're just having a real tough time right now - everybody is because of the economy," Sobek said.

"There's a greater need than ever before. We're just trying to step up and help out."

With trash bags, duct tape and cardboard boxes, participants built homes on sponsoring sororities' lawns Sunday. Groups rotated campsites each night and weren't allowed to return to their homes or hitch rides, Sobek said.

Walking was the only form of transportation whether it was to the next campsite or to the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex for a shower. Participants also had to be invited into sorority houses to eat or use the restroom, Sobek said.

Participants were encouraged to stay at their campsites as much as possible, but could find shelter at other locations, such as the library, Sobek said.

Runners from ATO helped provide emergency items, but participants were expected to have everything they needed for the week, he said.

"We're trying to give them the feeling that they're just kind of roughing it and making some sacrifices for the homeless," Sobek said.

Other participants who didn't camp out helped by participating in Wednesday night's warm clothing and canned food drive, he said.

"Pretty much everyone in the house chips in one way or another," Sobek said.

The philanthropy has grown larger every year, Kammerer said.

"This year, we have more participants than ever before and more sponsored sites than in the past," Sobek said.

"It's kind of been a gradual process growing each year."

But the experience wasn't complete without fun events, such as a competition for building the best house with cardboard boxes or collecting the most items during the food and clothing drive, Sobek said.

The Homeless Man and Homeless Woman of the Week were named at the barbecue along with other games and contests, he said.

"It's a lot of fun. They really get into it," Sobek said.

Some participants said the experience was eye-opening.

Nicole Donnert | COLLEGIAN
Brandon Haynes, sophomore in pre-law, rests on a cardboard box while Bonny Martens, sophomore in elementary education, talks with friends during the last day of Homeless for Hunger at City Park. It was organized by Alpha Tau Omega fraternity to help promote homeless awareness.

Sigma Kappa sorority members Alicia Sappenfield, sophomore in pre-medicine, and Missy Mauslein, sophomore in human ecology, camped out on Alpha Chi Omega sorority's lawn Tuesday night.

"I think we just realize all the little things we take for granted," Sappenfield said.

"It's one of those things where if you live in a certain area and experience certain things, you won't be as biased, and you'll understand where they're coming from."

Even though she was only homeless temporarily, the experience has changed the way Mauslein looks at life.

"It makes me want to be more giving," Mauslein said.

Sororities sponsoring campsites included the following: Alpha Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Kappa Alpha Theta and Sigma Kappa.

Privilege fee remains $84 per semester for Lafene

Money in reserve account allows for reduced budget

By Sarah Rice
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Students will continue to pay $84 per semester for a Lafene Health Center privilege fee after a bill passed Thursday evening in Student Senate called for a continuance rather than a fee increase for the next three years.

A bill introduced last week called for an increase in the privilege fee, but Lafene Director Lannie Zweimiller reduced his budget and Student Governing Association determined privilege fees could remain the same as the previous three years.

Despite the continuance, no services will be cut.

"Services will stay the same, and we are able to keep the privilege fee down," Travis Stryker, privilege committee chair, said.

Lafene's reserve account, operated by the controller's office, will be reduced from 10 to 5 percent.

The reduction was made after the previous year's reports showed the reserve account was actually receiving 19 percent in revenue because of profits made from prescriptions and health services, Student Body President Zac Cook said.

If revenue is generated by Lafene, it will be reverted into the reserve account.

The reserve account can be accessed by Lafene should an emergency arise with approval from the vice president of institutional advancement, the student body president, the Student Senate chair and the Privilege Fee Committee chair.

The bill also states privilege fees may not be used for remodeling or moving Lafene off campus.

Before reductions in the estimated budget, privilege fee committee members discussed the idea of a user fee for Lafene patients but determined it was not in the best interest of students.

"It was my understanding they didn't choose a user fee to promote public health," Cook said.

"A user fee would deter students in need of care from going to Lafene Health Center."

If Lafene administration was to determine a user fee was needed, Senate would have to be notified and approve the fee.

Also included in the initial privilege fee legislation was $42,000 to purchase a blood counting machine and ventilator hood.

However, Zweimiller determined he could purchase the items on his own, Cook said.

GIVE US YOUR OPINION.
CAMPUS FORUM: 395-4444

Read it. Live it. Wear it.

Can't get enough Fourum? Get your Fourum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

IF YOU ENJOY K-STATE BASKETBALL AND PLAY AN INSTRUMENT. COME BE A PART OF THE SPIRIT OF BRAMBLAGE!

Basketball
'Cat Band
Auditions

Thursday, October 17th
6:30 p.m.

226 McCain Auditorium

SIGN UP FOR AN AUDITION OUTSIDE 201
McCain. IF YOU HAVE QUESTIONS, CALL:
UNIVERSITY BANDS AT 532-3816

GOLDEN KEY Social Pub Crawl

Friday, October 11

Starting at 8 p.m.

Come anytime!

8:00 12th Street
8:45 Fat's
9:15 Dave's Hideaway
9:45 O'Malley's
10:15 Porter's
10:45 Aggie Station
11:30 Pat's Blue Rib'n
12:15 Joe's Tap Room
1:00 Rusty's Last Chance

DOOR PRIZES!

Religion Directory

Episcopal Church at K-State
5 p.m. Sunday
Danforth Chapel
Worship and Praise
Fr. Matthew Cobb: 532-9099

Blue Valley
Memorial UMC
835 Church St. 539-8790
Worship: Sat. 5:30 p.m./Sun. 10:30 a.m.
Free food first Sun. of the month.
e-mail: revs2@flinthills.com
Rev. Dr. E. Carolyn Wills

Come Worship
With Us
1st Church of the Nazarene
3031 Kimball Ave.
9:30 Sunday School
10:40 Sunday Worship
7:00 Wed. Bible Study, Teens
Youth & College ministry opportunities
Senior Pastor: Pat Weyrauch
539-6376

St. Isidore's
Catholic Student
Center
MASS SCHEDULE
Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m.
Friday 12:10 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.
Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m.
Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.
Father Keith Weber, Chaplain
711 Denison 539-7496

ST. MARY MAGDALENE ORTHODOX CHRISTIAN
MISSION
ECM Bldg. 1021 Denison, 2 South.
539-3440
Services: Divine Liturgy 9:30
AM Saturdays in the ECM Nave
Visit the K-State OCF webpage
at www.ksu.edu/orthodox

First United Methodist Church
Worship at 8:30, 8:45 and 11:00
Come at 8:30 and 11:00 for more traditional worship
with choirs and organ in our beautiful sanctuary.
Come at 8:45 for a BLENDED worship in our auditorium. Free doughnuts. 45 minutes long.
Great band. COME AS YOU ARE!
Come at 9:45 for Sunday School in the auditorium.
A special class for college students, relating the Bible to
YOUR life.
JUST COME.
612 Poyntz, Manhattan Kansas
CAMPUS MINISTRY! Check out
the website: ksu.edu/umcm

Christian Science Society

Sunday 10:30 a.m.
Danforth Chapel
KSU Campus
Wed. 7:30 in Reading Room
Reading Room open Tues., Thurs. 11-1
105 N 4th St.

Faith Evangelical Free Church
• Worship at 8:00, 10:30, 12:00
• Sunday School at 9:15
• College Class at 9:15

Steve Ratliff, Senior Pastor
Brian Anderson, Assoc. Pastor
1921 Barnes Rd.
1.5 Miles North
of Kimball
776-2086

CALVARY CHAPEL
OF MANHATTAN

Sunday Service - 10:00 a.m.
1961 Strong Ave.
Come Just As You Are
Contemporary Worship
Very Casual Atmosphere
Solid Verse By Verse Bible Teaching
Pastor Dade Ronan
785-539-3667
ccofmanhattan@cox.net

Unitarian-Universalist
Fellowship
of Manhattan

481 Zealand Road. (South on K-177 across viaduct, left on K-18 1/2 mile)
Program each Sunday at 10:45 a.m. Religious education classes for youth.
Day care for toddlers.
The Rev. David Grimm.
For information call (785) 537-2349
www.flinthills.com/~unifellow/

St. Luke's
Lutheran
Church

330 Sunset Avenue
Saturday-
Traditional Worship 6:00 p.m.
Sunday-
Traditional Worship 8:30 a.m.
College Bible Study 9:45 a.m.
Contemporary Worship 11:00 a.m.
Campus Pastor - Eric Wood
Email: campusmn@flinthills.com
(785) 539-2604

First Assembly of God
You are welcome at...
Weekly Services
Wednesday
Prayer Meeting 7:00 p.m.
Youth Group (grades 7-12)
Royal Rangers (Boys Clubs)
Missionettes (Girls Clubs)
Pastor Bryan Elliott
Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship for
College Students 8:00 p.m. -
(KSU Little Theater)
Sunday
Sunday School
9:00 a.m.
Morning Worship & Kid's Church
10:00 am
Evening Worship
6:00 p.m.
Nursery Provided for all Services
Rev. Todd Weston, Pastor
2310 Candlewood Dr., Manhattan, KS
(785) 537-7633 www.manhattanag.org

Lutheran
Campus
Ministry
Tuesday Supper, 6 p.m.
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Sunday Evening Worship
7 p.m., Danforth Chapel
www.ksu.edu/lcm-elca
Pastor Jayne Thompson
(pastorj@ksu.edu) 539-4451
Open to All

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY
CHURCH
8:15, 9:30, 11:00AM & 6:00PM
College and Young Married Couples:
Sunday School @ 9:30 & 11:00AM
Youth Ministry Opportunities
College Pastor: David Kinnan
Senior Pastor: David Thompson
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.
537-7173
www.westviewcommunity.com

NEW HOPE
community church
Pursuing relationships that change the world
WORSHIP SERVICE 10 A.M.
Bible Studies, Men's & Women's Groups,
College and Family Ministries,
Youth & Children's Ministry
Wed. 6:30 p.m.
3903 GREEN VALLEY ROAD
537-2389

St. Luke's
Lutheran
Church
330 Sunset Avenue
Saturday-
Traditional Worship 6:00 p.m.
Sunday-
Traditional Worship 8:30 a.m.
College Bible Study 9:45 a.m.
Contemporary Worship 11:00 a.m.
Campus Pastor - Eric Wood
Email: campusmn@flinthills.com
(785) 539-2604

Faith Tabernacle
United Pentecostal Church
Pastor: Edwin Young
Sun.: Sunday School, 10:00 a.m.
Worship, 11:15 a.m.
Evangelistic, 6:00 p.m.
Tues.: Youth, 7:30 p.m.
Thurs.: Bible Study, 7:30 p.m.
1010 Burke 238-2988

Grace
Baptist
Church
2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child
♦ Sunday ♦
Morning Worship
8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Evening Service or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

First Presbyterian Church

Worship at
9:15 & 10:30 a.m.
Sunday School for all
at 9:15 a.m.
Students Welcome!
www.firstpresmanhattan.com
801 Leavenworth St. • 537-0518

Peace Lutheran
Church
Worship Services 9:00 and 11:00 a.m.
Justen Lightfoot, Pastor
Largely, Kansas, Kansas
1st Past. Brian Weyrauch, Pastor
With Christ, Gather, Grow, and Go Forth!

Grace
Baptist Church

2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child
♦ Sunday ♦
Morning Worship
8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Evening Service or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

TO THE POINT SGA presidents issue challenge to student voters

A University of Kansas student is adamant about winning the latest KU versus K-State voter registration competition, calling K-State students "a bunch of tractor-driving, politically inactive rednecks."

Well, we may have tractor drivers, and we may be rednecks, but politically inactive we are not.

The competition, started by Student Body President Zac Cook, ends after both universities' home football games Saturday. The school that tallies the least amount of registered voters will then have its president dress in the opposing school's colors during the K-State-KU game Nov. 2.

Besides the amusement of seeing K-State and KU senators wage a war of words - KU's Jeff Allmon tractor-driving comment, and Cook claiming that KU students are "driving around in their Mercedes' trying to find voters" - the competition has its benefits.

Cook proposed the idea, hoping to improve student responsibility, team spirit, and relations between the two universities. Though the latter may be a farce, this competition might be the perfect prescription to get the push Cook wants in student voter registration. So head to the booths Saturday. Just watch out for the Mercedes.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Janel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Janel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

NEED AND MERIT

America doesn't need apologetic attitude when it comes to working hard

Sometimes it would be nice to be part of a minority.

As a white, middle-class male, I am grouped together with a large number of people who are losing opportunities daily in the name of righting supposed wrongs.

I have seen the United States adopt an apologetic mentality in almost all social policies. This country is hell-bent on creating places for people who might not have earned them at the expense of those who have. Case in point: Harvard University recently released a study on the distribution of merit-based scholarships. The researchers are concerned merit awards are not going to the neediest students. That should be obvious. The idea behind merit awards is they go to those who earn them academically. Need-based awards go to students who need money.

In refuting this study's conclusions, I will ignore any errors made in their statistical sampling. For instance, they looked at merit programs in only four states. Harvard recommended three actions be taken to correct this disparity.

First, it advocated allowing students to get need- and merit-based aid. I really don't have a problem with this, mostly because I never thought the two were mutually exclusive. In fact, I would be shocked to learn any institution has actually refused to allow this.

Second, they wanted to "expand the definitions of merit."

As a National Merit Scholar, I abhor this idea. If I learned the National Merit Scholarship Corporation had lowered its criteria just to meet some quota and future scholars didn't have to work as hard as I did, I would be very, very angry.

Such a proposal cheapens the accomplishments of past merit recipients and undermines the concept of rewarding achievement. We might as well call it "gimme-based aid."

Finally, Harvard suggested placing income caps on merit aid.

I am not opposed to this if they put the cap in the right place. After all, according to the National Center for Educational Statistics, about 25 percent of undergraduates from families with incomes of $100,000 or more receive aid.

ANDREW LAWSON

Clearly, the idea of the rich getting richer applies here. It may be prudent to continue awarding the honors of merit scholarships to these students, withholding the financial bonus when they can afford to pay their own way through college.

However, since the emphasis of the study is on minorities, especially those below or at the poverty level, I know this is not the case.

These income caps, if applied, would gouge middle-class students like me. Without my merit award, I could not afford to go to college. My family is not poor, but like many middle-class families, we are breaking even when you factor in normal expenses. This problem will only get worse as tuition continues to rise.

Obviously, economically disadvantaged students need assistance, too, but by and large, they are getting it. The National Center for Education Statistics estimates 77 percent of students whose families make less than $20,000 a year are receiving aid. Furthermore, almost 66 percent of independent students with annual incomes less than $10,000 are getting assistance.

So much emphasis is given to helping minorities that the plight of others, no less important, may be forgotten entirely. This would be detrimental to the entire nation. If K-State wants to keep bragging about its Rhodes scholars and other elite achievers, it had better not heed the Harvard study. If anything, it needs to consider expanding its merit assistance, or its successful students will be singing another fight song.

Andrew is a sophomore in print journalism. You can e-mail him at ac18686@ksu.edu.

Illustration by Jennifer Kimball | COLLEGIAN

Hispanics must learn English to gain equality in states

This is the United States of America. The national language is English.

Learn it. There are about 38 million Hispanics living in the United States, according to www.nbcableinfo.com. This number is expected to steadily increase through the 21st century. With Hispanics vying to be the largest minority here, there are serious issues causing heated debates.

America is known as a melting pot, and rightfully so. We are all descendants of immigrants, and all of our ancestors learned the English language and assimilated their different cultures into a diverse nation.

Why is this changing? According to www.aamva.org, Bill Clinton signed an Executive Order on Aug. 11, 2000, to "improve access to services for persons with limited English proficiency." But persons who want to seek financial assistance or utilize federal programs should be required to know enough English to communicate with personnel within the organization.

KATHRYN HOLLINGSWORTH

There is nothing wrong with requiring people to speak your nation's national language.

If I moved to Mexico or France, I would study their language and expect to have to know it to utilize services within the country.

But what about the children?

If parents speak strictly Spanish in the home, they pass this down to their children, who are handicapped from the start in a new country. This leaves the schools in a dilemma as they attempt to find the best solution possible to educate children who don't speak English.

A heated political and educational debate arising from the high number of Hispanic immigrants is bilingual education.

Advocators against bilingual education believe that Spanish-speaking students should be taught one year of English and then move to an all-English curriculum.

Supporters of bilingual education believe courses should be taught in Spanish and English over a prolonged period of time for non English-speaking students.

I don't know why this is even a debate.

The fact the nation is willing to take on students who don't speak the language is a showcase of our country's desire to make America a haven for the oppressed. We should offer English as a second language course to Spanish-speaking students.

However, we have to draw the line somewhere.

Coursework in schools should be taught in English. The more you are forced to understand a language, the faster you will learn it.

In Spanish class, there is no English allowed in the classroom. I was amazed at how much I learned in a short time because I was not allowed to speak English.

Outside the classroom, Spanish-speaking people should not be catered to.

Hispanic newspapers, television and radio are a hindrance to those who have not learned the English language.

Recently, the NBA made an agreement with Telemundo to televise NBA and WNBA games and programming in Spanish in the United States for the next three seasons.

The agreement is ridiculous.

For people who enjoy sports and understand the game, watching it in English is just one more opportunity for them to digest the English language.

The funny thing is, my views are viewed as discriminatory.

However, the real disservice and discrimination is made when immigrants remain bound in the chains of a language barrier.

Hispanics immigrate here to seek a better life in a better economy.

However, if they do not make a strong effort to learn English, the chances of improving the quality of their lives and seeking prosperity is limited.

That is the real discrimination.

Kathryn is a junior in public relations. You can e-mail her at krh5588@ksu.edu.

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

Where does Paul White get his information? In his comic strip he makes it sound like Bill Clinton was not impeached. The fact is, Bill Clinton was the second president to be impeached.

Did everyone pick up one of those Bibles, or am I the only atheist on campus?

Note to Eli Roberson: There is no "I" in team. People come to watch K-State football, not Eli Roberson football.

Those New Testaments are great for wobbly desks.

Angel Wilson, I understand that financial aid isn't free, but you just made another assumption by saying all minorities or all people of color are on financial aid.

Big, bad, bully Bush, bombing his way to another election. Failing economy, corporate corruption, polluting the environment - it's pretty obvious why Bush is ignoring domestic issues.

Thank you to whoever made the comment about fair-weather fans. I get so sick of people after one bad game ragging on the whole defense. Come on, let's get it together.

Everyone needs to learn the rules for parking on campus. Whoever's been waiting the longest for a spot gets it first. None of this cutting in line crap. It's common courtesy, people. Doesn't anyone in Kansas have it?

The reason your dog doesn't like you blowing in his face is because your breath smells.

Everyone stop making fun of the cable. I like Cox.

Maybe they could add 2,525 to the last four digits of the Fourum number to make it 395-6969. That would be funny, too, huh?

Yeah, and after they make Heinz 69 we could have homecoming and prom. Grow up, idiot.

You can talk about how you go and have pie at Katie's house, but the one thing you don't know is Katie's a guy.

Lean to the left. To hell with the right. Stand up, sit down, go Paul White. Go Paul.

Hey, moron, it's not Heinz 57 because of the number of ingredients, it's Heinz 57 because it's the 57th variety they tried.

Why do people get so upset when Barbara Streisand or Alec Baldwin are politically active for Democrats, but think it's OK for Charlton Heston or Arnold Schwarzenegger to do so for Republicans?

The best quote I've ever heard from a professor: "Thinking is the source of all difficulty."

Layton and Dana: Just get it over with and have sex.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. Not enough fourum? For the full version check out www.kstatecollegian.com.

TO THE EDITOR

Students must register to vote by Saturday to maintain freedoms in U.S.

Editor,

Walking through campus lately, I have seen unusual excitement in everyone's eyes. What can it be?

Elections are just around the corner. We constantly are hearing about Kathleen Sebelius and Tim Shallenburger, and after years of apathy, students are finally deciding voting is their civic duty.

Maybe not.

The truth of the matter is that voter apathy among college students is rising. Last year, about 20 percent of people between the ages of 18 and 24 voted. Why?

It's obvious. We're just too busy.

I wish the rest of the world would try to live a day in our lives. We have to go to class, we have to party, we have to take tests, we have to party, we have to work, and of course, we have to find time to party.

So why should we vote?

Everyone at this university needs to take a step back and look around at the rest of the world. Look at the hundreds of workers on this campus spending their time to promote voting.

Look at the flyers in the residence halls. Look at the signs across campus. This is all the work of people our age, not just 60-year-old politicians.

The United States was built on the foundation that we each have the freedom to choose how our country is run. When we do not vote, we waive that right. We officially become puppets.

We might as well be hanging from a set of strings while the rest of the country commands us.

If we don't vote, our words go unnoticed and our complaints have no value.

Voting drives are scheduled during the football game this weekend and on Oct. 14 and 15. All I ask is you set aside two minutes of your time to register.

Do it for all of your peers who have dedicated their time to the cause. If nothing else, do it for the welfare of your friends, your family, your freedoms, and yourself.

If you do not see any importance in any of these, you just become another puppet.

Bryce Huschka | FRESHMAN IN INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING

"I look forward to seeing Zac Cook sport crimson and blue."

Jonathan Ng | UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT

SGA competing against rival to register voters

Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

In an effort to increase voter registration, Student Body President Zac Cook said he felt there needed to be some type of push to get students interested.

As a result, Cook and fellow SGA members will be host to the "Cat's Challenge," a competition against the University of Kansas to see which school can get the most students and residents to register to vote during their respective home football games Oct. 12.

"I was looking for a way to get more of the 18-24 age range to vote," Cook said.

"We've been looking for a lot of ways to get involved with KU since my term started, and this seemed like a great opportunity."

Moreover, the competition is not limited just to the student body, but is open to the Manhattan community as well, he said.

SGA members will be located at various places around Manhattan, including the entrances and parking lots around KSU Stadium, beginning at 10 a.m.

An additional location will be at Varney's Bookstore in Aggieville starting at 8 a.m.

Voter registration will close at the end of the football game.

After all registration ballots have been counted, the school with the least amount of registrations will have its SGA members wear the opposing school's colors during the K-State-KU football game Nov. 2.

"We think this is going to be a push to get students pumped up about this wonderful opportunity," Emily King, chief of staff, said.

"The football game is a wonderful way to gather the student body and the K-State community. This would be the greatest opportunity to promote responsibility and team spirit."

While there is a competition involved, Cook said the overall goal of the event is to increase the number of student voters at both campuses.

"Both of us think it's a key to have students get out and have a say in the process," Cook said.

"The key reason is to get students registered to vote."

KU Student Body President Jonathan Ng agreed, adding that the competition will only increase interest to the student body.

"We definitely embraced the idea," he said.

"Adding this new dimension to the process is obviously a positive thing."

In addition, Cook said he hopes the combination of both schools will result in a large population of new registered voters.

"Hopefully, with the combined totals, I would think this might be a one-day record event for registering people," he said.

"I would hope that this would go down as the largest single day drive in Kansas."

While both schools are concentrating on registration turnout, neither one is forgetting the competition at stake.

"We feel like we're more politically active, and I look forward to seeing Zac sport crimson and blue," Ng said.

"Regardless of the outcome, it's good for Jayhawks and Wildcats alike. We welcome competition, but regardless of the outcome, we'll be happy with the whole situation."

Cook said K-State will win due to a number of reasons, including the large attendance at home football games.

"I'm confident that we'll win because first of all, we have a motivated group of people, and second, we have a little bit of an edge because their football team is so bad that we have more people coming to our games," Cook said.

While Cook said he hopes KU has a good turnout on Saturday, he can't help but feel some vengeance toward the Jayhawks.

"KU is pretty overconfident, and they're pretty cocky," he said.

"They're probably driving around in their Mercedes trying to find people to vote. I have confidence in them."

They're a good group to work with, so far. It will be interesting to see who will win."

House passes war measure; Senate likely to follow

By Tom Raum
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The House voted 296-133 Thursday to give President Bush the broad authority he sought to use military force against Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein-with or without U.N. support.

The Senate was poised to do the same and to deliver Bush a national security policy victory.

"The House of Representatives has spoken clearly to the world and to the United Nations Security Council: The gathering threat of Iraq must be confronted fully and finally," Bush said immediately after the vote.

Senate sponsors later succeeded in defeating all efforts to weaken the proposal, opening the way for a final vote either late Thursday or early Friday.

"It is clear that we have lost this battle in the Senate," said Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., the most outspoken Senate foe of the resolution. Byrd accused

Congress of "handing the president unchecked authority."

While Bush hailed the strong showing, a majority of House Democrats voted against the resolution - even though their leader, Dick Gephardt of Missouri, was one of its authors.

"The issue is how to best protect America. And I believe this resolution does that," Gephardt said.

The Senate was working on the same resolution, voting 75-25 to choke off delaying tactics and move toward a final vote, expected late Thursday.

It voted down a series of efforts to weaken or block the resolution, as did the House. Senate leaders of both parties predicted easy passage.

The administration got a big boost when Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle announced he was putting aside his misgivings to support the president.

"I believe it is important for America to speak with one voice," said Daschle, D-S.D.

George W. Bush
U.S. PRESIDENT

Women's Center collects stories of violence to help increase awareness among students

Organization attempts to relieve victims' pain by relating experiences

Crystal Welborn
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Women's Center is collecting stories of violence in an effort to increase awareness among K-State students.

The series, called "Making Violence Visible," was designed both to give survivors of violence the opportunity to release the strain of keeping a traumatic experience quiet and to produce a more accurate account of the violence occurring, said Susan Allen, director of the Women's Center.

"There are just so many people who have had violence in their lives and have just never spoken about it," said Mary Todd, assistant interim director of the Women's Center.

"Until we start making acts of violence more visible, people aren't going to deal with it."

Tara Hull, assistant advocate for the Women's Center, said any way a survivor of violence wants to submit his or her story is acceptable and encouraged.

"I communicate through poetry," she said. "We want anything that is a medium of expression, anything that gets the violence out there."

Todd said the series can also help bring the campus community closer.

Want to help?

Contact the Women's Center at 532-6444 to contribute to the "Making Violence Visible" series.

"It's a way for us as a community to become more intimate with each other - most people don't even know those that they pass on the sidewalk," she said. "When stories start coming out, we become more of a community and less of just a big group of people."

Allen said stories are being collected all over campus.

A bulletin board in the K-State Student Union has entry forms for those interested in contributing to the series.

"This provides a grass roots therapy, the first step is to put the thoughts out there whether you do it in a poem, a collage of pictures or a narrative," Todd said.

"It's a starting point for change, and it's a starting point for healing."

Officials at the Women's Center said they hope to make the collection and display of the "Making Violence Visible" series a continuing program.

"We really want to compile a chronicle, a book of evidence, that shows what people's daily lives are made up of," Todd said. "We want to make these chronicles available to anyone who wants to see them."

Hull said telling the stories of violence might encourage others who are experiencing it to tell their stories as well.

"Even people who justify violence against them have to, for that initial second when they see someone's experience, acknowledge violence is out there," she said.

FLASHBACK LOUNGE
LOWER LEVEL OF ZUCKER BOWL

TUESDAY KARAOKE
$1.50 WELLS POOL

WEDNESDAY DARTS
$1.25 DOMESTIC BOTTLES

FREE Karaoke Monday Nights
515 Richards Drive, next to the Holidome

49¢ GAS 4 LESS U-HAUL
Bright Yellow Building at 917 N. 3rd, Manhattan Call for reservation 539-2827

CIGARETTES	Ctn.	Pk.	Ctn.	Pk.
Marlboro	$28.29	$3.10	Liggett	$18.99 $2.05
Winston	$28.29	$3.10	Doral	$23.99 $2.66
Camel	$28.29	$3.10	Sebring	$18.99 $2.05

Buy 1, Get 1 Free
$3.99 Camel Turkish Blend Special

Buy 2, Get 1 Free
$8.60 Marlboro Special

BEER	Price	Price
Anheuser Busch	$1.50 15 pk.	$1.50 15 pk.
Coors Light	$1.50 24 pk.	$1.50 24 pk.
Budweiser Light	$1.50 24 pk.	$1.50 24 pk.
Old Milwaukee Light	$1.50 24 pk.	$1.50 24 pk.
Key Brand Light	$1.50 24 pk.	$1.50 24 pk.
Buschweiser Light	$1.50 24 pk.	$1.50 24 pk.
Natural Light	$1.50 24 pk.	$1.50 24 pk.

royal purple ARE YOU IN?

Friday, October 11
Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures

Haymaker Hall
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Union
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Next up: Monday, Oct. 14
Marlatt Hall 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Van Zile Hall 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

GALLERY GO CATS!
Glenn Theodore FOR HAIR

3266 Kimball • Candlewood
776-5632

Call for an appointment today!

2 Haircuts For The Price Of ONE "Bring A Friend" GALLERY FOR HAIR Candlewood • 776-5632 Expires Nov. 1, 2002	$5.00 Off Haircuts GALLERY FOR HAIR Candlewood • 776-5632 Expires Nov. 1, 2002	$10.00 Off Any Perm or Color GALLERY FOR HAIR Candlewood • 776-5632 Expires Nov. 1, 2002
--	--	--

GET COLD CASH MAKING OUR HOT SUBS.

* Flexible schedules
* No late nights
* No grease

INTERESTED IN A NEW JOB?
TAKE A LOOK AT QUIZNO'S®
YOU'LL SEE WHAT MAKES OUR OVEN-TOASTED SUBS SO POPULAR!
WANT TO FIND OUT MORE? STOP BY

2815 Anderson Ave
Manhattan Ks 66502
Across from Dillons in Westloop

Quizno's SUBS

11th Street Liquor
Drive-thru Coming Soon!

check out our grand opening prices

11th & MORO in Aggieville

OVER THE TOP

PACK IT WITH PURPLE! K-STATE VOLLEYBALL VS. COLORADO

Ahearn Fieldhouse
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 7:00PM
K-STATE STUDENTS GET IN FREE WITH A STUDENT ID

PACK IT WITH PURPLE!

Wildcat Weekend
Come to Volleyball after the Football game!

Chicago Marathon to test runners

Local athletes confident

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A K-State graduate student said she doesn't expect to win the 26.2-mile Chicago Marathon this Sunday.

Lisa Bietau, 43, and a mother of two teenagers, said she'll run toward the back of the approximate 37,500 runners.

But Bietau said she has a goal in mind — to beat her personal record of 3 hours and 49 minutes.

"My running buddy and I are going to find the 3:45 stick, which is the pace stick. That way, we can pace ourselves and put ourselves in good position to run a good time."

That's like running to the far-end of Junction City and back in less than four hours.

"It's a very tough race, and you have to prepare for it," Bietau said.

"It's a science. You have to start with slow increments and then set a base mileage to run. My running partner, Judy Scharmann, doesn't push her long run past 20 miles. Some runners share that philosophy saying runners push themselves too hard. I go the full 26."

Bietau said the last six miles is the hardest.

She wants to know that she can do it, she said.

Bietau is also working on her doctorate, said she has a lot on her plate, so she has to think creatively when she trains on her own.

On Oct. 5, Bietau was in Boulder, Colo., to watch the Wildcats battle the Buffaloes. She said K-State football took priority over finishing her run. Like the rest of her busy schedule, she said she had to estimate her time and distance when she ran along Boulder Creek.

"I'm in it for fun and fitness, so I don't need to train hard enough to win," she said. "It takes a lot of time to peel off minutes in a race."

2001 K-State alumna Jaime Schmidt also is running the

See MARATHON Page 9

Manhattan's runners

Several people from the Manhattan area are racing in this week's Chicago Marathon. Here's who they are.

Andrew Barkley	40-year-old male
Lisa Bietau	43-year-old female
Paula Ford	38-year-old female
Terra Frieling	21-year-old female
Luke Gile	22-year-old male
Andrea Kaeding	22-year-old female
Kristen Matthews	22-year-old female
Pat Melgares	35-year-old male
Brandon Robben	21-year-old male
Judy Scharmann	43-year-old female
Nicholas Seglie	22-year-old male
Tina Zedrow	31-year-old female

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NFL | D.C. officials mum on security

Although Washington-area residents are on edge because of a recent string of sniper shootings, police aren't saying much about security plans for Sunday's Redskins game.

The Redskins play the New Orleans Saints in a game that's expected to draw more than 80,000 people, including thousands of tailgaters. FedEx Field in Landover, Md., is less than 10 miles from a Bowie, Md., middle school where a 13-year-old boy was shot and wounded Monday.

Seven people have been killed and two wounded in the weeklong shooting spree. Police report no solid leads or clues in the case.

NFL | Moss to keep driving privileges

Vikings receiver Randy Moss will not lose his driving privileges for refusing a drug and alcohol test last month, his attorneys said on Thursday.

Moss was arrested Sept. 24 after allegedly pushing a traffic officer with his car in Minneapolis. He has been charged with five petty misdemeanors or misdemeanors.

NCAA | New president announced

The NCAA hired Indiana University president Myles Brand as its president and chief executive Thursday, ending a seven-month search for a new leader.

Brand will assume his new duties Jan. 1 and his contract will run through 2007.

Brand, 60, has been president at the university in Bloomington since 1994 and was the man who oversaw Bob Knight's firing as the school's basketball coach in September 2000.

The NCAA interviewed 11 candidates for the position. Brand was one of three finalists interviewed Thursday by the NCAA Executive Committee. The NCAA did not disclose the identities of the other finalists, but said at least one was a minority.

The decision was unanimous, said Robert Lawless, chairman of the Executive Committee and president of the University of Tulsa.

NFL | Vick won't start

With Michael Vick unable to finish practice Thursday, Coach Dan Reeves selected Doug Johnson as the starting quarterback for Atlanta's game at New York on Sunday.

Vick was optimistic after receiving treatment on his sprained right shoulder before lunch, but the pain worsened in passing drills. He shut himself down after 45 minutes of the two-hour workout.

Vick, who had to leave last week's 20-6 loss to Tampa Bay, remains listed as doubtful for the game against the Giants (3-2).

Colorado | Ochs to play for Montana

Former Colorado quarterback Craig Ochs will play for the University of Montana next season, several newspapers reported Thursday.

Ochs chose Montana, a Division I-AA school where he will be the likely starter next season, over I-A Washington, where he would have had to beat out incumbent Cody Pickett. The Denver Post reported. Ochs had been given permission to talk with both schools after leaving Colorado.

The Seattle Times and Seattle Post-Intelligencer also reported Thursday that Ochs had opted for Montana.

CLASH OF OPPOSITES

Jami Sleichter digs the ball during K-State's game against Texas Tech. The Cats will play Colorado at 7 p.m. Saturday in Ahearn Field House.

Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

K-State, Colorado expected to play close set at Ahearn

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Colorado always has played K-State tough in volleyball.

Last year, the teams each won on their own home court.

In Boulder, CU was able to get past the Wildcats in four games — winning easily in the first game, but just getting by in the final three.

In Manhattan, the Cats defeated the Buffaloes in four games, with three of those decided by five points or less.

Needless to say, the two teams were near equals last season.

Now, a year removed, the Cats

Cats in action

K-State (8-6, 4-2) vs.

Colorado (9-7, 3-3)

When: 7 p.m. Saturday

Where: Ahearn Field House (5,000)

Radio: KMAN-AM 1350

Cost: Free with student ID

and Buffs are more of polar opposites than anything.

K-State has just one senior — Colorado has four.

The Cats have won three of their last four — the Buffaloes are 1-3 during that stretch.

But middle blocker Lauren Goehring said the match should be just as competitive as before.

"They're a great team that always plays us tough," she said. "It will be a good match."

Goehring enters Saturday's match coming off an 11-kill, 467-hitting night against Oklahoma on Wednesday.

K-State was able to sweep the Sooners to earn its fourth conference win of the season.

The Cats hit a season-high .331 for the match, including a season-high .382 in the third game.

Colorado's last match also was against Oklahoma. The Buffaloes defeated the Sooners in four, led by Kim Taskey, who had 18 kills in the win.

Colorado leads the all-time series with K-State 21-10, but the teams have split the last 12 meetings.

It also will be the first time since 1995 that both teams aren't ranked going into a match with each other.

The Buffaloes feature a senior setter in Elizabeth Gower. Coach Suzie Fritz said Gower helps Colorado work in a consistent flow.

"Their setter is a great player," Fritz said. "They like to push quick and take some swings. We'll have to pay attention to them. They're a good team."

Preseason predictions forecast another long winter for men's basketball

The preseason basketball magazines have come out and the experts haven't exactly been kind to Jim Wooldridge and the men's basketball team.

Street & Smith's has the Cats picked 11th in the Big 12, while Athlon and the Basketball News have K-State dead last.

Ouch.

But can anyone blame the so-called experts for not being too excited about K-State?

Wooldridge has lost his top three guards (Larry Reid, Phineas Atchison and Nick Williams) from last year and has junior college transfers to take their place.

The problem with junior college transfers is that you never know if they will pan out or not.

The fact that the Cats' point guard will have never played a Division-I game before this season makes it hard to be optimistic — as in today's college basketball world good guard play is the key to success.

Pervis Pasco returns down low, but he probably is only the fifth best big man in the Big 12 North. Nick Collison (Kansas), Arthur Johnson (Missouri), David Harrison (Colorado), and Wayne Simien (Kansas) are all better than Pasco. The fact that Wooldridge runs the triangle offense is another reason the magazines may not be too excited for Wildcat basketball.

Going to Shawnee Mission South High School where former coach Paul Sexton ran the flex offense, I thought I had seen the least exciting basketball around.

That quickly changed when I came to K-State, and Wooldridge became the head coach.

If it came down to watching Wooldridge's lethargic triangle offense or listening to hits by the rock group Winger, I probably would choose the latter.

The triangle has not exactly lit up the scoreboard the past two seasons, and like former columnist David Plous said, "The triangle may work when you have Kobe and Shaq or Michael and Scottie, but not when you have mid-level Division-I players."

This is a crucial year for Wooldridge and his boring offensive strategy. Anything less than an NIT bid would give Athletic Director Tim Weiser, who did not hire Wooldridge, ample evidence to bring in his own coach.

It would not be too hard for Weiser to find someone who could come in and beat Wichita State, Northwestern and Western Carolina — not to mention win at least one game on the road.

Wooldridge has plenty of time to get his team to gel before conference play, as K-State's non-conference schedule is filled with terrible teams. But when looking at league play, it is hard to imagine K-State doing much better than 4-12.

In the Lindy's preseason magazine, there is a nice article about Wooldridge and how he is trying to rebuild the program. In the article Wooldridge said, "This is a program that is on the upswing."

It had better start swinging up a whole bunch this season because the administration, alumni and fans will not be too fond of a 10th, 11th or 12th place finish in the conference, and Wooldridge may be, as Winger so eloquently put it, "Headed for a Heart-break."

Colby Gordon is a senior in electronic journalism. You can e-mail him at csg5555@ksu.edu.

BY THE NUMBERS

College football

Many big college football rivalry games will be played this weekend. Texas and Oklahoma square off in the Red River shootout, while Miami plays Florida State. Here is a rundown of the top 25 games this weekend.

Top 25 football

- No. 1 Miami vs. No. 9 Florida State, 11 a.m.
- No. 2 Oklahoma at No. 3 Texas at Dallas, 2:30 p.m., ABC
- No. 5 Ohio State vs. San Jose State, 11 a.m.
- No. 6 Georgia vs. No. 10 Tennessee, 2:30 p.m., CBS
- No. 7 Oregon at UCLA, 2:30 p.m.
- No. 8 Notre Dame vs. Pittsburgh, 1:30 p.m.
- No. 11 Iowa State vs. Texas Tech, 6 p.m.
- No. 12 Washington State at Stanford, 4 p.m.
- No. 13 Michigan vs. No. 15 Penn State, 2:30 p.m.
- No. 14 North Carolina State at North Carolina, 11 a.m.
- No. 16 Florida vs. No. 18 LSU, 6:45 p.m., ESPN
- No. 17 Iowa vs. Michigan State, 11 a.m., ESPN
- No. 19 K-State vs. Oklahoma State, 1:16 p.m.
- No. 20 Southern California vs. California, 5:30 p.m.
- No. 21 Air Force vs. Brigham Young, 11 p.m., ESPN 2
- No. 22 Washington vs. Arizona, 2:30 p.m.
- No. 23 Wisconsin at Indiana, 11 a.m.
- No. 24 Auburn vs. Arkansas, 11:30 a.m.
- No. 25 Mississippi vs. Arkansas State, 1 p.m.

THE EDGE

Friday, October 11, 2002

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Page 7

'La Boheme'
coming to McCain

'La Boheme'

■ When and Where: 7:30 p.m. Sunday in McCain Auditorium

■ Tickets: $20 and $18 for students and children, $40 and $36 for the general public, available at the McCain Box Office, 532-6428, or www.ksu.edu/mccain

■ Pre-performance lecture: 6:30 in McCain 204

By Adam Lee
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

One of the most highly acclaimed operas ever, "La Boheme," the basis for several other movies, plays and operas, will be performed in McCain Auditorium on Sunday.

The Stanislavsky Opera Company will be performing the Giacomo Puccini opera "La Boheme" at 7:30 p.m.

Two principal figures of Russian theater, Constantin Stanislavsky and Vladimir Nemirovich-Danchenko, founded the company in Moscow in 1918. They have toured throughout Europe and Asia, but this year's tour of "La Boheme" marks the company's first visit to the United States. Their stop at McCain is one of 44 performances in 42 cities across the country.

The company's touring director and artistic director, Aleksander Titel, said through a translator that he has been very pleased with the tour so far. The shows have been receiving good reviews and responsive audiences, Titel said.

"I'm not sure if it's customary in the United States, but we have received a standing ovation every night as of yet," he said.

Thom Jackson, marketing and development officer for McCain, said this is an extremely rare opportunity for K-State students and Manhattan residents to see one of the world's most acclaimed opera companies. He also said the opera's story should appeal to everyone.

"I'm encouraging people to see it because it's such a timeless tale of love and tragedy," Jackson said.

"La Boheme" is a four-act opera based on Henry Murger's story, "Scenes de la Vie de Boheme" (or "Scenes of the Bohemian Life"). The story tells of the ill-fated love affair of Rodolfo and Mimì, two struggling young Bohemians living in mid-19th century Paris.

Mimì has a terminal case of tuberculosis. This story line has been the basis for several works including "Moulin Rouge" and "Rent," which will be coming to McCain in February.

Titel said "La Boheme" was chosen because it is an opera that has won many awards and fits well in the company's repertoire.

"This piece highlights the youth of the cast, their vocal ability and the musical talent of the orchestra," Titel said. "This opera is more like actor/director theater. On stage, the cast acts like they are in a drama."

Jackson said the cultural diversity of the performance is striking.

"You've got a Russian opera company doing an Italian opera that's set in Paris," he said.

Jackson said people should not be daunted by the foreign language since subtitles of the lyrics in English will be projected during the performance.

MUSIC MAN

Singer-songwriter Pierce Pettis' performance could be one of arts center's best this season

By J. Scott Bowman
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The baritone voice and insightful lyrics of Pierce Pettis gained him national recognition when he won a 1999 Country Music Award for "You Move Me," a single from the Garth Brooks album "Sevens."

"When someone like Garth Brooks covers your song, that's when you know you're doing something right," said David Kamerer, director of the BirdHouse concert series. "Brooks is such a great songwriter anyway, and to have him to use one of your songs as a single is huge."

Singer-songwriter Pettis' BirdHouse concert could be one of the best performances in the Manhattan Arts Center this year, Kamerer said.

"He is definitely one of the best artists that we can bring in here," Kamerer said. "He's played here a few times before. One time he played in a Habitat for Humanity benefit for almost nothing."

Pettis was born and raised in Alabama, where he was influenced by several different styles of music, including country, rock 'n' roll and folk music. Pettis said he started playing the guitar at age 10 and began writing music almost immediately and has written music ever since.

Pettis' eclectic Americana style of music draws influences from southern rock, bluegrass and folk music, Pettis said. Pettis has found that when he writes for the song he has been able to evoke emotion, reveal insight and share his experiences of living, he said.

"Most people that are in the same genre as me are actually introverts in an extroverted business," Pettis said. "I love performing, and it's fun to get up and play, but I feel more natural writing songs."

Pettis said he has several songs that are in

BirdHouse concert

■ Who: Pierce Pettis

■ When and Where: 8 tonight at the Manhattan Arts Center, 1520 Poyntz Ave.

■ Tickets: $12 for students and seniors, $15 for adults. Available at The Dusty Bookshelf in Aggieville, Claffin Books, and the Manhattan Arts Center.

different stages of completion but occasionally finds it difficult to write.

"It's like a mental itch that you have to scratch," he said. "You have a desire to create, and sometimes you're just banging your head against a wall trying to figure out the next lyric or chord. But sometimes I'll get a flash, and about a whole song will come out at once."

Pettis has performed before for Manhattan's BirdHouse, now in its eighth year. BirdHouse is a local singer-songwriter venue that brings in national touring songwriters. Organizers follow the songwriting world closely and try to bring in the best talent they can.

The performances take place in the Manhattan Arts Center theater, which offers an intimate listening environment. A small venue can create a setting that increases the audience-artist energy.

"There are two places in Manhattan that are great listening environments," Kamerer said. "One is McCain, and the other is the arts-center's stage, and with 150 seats you are right there on top of the performer."

Pettis said he enjoys all types of people but prefers the college audience, because they can be more receptive to his music and jokes.

"It's a great honor to get up and perform music I have created," Pettis said. "It is very rewarding to see people's reactions. I get a chance to find out that I need to work a little harder on one song and not so much on another one."

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

Elvis Presley TV special to air on NBC
Britney Spears, No Doubt, Sheryl Crow and Bono will celebrate Elvis Presley's legacy on an hour-long NBC special to air later this year.

"Elvis Lives" will pay tribute to the King with performances and interviews with entertainers including Dave Matthews and Tom Petty, network representatives said Wednesday.

Even Chuck D. from the rap group Public Enemy, who once derided Presley as a racist in the song "Fight the Power," is scheduled to participate.

The special, to air in late November or December, is one of several projects commemorating the 25th anniversary of Presley's death.

"Elvis 30 No. 1 Hits" debuted at No. 1 last week, selling about 500,000 copies. The CD will retain the top spot for a second week.

THE CHARTS

Hannibal devours competition as 'Red Dragon' taps box office

Audiences still have an appetite for Hannibal Lecter.

"Red Dragon," the third film featuring Anthony Hopkins as the cannibalistic serial killer, debuted as the No. 1 film, taking in $36.5 million in its opening weekend.

The top 20 movies at North American theaters Friday through Sunday, followed by distribution studio and gross as compiled Monday by Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc. and Nielsen EDI Inc. are as follows:

1. "Red Dragon," Universal, $36.5 million
2. "Sweet Home Alabama," Disney, $21.3 million
3. "The Tuxedo," DreamWorks, $10 million
4. "My Big Fat Greek Wedding," IFC Films, $8.2 million
5. "Barbershop," MGM, $6.6 million
6. "Jonah: A VeggieTales Movie," Artisan, $6.2 million
7. "The Banger Sisters," Fox Searchlight, $3.5 million
8. "The Four Feathers," Paramount, $2.1 million
9. "Moonlight Mile," Disney, $1.9 million
10. "One Hour Photo," Fox Searchlight, $1.7 million
11. "Signs," Disney, $1.65 million
12. "Spy Kids 2: The Island of Lost Dreams," Miramax, $1.3 million
13. "Ballistic: Ecks vs. Sever," Warner Bros., $1 million
14. "Swimfan," Fox, $731,485
15. "Spirited Away," Disney, $611,047
16. "Stealing Harvard," Sony, $607,885
17. "XXX," Sony, $538,419
18. "Igby Goes Down," MGM, $476,397
19. "Trapped," Sony, $430,597
20. "Secretary," Lions Gate, $395,292

MOVIE TIMES

Seth Childs Cinema

"Red Dragon"

4:15, 4:45, 7, 7:30, 9:45 and 10:15

"My Big Fat Greek Wedding"

4:20, 7 and 9:30

"One Hour Photo"

4:40 and 9:20

"Barbershop"

7:10

"White Oleander"

4:30, 7:20 and 9:50

"Brown Sugar"

4:10, 7 and 9:45

"The Tuxedo"

4, 7 and 9:30

"Sweet Home Alabama"

4:10, 7:05 and 9:35

"Jonah: A VeggieTales Movie"

4:30, 7:20 and 9:30

"Transporter"

4:40, 7:35 and 10

"Knockaround Guys"

4:45, 7:35 and 10

"Rules of Attraction"

4:25, 7:30 and 9:55

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

SWINGING AWAY

Kelli O'Neil, sophomore in interior design, takes a swing in the batting cages at Wildcat Creek Sports Center. O'Neil was a fastpitch softball player in high school. She was bored and decided it was a good idea to get out and hit a few pitches.

Lindsey Bauman | COLLEGIAN

Aggieville to have block party

Events include concert, games

By Lindsey Tipling
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Aggieville Business Association and Platinum Broadcasting are sponsoring a free block party in Aggieville tonight that includes games, contests and concerts.

The party is a new addition to Touchdown Weekends, which take place in Aggieville every home football weekend.

"We are trying to get more merchants involved," said Cheryl Sieben, director of the Aggieville Business Association.

Sieben said they will be closing off the 1200 block of Moro Street to allow for the events.

Jeff Levin, manager of Varney's Book Store, said the block party is a good way to prepare for home football games.

"We like to throw parties in Aggieville," he said. "And this is the way to do it."

Other businesses are supporting the party as well.

"We have 15 merchants to help, and 97.5 and 103.5 will be having live remotes from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.," said Mick Wunder, sales representative for Platinum Broadcasting. "We're also having armchair quarterback games with 100 free T-shirts for people to win."

Becky Ballard, owner of Ballard's Sporting Goods, which is also supporting the party, said she would just like to see people having fun.

"We like to generate activity in Aggieville," she said. "Get people down there to have a good time."

Wunder said the big attention grabber for this particular block party is going to be the concert that starts at 8 p.m. in front of Rusty's Last Chance.

"Rusty's Last Chance and Budweiser are bringing in Stephen Percy, former lead singer of Ratt, for the concert," Wunder said. "The band should play for about 75 minutes."

Aside from the great music, Wunder said he thought students should come out simply to be a part of the Aggieville scene.

"Aggieville's history is such a great one, students should really take advantage of what it has to offer," he said.

Sieben encouraged students to come down and be a part of the pre-game excitement.

"We also have the cat band play every Friday night," she said. "It is a good time for the kids to come down and hear some music, and hopefully the weather will be beautiful."

Shooting death linked to Washington-area sniper; deaths increase to 7

By Matthew Barakat
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MANASSAS, Va. — The number of deaths from the Washington-area sniper rose to seven Thursday as authorities said ballistics evidence had linked the killer to a man gunned down at a Virginia gas station.

Dean Meyers, 53, of Gaithersburg, Md., was felled by a single shot Wednesday night, moments after filling his car's tank.

Six other people have been killed and two have been wounded since the attacks began Oct. 2.

Prince William County Police Chief Charlie Deane said the results of an autopsy on Meyers and ballistic evidence had linked the cases. He pleaded for the killer to give up: "There's enough damage been done."

Police earlier said they were searching for a white minivan seen leaving the gas station in this bedroom community, but Deane said the van's occupants had a reasonable explanation of their actions. He refused to say whether there were surveillance cameras at the station, but said some cameras were in the area.

"It's a difficult case but we are developing more information as the minutes go by," Deane said.

Manassas is about 35 miles southwest of the Maryland suburbs where most of the attacks happened.

The shooting is the second in Virginia: A woman was wounded by the sniper Friday in Fredericksburg, 30 miles south of here.

Police in yellow slickers walked through a drizzling rain, looking evidence near the gas station.

Deane did not say whether they had found anything, but said there had been no communication from the killer.

A tarot death card with the taunting words "Dear policeman, I am God" was found near a shell casing outside a school in Bowie, Md., where a 13-year-old boy was critically wounded by the sniper Monday. Authorities have refused to discuss the card or any other evidence.

er evidence.

Investigators say the sniper, or snipers, fired from a distance with a high-powered hunting or military-style rifle. Like Meyers, all the victims were felled by a single bullet.

The slayings have heightened fear across the densely populated suburban area around Washington, with schools keeping children inside and residents warily watching over their shoulders in public.

More than 80,000 people are expected at FedEx Field in Landover, Md., for Sunday's football game between the Washington Redskins and the New Orleans Saints. The stadium is less than 10 miles from where the boy was wounded.

"It raises a tremendous amount of concern," Washington player Dan Wilkinson said. "I'm worried about one person at the gas station. Eighty-thousand fans, that's heaven for this lunatic."

Police refused to disclose security details for the game. Fans' bags are searched before entering the stadium.

At a news conference, Commonwealth's Attorney Paul Ebert said he would seek the death penalty against the killer.

He said a new Virginia law allows the death penalty in killings "in which the perpetrator tends to terrorize the general public."

"If I have anything to do with it, we will prosecute in this jurisdiction, and do it to the full extent of the law," said Ebert, whose office has sent more people to death row than any other in Virginia.

Neighbors said Meyers lived alone in a townhouse complex in Gaithersburg. He had worked for the past 20 years at an engineering firm in Manassas.

Co-worker Dave Brent said his friend once gave hundreds of dollars to an office campaign that raised money for underprivileged children to go Christmas shopping.

"He was quietly concerned about other people, and he never drew attention to himself," Brent said. "He did things to make things happen and never took credit for it himself."

Everyday Low Prices On Spirits, Wine and Beer

Bud & Coors 20 Pack Bottles $13.69
Bud & Coors 12 Pack Bottles/Cans $8.38
McCormick 80 1.75L Vodka $11.38
Canadian Club 1.75L $21.66 Sale 19.49
Jim Bean 1.75L $20.43
Jack Daniel's Black 1.75L $33.99
Kendall Jackson VR Chard 750ML $11.70
Woodbridge Chard--Cab--Merlot 1.5 $11.88

Similar Savings Throughout the Store
Over 1500 Different Wines In Stock
Are You Paying Too Much? Check Us Out!

Coors and Miller 16oz Cans
Case $13.96
(While Supplies Last.)

Classic Wine and Spirits
"Home of the Everyday Low Prices"
347 South Seth Childs 785-539-WINE (9463)
Just South of the Theaters

Western Wireless

Western Wireless Corporation is looking for customer service representatives to work in our Manhattan call center. Western Wireless is a leading player in the exploding wireless industry and recognizes the important role that quality employees play in that success.

We offer the environment to learn the business, grow professionally and build a future career. Our state of the art call center in Manhattan serves cellular customers in a 19 state area.

¡Western Wireless habla español!
Bilingual Customer Care Representatives
Must be fluent in both English and Spanish
$8.50 per hour

Handling inbound calls from Spanish speaking CellularOne customers, you'll provide quality service in a friendly, caring, professional manner. You'll help resolve billing discrepancies and troubleshoot technical issues. Previous customer service and computer experience is required. Must be able to work in a fast-paced, ever-changing environment and flexible to work variable shifts.
Job Code: SP-CCR.

¡Aproveche esta gran oportunidad de empleo utilizando sus habilidades en español con CellularONE!

Please send, e-mail or fax resumes to: Western Wireless Corporation,
Attn: Customer Services Recruiter,
5960 Technology Circle, Manhattan, KS 66503.
Fax: (785) 565-7672. E-mail: ksjobs@wwireless.com.

For additional company information, see our website at www.wwireless.com.

We are an Equal Opportunity Employer.

CELLULARONE®

sure, you can quit.
or stick around
and [learn]
how not to.

In Army ROTC, you'll develop skills you can use in the real world — thinking on your feet, staying focused under pressure, taking charge. Give it a shot. Visit the Army ROTC department. We'll stick around for you.

ARMY ROTC

Unlike any other college course you can take.

For more info call the Admissions Officer at 785-532-5177 or visit our web site at:
www.ksu.edu/armyrotc

OPEN to your world of IMAGINATION

During Bernina's Super Saturday Sale
October 19, 2002

All Bernina sewing machines, embroidery machines, software and more will be specially sale-priced.

You'll encounter a wealth of creative ideas and awe-inspiring products, like the new artista 200 sewing and embroidery system. And, you'll receive a very special financing offer:

No Interest and No Payments Until January 2004***
with select Bernina purchases over $1,000

PLUS

No Interest and Payments For 1 Year****
when you purchase the artista 200/200E

If you don't already have a Bernina credit card, come in and apply today!

Bernina Shoppe
330 N. 4th St.
Manhattan, KS 66502
Mon., Tues., Thurs., Fri.
10 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

* ** On your Bernina credit card, subject to credit approval. No interest. No Payments Until January 2004 Offer. Minimum purchase of $1,000 required. Finance charges will not be imposed on these purchases and payments will not be required until the 1200th promotional payment date indicated on your billing statement if your account is kept current. No interest. No Payments For One Year Offer. Purchase of artista 200/200E required. Finance charges will not be imposed on these purchases and payments will not be required during the 12 months promotional period if your account is kept current. Standard Rate APR for both No interest, No Payments Until January 2004 and No interest, No Payments For One Year Offer is 20.9%. For Accounts not kept current, the Default Rate 24.9% will be applied to all balances. Minimum Finance Charge $1.00. Offer valid on purchases made only on October 19, 2002. Certain rules apply to the allocation of payments and Finance Charges on your promotional purchase if you make more than one purchase on your Bernina credit card. Call 1-800-967-4371 or visit our website for more information.

www.uclassifyit.com
Simple Sell your textbooks online
Safe and get back
Secure MORE MONEY!!
Guaranteed STUDENTS helping STUDENTS

GTM SPORTSWEAR
Warehouse Liquidation SALE!

Oct 10, 11, 12, 13
Thurs. thru Sun.

Assorted Polo Shirts $8
Hats $1
Sweatshirts as low as $6

We're blowing out inventory AT OR BELOW COST!

Jackets $15
Special Group of Overruns $10 per bag (Bag provided at store) Stuff as full as you can! Choose from selected jackets, tees, sweatshirts, and more.

Long Sleeve & Specialty T- Shirts $5
Stadium Blankets $10
Lined Nylon Windpants $10
Denim & Twill Shirts $8

520 McCall Road
Manhattan, KS
785-537-0844

Store Hours
M-F 8:30 a.m. - 7:00 p.m.
Sat 9:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m.
Sun 12:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.

House reaches compromise on $355.4 billion defense bill

Senate expected to swiftly pass new measure

By Alan Fram
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - The House approved on Thursday a compromise $355.4 billion defense bill brimming with money for new destroyers, helicopters and missiles. The bill would also grant President Bush most of the Pentagon buildup he requested following last year's terrorist attacks.

While the day's spotlight shone on the congressional debate over authorizing Bush to use force against Iraq, the massive defense spending package, one-sixth of the entire federal budget, underlined the bipartisan consensus behind beefing up the military.

Quick Senate approval is also expected, and White House press secretary Ari Fleischer said Bush looks forward to signing it into law because it will "ensure that we provide our troops in the field with the resources they need to fight terrorism and defend freedom."

The bill's 409-14 passage, less than four weeks before congressional elections, also reflected a desire by Democrats to head off campaign-season accusations by Bush that they had delayed a measure urgently needed in the U.S. effort against terrorism.

Most of Congress' budget work has been stalled because Bush wants to spend less than Democrats and even some Republicans want.

The bill's popularity was also a tribute to the billions it would spend from coast to coast for weapons and other equipment.

Included was $3.3 billion for 15 Air Force C-17 transport aircraft - $586 million more than Bush requested, which the Boeing Co. has been building in Long Beach, Calif.; and $270 million for 19 Army Blackhawk helicopters, seven more than Bush sought, built by the Sikorsky Aircraft Corp. of Stratford, Conn.

As lawmakers sorted through a pile of legislation in hopes of recessing soon for the elections, the House approved a $10.5 billion military construction bill, 419-0.

By 272-144, the House also approved a bill keeping federal agencies open for another week, a measure necessitated by the spending battle between Bush and Congress.

And on tap was a measure to help state and local governments revamp their voting systems. For now, all was colored by the Nov. 5 elections, when control of the House and Senate for the next two years will be decided.

Hoping to focus voters on issues that could help Democrats, the party's leaders invited press coverage of a forum they were staging Friday on retirement security, corporate responsibility and whether the economy is on the right track.

To counter that, House Republicans were preparing a tax-cut package that includes bigger breaks for stock market losses and for people trying to rebuild depleted individual retirement accounts and 401(k) plans.

The defense bill, for the federal budget year that started Oct. 1, represents a $34 billion, or 11 percent, increase over last year.

Bush sought $367 billion, but ran into bipartisan distaste for his proposal for a $10 billion fund he could tap without congressional input for combating terrorists in overseas countries.

MARATHON | 12 local runners ready to test endurance in 26.2-mile Chicago Marathon on Sunday

Continued from Page 6

race.

She said she's using the Chicago Marathon as a qualifier for the Boston Marathon.

Chicago is known as a flat, fast course, she said. So a lot of runners use it to qualify.

Schmidt, a native of Kansas City, said she did not run a smart race when she ran the course last year and did not reach her goal of qualifying for Boston.

"I wasn't consistent at all," she said.

"I ran the first half of the race much quicker than my training pace. As a result, I slowed down by quite a bit the second half."

She said she hopes to change that this year.

She said she wants to run a consistent pace and drink a lot of fluids at the beginning of the race, when it feels easy. Schmidt said she felt dizzy around mile 18 last year because of dehydration.

"In my opinion, most races are against yourself," she said. "I'm not running with any expectation about how I do in comparison to other runners. All I care about is beating my personal record from last year."

Schmidt said she races for fitness and for thrills.

"A race is much different than anyone would expect. It's like the difference between practicing a speech and actually giving it," she said. "There's a lot more adrenaline in the race."

There is punishment involved, she said, but mostly it is a great accomplishment if you can complete it.

"It's a challenge - a test of your endurance - an achievement," she said. "All goals and achievements involve a lot of work. It feels good when you finish, and it feels good when you complete a long training run. Of course, you'll have moments that feel like punishment, but that's part of the process."

For moments like those, both Schmidt and Bietau said there are runners out there to help.

"There are people that don't finish the race," Schmidt said.

"What's amazing is how supportive the runners are at the end of the race. In the last six miles when the running becomes difficult, I distinctly remember runners cheering each other on, helping them up, encouraging them to go forward."

Bietau said that's what the Harrier Club in Manhattan is all about.

The club has runners from the Manhattan community, K-State and military personnel from Fort Riley. The club helped when she qualified for the Boston Marathon last year.

"I had a young gentleman from Fort Riley who ran with me when I qualified - to push me - though he could run much faster than me. He made sure I would match the pace to qualify."

"And I also helped pace him, and that's important so you don't run too fast. So, we helped each other."

She said she hopes her training this year would be as helpful to help her beat her personal record.

The race begins at 7:30 a.m., so she will find out early.

Special chips in runners' shoes will allow people to track their progress on the Internet.

Log onto www.runningnet-work.com/features/chicago-marathon2002raceday.html to track Schmidt, Bietau and the other runners.

"Some people will be there to break records. Those are the front-runners," Bietau said.

"I'm doing it for myself to stay fit, and I do it to run with people."

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent - Apt. Unfurnished

120 For Rent - Houses

110 For Rent - Apt. Unfurnished

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

RESERVE NOW for next semester. Four-bedroom, two bath brick home west of KSU stadium. Completely remodeled with everything new. No pets. (785)556-6899.

Get personal with the Collegian. Call 323-6651.

000 bulletin board

105 For Rent - Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper, 25 years experience, divorce and civil law, 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

NEW LOCATION as of October 1. Lewis's Auto Repair 610 B South Juliette. (785)770-8553. $40.00/hour labor rate call for appointment.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100 housing/real estate

SELL YOUR STUFF

Yes, the students are back in town. They're spending money to furnish their living spaces, and they're looking for bargains. Sell your stuff. Call Collegian classifieds at 323-6555.

150 Sublease

310 Help Wanted

330 Business Opportunities

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for three-bedroom/ two bath apartment for spring. Rent $260/ month, split utilities. Contact Lindsey, (785)587-9708.

ONE-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus. 1031 Moro. $350/ month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

SUBLEASER NEEDED for one bedroom in new three-bedroom house for Spring semester. $265 rent, cheap bills, laundry, parking. (785)323-1141.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$25 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com

LABOR: PART-TIME position, Tuesday-Friday. Must be available to work 1-5 or 8-5 Tuesdays and Thursdays. Will include painting, yard work, maintenance, cleaning, etc. (785)539-2309.

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xcalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

NEED COMPUTER tutor two hours weekly? Please call (785)539-4112.

PART-TIME OFF and on evenings and weekends help needed with carpentry, repair, and painting. (785)537-7050.

RESORT AND Golf Internships Orlando, FL. Myrtle Beach and Hilton Head Island, SC. Now hiring for all positions and seasons! Take a semester off or summer and learn about the hospitality industry in sunny resort locations! Receive a certificate from the largest hospitality training company in the United States. Fully furnished housing, stipend and transportation provided. Three to six month internships. Call (888)859-5293 for more information and to set up a phone interview. www.AmericanHospitalityAcademy.com.

WEEKLY HOUSE-CLEANING, private home. Send qualifications, resume to: Student Publications, 103 Kedzie, c/o Box 5, Manhattan, KS 66506.

320 Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD, Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.drh-movement.org elfemarie@humana.org

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

$800 WEEKLY Guaranteed! Stuffing envelopes. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Oakdale Enterprises 1151 N. State suite 231, Chicago, IL 60610.

ASSISTANT TEACHER needed for preschool classroom. Monday-Friday mornings 8:30 until 1:00p.m. Call Lisa or Danice at (785)539-7540 or atop by Kindercare at 1205 Hyton Heights.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3085 ext. 548.

EARN MONEY WHILE SLEEPING! Adult U.S. citizens, 18-40 years, less than 6' 1" tall, are needed for a research project. Subjects will sleep in a sleeping bag in a cold chamber for 4-5 consecutive nights (Sunday-Thursday) to evaluate comfort. Sign up as soon as possible at 64 Seaton hall. Earn up to $350.

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

610 Tour Package

630 Spring Break

650 Travel

670 Travel

610 Tour Package

630 Spring Break

650 Travel

670 Travel

Deadlines

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY

2 DAYS

3 DAYS

4 DAYS

5 DAYS

TO PLACE AN AD

HOW TO PAY

FREE FOUND ADS

CORRECTIONS

Deadlines

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY

2 DAYS

3 DAYS

4 DAYS

5 DAYS

TO PLACE AN AD

HOW TO PAY

FREE FOUND ADS

CORRECTIONS

"Stay In Class At The Commons"

Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

- Fully Furnished
- 2 & 4 Bedroom
- Alarm System
- Swimming Pool
- Washer/Dryer
- Computer Lab
- Fitness Center
- Permit Parking
- Tennis/Volleyball Courts
- Individual Leases

Office Hours: M-F 9-5

539-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS

APARTMENTS

2215 COLLEGE AVE

110 For Rent - Apt. Unfurnished

ONE-BEDROOM ACROSS the street from campus. No pets. Call John at (785)313-7473.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, $300/ month. Available January, 928 Leavenworth. A very cute apartment. Absolutely No Smoking. Call Stan (785)537-7681

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for four-bedroom, two bathroom apartment for next semester. Rent $240/ month. Call Emily at (913)908-5435.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment. $265 rent plus utilities. Call Lisa (913)593-3310.

INDIVIDUAL DSL/CABLE access. Newly remodeled house, five minute walk to campus, off-street parking. $240 monthly. call (785)776-3454 or (785)317-2456.

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9692 or (785)341-5105.

GET YOUR AD HERE.

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Package

DEATH | Biochemistry professor, department head dies on Thursday

Continued from Page 1

concern for his students," Muthukrishnan said.

"He always devoted tremendous energy to his students."

Thomas Roche, professor of biochemistry, said Hedgcock had an outstanding record in teaching for many years.

"He was one of the very best instructors," he said. "He'll be especially remembered for his patience with training students."

Muthukrishnan said he devoted an enormous amount of time to departmental matters.

"He really brought a lot of focus to the department right from the days when he started," Muthukrishnan said.

"It's rare to maintain that kind of research and commitment."

Memorial services are planned for 7 p.m. Wednesday at All Faiths Chapel.

LUNA | Hispanic American adjusting well to college in states

Continued from Page 1

But it wasn't a shock to her.

"I was determined to get what I wanted," she said.

Now, as the only female first-generation college student in her family, Luna said she has had to prove herself.

"My parents support me, but they think I'm crazy," she said. "I just have to work hard even though they're in shock."

Luna visited K-State while she was in high school to attend Youth Empowerment Day, sponsored by the Hispanic American Leadership Organization.

"It was exciting getting to see people who look like you," she said. "Everyone was so friendly. I felt comfortable."

Luna, junior in biochemistry, now serves as public relations chair of the HALO that sponsors a month of events aiming to celebrate Latino heritage and culture. The month of events continue through Oct. 16, and the theme of the events is "Hispanic American: Strength in unity, faith and diversity."

HALO helps to make K-State more aware of the Latino culture, Luna said. The group is vital because it also helps to unify the diverse members of the organization.

"We're so diverse as a culture," she said. "Not only are there Mexicans, but there are also Colombians, Guatemalans, Venezuelans. We're from all over. It seems like we're a melting pot."

After serving as HALO president as a sophomore, Luna said she rediscovered her culture after interacting with the members. She said she wants Hispanic and Latino students to realize the opportunities available at K-State.

"We try to let other Latinos know they can make it," Luna said. "There are work opportunities, scholarships and work-study. It's not easy to make it through college, but it's important to be an example that it can be done. An education is important."

"You can't do anything without an education."

Doug Benson, associate professor of Spanish and co-faculty adviser to HALO, said the organization provides students with information about Latinos in the United States and Kansas. He said it also offers cultural strategies that enable students to see and hear Latino interaction and culture. He said the final activity is the "Gran Baile" (a dance) in which all students are invited to attend on Oct. 18.

"We hope students and faculty can take time to celebrate at the 'Gran Baile.' The Latino population is more and more visible," Benson said. "It's growing quickly on campus and in Kansas, especially western Kansas."

Benson said the events help reenergize the group and focus its efforts to make campus more aware of changing demographics. He said the group invited speakers to discuss the increasing success of Latinos in higher education, which includes higher college graduation rates, and more Latinos continuing to complete graduate work.

"It helps all students," Benson said. "We want all students to be multiculturally aware. That's what employers say they want. We're trying to make this a possibility."

Naureen Kazi, sophomore in biology and pre-optometry and HALO public relations co-chair, said HALO provides a home for Latinos that offers opportunities in leadership. She said being a part of the group has helped her grow.

"Being a minority can be an uncomfortable environment to be in," Kazi said. "HALO helps you to come to grips with that. It's a support system."

Kazi, who is from Mexico City, but is Pakistani, said the members welcomed her as a part of a family.

"It's where I felt at home even though I'm not of Hispanic background," she said. "We have members who aren't Hispanic, but do a lot for us in leadership positions."

Luna said she believes that in the future, the United States will be composed of minorities, without an ethnic majority group. She said she doesn't believe the world should be divided into different races.

"We should all be Americans while celebrating our culture," she said. "Everyone will be part of a minority eventually, and hopefully this will help end discrimination."

Some of the events during Hispanic Heritage month celebrate diversity through food, dancing and other aspects of Latino culture, Luna said.

"We have so many cultures to experience and to take advantage of," she said. "We create differences and divisions by saying 'white, black and Hispanic.' There's so much to learn, there isn't enough time to share everything."

VISUALIZING

Bret Christiansen, sophomore in graphic design, works on an assignment for Drawing II class. Christiansen was drawing in the Quinlan Natural Area.

Lindsey Bauman | COLLEGIAN

WEST NILE | Officials confirm 4 human cases in 3 Kansas counties

Continued from Page 1

but Assistant Administrator Susanne Kufahl said people still need to take precautions.

"People need to remain vigilant about the possibility about getting bit by mosquitoes, that luckily is decreasing as we get closer to fall," Kufahl said. "People still need to be careful. It wasn't a surprise that it would come to people."

"We don't need to be panicky, because it will be a mild thing in most people."

But despite cooler temperatures, Watson said more cases of West Nile are expected next spring and summer.

"Once we get our first freeze, that will cut down on the population of mosquitoes," she said. "The ones that do survive the winter will possibly come in contact with birds in the spring. There is still a good possibility of continuing to see West Nile in Kansas and a possibility of human cases."

West Nile symptoms

- Fever
- Headache
- Muscle aches
- Sore throat
- Diarrhea

As symptoms progress, it might be harder to stay awake, speak or walk.

The virus is more serious for the immune-deficient, including people with HIV or AIDS, organ transplant patients, alcoholics and patients taking high-dose corticosteroids.

Source: Karen Fagin, infectious disease physician

People can lower their risk of being infected by avoiding the outdoors at dawn and dusk, when mosquitoes are most active, Watson said. People also should wear long sleeves and pants, and wear insect repellent with DEET.

OUT-OF-STATE | Higher tuition frustrating out-of-state students

Continued from Page 1

Ness County, Kan. Since the Leikers own land in Kansas, they are paying Kansas property taxes, Leiker said.

Christy Crenshaw, associate director of admissions, said owning property in a state doesn't establish residency.

"Somebody could own property in every state," she said.

Leiker said he realizes he can't get in-state tuition but didn't think it was fair he couldn't get some kind of a decrease in tuition because he has some tax money going to the state of Kansas.

"All state colleges have to abide by the Kansas Residency Law and we don't get to adjust it," Crenshaw said. "The law is based on that living in Kansas is essential."

Janell Copp, senior in marketing, grew up in Maryland but pays in-state tuition after establishing residency. However, she said her primary reason was not for education.

Following high school, she moved in with her grandparents in Auburn, Kan.

After moving, she worked for a year in to make her residency official. Copp said her move has been worth it.

"I learned a lot about what I want to do," she said. "Having to work to come to K-State has made me appreciate it."

According to the Kansas Residency Law, the initial residency classification is determined from information provided when students apply for admission. It is a student's responsibility to provide additional information that may be required to make an accurate residency determination.

In-state requirements

The general requirements for students to receive in-state tuition are the following: The student:

- cannot be claimed as a dependent in another state
- must reside in Kansas a year before starting college
- must establish ties with Kansas such as full-time employment in Kansas, filing Kansas resident taxes, registering to vote in Kansas, obtaining a driver's license and registering the student's vehicle

■ persons seeking to establish Kansas residency must demonstrate that education was not the primary purpose of coming to Kansas and may not be a college student in the 12 months prior to the academic term for which residency is requested.

For more information on in-state tuition, contact the K-State admissions office at (785) 532-6250.

Source: www.ksu.edu/admit

Larry Moeder, director of admissions, said the in-state tuition guidelines were set in place by state legislators a long time ago.

He said while he doesn't know the history of the law, he would guess it has to do with the fact that there is state taxpayer support going toward the universities.

Moeder said he views in-state tuition as a break in payment and said students who haven't paid Kansas state taxes shouldn't get the break.

dependable, quality
✓ copy service
Claflin Books and Copies

FAST SCASHES EARN $50 THIS WEEK!

Donate your life-saving blood plasma and help people in your community.

Call or stop by:
ZLB Plasma Services
formerly Nabi Biomedical Center
1130 Gardenway
785-776-9177
No appointment needed.
Fees & donation
time may vary. www.zlb.com

GAME GUY
Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent
Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games
Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5
(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA

Collegian
Explore it!
ksustatecollegian.com

Pilates Tue. @ 7:40, Yoga Thu. @ 7:40
Turbokick M, W @ 7:40
Try any class for only $2.
At Pro Fitness in Aggieville
We want your body...and so will everyone else! 1125 Laramie 539-7095

January 2003 Intercession
Look
for the
January Intercession
Course Listing in the
October 15th Collegian
Also Available Online at:
www.dce.ksu.edu/dce/intercession
Division of Continuing Education
DCE KSTATE
Kansas State University

Wild Weekend
appearing live
Friday & Saturday
Shootin' Blanks
food & drink specials
RC McGraws
MANHATTAN'S OLDEST
COUNTRY, SPORTS BAR NIGHT CLUB
776-9588 • 2317 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

DAVID D. COLE
Professor at Georgetown University Law Center
Enemy Aliens: September 11, the Rights of Immigrants, and the Rights of Us All

Tuesday,
October 15, 2002
7:00 p.m.
Forum Hall
KSU Student Union
Free and Open to the Public
Sponsored by the Dorothy L. Thompson
Civil Rights Lecture Series

Game 6: #19 K-State vs. Oklahoma State
Kickoff: 1:10 p.m. Saturday
KSU Stadium (50,000)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN GAMEDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Friday, October 11, 2002

GAMEDAY NOTES

Football tickets — Tickets are available for Saturday's home game against the Cowboys. Fans can call the K-State ticket office toll free at (800) 221-CATS.

Radio — Fans can tune into KMKF-FM 101.5 or KMAN-AM 1350 for pre-game, game and post-game coverage of the Cats' game against Oklahoma State. Mid America Sports Network will be the official network carrier for K-State Athletics. The network covers 25 affiliates throughout the state of Kansas. Wyatt Thompson will be the 'Voice of the Wildcats' for 2002, with former Wildcat quarterback Stan Weber on color and Chris Allison on the sideline. Steven Weber is the producer of the Mid America Sports Network.

Television — There will be no live television for the game.

Storyline — K-State opens a three-week stretch against teams from the Big 12 South Division when Oklahoma comes to Manhattan tomorrow — Texas follows the Cowboys into KSU Stadium next week and K-State travels to Baylor on Oct. 26.

The Oklahoma State game is the fifth of a school-record eight home games on the 2002 Wildcat schedule. The Cats are home for six of the first seven games on the schedule.

The Wildcats lost their conference opener last week at Colorado, 35-31, and will seek to rebound against the Cowboys.

K-State is trying to avoid back-to-back losses for the first time since last season, when a four-game losing streak sent the Cats spiraling toward a 6-6 record.

Since 1993, though, K-State has suffered back-to-back defeats only in 1998 (vs. Texas A&M in the Big 12 Conference Championship and vs. Purdue in the Alamo Bowl) and last year (four-game streak).

The Wildcats slipped from 16th to 23rd in this week's ESPN/USA Today coaches poll, and fell six spots, from 13th to 19th, in the Associated Press poll.

The Cats come into the Oklahoma State game in a tie for third place in the Big 12 North Division, trailing Iowa State by 1.5 games and second-place Colorado by a full game.

K-State is looking to avoid an 0-2 start to conference play for the second straight year. The Wildcats opened the 2001 Big 12 schedule with an 0-4 mark. Prior to last season, the last time the Cats opened conference play with a pair of losses was in 1992.

Series — Saturday's game will be the 53rd meeting between K-State and Oklahoma State on the football field. Most of those occurred while the schools battled annually in the Big 8 Conference.

Despite an eight-game winning streak in the series by the Wildcats, the Cowboys still lead the all-time series 32-20. That edge was built by an 11-game streak by Oklahoma State from 1947 to 1962 and a 16-2 advantage owned by the Cowboys from 1972 through 1989.

Oklahoma State's 17-13 win in Stillwater on Oct. 14, 1989 was the Cowboy's most recent between the two teams. K-State won at home, 23-17, in 1990 and has won each meeting since.

In games played in Manhattan, K-State is 12-16 against Oklahoma State, despite having won the last four. The most recent game between the Wildcats and Cowboys at KSU Stadium was a 52-20 Wildcat win on Oct. 17, 1998.

The last time Oklahoma State won in Manhattan was a 45-27 victory on Oct. 29, 1988.

— K-State Sports Information

A TIME TO & REBOUND

Loss in conference opener will test new crop of Cats

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Somewhere lingering above KSU Stadium, the Cats season is hanging in the balance.

After a hot start to the 2002 campaign — like last year — the Cats dropped their conference opener — like last year.

But a different season and a different group of players give this year's team hope that a loss to Colorado won't turn into four like it did in 2001, quarterback Eli Roberson said.

"It will be a test for all of us in the simple fact that we had a loss and then went 6-6 last year," Roberson said. "We had a crucial loss to Oklahoma and then we came back and just threw it in the tank. So we try to learn from that and play Wildcat football this weekend, and try to get past these things."

One specific component of the Cat team looking for redemption is the defense.

Allowing a shade under 500 yards of total offense to the Buffaloes, the defense is ready to hit someone and make a statement against Oklahoma State, defensive end Andrew Shull said.

"We're not a happy group right now, I can tell you that," Shull said. "We're not happy about the way things went this weekend. We're just looking forward to hitting again."

Linebacker Josh Buhl said it was embarrassing last weekend walking off the field, knowing the defense had given too many big plays to the Colorado offense.

But bouncing back is what the defense and the rest of the team are about, he said. They're confident that kind of performance won't happen again.

"That was a disgusting look for us last week," Buhl said. "We know we are better than that and the pride of our defense is what's going to say, 'Hey, we can do this, we're still the Lynch Mob.' That's what's going to get us through — the pride."

But Oklahoma State has some pride on their team as well — pride that was given a definite boost last weekend.

The Cowboys come off a narrow 17-15 loss to No. 3 Texas, something that proves to offensive coordinator Ron Hudson that Oklahoma State, especially on defense, will come into Manhattan ready to play.

"They man-handled Texas," Hudson said. "When I say man-handled, they did a great job of doing what they wanted to do. They were all over (quarterback Chris) Simms. For some reason, those guys became men and matured to the point where they know they can go in anywhere and have a chance to win."

That will to win also overlaps to the Cowboy offense as well, where they are led by quarterback Josh Fields.

Fields has passed at a 56-percent clip so far this season, with 10 touchdowns.

Coach Bill Snyder said Fields' abilities are obvious when looking at tape.

"He's not frightened to put the ball into what other-

See BOUNCING BACK Page 5

Cats to get back on track this weekend

Cowboys will see K-State's best effort at Wagner Field; win streak is safe

Ah, the old Big 8. Saturday marks the renewal of an old Big 8 series — K-State, O-State.

Two land-grant, state schools — situated on the plains of the Midwest in towns off interstate highways. Both have in-state rivals right down the road from each other.

Stillwater has Eskimo Joe's, Manhattan has Rusty's Last Chance.

Among all these similarities lies a major difference — lasting success in football.

Since 1988, when Barry Sanders left for the NFL after his Heisman trophy junior season, Oklahoma State has not won in Manhattan. In fact, K-State has won eight straight over the Cowboys.

CHRIS SHANK

The closest OSU has come to beating the Cats in the last 14 years was back in 1993, when Chad May rallied K-State past the Cowboys with an 80-yard drive with no timeouts and 58 seconds left on the clock.

It was one of the most exciting finishes for me in all my years following the Cats.

This week, the Wildcats open their conference home season, and I'll give you some reasons why I think K-State will pick up victory over OSU.

Field day

Starting quarterback sophomore Josh Fields gave this take on K-State earlier this week:

"Texas had great athletes and speed. I don't think Kansas State has near the athletes of Texas."

Look for the defense to prove otherwise on Saturday. Fields never has faced the K-State defense before, so Saturday he will get to experience the acclaimed lynch mob

For Fields, who has -36 rushing yards this year, things don't bode well for him. QB's that are not a threat running the football allow K-State to concentrate on the receivers and the running backs

Bringin' da noise

On Saturday, every purple-blooded Wildcat has the same obligation they have each week: to make Wagner Field rockin'.

Last week, OSU was rattled

See TALKING SMACK Page 6

Confident OSU enters upset-minded

Series history not significant; Cowboys will be ready to play Saturday

It is safe to say the Oklahoma State Cowboys were rooting for the purple-and-white to prevail over Colorado last week. For selfish reasons, of course.

First of all, the Cats are good, to say the least. Secondly, no one wants to face off against an animal with the word "wild" in its name, especially when said animal is facing a two-game losing streak.

Maybe it should also be mentioned that OSU has come up short in the past eight meetings with K-State. This could be off base, but common sense says that isn't such a great statistic in the eyes of the Cowboy faithful.

However, the two teams are almost polar opposites of what they were one year ago. And, it isn't for shame — it is for the better of both schools.

BRANDI BALL

But forget last year. Forget

1998 — the last time the two schools squared off on the gridiron — when the now-seniors were then-freshmen. Forget that it was a 52-20 Wildcat rout. Forget Jonathan Beasley and Bob Simmons.

This is the time it counts.

College football is all about the here and now. It's about the Louisvilles beating the Florida States. It is about the Brad Smiths and the Mizzous making the Nate Hybels and the Oklahomas tremble. It's about kids named Shockey, starting in a wee small Oklahoma college, stopping off at Miami for a ring and ending up in New York on Sundays.

It is about face-painting, tailgating and goal-post raiding.

It is about the Cowboys, who can taste an eight-year drought coming to an end.

It is about the Wildcats, who can spit in the face of their critics with each win.

It is about living dreams and coming to terms with reality.

We could talk all day about how the OSU defense curtailed the Texas offense last week, or why the Cats beat Southern Cal and not the "Ochs-less" Colorado.

There could be a round-table discussion comparing Cowboy wide receiver

See COWBOYS Page 6

K-STATE
WILDCATS

PASSING	CMP-ATT-INT	YDS	TD
Roberson, Eli	21 38 1	352	1
Dunn, Marc	18 28 0	303	5

RUSHING	ATT	YDS	AVG	TD
Sproles, Darren	73	469	6.4	6
Roberson, Eli	57	340	6.0	3
Davis, Daniel	24	166	6.9	1
Morris, Danny	17	83	4.9	2
Schwinn, Jeff	11	54	4.9	1

RECEIVING	REC	YDS	AVG	TD
Wallace, Taco	15	298	19.9	2
Evans, Derrick	8	132	16.5	0
Terry, James	7	115	16.4	3

DEFENSE	TAK	SAK	INT
Buhl, Josh	60	0	0
Pierce, Terry	44	2	0
Washington, Rashad	34	0	1
Reese, Tank	25	1.5	0
Jordan, Randy	24	0	1
Hickman, Bryan	24	1	0
Newman, Terence	22	0	2
White, Corey	21	1	0
Shull, Andrew	18	2	0
Bryant, Henry	17	0	0

TEAM STATS	KSU	OPP
SCORING	237	71
Per game	47.4	14.2

FIRST DOWNS
Rushing	59	27
Passing	30	34
Penalty	10	8

RUSHING YARDAGE
Avg. per rush	5.3	3.1
Avg. per game	247.2	112.8
TDs rushing	19	4

PASSING YARDAGE
Comp-Att-Int	46-78-1	73-151-6
Avg. per comp	16.5	11.8
TDs passing	7	5

TOTAL OFFENSE
Total Plays	310	335
Avg. per play	6.4	4.3
Avg. per game	398.8	285.2

INT RETURNS-YDS
	6-159	1-0

FUMBLES-LOST
	19-8	9-3

PENALTIES-YDS
	29-238	41-298
Avg. per game	47.6	59.6

PUNTS-YDS
	18-789	43-1620
Avg. per punt	43.8	37.7
Net punt avg.	41.3	29.7

TIME OF POSSESSION
	28:21	31:39

3RD DOWN CONVER.
	23/56	25/82

3rd-Down %
	41	30

4TH DOWN CONVER.
	5/7	3/8

4th-Down %
	71	38

SACKS BY-YDS
	8-70	7-61

TDs SCORED
	32	10

FIELD GOALS-ATT
	4-6	1-3

PAT KICKS-ATT
	27-30	8-9

ATTENDANCE AVG
	45966	52584

DEPTH CHART

Offense

- 8 — Taco Wallace, wide receiver
65 — Thomas Barnett, left tackle
53 — Nick Leckey, left guard
78 — Steve Washington, center
60 — Mike Johnson, right guard
75 — Dralinn Burks, right tackle
88 — Thomas Hill, tight end
82 — James Terry, wide receiver
3 — Eli Roberson, quarterback
44 — Travis Wilson, fullback
43 — Darren Sproles, running back
- 9 — Darrent Williams, cornerback
91 — Antonio Smith, defensive end
89 — LaWaylon Brown, nose guard
58 — Kevin Williams, defensive tackle
45 — Greg Richmond, defensive end
4 — Kobina Amoo, cornerback
30 — Terrence Robinson, linebacker
12 — Paul Duren, linebacker
8 — Chris Massey, safety
3 — Elbert Craig, safety
31 — Kirk Milligan, strong safety

Collegian Insight

For as much yardage as Oklahoma State puts on the board offensively, its defense gives up nearly as much to opposing teams. The Cowboy defense has surrendered an average of 375 yards of total offense per game so far this season.

Defense

- 98 — Andrew Shull, left end
30 — Tank Reese, defensive tackle
62 — Corey White, nose tackle
97 — Melvin Williams, right end
4 — Terence Newman, cornerback
9 — Randy Jordan, cornerback
18 — Bryan Hickman, linebacker
56 — Terry Pierce, linebacker
7 — Josh Buhl, linebacker
1 — Bobby Walker, free safety
2 — Rashad Washington, strong safety
- 82 — Rashaun Woods, wide receiver
65 — Kyle Eaton, left tackle
66 — Corey Curtis, left guard
56 — Ben Buie, center
76 — Sam Mayes, right guard
52 — Jason Russell, right tackle
88 — Willie Young, wide receiver
17 — Terrence Davis-Bryant, wide receiver
13 — Josh Fields, quarterback
40 — Tim Burrough, fullback
7 — Tatum Bell, tailback

Collegian Insight

Bobby Walker's start at free safety will depend on his health. Coach Bill Snyder said. If he is not healthy, either James McGill or Jesse Tetuan will get the start against a OSU offense that features a pocket QB in Josh Fields.

Collegian pigskin picks

	Sean Purcell (12-8)	Ben Fehr (13-7)	Joel Reichenberger (11-9)	Chris Shank (12-8)
Oklahoma State (2-3) at	K-State	K-State	K-State	K-State
#19 K-State (4-1)	44-24	28-14	45-17	44-10
#9 Tennessee (4-1) at	Georgia	Georgia	Tennessee	Georgia
#6 Georgia (5-0)	24-14	34-32	35-17	27-25
#7 Oregon (5-0) at	Oregon	Oregon	Oregon	Oregon
#25 UCLA (4-1)	35-27	28-21	21-20	28-21
#12 Florida State (5-1) at	Florida State	Miami	Miami	Miami
#1 Miami (5-0)	21-18	34-14	54-6	28-27
#2 Texas (5-0) vs.	Texas	Texas	Texas	Oklahoma
#3 Oklahoma (5-0)	30-24	28-10	21-3	13-10

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State 101, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, K-State 101, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

OKLAHOMA STATE
COWBOYS

PASSING	CMP-ATT-INT	YDS	TD
Fields, Josh	92 164 6	1083	10

RUSHING	ATT	YDS	AVG	TD
Shaw, Seymour	58	363	6.3	4
Morency, Yerrand	49	256	5.2	3
Bell, Tatum	18	105	5.8	2
Burrough, Tim	16	26	1.6	0
Denard, Mike	6	14	2.3	1

RECEIVING	REC	YDS	AVG	TD
Woods, Rashaun	38	599	15.8	5
Davis-Bryant, Terrence	16	147	9.2	0
Lewis, John	12	210	17.5	2
Burrough, Tim	8	46	6.1	0
Bejema, Billy	4	26	11.6	1
Lindsay, Gabe	4	24	6.5	0
Young, Willie	4	22	6.0	1

DEFENSE	TAK	SAK	INT
Massey, Chris	34	0	0
Robinson, Terrence	27	0	0
Craig, Elbert	27	0	2
Williams, Kevin	24	0	0
Duren, Paul	23	0	0

TEAM STATS	OSU	OPP
SCORING	172	120
Per game	34.4	24.0

FIRST DOWNS
Rushing	105	99
Passing	39	33
Penalty	54	58
	12	8

RUSHING YARDAGE
Avg. per rush	704	628
Avg. per game	4.1	3.3
TDs rushing	140.8	125.6
	11	7

PASSING YARDAGE
Comp-Att-Int	1251	1247
Avg. per comp	103-191-9	107-207-7
TDs passing	12.1	11.7
	11	7

TOTAL OFFENSE
Total Plays	1955	1875
Avg. per play	361	396
Avg. per game	5.4	4.7
	391.0	375.0

INT RETURNS-YDS
	7-59	9-119

FUMBLES-LOST
	2-1	7-3

PENALTIES-YDS
	45-357	36-353
Avg. per game	71.4	70.6

PUNTS-YDS
	30-1247	36-1449
Avg. per punt	41.6	40.2
Net punt avg.	34.3	32.4

TIME OF POSSESSION
	27:16	32:44

3RD DOWN CONVER.
	24/74	24/83

3rd-Down %
	32	29

4TH DOWN CONVER.
	5/9	7/8

4th-Down %
	56	88

SACKS BY-YDS
	7-62	6-57

TDs SCORED
	23	15

FIELD GOALS-ATT
	4-5	5-9

PAT KICKS-ATT
	20-21	11-12

ATTENDANCE AVG
	41432	83116

NEED A ROOMMATE or are you LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO LIVE?

advertise in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 101 K-State 7332-6555

Mid-America Office Supplies
K-State Wildcat Bean Bags
(other Big 12 available)
328 Poyntz (Downloop) 532-8882

Wohler's Used Furniture
Visit Wohler's for used
Furniture, Antiques, Appliances and miscellaneous
items for all needs.
615 N. 3rd St.
10-6 Mon.-Fri. 10-5 Sat.
539-3319 Closed on Sun.

Hand GUMBY'S Fast
Tossed Pizza Free
P1228 ordergumbys.com
Delivery
Best Prices in Town!
770-3333
GO CATS!
702 N. 11TH ST.
Thurs.-Sat.
11 a.m.-3:30 a.m.
Sun.
11 a.m.-2 a.m.
Mon.-Wed.
11 a.m.-2:30 a.m.

BUNAM
Restaurant and Mongolian BBQ
1304 Westloop 539-8888

Lunch Buffet
All you can eat!
$4.95
Mon.-Thurs. Sat.

Friday Seafood Buffet
$7.95
Crabs legs, scallops, fish, shrimp, etc.

Dinner Buffet
$6.95 All you can eat!

$1.00 OFF BUFFET WITH THIS COUPON
FREE DELIVERY 539-8888
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

Go, Cats! Show us your Wild Side ON THE WILD SIDE
COOL STUFF TO DECORATE YOUR PAD!
• Subway Posters • Incentive • Door Bells • Candles & holders
• T-Shirts • Clothing • Jewelry • Gunkie Sandals
• Disc Golf • Hockey Socks • Beads • Much More...
1128 Moro • Agdeville • 776-2252

HONDA TOYOTA
Little Apple Toyota /Honda
785-539-7441 Manhattan
785-238-8935 Junction City
OUTSIDE MANHATTAN DIAL 1-800-365-0017

Lee's Western Wear
Boots, Hats, Jeans, Belts, Shirts, and much more.
Now carrying Rockies jeans
8424 E. Hwy 24
21/2 miles East of Manhattan
(785) 776-6715
Mon.-Fri. 10-6, Sat. 10-5

Affordable Health Insurance For College Students
JOSH SALMANS
Agent
Town East Shopping Center
463 East Poyntz (By K-Mart)
Manhattan, KS 66502-5045
Off: (785) 776-8754
Fax: (785) 776-8841
STATE FARM INSURANCE COMPANIES
HOME OFFICES: BLOOMINGTON, ILLINOIS
"Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there"

Precision Automotive Inc.
537-5050
Westside Location
1120 Waters St.
Behind Car Quest West
Go Cats!
Complete Car & Truck Service & Repair Center
Domestic & Imported
VISA MasterCard DISCOVER
Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Little Caesars PARTY! PARTY! PACK
THREE PIZZAS, 14" LARGE
WITH 1 TOPPING
2 CRAZY BREAD
$21.99
CARRY OUT PLUS TAX
DELIVERY CHARGE MAY APPLY
Valid only at participating locations
©2002 L.C.E., Inc.
GO CATS!
MANHATTAN (Westloop Center) 539-3333

OPEN HOUSE THE PLASTIC SURGERY CLINIC
Friday, November 1st • 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.
DR. KENNETH FISCHER, M.D.
Board Certified, The American Board of Plastic Surgery
Botox • MicroDermabrasion • Skin Care
Chemical Peels
1133 College Ave, Building A, Suite 211 • 776-7500

NECESSARY CORRECTIONS

Secondary aims to regain form after allowing big plays in Boulder

By Ben Fehr
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Look at Saturday's 35-31 stumble against Colorado and one of the Buffaloes' offensive totals jumps out.

A staggering 289 yards passing.

Of that total, 165 came by way of two touchdown passes — first- and second-quarter scores Coach Bill Snyder said might have been misleading about the way his defense, particularly the secondary, played.

"We weren't real good for a segment of the game," Snyder said, "but in all fairness to our defense, you take four plays, and that's 291 yards of offense. That's major."

"That's more than we usually give up in 65 to 70 snaps. And we were not very good on those four snaps. The rest of the time the offense averages about 3.5 yards per play."

However, Snyder said, giving up long plays doesn't usually produce a victory.

"Yes, we were bad at times," Snyder said. "But a substantial amount of the time we weren't. A substantial amount of the time we were pretty decent. But you just can't afford to have those kinds of breakdowns."

He said the problem has nothing to do with the Cats' approach before a play begins.

"It doesn't have anything to do with the schemes," Snyder said. "It's understanding what your responsibilities and your assignments are and staying focused on what you need to do and how you need to react when the ball is snapped."

Two more of Colorado's five touchdowns were set up by long pass plays as well.

Buffalo quarterback Robert Hodge hit Derek McCoy for 41 yards to set up a one-yard touchdown to open scoring.

Later, in the third quarter, Hodge again hooked up with

Matt Stamey | COLLEGIAN

Defensive back Randy Jordan makes a tackle against a Louisiana-Monroe receiver during the Wildcats' 68-0 win September 7. K-State's secondary has combined for 29 pass breakups and six interceptions.

McCoy for a 29-yard toss.

Senior Terence Newman said he and his fellow defensive backs accept the blame for Saturday's defensive breakdowns.

"We felt we let the offense down on defense with those big plays," Newman said. "But we have to correct our mistakes and go back at it this Saturday."

Defensive coordinator Bob Elliott said the need to get better in the secondary is evident.

"You play 70 plays of defense and three or four of them are bad and that overshadows everything else," Elliott said. "And there were good snaps out there, too, but what goes with the territory is big plays."

"And when you give up big plays, that's not acceptable."

But Elliott said the corrections needing to be made are well within the capabilities of his defensive backs.

"There is one thing I want to remember," he said. "And that everybody needs to remember, is that, in four games prior to Saturday, they played pretty darn good."

Newman said regaining the status of an outstanding secondary is going to take focus.

"We have a lot of people who need to step up and pay attention to what they're doing," he said. "We have people who need to become men."

K-State's successful running game hindering talented trio of athletic Wildcat tight ends

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State has been known to produce big, physical tight ends that have good hands.

Justin Swift was the Cats' big man in the late 1990s.

In 2000, it was Shad Meier.

Now, K-State has a trio of capable tight ends in Thomas Hill, Travon Magee and Brian Lamone that all have the ability to produce, especially in the red zone, Hill said.

"I watch other teams, and they utilize their tight ends down in there, and it's a big thing," he said. "A lot of teams really don't pay attention to it. They're looking at the big-play receivers or the tailbacks coming out of the backfield."

"They tend to sleep on the tight ends, and I run pretty decent. I run real good routes, so hopefully the coaches will see that and get the ball to me more."

Hill has six catches this season, averaging 15.2 yards per reception.

The sophomore's only touchdown came when the Cats were in the red zone.

Offensive coordinator Ron Hudson said he has been pleased with what the ends have done so far this year. The reason they don't get the ball, however, is because the running game has been effective and the go-to receivers have been making plays.

"We're pleased with what they are doing at this point," Hudson said. "We didn't get the ball to the tight end as much as we wanted to this last game, but that's because we didn't throw it that much."

The Cats managed just five completions in the loss to Colorado.

Coach Bill Snyder said the offense could get better in all aspects, but the passing game might be a little more efficient

Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

Thomas Hill catches a 32-yard pass from Eli Roberson in K-State's loss to Colorado Saturday. Hill has six catches and one touchdown on the year.

than it seems.

"We're five out of 13 and yet there are about three drops and one called back — I really thought Eli (Roberson) was pretty accurate," Snyder said. "He was more accurate than five out of 13 would indicate."

But K-State couldn't get it done in the red zone.

Roberson said the offense might be better off if he can get Hill, or whatever tight end is in, more attempts to catch the ball.

"We just have to get the ball to them more," Roberson said. "We've got three guys that can really catch the ball, and we aren't using them like they should be used."

"When it's their time to get the ball, they'll get it. And when it isn't, they won't."

Not getting tight ends the ball has to do with one thing, Hudson said — how well K-State is running the football.

And against Colorado, the Cats ran the ball effectively.

Roberson ran for 178 yards against the Buffs, and Darren Sproles performed well in a supporting role, tallying 121 yards.

"The bottom line is we were moving the ball running the ball," Hudson said. "If it ain't broke, don't fix it. When we had to throw, Eli put the ball right on the money to James Terry, and it just didn't work out. But they weren't stopping the run — they had everyone in the box, and they still weren't stopping it. We decided to keep the clock going, and try to win it in the fourth quarter. We just didn't execute when we needed to inside the 20."

Hill said his opportunities will come, and he will do the best he can to make the most of those few chances he gets.

Until then, he said he will continue to make blocks and run routes crisply so if Roberson sees him open, he can get it to him.

"Our receivers are big-time receivers, and our quarterback likes to look downtown," Hill said. "But I think they see the tight end comes open on a lot of different schemes. I haven't been out on that many pass routes, but the ones I have been out on, I've been pretty open."

NEED A ROOMMATE or are you LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO LIVE?

Do you need to turn electronics, jewelry, sporting goods, music, cameras, guns, DVDs, etc. into cash? We loan or buy any of these at the highest prices in town. We also offer payday loans.

CHEER ON THE CATS!

705 N. 11th • 501 A Fort Riley Blvd.
2 mi. east of Mall • 537-1803
*2 Topeka locations too!

Jandis Gifts & Ceramics

Free Lessons

Ceramics - Ready to Paint

Over 10,000 molds

Bisque ∞ Firing ∞ Repairing ∞ Supplies
Greenware on Order ∞ Finished Items

785-776-0840 800-645-0840

715 N. 12th, Manhattan

Going on our 9th year

Krystallos

Specializing in sterling silver jewelry clothing
and gifts

708 N. Manhattan Ave. • Aggieville

Appressed Art & Frame

GOT ART?

706 N. 11th St. • 539-6411

Southside
Auto Sales

'99 Ford Escort ZX2
4 cyl, 5 speed, 71k

$5,395

'91 Nissan 300ZX 2+2
V6, Auto, 96K

$6,895

'98 Chrysler Cirrus LXI
V6, loaded, 57K

$6,995

'93 Jeep Grand Cherokee
V6, Auto

$5,995

'94 Ford Explorer XLT
V6, Auto, Loaded

$3,495

'96 Mercury Cougar XR7
V8, auto, loaded

$4,995

'96 Mitsubishi Galant
4 door, auto, loaded

$3,995

'98 Pontiac Bonneville SE
4 dr, loaded

$3,995

'96 Chevy S10
EXT, 4.3 LL, V6, 5 speed

$4,995

'92 Olds Bravada
4x4, V6, auto

$3,995

'96 Nissan Sentra
61K, 4 cyl, Auto

$4,495

'03 Ford Explorer XLT
V6, Auto

$2,995

425 Yuma, Manhattan, KS
785-776-2170 800-837-2170

Live Large...

university
COMMONS
apartments

If it's time to move out, we've got the spot. It's called UNIVERSITY COMMONS and it's the place for hip people like you. Awesome, convenient, affordable and fully furnished apartments just for you!

- 2 & 4 Bedroom Apartment Homes • Individual Leases
- Decked-out Kitchens • Fully Furnished • Near KSU Stadium
- Computer Lab with Copier & Fax • Washers and Dryers in unit
- Tennis, Basketball & Volleyball Courts • Recreation Room
- Swimming Pool • Permit Parking • Exercise Room •
- Monitored Alarm Systems • Roommate matching • Balconies

the place for people like you...

2215 COLLEGE AVENUE / 785-539-0500

www.universitycommons.com

GO WILDCATS!
COME JOIN US AFTER THE GAME!

LIVE DJ BEAT OSU!

FRIDAY
$1 BURGERS $1 DRAWS $2 WELLS

LONGHORNS
BAR & GRILL

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Tetuan could be starter Saturday

By Ben Fehr
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

At Wichita State University, freshman defensive back Jesse Tetuan's older brother John faced some pressure situations.

John, a pitcher for the Shockers, won All-American honors and was the Missouri Valley Conference's pitcher of the year prior to being signed by the Colorado Rockies in the 2002 draft.

Last Saturday against the Colorado Buffaloes, however, it was Jesse's turn to face a pressure-packed situation.

Jesse said he and his brother talk often, and John's advice proved to be useful against the Buffaloes.

"John and I talk a couple of times a week," Tetuan said. "He tries to give me the confidence I need. He told me to relax, that I'd get my chance, and to be prepared to play. He's always been a really good influence on me."

Tetuan came into the game after Colorado had managed 28 points, mostly off deep passes, most notably by way of 71- and 94-yard touchdown strikes.

After Tetuan came in, Colorado managed just one score.

Tetuan was not solely responsible for K-State's second half defensive performance, but Coach Bill Snyder still had some good things to say about the freshman's effort.

"The good thing about Jesse is that he's a sharp young guy, and understands how to be where he's supposed to be when he's supposed to be there," Snyder said. "And that's 90 percent of the battle, really."

Senior Terence Newman said Tetuan's performance on Saturday might have landed the freshman a starting role — depending on the effort Tetuan is willing to expend to claim such a position.

"Jesse really played well last week," Newman said. "He was second string for a while and then got moved down to third string. He came in against Colorado and played his butt off and this week he might end up starting. It just depends on how he practices."

Defensive coordinator Bob Elliott said Tetuan's play was not only an asset on Saturday, but also an example of how a football player should prepare for opportunity.

"He played very well and I was really happy for Jesse," Elliott said. "Jesse is a great example to all the players in our program and otherwise. Here's a guy that was number three on the depth chart, got his chance, and played very well."

Tetuan said he's thankful for the opportunity to get some playing time, and he intends to make good on that chance.

"I'm glad I'm getting my chance," Tetuan said.

"From the beginning of the year, they let me know what my role was going to be and that I just needed to learn from all the guys and watch what they do and how they prepare for games."

"I've tried to emulate them and do what they do and now I've got to put it to use out on the field."

After battling for position in kicking game, Brown happy to be Wildcats' top choice

By Joel Reichenberger
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It has been a bumpy ride for senior punter Travis Brown.

He burst onto the scene in 1999, splitting place kicking duties with Jamie Rheem and punting duties with Mike Ronsick.

Then in 2000 the Overland Park, Kan. native overtook the majority of the punting duties, getting off 51 kicks and averaging 38.5 yards per punt.

But all was not well in the 2000 season.

The Cat punting team allowed numerous blocks, and the Wildcat nation was left uneasy.

In 2001, Brown again shared punting duties, with old foe Mike Ronsick and sophomore Jared Britte. Brown, though, was able to claim the highest average of the group at 43.4 yards per punt.

Now in the Cats' latest campaign, Brown is happy to have his job secured and has been turning in some of his best performances.

He said the pressure of always having someone competing with him could have negatively affected him.

"There was more pressure because I thought 'I could lose this job right now,'" Brown said. "And I did it too, against Colorado last year. I lost the job right there on that spot."

But the competition at punter, for the first time in years, isn't as heated.

Brown said he views that as a sign of confidence. He said he felt that the coaches were telling him they believed in him. That renewed faith has helped him improve his performances.

"The difference is, right now I go in and I say I have to get it done. I am the last stop. It turns out I have gained my self confidence that way," Brown said.

"They usually always came in with someone new. I talked to Coach Snyder before the season started, and I asked him if we were bringing anyone else in. That helps me think, 'They obviously think I can do it. They think I have those capabilities,' and it they gave me the chance to prove it."

Brown has done more than just change his mental outlook.

He has become a master of the pinning people deep in their own territory.

Against Colorado last Saturday, Brown had two punts that pinned the Buffaloes back inside their own 10 yard line.

One soared out of bounds and was marked at the seven, while the other landed on the left hash mark and bounced

See BROWN Page 5

K-STATE SUPER STORE
A Division of GTM Sportswear

KSU Tees $6.99

Shop at the #1 K-State Store IN THE WORLD!

We also carry GREEK gifts and clothing.
Puddles • Lavatories • Key Chains
License Plates • Window Decals
and tons more!

320 McCall Road
(Northeast of Wal-Mart)
Manhattan, KS
785-637-0844
Toll Free 1-877-537-1327

www.kstategear.com
Register online to win $100
in KSU merchandise!

Store Hours
M-F 8:30am - 7:00pm
Sat. 9:00am - 7:00pm
Sun. 12:00pm - 5:00pm

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

REPAIRING

- SHOES
- LUGGAGE
- BACK PACKS
- BOOTS
- PURSES
- LEATHER COATS
- BIRKENSTOCKS

8-5:30 Mon.-Fri. • 8-1 Sat.
216 South Fourth • Manhattan
776-1193

Satisfy all your smoking needs.

10% off Zippos and accessories with this ad.

Special orders available

Tobacco Alley

3037 Anderson
Village Plaza Shopping Center
(785) 770-3641

Southern Sun
Keep your tan glowing with us!

FREE

stand-up session with salon purchase of any kind. (exp. 10/31/02)

Wolff Tanning Beds • Systems Center • Top of the Line Bulbs • West Side Location • Open Year-Round with Convenient Hours • Serving Both Professional & Student Clients • Call us for our Monthly Specials 776-8060

3232 Kimball (next to Bobby T's)

SUN CONNECTION I & II

JOIN OUR SUN CLUB V.I.P. membership

- 1 Cyberdome Tan
- 1 Mega Tan
- 1 Super Tan
- 1 St-up Tan
- Tan Accelerator & Goggles

Receive 10% off year round!! $29.95

1125 Laramie 776-2426
1814 Claflin 537-0744

Dear KSU ...
Go Ahead, Celebrate
But,
Make Your Mother Proud

Minor in Possession

- Fine $200
- Court Costs $116

Transport Open Container

- Fine $200
- Restricted Driver's License

DUI

- Minimum Real Cost $1,000

Your friendly Riley County Attorney
William E. Kennedy III
Paid for by those who have been busted.

Visit THE K-STATE Student Union Bookstore

on gamedays

AND GET YOUR GAME DAY FUN PASS!

GOOD FOR FREE BOWLING OR BILLIARDS ALL DAY.

FREE SHUTTLE STARTING 2 HOURS BEFORE GAME TIME

GO CATS!

Your Game Day Fun Pass!

DISPLAY ADVERTISEMENT-NOT REDEEMABLE

Hot Dogs, Chips & Soft Drink ☐

Bowling (Union Recreation) ☐

Billiards (Union Recreation) ☐

RECEIVE FREE pizza

In the Courtyard
10 a.m. till noon
while supplies last

532-6583

8 a.m. - 8 p.m. Mon.-Sat.
11 a.m. - 7 p.m. Sun.

Saturday, October 12, 2002
K-State vs. Oklahoma State

BOUNCING BACK | Cats under pressure to win against OSU

Continued from Page 1

wise might be tight spots," Snyder said. "He understands the abilities of the wide receivers he has, and knows he can cast it up into the air and let those guys battle for it."

"Some guys would be fearful of doing that with the turnover possibilities. He just handles the offense well. What, 56 percent passing? That's pretty good. And that's not just laying the ball off here and there, that's casting the ball downfield and making some plays."

Helping Fields make those plays will be wide receiver Rashawn Woods.

Woods already has 38 receptions, netting nearly 600 yards.

Defensive back Terence Newman, likely to match up with Woods, said his talent may be comparable to Southern California's Kareem Kelly, but the style is completely different.

"Kareem Kelly tries to use speed more, and this guy tries to use finesse," Newman said. "He's a good shaker, he can shake guys at the line. He's a 6'2", so he can also go up and get the ball."

While Oklahoma State's passing attack seems to be the biggest weapon, Snyder said the running game can pose a threat as well.

The Cowboys are led by tailback Seymore Shaw, who averages 72.6 yards a game. Coupled with Tatum Bell, the duo make a formidable pair for the Cat front four, Snyder said.

"They can put Shaw on the perimeter and put Bell on the inside and they'll do that. So you have to defend the offense," Snyder said. "They're not going to bring him (Bell) in and just pitch it to him on the outside and see if they can't get him on the perimeter. That's what he can do, but he can run it inside as well. Just one is maybe a little better than the other than each of those two things."

Overall, the Cats will have to get better in order to beat Oklahoma State, Newman said.

OSU have had a knack for playing big opponents tough, he said. Just look at the Texas game this year and the win over Oklahoma late last season.

"What we do this week is going to be very important in what we do the rest of the season," he said. "We can't come out and lay an egg. We have to get back on track and do what we need to do to win."

Brite locked in as No. 1 kicker

By Joel Reichenberger
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

While the Eli Roberson versus Marc Dunn controversy continues to make headlines, it is not the only either/or debate that has spilled over from the 2001 season.

Stiff competition has again arisen at the place kicker position.

The season started with junior Jared Brite in charge of kickoff duties, while sophomore Joe Rheem booted the extra points and field goals.

But, in the first quarter against Southern California, Rheem let a 46 yard field goal drift low, and it was blocked by Trojan sophomore Shaun Cody.

Brite took over kicking duties for the remainder of the game and served at the Cats only kicker against Colorado. At this point, he is the starter, Coach Bill Snyder said.

"We've got them both in the either/or situation," Snyder said. "Jared, in all likelihood, would be the starter."

Still, Snyder said the position remains up for grabs. In the most recent depth charts, released Tuesday, the kickers are shown as sharing the first-team honors.

Snyder said he is hoping the air of competition can help improve both kickers.

"Joe is getting his issues worked out quite well and is hitting the ball quite well," Snyder said. "If he continues to do that, I want to keep him in the forefront of the competition."

The competition for the spot became intense after Brite suffered an injury and couldn't kick after the first game last season.

Even after returning to the field later in the season, Brite said he was never the same.

"At the beginning of the season, I was pretty confident," Brite said. "After my injury I lost my confidence and it took awhile to get it back."

In 2001, the Cats employed five different kickers. They combined to make only seven of 13, or 54 percent, of their field goal attempts, and 32 of 40, 80 percent, of the attempted extra points.

Rheem, then a true freshman, gave up his redshirt status and began kicking six games into the season. He held

Jeanel Drake | COLLEGIAN

K-State kicker Jared Brite attempts an extra point during Saturday's loss to Colorado. Brite has assumed all kicking duties for the Cats, edging Joe Rheem as K-State's No. 1 kicker.

onto the top spot for the rest of the campaign.

At the start of the 2002 season, Rheem appeared to have found his touch. He connected on two of his three field goal attempts, and 16 of 18 extra points.

Now, with the position up in the air again, Brite said both

See BRITE Page 6

BROWN | Kicker's confidence result of experience in Cat system

Continued from Page 4

sideways and out of bounds at the Colorado five.

Two balls inside the 10 for a total of four within the CU 20-yard line was more than enough to impress K-State Coach Bill Snyder.

"He hit the ball well when he was close in. He hit the ball out of bounds nicely, got the ball up in the air," he said. "I'm pleased with his effort."

Snyder said Brown's renewed confidence can be attributed to the years he has put into the Wildcat program. That experience, he said, has allowed him to open up the 2002 campaign successfully.

"He's had a nice year so far," Snyder said. "More experience being on the field, more fielding, more punts, more snaps, getting more opportunities to kick and having success - that all leads to greater confidence. The experience of it all is beneficial for him."

GOLDEN WOK BUFFET
All You Can Eat

Grill Table • Mongolian BBQ

Seafood Dinner Buffet Daily • Desserts • Large Salad Bar • Big Party Room

3003 Anderson Ave. (Behind ALCO) 587-9111

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

Coupon Good For $1.00 Off
Golden Wok Buffet
(1 Coupon Per Person)
or 10% off with a student ID

October Specials

$65 Foil Highlights
(add another color OR haircut $10)

Free
"Skinny Dip" with all nail services
($10 value)

$25 Full Set of Nails

Pick one for $30
Spa Pedicure Back Facial
One-hour Massage Preventive Facial

Pick two for $50

CRIMPERS
"Best Deal in the Ville"

Be sure to visit Crimpers Too in the K-State Union Lower Level.

717 N 11th St.
539-7621

meet me at DQ all you cheeseburger lovers!

2 Cheeseburgers for $2.00

OR

2 Double Cheeseburgers for $3.00

exp. 10/31/02

1015 S. 3rd St. • 3136 Anderson Avenue • Open Daily 11-11

KIRK J. ADAM -LIFE-HEALTH-DENTAL
Insurance Specialist

Short term medical insurance for people who are:
-Graduating from college
-Dependents coming off parent's health plan
-Leaving Military

Office: 785-776-7470
Home: 785-776-3843
MANHATTAN, KANSAS

Dr. Paul E. Bullock
Optometrist

$10 Off
Complete Eye Exam
with coupon

Save up to $20
on complete eyeglass or contact lens packages.

We fill outside prescriptions

Most contact lens fittings done same day. • Glasses also available same day in most prescriptions.

1441 Anderson Ave. • Anderson Village • 776-9461 • Toll Free 1-800-432-0036
Adjacent to KSU Expires 11/18/02

FLINT HILLS FESTIVAL OF WINES

Wine & Food Tasting with Large Silent Auction
1-5 PM, Sunday, October 13, 2002
Houston Street Ballroom
427 Houston Street, Downtown Manhattan

Presented by
STANDARD BEVERAGE CORPORATION
as a benefit for the
HOMECARE & HOSPICE FOUNDATION

250 Wines
Meet the Winemakers
Cooking-with-wine Demonstrations
Tickets: $40 ($45 at the door)

Create a party
Buy 6 tickets for the price of 5

For ticket information & credit card orders call:
785-537-0688

Attendees must be 21

www.FlintHillsWinefest.com

Ristorante Marco Polo
Family Owned & Operated

PASTA • SEAFOOD • HANDCUT STEAKS • PIZZA
• International & Daily Specials
• Broad Selection of Wine
• Full Bar
• Take-Out Available

Open Tuesday through Sunday
Lunch 11 a.m. - 2 p.m.
Dinner 5 p.m. - 9 p.m.
Friday & Saturday until 10 p.m.

Homemade Italian Cuisine
GO, CATS!
Relax in a quiet, intimate dining atmosphere.
Gift Certificates
Reservations Accepted
785-770-3999
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

We've got everything you need for a winning weekend...

Kansas State
T-shirts and Sweats
Pole and Car Flags
Powercat Yard Rocks
Glasses & Mugs
Stadium Blankets
Tailgating Supplies

Go Wildcats!
Beat the Cowboys!

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

704 N. MANHATTAN AVE. • IN AGGIEVILLE • 539-7654
MON-FRI 8:30-8:30 • SAT 8:30-5:30 • SUN 12:00-5:00

GET READY FOR BIG 12 FOOTBALL

Crown Royal SAVE 5
750 ml $19.98

Sauza Gold w/Free Mix SAVE 6
1.75 L $27.98

Natural SAVE 12
Suiteases $10.65

Enjoy the new, low carb light beer smooth enough to carry the Michelob name!

Michelob ULTRA SAVE 12
12 pack $11.99

October Pils SAVE 12
12 pack $8.98

Dekuyper Schnapps SAVE 12
750 Traveler $8.97

Southern Comfort SAVE 13
750 ml $10.98

Svedka Vodka SAVE 13
750 ml $10.98

THE LIBRARY
DISCOUNT LIQUOR

CORNER OF 12TH & LARAMIE
AGGIEVILLE
539-5269

PRICES GOOD WHILE SUPPLIES LAST

TALKING SMACK | Cowboys won't trip up Cats

Continued from Page 1

on the Big 12 road in Austin. The 'Pokes' offense was affected at times by the crowd noise with offside penalties.

Play caller Fields acknowledged this during the week when he said, "It is something that we are going to have to concentrate on this week because Manhattan is as loud or even louder."

With a young starter at QB, look for K-State's home field advantage to help out here.

Second(ary) chances

Last Saturday, was an uncharacteristic day for the defensive backs. K-State surrendered three touchdown passes, including the record longest pass by an opponent. Two of the long bombs were thrown at Bobby Walker, who looks like he is still feeling the effects of a pulled leg muscle injury in the Southern California game.

True freshman Jesse Tetuan or junior James McGill probably will start in the safety spot for Walker.

Senior co-captain Terence Newman will yet again have a worthy opponent — this time in the form of last year's Big 12 receiving yardage leader, Rashaun Woods.

This setup favors K-State since Newman can match right up against OSU's go-to guy. Look at the USC game when Newman held the Trojans' star Kareem Kelly to just three receptions.

On Saturday, Newman and the rest of the secondary should restore a good name to K-State's secondary.

Who's more special?

Yet again, special teams could be huge this weekend, which is always good news for the Cats.

Last week, a bad snap on an extra point in the third quarter cost the Cowboys a crucial PAT. That miss forced Okie State to go for two in the fourth quarter and cost them a chance at overtime.

Meanwhile, against Colorado, the Cat specialists racked up 114 return yards and held the Buffs skier/model/return man Jeremy Bloom to a mere 35 yards returning.

Cowboy Coach Les Miles said in this week's press luncheon that he had possessed the best special teams in the Big 12. Hopefully K-State can significantly decrease Miles' faith in his special teams. This week, don't be surprised if Newman or Darren Sproles take one back for six.

Trick or treat

No, I'm not referring to the black and orange uniforms of the Cowboys, but the play calling of Miles. After the loss to Texas, even a sportswriter with Oklahoma State's O'Collegian was disappointed with a quarterback throw-back pass in the first quarter at the Texas 10-yard line, which ended in an interception. If the Cowboys try any tricks this week, it might spell treat for the Cats.

On Saturday, the Wildcats face a team that thinks they can play with the best.

But this week, the boys return home and play before the purple masses for the first time in three weeks.

KSU Stadium will be a rocking for this old Big 8 reunion.

And one thing will be different about the two schools this week: K-State will continue its success against the Cowboys.

Chris is a senior in secondary education. You can e-mail him at chrishank@yahoo.com.

PICKING UP

Darren Sproles is picked up after scoring a touchdown against Colorado last week. K-State returns home to play Oklahoma State this Saturday at 1:10 p.m.

COWBOYS | Snyder convinced of OSU's potential

Continued from Page 1

Rashaun Woods to the corner-back of choice in Manhattan. Arguments could ensue regarding the mobility of Wildcat QB Eli Roberson versus the sophomore inexperience of Cowboy QB Josh Fields. We could play dueling fight songs, talk trash and quote old stats.

Reality is, folks, tomorrow is the only day that counts. This is the time of the season when records don't reflect abilities.

When the two teams take the field at 1:10 p.m. Saturday, they won't be worrying about 1998, when Beasley killed the Cowboys, or thinking about how an OSU win cost the Oklahoma Sooners a trip to the Big 12 Championship in 2001.

Coaches Bill Snyder and Les Miles aren't thinking back to the Insight.com and the on-lywonfourgames.com bowls.

The only thing that matters is the show that is put on during the 60 minutes of regulation play at KSU Stadium.

Both teams will have a lot at stake Saturday. The question is, which school will wind up 0-2 in the conference standings? The outcome won't be decided on which team has had the most SportsCenter highlights this season, but which teams will show up at game time.

K-State fans might fear a repeat of last year's 6-6 outcome, and they hope the return to dominance quickly returns to Manhattan. Those celebratory 11-win seasons aren't ever far from Snyder's reach.

OSU, however, still is waiting for its time in the sun. And — this just in — the chubby weatherman with plastic hair and bad jokes is reporting bright skies for Saturday's forecast.

The pistol chamber might have been shooting blanks during the past, but the Wildcats shouldn't underestimate a team of Cowboys in an afternoon stand-off.

All bets are off. The Vegas gurus could be wrong on this one.

Even Snyder himself is worried.

"If they had something we hadn't seen yet, I wouldn't know what it was," Snyder said. "What I'm concerned about is that they are a good football team. They are a tremendous pursuit team on defense...they have personnel that can play the game...wide receivers that are excellent...quarterback can throw accurately and aggressively...they protect him...their kicking game virtually in its entirety is pretty good...they've got the NCAA-leading kickoff returner back...punt returner that is a tremendous player."

For all its worth, Snyder seems pretty convinced.

Brandi Ball is the assistant sports editor at the Oklahoma State O'Collegian. You can e-mail her at bball@ocolly.com.

BRITE | Kicker earns way back into starting spot

Continued from Page 5

kickers are prepared to fight for it.

"We both want to play. We are both ready to play," Brite said. "Whenever coach calls our number, we're going to go in and do what we can for the team."

Brite said it takes focus and maturity to handle the up and downs that have plagued the kickers, and both he and Rheem were taking it all well.

"You have to be focused," Brite said. "You can't be nervous about it. If you go out there and have bad thoughts going through your head — 'Why is it my turn?' or 'Why isn't it my turn?' your focus isn't where it should be."

Brite said it has been his dedication and work ethic that has helped him overcome his prior troubles and earn back a starting spot in 2002.

"At the beginning of the season, I knew where I was on the depth chart, and I realized I wanted to play, so I did what I could," he said. "I worked my tail off to get there. I'm glad I finally got there. I did what I had to do to get the job."

Read it. Live it. Wear it.

Can't get enough Forum? Get your Forum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

Welcome Students to
Crum's Beauty College

Classes forming in November.
Call for an appointment.

Available:
Haircuts
Perms
Color
Highlights
Manicures
Facials
Artificial Nails
Chemical Hair Relaxers

512 Poyntz Ave. Manhattan • 776-4794

All services performed by students under the supervision of licensed instructors.

The BARN
At Kimble Cliff

Web Hosting & Design
IT Consulting

Interkan.Net

www.interkan.net
565-0991

"We sell memories"

ANTIQUES
& Collectibles

Open Fri. Sat. & Sun. 1-5:30 PM
Weekdays By Appointment
(785) 539-3816

6782 Anderson Ave.
Manhattan, KS 66503

Show Someone You Care
Downtown • 302 Poyntz • 539-6227

"Voted Best Florist"

Steve's Floral

"Simply the Best"

Toll Free
1-800-752-9105

Hours
Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-6 p.m.
Sat. 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

PIZZA SHUTTLE
DELIVERS

1800 Claflin Road
776-5577

We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

G-Spot

Drink Specials

Tuesday • $2 Pitcher Beer
Wednesday • $1.50 Bottles
Thursday • 50¢ Well Shots
Friday/Saturday • $1 Can Beer

(785) 223-0768
18 to enter, 21 to drink

AUTOCRAFT

Domestic & Import Specialists

COMPLETE AUTO
REPAIR & SERVICE

537-5049

Open Mon. Fri. 8am-5pm
201 B Service Circle
(across West Main)

HUNAN EXPRESS

*** Chinese Food Lover's Choice ***

BUFFET

Lunch 11:00 - 2:30 $3.99

Dinner 5:30 - 9:00 $4.99

Free Delivery: 537-0886

Hours: Sun. - Thurs. 11 - Midnight; Fri. - Sat. 11 - 2:30 am
1116 Moro St. Aggieville (Only a few blocks south of KSU)

RadioShack. -Manhattan

Your Satellite TV Headquarters

★ Single TV systems
Installed FREE

OR

★ Up to 4 TV's
Only $49.99

—All Including Professional Installation—

See store for details. Requires 1 year service commitment.

Catch The CATS on Fox Sports
Net

FOX SPORTS NET

RadioShack. Associate Store

MODERN ELECTRONICS

Mon.-Fri. 9 to 8
Sat. 9 to 6
Sun. 12 to 5
(Both Stores)

2609 Anderson
539-6151

601 S. 5th St., Ste. C
537-1476

Monday, October 14, 2002

SafeRide plan advances

Possible carrier will vote today on services

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The wheels are in motion for a possible SafeRide program.

Board members of the Riley County Area Transportation Agency will vote at 1:30 p.m. today whether to provide its services for such a program. ATA, a non-profit agency, provides public transportation in Manhattan.

"If they turn it down, we go back to the drawing board and try to fulfill our responsibilities elsewhere for the students," said Student Body Vice President Todd Kohman, member of the SafeRide Task Force. "If they vote yes, we begin work together cooperatively."

The SafeRide Task Force met for the first time last Thursday. However, SafeRide discussions have been underway since spring 2001 during former student body president Kyle Barker's administration.

Kohman said the task force obtained cost estimates from ATA Executive Director Richard Daily for utilizing its service. For a three-hour shift, it would cost $83.50 for a 16-person vehicle. This cost includes mileage, gallons of fuel used, maintenance and driver dispatcher wages. Estimates were based on an 11 p.m. to 2:30 a.m. shift.

"We are in the transportation business," Daily said, "and I see it as a service to both the university and community in general."

Daily said if the board approves using ATA, it could provide its services immediately upon implementation of a SafeRide program.

Kohman said the task force must present a proposal before Student Senate on Jan. 30, 2003. Kohman said details must be worked out by then.

He said he hopes to have a pilot program implemented by this spring and a full-scale program implemented by fall 2003.

"It's kind of the responsibility for this task force to get something the Student Senate will approve, so we can live up to the expectations of what students want," Kohman said. "So everyone is going to have to work together in order to achieve this goal."

See SAFERIDE Page 10

Sniper's ID still unknown

Authorities keeping remaining evidence under close guard

By David Dishneau
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ROCKVILLE, Md. — Investigators hunting an increasingly brazen sniper defended their meager release of information, saying Sunday they don't want the killer to know what they know.

Authorities pointed to the dangerous balance between pleading for public help and revealing too much.

"We don't want to release anything that may cause ... anyone to think they're a suspect," said Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agent Mike Bouchard.

Montgomery County Police Chief Charles Moose, meanwhile, has cut back on his news briefings while saying he wishes there was more he could reveal.

"I wish we could give you a name, a mug shot and an address, but we're not at that point," he said in one of four appearances he made Sunday on national TV talk shows.

Moose has become the public face of a massive task force investigating a random shooter who has fired a single round into each of 10 victims, killing eight, in suburban Washington since Oct. 2.

The last killing occurred Friday morning, when a 53-year-old father of six was shot while fueling his sedan in a gas station just south of Fredericksburg, Va. At the time, a state trooper stood just 50 yards away, investigating a traffic accident.

See SNIPER Page 9

Above: Trash from the K-State-Oklahoma State football game is blown to the south side of KSU Stadium by ROTC volunteers Saturday night.

Left: Robert Vogt, sophomore in food science, sweeps trash in a stairway on the east side of KSU Stadium on Saturday night with other members of ROTC. Using leaf blowers, brooms and buckets, the volunteers spent Saturday night and part of Sunday morning cleaning.

Photos by Nicole Donnett
COLLEGIAN

Air Force ROTC puts in hard work after football fans leave

By Crystal Becker
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The football team won, the parking lots were empty and fans cleared the 50,000-seat KSU Stadium on Saturday, but Sarah O'Crawley and her Air Force ROTC peers still had work to do.

As the temperature dropped and the cold wind whistled through the empty stadium, O'Crawley, freshman in biology and first-year cadet, joined a team of about 50 Air Force ROTC students outside the stadium.

With latex gloves and five-gallon buckets, they began their 12-hour task: to pick up about 25 to 30 Dumpsters filled with pop cans, popcorn bags, napkins, peanut shells and other trash left behind by excited fans and messy tailgaters. The students use the money they earn for the ROTC program.

The cleaning process is split into two six-hour shifts — a night shift and morning shift, both covering the area from the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex to College Avenue and from Kimball Avenue to Bramlage Coliseum.

The bulk of the stadium cleaning occurs during the night shift with about 50 cadets. The Sunday morning shift utilizes a group of about 20 cadets to collect 200 to 300 trash bags from 55-gallon drums in the parking lots and to finish cleaning the stadium.

There is a definite technique to the whole process, said Alan Schulenberg, senior in electrical engineering and fourth-year cadet.

"We go into it with a game plan," Schulenberg said. "We have so many new people that haven't cleaned the stadium before, and it sounds simple, but it just takes forever."

Rhiannon Auld, sophomore in mechanical engineering and second-year cadet, agreed.

"There is a certain technique to the whole process," she said. "You have to be careful how you do things, or else it won't do any good."

See ROTC Page 10

INSIDE

Back on track:
K-State topples
Oklahoma State
44-9 in conference
home opener

Sports, Page 6

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Bush's Iraq coalition building slowly
President Bush promises to be at the helm of a "vast coalition" against Iraq. Unlike his father's 31-nation force for the Persian Gulf War, however, it is a coalition slow to gather and lacking in marquee players.
Page 5

Kuwait: Attack on U.S. Marines won't affect ties with Washington
The fatal shooting of a U.S. Marine by two Kuwaiti religious extremists won't affect Kuwait's "deep" ties with Washington. Kuwait is bracing for Iraqi retaliation if the United States targets Saddam Hussein.
Page 5

Bali nightclub bombing kills 187 in Indonesia's worst act of terror
A car bomb killed at least 187 people and wounded 300 — many of them foreigners. Officials said it was the worst terrorist act in Indonesia's history. A second bomb exploded near the island's U.S. consular office.

Serbia's 1st post-Milosevic presidential elections fail because of low turnout
Serbia's first presidential elections since Slobodan Milosevic's ouster failed Sunday because of a low voter turnout, setting the stage for a protracted power struggle in Yugoslavia's dominant republic.

American Red Cross Blood Drive
Current total: 717 Goal: 850

Weather

Today 71 | 39

Tuesday 62 | 33

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 39

Former President Bush visits Abilene to honor Eisenhower

President's trip celebrates new addition to historic presidential library; Bush comments on post-Sept. 11

By Jessica Pitts
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

ABILENE — They were going to see a hero.

And they were even sacrificing tailgating before the football game.

Will Tate, senior in political science, and Andy Paton, senior in social science, made the trip to Abilene on Saturday morning in their purple game gear for a chance to see former President George H. W. Bush.

"You don't get this opportunity every day," Paton said. "He was a great president."

The former president's appearance marked the public opening of a $3.2 million renovation project at the 40-year-old Dwight D. Eisenhower Library, which honors the longtime Abilene resident who served two terms as the 34th president from 1953 to 1961.

"We celebrate this day in this fantastic place, where generations of Americans have come to reacquaint themselves with the man who, for me, remains the very conscience of American leadership," Bush said, "whose moral authority, experience and vision laid the foundation for freedom's victory in the Cold War and from whom we have so much to learn."

Eisenhower, who was born Oct. 14, 1890, moved with his parents to Abilene in 1892. After graduating from Abilene High School, he received an appointment in 1910 to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, where he was commissioned as an Army 2nd lieutenant in 1915.

During his 30-year military career, Eisenhower rose to the rank of five-star general and powered the military defeat of Hitler's Nazi Germany in 1945.

"I didn't just like Ike, I respected him," Bush said. "Not just because of his presidency but because of his dedicated service in uniform."

He went on to emphasize how the values that influenced Eisenhower a century ago can do so again to influence future world leaders.

"In the wake of 9-11, we are reminded yet again that the same innate strength and decency that were nurtured right

Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

Former President George Bush gives his wife Barbara a wink during speeches at the 50th Anniversary Celebration of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Presidency on Saturday. The commemorative ceremony was in Abilene, Kan., at the Eisenhower Museum and Dwight D. Eisenhower Library.

See BUSH Page 10

"Come Grow With Us"
Manhattan's Hometown Community Bank Is Building
To Meet The Future Needs Of Our Community.

KANSAS STATE BANK
FDIC Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Frenzied
4 Prevailing conditions
9 Had lunch
12 Past
13 Stair
14 Snoop
15 Start of a series
17 Actress McClanahan
18 Insurrectionist
19 Did TVA work
21 Wheedle
24 "Orinoco Flow" singer
25 Flightless bird
26 "No seats" sign
28 "Remember"
31 — me tangere
33 Generis predecessor
35 Open slightly
36 Gearbox, for short

DOWN
1 Army rank (Abbr.)
2 Khan
3 Announcer
4 Fishing baskets
5 Equality seekers
6 Doctrine
7 Chancellor
8 Roving adventurer
9 Part 2 of series
10 Vegetable
11 Kept tabs on 16 To and —
20 Dame
21 Hesa at the piano
22 Minimal change
23 Part 3 of series
27 Unfashionable
29 Agenda entry
30 Trancers' contents
32 Grooving on
34 Chante
37 Madame, across the Pyrenees
39 Sovereign seat
42 Fat-laden nut
44 Gram, modifier
45 Resumes
46 Author
50 1979 meltdown site (Abbr.)
51 Two, in Tijuana
52 Corrode
53 Johnnie Play hit

Solution time: 23 mins.

Friday's Answer

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12				13					14
15			16						17
21	22	23				24
25			26		27	28		29	30
31		32	33	34	35
36			37		38	39	40
45	46			42	43	44
48			49	50			51	52	53
54			55				56
57			58				59

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-228-5951 89¢ per minute. Touch-tone only. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP
UJ MWLLV RLLY MWLSKURF.
YN INO MOVVNML GWLI
WLSY MOKSUFWG JNK GWL
ESS ESS MNV?
Saturday's Cryptquip: IF A MAN WERE ROBBED OF HIS UNDERWEAR, I GUESS YOU MIGHT SAY HE'S BEEN DEBRIEFED.
Today's Cryptquip Clue: S equals A

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK II Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptClassics Book 1, P.O. Box 506475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.
The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

Children discover risks of gasoline firsthand

By Chuck Shepherd
UNIVERSAL PRESS SYNDICATE

In September, Australia's Daily Telegraph reported that the Federal Attorney General's office had ruled eyesight and medical tests required of flight crews and air traffic controllers no longer could be given because they violate the country's anti-discrimination laws. The Civil Aviation Safety Agency, concerned about physically unqualified pilots, announced immediately that it would appeal the ruling, but the association of cabin crew members, for one, was reluctant to support the appeal because it fears such medical tests make it easier for airlines to impose weight restrictions on flight attendants.

Boredom, illustrated

A 16-year-old boy was sent to Sherman Hospital in Elgin, Ill., in September with second-degree burns after he and two pals started playing a game in which each would splash gasoline on their shorts and set themselves on fire before rolling on the ground to try to extinguish the flames. One of the boys told police they agreed to three rounds each as a sort of competition.

appease Indra, the Hindu god of rain. The women of Uttar Pradesh state in India were less successful, but the 200 Nepalese women who began dancing in mid-August were rewarded with the start of the monsoon season, which soon created floods and landslides. And in Lambertville, N.J., in August, a nude Douglas B. Carroll, 24, was arrested at 3 a.m. and told police he thought running across a bridge naked, really fast, would bring rain. The next night, it rained.

Awesome!

In August, in Goshen, Ind., Chad Hershberger, 45, survived having his skull split wide open by an exploding piece of metal in a septic-tank accident.

And in June, a 20-year-old man accidentally fired his spear gun, hitting himself in the head, while fishing near Chania, Crete, but survived despite being in the water for six hours before being discovered and enduring three hours' surgery just to remove the spear. Because the spear passed through a nonactive part of the brain, the man was soon back on his feet with no serious problems.

Latest protests

A formerly obese woman organized a "million-pound march" for Ottawa in October to protest the Ontario Parliament's proposed funding cutbacks on stomach-stapling surgery.

And to protest unemployment in Escravos, Nigeria, about 600 women held hundreds of workers captive inside an oil terminal and threatened to take off their own clothes

Secret hiding places

James Scott Woods, 26, was arrested in Mount Carmel, Tenn., in July after police were called to a house on a robbery complaint.

Officers could not find evidence of the robbery and were inclined to let Woods go, but on a hunch discovered a half-ounce of marijuana, plus a pipe and $187 cash, tucked into a fold of Woods' stomach.

Coincidence

Nature 2, Humans 0. Rodrigo Vazquez's mobile home in Rockingham County, Pa., and a vacant house in Homestead, Pa., were nearly destroyed when gas appliances ignited the owners' pest-control foggers.

Our civilization in decline

AmeriChoice Corp. was criticized this month for giving away chickens in poor neighborhoods to get people to switch their Medicaid coverage.

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Thursday, Oct. 10

■ At 6:30 p.m., Andrew Smith, 1224 Pomeroy, No. 1, was arrested for battery, failure to appear, intimidation of a witness or victim and probation violation. Bond was set at $9,000.

The planner | Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Up 'Til Dawn is accepting applications for six-person teams to raise money for St. Jude Children's Hospital from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Tuesday in Holton 203.

■ Fort Riley classes will run Tuesday through Dec. 14. The dates have changed since publication of the line schedule. Civilian enrollment starts Oct. 7.

■ Recreational Services will be taking entries for intramural volleyball, four-wall handball singles, four-wall racquetball singles, squash singles, table tennis singles and the HORSE shootout today through Thursday in the administrative office.

■ 2002-03 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Friday, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.

■ Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house on 918 N. Manhattan.

■ "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 in Hale Library's second floor.

■ Royal Purple yearbook pictures will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in Marlatt Hall and the K-State Student Union and 6:30 to 9:30 tonight in Van Zile Hall.

■ Voter registration tables will be set up from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. today and Tuesday in the Union Plaza and from 6 to 9 tonight at the Rec Complex.

■ A basic library class will be from 10:30 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. today in Hale 408.

■ The Microbiology Club will have Jerry Jaax speak at 4:30 p.m. today in Ackert 221.

■ Kappa Omicron Nu will meet at 6 tonight in Union 203.

■ The Advertising Club will meet at 6:30 tonight in Kedzie 105.

■ The Apostolic Campus Ministry will meet for Bible study at 7 tonight in Union 202.

■ Beta Alpha Psi will meet at 7 tonight in Union 212.

■ KSU Aikido will conduct a martial arts class from 7 to 9 tonight in Ahearn 301.

■ KSU Rotaract will meet at 7 tonight in Union 207.

■ MIS Club will meet for a presentation on hands-on technology and discuss how to build a computer at 7 tonight in Calvin 212.

■ The privilege fee SGA committee meeting will be at 7 tonight in the OSAS conference room.

■ American Red Cross will meet at 7:30 tonight in Union 206.

■ Students for Life will meet at 8:30 tonight in Union 212.

■ The Asian American Student Union will meet at 6 tonight in the Union multicultural student organizations office.

■ VetCats Toastmasters will meet from noon to 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Hills Center on the fourth floor of Trotter Hall.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct an Experiential Learning Orientation Workshop at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in Holtz Hall. Call 532-6505 for a reservation.

■ BAPP will meet at 5 p.m. Tuesday in Calvin 218.

■ GAMMA will meet and have a speaker on alcohol poisoning at 6 p.m. Tuesday in Union 213.

■ Students for Environmental Action will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Union 209.

■ K-State Ski Club will meet at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union 209.

■ A Community Service Program, International and Kansas teams informational meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 22 in Union 212.

Quotable | Words worth repeating

"The Nobel Peace Prize was made for people like Jimmy Carter."
Former President Bill Clinton, on news that Carter received the peace award Friday.

"They want our oil. We have no weapons of mass destruction, but we have the oil."
Madros Sibai, an Iraqi citizen who, like many others in the Mideast, dismisses President Bush's call for the use of force in Iraq as a pretext for economic or personal considerations.

Source: The Associated Press

Up next | In Tuesday's Collegian

News | How they stack up
The U.S. Census Bureau reports how much each academic degree is worth. Find out what K-State officials are telling students about earning higher degrees.

Opinion | Cause and effect
Nasrina Burnett just says no to too much responsibility. She thinks students should think about the choices they make now, and how those choices could affect them in the future. Angel Wilson explores why people think it's so fabulous being "ghetto."

The Edge | Metal mania
Metal music has a long history that has stayed mostly obscured from the lenses of MTV and the airwaves. Hear what local bands have to say about Manhattan metal music.

Sports | Giving it his all
Not enough football for your liking? Read about how the Cats achieved a balanced attack against the Oklahoma State defense.

Corrections and clarifications
There were errors in Friday's Collegian. The Aggieville block party will be Friday, Oct. 18, and there are not parties planned for all home games. The Collegian regrets the errors.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 101, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 101, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

Photo by Jeanel Drake
COLLEGIAN

Cultural diversity

To battle dry spells in Nepal and neighboring northern India in July and August, dozens of farmers' wives gathered in the fields to perform naked dances at midnight in order to

Collegian
Explore it!
kstatecollegian.com

✓printing from disk
Clafin Books and Copies

www.uclassifiyit.com
/ Simple / Sell your textbooks online
/ Safe / and get back
/ Secure / MORE MONEY!!
/ Guaranteed / STUDENTS helping STUDENTS

GAME GUY
Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent
Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games
Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5
(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA.

FREE Haircut
w/ Best Hilite Weave in town
w/two colors $50 to $70
by Kelly
TINA'S Studio 32
FOR HAIR
776-8830 Candlewood

Join Us at
The Other Side
Gothic & Fetish Clothing
Sat. 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Sun. 12 p.m. - 4 p.m.
100 N. 5th St., #112
Salina, KS 67401

GRADUATION FAIR
Tuesday & Wednesday
October 15 & 16 noon-6p
Featured vendors include:
• C-B Graduation Announcements
• Artcarved Class Rings
• University Frames
Varney's
*Get a free alumni license plate with your order while supplies last.

K-State-Salina group receives charter, becomes 1st greek organization

By Rogie Dorpinghaus
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Neil Armstrong and former president Benjamin Harrison are among a list of famous Phi Delta Theta fraternity members.

Saturday afternoon, K-State-Salina's first greek organization received a charter from the national fraternity Phi Delta Theta to potentially lengthen that list.

The ceremony was at 11 a.m. at the Bicentennial Center, allowing the group to reach its goal of becoming a part of the national organization.

The idea to form a fraternity began in 1999 when 10 K-State-Salina students wanted to be more than just good friends — they wanted to be brothers.

Mike Higley, vice president of Phi Delta Theta, is one of the original 10 students.

Higley, senior in technology management, said. At first, group members called themselves the brotherhood fraternity.

The brotherhood fraternity set forth the principles they wanted to uphold and researched on the national level to find a fraternity that upheld the same principles, Higley said.

He said the national fraternity Phi Delta Theta mirrored the principles the brotherhood fraternity outlined as individuals: friendship, sound learning and moral rectitude.

Kevin Gorman, president of Phi Delta Theta's Manhattan chapter, said he was excited Phi Delta Theta was expanding.

"It's great anytime you can grow nationally, but to be the first is an honor, and for them to choose us was a bigger honor," Gorman said.

Gorman said the process to become a fraternity usually takes five years, but Higley said the Salina chapter did it in four.

Matt Diederich, president of Phi Delta Theta's Salina chapter, said the first step of an interest group officially being recognized as a fraternity is to form a colony, which was formed Oct. 6, 2001.

To receive a charter, which is the final stage of becoming an official chapter, a colony must be upheld for at least a year and be approved on the national level.

Higley said the brotherhood fraternity, now Phi Delta Theta, established itself on campus by sponsoring various community service events.

Last year after the Sept. 11 attacks, the fraternity sponsored a one-day event at Sam's Club that raised more than $800 for the American Red Cross.

The brotherhood fraternity also participated in a full-day community service project at a homeless shelter in Salina, the Ashby House. More than 25 men volunteered, totaling more than 600 hours of work.

For the past two years the brotherhood fraternity received the most beneficial organization award on the Salina campus.

"We're very diverse," Higley said.

"Over 40 to 50 percent of our members are holding offices on other groups on campus."

Diederich, senior in pilot program professionals and airway science, said of all the organizations he's worked for, he hasn't found a better group than Phi Delta Theta.

"It's been my privilege to help lead them," Diederich said.

Diederich said while being involved in general is crucial to a person's college experience, he believes qualities obtained by being involved in Phi Delta Theta will be invaluable in the real working world.

Higley said he also believes his brothers are receiving a well-rounded college experience by being involved in the fraternity.

"Especially on the Salina campus, it's easy to go into your room, play video games all day and stay distant."

"Men of our organization are getting the fullest possible college experience," Higley said.

"We're not the college experience or the education — we are the insurance that if they take the action to be involved in our group, their college experience will be wonderful."

Cat's Challenge successful despite cold weather

Outside of KSU Stadium, Heather Browning, freshman in pre-medicine, and Geoff Boerner, freshman in mechanical engineering, register to vote before the game Saturday. The Student Governing Association encouraged students to vote as part of the Cat's Challenge with the University of Kansas.

Karen Mikols
COLLEGIAN

Quote in Daily Kansan persuades determined students to register before football game

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Cooler temperatures and gusty winds didn't keep Student Governing Association members from taking part in the first "Cat's Challenge" voting competition Saturday.

Organized by Student Body President Zac Cook, SGA members sat outside of Varney's Book Store in Aggieville and various entrances in KSU Stadium to register students and Manhattan residents to vote for the upcoming elections Nov. 5.

"All SGA members were encouraged to sign up, and we've been working hard," Damian Lair, SGA senator, said. "It's been a full-day effort."

In addition, all those who registered Saturday were included as a part of the challenge, a competition with intrastate rival the University of Kansas.

The school's SGA with the least amount of registered voters from Saturday's totals must wear the opposing team's colors at the KU-K-State football game Nov. 2 in Lawrence.

The results will be available later this week.

Although Kathleen Crilley and Patrick Simpson, freshmen in biology, didn't know of the competition at first, both decided to help K-State in the competition by registering.

"I was registered back at my hometown and just needed to register to vote up here," Simpson said.

While the competition was a positive way for both universities to increase the number of student voters, Cook said many registered voters came after hearing about the tractor-driving comment made by KU student government member Jeff Allmon in the University Daily Kansan.

Allmon referred to K-Staters as "a bunch of tractor-driving, politically inactive rednecks."

"That quote is terrible," Cook said.

"There were guys from a radio station who were at the game speaking about it. A lot of people responded to that after they heard it."

Moreover, SGA members used the quote as one of their tactics to get people to Julie Tharp, senior in secondary education, registers to vote outside of KSU Stadium before the K-State versus Oklahoma State game Saturday. Members of SGA were at the stadium and Varney's Book Store, registering students to vote in the Nov. 5 election.

Karen Mikols
COLLEGIAN

register.

"I think the quote in the paper motivated some people," Lair said. "It was very inappropriate."

In order to get an official count of all registered voters, SGA members took all registration cards from Saturday to the county clerk's office today.

Although they have to wait for the final results, SGA members are optimistic of the outcome from the competition.

"It's been pretty successful so far," Lair said.

"We want to beat KU, and I think we will since we have a larger turnout at our football games."

GIVE US YOUR OPINION.
CAMPUS FORUM: 395-4444

NAIL SALE

Featuring: Karen

Karen has 9 years experience using OPI & Creative products. The BEST in nail care.

Full set..... $30 - reg. $38

Fills..... $20 - reg. $28

Manicure.... $10 - reg. $14

Pedicure.... $25 - reg. $27

Hair or massage - 10% off

1129 Moro • 537-1332

IMPRESSIONS
HAIR DESIGN AND NAIL STUDIO

RADINA'S
coffeehouse & bakery
ANNOUNCING

LIVE MUSIC

Stop in and enjoy local musicians every Sunday & Monday Night @ 8:30

Buy one,
get one
FREE drink
Excludes smoothies
RADINA'S

6:30 a.m. - 11 p.m. M-F
7 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sat.
8 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sun.

616 N. Manhattan
(next to Chipotle)

Orchestra
Kansas State

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15
7:30 P.M. FREE
MCCAIN AUDITORIUM

DAVID LITRELL, CONDUCTOR
ANDREA PÉREZ MUKDSI, GRAD. CONDUCTOR
GARY MORTENSON, TRUMPET

CARL MARIA VON WEBER
EURYANTHE OVERTURE

F.J. HAYDN
TRUMPET CONCERTO

HOWARD HANSON
SYMPHONY NO. 2 "ROMANTIC"

royal RP purple ARE YOU IN?

Monday, October 14
Don't forget to take your
FREE portrait pictures

Marlatt Hall & Union
10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Van Zile Hall
6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.

Next up: Tuesday, Oct. 15
Moore Hall 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Putnam Hall 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

business careers

Turn your business skills into a career.

State Street, a world leader in the financial services industry, invites talented, degree-seeking business students to visit our Kansas City office's website today. Apply for a full- or part-time job — or check out our internship program — while you're still in school. Make your education pay off sooner than expected.

STATE STREET.
For Everything You Invest In™

Apply online today.

statestreetkc.com

EDE/AA
©2002 State Street Corporation

TO THE POINT Congress' action shouldn't be free pass for war

Dear President Bush,

Schools, such as the University of California-Berkeley, are sending their senators to Washington to show their disapproval of a war with Iraq. Other colleges are writing petitions and letters stating their discontent with the policies Congress is approving.

We, the editors of the Kansas State Collegian, appeal to you and your advisers regarding the situation in Iraq.

We applaud your ability to identify possible threats to our nation, but we caution you to examine all possible options before declaring war.

We feel the recent actions taken by Congress were too swift, and urge you to remember past wars, such as Vietnam when Congress handed power to former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Many Americans aren't sure what they think about this situation. We don't know all of the facts.

We feel you should not make a serious decision without public backing.

We, as students, are speaking out and urging you to keep us in mind as you weigh all possible solutions.

Please heed our concerns, as well as the nation's, before altering all our futures.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Jeanel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

UNITY AND DIVERSITY

Accept people from all nationalities

Aceptar gente de todas las naciones

Editor's note: Lorena is pursuing a doctoral degree in curriculum and instruction. Every Monday she will tackle an issue in her native language, Spanish, as well as English. Gloria Freeland, associate professor of journalism, edits the columns for clarity. Both columns convey the same message and allow the Collegian to reach a more diverse audience. Lorena is a graduate student in curriculum and instruction. You can e-mail her at lorena@ksu.edu.

The idea of a university expresses the dream, ideal and utopia of all of humankind, united by generous wisdom, not segregated by ignorance and selfish ethnocentrism. This idea of convocating men and women from all the lands and cultures of the world to live, work and learn together on a campus — a territory of free research and search for truth — is a hope for all times, especially in our current troubled time.

Weapons never start war, but humans do. It is not technological abilities to kill that create the terrifying confrontations between nations. It is the intellectual incapacity to understand each other — to acknowledge and respect the diversity of ideas, looks, genders, ages, talents, emotions, ideals and goals — that open doors and hearts to hatred and destruction.

Every human being is entitled to have a home and feel safe and in a familiar landscape and in a group with a language learned from his or her mother and father. There is no suffering and anguish such as being homeless with no country, no national identity, no land to call my own. But that does not mean that I can deny the same privilege to other human beings. It is inhuman to consider that only my group is human, that only my culture is civilized and that the only homeland is my land.

Sometimes, I have wished that the people of the United States would speak Spanish. It would have been easier for me to study in my own language. But I have to recognize that Americans speak English, and I am supposed to learn it and use it if I want to attend their schools and higher education institutions. I have enriched my Spanish language treasure with my English language treasure. Now I am spiritually wealthier because I carry in my soul the language, culture, ideas and emotions of the people of the United States. I have not lost anything. I have gained a lot.

I guess that in my American students in my Spanish classes wish that we Latin Americans spoke English instead of Spanish, but they know we have a different language, and they have to learn it. It is gaining cultural growth derived from learning a different language that we understand and communicate with different people.

I am pleased this bilingual column has awakened a debate about the usefulness of having this text in English and Spanish. I am glad to know so many English-speaking Americans approve of this linguistic meeting in the newspaper and find the diversity enriching and positive. I understand and respect those who disagree, and find this bilingual exercise futile, inappropriate, offensive or annoying.

I have traveled from Costa Rica to Kansas, left my beloved tropical land, my dear family, my people, my culture and my language because I value the people and the culture of the United States. I admire the social ideal that starts with the wise declaration that all humans are born equal — that all men and women are created free and have the right to rise against any unfair and cruel oppression.

I really pray that the people of the United States achieve that goal, and that their country not only be the home of the free, but also the home of generous hearts and minds who come from all nations and cultures of the world.

LORENA BARBOZA

La idea de universidad por sí misma, expresa un antiguo sueño, un ideal y una utopía de toda una humanidad, unida por la sabiduría generosa y no dividida por la ignorancia y el etnocentrismo. Convocar a hombres y mujeres de todas partes y culturas del mundo, para vivir, trabajar y aprender juntos en el campus, un territorio de investigación libre y búsqueda de la verdad, es una esperanza para todos los tiempos, especialmente en el nuestro tan problemático.

Las armas nunca inician la guerra, de eso se encargan los seres humanos. No son las habilidades tecnológicas para matar las que crean las horribles confrontaciones entre las naciones. Es la incapacidad intelectual para entenderse unos a otros, para reconocer y respetar la diversidad de ideas, visiones, género, edad, talentos, sentimientos y emociones, ideas y metas, la que abre las puertas sociales y los corazones al odio y a la destrucción.

Cada ser humano está llamado a tener un hogar y sentirse seguro, feliz y familiarizado con su paisaje, con su grupo y un lenguaje aprendido de su madre y de su padre. No hay sufrimiento y angustia como el de ser apátrida, sin país, sin identidad nacional y sin tierra a la cual llamar mía.

Pero eso no significa que tenga derecho a negar el mismo privilegio a otros seres humanos.

Es inhumano considerar como humano solo a mi propio grupo, civilizada solamente mi propia cultura y patria solo a mi propia tierra. Algunas veces, desearía que la gente de los Estados Unidos hablara español; eso haría más fácil para mí estudiar en mi propia lengua, pero debo reconocer que los estadounidenses hablan inglés y que yo debo aprenderlo y usarlo si quiero asistir a sus escuelas y a sus instituciones de educación superior. Tuve que enriquecer mi tesoro lingüístico español con el del inglés. Ahora soy espiritualmente más rica, estoy llevando en mi alma el idioma, la cultura, las ideas, sentimientos y emociones de la gente de los Estados Unidos. No he perdido nada, he ganado muchísimo.

Creo que mis queridos estudiantes de español desearían que los latinos habláramos inglés en lugar de español, pero ellos saben que tenemos un idioma diferente al suyo para comunicarnos y que deben aprenderlo. No es despreciando el inglés o el castellano, sino adquiriendo el crecimiento cultural derivado del aprendizaje de otro idioma, que logramos entender y comunicarnos con personas diferentes.

Me satisface mucho que esta columna haya despertado debate sobre la utilidad de tener este texto en inglés y español. Celebro el saber que muchos angloparlantes aprueban este encuentro lingüístico en el periódico, y encuentran la diversidad enriquecedora y positiva. Entiendo y respeto a los que no están de acuerdo y piensan que este ejercicio bilingüe es fútil, inapropiado, ofensivo y fastidioso.

He viajado de Costa Rica hasta Kansas, dejando mi amada tierra tropical, mi adorada familia, mi gente, mi cultura y mi idioma, porque valoro a la gente y la cultura de los Estados Unidos.

Estoy aquí, compartiendo las alegrías y los sufrimientos de los estadounidenses.

Admiro el ideal social que comienza con la sabia declaración de que nosotros, todos los humanos, nacemos iguales. Que todos los hombres y mujeres son creados libres y con el derecho de evantarse y luchar contra cualquier opresión imperialista, inhumana, injusta o cruel.

Realmente oro para que el pueblo de los Estados Unidos alcance esa meta, y su país sea no solo la casa de los libres, sino también la casa de las mentes y los corazones generosos provenientes de todas las naciones y culturas del mundo.

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Jeanel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

Illustration by Melesa Lorette | COLLEGIAN

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

I say we take all the parking lots out of the Rec Complex area so everybody has to jog to the Rec.

If I ruled the world, all men would wear flip-flops and towels.

Sven, we know you're writing those poems about us.

Yeah, about that male flag twirler for Oklahoma State. Yeah ...

I just had déjà vu while doing Thursday's crossword.

Here's a hint for all the men out there: Forget the "mmm." We want the "Chewbacca."

I've had all the Cox I can handle.

To the guys in our apartment building: Stop being cranky.

Nothing's hotter than a guy with a white, buttoneddown shirt and black bikini briefs on.

"Watcher of the Skies" by Genesis is the greatest song ever recorded.

Would the people who call into the Fourum please care to stop using the racist term "lily-white"? It's really disgusting.

Come on, people. Tip your pizza delivery girl.

To whoever has my hippo: Just let him loose. He knows his way back home.

What would the NAACP have to say if K-State started an all-white fraternity?

I saw a fat guy speed-walking the other day, and it looked like he had Jell-O in his stomach.

My roommate has feet like a hobbit.

I was wondering if you drunkards missed the water balloons this weekend. We're sorry we weren't able to make it out there, but we'll probably be there this weekend.

An athletic classroom report: Pervis Pasco did not attend class today.

To the girls with the thongs sticking out of their jeans: I've seen more strings in Italian restaurants than I have on your thongs. Ew.

Nothing is funnier than drunk pumpkins.

I'm king of the Fourum.

Someone once said you can either be a slave in heaven or a star in hell. But hell doesn't always look like hell. On a good day, hell can look a lot like a 7:30 a.m. biology class.

Did anyone else see Ronald McDonald riding the billy goat on campus?

It's so cold outside I nearly lost my nips.

If you're walking down the street and you see me, say, "Hello there, Aaron."

To the guy who sits behind me in macroeconomics: You have a really soothing voice.

Matt Damon is just hot.

If you're not in a sorority or a fraternity, why do you make fun of them so bad? You must be jealous.

People who sell pot have major problems.

My sorority uses vintage brand toilet paper.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. Not enough Fourum? For the full version check out www.kstate-collegian.com.

TO THE EDITOR

Column concerning language is display of xenophobia

Editor,

In her Oct. 11 column, "Hispanics must learn English to gain equality in states," Kathryn Hollingsworth wrote: "The funny thing is, my views are viewed as discriminatory." I don't think so.

More exactly, behind these "views," I see the fears of an expression of xenophobia dominated by what the eminent scholar James Crawford called "cultural conservatism," in which bilingual education has been attacked as a demon.

In a country where English is spoken by 94 percent of the population, the fears of the "only English" proponents should be ridiculous and suspicious: "ridiculous," because they seem to tell us one official language will produce better and more prosperous citizens in a country that has gotten along without an official language for 200 years, and "suspicious," because cultural conservatism seems to have a hidden agenda that seeks to promote other purposes. For example, why should bilingual education for minorities be counterproductive while foreign-language study by English speakers is laudable?

It's sad Hollingsworth does not seem to be aware of this when she wrote: "If parents speak strictly Spanish in the home, they pass this down to their children, who are handicapped from the start in a new country." Or, when she claims that "There is nothing wrong with requiring people to speak your nation's national language."

The "funny thing" is language conflicts arise where one group tries to impose its language on another by force of law, and select limited-English-proficient — LEP — children as scapegoats for social problems that have little to do with language.

Irlanda Gutiérrez | JUNIOR IN ELEMENTARY EDUCATION

Unofficial transcripts might go online

Faculty Senate considers efficiency for students

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Faculty Senate is looking into the possibility of posting student transcripts online.

"It's just at the very beginning phases of even talking about it," said Beth Montelone, chair of the Committee on Technology.

She said the issue was proposed during a Faculty Senate meeting by Student Senate Chair John O'Hara. Faculty Senate will discuss the issue this year.

O'Hara said online transcripts would be more efficient for students.

"There's been a number of times we've needed transcripts for internships or scholarships, and each time you have to go and pay that $5. We're just trying to be more effective, and with technology, we think online transcripts is something we can accomplish."

O'Hara said he has discussed the issue since last school year with Seth Bridge, chairman of the Academic Affairs and the University Relations Committee.

O'Hara said discussions so far include unofficial transcripts.

"That's not to say we aren't seeking the opportunity to have an official online transcript, but we think it's plausible to have an unofficial transcript online," O'Hara said.

Bridge said he met Friday with Rob Caffey, member of the Computing and Information Technology Advisory Council, and discussed a system through K-State Online that would allow access to unofficial transcript information.

"It was originally configured to help out advising, but it has a lot of features used for transcripts," Bridge said.

Many times, O'Hara said, employers don't require an official copy. So having access to an unofficial copy would still be beneficial. And he said he hopes to eliminate the $5 charge for obtaining a copy.

However, Montelone said if official transcripts are posted online, they probably still would cost money.

"I am sure there would be," she said. "There is a fee now. It's an official university document with a seal on it."

Montelone said the first step in the process will be speaking to the Office of the Registrar.

To ensure the security of such a system, O'Hara said he and Bridge met with Bob Krause, vice president of institutional advancement. He said there will be mechanisms to prevent fraud or grade alterations.

"This is definitely going to be a positive move — a step in the right direction," O'Hara said.

"Absolutely, we will make sure there are no possibilities for any sort of fraud, as that would be a discredit to the university and our education, and that is the last thing we want to see happen."

O'Hara said senators also are in the process of contacting Beth Unger, vice provost of academic services and technology, to see if online transcripts are an opportunity students could make use of.

O'Hara said he hopes to see transcripts online soon.

"The sooner, the better," he said. "We feel like this is something that should be able to be accessible very soon. I would hate to put a timeline on it, but I would hope by the beginning of next semester we could have this access."

Unfortunately, Bridge said, the issue is still in its beginning stages.

"We've got to find out if students could get an unofficial transcript online, what features it would need," he said, "and that's kind of where we're at now."

Coalition against Iraq slow to assemble

Countries not as eager to join United States this time around

By Sandra Sobieraj
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — President Bush promises to be at the helm of a "vast coalition" against Iraq. Unlike his father's 31-nation force for the Persian Gulf War, however, it is a coalition slow to gather and lacking in players.

Bulgaria has promised an airport.

Romania guaranteed air bases and airspace rights to U.S. fighter jets.

Qatar is upgrading its al-Udeid air base and letting the Pentagon set up a command center and pre-position armored brigade equipment there.

If the lineup looks like small-fry now, some experts expect it not to be for long.

With Congress' overwhelming vote to authorize a military strike if necessary to disarm Iraq and remove President Saddam Hussein, the U.N. Security Council and skittish would-be coalition members will fall into line, said Bill Taylor, former director of National Security Studies at West Point.

Today's big bench-warmers — Saudi Arabia, Egypt, Turkey, Greece, Canada and others — can be counted on to enlist if and when Bush commits the full force of the U.S. military to wiping out Saddam and his weapons programs, agreed Ivo Daalder, who was an adviser to President Clinton's National Security Council.

For months, lawmakers in both parties, as well as Republican Party elders, publicly worried over what looked like

International commitments

■ Britain

Insisting on U.N. authorization of any military attack but can be counted on to provide troops. Prime Minister Tony Blair is President Bush's closest ally in backing military strike to oust President Saddam Hussein.

■ Australia

Prime Minister John Howard, who rivals Britain's Blair in standing foursquare behind Bush, has left open the option of committing Australian troops to a U.S.-led military action, even without U.N. backing.

■ Bulgaria

Will grant the United States use of airspace and Sarafovo airport, currently the base for U.S. tanker aircraft involved in the anti-terror war in Afghanistan.

■ Romania

Will allow overflights of U.S. aircraft and use of air bases only 1,440 miles northwest of the Iraqi capital, Baghdad.

■ Bahrain

Headquarters of the U.S. Navy's 5th Fleet and 4,200 American military personnel and has raised no objection to an attack on Iraq.

■ Qatar

With 3,300 U.S. soldiers stationed on its soil, Qatar is allowing the Pentagon to establish a forward command center there and pre-position equipment for at least one heavy armored brigade.

■ Kuwait, Oman

Will not object to in-country U.S. forces (9,000 in Kuwait and 2,400 in Oman) participating in an action against Iraq.

■ Italy, Spain, Poland, Netherlands

Moral and political support. Premier Silvio Berlusconi has compared Saddam to Hitler and emphasized Italy's alliance with the Bush administration. Spain said Saddam cannot be allowed to snub U.N. weapons inspectors.

Polish officials have answered queries about potential contributions to a military strike by emphasizing Poland is "a very steadfast" U.S. ally. Dutch prime minister said Netherlands will support war to remove Saddam only if inspections prove he has weapons of mass destruction.

■ 1991 Desert Storm Coalition members who haven't made new commitment: France, Canada, Greece, Belgium, Norway, Denmark, Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates, Egypt, Syria, Morocco, Senegal, Niger, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Portugal, Czechoslovakia (now Czech Republic), Argentina, New Zealand and South Korea.

Japan and Germany contributed financial support to the 1991 war. Turkey allowed use of its bases and deployed troops to Iraqi order outside war zone.

does. Poland, Spain and Italy also have offered moral support, if not explicit promises of troops or other material help.

Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld frequently hints at a greater number of private commitments.

"In their defense, I don't think they have actively gone out — at least publicly — to gather the coalition," Daalder said.

"I think there may well be a vast coalition if we continue to play our cards right — if we get a U.N. Security Council resolution, if we seriously try to implement it, and if Saddam doesn't comply."

WARMING UP

Nicole Donnert | COLLEGIAN

Feature twirler Lindsay Hoover, sophomore in open-option, practices her routine at the north end of Wagner Field minutes before the halftime show.

Kuwaiti government says deadly attacks on U.S. Marines won't affect good relationship with American leaders

By Diana Elias
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KUWAIT — The fatal shooting of a U.S. Marine by two Kuwaiti religious extremists earlier this week won't affect Kuwait's "deep" ties with Washington, the government said Sunday.

"Kuwait will not be lenient in the face of such acts that are rejected by all Kuwaitis and will firmly stop anyone who tries to undermine its security and interests," the Cabinet said in a statement following its first meeting since the Tuesday attack that left one Marine dead.

"This painful incident has not affected and will not affect the deep historic friendly relations between Kuwait and the United States," the statement said.

Kuwait, which is still trying to rebuild its tiny military from the 1990 Iraqi invasion, depends on the United States for protection from further Iraqi aggression.

It is bracing for possible Iraqi retaliation if the United States targets Saddam Hussein.

President Bush has accused Saddam of stockpiling weapons of mass destruction and supporting terrorism, and wants to oust him.

A full-page ad taken out Sunday by 267 diwanis, traditional men-only evening gatherings, carried a similar message. Diwanis are considered public forums and a monitor of political and social trends and sentiments.

The ad was published in Al-Qabas daily.

It said any attack on American forces in Kuwait is "a direct threat" to Kuwait's security and interests. It offered condolences to the family of the slain Marine, Lance Cpl. Antonio J. Sledd, 20, of Tampa, Fla., and wished the injured Marine, Lance Cpl. George R. Simpson, 21, of Dayton, Ohio, a speedy recovery.

Sledd was killed and Simpson wounded Tuesday when two Kuwaiti fundamentalists and veterans of Afghan wars, drove up in a rented pickup truck and opened fire on Marines taking a break from urban assault training on the island of Failaka, some 10 miles off Kuwait City.

Other Marines shot the attackers dead. Kuwait said 15 men confessed to taking part in the shooting.

Interior Minister Sheik Mohammed Khaled Al Sabah said Saturday there was no evidence the group took orders from Osama bin Laden's al-Qaeda network to stage the attack. He said the men in custody considered one of the attackers, 21-year-old Anas al-Kandari, as their leader and only he had pledged allegiance to bin Laden.

The other assailant was al-Kandari's cousin, Jassem al-Hajiri, 26.

Many leaders of the country's fundamentalist Muslims, who are in majority in the 50-seat parliament, have condemned the attack, saying the young men were "misguided."

Read it. Live it. Wear it.
Can't get enough Fourum?
Get your Fourum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

Take a seat.
Let the
classifieds
do the work.

Kansas State Collegian classifieds
103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555

1800 Claflin Road
776-5577

We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

Mel's Tavern
CHICKEN FRIED STEAK DINNER
$4.89
DOMESTIC LONGNECKS
$1.50
WELLS
$1.75
105 N. 3rd • 776-9879

Aggie Station
RESTAURANT & PUB
3.99 All You Can Eat Tacos
$1.25 Bud Light Bottles
Sign up for Travel the Apple pub crawl today!

KSURED CROSS CLUB
MEETING TONIGHT
Union 206 7:30 pm
Future Meetings
November 11
December 9

Change the World of Healthcare...Become a Doctor of Chiropractic
Help People
Gain the skills to assist your patients to achieve and maintain a healthy lifestyle.
Income
Earn a substantial salary commensurate with your position as a Doctor of Chiropractic.
Be Your Own Boss
Most Doctors of Chiropractic are in private practice working an average of 40 hours per week.
Become a Doctor
Prestige, respect and expanded leadership opportunities are available as a Doctor of Chiropractic.
Call Logan College of Chiropractic today to change the world of healthcare!
Logan College of Chiropractic
1-800-533-9210
www.logan.edu
loganadm@logan.edu
1851 Schneider Rd., Chiropractic, MO 63001

Bobby T's
Monday Night Football Mega Blowout
50¢ Wings
Biggest, Baddest, Best Wings in Town
10¢ Peel & Eat Shrimp
Monday Night Football
•Trivia
•Madden 2003
•Bingo
Win $475 CASH & Prizes
Win a 27" Color TV & Microsoft X-Box
$5.95 Chicken Fried Steak
$2 Bud and Bud Light Bottles
$2 Wells & Calls
$2.95 Chili Dog

Golf team hopes for fast start this week

Wildcat women hoping 1st round is better this time

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Wildcats can't afford to give up any shots in Wichita, Kan., especially in today's first round.

K-State is staying close to home for its fourth tournament this season, the Marilyn Sunflower Invitational, which will be played today and Tuesday at Willowbend Country Club.

The Wildcats look to improve after they struggled at the Shootout at the Legends last week in Indiana.

Coach Kristi Knight said she hopes the team gets in the mix early this week.

"I am happy with the way we finished out the tournament in Indiana," she said.

"The team can do well if we stay patient and play smart golf."

"There are some things we need to work on, and hopefully we will get them all worked out by the time we tee off in Wichita."

Junior Christine Boucher has been a consistent force for the Wildcats this fall.

Boucher is leading the team with a 75-stroke average. But it hasn't been easy.

She opened the Legends with a first-round 80.

Even after a second-round 74, she would have to hit her way up from a 26th-place tie.

And Boucher did that.

Boucher carded her best round of the season by shooting a 1-under 71 in the final round.

She finished on top of the K-State squad and tied for 14th place in the overall field.

By placing in a tie for 14th at the Shootout at the Legends, Boucher claimed her third top-20 finish of the season.

Still, after the Legends tournament last weekend, Boucher said she would be working on certain aspects of her game.

One of her problems in Indiana was hitting off the tee, but she worked out the problems with her driver. She said she wanted to use last week's practices to work on the green.

"Before Wichita, I just need to keep the tempo going and work on putting," Boucher said.

"I figured out what I was doing wrong with my driver after the first two rounds at the Legends, and I am hitting it well now. What we need to work on is finishing."

Last week, the team had opportunities to make birdies,

See GOLF Page 8

DOMINATION

Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

Randy Jordan breaks up a pass thrown to Oklahoma State wide receiver John Lewis in K-State's 44-9 win Saturday at KSU Stadium.

Wildcats return to winning ways, cruise by Oklahoma State

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Oklahoma State, a team that one week ago took Texas to the wire, was thought to be a test for K-State on Saturday.

But the No. 19 Cats treated the Cowboys not as a possible threat, but rather like they were Eastern Illinois.

K-State defeated Oklahoma State 44-9 in windy conditions at KSU Stadium on Saturday, by giving the Cowboys a steady dose of Darren Sproles and Eli Roberson on the ground, while complementing with an effective passing attack and a solid defense.

"Whenever you go into a game with a team that nearly beats the No. 2 team in the country, there's always a feeling of 'Oh boy, what do we got here,'" offensive coordinator Ron Hudson said. "And all of a sudden we spit one out like that and take it in like that, that

See COWBOYS Page 8

Matt Stamey | COLLEGIAN

Running back Darren Sproles dives over the pylon for a touchdown Saturday. Sproles finished the game with 130 total yards and an average of 7.2 yards per carry.

Secondary earns redemption with stellar showing

By Ben Fehr
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Against Colorado, K-State's secondary gave up 289 yards through the air.

And 232 of those yards came on four passes.

One of the questions coming into Saturday's game against Oklahoma State was whether the secondary could prevent the big play against the Cowboys, a group that was coming off an impressive 412-yard showing against Texas.

There also were questions about stopping Rashaun Woods, the Oklahoma State junior leading the Big 12 Conference in receiving yards and averaging 119 yards per contest.

K-State's secondary responded this weekend by allowing just one touchdown on 144 yards through the air — a total that took the Cowboys 44 passes to attain.

Rashaun Woods was even held well under his season average of 120 yards per game, as the Cats allowed the receiver just 77 yards on eight catches.

Coach Bill Snyder said he had expected that from his defense, though.

"I wanted to let our defense know that I had confidence in their ability to step up and make plays, and I was willing to put them on the field at the beginning of both the first and second halves," he said.

"And they responded in both cases."

K-State's secondary had two interceptions, six pass break-ups and six

See DEFENSE Page 8

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NFL | Chargers sneak by Chiefs

After messing up for three quarters, Drew Brees and the San Diego Chargers finally got it right with 14 seconds to spare. Brees threw a 2-yard touchdown pass to rookie Reche Caldwell as the Chargers overcame five turnovers to beat the Kansas City Chiefs 35-34 in a wild finish.

The victory wasn't secured until linebacker Donnie Edwards — cut by the Chiefs in March in a salary cap move — intercepted Trent Green's desperation pass at the Chargers' 2 as time expired.

The Chargers (5-1) got in a hole with two interceptions by Brees, two fumbles by wide receiver Curtis Conway and a fumbled punt by Tamarick Vanover, a former Chief.

But they finally stopped the blunders and, trailing 24-14 entering the fourth quarter, scored three touchdowns to overtake the Chiefs (3-3).

BY THE NUMBERS

K-State 44, Oklahoma State 9

First quarter

K-State: Sproles 38 yard run (kick blocked), 9:34
K-State: Wallace 36 yard pass from Roberson (rush failed), 7:02

Second quarter

OSU: Woods 27 yard pass from Fields (Phillips kick), 12:42
K-State: Saba 4 yard run (kick blocked), 9:18
OSU: Williams PAT return, 9:18
K-State: Morris 13 yard run (Rheem kick), 3:26

Third quarter

K-State: Roberson 1 yard run (rush failed), 11:10

Fourth quarter

K-State: Terry 47 yard pass from Roberson (Rheem kick), 12:46
K-State: Roberson 10 yard run (kick blocked), 8:48

Rushing: K-State — Sproles 18-130, Roberson 17-96, Davis 5-20, Wilson 3-15, Morris 6-20, Mann 1-11, Saba 2-7, Dunn 1-2, Alsup 1-1, Oklahoma State — Bell 15-63, Morency 4-7, Shaw 3-4, Fields 6-(-34).

Passing: K-State — Roberson 9-17-1-202, Dunn 0-1-0-0, Oklahoma State — Fields 15-38-2-133, Papp 1-6-2-11.

Receiving: K-State — Wallace 4-101, Terry 4-88, Hill 1-13, Oklahoma State — Woods 8-77, Lewis 4-33, Davis-Bryant 2-22, Lindsay 2-12

Team Statistics	OSU	KSU
First downs	14	25
Rushing	3	17
Passing	8	7
Penalty	3	1
Rushing attempts	28	54
Yards gained	80	315
Yards lost	40	18
Net yards	40	297
Net yards passing	144	202
Passes attempted	44	18
Passes completed	16	9
Had intercepted	4	2
Total offensive plays	72	72
Total net yards	184	499
Avg. gain per play	2.6	6.9
Fumbles: number-lost	1-1	2-2
Penalties: number-yards	8-49	11-91
Number of punts-yards	7-286	3-114
Avg. per punt	40.9	38.0
Punt returns: number-yards	2-13	4-29
Kickoff returns: number-yards	3-51	1-20
Interceptions: number-yards	2-10	4-59
Fumble returns: number-yards	0-0	0-0
Miscellaneous yards	0	0
Possession time	27:29	32:31
Third-down conversions	5/16	8/13
Fourth-down conversions	1/3	1/1
Sacks by: number-yards	0-0	3-36

TOP 25

The Cats moved two spots in the latest Associated Press top 25 and four notches in the ESPN/USA Today rankings. Florida dropped out of the poll after a loss to LSU. And Texas, the Cats, next opponent, fell to No. 8 after a defeat to Oklahoma. Here's a glance at the rest of the top 25.

AP Top 25 Poll	Record	Pvs
1. Miami (65)	6-0	1
2. Oklahoma (9)	6-0	2
3. Virginia Tech	6-0	4
4. Ohio St.	7-0	5
5. Georgia	6-0	6
6. Oregon	6-0	7
7. Notre Dame	6-0	8
8. Texas	5-1	3
9. Iowa St.	6-1	11
10. Washington St.	6-1	12
11. Michigan	5-1	13
12. Florida St.	5-2	9
13. N.C. State	7-0	14
14. LSU	5-1	18
15. Iowa	6-1	17
16. Tennessee	4-2	10
17. K-State	5-1	19
18. Air Force	6-0	21
19. Southern Cal	4-2	20
20. Penn St.	4-2	15
21. Mississippi	5-1	25
22. Washington	4-2	22
23. Colorado	4-2	—
24. Alabama	4-2	—
25. Bowling Green	5-0	—

Others receiving votes: Florida 81, UCLA 79, Marshall 57, Nebraska 30, South Carolina 26, Arkansas 24, Colorado St. 22, Minnesota 18, Louisville 13, Auburn 9, Texas Tech 9, Boston College 8, California 8, Wisconsin 7, Pittsburgh 5, Virginia 5, Texas A&M 4, Arizona St. 1, Boise St. 1.

Volleyball demonstrates resiliency in 4-game win over Colorado at Ahearn

Wildcats' scrappy defense wins out in battle with Buffs' physical play; libero's dig total comes close to record

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State's volleyball team has been known for being a little blue-collar.

The Cats never have been a big team, senior libero Laura Downey-Wallace said, so that means they have to be a little more scrappy than their opponents.

On Saturday, that's how they were able to beat Colorado, she said.

Led by Downey-Wallace's 31 digs, K-State was able to get past Colorado this weekend in Ahearn Field House — winning in four games.

"We played scrappy defense tonight, but we had to," Downey-Wallace said.

- Game 1 K-State 30, Colorado 23
- Game 2 K-State 30, Colorado 24
- Game 3 K-State 17, Colorado 30
- Game 4 K-State 30, Colorado 23

"They like to push quick, and they like to hit the deep balls to the corners, so we had to try to get those."

Downey-Wallace's 31 digs was the second most in a four-game match in school history. Dawn Cady also had 31 digs in 1999 against Texas A&M, and Mary Kinsey had 40 digs in 1987.

Coach Suzie Fritz said the libero is a position that has to be scrappy, and Downey-Wallace fits that description perfectly.

"She's just tenacious," she said.

"It's a combination of ability and heart in a libero. That's what you want — someone with a lot of heart, somebody who's got some guts to be able to take a hard-driven ball and not be afraid to take a shot now and again. She has that."

In game one, the Cats used a 9-0 run to build a cushion on Colorado out of the gates.

The teams traded points to start the match.

Then K-State rolled off nine straight, a lead that wouldn't get below seven as the Wildcats cruised to a 30-23 win in the opening game.

"That was great. That is probably one of the biggest streaks we've had all season," Downey-Wallace said.

"I definitely think it helped a lot because it's hard to come back from a deficit like that, even at the start of a game."

K-State was led by middle blocker Lauren Goehring and outside hitter Cari Jensen who tallied six and five kills, respectively.

"I thought we started fairly well in the first game, but we go through that lull and get a little complacent, thinking because we've taken care of them, we think we can slack off and keep that going," Goehring said.

See VOLLEYBALL Page 8

Drew Rose | COLLEGIAN

Outside Hitter Cari Jensen goes for a kill against Colorado's Maragda Santillana at Ahearn Field House on Saturday night.

Over The Top

Courtesy art

Grandiose action scenes make 'The Transporter' too sensational to believe

Even if the movie isn't very good, the car chases and fight scenes make it fun to watch.

Jason Statham ("Snatch") is Frank the transporter, a highly efficient driver who fights like a British cross between Arnold Schwarzenegger and Jackie Chan.

The movie opens with a flashy car chase that clocks in around six minutes.

This is basically the cockiest European car chase scene since "Ronin."

Small cars speed around sharp turns and get out of ridiculous situations while Statham never flinches.

The scene's main fault is that it goes over the top with impossible stunts that set the tone for the highly unbelievable film.

Yes, action movies are supposed to be a little outside the realm of possibility, but it's a fine line between the adrenalized scenes of "Die Hard" and the cheesy "yeah right" sequences of "Commando."

Director Cory Yuen quickly loses touch with reality and comes close to losing his audience, too.

Frank has three rules: 1. Once a deal is agreed to, no changes are made. 2. No names. 3. Never look in the package he is transporting.

Of course, the plot is set in motion when he looks in the wrong package and finds a kidnapped girl.

A mafia cartel headed by the cheesily seedy Wall Street (Matt Schulze, "The Fast and the Furious") tries several times to kill Frank and has him arrested.

"THE TRANSPORTER"

★★★★★

Movie review by JJ Duncan

gives Frank 12 hours to bring them down. That's when things get really unbelievable and flashy.

From watching "Snatch," you'd never know Statham is so physically gifted.

In one scene he uses his shirt as a weapon. In another, he uses slick oil to get the fighting advantage.

The fight choreography betrays the time Yuen spent working with Jackie Chan as Statham uses the items around him as unlikely weapons.

Two things save this film from getting too ridiculous: the Luc

A sympathetic investigator believes him that the cartel is transporting people from the Philippines and Besson and Robert Mark Kamen screenplay and Statham.

The French writer, Besson, gained praise for his work on "Subway," "La Femme Nikita," and "The Professional."

His writing has a distinct style that shows mainly in the shady criminals and the professional, knowledgeable Frank.

Statham makes Frank a believable, jaded ex-soldier who knows how to handle himself in a fight. This movie shows a new side of Statham as he uses his kickboxing and martial arts experience to impress audiences.

It's just too bad Yuen pushed this movie over the edge.

The other characters are over-acted, walking clichés, and the action scenes were made for fans of Schwarzenegger's worst work.

Witty script saves shallow characters

Have you ever wondered what a drama from the WB would look like on late-night Showtime? "The Rules of Attraction" is more than teen idols and bared skin, but it does give you a pretty good idea.

Based on Bret Easton Ellis' second novel, "The Rules of Attraction" tells the tale of some over-indulgent Ivy Leaguers and how rough life is when it consists of being rich, doing drugs and having sex.

Director Roger Avary, who did "Killing Zoe" and co-wrote "Pulp Fiction," has made a movie that is undeniably cool yet overwhelmingly pathetic.

The cast is introduced at the end of a dramatic party that leaves the three main characters at rock bottom.

Before the opening credits we see how bad this night has been for them through short vignettes. Avary's highly stylized and edited style then brings us back to the beginning of the semester where this story began.

The movie has more than camera tricks to distinguish itself from bubble-gum teen pop. Lauren Hynde (Shannyn Sossamon) doesn't appear to have any problems other than avoiding the unwanted wooing of Sean Bateman (James Van Der Beek). But when Lauren is raped and vomited on in the first five minutes, it becomes obvious this movie isn't exactly light.

Sean quickly talks his way into a freshman's panties to alleviate the pain of being dismissed by Lauren.

The camera then goes back to Paul Denton (Ian Somerhalder), who is in the same situation as Sean, with a different sexual orientation. Paul is flagrantly homosexual, but is attracted only to heterosexuals. He's been trying to move in on Sean, who remains oblivious of Paul's intention or his existence.

Since he can't have Sean, Paul settles for trying to convert another random straight guy with some MDMA and a backrub. The film then rushes back through time to trace how these three characters came to ruin. Clever dialogue from Ellis and hip camera work from Avary keep things interesting and exciting.

Avary tries to offset the vulgarity of the story with some dark and twisted humor but ends up only accentuating it. When Fred Savage holds a lit cigarette in his bellybutton during a brief cameo, it is funny but also repulsive.

The split screens, sped-up film and other antics Avary pulls with the camera are awesome when they are appropriate, but some of the tricks come off as flashy gimmicks.

Unfortunately, Ellis' characters are so shallow and vile that they are unable to generate concern, and any message they were meant to convey is lost. The film features great performances, but the character flaws are beyond repair.

A slick style and sharp wit make the movie likable even though the characters are not. "The Rules of Attraction" is worth seeing if only to provide an inflated sense of morality.

"RULES OF ATTRACTION"

★★★★★

Movie review by Adam Lee

Newest Tom Petty album criticizes commercialism

At the age of 51, Tom Petty has apparently become fed up with commercial culture.

Mixing attacks on music companies and commercial radio with a nostalgia for the past, Tom Petty never has sounded so cynical. Coming off an induction to the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and a new marriage, it seems strange his most aggressive work would come so unexpectedly.

"The Last DJ" is a thematic album that focuses on three characters. First is a DJ. Next is a sell-out rock star named Johnny and a CEO named Joe.

Petty picks up the theme with stories but frees himself to do love songs also.

The album is weaker in the middle, but it's better than the "Echo." The weakest links are some of the slower songs.

The flowing ballad, "Like a Diamond" just doesn't work as a follow up to the angry, blues-laced "When a Kid Goes Bad."

Some of the love songs work, though. "You and Me" is a sweet charmer that deserves a few consecutive listens.

But the best part of the album is the protest music. This is a defiant side of Petty that people might remember from singles like "Refugee" and "I Won't Back Down," though nothing on this album is quite as catchy.

"Money Becomes King" is suspiciously similar to "Rebel Without a Clue," the smash single featuring Johnny Depp in the video.

Once again, Petty presents a well-meaning rock musician who becomes caught up in the frenzy of big money music.

This is a surprisingly strong Petty album, and any fan will be pleased with the evident passion with which he tackled it.

"THE LAST DJ"

★★★★★

Album review by Adam Lee

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

New York Mayor won't march at parade
Mayor Michael Bloomberg, told by organizers that he couldn't march in the annual Columbus Day Parade if accompanied by two cast members from "The Sopranos," said Friday he would skip the event.

Bloomberg spoke on his weekly radio show as the Columbus Citizens Foundation, which runs the parade, sought a federal court order banning him from bringing Dominic Chianese and Lorraine Bracco to New York's annual celebration of Italian pride.

Bloomberg said he would only attend if his guests were re-invited.

THE CHARTS

Billboard Hot 100

Top 10

1. "Dilemma," Nelly (featuring Kelly Rowland). Fo' Reel.
2. "A Moment Like This," Kelly Clarkson. RCA.
3. "Gangsta Lovin'," Eve (featuring Alicia Keys). Ruff Ryders.
4. "Hey Ma," Cam'ron (featuring Juelz Santana, Freekey Zekey & Toya. Roc-A-Fella/Def Jam.
5. "Work It," Missy "Misdemeanor" Elliott. The Gold Mind/Elektra.
6. "Complicated," Avril Lavigne. Arista.
7. "One Last Breath," Creed. Wind-up.
8. "Underneath It All," No Doubt, featuring Lady Saw. Interscope.
9. "Lose Yourself," Eminem. Shady.
10. "Luv U Better," LL Cool J. Def Jam.

Billboard 200 Top Albums

Top 10

1. "Elvis: 30 31 Hits," Elvis Presley. RCA.
2. "Forty Licks," The Rolling Stones. ABKCO.
3. "Man vs. Machine," Xzibit. Loud/Columbia.
4. "American Idol: Greatest Moments," Soundtrack. RCA.
5. "Home," Dixie Chicks. Monument/Columbia.
6. "Let Go," Avril Lavigne. Arista.
7. "The Young and the Hopeless," Good Charlotte. Daylight.
8. "Nellyville," Nelly. Fo' Reel.
9. "The Eminem Show," Eminem. Web.
10. "Believe," Disturbed. Warner Bros.

Hot Adult Contemporary

Top 5

1. "Complicated," Avril Lavigne. Arista.
2. "One Last Breath," Creed. Wind-Up.
3. "Where Are You Going?," Dave Matthews Band. RCA.
4. "The Middle," Jimmy Eat World. Dreamworks.
5. "A Thousand Miles," Vanessa Carlton. A&M.

Hot Country Singles

Top 5

1. "Somebody Like You," Keith Urban. Capitol.
2. "Beautiful Mess," Diamond Rio. Arista.
3. "Where Would You Be," Martina McBride. RCA.
4. "The Impossible," Joe Nichols. Universal.
5. "Work in Progress," Alan Jackson. Arista Nashville.

Top Electronic Albums

Top 5

1. "Dirty Vegas," Dirty Vegas. Capitol.
2. "Heaven," DJ Sammy. Robbins.
3. "AHundredDaysOff," Underworld. V2.
4. "Bunkka," Oakenfold. Warner Bros.
5. "18," Moby. V2.

Top Independent Albums

Top 5

1. "This Side," Nickel Creek. Sugar Hill.
2. "Jerusalem," Steve Earle. Artemis.
3. "Thug Misses," Khia, featuring DSD. Artemis.
4. "Imagine," Eva Cassidy. Blix Street.
5. "Reggae Gold 2002," Various Artists. VP.

Weekly charts for the nation's best-selling recorded music as they appear in next week's issue of Billboard magazine. Reprinted with permission.

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

COWBOYS | Roberson leads high-octane offense

Continued from Page 6

gives you a feeling of confidence so we were very excited about that. It was really a big part of it."

That confidence was gained in the form of a 38-yard touchdown run by Sproles.

The sophomore began and ended the Cats' first drive, which in turn helped open up the passing attack for later drives, running back coach Michael Smith said.

"He's starting to get the feel of it," he said. "We all know he has an amazing knack for seeing things."

And as the running game was being established, the passing attack was giving the Oklahoma State defense fits as well.

But it didn't all start out peas and carrots in the meticulous eyes of Hudson.

After completing two throws to James Terry, Roberson then hooked up with Taco Wallace for a 36-yard touchdown pass — a throw that somehow made its way through double-coverage.

And despite the score being 12-0, Hudson wasn't satisfied.

"I got Eli on the phone and said, 'That's the old Eli there. That's the Eli of last year, trying to throw it into coverage.' That's what he tried to do," Hudson said.

"Taco made a great catch, and the throw was impeccable, but the guy that was open was the guy on the sideline. But that's all part of the learning process, and we just have to try to get Eli to not try to force the ball. And if we can get him to do that, we feel good."

Roberson was nine for 17 throwing, for 202 yards and two touchdowns. He also ran for 96 yards and two scores.

Linebacker Terry Pierce rushes Oklahoma State quarterback Josh Fields during Saturday's 44-9 win.

Texas time decided

K-State will play Texas next weekend at 6 p.m., the conference announced Sunday. The game will be broadcast on Fox Sports Net.

On defense, a statement had to be made, linebacker Josh Buhl said.

After a sub-par performance against Colorado—Buhl said the defense got out of the gates early.

"That first play we knew we were going to have to smash them, and we did that on the first play," Buhl said.

"Then we continued to do that for four quarters."

Buhl said a big key to the game was getting pressure on OSU quarterback Josh Fields.

A 56-percent passer during the season, Fields completed just 15 of 38 throws on the afternoon.

"We had a really good pass rush this week," Buhl said. "We knew we were going to have to do that, and we prepared ourselves all week. We did a good job of that, our line got some sacks, and we played a very good game today."

Saturday was all about gaining confidence, though, Coach Bill Snyder said.

Wins and losses are important, but executing an offense correctly and making plays on defense are what matter because those are what give you confidence going into the next game, he said.

"To me, it's not always winning and losing, but establishing confidence," he said.

"You can't play this game if you don't have some confidence. And you gain confidence by how you prepare yourself."

"The important thing is not to have confidence right now, but to have confidence before two o'clock or whatever time we play that game next week."

DEFENSE | Cats put clamps on Oklahoma State

Continued from Page 6

solo tackles against Oklahoma State.

Freshman defensive back Jesse Tetuan, who recorded an interception in his first start as a Wildcat on Saturday, said the solid performance was a meaningful one for the secondary.

"For the people who watched, I hope they realized how hard we worked this week," he said. "It was a big step for us to know that, after a showing like last week, we can come back and play well."

It also was a key that the secondary be able to contain Woods, and K-State had a plan for that as well — put Terence Newman on him.

While Woods did have the Cowboys' lone touchdown on a 27-yard reception, Snyder said the play was questionable and the decision to put Newman on Woods was elementary.

"I was looking right down at it, and I thought it was a push off," Snyder said. "But what I think about it and how it shows up on film tonight may be another thing.

"I told Terence I had all the confidence in the world in him," he said. "If I didn't have all the confidence in the world, then we would have put two guys on him and put Terence on somebody else."

Snyder said Newman struggled to contain Woods early on but gained confidence as the game wore on.

"I thought, early in the ball game, that he (Newman) was a little tentative, that he was a little on his heels," he said. "And Rashaun, who is a very fine receiver, caught some balls underneath."

"But as the game went on, you could just see it," he said. "You could see him gain confidence. And, consequently, just his body presence exuded confidence. By the end, Terence was hoping they'd throw the ball over there."

Newman said he was happy to have countered the ability of Woods but noted the importance of the performance of the entire secondary.

"I was very excited," Newman said. "Going into it in the first quarter, I was on my heels a little bit, and I was a little hesitant with what I was doing in coverage. But after I settled down a little bit, I got a lot more confident."

While the Cats struggled with a quality team in Colorado, they dominated one in the Cowboys.

Defensive coordinator Bob Elliott said the performance against the Cowboys was more indicative of the capability of his secondary.

"Colorado locked everybody in there and just ran one or two guys down the field. They tricked us a couple of times. Otherwise, they don't have a day throwing the ball either," Elliott said. "We needed a win, and we needed to play well. We did that today."

Snyder said the secondary did what he puts it on the field to do.

"I expected that they would come to play," Snyder said. "They prepared themselves during the course of the week to be able to play this game as well as they could."

"I was pleased. When they had to stand up, they stood up."

VOLLEYBALL | KSU extends winning streak to 3

Continued from Page 6

That lull came in the third game when the Cats hit just .068, while Colorado blistered on a .429 hitting percentage.

The Buffaloes also changed a few things around, Fritz said.

Allison Barnes, who started at setter for Colorado, was replaced by Elizabeth Gower, who is the team's normal setter.

Fritz said it was a combination of CU becoming more comfortable and K-State not executing in the third game.

"They made a switch. All of a sudden then Gower was setting for them," she said.

"They were a little more comfortable — that's what they've been doing all year. I think it was a combination of us losing focus and them being in a system they were a little more familiar with."

But three different runs of three points for the Cats, coupled with fine defensive play, allowed K-State to finish off Colorado in the fourth game.

During a 5-0 run midway through the final game, the Cats scored on four blocks. Goehring led the way defensively in the game, with three solo blocks.

Fritz said the blocking of Goehring and red shirt freshman Katie Stanzel was very impressive Saturday.

"We touched over 50 percent, and that's as good as we've been all year," she said.

"It's about reading and having good eyes, and being in the right place at the right time. I thought Stanzel and Goehring, in particular, did a nice job blocking."

But more than anything, it was crucial to get a win at home, Downey-Wallace said.

The Cats now have won three straight, with two of those coming in Ahearn.

"We need to get ourselves going at home," she said.

"We've practiced with more intensity lately and more with emphasis on trying to string success and string points together, try to earn real volleyball points — when we serve and play defense. I think it's paying off."

GOLF | Women to see common foes in tourney field

Continued from Page 6

but aggressive putts pushed the ball past four or five feet, and that makes it more difficult to earn par, Boucher said.

She said she hoped this week's practices would pay off, as she hoped to get more time on the putting clock.

For the third time this season, the K-State will face Big 12 rival Kansas.

The Wildcats have finished above the Jayhawks both times they have seen them this fall.

The Cats also will see Notre Dame at the Sunflower Invitational, a team they have finished above twice this season as well.

This is good news as the Cats look to get the ball rolling early.

"We can't give shots away," Boucher said. "There are a lot of things we need to do, and we will do our best to prepare for the next tournament in Wichita."

Kansas State Collegian
Wildcat fans' newspaper of choice

IF YOU ENJOY K-STATE BASKETBALL AND PLAY AN INSTRUMENT. COME BE A PART OF THE SPIRIT OF BRAMLAGE!

Basketball
'Cat Band
Auditions

Thursday, October 17th
6:30 p.m.

226 McCain Auditorium

SIGN UP FOR AN AUDITION OUTSIDE 201
McCain. IF YOU HAVE QUESTIONS, CALL:
UNIVERSITY BANDS AT 532-3816

ACADEMIC

11 a.m. to 3 p.m.
K-State Student Union
Grand Ballroom

MAJORS FAIR

OCTOBER 15, 2002

SPONSORS

Academic and Career Information Center
Arts and Sciences Open Option Program
Housing and Dining Services

Colleges

Agriculture
Architecture, Planning, and Design
Arts and Sciences
Business Administration
Education
Engineering
Human Ecology
Technology and Aviation
Veterinary Medicine

RING WEEK IS HERE!

Students with 60* credit hours can order their official K-State Class Rings this week. Look for the ArtCarved ring table in front of the Union Bookstore through Oct. 18.

December graduates: this is your last chance to order your ring in time for graduation.

Check out
www.K-State.com/Merchandise
for more information about the rings.

BECOME A PART OF A K-STATE TRADITION

*Transfer students must have 90 credit hours to qualify.

K-STATE TOUCHDOWNS SCORE BIG SAVINGS FOR YOU!

FOR EVERY TOUCHDOWN
THE CATS SCORE AGAINST
OSU ON SATURDAY, K-STATE
STUDENT UNION BOOKSTORE
WILL TAKE 5% ...UP TO 25% OFF
OF K-STATE APPAREL & GIFTS!

Union Hours:

8:00 a.m. - 8:00 p.m. Mon. - Sat.
11:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m. Sundays

Limited to regular priced in stock merchandise.
Purchases must be made in the store.
Not applicable with other coupons and/or discounts.

GO CATS!!!

Bookstore

K-STATE STUDENT UNION BOOKSTORE
532-6583
www.ksubookstore.com

DAVID D. COLE
Professor at Georgetown University Law Center

Enemy Aliens: September 11, the Rights of Immigrants, and the Rights of Us All

Tuesday,
October 15, 2002
7:00 p.m.
Forum Hall
KSU Student Union

SNIPER | Investigators release composites, defend new policy of releasing less information to public, media

Continued from Page 1

Also Sunday, calls continued to flood tipster hot lines with information about white box trucks and a second white vehicle, a Chevrolet Astro van, seen at two or more of the killing sites.

And authorities began describing the serial sniper as not just a local threat, but an attempt to terrorize an already anxious nation. "This reminds us that people in our past have tried to intimidate and put fear into Americans," Moose said.

"This is a strong nation ... and we will not be intimidated." At the sprawling Covenant Life Church in Gaithersburg, Va., pastor C.J. Mahaney urged Sunday worshippers to turn off their televisions and turn to God.

"I am concerned there is too little faith and too much fear," the preacher said from the pulpit.

The victims, in Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D.C., were shot as they carried out daily errands, including mowing grass, shopping and pumping gas.

Four were killed at service stations.

County, state and federal investigators won't say if they know much about the killer, whose only apparent communication to police was a tarot card left at one shooting scene with the words, "Dear Policeman, I am God."

Moose refused to comment on reports that the FBI has asked the Pentagon to search its records for recently discharged GIs who had gone through sniper school. FBI spokesman Mike Saltz declined to comment on any investigative leads and the ATF's Bouchard said: "I don't think you need special training. Obviously the person has practiced before."

Investigators also would not discuss reports that a scrap of paper found at the site of the latest killing contained scribbled directions from northern Maryland to the Capital Beltway.

Authorities told residents to keep looking for a white truck matching composite images released Saturday and based on witness descriptions from more than one shooting.

With no known shootings since Friday morning, a reporter asked Moose if he was worried about Monday. One week ago, the killer apparently took the weekend off, only to strike again on Monday, Oct. 7.

"We won't make any assumptions about any kind of pattern," Moose said. "I never approach Monday morning with a sense of dread."

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

120 For Rent-Houses

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

RESERVE NOW for next semester. Four-bedroom, two bath brick home west of KSU stadium. Completely remodeled with everything new. No pets. (785)556-6899.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744. www.ksu.edu/ksfc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chugharper@man.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

NEW LOCATION as of October 1. Lewis's Auto Repair 610 B South Juliette. (785)770-8553. $40.00/hour labor rate call for appointment.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100 housing/real estate

PAWNEE Mental Health Services
Contract Services - As needed basis
Interpreters needed in the following languages:
Hungul Spanish

- Ability to effectively interpret and translate in the Hungul or Spanish language between client and support/clinical staff
- Translates discussions, questions and answers so that the client and clinical staff may participate in discussions
- High school diploma or equivalent required, ability to fluently communicate in English and Hungul or Spanish
- Successful completion of Interpreter Development Services 5 day (40 hour) "Professional Training For Medical and Social Service Interpreters" at the first available opportunity following agreement of contract services, training provided at no cost to the contractor

Please submit resume, references and salary requirements
HR Coordinator,
P.O. Box 747, Manhattan, KS 66505-0747
Equal Opportunity Employer

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM. TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

115 Rooms Available

INDIVIDUAL DSL/CABLE access. Newly remodeled house, five minute walk to campus, off-street parking. $240 monthly. Call (785)776-3454 or (785)317-2456.

120 For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM. NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT to campus, nice four, six-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7050.

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE with over 2,000 square feet. Close to campus. No Pets. Call John at (785)313-7473.

TWO-BEDROOM. TWO blocks from campus, central air, washer/dryer hook-ups, garage, off-street parking. Available November 1. 1508 Jarvis, $650. (785)341-5160.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for four-bedroom, two bathroom apartment for next semester. Rent $240/month. Call Emily at (913)908-5435.

INDIVIDUAL DSL/CABLE access. Newly remodeled house, five minute walk to campus, off-street parking. $240 monthly. Call (785)776-3454 or (785)317-2456.

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592 or (785)341-5105.

150 Sublease

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. 1031 Moro. $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

SUBLEASER NEEDED for one bedroom in new three-bedroom house for Spring semester. $265 rent, cheap bills, laundry, parking. (785)323-1141.

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xcalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)781-6695.

PAWNEE Mental Health Services
Contract Services - As needed basis
Interpreters needed in:
American Sign Language

- Ability to effectively interpret and translate in American Sign Language between client and support/clinical staff
- Translates discussions, questions and answers so that the client and clinical staff may participate in discussions
- High school diploma or equivalent required, ability to fluently communicate in English and American Sign Language
- Successful completion of Interpreter Development Services 5 day (40 hour) "Professional Training For Medical and Social Service Interpreters" at the first available opportunity following agreement of contract services, training provided at no cost to the contractor

Please submit resume, references and salary requirements
HR Coordinator,
P.O. Box 747, Manhattan, KS 66505-0747
Equal Opportunity Employer

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential making our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential! training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

FULL OR Part-time position available for chiropractic assistant. We seek a very special person, a good communicator with excellent people skills to join our enthusiastic and very dedicated team. Please apply at Sorell-Iversen Chiropractic at 2815 Anderson Ave. Manhattan.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com.

STUDENTS INTERNET USERS WANTED!

LABOR: PART-TIME position, Tuesday-Friday. Must be available to work 1-5 or 8-5 Tuesdays and Thursdays. Will include painting, yard work, maintenance, cleaning, etc. (785)539-2309.

52" COLOR TV Magnavox $575 or best offer (785)537-9212.

KING SIZE waterbed with head board/bookshelf. $100. (785)776-9873.

Fraternities • Sororities • Clubs
Student Groups

Earn $1,000-$2,000 this semester with a proven CampusFundraiser 3 hour fundraising event. Our programs make fundraising easy with no risks. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so get with the program! Contact CampusFundraiser at (888) 923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

310 Help Wanted

PART-TIME OFF and on evenings and weekends help needed with carpentry, repair, and painting. (785)537-7050.

RESORT ACTIVITIES, HOSPITALITY, AND GOLF INTERNSHIPS. Orlando, FL, Myrtle Beach and Hilton Head Island, SC. Now hiring for all positions and seasons! Take a semester off or summer and learn about the hospitality industry in sunny resort locations! Receive a certificate from the largest hospitality training company in the United States. Fully furnished housing, stipend and transportation provided. Three to six month internships. Call (888)859-5293 for more information and to set up a phone interview. www.AmericanHospitalityAcademy.com.

WEEKLY HOUSE-CLEANING, private home. Send qualifications, resume to: Student Publications, 103 Kedzie, c/o Box 5, Manhattan, KS 66506.

320 Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD. Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.drh-movement.org. www.humana.org. elfemarie@humana.org

330 Business Opportunities

WANTED: FIVE student GA and two reserved tickets for ISU. Please call (785)587-8079.

WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309.

500 transportation

1981 CADI Limo, good condition. Call (785)323-1414.

1993 BLACK Honda Prelude with sunroof. Good condition. 91,000 miles. $6100. (785)776-9873.

1994 FORD Tempo good condition, high miles, manual transmission. $900. (785)323-1687.

410 Items for Sale

510 Automobiles

1981 CADI Limo, good condition. Call (785)323-1414.

1993 BLACK Honda Prelude with sunroof. Good condition. 91,000 miles. $6100. (785)776-9873.

1994 FORD Tempo good condition, high miles, manual transmission. $900. (785)323-1687.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

LARGE, COMFY sofa great for naps, studying, watching movies with friends. Only $25. Call (785)776-6281.

435 Computers

21-INCH MONITOR, Sony Trinitron CRT 1600x1200 resolution 25mm aperture grill pitch. Specifications available at http://docs.us.dell.com/docs/monitors/55347/specs.htm $250, call (785)341-8691; if no answer leave message.

COMPUTER- IBM 333 mhz, 256 mb dram, 20 gb and 6 gb hds, cdr and cdrw. Windows XP, Wordperfect 2002 Suite. Inquires call (785)539-5634.

450 Pets and Supplies

FREE KITTENS. Seven weeks old. No shots. Free to good home. Call Josh at (785)341-6518 or Chris at (785)341-6256.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOOTBALL TICKETS for sale 785-317-3261.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

LARGE, COMFY sofa great for naps, studying, watching movies with friends. Only $25. Call (785)776-6281.

435 Computers

21-INCH MONITOR, Sony Trinitron CRT 1600x1200 resolution 25mm aperture grill pitch. Specifications available at http://docs.us.dell.com/docs/monitors/55347/specs.htm $250, call (785)341-8691; if no answer leave message.

COMPUTER- IBM 333 mhz, 256 mb dram, 20 gb and 6 gb hds, cdr and cdrw. Windows XP, Wordperfect 2002 Suite. Inquires call (785)539-5634.

450 Pets and Supplies

FREE KITTENS. Seven weeks old. No shots. Free to good home. Call Josh at (785)341-6518 or Chris at (785)341-6256.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOOTBALL TICKETS for sale 785-317-3261.

FOR SALE: Three student tickets. KSU vs. Texas. Make offer. Email: ayb5983@ksu.edu or call (785)341-6212. Ask for Tony.

WANT TO buy ICAT tickets to Texas and Iowa State. Call (785)313-1711.

WANTED: FIVE student GA and two reserved tickets for ISU. Please call (785)587-8079.

WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309.

500 transportation

1981 CADI Limo, good condition. Call (785)323-1414.

1993 BLACK Honda Prelude with sunroof. Good condition. 91,000 miles. $6100. (785)776-9873.

1994 FORD Tempo good condition, high miles, manual transmission. $900. (785)323-1687.

510 Automobiles

1981 CADI Limo, good condition. Call (785)323-1414.

1993 BLACK Honda Prelude with sunroof. Good condition. 91,000 miles. $6100. (785)776-9873.

1994 FORD Tempo good condition, high miles, manual transmission. $900. (785)323-1687.

510 Automobiles

1981 CADI Limo, good condition. Call (785)323-1414.

1993 BLACK Honda Prelude with sunroof. Good condition. 91,000 miles. $6100. (785)776-9873.

1994 FORD Tempo good condition, high miles, manual transmission. $900. (785)323-1687.

510 Automobiles

1981 CADI Limo, good condition. Call (785)323-1414.

1993 BLACK Honda Prelude with sunroof. Good condition. 91,000 miles. $6100. (785)776-9873.

1994 FORD Tempo good condition, high miles, manual transmission. $900. (785)323-1687.

510 Automobiles

1997 HONDA Accord SE. Automatic, loaded, keyless entry, alloy wheels, tinted windows, well maintained. Call (785)770-9327.

1998 TOYOTA Tacoma Extended Cab 4x4, maroon, five-speed, cruise, power windows and locks. Great truck $11,500 firm. Call (785)341-6715.

MUST SELL 1988 Honda Accord. Well taken care of, great school car $2000 or best offer. Call (785)537-6091 or (785)341-2308.

530 Motorcycles

1999 SUZUKI Bandit 1200S, Fast Street fighter, black, many sweet mods, most speed, best looks for the money. $4900. (785)341-5059.

600 travel/trips

610 Tour Package

INTERNATIONAL DISCOUNTED airline tickets and rail passes. AAA Travel. (800)365-5222.

WINTER BREAK IN Steamboat. 3 to 7 NIGHTS. PACKAGES INCLUDE: Lodging, Lift Tickets, FREE Cable Charge, FREE Happy Hours, FREE Parties, Exclusive Discounts.

1.800.SUNCHASE steamboat.sunchase.com

#1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE. Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1! Breckenridge, Rail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin. $179. 1-800-SKI-WILD. 1-800-754-9453. www.skiwild.com

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Raps. Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext.14. Ask for Craig. www.usaspringbreak.com

Student Travel America

COLLEGE SNOW RIDE. Party 6 days, 5 nts, with a 4 day lift ticket. OURANGU MOUNTAIN RESORT COLORADO. call (800) 235-TRIP. www.studenttravelamerica.com

8600 bulletin board

100 housing/real estate

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

400 open market

500 transportation

600 travel/trips

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$8.00
each word over 20
20¢ per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.40
each word over 20
25¢ per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.05
each word over 20
30¢ per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less
$12.25
each word over 20
35¢ per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less
$13.35
each word over 20
40¢ per word
(consecutive day rate)

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPADRE, 110% Best Prices! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts, Now Hiring Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007 endlessummers.com

1 KSU SPRING BREAK. ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price, FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends-travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Madrigal. TRAVEL FREE, Reps needed, earn $$$ Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578) dept. 2626 / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1443 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Raps. Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext.14. Ask for Craig. www.usaspringbreak.com

Student Travel America

COLLEGE SNOW RIDE. Party 6 days, 5 nts, with a 4 day lift ticket. OURANGU MOUNTAIN RESORT COLORADO. call (800) 235-TRIP. www.studenttravelamerica.com

8600 bulletin board

100 housing/real estate

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

400 open market

500 transportation

600 travel/trips

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$8.00
each word over 20
20¢ per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.40
each word over 20
25¢ per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.05
each word over 20
30¢ per word

SAFERIDE Board to vote on busing system

Continued from Page 1

He said the task force is now in contact with the Riley County district attorney discussing if a portion of money from DUIs in Riley County could be utilized for SafeRide. Kohman said the task force also is seeking corporate sponsors to help pay for SafeRide costs. Task force members will speak to the Aggieville Business Association, Briggs Auto Group and other corporations, Kohman said.

Then, he said the task force will have to iron out logistics, such as where pick-up and drop off points would be, who will have privileges to use SafeRide and how to address abuses of the program.

"We don't know if we will have to issue cards, or an electronic slip you can print off KATS," Kohman said. "These are all issues the task force will have to decide. So, it's starting to come together."

A plebiscite vote last spring showed most students favored a SafeRide program. It also showed the majority of them would utilize the service, and a majority would pay $2 per semester for it. Kohman said there still is a positive response to the program.

"From what we've got going on so far, the feedback seems real positive," he said. "I'm excited for the students because I think we've got everyone working on the same page for the same goal, and I hope before I graduate, which is in May, I'll be able to take the SafeRide bus home some night."

Once there is more of a concrete program, Kohman said he and task force members will speak to student groups, such as GAMMA, Greeks Advocating the Mature Management of Alcohol and greek houses, to gain their input. Kohman said implementing a SafeRide program is important to ensure the safety of students and others.

"If we save one life, if we avert one person from driving drunk and killing themselves or another, then this program is a success," he said. "There is no dollar amount on student safety and a life. It's worth it."

ROTC | Cadets put in 6 hours of work to clean up KSU stadium after home football games

Continued from Page 1

The cleaning process begins Thursdays, when Aaron Devan, senior in electrical engineering and cadet wing commander, meets with athletic department officials to discuss any progress.

Then, after every home football game, cadets arrive about five hours after the game begins. They begin by picking up the north lawn of the stadium, then comb the stands for any leftover beverages and dump them into buckets to be drained. The cadets are split into different groups, each with its own responsibility.

"We use souped-up leaf blowers to blow the trash into the white aisles, then we sweep up any accumulated trash and bag it," said Steven Sisson, senior in marketing and public relations officer for the 270th cadet wing. "It is really a pretty efficient way of collecting all of the trash. The blowers will pick up everything there is to get."

Devan said there is more trash in certain sections.

"The alumni section is surprisingly the area with the most trash, and the student section is probably the cleanest," Devan said.

Mark Schnell, freshman in architectural engineering and first-year cadet, said he appreciates sections that clean up their trash.

"The band does an awesome job of picking up after themselves after every game," he said.

Cleaning the stadium helps avoid bird and insect problems, but it can be dirty. Air Force ROTC cadets don't seem to mind.

"You get to know people in the corps, and that makes it fun," Auld said. "Plus you find some pretty interesting things sometimes. I found a new sweatshirt the other day, a food coupon and some sunglasses."

Other cadets have found money, cell phones and even a hearing aid.

"It's fun in its own weird way," said Jeff Boyles, senior in geography and director of training.

"You get a chance to communicate with each other on a social level, and that's something we don't have time to do otherwise."

Sisson said the work is worth it.

"It's hard work, but it is a lot of fun getting to hang out and joke around," Sisson said. "Granted, it's dirty work, but it's still a lot of fun."

It's also the main source of income for the corps. It earns $3,000 per game.

"It's the way we pay for all the things we do," Sisson said. "It carries us through the spring and summer. Basically, it pays for everything we do as a unit and funds the cadet lounge."

Devan said cadets are not required to go, but there is always a high turnout.

"It's kind of a neat management and leadership feat," he said.

"It is hard to inspire people to pick up trash and do it well, but they are up here after every game instead of going out with their friends or spending time with their family. They're dedicated to cleaning up trash to support our organization."

That dedication is evident in cadets like Owen Walker, second-year cadet from K-State-Salina.

He and other Salina cadets travel more than an hour to help clean the trash.

"I signed up to help because I receive a scholarship to help pay tuition," said Walker, sophomore in the professional pilot program. "It's the least I can do."

Later games mean later night for the clean-up crew. After evening games, cleaning starts around midnight and ends at 6 a.m. The next shift comes at 8 a.m. and ends around noon.

"It's a testament to the dedication of the corps," Sisson said. "There is the same number of people out here when it is bitter cold as there is on the first game in August, and about the same number of people at 6 p.m. as 2 a.m."

Sisson said most people don't realize the amount of work that goes into cleaning up a stadium and the surrounding area.

"Before I joined ROTC, I didn't realize how much trash there is or who cleans it up — you just don't think about it," he said. "You are kind of proud to get it all cleaned up," said Schnell, who normally comes for the night shift.

"I hope people recognize what we do and just how much of a chore this really is."

BUSH | Former president honors Eisenhower, celebrates renovations at library in Abilene

Continued from Page 1

here in Abilene can indeed change the world," Bush said.

"We are reminded that the same commitment to principle that radiated from here in the heart of America, together with presidential leadership, can continue to advance the cause of human freedom."

Bush urged the gathering of more than 4,000 people to "study Eisenhower's example carefully and do your best to follow it. If you do, I have no doubt that the best (for the country) is yet to be."

To emphasize his point, Bush quoted the late president's observation on the national importance of the Midwest: "Whatever America hopes to come to pass in the world must first come to pass in the heart of America."

As the nation considers military action against Iraq, Bush told the audience to take heed of a quote attrib-

Important people present

- Grandson David Eisenhower and his wife, Julie Nixon Eisenhower, of Berwyn, Pa.
- 41st President of the United States George H.W. Bush and former first lady Barbara Bush.
- Archivist of the United States John Carlin, former Kansas governor from 1979-87.
- Former Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, who served under former President Richard Nixon from 1969-73.
- Kansas Gov. Bill Graves.
- Sen. Pat Roberts, R-Kan.
- Rep. Jerry Moran, R-Kan.
- Abilene native Marlin Fitzwater, press secretary for former presidents Bush and Ronald Reagan.

- Two former Eisenhower staff members: Thomas R. Price, member of the late president's campaign staff in 1952; and Stanley M. Rumbough Jr., Eisenhower's special White House assistant in 1954.

- K-State Provost James Coffman, who helped establish the KSU Institute for Military History for 20th Century Studies in collaboration with the Eisenhower center and the Command General Staff College in Fort Leavenworth.

- Stewart Etherington, director of the Eisenhower Foundation and Abilene and Lynda Scheele, executive director of the foundation.

Former President George Bush speaks Saturday morning at the 50th Anniversary Celebration of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Presidency commemorating Eisenhower's 112th birthday in Abilene, Kan.

Kelly Glasscock
COLLEGIAN

uted to Eisenhower, commander in chief of the Allied forces during World War II.

"Americans, indeed all free men, remember that in the final choice, a soldier's pack is not so heavy as a prisoner's chains," Bush said, quoting Eisenhower.

Then, referring to his own son — George W. Bush — the former president asked audience members for their prayers and support for the president.

"He is leading with principle and, in the view of this totally unbiased observer, is making America proud," Bush said.

And Paton and Tate's conclusion to the appearance — "everything I expected and more," Tate said.

"I was a big fan of George H.W. Bush," Paton said. "So of course I respect the current president. This was great."

Little Caesars
Delivers the latest!
1 LARGE 14" PIZZA
WITH 1 TOPPING
$4.99
NO LIMITS
Valid only at participating locations. ©2001 L.C.E., Inc.
539-3333

HUNAM
Restaurant and Mongolian BBQ
1304 Westloop 339-8888
Lunch Buffet $4.95 All you can eat! Mon.-Sat.
Dinner Buffet $6.95 All you can eat!
Friday Seafood Buffet $7.95
$1.00 on Buffet
FREE DELIVERY
*OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK*

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER
"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."
539-3338
Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

GUMBY'S Pizza & Pub
702 N. 11th Street
Sunday 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Thurs. - Sat. 11 a.m. - 3:30 a.m.
Fast Delivery, Dine-in, Carry-Out
770-3333
1 Monday mania $3.99
LARGE CHEESE PIZZA • MONDAY ONLY
CARRY OUT ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA
2 stick it to me Tuesday
BUY ONE POKEY STICK AT REGULAR PRICE
GET ONE EQUAL OR LESSER VALUE FREE
DINE IN, CARRY OUT OR DELIVERY • TUESDAY
3 Wednesday wildcat $6.99
X-LARGE 16" CHEESE PIZZA • WEDNESDAY
ONLY • CARRY OUT ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA
EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH

OPEN to your world of IMAGINATION
During Bernina's Super Saturday Sale
October 19, 2002
All Bernina sewing machines, embroidery machines, software and more will be specially sale-priced.
You'll encounter a wealth of creative ideas and awe-inspiring products, like the new artista 200 sewing and embroidery system. And, you'll receive a very special financing offer:
No Interest and No Payments Until January 2004***
with select Bernina purchases over $1,000
PLUS
No Interest and Payments For 1 Year****
when you purchase the artista 200/200E
If you don't already have a Bernina credit card, come in and apply today!
Bernina Shoppe
330 N. 4th St.
Manhattan, KS 66502
Mon., Tues., Thurs., Fri.
10 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

* On your Bernina credit card, subject to credit approval. No interest, No Payments Until January 2004 Offer. Minimum purchase of $1,000 required. Finance charges will not be imposed on these purchases and payments will not be required until the 12-month promotional period of your account is kept current. Standard Rate APR for both No Interest, No Payments Until January 2004 and No Interest, No Payments For One Year Offer is 20.9%. For Accounts not kept current, the default rate 24.9% will be applied to all balances. Minimum Finance Charge $1.00. Offer valid on purchases made only on October 19, 2002. Certain rules apply to the allocation of payments and finance charges on your promotional purchase if you make more than one purchase on your Bernina credit card. Call 1-800-967-4110 or review your cardholder agreement for more information.
** On your Bernina credit card, subject to credit approval. No interest, No Payments For 1 Year** Offer. Minimum purchase of $1,000 required. Finance charges will not be imposed on these purchases and payments will not be required until the 12-month promotional period of your account is kept current. Standard Rate APR for both No Interest, No Payments Until January 2004 and No Interest, No Payments For One Year Offer is 20.9%. For Accounts not kept current, the default rate 24.9% will be applied to all balances. Minimum Finance Charge $1.00. Offer valid on purchases made only on October 19, 2002. Certain rules apply to the allocation of payments and finance charges on your promotional purchase if you make more than one purchase on your Bernina credit card. Call 1-800-967-4110 or review your cardholder agreement for more information.

GRADUATION FAIR

Kansas State University
Tuesday & Wednesday
October 15 & 16 noon-6p
Featured vendors include:
• C-B Graduation Announcements
• Artcarved Class Rings
• University Frames
[Get a free alumni license plate with your order while supplies last.]

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Tuesday, October 15, 2002

Former professor dies

Controversial author loses fight with lung cancer

Stephen Ambrose
HISTORIAN, FORMER
K-STATE PROFESSOR

By Scot Gammill
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Historian Stephen Ambrose died Sunday at a Bay St. Louis, Miss., hospital after fighting lung cancer since April. He was 66.

Ambrose, author of more than 30 history books, was a K-State faculty member during the 1969-70 academic year.

He was known for many things, including biographies of Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard Nixon. He also wrote "D-Day, June 6, 1944: The Climatic Battle of World War II" in 1995, the year after the 50th anniversary of the landing at Normandy. The HBO TV series "Band of Brothers" is based on some of his work.

He also founded the National D-Day Museum in New Orleans.

"He was a historian superstar," said Bob Linder, professor of history. "He became the most famous military historian

See AMBROSE Page 10

Police myths dispelled

Busy shifts, arrests characteristics of time spent on patrol

Day in the Life Of

The "Day in the Life Of" series will focus on people and their jobs, giving students a look into a daily life different from their own. A Collegian reporter will shadow the individual and tell his or her story.

By Sarah Rice
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Police officers have become the enemy as students on their own for the first time party among aggravated neighbors. The conflict is one that will not change as the men in blue uphold the law, but a greater understanding of their perspective may help students know how to better handle themselves when confronted with a badge. For that reason, I spent two shifts riding with officers in their patrol cars as they completed their daily routines of party-busting and speeder-stopping. Here's their story.

Day 1

7:10 a.m. Officer Patrick Tiede walks into the briefing room at the Riley County Police Department. As a senior

See POLICE Page 10

Virginian shot, killed

Investigators not ruling out connection to sniper shootings

By Matthew Barakat
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FALLS CHURCH, Va. — A woman was killed outside a Home Depot store Monday night, and police were trying to determine whether the shooting was related to the sniper spree responsible for eight deaths in the region in the past 12 days.

"A female has been shot and killed," said Fairfax County Police Lt. Amy Lubas.

The woman was felled by a single shot at about 9:30 p.m., authorities said. All the other deaths were also caused by one shot.

A police spokesman said roads were being closed in the area, about 10 miles west of Washington, D.C. The Maryland task force investigating the sniper attacks was conferring with Fairfax authorities to see if Monday's victim was the sniper's ninth.

Virginia State Police said they were looking for a white Chevrolet Astro van, last seen traveling east on Route 50 from Falls Church. Interstates 66 and 95 are nearby. Witnesses at some of the earlier shootings said a white van or truck left the scene.

The Home Depot is in the Seven Corners Shopping Center, a 450-thousand-square-foot strip shopping center with a parking garage. The center also has a grocery store, an electronics retailer and a pet supply retailer.

The body of the victim lay under a sheet in the parking lot in front of the Home Depot, on the first floor of a two-story structure, 30 yards from the store entrance.

A DEGREE BETTER

Women receiving more bachelor's degrees than men

By Shannon Hartenstein
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Women may have more opportunities and more education than ever, according to a recent report.

More American women than men have received bachelor's degrees every year since 1982, according to a July report from the U.S. Department of Commerce's Census Bureau.

On average, men still have more years of education than women, but the rate at which women have been attending college has increased, said Jim Ragan Jr., professor of economics. The number of women receiving bachelor's degrees almost has doubled since 1980, he said.

Ragan said there are several reasons for the trend.

"Over the last 30 years, wages have increased faster for women than men, so there's more of a reward for receiving a college degree for women than there was 30 years ago," he said.

Women are increasing their skills faster than men, Ragan said. The number of opportunities for women has also increased, he said.

In addition, the length of time women expect to spend in the labor force has increased, he said.

"The working life of women has increased," he said. "It's now financially more attractive to go out and get a college degree than it was 30 to 40 years ago."

Women are getting married and having children at later ages than they were 30 years ago, making it easier to work toward a degree, he said.

Melissa Divine, instructor of women's studies, said the trend also could be fueled by opportunities.

"One of the things is that doors are open now," she said. "We can get education. We're encouraged to get an education."

Divine said women may realize success can be achieved through a degree. It's no longer unusual for women to attend college, she said.

"We have templates for success," she said. "The templates we see on television shows show that it's not unusual to go to school. It's now unusual to find women who don't entertain that idea."

Today's career options are much more broad than in the past, Divine said. Women are shifting away from traditional female professions, she said.

"A lot of it is about understanding that 'I have to have a career that's dependable,'" she said.

"Knowledge is power, as cliché as it sounds. The one way that we have some control over our own destinies is being able to determine and have genuine choice. Financial freedom is one of the ways we can achieve that."

The trend could have important implications for women in the long run, Divine said.

"I think it's a continued cultural shift," she said. "Once women are allowed to compete, we will compete."

See WOMEN Page 10

Education levels determining factor of average earnings

By Shannon Hartenstein
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

More education could equal more lifetime earnings.

A recent report from the U.S. Department of Commerce's Census Bureau indicates that during the average adult's working life, people with bachelor's degrees earn about $1 million more than people with only high school degrees.

A master's degree recipient earns about $500,000 more than people with bachelor's degrees, and earnings increase by about $1 million for each additional degree thereafter, according to the report.

"I think that those figures are real and that people can realistically expect that their earning power will increase or commence with their education," said Jim Guikema, associate vice provost for graduate research and associate dean of the Graduate School. "If you look at how the earning potentials of the citizens of Kansas are impacted by what we do at Kansas State, the impact is tremendous. There are people in Kansas who are earning much more than if they had not had their contact with Kansas State."

Extra financial incentives

See DEGREES Page 10

The average earnings during the adult working life

Estimates are based on 1999 earnings projected over a typical work life, defined as the period between the ages of 25 and 64.

Source: U.S. Department of Commerce's Census Bureau

INSIDE

Manhattan metal: Little Apple bands defy pop culture, rock to edgier, hard music style

The Edge, Page 7

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Indonesia blames al-Qaeda for Bali bomb as U.S. citizens urged to flee
Indonesia's government, reeling from a bomb attack in Bali that killed at least 180 people, acknowledged for the first time that al-Qaeda is active on its soil — setting the stage for a crackdown on extremists.
Page 3

U.N. says Liberia smuggling military equipment violates sanctions
Liberia smuggled more than 200 tons of military equipment into the country in violation of U.N. sanctions, according to a U.N. report that calls for an arms embargo to be expanded.
Page 5

Shots fired from civilian vehicles at U.S. forces in Kuwait, no casualties
U.S. military forces in Kuwait came under gunfire Monday for the second time in a week, this time without any casualties. Shots were fired from two civilian vehicles on soldiers near a Kuwait training area.
Page 5

Union says GOP claims on work rules exaggerated in security debate
The battle between Democrats and Republicans over labor rights for a proposed Homeland Security Department's workers has caused a six-week impasse on Senate legislation that would create the agency.
Page 8

Party to challenge annulment of vote
Yugoslav President Vojislav Kostunica's party vowed to challenge the annulment of the Serbian presidential elections, claiming Monday that voter lists were inflated with the names of dead or nonexistent people.

Weather

Today 62 | 32

Wednesday 60 | 34

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 40

Interview Suits
23 Years of Launching Careers
with Professional Clothing
Borek Brothers
Westloop Shopping Center
785-537-8636 • www.borek-bros.com

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 The Supreme Court, e.g.
5 Nourished
8 Send out
12 Surpass a simmer
13 Meadow
14 Workbench attachment
15 Related to cooking
17 Singer
18 Trot
19 Penn pal
21 Scarecrow stuffing
24 Sly
28 Mine
29 Plain
30 Coach
31 Terrific
32 Appomattox VIP
33 Religious school
35 Arm bone
36 Battle the clock

DOWN
2 Chili notation
3 Zilch
4 Hebrew prophet
5 Standard
6 Away
7 Involving immediate concerns
8 Speed-reading teacher
9 "The — on the Fives"
10 Spot in the water
11 Lachrymal drop
16 Promptly
20 Egress
22 Rent
23 Rove
24 Jacques, e.g.
26 Divinely authoritative
27 Role for Calista
28 Actress
29 Calendar
31 Summer-time pest
34 Van Gogh subject
36 Herschel's
37 McBride of "Boston Public"

Solution time: 23 mins.

Yesterday's answer 10-15

CRYPTOQUIP
U H M K W T E W R G X T L U
L M A I T E Y S M H W I T U F X L G
A B W M U H M Y I L M S W K F A W
B W M S U W F X S U F W M B H G I T E
Yesterday's Cryptquip: IF SHEEP NEED SHEARING, DO YOU SUPPOSE THEY HEAD STRAIGHT FOR THE BAA BAA SHOP?
Today's Cryptquip Clue: U equals S

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK #1 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to: Cryptoclassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475
The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

FACES IN THE CROWD

Illustration by Adam Hayes COLLEGIAN

Jersey street to be renamed in honor of actor-director

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A New Jersey street will soon be renamed in honor of movie actor-director Kevin Smith, a native of the state who is now filming in a New Jersey community.

Paulsboro Mayor John Burzichelli said Thursday that officials plan to rename Tyler Street as Kevin Smith Way, but a date for the ceremony will not be scheduled until the proposal has been approved.

Large crowds have come to watch Smith film "Jersey Girl," a small-town love story starring off-screen couple Ben Affleck and Jennifer Lopez that began production in August.

Campbell decision reversed

Three appeal-court judges ruled Monday that a British newspaper was justified in publishing a photo of Naomi Campbell leaving a drug addiction center, as the fashion model had lied to the media about drug problems.

Earlier this year, a High Court judge ordered the Daily Mirror tabloid to pay Campbell $5,425 in damages and meet her court costs, reportedly $310,000.

The earlier decision came as a result of the judge's ruling that the newspaper had breached her right to confidentiality by running the story in February 2001.

Carter returns to normal life

After winning the Nobel Peace Prize, former President Carter spent Sunday morning teaching Sunday school in his southwest Georgia hometown.

The former president, who won the prize Friday for his peacemaking and humanitarian work, has been a member of Maranatha Baptist Church since he returned from the White House in 1981. Parishioners and visitors lined up at 7 a.m. to hear him speak.

Folk singer shows endurance

Lis Harvey can rest her voice now.

The folk singer reached her goal of performing in all 50 states in 60 days with a performance Sunday at Ginkgo Coffeehouse in St. Paul, Minn.

Harvey is trying to enter the Guinness Book of Records for the fastest 50-state tour by a solo female musician. She toured America in a borrowed station wagon, putting 17,000 miles on the car in two months.

Hundreds sing to Queen

Hundreds braved the wind and rain to serenade Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip in Ottawa — though the crowd was missing one politician who isn't a fan of the monarchy.

The queen, along with Prime Minister Jean Chretien and other dignitaries, watched a musical celebration Sunday that included singers and dancers.

Later, the royal couple and the prime minister joined hundreds of veterans and others at the National War Memorial in downtown Ottawa to lay a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Friday, Oct. 11

■ At 9:40 a.m., Timothy Blenn, 414 Osage, was arrested for worthless check. Bond was set at $1,288.23.
■ At 11:30 a.m., Peggy Wilson, Ogden, was arrested for probation violation. No bond was set.
■ At 12:45 p.m., Cedric Johnson, 2100 Prairie Glenn, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $27,750.
■ At 1:20 p.m., Matthew Arnold, 215 Ridge Drive, Apt. N, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $960.
■ At 4:10 p.m., William Burgess, 600 Riley Lane, was arrested for aggravated battery. Bond was set at $10,000.
■ At 4:30 p.m., Andrew Smith, 1224 Pomeroy, No. 1, was arrested for aggravated battery and abuse of a child. Bond was set at $50,000.
■ At 5:40 p.m., Matthew LaMaster, 1209 Yuma, was arrested for battery. No bond was set.
■ At 11:45 p.m., Jacob Gibbs, 2616 Brockman St., was arrested for possession of simulated controlled substances or drug paraphernalia and unlawful possession of substances. Bond was set at $1,000.
■ At 12:15 a.m., Bobby Henry, 1829 College Heights, Apt. 5, was arrested for aggravated assault and criminal use of weapons. Bond was set at $3,000.
■ At 1:40 a.m., Derrek Bunnell, 2523 Candle Crest, was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 1:48 a.m., Chad Barnes, 530 Bluemont Ave., was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 2:45 a.m., Jeffery Lundgren, Fort Riley, was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 10 a.m., Bobby Pearson, Ogden, was arrested for burglary. Bond was set at $1,000.
■ At 11:10 a.m., Thomas Murphy, 1126 Ratone, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $665.81.
■ At 1:50 p.m., Charlene Toombs, 1302 Flinthills, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $3,000.
■ At 3:23 p.m., Daniel Thornton, 715 Colorado, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $279.
■ At 4 p.m., Brad Freidenberger, 2421 Woodway, Apt. K, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $154.
■ At 7:30 p.m., Vincent Hope, 3000 Tuttle Creek Blvd., No. 403, was arrested for worthless check, failure to appear and DUI. Bond was set at $1,550.
■ At 7:55 p.m., Abraham Morales, 2225 Browning, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $750.
■ At 10:35 p.m., Jeremiah Abbott, 3014 Sandstone, was arrested for possession of simulated controlled substances or drug paraphernalia and unlawful possession of substances. Bond was set at $1,000.
■ At 10:45 p.m., Jeremy Boger, 2014 Seaton, Apt. 6, was arrested for possession of simulated controlled substances or drug paraphernalia and unlawful possession of substances. Bond was set at $2,000.

Sunday, Oct. 13

■ At 12:01 a.m., Kurt Brundage, 21 Goodnow Hall, was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.

The planner | Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ The Dorothy L. Thompson Lecture Series that was scheduled for tonight in the Union Forum Hall is canceled because of unforeseen circumstances.
■ Fort Riley classes will run today through Dec. 14. The dates have changed since publication of the line schedule. Civilian enrollment starts Oct. 7.
■ Up 'Til Dawn is accepting applications for six-person teams to raise money for St. Jude Children's Hospital from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in Holton 203.
■ Recreational Services will be taking entries for intramural volleyball, four-wall handball singles, four-wall racquetball singles, squash singles, table tennis singles and the HORSE shootout today through Thursday in the administrative office.
■ 2002-03 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Friday, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.
■ Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house on 918 N. Manhattan.
■ "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 in Hale Library's second floor.
■ Basic library classes will be from 10 to 10:45 a.m. today in Hale 408 and 7 to 7:45 tonight in Hale 114.
■ Royal Purple yearbook pictures will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in Moore Hall and from 6:30 to 9:30 tonight in Putnam Hall and Alpha Gamma Rho.

■ Voter registration tables will be set up from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. today in the Union Plaza.
■ Frankenstein: Terrifying Tuesday Lecture Series will have David Pauls present "Frankenstein in the Future: Medical Ethics and the Monster" at noon in Hale Hemisphere Room.
■ Vetcats Toastmasters will meet from noon to 1 p.m. today in the Hills Center on the fourth floor of Trotter Hall.
■ Career and Employment Services will conduct an Experiential Learning Orientation Workshop at 2:30 p.m. today in Holtz Hall. Call (785) 532-6505 for a reservation.
■ BAPP will meet at 5 p.m. today in Calvin 218.
■ Union Program Council is having an all UPC meeting at 5 p.m. today in Union Station.
■ GAMMA will meet and have a speaker on alcohol poisoning at 6 tonight in Union 213.
■ The Lutheran Campus Ministry will meet for supper and Bible study at 6 p.m. today at 1745 Anderson Ave.
■ SGA committee meetings today in OSAS conference room: senate operations at 6 p.m. and governmental relations at 9 p.m.
■ The Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30 p.m. tonight in Hale Library Tower Room 3.
■ Students for Environmental Action will meet at 7 tonight in Union 209.
■ K-State Ski Club will meet at 8:30 tonight in Union 209.
■ The Association of Residence Halls will have a General Body meeting at 9 p.m. Wednesday in Union Big 12.
■ Future Financial Planners will meet and have a guest speaker at 5:30 p.m. Thursday in Union Staterooms 1 and 2.
■ A Community Service Program International and Kansas teams informational meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. on Oct. 22 in Union 212.

Corrections and clarifications
There was an error in Monday's Collegian. The president of the Manhattan chapter of Phi Delta Theta is Mike Arlesic. Kevin Gorman is the activities chair at the Salina chapter. There was an error in the Oct. 8 Collegian. Eric Aggson is not the director of Axé Capoeira, and the group did not initiate break dancing. A dojo is not a martial arts master. The Collegian regrets the errors.

Kansas State Collegian
(USPS 291-020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.
© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

✓electronic file submission
Claflin Books and Copies
Little Caesars
TUESDAY SPECIAL!
18" GIANT PIZZA
WITH 1 TOPPING
PLUS AN 8" PICE ORDER
OF CRAZY BREAD
$8.99
539-3333
No Coupon Necessary
Valid only at participating locations. ©2001 L.C.I., Inc.

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER
"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."
539-3338
Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

GAME GUY
Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent
Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games
Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5
(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA.

Aggie Station
RESTAURANT & PUB
710 N. Manhattan
Tuesday Karaoke
Win Nickelback tickets!

PIZZA SHUTTLE
DELIVERS
1800 Claflin Road
776-5577
We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

Royal altering | STATE
Tuesday, October 15
Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures
Moore Hall & Union
10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.
Putnam Hall & Alpha Gamma Rho
6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
Next up: Wednesday, Oct. 16
West Hall 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Alpha Gamma Rho 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

RING WEEK IS HERE!
Students with 60* credit hours can order their official K-State Class Rings this week. Look for the ArtCarved ring table in front of the Union Bookstore through Oct. 18.
December graduates: this is your last chance to order your ring in time for graduation.
Check out
www.K-State.com/Merchandise
for more information about the rings.
BECOME A PART OF A K-STATE TRADITION
*Transfer students must have 90 credit hours to qualify.

Advanced Dermatology, P.A.
John R. Adams, M.D.
• Board Certified Dermatologist
• Fellow American Academy of Dermatology
• Fellow American Society for Dermatologic Surgery
Specializing in diseases of the skin including:
MOLES • ACNE • RASHES • HAIR LOSS
Laser treatment available for removal of unwanted hair and blood vessels
785-537-4990
Blue Cross Blue Shield
VISA MasterCard
1133 College Avenue, Suite E230
Manhattan Medical Center at College & Claflin, Building E

Local transportation agency delays vote on SafeRide proposal

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Board members of the Riley County Area Transportation Agency said Monday they needed more detailed information about SafeRide, a late-night transportation program, before voting to allow use of their services.

Members tabled the issue, requesting further dialogue between ATA and K-State.

K-State's SafeRide Task Force had contacted ATA Executive Director Richard Daily about using ATA's buses to transport students from Aggieville and campus during Friday and Saturday nights, and possibly Thursday nights. Shifts would run from about 11:30 p.m. to 2:30 a.m.

Daily presented the idea to the board and outlined requirements he had discussed with the task force — no funding from ATA, time-and-a-half pay for drivers, an on-call dispatcher and someone sober accompanying the driver.

"My thought from the business standpoint is it's more money," Daily said. "But it's also a service to the community."

However, the board wanted specifics regarding cost, revenue, the necessity of a program, who else had been contacted about it, bussing routes and safety of drivers.

"K-State has a shuttle service of its own. Why don't they use it?" board member Robert Smith said.

He said revenue would have to be substantial for ATA to benefit from SafeRide.

"It used to be when you got drunk in Aggieville, you called a cop, and they took you home," Smith said. "Unless it's

"They're drunk. They're belligerent. Unless we get a phenomenal amount of money, I don't think it's worth it"

Chuck Jackson
BOARD MEMBER OF RILEY COUNTY AREA TRANSPORTATION AGENCY

a sizeable amount of money, we're in for more trouble than it's worth.

"Do we really need this kind of grief?"

Smith said he would consider it if ATA would make at least $500 per night.

Board member Chuck Jackson agreed substantial revenue was necessary for a future "yes" vote.

"With what they call binge drinking these days, they don't just drink one beer. They drink a whole pitcher," he said. "They're drunk. They're belligerent."

"Unless we get a phenomenal amount of money, I don't think it's worth it."

Daily previously said it would cost $83.50 for a 16-passenger vehicle to transport students each night for three hours. That cost included mileage traveled, gallons of fuel used, maintenance and driver/dispatcher wages.

However, Daily did not quote an exact price to board members. He said details would be ironed out later.

"I want to see a written plan with routes," said Debbie Nuss, board member. "I want to see a budget of what it would cost. In concept, I could say I'm willing to explore this."

But she said she needs more information.

"Is this because they explored all other possibilities, and is this the last resort for them?" she said. "If it will generate revenue for us that will allow us to do other things, then fine."

Board President Lorene Oppy said she understood the board's concerns, but she said SafeRide would benefit students. She also said K-State has tried other ways, such as cab service, to carry out such a program.

"Bottom line is I think it's a good thing," she said. "When I had kids down in Aggieville, I wish they'd had transportation."

Members said they would consider and vote on using ATA for SafeRide when Daily could present them with further program information.

"It's definitely a move in the right direction to continue dialogue with the ATA," said Student Body Vice President Todd Kohman, SafeRide task force member. "I'm pleased with their decision, and I'm looking forward to creating a proposal that both K-State and ATA can work with."

No task force members attended the meeting, but Kohman said they will address the board when logistics are nailed down.

"It's all deciding who's going to use it, what nights a week — this is all stuff we need to have before we go to them," he said.

Kohman said the task force will discuss issues raised by the board at its next meeting, for which a date has not been set.

Indonesia blaming al-Qaeda for bombing attack that killed at least 180 in nightclub

By Michael Casey
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Indonesia's government, reeling from a bomb attack that killed at least 180 people, acknowledged for the first time Monday that al-Qaeda is active on its soil — setting the stage for a possible crackdown on extremists.

Stocks plummeted in the capital Jakarta, and markets sank elsewhere in Southeast Asia as tourists fled the country, already one of the region's most fragile economies.

But many Americans said they were planning to stay, contrary to State Department advice and despite warnings U.S. interests could be the next targets.

The car bomb Saturday at a nightclub packed with foreigners on the resort island is likely to harm more than just the economy and tourism. Since the Sept. 11 attacks, and despite U.S. pressure and the discovery of an al-Qaeda-linked terror network in neighboring Singapore and Malaysia, Indonesia had insisted there was no threat of violent extremism on its soil.

The turnaround came after a Cabinet meeting in Jakarta Monday, when Defense Minister Matori Abdul Djailid said, "We are sure al-Qaeda is here."

"The Bali bomb blast is linked to al-Qaeda with the cooperation of local terrorists," he said.

President Megawati Sukarnoputri is likely to face growing demands to arrest high-profile suspects whose continued freedom has astounded law enforcement officials in other countries. Whether she can do so without provoking extremists — and possible further attacks — is an open question.

In Washington, President Bush had strong words for the Indonesian leader, saying he planned to talk to her about the need to crack down on terrorism.

"I hope I hear the resolve of a leader who recognizes that any time terrorists take hold in a country it's going to weaken the country itself," Bush said.

"And there has to be a firm and deliberate desire to find out — find the killers before they kill somebody else," he said.

Security Minister Bambang Susilo Yudoyono said there were signs terrorists were planning attacks against industrial sites, including ExxonMobil's Arun liquefied natural gas plant in Aceh and the Caltex refinery in Sumatra.

"We will increase the security alert in those areas," Yudoyono said.

On Bali, there was no visible evidence of a higher security presence or stricter controls at the airport, though police insisted an elite unit had been deployed.

The FBI and Australian detectives joined the hunt for the killers. Investigators from Scotland Yard were on the way, and Germany said it might send experts.

Bali police said 27 witnesses had been questioned.

Suspicion has fallen on Jemaah Islamiyah, a group that Singapore says is based in Indonesia and is linked to Osama bin Laden's terror network. But the group's leader denied involvement.

"All the allegations against me are groundless. I challenge them to prove anything," Abu Bakar Bashir said.

"I suspect that the bombing was engineered by the United States and its allies to justify allegations that Indonesia is a base for terrorists."

Indonesia has refused to arrest Bashir, saying he has committed no crimes and that an anti-terrorism law has not been passed by Parliament.

Underlying the reluctance is a fear that arresting Bashir could provoke a backlash against the nascent democracy in the world's most populous Muslim nation, and that providing the military wider powers to deal with terrorism could herald a return of human rights abuses.

Malaysia and Singapore have jailed scores of suspected Jemaah Islamiyah members accused of plotting to bomb the U.S. Embassy and other Western targets. The group has carried out bombings in the Philippines.

Jemaah Islamiyah is believed to have four tons of ammonium nitrate, a chemical used to make the Oklahoma City truck bomb, purchased by a suspected Malaysian member who the Malaysian government says allowed two of the Sept. 11 hijackers to use his apartment in 2000.

The U.S. Embassy ordered all nonessential staff and dependents to leave Indonesia, and said other Americans in Indonesia should consider leaving.

Up to 20,000 Americans are believed to be in Indonesia, although few are permanent residents. Many are employees of U.S. energy companies, which have extensive interests in the resource-rich nation.

Thurs. - Sat.
11 a.m. - 3:30 a.m.
Sun.
11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed.
11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
FAST, FREE
DELIVERY

$1.50 PBR Pints DAILY

SUNDAY

NFL FOOTBALL on 7 TVs
$3-60 oz. PBR pitchers
$2.50 Bloody Marys/
Screwdrivers

MONDAY

MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL
$1 PBR draws
$2.75 Absolut drinks

WEDNESDAY

$2 Coors Lt. Pounders
$2.75 Jack Daniels drinks

TUESDAY Brian and Damon

LIVE MUSIC $2 wells $2 Boulevard draws October 15 @ 9:00

THURSDAY

PINT NIGHT/
GOLDEN TEE TOURNAMENT
$3 domestic pints w/ $1.50
refills & Keep the glass!
$2.50 Bacardi drinks

FRIDAY

$3 domestic big ass beers

$2.50 Captain Morgan drinks

SATURDAY

KSU/COLLEGE FOOTBALL on 7 TVs

$1.50 domestic draws

$4 Red Bull and Vodka

GRADUATION FAIR

Tuesday & Wednesday
October 15 & 16 noon-6p

Featured vendors include:

- C-B Graduation Announcements
- Artcarved Class Rings
- University Frames

[Get a free alumni license plate with your order while supplies last.]

P
U
S
H

NOT ALL AIR FORCE ROTC
STUDENTS FLY PLANES.
GETTING THEIR TUITION PAID BY THE AIR FORCE IS THRILL ENOUGH.

Your pulse quickens. Your heart races. And that's just when you're in line at the burrito office. Fast is, picking up a full or partial scholarship is just one of many experiences you can have in Air Force ROTC. Get some hands-on training through one of our summer internship programs. Hone your competitive edge at a leadership seminar. Then enjoy some serious downtime with up to $400 extra spending money in your pocket every month. Not to mention graduating with a guaranteed job and no student loans to pay back. Fast your dreams, your life, your limits, your mind. Apply for a scholarship today by visiting the Air Force ROTC Web site or calling our toll-free number.

AFROTC.COM
1-866-423-7682

TO THE POINT SafeRide needs support from student leaders

It has been made clear that K-State students want a SafeRide program.

A plebiscite vote in March showed that most students are in favor of the late-night transportation program.

Now it is time for the city to get involved.

On Monday, Riley County Area

Transportation Agency members decided that they need more information about SafeRide before they further explore the topic, but many members voiced their disapproval for the program.

ATA members need to realize how beneficial a SafeRide program can be to students.

SGA has created a SafeRide task force to help push this issue along, but none of the task force members were in attendance at Monday's meeting.

Manhattan citizen's will never know how important SafeRide is to K-State students unless student representatives are there to inform them.

ATA members should certainly do some research on the topic themselves, but at the same time, our elected representatives must be at meetings to represent students.

SafeRide is needed and wanted. SGA and the Manhattan community need to work together to make sure it happens for K-State and the community.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Jeanel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

JUST SAY NO Cutting back on involvement lowers stress, improves life

We are given instruction on how to say no to drugs, sex and whatever else our elders consider to be bad for us. But did anyone ever teach us to say no to responsibility?

K-State is a land of opportunity, but that opportunity has a price. With hundreds of organizations and clubs to join, internship opportunities, after-school jobs and active social lives, it is no wonder so many stressed-out and sleep-deprived people are missing classes and earning low GPAs.

How much is too much? How does one know which extracurricular activity is worth doing? And most importantly, how do we say no once we have figured it all out? I might not have all the answers, but I do have a few pretty good ones.

There are three main factors to consider. Health comes first. If you are so busy running from meeting to meeting to class to meeting to meeting, it is unlikely you are taking care of your body. Remember, your body allows you to do all of these things.

Being too busy to eat right and exercise regularly will simply add to the effects of stress on your body. A certain amount of stress is good for you. It serves as a motivator and causes the release of adrenaline into the blood, which is just like putting gas into your car. But, if you never refuel, you will simply become a broken-down car on the shoulder of the highway.

The second factor is focus. All the résumé padding in the world will not do you any good if you fail to get the degree you are here for. When your grades start dropping because you are too worn out to study, it is a good sign you need to cut back.

This is a delicate balance. If you do all class work and have no outside involvement or job experience, prospective employers will be concerned you are lacking in practical application. Get the GPA you need to be content and stick to the activities you will be proud of 10 years later.

Finally, beware of neglecting the people important to you. If you have meetings every day of the week, causing your friends and family to forget what you look like, then cut back.

Try to use the rule of 10: "In 10 years, will I wish I would have spent more time with my loved ones, or will I be glad I went to all those boring meetings?"

You will leave K-State someday, and it will be the relationships you have formed that stay with you.

Now, the question is, what activities are worth it?

This can only be answered through a personal evaluation of your values. I suggest first making a list of the principles you truly value in life (Hint: use the rule of 10 again). Next, cross reference that list with a list of your potential and current activities.

When you discover you have an activity that does not coincide with any of your values, give it the boot. It will take some soul searching, but if you think about sacrificing the free time you could potentially spend being with your loved ones, sleeping, etc., it will become easier to make a decision.

Finally, how do you say no once the verdict has been reached?

Be firm. Do not listen to persuasion and just say no! You may want to explain your reasoning, but do not allow a debate to ensue. This might be a difficult feat at first, but will become easier with practice.

In the event that you feel guilty about using the "n" word, think about how guilty you feel every time you skip a class, blow off a friend to go to a meeting or do poorly on a homework assignment because you are too tired to give it the attention needed.

I imagine a campus of students not fueled by anxiety and caffeine, but by genuine refreshment and a healthy, balanced lifestyle.

Nasrina is a senior in philosophy. You can e-mail her at neb6793@ksu.edu.

NASRINA BURNETT

Illustration by Ben Dolezal | COLLEGIAN

Good to be bad: Misuse of term 'ghetto' spreads throughout mainstream culture

If ghetto is now what is cool and acceptable, I'd rather be unpopular.

When did ghetto become fabulous? It seems like there are plenty of people embracing this word as a term of endearment.

It has slowly made its entrance into the mainstream with the help of television, movies and music.

It is fairly common to have songs and albums with ghetto in the title. Pras had a hit song titled, "Ghetto Superstar." Usher has a song that says, "Hey yo, hey yo, hey yo, ain't nothin' like some good ol' ghetto." Lauryn Hill sings, "Every ghetto, every city and suburban place I've been, made me recall my days in the New Jerusalem."

Even POD, Rod Stewart and Elvis Presley have sprinkled the word throughout a song lyric, not to mention albums like Mystikal's "Ghetto Fabulous," Master P's "Ghetto D," and Jaheim's "Ghetto Love."

"Ghetto" was used for the first time in Venice in 1516, according to the Oxford English Dictionary. The first recorded written use of the word occurred in 1611 in Coryat's Crudities, in which he describes "the place where the whole fraternity of the lews (sick) dwelleth together, which is called the Ghetto."

The Italian word was originally used to describe the gated section of a community Jewish people were restricted to. They were viewed as cultural minorities, and thus restricted because of their views.

The adoption of the term by African-Americans was not their own. The term was associated with negativity, much like now. Just because some people choose to embrace it does not make it a huggable thing.

Ghetto has become quite familiar with today's popular culture. Searching through www.google.com for the word yielded 783,000 sites in 17 seconds.

Ghetto has gone from a word used in the African-American community to commonplace thanks to the effervescence of hip-hop. Artists like Britney Spears, Christina Aguilera and Limp Bizkit are taking a cue from leading hip-hop artists and making it into a "fashion statement."

Understanding that the sincerest form of flattery is imitation, it's simple to see the effect African-American culture has had on society. Every day, more white kids are wearing braids and making dreadlocks while purchasing anything Sean John, FUBU, Phat Farm or Rocawear puts out.

It is not uncommon in Manhattan to hear loud bass-filled choruses coming from a vehicle and see a small, white homeboy sitting reclined in the driver's seat.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not "hating" on those people who just "like their hair like that" or are just "comfortable dressing like this." What I do disagree with is the sudden embrace that being "ghetto" is receiving.

The real shame is that being "ghetto" has become acceptable. Students can say Tuesdays are "ghetto music nights" at a certain bar. A girl can say her friend's outfit has a "ghetto flair." And my personal favorite, when you're feeling creative, you can "ghetto-rig" things to fit your taste.

Being that African-Americans only account for 13 percent of the United States' population, it is impossible for us to be the source that makes albums go triple and quadruple platinum.

Seventy percent of all hip-hop is purchased by non-blacks. So where do you think they get their ideas about black men and women and their visions of "ghetto life"?

How dare we criticize people for calling us by the same thing we call ourselves? How dare we continue to scrape, kill and steal to get away from a place that is now the "place to be?"

When everyone plays into the whole fabulousness of being "ghetto," they limit themselves, as well as eliminate cultural diversity.

Variety is the spice of life, but when everyone deviates from the norm, they take away the seasoning.

ANGEL WILSON

Angel is a graduate student in college student personnel. You can e-mail her at angelw@ksu.edu.

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Jeanel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   ABE EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

Even though Pamela Anderson and Shania Twain have hepatitis, I'd still like to have sex with them.

Hey Dominos, do you think you could cut the cheesy bread next time?

I'm just saying, tight-whities give more support.

Eli Roberson is a ball hog. Wait a minute. We won this week. Never mind.

Steve Washington is a ball hog.

If a nation is judged by how dangerous its enemies are, will Iraq be ranked ahead of the United States in this week's BCS?

I think my roommates and I smoke too much.

Darren Sproles is Mighty Mouse.

You know what's fun? Farting in the GA section at football games. Why? Because it drifts right over to the ICAT section.

Our drum major is a fox.

There's so much trash in the yards on Ratone. People who live there need to do something and pick it up.

I would just like to give a big thank you to the smokers outside my hall who let me in every time I lose my keys.

Why do hot guys always get with ugly girls?

The bed's too big for just the two of us.

Do those breast-enlargement pills make you lactate?

Sometimes we have to put our roommate on the porch because she has really bad gas.

I don't know who he was, but the dude doing the can-can all game on Saturday was hilarious. He should go to every game and everybody should do the can-can.

To the idiot last week ripping on Eli Roberson: Next time, you should check the stats and watch out for those 71-yard gains. Anyone who can run like that shouldn't be taken out of the game.

Skinny girls hang out with fat girls so they won't have to borrow any of their clothes.

Do I look like a cat? Am I jumping all nimbly-bimbly from tree to tree? Am I drinking milk from a saucer? Do you see me eating mice?

Does anybody ever go back into the closet?

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. For the full version check out www.kstatecollegian.com.

TO THE EDITOR

U.S. has no national language, and for good reasons

Editor,

I am addressing Friday's "Hispanics must learn to gain equality in states" column by Kathryn Hollingsworth.

First, I would like to say her column was full of over-simplified and unresearched assumptions. As far as a national language, the United States has none. The Constitution was one vote short of being written in German. If Hollingsworth were to check the Census over the last 100 years, she would see the languages spoken in the United States have always been diverse.

Hollingsworth states that speaking Spanish in the home handicaps the children. What does she want them to speak? Chances are, their English is very limited, if nonexistent. Are the parents not to speak to their children or teach their children very broken or poor English?

Hollingsworth mentions she learns Spanish better if her Spanish teacher is only speaking Spanish. However, is her teacher teaching her Spanish or teaching her science, math and social studies in Spanish?

That is what students receive in English. Not only are the children in the schools having to learn English, but they are expected to learn all the content. I would like her Spanish teacher to start lecturing her in Spanish about the solar system and see how well she does then.

I would also like to know how many Hispanic people Hollingsworth has met and had conversations with. I have met many and lived with one. Every Hispanic person I know wants to learn English, because like she said, "Hispanics immigrate here to seek a better life in a better economy."

Learning a language is not an easy task. When a child is thrown into an English school, where they are not taught the English language, but taught in English, it takes them many years to acquire English. Bilingual education advocates try to utilize the best research and teaching strategies out there to help tomorrow's children be educated and fluent in English.

This country has always been diverse in language and culture. What has made it different is that the past majority of immigrants blended in differently than Hispanics, due to cultural and pigmentation differences.

As a nation, we need to continue to enrich our culture, not by excluding languages and history, but by embracing them like so many of our ancestors did with so many other languages and cultures.

The American culture consists of other cultures. Why should we stop enriching that now?

Mike Flenthrope | SENIOR IN SECONDARY EDUCATION

Fair provides information on academic majors, minors

By Edie Hall
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Undecided.

At K-State, 1,326 students have declared themselves as an undecided, or open-option, major according to www.ksu.edu/registrar.

Students have the opportunity to learn more at the fourth annual Academics Majors Fair, which takes place from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. today in the K-State Student Union Ballroom.

"The majors fair is an event for all students who are looking to find out more about what K-State offers for majors, minors and secondary majors," said Michelle Haupt, co-chair of the Academic Majors Fair committee.

"It's a great time for freshmen to lean about all the opportunities K-State offers."

Haupt said the fair also allows upperclassmen to find out about majors and minors they weren't aware of.

Angela Perry, publicity co-chair of the committee, said students attending the fair will be able to speak to representatives from all the academic colleges as well as register for door prizes.

Haupt said the approximately 60 representatives will be available to talk to students about classes and majors and help students make decisions.

Haupt said the prizes include anything from certificates for Chipotle food to Wal-Mart gift certificates.

"The number one bonus should be that students get to find out about the majors, but the door prizes are a definite perk," she said.

In addition to the information about the different majors and minors and door prizes, Willie the Wildcat will be present to help with the event, Perry said.

Haupt said sponsoring the event is a group effort by the Office of Academic and Career Information Center in Holton Hall, the Department of Housing and Dining's Academic Resource Center and the academic colleges.

The majority of students who will attend the fair are open-option majors, said Matt

Brown, coordinator of academic affairs for the Department of Housing and Dining and co-chair of the committee.

Brown said about 630 of those students live in the residence halls, which is why Housing and Dining Services helps sponsor the event.

"I sent the resident assistants posters about the fair and asked them to talk to students about it," Brown said. "We also sent out postcards to the open option students to personally invite them. We want them to know we'd like to see them come."

Brown said the majority of students at K-State and in the nation either came into college undecided or at some point decided to change their major.

"With such a large part of our students really unsure about what they want to do career or major-wise, this is an opportunity to walk around and talk to representatives about majors and minors and get some information," he said. "It will be an opportunity to talk face to face."

U.S. soldiers come under gunfire in Kuwait

By Susan Severeid
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KUWAIT — U.S. military forces in Kuwait came under gunfire Monday for the second time in a week, this time without any casualties.

Shots were fired from two civilian vehicles on U.S. Army soldiers near a northern Kuwait training area, U.S. officials said. Nobody was injured and the soldiers did not return fire, according to a U.S. Embassy statement and a U.S. military spokesman at Camp Doha in Kuwait.

Within a few hours, Kuwaiti officials began privately suggesting the targets may have been pigeons, not American forces.

Bird hunters start heading out this time of year as temperatures drop below 100 degrees.

The U.S. military official, however, said the troops involved had "no doubt" the shots were meant for them. He spoke on condition of anonymity.

The shooting came six days after two Kuwaiti assailants opened fire on Marines taking a break from war games on an island off Kuwait. One Marine was killed and another wounded before the assailants were shot dead.

The following day, a U.S. Army soldier fired a shot at a civilian vehicle overtaking a military Humvee. U.S. officials said the civilian vehicle's occupant had pointed a gun.

President Bush said Monday the attacks in on U.S. troops in Kuwait, as well as a deadly bombing in Bali and the bombing of a French oil tanker in Yemen point to Osama bin Laden's al-Qaeda terror network and the need for a global coalition to fight it.

"This is a reminder of how dangerous the world can be if these al-Qaeda are free to roam," Bush said, adding that the attacks raised concerns al-Qaeda is on the move again and could strike the United States.

Kuwaiti Defense Minister Sheikh Jaber Mubarak Al Sabah said it was too early to say if Monday's shooting was a terror attack.

But he said Kuwaitis and Americans are re-examining security measures near training areas because such incidents "affect not only the friendly military forces, but also Kuwait as a state." He did not say what new measures were being considered.

Despite the attacks, the U.S. military spokesman said troops remain comfortable in Kuwait and denied they've come to feel like targets.

Fifteen Kuwaitis, many of them cousins or nephews, have been arrested in last week's fatal attack. Of them, Islamic Affairs and Justice Minister Ahmed Baqer said "five or 10" are affiliated with Osama bin Laden's al-Qaeda network. The rest were involved in selling weapons, he said, but had no al-Qaeda connections.

Interior Minister Sheikh Mohammed Khaled Al Sabah has said there was no evidence the group took orders from al-Qaeda and that only slain attacker Anas al-Kandari, 21, had pledged allegiance to bin Laden. The other assailant was al-Kandari's cousin, Jassem al-Hajiri, 26.

That shooting and the apparent bomb attack on a French oil tanker off Yemen this month have fueled speculation al-Qaeda may be regrouping and seeking Western targets. The attacks have not been linked or acknowledged as coordinated al-Qaeda efforts.

Baqer said al-Qaeda may be regrouping, but its members cannot easily recruit others.

"They can't speak in public and add more people to their regime because this will expose them. What they can do is kill people because this is easy," he said in an interview conducted in English in his ministerial office.

Deputy Prime Minister Sheikh Sabah Al Ahmed Al Sabah met with leading Islamic fundamentalist and Westernized liberal politicians Monday and urged them to avoid exchanging accusations. Sheikh Sabah, who also is the nation's foreign minister, said it was important Kuwaitis "maintain their national unity."

Ahmed Bishara, who heads the liberal National Democratic Movement, said his group promised to cooperate.

"We told him the government was responsible for what happened because it has been too easy on the Muslim fundamentalist movements and their activities,"

CRUNCH

Lindsey Bauman | COLLEGIAN

Charli White, sophomore at Manhattan High School, talks with Officer Kevin Walter following a four-car accident at 12th Street and Bluemont Avenue. White was driving her father's minivan when she said her brakes failed, preventing her from stopping. None of the people involved were taken to the hospital, though one driver sustained minor head injuries. Joe Warren, junior in history, was inside his house when the accident occurred. "It sounded like the tailgate of a dump truck slamming shut three times," Warren said.

U.N. accuses Liberia of smuggling, calls for expanded weapons embargo

By Edith M. Lederer
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UNITED NATIONS — Liberia smuggled more than 200 tons of military equipment into the country in violation of U.N. sanctions, according to a U.N. report that calls for an arms embargo to be expanded.

The report, obtained Monday by The Associated Press, details "a sophisticated trail of double documentation" designed to show that the weapons and ammunition were shipped to Nigeria — not to Liberia, which has been under an embargo.

The U.N. experts compiling the report said they had evidence that six cargo planes landed at Roberts International Airport in the Liberian capital, Monrovia, between June and August with more than 200 tons of ammunition, rifles, pistols, hand grenades, missile launchers, machine guns, mines, and spare parts.

Forged documents showed that the cargo, listed as drilling and technical equipment, was being sent to the Nigerian Defense Ministry, the report said.

In reality, more than 200 tons of mostly older equipment from Yugoslav Army stocks, supplied by a Belgrade-based company, was shipped to the Liberian government in violation of the U.N. arms embargo, the report said.

The August shipment included a new rotor engine and blades for a Liberian military helicopter which was quickly repaired. Almost immediately it began resupplying front line bases in the north, where government forces are fighting rebels, the report said.

The northern-based rebel movement, Liberians United for Reconciliation and Democracy, or LURD, has been fighting to oust President Charles Taylor, a former warlord who won presidential elections in 1997 — seven years after he launched a civil war that devastated the West African nation.

Taylor's government has accused neighboring Guinea of supporting the rebels. Guinea denies the accusations.

Liberia's U.N. Mission did not immediately return a call seeking comment on the report.

Take a seat.
Let the
classifieds
do the work.

Kansas State Collegian classifieds
103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555

GREAT SPOT TO HANG OUT BEFORE OR AFTER AGGIEVILLE CLOSSES

GUMBYS
Pizza & Pub

Delivers the latest!

770-3333

Fast Delivery, Dine-in, Carryout

702 N. 11th Street
Sunday 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Thur. - Sat. 11 a.m. - 3:30 a.m.

1 STICK IT TO ME

Buy one Pokey Stick at regular price, get one of equal or lesser value for FREE

2 SPECIAL

12" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 12" POKEY STICKS • $5.99
14" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 14" POKEY STICKS • $6.99
M - TH. ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA • CAMPUS ADDRESS ONLY

3 Wednesday $6.99

wildcat
X-LARGE 16" CHEESE PIZZA • Wednesday Only
Carry Out Only • Toppings Extra

EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH

all UPC meeting
tuesday | oct. 15
begins at 5:00 p.m.
union station

UPC
LEAVING OUR MARK...ONE EVENT AT A TIME.

Lunchtime Lounge
wednesday | oct. 16
activities begin at 12:00
union courtyard

HOTLINE: 532 6572

WEBSITE: www.ksu.edu/upc

EL GRAN BAILE

Friday, October 18, 2002

9 p.m. - 1 a.m.

$2.50 per person • $4 per couple

Union Station

Join us in celebrating the closing of our Hispanic Heritage Month.

Then, listen to good music and have a fantastic time.

Salsa Merengue Lessons 7 - 8:30 Friday at Union Station.

Be there!

Royal altering | STATE

Don't be left out!

Get you free portrait pictures so you can be in the 2003 Royal Purple yearbook to order your yearbook with the new DVD-ROM go to Kedzie 103 or order one during your portrait pictures.

LIVE OFF CAMPUS?

Union Courtyard
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.
until Oct. 25

Tuesday, Oct. 15

Moore Hall

10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Putnam Hall

Alpha Gamma Rho

6:30 - 9:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Oct. 16

West Hall

10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 17

Goodnow Hall

10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

R
2003 P

Kickers excel during weekend

NICK BRATKOVICK

What a weekend for kickers. Game after game hinged on their play. Even when the game wasn't decided on a kick, games were still dominated by kickers.

I always have hated kickers. Growing up in Kansas City, the name Lin Elliot might as well be a four-letter word.

Put the name in George Carlin's act, but Kansas City fans will never forget when Elliot cost the Chiefs a playoff win and a potential Super Bowl berth.

I don't know if the laces were out or not, but that was the kicker's definition of futile. Elliot, with three shanks of the leg, managed to crush a lot of fans' hearts with his misses.

So that is where the problem stems from. As fans, you attempt to block kickers out of your mind. Their kicks are too stressful to relive. Watching last-second kicks are an aggravation similar to indigestion.

But this weekend of football was different. I couldn't block out or overlook the kickers.

First, the Florida State kickers had a last-second miss. It was wide left. What a cruel twist to FSU's kicking saga.

Then, K-State missed three extra points against Oklahoma State.

During postgame, Coach Bill Snyder was disgusted. He said it boils down to execution. It probably does.

Sunday, during NFL games, kickers were automatic. An extra point sank the Chiefs' hopes against San Diego. It gave the Chargers a 35-34 win. If only the Chargers had used K-State's extra point unit that day. No such luck, though.

Later that night, Dolphins kicker Olindo Mare defeated Denver with the swing of a leg and a late game winning kick.

To paraphrase Charles Dickens, it was the best of kicks, it was the worst of kicks.

They play such an important role. It's weird how a game developed around running and passing. Hitting and tackling is named after the foot. Maybe the game's founders knew it would come down to kickers.

It's strange how grown men battle for 60 minutes, and sometimes all hopes come down to a kicker's ability.

How many weekends, emotions (good and bad), cuss words and expletives have hinged on a kick? Far too many to count.

You can't envy kickers.

They are either the skinny guy on the sideline, who is automatic with kicks, or a vilified village idiot, a goat for the masses.

Perhaps, there is no thinner line to walk in football.

Still, none of this can explain K-State's kicking woes. They have had a slew of great kickers come through the program. Snyder and the coaches probably didn't coach any differently when Martin Gramatica kicked for the Cats. It is just execution. It would be easy to sit here and rip on K-State's special teams, but it's pointless.

At this point, the misses are amusing. What difference does it make if you beat Oklahoma State by 39 instead of 35? After all, Elliot didn't become vilified until he cost the Chiefs a playoff game. Let's hope K-State corrects the problem before it costs them a game.

I get the feeling they are working on that now.

At this point, you can just hope next weekend's football isn't dominated by kickers.

Nick is a senior in print journalism and public relations. You can e-mail him at neb8030@ksu.edu.

Cats in 1st at Wichita

Boucher 2nd on individual leaderboard going into final round

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State's women's golf team had no problems in the first rounds of the Marilyn Smith Sunflower Invitational.

After putting up a two-round total of 603 (304 and 299), the Wildcat women will begin today's final round in first place.

Coach Kristi Knight said the team came out firing early Monday at Willowbend Golf Club in Wichita, Kan., something it has not been able to do all season.

Those cold, early mornings at the team's first three tournaments must have paid off, she said.

"I can't speak for the other schools, but we've faced some chilly mornings. That's status quo for us," she said. "You just have to suck it up and hit the ball. Other schools can whine about the cold."

K-State's pace-setting score was evidence of just how well the team has adapted.

Bad conditions are one thing the Cats have battled in their first three tournaments, but Knight said the team can't think about that. Everyone plays in the same conditions on a golf course, she said, so players have to play their game.

But one recurring problem continued to plague the Wildcats — their inability to finish putts.

"We didn't hold a whole lot

See GOLF Page 9

New Balance

Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

James Terry is pulled down from behind after making a catch Saturday in K-State's 44-9 win over Oklahoma State. Terry had four catches for 88 yards.

Wildcats couple pass attack with run game

By Ben Fehr
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Running the ball hasn't been a problem for K-State this season.

In the five games the Wildcats had played coming into Saturday's showdown with Oklahoma State, K-State had rushed for more than 300 yards once, for more than 200 yards three times, and were held less than 200 yards just once — when they turned in 188 against USC.

Throwing the ball, however, has been a less productive cog in the Wildcats' offensive machine.

Before Oklahoma State came to Manhattan, the passing total in K-State's first five games had never reached the 300-yard mark. They broke the 200-yard mark just once and sunk to 83 yards against Colorado.

Against Oklahoma State though, K-State rushed for a typical-looking 297 yards and complemented that ground game with a not-so typical 202 yards through the air.

Coach Bill Snyder called the 499-yard offensive effort a marked improvement.

"I think, in many areas, we got ourselves better," Snyder said. "We defended the pass better, we played responsibilities better on defense, and I think we had some consistency with our offense with regard to moving the football."

"I'm not sure that we had more than one three-and-out during the course of the game. To me, that's a good number and speaks to the consistency of your offense."

Consistency in the passing game is

See BALANCE Page 9

Guerre answers coach's call, developing into great weapon

Fritz asking setter to strive for perfection; Guerre came close against Buffaloes

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Out of six players on the volleyball court, the one Coach Suzie Fritz asked to be most perfect was sophomore setter Gabby Guerre.

Fritz said Guerre was a great weapon to have on the Wildcat team, as they beat Colorado in four games Saturday night.

But she said the sophomore still has room to grow.

"As a setter, she is very offensive, and I expect her to get nice, hittable sets to the team," she said. "I want her to locate the ball, and I want her to deliver perfect sets."

"I want her to be perfect."

Guerre said she played well emotionally against the Buffaloes on Saturday, but she didn't always deliver the perfect sets.

She said she lost the team's rhythm a couple of times and had to battle to get back in the mix.

In games one and two, the team played really well together and Guerre said she was on the mark. But she said she was not in games three and four.

"We slipped up in game three, and I wasn't setting the ball where it needed to be," she said.

"But it was nice to see us come back strong in game four."

After finding her setting rhythm again, Guerre said she was a complete player.

Not only did she post 41 assists, but she had 10 kills on 19 attacks with only two errors.

On defense, Guerre recorded eight digs. That's two digs away from the first triple-double of her career.

But that's nothing new to Guerre, who set the K-State school record for the number of double-doubles by a freshman, with 12 on the season in 2001.

As she gets more comfortable with K-State's offensive system, Guerre said she sometimes looks for kills.

She said it's a great game to play with her opponents.

As a setter, the Buffaloes had to assume she would set the ball to outside hitters Jennifer Pollard, Cari Jensen or another member of the K-State hammer crew, Guerre said. So the Buffaloes would stay back and wait for the ball to go to them.

But Guerre is ranked fifth among Big 12 hitters with a .364 hitting percentage, so they also have to watch her, Guerre said.

"When I'm on the front

See GUERRE Page 9

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NCAA | Former Husker player missing
Jake Young, an All-America center at Nebraska in 1988 and 1989, was missing in the area of the bomb blasts in Bali, Indonesia.

The 34-year-old was in Bali to play a final tournament with his rugby team from Hong Kong before joining his wife, Laura, and their 2-year-old son in the Kansas City area, said his father, Jacob Young. The young attorney had been working in Hong Kong for a London-based law firm.

According to newspaper reports in Australia, at least 15 football players were missing after the bombings brought tragedy to end-of-season team trips.

Australian rules football, union and rugby league players were among those Australians most affected by the recent bombings, with victims from teams across the country.

...

NFL | Peete needs surgery

Carolina Panthers quarterback Rodney Peete needs surgery on his knee and will be sidelined at least three weeks, putting Chris Weinke in position to start next week.

Carolina coach John Fox said Monday that Peete has been playing with a torn meniscus in his right knee all season and will have it repaired Tuesday.

Special teams ace Jarrod Cooper is out for the season with a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee, linebacker Dan Morgan strained his groin and receiver Steve Smith bruised his ribs.

...

NCAA | Nebraska's quarterback ticketed for disturbing peace

Nebraska quarterback Jammal Lord was ticketed for disturbing the peace.

Lord and Greichaly Cepero, also an athlete at Nebraska, appeared to be drunk and were taken to a detoxification center early Sunday. Later both were released but never arrested, police said.

Nebraska football coach Frank Solich said the citation does not require suspension, but discipline may be necessary.

Officers were called to Lord's apartment after neighbors complained about loud noise hours after the Cornhuskers' 24-13 win over Missouri.

...

MLB | Giants advance to World Series

Barry Bonds will get his chance.

Kenny Lofton hit an RBI single with two outs in the ninth inning that sent Bonds to his first World Series as the San Francisco Giants beat the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 Monday night to win the NL championship series.

Bonds did his part in Game 5, hitting a tying sacrifice fly in the eighth off a determined Matt Morris.

And now, in his 17th season, baseball's biggest star will finally get a chance to play on baseball's biggest stage.

BY THE NUMBERS

Golf

Phil Taturangi fired a 62 on Sunday to capture the PGA Vegas Classic in Las Vegas, Nev. Taturangi was three back going into the final round before surging for the victory. Here is a look at the rest of the scores.

PGA Vegas Classic Scores
At TPC at Summerlin
Las Vegas
Purse: $5 million
Yardage: 7,243; Par: 72
Phil Taturangi	67-66-67-68-62 — 30
Stuart Appleby	66-68-64-67-66 — 29
Jeff Sluman	66-66-64-68-67 — 29
Jim Furyk	66-65-64-69-68 — 28
Rory Sabbatini	69-65-70-64-65 — 27
Dan Forsman	65-71-66-66-66 — 26
Charles Howell III	67-65-66-69-67 — 26
David Duval	67-66-67-63-71 — 26
Notah Begay III	65-70-70-65-65 — 25
John Cook	69-67-64-67-68 — 25
Paul Stankowski	65-70-65-67-68 — 25
Joel Edwards	72-67-62-66-68 — 25
Tim Petrovic	68-66-70-67-65 — 24
David Peoples	69-68-66-67-66 — 24
Jonathan Byrd	65-68-68-64-71 — 24
Robert Gamez	67-67-67-70-66 — 23
John Huston	65-71-64-69-68 — 23
Chris DiMarco	66-67-66-69-69 — 23
Billy Andrade	67-68-68-67-68 — 22
Shaun Micheel	66-69-66-68-69 — 22
Ben Crane	67-67-67-68-69 — 22
Esteban Toledo	68-71-63-66-70 — 22
Brent Geiberger	69-65-66-67-71 — 22
Lee Janzen	63-74-62-71-69 — 21
Carlos Franco	68-69-67-69-66 — 21
Chris Riley	65-71-66-68-69 — 21
Michael Clark II	66-67-69-71-66 — 21
Kirk Triplett	68-68-68-65-70 — 21
J.L. Lewis	64-70-69-65-71 — 21
Scott McCarron	67-68-65-67-72 — 21
Kenneth Statton	68-68-65-69-70 — 20
Steve Allan	67-67-68-68-70 — 20
Bob Tway	68-68-66-68-70 — 20
Edward Fryatt	68-67-69-70-66 — 20
Bart Bryant	66-68-67-67-72 — 20
Justin Leonard	70-66-69-69-66 — 20

Lindsey Bauman | COLLEGIAN
Gabby Guerre serves against Colorado in last Saturday's game at Ahearn Field House.

Band members from the Bearded Assholes are guitarist "Zuel," Clint McAllister, vocalist Brian Franks and bassist Donald Ince. The band plays metal music.

Photos by Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

HARDER, FASTER, LOUDER

Ivor Shandor the Architect of Doom

Vigo the Carpathian

Zuel

Gozarr the Token

Manhattan's metal groups fighting battle against mainstream music culture

By JJ Duncan
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Whether it's rough around the edges or smooth and polished, metal is a hard substance that is nearly impenetrable and often dangerous. The same goes for the music.

Harder, faster, louder, more complex and often more disgusting than any other type of music, metal is one of the most identifiable genres of music.

Brian Reeves, host of the metal show known as The Pit on KMKF-FM 101.5, has been involved in the local metal scene since playing in Porphyria, then known as Time Has Come, and most recently, Condition 13. It is difficult for metal bands to get many gigs in Manhattan, and Reeves, junior in radio and television, said that is partially due to the extreme nature of the music.

"It's loud. It's fast. It's aggressive. And just like hardcore punk rock, it isn't for everybody," he said. "Most metal music is not just three chords and a catchy chorus. It's not designed to be mainstream pop or bubble gum. It's more involved and complex."

That complexity may be harder to hear with loud guitars and screaming vocals, but talent is something Gozarr (Clint McAllister), guitarist for the Bearded Assholes, said metal musicians take pride in.

"Mainstream music doesn't have good leads anymore," he said. "Thanks to Nirvana, you don't have these guys anymore who come out and show you what they can do. I'm sure a lot of those guys can actually play that stuff, but to not bring that out in your music is wrong."

The history of metal is remarkably clear. No one disputes Black Sabbath as the forefathers of metal, introducing listeners to spooky music with dark themes and complex arrangements.

"The fact that they stand alone when you talk about the godfathers of metal, and that Ozzy is still around today, is a testament to how original they really were," Reeves said.

But metal isn't restricted to mainstream acts like Metallica and Pantera. With an ever-changing local landscape of metal bands, Manhattan is home to its share of crunching low-tuned guitars and screaming vocals.

Gozarr (Clint McAllister), guitarist for the Bearded Assholes, pointed out that Manhattan's history with metal got its real start with early '90s bands such as Pukeweasel and Roach Factory. Several bands, representing different subdivisions of metal, still exist in Manhattan. The Bearded Assholes are all too happy to lay claim to the title of death metal.

With song titles like "Blood, Coke and Acid," and "WAAAAARRR!" the band claims to make music that is a "pungent musical meat grinder of brutal death metal," according to its Web site. The guitar riffs are heavy and dark with flashy drawn-out solos, and the vocals are all but unintelligible with Vigo the Carpathian at the microphone.

Gozarr said they are waiting to release their album until they replace drummer Ty Dupps, who recently moved, so they can support and promote it.

Pins & Needles also has an album primed for release. John Franco, drummer, said the album, which was recorded at M&M Studios in Manhattan, still needs to be mastered and duplicated before its late November release. Franco, senior in graphic design, said the vocals are influenced mainly by Mike Patton of Faith No More and Mr. Bungle, while the music is influenced by Tool, Pantera and the Red Hot Chili Peppers in different ways.

The band formed in June 2001, and Franco said he plays metal because of the emotional qualities that come across in the music.

"It's an emotional roller coaster," he said. "We pride ourselves on bringing a Tool flavor where we can be melodic and pretty, then come to a big crescendo of musical emotion."

"That's the thing that attracts me to this music. In this band, I'm able to express a lot more than I would be able to in something like punk."

Crossing the theatrics of goth with hard, fast metal, Balseraph is a band with a monopoly on black metal in the area. Citing Cradle of Filth and Dimmu Borgir as primary influences, vocalist Brenton Hohlfield said the band takes itself more seriously than most local metal bands.

Instead of writing tongue-in-cheek death metal, Balseraph writes about themes such as vampires and the Salem witch trials with dark atmospheric keyboard arrangements. Balseraph's recently released debut, "First Suffering" is available online and at shows. In black clothes and makeup, singing about vampires, it's easy for a band to become a cheesy cliché, something Hohlfield said he tries to avoid.

"We try not to take ourselves too seriously," he said. "Some black metal bands get way too serious, but we can still laugh at it all. And we don't wear makeup too heavily. We don't look like some of the European metal bands that look like they just got kicked out of Kiss."

Rounding out the local metal music roster are Broken Bone Coalition and Strange Unit. Mitch McGuire, guitarist for BBC, said the band's hard fast music is influenced by Hatebreed and Slayer.

Strange Unit is a metal band that uses hip-hop el-

Local metal online

Many local metal bands keep biographies, listings of upcoming shows and samples of music online. These are some of those sites.

■ The Bearded Assholes:

www.beardedassholes.com

■ Strange Unit:

www.mrp3.com/strangeunit

■ Balseraph:

balseraph.cjb.net

■ Pins & Needles:

www.pinsandneedles.freewebservers.com

ements such as turntables and occasional rapping to distinguish itself from other bands. The riffs and vocals are still as hard as any other band, and bassist John Havenstein defined the style as grindcore with a hip-hop influence.

The biggest challenge for Strange Unit has just been getting gigs, Havenstein said. It's a predicament common to all Manhattan metal bands. With no bar that is home for the genre, and little enthusiasm from club owners, the bands usually play house parties or occasionally bring several bands together for one show, such as last year's Manhattan Metal Fest.

"We're willing to play any keg party for free beer," Havenstein said. "We just want to get out and play because that's what we love to do."

Another difficulty is warped public perceptions of metal. With the influx of new metal bands since the emergence of Korn, Coal Chamber and Slipknot, many clones have entered the field. While the bands have a definite connection to metal, McAllister said he doesn't enjoy much of the music, a sentiment echoed by other underground metalheads.

"Some guy will see that you have long hair and a beard and be like 'Dude I listen to metal,' and I'll ask what he listens to and it's like Limp Bizkit," he said. "And that's not metal."

When that happens, McAllister said he tries to point people in the direction of gateway metal bands such as In Flames or Slayer.

Plenty of metal still exists for people who are interested, he said.

Reeves said the mainstream still has a place in metal, and with his radio show, he tries to expose people to new bands they might not have heard, while also playing popular bands.

No matter what, metalheads will continue to wear long hair, get tattooed, write sometimes juvenile, sometimes disgusting lyrics and above all, they will be proud of the music. McAllister uses a sense of humor when trying to describe what being a metalhead is about.

"It's not like we get together and march because we all seem to be pretty anti-social," he said. "If a sorority girl is walking down the street and sees me, thinks I'm scary, and when grandmas go 'Oh my God,' I think that's what makes a metalhead."

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

Delta Blues Museum receives new attraction

The Delta Blues Museum has a new attraction — and it isn't a musical instrument.

"It's a very vibrant, very entertaining piece," museum director Tony Czech said recently. "It's not a guitar. It's not a harmonica. It's an egg."

The "Beale Street Blues Egg" — an 8-foot-tall, 100-pound mock Faberge egg — is covered in paintings of musicians such as Robert Johnson and other famous Mississippians. It's overlaid with bottle caps, coins and washers collected from Beale Street by artist George Hunt.

"If you look at B.B. King, his top lip is actually a bolt," Czech said.

The egg will remain on permanent display. It was one of 25 displayed in front of the Pyramid arena in Memphis, Tenn., during the "Czars, 400 Years of Imperial Grandeur" exhibit.

• • •

Canonsburg to hear Perry Como sing again

In an attempt to boost tourism, Perry Como's hometown will pipe in the crooner's music near his life-size statue in the center of town and play his greatest hits 12 hours a day.

The music "won't be blaring, it'll be soothing," says Mayor Tony Colaizzo. Como's hits include "Hot Diggity (Dog Ziggity Boom)," "Caterina," "Papa Loves Mambo" and "Catch a Falling Star." He died in May 2001 at 88.

Colaizzo envisions a place for Como's fans to have a seat, listen to the singer's mellow voice and remember the man Colaizzo describes as a talented showman who never forgot his roots in the town about 15 miles southwest of Pittsburgh.

The Washington County borough should install a sound system, which will be financed primarily by private donors, by next month, Colaizzo said. He wasn't sure how much the system costs.

NEW RELEASES

DVD (*also on VHS)

"Insomnia"
"Windtalkers"
"Sorority Boys"
"Law & Order: The First Year"
"My So-Called Life"
"I Spy"
"Casino Royale"
"Dragon Ball Z: Movie three pack"
"The Rats"
"Queen: Greatest Video Hits"
"Exodus"
"Genesis: The Way We Walk"
"Derailed"
"The Russians are Coming. The Russians are Coming"
"How to Murder Your Wife"
"Korn: Kornography"
"Stalker"
"Sailor Moon"
"Ranma One Half: Volume 3"
"Heart and Soul Collection"
"Buttrock"

Video Games

"Red Faction 2" PS2
"Simpsons Skateboarding" PS2
"Wild Arms 3" PS2
"Lord of the Rings: Two Towers" PS2
"Search for Dragora" PS2, Game Cube
"Phantom Crash" X-Box
"Toxic Grind" X-Box
"Pac-Man World 2" X-Box
"Blood Rayne" X-Box, Game Cube
"Barbarian" X-Box, Game Cube
"E.T., The Extraterrestrial" Game Cube
"Mario Party 4" Game Cube
"Swingerz Golf" Game Cube

Supported by
Digital Shelf
5,000 + different DVD titles
701 N. 11th 776-6959
www.ksuDIGITALSHELF.com
New location: Digital Shelf Pl. II
1344 Westloop
Hours
Mon.-Sun. 11 a.m. - midnight
sell us your DVDs & video games

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

BOWS AND STRINGS

Kendra White, freshman in music education, and Emily Thompson, senior in English, participate in a dress rehearsal for their orchestra concert at 7:30 tonight in McCain Auditorium. Admission is free. This is the orchestra's second performance this year.

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Union says GOP opinions on work rules exaggerated

By Curt Anderson
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — President Bush makes the case that work rules protecting unionized federal employees impair his ability to improve homeland security.

The examples he cites about impediments caused by red tape, however, are not as clear-cut as portrayed.

The battle between Democrats and Republicans over labor rights for a proposed Homeland Security Department's 170,000 workers has caused a six-week impasse on Senate legislation that would create the Cabinet agency to safeguard Americans from terror at home.

Bush wants the power to waive union agreements for national security reasons and to create a new personnel system he says would be more nimble and modern. Bush and the GOP portray a slow-footed federal civil service hamstrung by union work rules.

One claim made by the GOP is that the National Treasury Employees Union, which represents 12,000 prospective homeland security workers, sought to block the Customs Service from requiring inspectors to wear personal radiation detection devices. Bush has brought the issue up repeatedly. At a recent fund-raiser in Boston, he said the union wanted to take to collective bargaining a proposal intended to prevent smuggling of weapons of mass destruction into the United States.

The union denies that it ever refused or tried to delay, although it certainly raised questions.

According to an exchange of letters between the union and customs officials, the union suggested on Jan. 4 that the detectors continue to be used on a voluntary basis — as they had been for three years — and requested to negotiate. It would take up to six months to get the devices into the field in any case.

Republicans also have cited what they call opposition by the same union to the Bush administration's color-coded terrorism warning system. Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, said it was "just about a perfect example of this kind of problem."

Report ranks Kansas 14th-smartest state

Local education officials offer opinions on becoming No. 1

By James Hurla
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Ranking in the top third might be considered good, but local education administrators said Kansas can do better.

Kansas was ranked as the 14th smartest state in a recent survey by Morgan Quitno Press, an independent research and publishing company in Lawrence, Kan.

The rankings were based on 21 education-related factors, including teacher salaries, per-pupil expenditures, class size and graduation rates, according to the Morgan Quitno Web site.

"It's indicative of the fact we value education in Kansas," said Lori Martin, director for the department of teaching and learning for USD 383. "Certainly, education is a priority in the state of Kansas. It's our goal to be number one."

Kansas already has met most of President Bush's standards for education, Martin said. The only way to improve is for Kansans to keep raising the bar.

"We have to set high standards for ourselves and our children," she said. "We have to make a concerted effort for improvement."

Some specific improvements could be made, said Jan Wissman, associate dean of the College of Education.

"Higher salaries could make teaching more attractive," Wissman said.

However, Wissman said being ranked 14th in the nation is relatively good.

Kansas' location and demographics give it an advantage in many areas, Wissman said. Because Kansas has many rural schools, class sizes and the number of at-risk students remain low, she said.

The most important aspect of Kansas' success, Wissman said, is the way Kansas universities prepare teachers.

"We have excellent teachers who have been prepared very, very well," she said.

Early field experiences provide K-State education students with invaluable learning experiences, Wissman said.

The professional development that teachers experience at Kansas universities helps make them better teachers, she said, and the majority of teachers educated in Kansas choose to remain in Kansas to teach. This has a positive effect on the state's entire education system.

"The congeniality among teacher education programs within the state is very important," she said.

Morgan Quitno releases annual rankings on subjects such as safest city, most livable state, healthiest state and most dangerous state. This is the first year for the smartest state rankings.

The five smartest states according to Morgan Quitno are, from first to fifth: Connecticut, Vermont, Montana, New Jersey and Maine.

Visit www.statestats.com for a complete list of the state rankings.

Martin said Kansas can continue to improve its education system and work to be the smartest state, but it will take work.

"There has to be a partnership between community agencies, families and schools," she said. "We all need to work together for the benefit of the children."

YOU SHOULD BE HERE

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
ADVERTISING
532-6560

FAST CASHES EARN
$50 THIS WEEK!

Donate your life-saving blood plasma and help people in your community.

Call or stop by:
ZLB Plasma Services
formerly Nabi Biomedical
Center

1130 Gardenway
785-776-9177

No appointment needed.
Fees & donation
time may vary. www.zlb.com

O'Malley's

BEAT TEXAS BASE ALL WEEK LONG

TUESDAY:
FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT AT 7 P.M. $1.75 Bud Light pints

WEDNESDAY:
OPEN MIC NIGHT ON THE PATIO
4 PAIRS OF NICKELBACK TICKETS
GIVEN AWAY $1.75 Bud bottles

THURSDAY:
PARTY ON THE PATIO LIVE AT 7
BAND THAT SAVED THE WORLD
MOTHER KALI $2.00 Bud and Bud Light cans

ACADEMIC

11 a.m. to 3 p.m.
K-State Student Union
Grand Ballroom

MAJORS FAIR

SPONSORS
Academic and Career Information Center
Arts and Sciences Open Option Program
Housing and Dining Services

Colleges
Agriculture
Architecture, Planning, and Design
Arts and Sciences
Business Administration
Education
Engineering
Human Ecology
Technology and Aviation
Veterinary Medicine

OCTOBER 15, 2002

IS GOD CALLING YOU AND GETTING A BUSY SIGNAL?

do you feel a longing for more in your life?

do you radiate joy?

do you long to follow in the footsteps of Jesus?

In today's world, it's so easy to lose sight of why we're really here. So perhaps the thought of devoting your entire life to God has never crossed your mind.

Then again maybe it has. Maybe you're the one of the rare women who are being called by God to follow in the footsteps of Jesus. And if you'd only take a moment to really listen to your inner voice, God will get through.

We are the Sisters of St. Joseph, an international order with roots right here in Wichita. And we invite you to come live a life of holiness, in a community where we strive for unity and reconciliation among all people with God and with one another. Ours is a community of prayer and service. Our dedication to God motivates us and is the source of joy for all that we do.

But how can you know if you truly have been called? Do you feel a longing for more in your life? Do you feel a void in your heart? Do you radiate joy? Does love pour out of your smile and do you long to follow Jesus?

If so, you owe it to yourself to answer God's call. To learn more about The Sisters of St. Joseph, call or visit us online. You'll be eternally grateful you did.

Vocation Director
St. Mary Ellen Loch
316-686-7171 or 316-689-4070
www.csjwichita.org

THE SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH OF WICHITA

does love pour out of your smile?

GOLF | Women break bad streak with solid opening rounds Monday

Continued from Page 6

of putts," Knight said. "Our putts were fairly slow, so we had to adjust to the greens. It wasn't easy, but we hung in there and put up some solid scores."

"We'll see where we are sitting after the final round," she said. Knight said she's confident the Wildcats can win the tournament, but said her team will have to play smart and sink more putts.

Other than finishing putts, the Cats rallied with a strong start, something Knight has asked for all season.

It's put them in the hunt to finish No. 1, she said.

After the team's opening round 304, the team sat one shot behind first-place Illinois State. But after its second-round 298, K-State maintains a one-shot lead over Texas-El Paso.

The team's 6-stroke, second-round improvement was attributed partly to a better recognition of the greens, Knight said. Now the players know the course and are in control of their own fate, she said.

"It really helped to get out of the gates early," Knight said. "That really builds confidence."

Junior Christine Boucher has been consistent for the Wildcats this fall, and is near the top of the leaderboard once

First-day results

Wildcat junior Christine Boucher carded a 74 on Monday morning and followed it up with a 73 in the afternoon to stay within three shots of tournament-leader Randi Gauthier (70-74) from North Texas.

Individual scores

2. Christine Boucher	74-73
9. Karen Quintelier	74-77
Miranda Smith	77-74
32. Elise Carpentier	80-75
44. Sarah Heffe	79-79
Stephanie Limoges	77-81
70. Julie Kim	83-82

* Competing individually, not with team

Top five teams

1. K-State	304-299	603
2. Texas-El Paso	309-295	604
3. Illinois State	303-304	607
4. Kansas	309-303	612
5. Texas A&M-C.C.	310-304	614

again.

"We really played well today," Knight said. "Christine finished at the top of our team and put up two consistent scores."

Boucher sits in second place as an individual after Monday's play, but she wasn't the only Wildcat in the top 10. Senior Miranda Smith and Junior Karen Quintelier tied with three others for 9th place.

Knight said she is pleased with how each player has pulled her own weight so far.

"I'm proud of the way we did in the first round," she said. "Hopefully, we will go out and do it again in the last round."

BALANCE | Football evens things out against OSU

Continued from Page 6

going to depend on the consistency of the quarterback.

And the Wildcats probably ran into some of their early-season passing woes due to some indecision about who was going to run the show at quarterback.

Was it going to be the drop-back-and-fire style of junior college All-American Marc Dunn, or the get-you-with-the-legs-if-the-arm-doesn't-work style of Eli Roberson?

At first, it was kind of neck and neck as far as throwing the ball went.

Roberson threw the ball more than Dunn did in the season opener and came away with 108 yards.

Dunn came back in game two against Louisiana-Monroe and demonstrated some capacity for consistency, completing seven of 10 passes for 147 yards.

When Dunn struggled early against USC, however, it was Roberson who was waiting to claim a starting position.

Against the Trojans, Roberson demonstrated his rushing ability by racking up 70 yards and a touchdown on the ground, but took the pressure off the ground-based game with 134 yards and a touchdown through the air.

Roberson has emerged as the Wildcats' starter, and while he struggled with the pass against Colorado, turning in just 84 yards, he was able to help keep the Cats going by way of 178 yards and a touchdown on the ground against the Buffaloes.

Against Oklahoma State, it got even better. Roberson shredded the Cowboys' defense with 96 yards on the ground and 202 yards by way of the pass.

Snyder said the balance Roberson showed against Oklahoma State is a part of the maturation process of a capable quarterback.

"Eli has made tremendous improvement since last year," Snyder said. "That improvement was evident in the spring, it was evident during two-a-days, and it was evident at the beginning of the season."

"I thought he threw some nice balls. He really did. He comes before some criticism because of what some people might consider to be his inability to throw the ball well."

Roberson said the balance he was able to conduct by throwing the ball well against the Cowboys is an essential element of what makes the Wildcat offense tick.

"Running this offense we have to have balance," he said. "To get that balance we have to throw the ball a little better and run the ball like we are."

Offensive coordinator Ron Hudson said the offense K-State showed Oklahoma State, despite two interceptions, is close to the one the Wildcat coaches are looking for.

"We had 72 plays and we attempted to throw it about 25 times, so that's where we want it," Hudson said. "From that standpoint it was good."

"We had a couple of execution problems that we will have to work on, but the two interceptions were kind of flukes. It wasn't like we were making bad decisions throwing the ball and overall we are pleased with where we're at."

But the coaches aren't just pleased with the passing attack. The running game has improved as well, running back coach Michael Smith said.

That improvement is primarily centered around one man, Darren Sproles. Sproles' 130 rushing yards against Oklahoma State gave the sophomore 599 yards on the year.

Smith said the offense the Wildcats gave Oklahoma State is going to give anybody problems.

"You don't know where we are coming from," he said. "Taco and JT are out there catching balls, and Eli is throwing the ball well."

"With the exception of the interceptions, we have a lot of weapons right now and when you can use them all, you're going to be pretty good."

"If you're doing that, that's enough to win you ball games."

GUERRE Sophomore setter earning praise from Cat coaches

Continued from Page 6

row, the opponent has to guess if I'm going to set the ball or hit it," she said. "If I disguise it well, it's fun for me."

"So sometimes I go looking for kills, and other times I set the ball. Either way, the defense has to watch me, and that takes away their time to react."

In response to Fritz's question about needing to be perfect, Guerre said it can be frustrating at times.

But delivering perfect sets and being expected to step back and also play defense would make her a better player and a more intimidating threat.

"I don't have as much room for error as the other players have," she said.

"My error in setting is a foot or two, and for other players it can be clear across the court. So it's a much smaller room for error when you're the setter. Coach expects perfection. That will make me even more of a threat."

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110
For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished
NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

000
bulletin board

010
Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744. www.ksu.edu/kscf

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

NEW LOCATION as of October 1. Lewis's Auto Repair 610 B South Juliette. (785)770-8553. $40.00/hour labor rate call for appointment.

020
Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030
Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (K-State, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100
housing real estate

Need a roommate?

Advertise. It works.

Kedzie 103 • 532-6555

CLASSIFIED ADS
LET THEM WORK FOR YOU
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie • 532-6555

200
service directory

300
employment opportunities

310
Help Wanted

105
For Rent-Apts. Furnished
Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

115
Rooms Available
INDIVIDUAL DSL/CABLE access. Newly remodeled house, five minute walk to campus, off-street parking. $240 monthly, call (785)776-3454 or (785)317-2456.

120
For Rent-Houses
FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carpet, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

"Stay In Class At The Commons"
Now Leasing for 2002-2003!
• Fully Furnished
• 2 & 4 Bedroom
• Alarm System
• Swimming Pool
• Washer/Dryer
• Computer Lab
• Fitness Center
• Permit Parking
• Tennis/Volleyball Courts
• Individual Leases
Office Hours: M-F 9-5
539-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS
APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE

110
For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished
CUTE ONE-BEDROOM apartment for sublease November 1. $375/month. Call (785)969-6065

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

GET YOUR AD HERE.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
SUBLEASER NEEDED for one bedroom in new three-bedroom house for Spring semester. $265 rent, cheap bills, laundry, parking. (785)323-1141.

310
Help Wanted
LAUNDRY MAT Attendant: Speed Wash Laundry Mat is seeking a part-time, weekend attendant. Must possess good customer service skills and the ability to perform light janitorial duties. Please call (785)539-0410.

410
Items for Sale
52" COLOR TV Magnavox $575 or best offer (785)537-9212.

450
Pets and Supplies
KING SIZE waterbed with head board/ bookshelf. $100. (785)776-9873.

465
Tickets to Buy/Sell
FREE KITTENS. Seven weeks old. No shots. Free to good home. Call Josh at (785)341-6518 or Chris at (785)341-6256.

465
Tickets to Buy/Sell
FOOTBALL TICKETS for sale 785-317-3261.

465
Tickets to Buy/Sell
FOR SALE: Three student tickets. KSU vs. Texas. Make offer. Email: avb5983@ksu.edu or call (785)341-6212. Ask for Tony.

465
Tickets to Buy/Sell
WANT TO buy ICAT tickets to Texas and Iowa State. Call (785)313-1711.

465
Tickets to Buy/Sell
WANTED: FIVE student GA and two reserved tickets for ISU. Please call (785)587-8079.

465
Tickets to Buy/Sell
WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309.

500
transportation
1981 CADILLAC, good condition. Call (785)323-1414.

510
Automobiles
1993 BLACK Honda Prelude with sunroof. Good condition. 91,000 miles. $6100. (785)776-9873.

510
Automobiles
1997 HONDA Accord SE. Automatic, loaded, keyless entry, alloy wheels, tinted windows, well maintained. Call (785)770-9327.

510
Automobiles
1998 TOYOTA Tacoma Extended Cab 4x4, maroon, five-speed, cruise, power windows and locks. Great truck $11,500 firm. Call (785)341-6715.

510
Automobiles
MUST SELL 1988 Honda Accord. Well taken care of, great school car. $2000 or best offer. Call (785)537-6091 or (785)341-2308.

530
Motorcycles
1999 SUZUKI Bandit. 1200S, Fast Street fighter, black, many sweet mods, most speed, best looks for the money. $4900. (785)341-5059.

400
open market

STUDENTS
WANTED!
$20/HR POSSIBLE
FOR USING THE HUBNET
FOR DETAILS/ONLINE
REGISTRATION SEE
http://www.kstate.edu/~net/

LABOR: PART-TIME position, Tuesday-Friday. Must be available to work 1-5 or 8-5 Tuesdays and Thursdays. Will include painting, yard work, maintenance, cleaning, etc. (785)539-2309.

STUDENTS
WANTED!
$20/HR POSSIBLE
FOR USING THE HUBNET
FOR DETAILS/ONLINE
REGISTRATION SEE
http://www.kstate.edu/~net/

STUDENTS
WANTED!
$20/HR POSSIBLE
FOR USING THE HUBNET
FOR DETAILS/ONLINE
REGISTRATION SEE
http://www.kstate.edu/~net/

STUDENTS
WANTED!
$20/HR POSSIBLE
FOR USING THE HUBNET
FOR DETAILS/ONLINE
REGISTRATION SEE
http://www.kstate.edu/~net/

310
Help Wanted
MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xcalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

310
Help Wanted
RESORT ACTIVITIES, HOSPITALITY, AND GOLF INTERNSHIPS. Orlando, FL; Myrtle Beach and Hilton Head Island, SC. Now hiring for all positions and seasons! Take a semester off or summer and learn about the hospitality industry in sunny resort locations! Receive a certificate from the largest hospitality training company in the United States. Fully furnished housing, stipend and transportation provided. Three to six month internships. Call (888)859-5293 for more information and to set up a phone interview. www.AmericanHospitalityAcademy.com.

310
Help Wanted
WEEKLY HOUSE-CLEANING, private home. Send qualifications, resume to: Student Publications, 103 Kedzie, c/o Box 5, Manhattan, KS 66506.

320
Volunteers Needed
VOLUNTEER ABROAD, Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.dh-movement.org www.humana.org elfemane@humana.org

330
Business Opportunities
The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

330
Business Opportunities
Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

330
Business Opportunities
$1500 WEEKLY potential making our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

330
Business Opportunities
BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

330
Business Opportunities
FULL OR Part-time position available for chiropractic assistant. We seek a very special person, a good communicator with excellent people skills to join our enthusiastic and very dedicated team. Please apply at Sorrell-Hersen Chiropractic at 2815 Anderson Ave. Manhattan.

330
Business Opportunities
GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com.

330
Business Opportunities
ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592 or (785)341-5105.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

150
Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, 1031 Moro, $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

600
travel/trips
610
Tour Package

610
Tour Package
KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1443 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

610
Tour Package
#1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1! Breckenridge, Vail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin. $179. 1-800-SKI-WILD. 1-800-754-0453. www.bski.com

610
Tour Package
SPRING BREAK 2003 is now sponsored by Student Express! Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza! Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentexpress.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

610
Tour Package
#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPadre, 110% Best Price! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts Now Hiring Campus Reps! 1-800-234-7007 endlesssummertours.com

610
Tour Package
WINTER/SPRING BREAK Panama City Beach South Padre Island Vail Steamboat • Daytona Beach Breckenridge

610
Tour Package
Cover Charges Welcome Party Meats FREE Happy Hour VIP Parties $3.99

610
Tour Package
1.800.SUNCHASE www.sunchase.com

610
Tour Package
WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com

610
Tour Package
Lost something? You can place an ad FREE for three days! Kedzie 103 • 532-6555

610
Tour Package
Student Travel America

610
Tour Package
COLLEGE SNOW RIDE Party 6 days, 5 nts, with a 4 day lift ticket

610
Tour Package
OURANGO MOUNTAIN RESORT COLORADO Call (800) 235-TRIP www.studenttravelamerica.com

610
Tour Package
Ski that Organize a Group of 20 and Travel FOR FREE! Parties Galore

610
Tour Package
FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

610
Tour Package
HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

610
Tour Package
Deadlines Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4

WOMEN | Females obtain more degrees than males

Continued from Page 1

As women have more opportunities and gain more education, gender diversity in the work force is increasing, Ragan said.

Divine said law schools and medical schools have consistently graduated more women.

William Blankenau, assistant professor of economics, agreed.

"In some areas, we see a lot already," Blankenau said. "They are oftentimes paths to very high level jobs, so you'd expect to see that."

Although changes are taking place slowly, women now are becoming leaders more than in the past, Ragan said.

"When barriers are eliminated, people can do the jobs they do best," he said.

The trend is likely to continue, Blankenau said.

"I think it means that there are a lot of opportunities for women," he said. "There are likely to be more as women find themselves in high-level positions. Opportunities beget opportunities."

Continued from Page 1

officer summarizes the dispatch calls from the shift before, the officers call out their lunch times. Officers question an investigator on the details of a child abuse case. A supervisor advises officers to watch for a disgruntled tenant who has been threatening his landlord.

7:30 a.m. Tiede climbs into Unit 508, the car he loves to drive. "We have to make sure all the lights are working," he says as he switches on and off lights labeled rotate left, strobe, wig wag, take down, left alley and right alley. He opens the glove compartment and checks to make sure the preliminary breath test kit is stocked.

7:37 a.m. Tiede pulls Unit 508 to the back of the parking lot, next to the RCPD's gas pump, where he cleans the car windows.

7:40 a.m. Tiede pulls over on the side of the road to check the radar gun. He bounces a pair of tuning forks on the edge of the steering wheel and compares them to the reading on the radar gun. One reads 25 mph and the other 40 mph.

He flips down the in-car camera system, which records action happening in front of the police car.

"It's a good idea because it is easy to show what the person did was wrong," Tiede says. "The tapes are locked in the back and are only accessed by a supervisor."

7:45 a.m. As Tiede drives Unit 508 through traffic, he says, "when I am at work, people are more courteous." He says all police officers try to follow the speed limit, but when he is on the way to a call, he can't help but think "what could possibly be happening to this person?"

7:50 a.m. Tiede sits near Pillsbury Crossing clocking cars driving on Kansas Highway 177, where there is a 45 mph speed limit. Within five minutes, he peels out onto the highway and catches up to a car speeding at 59 mph. Tiede finds out the driver of the car recognizes him. "It's awkward," he says, "but they don't pay my salary." Tiede says he gives warnings when he can, but sometimes it isn't an option. "If they are going 15 mph over the speed limit, there is no decision. It really takes the guessing out of it."

8:03 a.m. Unit 508 is back on the road. Tiede relates how he became a police officer after watching his best friend's dad in his career as a Kansas State Trooper. "I had always made up my mind," he says.

Even though he loves his job, Tiede says he does experience fear. "When you go on calls where there's guns, that's a big X factor," he says. "You never know what's gonna happen."

8:50 a.m. Tiede pulls over in front of Chili's Restaurant and removes a long steel rod lying in the right lane of Tuttle Creek Boulevard. Two minutes later, he stops to remove another rod on Fort Riley Boulevard. "What am I, the trash man?" he says.

9 a.m. Tiede says that, when he first started his job, the bad reputation of police officers frustrated him. But now he lets it roll off his shoulders. "Hopefully, I can change people's minds," he says.

9:13 a.m. "10-93," sounds on the dispatch radio — a security alarm sounds at a residence. Tiede is told it is a false alarm before he arrives at the residence.

9:19 a.m. A call comes over the radio reporting a vagrant using a hose on private property to wash her clothes. Six minutes later, Unit 508 arrives at the house. Tiede advises the woman of the options available in Manhattan for the homeless and warns her of trespassing laws.

10 a.m. Tiede waves to a passing minivan. Since Sept. 11, he says, people have been friendlier and thanked him for his hard work. He says the RCPD director is encouraging his officers to wave to all passersby.

Day 2

10:15 p.m. Officer Kevin Bryant takes an inventory of his car. He prepares himself for a night of excitement. His assigned area includes the north side of Manhattan, the night after a home football game.

10:22 p.m. Bryant pulls over a truck for speeding at 62 mph on Seth Child Road — a 45 mph zone. Bryant doesn't like handing out tickets. This one amounts to $111. "Most of us would rather take calls and deal with people," he says.

10:40 p.m. Bryant stops in the parking lot of an apartment complex west of KSU Stadium. He says this area is one of the worst for weekend parties. Bryant gets out of the car and inspects the ID of a boy he believes to be under 21, who sets his beer down as Bryant approaches him. He gives the boy a warning. He says he understands people want to have fun on a Saturday night, but they have to be safe. "I don't want to ruin it unless you make me," Bryant says.

10:40 p.m. Bryant pulls up behind a truck with their driver's side door open on a crowded street. "People do stupid stuff on regular basis," he says.

11 p.m. Bryant drives by parties, scanning the crowds for fights or unruly drinkers. He says he became a police officer after serving in the Army for 20 years because he felt it was time to do something fun. "I have a huge sense of humor," he says. He doesn't like to get people in trouble with the law, but his first priority is to keep everyone safe. "If you would just be courteous of your neighbors, you would have no problems."

11:20 p.m. The parties start to warm up. Bryant says he has an instinct for identifying underage drinkers, and they also tend to do things to tip him off. "They know they are doing something wrong," he says. "They look guilty. It is mostly who looks the stupidest." But if you are doing something illegal, Bryant says, just tell the truth. "I appreciate the person that admits they are wrong."

11:40 p.m. Bryant is called to an apartment south of KSU Stadium. He enters a party and yells, "turn it down." The officer who has met up with Bryant explains the noise ordinance violation he is about to hand to the residents of the apartment.

11:55 p.m. As Bryant walks away from the party, he questions a man holding a beer. The man tells him he is not 21. Bryant takes him to his patrol car and issues him a minor in possession violation.

12:13 a.m. Bryant heads to a party in northeast Manhattan where a fight has broken out. Three patrol cars have arrived. "Hang on, brother, I am with ya," he says as he pats another officer on the back. The officers calm the crowd down and bring some order back to the party.

12:30 a.m. Bryant drives by the house of a known drug dealer. No one is home.

1 a.m. Bryant pulls up to a party on Vattier Street where a party is spilling into the streets. He questions a girl he believes to be underage. After scanning her license and seeing no prior offenses, he makes her pour out her drink but lets her go with a warning. "Next time, be honest with me," he says.

1:05 a.m. Someone has double-parked near Aggieville and Bryant writes a traffic citation so a wrecker service will remove the car.

1:20 a.m. Bryant continues to drive around north Manhattan. He says the most calls come in between 2 and 3 a.m. Bryant doesn't get off work until 7 a.m. He will go to sleep at noon after spending a few precious hours with his wife.

After the end of my first shift as a police shadow, I was impressed at the humor and good nature of the police. Though they often are portrayed as hard-nosed rulers of fun, their strictness is actually just a necessary element of the job. While not talking to suspects or yelling over loud music, the officers often say they don't like handing out tickets. This may be hard to believe, but their repeated insistence and earnestness makes it easier to understand why they would much rather people did what they should be doing to begin with.

DEGREES | Advanced degrees result in higher pay

Continued from Page 1

could make graduate school a more attractive option for some students, especially with the tough job market, said Dottie Evans, assistant director of Career and Employment Services. Evans said she expects graduate program enrollment to increase.

"We are anticipating a trend upward," Evans said. "There always is quite a proportion of students that do further their education. It's primarily if what they aspire to do requires that. For some things, it does require that level of expertise."

An advanced degree helps prepare students for positions with more responsibility and higher pay, Guikema said. Graduates in disciplines such as business administration, medicine and computer and information sciences typically earn much more with respect to education levels, he said.

"With the additional piece of paper comes the additional knowledge and additional expertise," he said. "That's the key — that the advanced degree qualifies you for jobs at a different level."

But holding an advanced degree in other careers may not merit drastic pay differences or leverage in the job market, he said.

For some careers, a bachelor's may be all that's necessary, Evans said.

"If you really want to have what we consider a good standard of living and earning power, it requires a bachelor's," Evans said. "More and more companies require a bachelor's for a lot of positions."

The tough job market could alter students' motives for obtaining more education, she said.

"It's a little bit concerning whether they're doing it because it will make a difference in the job they get or whether they just can't find a job," Evans said.

Motives related to money, limited employment opportunities or uncertainty about the future could be the wrong reasons for obtaining more education, said DeAnn Ricks, graduate student in agronomy.

"It's a personal decision that should be really analyzed and not used as a fall-back plan or option," Ricks said. "It would be a bad thing to end up in graduate school and realize that you don't really want to be there."

Guikema agreed. "Graduate school is not for everyone," Guikema said. "Graduate school is for people who want to follow their passions."

A passion for learning is the reason Ricks is working on her master's. She hopes to earn a doctorate to teach.

"I really didn't consider the pay difference when I went to graduate school," she said. "I just didn't feel like I was done learning."

But attending graduate school isn't an easy choice, Ricks said. Students are taking a risk by investing time and opportunity costs, not to mention perhaps putting their lives on hold in terms of marriage and family life.

"It's a risk, but I think it is powerful if you're driven and stay on track," Ricks said.

Even with the risks, Ricks said she encourages other interested students to attend graduate school.

"It's something everyone has to decide for themselves," she said. "I think there is always going to be a need for people with education at every level."

AMBROSE | Former professor dies of lung cancer

Continued from Page 1

in the world."

According to the Associated Press, Ambrose left K-State after a protest during bombings of Laos and Columbia.

"Stephen and some students were kicked out of a Landon Lecture in 1970 for protesting during a speech given by President Nixon," Linder said. "He also protested Vietnam and became somewhat of an outlaw at the time."

Shortly after that incident,

Ambrose left K-State for the University of New Orleans.

"He considered this a very arid and not interesting place," Linder said. "He left here for New Orleans and they treated him very well there."

Ambrose delivered guest lectures at K-State: an Eisenhower Lecture in 1988 and a Landon Lecture in 2001.

Ambrose was accused of plagiarism earlier this year. In some of his books, he footnoted others' work, but did not place the passages within quotation marks.

"Some people have said he apparently plagiarized other historians' books," Linder said. "It tarnished his reputation as a historian and he died under a cloud of controversy, but he did have a very interesting and exciting career."

Ambrose's last book, "To America: Personal Reflections of a Historian" is set for a Nov. 19 release.

— The Associated Press contributed to this story.

Read it. Live it. Wear it.

Can't get enough Fourum? Get your Fourum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

NEED A ROOMMATE or are you LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO LIVE?

advertise in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN • 10K-KOL • 10K-KOL

WEEKLY SPECIALS

monday
$1 OFF All Drinks
tuesday
$1.50 Enchiladas
$2 Red Stripes
$2.50 Rum Drinks
$2.50 Bud Plints*
*keep glass plus
$1.50 refills
$1 Sex on the Beach Shots

wednesday

10 c Wings from 6 - 9
$1 Hot Sex Shots
$1.50 Cosmos
$2 Big Domestic Beers
$2.50 Frozen Drinks

thursday

50 c Tacos
$1 Montezuma Tequila Shots
$2 Import & Micro Bottles
$3 Red Bull/180's and Vodka

friday

$2.50 Boulevard Big Beers
$2.50 Miller Lite/MGD Bottles

Best Lunch Deal in the 'Ville

$3 sandwich and chips

TUES-FRI

11-2

GRADUATION FAIR

Tuesday & Wednesday
October 15 & 16 noon-6p

Featured vendors include:

- C-B Graduation Announcements
- Artcarved Class Rings
- University Frames

Varney's

*Get a free alumni license plate with your order while supplies last.

Wednesday, October 16, 2002

Sex-crime suspect on trial

Bond reduction request denied

By Jessica Pitts
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A request for bond reduction for a man accused of sexual battery was denied at his first appearance in court Tuesday.

Akkawit Aindilokwong, 26, graduate student in chemical engineering, is confined on a $5,000 bond for an incident that occurred in City Park between May and August.

Aindilokwong allegedly grabbed a woman from behind, Riley County Police officials said in a previous statement.

Aindilokwong's lawyer asked for a bond reduction on the basis that his client "has always showed up when he was supposed to when he has been involved in similar situations."

Riley County Assistant Attorney Valerie Peterson objected to the reduction.

"This is a serious felony," she said. "We believe $5,000 is appropriate for this offense."

Aindilokwong is a convicted sex offender and is still on probation for previous charges, she said. She also said there were additional charges pending related to the offense.

Aindilokwong was arrested April 17 in the K-State Student Union for aggravated assault. Reports indicate he has been banned from campus but was allowed to take classes through the Internet.

Aindilokwong is scheduled to appear again at 10 a.m. Oct. 22.

CNS solving WebMail dilemma

Problems hard to detect; students asked to logout of accounts properly

By Crystal Becker
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Computing and Network Services worked late into the night Tuesday to fix escalating problems with WebMail.

CNS Director Harvard Townsend said WebMail users have been experiencing login problems, even after entering the correct ID name and password.

"The problem appears to be due to people not explicitly logging out of WebMail before they exit their Web browser," Townsend said. "The WebMail server, therefore, thinks that person is still logged in and keeps resources allocated to that user."

Townsend said the intermittent problem, unrelated to earlier WebMail problems, was difficult to diagnose.

"CNS staff have been working with the WebMail software company to diagnose the problem," he said.

Townsend said the WebMail company is sending CNS a new version of WebMail to fix the problem, but he still advises students to logout properly.

"Even with the software fix from the vendor, people using WebMail should always explicitly logout by clicking the 'Logout' button in the main WebMail screen before they exit their browser," he said.

For T.J. Steinkirchner, sophomore in architecture, WebMail problems couldn't have come at a worse time.

"It took me 20 minutes or

Death toll reaches 9

FBI analyst killed Monday; investigators link shooting to sniper

By Allen G. Breed
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FALLS CHURCH, Va. — An FBI analyst who assessed terrorist threats was identified Tuesday as the ninth person killed by the Washington-area sniper, shot in the head in an attack investigators say has yielded the most detailed clues yet in the hunt for the gunman.

For the first time, witnesses were able to give information about license plates on vehicles seen fleeing the scene, including a light-colored Chevrolet Astro van with a burned-out rear tail-light.

A law enforcement official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said another witness gave a description of a dark-skinned, possibly Hispanic or Middle Eastern, man in a white van.

Source: cnn.com

Sniper attacks

The Washington-area sniper struck again Monday in Falls Church, Va. The latest attack has provided law enforcement with new clues. Nine of the 11 attacks have resulted in death.

year-old Linda Franklin because of her job. She worked for the FBI's Cyber-Crimes Division, created last year to focus on computer crimes as well as intellectual property cases.

Montgomery County (Md.) Police Chief Charles Moose, the head of the investigation, emphasized that Franklin was not working on the case.

Franklin, a 47-year-old mother of two grown children, was killed Monday night as she and her husband loaded packages into their convertible in the parking lot outside a Home Depot at the Seven Corners Shopping Center. Ballistics evidence Tuesday connected the sniper to the slaying.

"Linda was a dedicated employee, and she will be missed," said FBI Director Robert Muller. "All of us are deeply shocked and angry over this tragedy."

An FBI chaplain at Franklin's Arlington home said Franklin and her husband were planning to move Friday to another home in the area and were at Home Depot to buy supplies for the move and the new house.

See SNIPER Page 12

"I hope that seeing this visual effect will send a message to think before popping the keys in the car after drinking."

Drew Sebelius

MEMBER OF GREEKS ADVOCATING THE MATURE MANAGEMENT OF ALCOHOL

Photos by Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Austin Thayer, junior in finance, and Drew Sebelius, sophomore in architectural engineering, drive 31 crosses into the ground between Waters Hall and Hale Library on Tuesday night. "I hope this opens a few students' minds while being drunk," Thayer said.

LIVES LOST

GAMMA sponsors Alcohol Awareness Week

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

With the swipe of his paintbrush, Drew Sebelius puts the finishing touches on one of the many wooden crosses surrounding the table. After the cross is completely painted, he examines the one next to it, making sure they look identical.

As a member of Greeks Advocating the Mature Management of Alcohol, or GAMMA, Sebelius, sophomore in architectural engineering, along with Austin Thayer, junior in finance, came up with the idea of posting white crosses on campus grounds.

The 31 crosses will pay tribute to each of the 18-to-24-year-olds who lost their lives in 2001 due to alcohol-related accidents in Kansas.

"I hope that seeing this visual effect will send a message to think before popping the keys in the car after drinking," Sebelius said.

The white wooden crosses were placed in the quad between Waters Hall and Hale Library on Tuesday evening and will stay up during the rest of the week.

After years of passing out ribbons at football games, GAMMA President Megan Menagh said the group wanted to do something that would impact the student body.

"This year we wanted to do more than pass ribbons out at the football game," Menagh said. "We decided to make a statement with the crosses."

According to the Kansas Department of Transportation Web site, 18.5 percent of all alcohol-related accidents were fatal in 2001.

These accidents resulted in a total of 96 deaths on Kansas roads.

These statistics, Menagh

Greeks Advocating Mature Management of Alcohol built, painted and staked 31 crosses into the ground. Each cross represents a person between the ages of 18 and 24 that died in an alcohol-related car accident in 2001. "This is a visual effect, and if it works, there will be fewer crosses here next year," Sebelius said.

said, are the reason GAMMA worked on getting the message across to the student body.

"This project is specifically focusing on alcohol-related accidents," Menagh said. "It's being aware that it happens in Kansas and we want to get that message out there to

See GAMMA Page 8

INSIDE

Active Aggieville: Entertainment district remains active with new stores moving in

Page 3

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Bush rejects firearms 'fingerprinting' following sniper incident Monday
President Bush does not support the push for firearms "fingerprinting" that has grown from the Washington-area sniper shootings, a spokesman said Tuesday.
Page 5

Indonesia questions 2 men in Bali bombing; traces of explosives found
Indonesian officials interrogated a security guard about the deadly nightclub bombing in Bali and said traces of C-4 plastic explosives were found at the scene of the blast.
Page 8

Iraqis vote for unopposed candidate; Saddam in shadow of feared war
Citizens in Saddam Hussein's hometown of massive compounds and narrow lanes, Tikrit, joined millions of other Iraqis on Tuesday for a vote choreographed as a show of support for their leader.
Page 9

Bush to discuss with Sharon reducing risk of Iraqi attack
President Bush and senior U.S. officials plan to discuss with visiting Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon today how to reduce the risk of an Iraqi attack on Israel.
Page 10

Government says fewer people trying to bring guns, knives on planes
A year after the Sept. 11 terror attacks, most airline passengers seem to have caught on that guns, knives and boxcutters should be left at home, yet thousands of these weapons are still being intercepted, federal officials said Tuesday.
Page 10

Weather

Today 59 | 36

Thursday 58 | 31

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 41

SPONSORED BY:
M·A·N·H·A·T·T·A·N
CHRISTIAN COLLEGE
www.mccck.edu

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Ump's decision
5 Stashed
8 Pack away
12 Show-biz statuette
13 Exist
14 Sci-fi writers' award
15 Toll road
17 Woody's son
18 Venue for 12-Across
19 Wrote a bad review
21 Pairs
24 Foundation
25 "The Bambino"
28 Staff member?
30 Praiseful piece
33 Columbus sch.
34 Brilliance
35 Moo goo gai pan
36 Series of skirmishes
37 Act

DOWN
1 Barracks array
2 Touch
3 Trevi coin, once
4 Duration
5 "Ball —"
6 Annoy
7 Profound
8 Alan Ladd
9 Veto
10 Look lecherously
11 Unfinished furniture?
16 Seat of the Catholic Church
20 Help a hood
22 Formerly
23 Did some cobbling
25 Tier
26 Cold War faction (Abbr.)
27 Fruit-filled pastry
28 Vocalized fanfare
31 Berni's aunt Ena, e.g.
32 — out a living
34 Advantage
36 Garden group
40 Second President
42 Aahen
43 Settled down
44 Alliance acronym
45 Commotion
47 End of a Christie title
48 Author
49 Kell of old-time comics
52 E.T.'s craft
53 Tease

Solution time: 27 mins.

Yesterday's answer 10-16

CRYPTOQUIP

IFYYRIQOB G MGU AHDH
TFSS RT DGEQRGMUQKH
AGIUH ARFSE QU WGKH
HOBWUHHO WGST-SQKH?
Yesterday's Cryptiquip: SCAVENGER HUNTS
TAKING PLACE IN SOUTH KOREA'S CAPITAL
EVOKE REAL SEOUL-SEARCHING.
Today's Cryptiquip Clue: S equals L

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 1! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 1, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475
The Cryptiquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-228-5951 91¢ per minute, touch-tone service. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

10-16 CRYPTOQUIP

IFYYRIQOB G MGU AHDH
TFSS RT DGEQRGMUQKH
AGIUH ARFSE QU WGKH
HOBWUHHO WGST-SQKH?
Yesterday's Cryptiquip: SCAVENGER HUNTS
TAKING PLACE IN SOUTH KOREA'S CAPITAL
EVOKE REAL SEOUL-SEARCHING.
Today's Cryptiquip Clue: S equals L

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 1! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 1, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475
The Cryptiquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

There was an error in Tuesday's Collegian. Richard Bailey is the executive director of the Riley County Area Transportation Agency. The Collegian regrets the error.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.
© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

BANTER AND BELLOW
Expect to be turned down
if you use cheezy pickup lines

Tips from an expert

Humor, class and nonchalance will put you in good graces.

Nothing is sadder than watching a pathetic loser attempt to pick up a sweet thang with a bad line and still be serious about it.

There's a difference between guys who really are smooth and guys who are trying way too hard. Some have called me an expert at this, so listen up fellas.

This is how it's done. Using dirty lines won't get you anywhere, unless you want the clap.

You gotta be super-chill and not obvious. You have to be James Bond.

If you're really going to use a line, it has to be one nobody has ever heard before.

Only you can know it's a line.

Think of something original. Be confident — but not too confident.

Do yourself a favor, and never say, "Is your daddy a thief? Because he stole the stars from heaven and put them in your eyes."

Now if I was a chick, I'd retort, "Is your daddy a bucket maker? Because I'm about to projectile vomit, and I sure could use one."

You'll never lose with humor.

Try these for kicks:

■ You must be from Hiroshima, 'cause baby, you're the bomb.

■ I'm invisible. (Really?) Can you see me? (Yes.) How about tomorrow night?

■ Uh, oh. My parents met at a place like this. Let's get the hell out of here.

My favorite: One day there was this magical bird that sang all day. It had many jolly, frolicking, joyful, prancing friends that sang songs of happiness. When they flew by, the flowers became happy, too. Then everything died. Now doesn't that just turn you on?

If a bold and daring foxy lady uses a line on you, be on your toes.

Make her buy you a White Russian. If she's ugly, make her buy you two or three.

By then, she'll be as hot as any one of K-State's volleyball badasses.

Be nice, not naughty

My parents used to harp on me for not being ladylike enough.

But despite bouts of cussing and the fact that I rarely wear skirts, I still want to be treated like a lady.

So don't talk to me like I'm a tramp. But that should be obvious.

The more complicated part of the pick-up line is being smooth.

There is a balance between delightfully subtle and glaringly oversteated.

Really suave guys are scary. If you glide up to me and share winks like a rabid squirrel throws acorns, I will wonder if you're one of those guys who is hot — and knows it. Those overconfident types are annoying, not to mention likely carriers of unsightly diseases.

Then there are those who are definitely rough at the edges. That means you, the fraternity boy who once asked me last year, "Do you want a tour of the house?" This line will not get you any one-on-one time with any girl who has a brain, if that matters to you.

The best pick-up line is not a line at all. That's probably because the best guys are those who are also friendly.

So grab a brew and a barstool, and ask me about my day, or what I do for fun, or what music I listen to.

Maybe a phone number or a dinner date will follow.

Ladies, we also have to regulate our come-ons.

For us, using naughty lines at first meet may draw in the men, but be sure that's the attention you really want to attract. If you say your name is Toodles, then Toodles you will always be.

For those of you who may not know, Toodles is a character I created in my adolescence. She skips around, chest thrust out and voice lilting. Let's just say I'm the clown of my household — they have to be missing me.

In the end, the art of a pick-up line is not an art at all. Just smile and say hi, and take it from there — if you're lucky.

You can reach Banter and Bellow columnists Dana Strongin, junior in print journalism, and Layton Ehmk, senior in print journalism, at banter@pub.ksu.edu.

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Monday, Oct. 14

■ At 1 p.m., Gregory Copeland, 1950 Hunting Ave., No. 5, was arrested for possession of simulated controlled substances or drug paraphernalia and cultivation of marijuana. Bond was set at $5,000.
■ At 2:30 p.m., Lupe Gamino Jr., 619

Pottawatomie Ave., was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 9:51 p.m., Rowmount Washington, 2112 Elm Lane, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $750.
■ At 10:27 p.m., Caleb Gardner, 1821 Priboth, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $133.50.

Tuesday, Oct. 15

■ At 12:05 a.m., Dallas Hodson, 2215 College Ave., No. 1331, was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $500.

The planner | Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Fort Riley classes will run Oct. 15 through Dec. 14. The dates have changed since publication of the line schedule. Civilian enrollment began Oct. 7.

■ Recreational Services will be taking entries for intramural volleyball, four-wall handball singles, four-wall racquetball singles, squash singles, table tennis singles and the HORSE shootout today and Thursday in the administrative office.

■ 2002-03 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Friday, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.

■ Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house on 918 N. Manhattan.

■ "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 on Hale Library's second floor.

■ Royal Purple yearbook pictures will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in West Hall. If you live off campus or missed your pictures, get them taken at the Union Courtyard until Oct. 25.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Charles Starkey at 10:45 a.m. today in Weber 146.

■ KSU Theater students present a Monster Makeup Demonstration at 11 a.m. Saturday at Manhattan Public Library for children and teenagers interested in learning techniques for using costume makeup. For more information, call (785) 776-4741 ext. 125.

■ Basic library classes will be from 11:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and 2:30 to 3:15 today in Hale 208.

■ The K-State Chess Club meets from 6 to 10 tonight in Union 206.

■ A Community Service Program, International and Kansas teams informational meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. on Oct. 22 in Union 212.

■ KSU Aikido will conduct a martial arts class from 7 to 9 tonight in Ahearn 301.

■ The Association of Residence Halls will have a General Body meeting at 9 tonight in Union Big 12.

■ Lafayette Health Center is providing walk-in flu vaccines at 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the center. Cost is $7 for students and $10 for faculty and staff.

■ Future Financial Planners will meet and have a guest speaker at 5:30 p.m. Thursday in Union 212.

■ The alumni center ribbon-cutting ceremony will be at 8:30 a.m. Saturday on the east side of the center. Tours will be available until 3 p.m.

■ The American Society for Public Administration is sponsoring a simulated audit sponsored by the legislative division of post audit at 6 p.m. Monday in Hale 301-A.

Quotable | Words worth repeating

"I hope I hear the resolve of a leader who recognizes that any time terrorists take hold in a country it's going to weaken the country itself. And there has to be a firm and deliberate desire to find out — find the killers before they kill somebody else." President Bush said of the Indonesian president.

"It hasn't been this frightening since 9/11."

Bob Bakley at the scene of a deadly shooting Monday night in a Washington suburb.

"Your terrible suffering is needless. (Yours is a) despotic regime that is leading you from failure to failure."

Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon, urging Palestinians to overthrow Yasser Arafat

Source: The Associated Press

Up next | In Thursday's Collegian

On front | Alternative shopping

Are you cheap or just looking for a fun place to shop? Find out a little more about thrift stores and some of the surprises you can find within them.

Sports | Showdown in the hills

Men's golf duels with Oklahoma tomorrow at Colbert Hills. Read the team's take on the Sooners, and find out what K-State needs to do to be successful.

The Edge | Friday previews

The Manhattan Arts Center's performance of "Barefoot in the Park" opens Friday, and The Kansas City ballet company comes to McCain. Check out a preview of each event.

Not enough Fourum? Pick up a Fourum T-shirt in Kedzie 103 for $15.

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER
"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."
539-3338
Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Get personal with the collegian.
College personal ads. Call 532-6555.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
1800 Claflin Road
776-5577
We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

KSU Bakery Science Club WEEKLY BAKE SALE TODAY 3 TO 5 P.M. Shellenberger First Floor
Please visit us at: www.ksu.edu/bakeclub

Don't miss KANSAS STATE VOLLEYBALL on KMAN News/Talk 1350
Tonight's game: at Kansas (Big 12 Conference match) 7 p.m.
Ad sponsored by Clavin

Royal altering | STATE
Wednesday, October 16
Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures
West Hall
10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.
Union
10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.
Next up: Thursday, Oct. 17
Goodnow Hall & Union 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

BoWinkle's KANSAS
1014 Anderson
Replay of Game starts @ 5
THURSDAY SPECIALS
$1 Domestic Bottles $4.95 Chicken Fried
$2 Import Bottles Steak & Chicken Fried
$1.50 Wells Chicken Dinner
Karaoke Starts @ 9

BIRKENSTOCK
Okon's Birkenstock - Aggieville -
539-8571 • 1214-B Moro
Fresh. New. Unexpected.
Suddenly comfort and fashion aren't mutually exclusive. Just like every Birkenstock, our newest designs naturally cradle your feet on our legendary footbed. But they're also a bit more refined. So when you step into the office or out on the town, you're comfortable and ready for whatever the day brings.

1 Wednesday $6.99
X-LARGE 16" CHEESE PIZZA • WEDNESDAY ONLY • CARRY OUT ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA
2 BIG ASS 20" One Topping $11.99 or Two for $19.99
3 DORM special
12" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 12" POKEY STICKS $5.99
14" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 14" POKEY STICKS $6.99
M-TH ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA • CAMPUS ADDRESS ONLY
EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH

A sidewalk sign for the newly opened Let's Dish on 12th Street sits in the store. The store features dishes, glasses, vases and other assorted pieces of decorated glassware.

Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

Changes abundant in the 'Ville

2 businesses move into district; more development expected soon

By Jessica Pitts
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

They are still coming. Two new businesses opened in Aggieville this month, and more are expected to make appearances soon.

"The district is busy now," said Cheryl Sieben, director of Aggieville Business Association. "In the last six months, we have seen lots of action."

The new businesses, Let's Dish and 11th Street Liquor, are the latest in a string of changes.

Recently, five businesses expanded or remodeled, three changed names, two restaurants made plans to join the district, and one clothing store opened.

"Aggieville usually follows a natural cycle in the amount of business we have," Sieben said, "but this seems to be a bit more than usual. There is a lot of change."

And that change is an attractive aspect of Aggieville, said Belinda McMillan, owner of Shear Dynamics, 1125 Laramie St.

"The morale is high among business owners," said McMillan, who is also president of Aggieville Business Association.

"There are a lot of positive

An array of ashtrays sits in the window at Let's Dish on 12th Street. The store features painted glassware.

Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

changes going on, and the owners feel the effects of those."

When businesses open, Sieben said, there is a natural curiosity for customers to visit the new store and, hopefully, shop at surrounding businesses.

"It brings us customers," she said. "There is more traffic in Aggieville. Plus, many stores are expanding, which means business is good."

And while it is too early to tell how business is going at Let's Dish, 612 N. 12th Street, owner Jamie Krehbiel said being in Aggieville has its perks.

"It is a fun place to be," she said. "Business is kind of slow right now, but I am waiting for the business to catch on."

The store specializes in hand-painted dishes and glassware. A lot of the items can be personalized for birthdays, anniversaries and other special occasions.

"I did it as a hobby," Krehbiel said, "and then I did some dessert plates for Harry's Uptown. From there, it kind of snuggled into a business, which is nice, because it is something I enjoy."

At the other new addition to Aggieville, 11th Street Liquor, business is as expected.

"It's real good," Mark Bylka, owner, said.

And he expects it to pick up. In about three weeks, a drive-thru window will be added to the existing structure.

"Other than that, we offer everything a normal liquor store does," Bylka said.

The new businesses seem to be a good fit for Aggieville,

Changes in Aggieville

■ New business
Let's Dish, 612 N. 12th Street, is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 12 to 5 p.m. Sunday. 11th Street Liquor, 1101 Moro St., is open 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday and Tuesday and 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday.

■ Changed name
Radina's Coffeehouse (formerly Espresso Royale), Dave's Hideaway (formerly Out of Bounds) and Aggie Station (formerly Gilligan's).

■ Restaurants
Buffalo Wild Wings, 1231 Moro St., expected to open Friday, and Jimmy John's Gourmet Sandwiches, 1214 Moro St., set to open in November.

■ Clothing Store
gei gei's Ltd., 1201 Moro St., is expected to open soon.

■ Expansions, renovations and moves
Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon, 1213 Moro St., added a game room in September. Shear Dynamics, 1125 Laramie St., added a spa, complete with sauna, massage and facial rooms and private waxing and pedicure areas, in May. Game Guy, 709 N. 12th, moved and expanded this summer. Pro Fitness, 1125 Laramie St., remodeled in July, and Gumbly's Pizza & Pub, 701 N. 11th, expanded this summer.

Sieben said.

"We are always excited to welcome new stores," she said. "The district just keeps getting stronger."

Drink Safe coasters to target date rapes

Technology to be made available within 3 months

By Lindsey Tipling
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

One of Frank Guerra's friends was raped a few years ago.

"Someone slipped something in her drink," Guerra said. "She only looked away for a few seconds."

Guerra said he could not believe something so bad could happen to someone he knew.

He could have simply been sympathetic with his friend, but he said that just was not enough.

"I decided to do something about it," Guerra said. "Something that would really help."

He invented Drink Safe Technology, a company that is dedicated to helping people stay safe while partying.

Guerra said his most recent invention is the Drink Safe Coaster.

"You take a few drops from your drink and put it on the card," he said. "If it changes color, you should stop drinking."

The coasters, which sell for 40 cents each, will be available in drug stores all over the country within three months, Guerra said.

"A lot of universities have been making the coasters available to their students as well," he said.

Bill Arck, director for the Alcohol and Other Drug Education Service at K-State, said anything that helps promote safer drinking habits for students is a positive tool the campus can use.

Arck also said people should be aware that devices like the coaster are not always foolproof.

"Students should be aware that something like this would not make them safe, but it would make them safer," Arck said.

Arck said if students practice other safe drinking habits, they can greatly reduce their risks of being drugged.

"You should party with people you know and trust," he said. "And you should always measure and make your own drinks."

Lt. Kurt Moldrup of the Riley County Police Department said he agreed with this mentality about safe drinking. "Those kinds of devices aren't always guaranteed," he said.

"You should still keep drinks under your own observation at all times."

Guerra said his company has received numerous e-mails from people who have used the coasters and escaped potentially harmful situations.

The coasters respond to gamma-hydroxybutyrate, or GHB, as well as many other drugs associated with rape. He said he didn't want to name the other drugs and give potential rapists ideas.

Even though the coaster might not be foolproof, Arck said it could help.

"We have a small problem with GHB here in the community," he said. "I think it sounds like a good aid for partying safer."

ROYAL PURPLE

yearbook

we've got the stories
you've got to read.

Only at K-State
1000 S. 10th St., Room 100
Hawley, KS 66505
Tel: 785-332-9622

UPCC
LEAVING OUR MARK...ONE EVENT AT A TIME.

Lunchtime Lounge

wednesday | oct. 16
activities begin at 12:00
union courtyard

don't forget
"after hours"
friday | oct. 18
activities begin at 9:00 p.m.
student union

HOTLINE: 532 6572      WEBSITE: www.ksu.edu/upcc

Manhattan Arts Center
presents
Neil Simon's

Barefoot in the Park

Directed by Pat Weisenburger
Special Cameo Appearance by Dwight Nesmith

October 18-20
& 24-27

Thurs - Sat 8 p.m., Sun 2 p.m.

Afterglow reception after performance on Oct. 18, 2002

Sponsored in part by Cox Communications

$11 adults, $8 students, $5 children, $5 student walk-ins Thurs & Sun

Manhattan Arts Center
1520 Poyntz • 785-537-4420 • boxoffice@manhattanarts.org
Smoke-free • Wheelchair Accessible • www.manhattanarts.org

O'Malley's

OPEN MIC NIGHT WEDNESDAY

Beat Texas Bash

• NICKLEBACK • Tickets Give Away

2 Pairs to Open Mic Participants
2 Pairs to Audience

$1.75 Bud Bottles

Live on Thursday 7 p.m.

prizes

Band That Saved The World
Mother Kali
Party On The Patio

The K-State Roller Hockey Club would like to announce the winner of last weekend's raffle.

CONGRATULATIONS,

Jerry Mullen of Greenleaf, Kan.

GAME GUY

Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent

Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games

Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5

(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA.

FLU SHOTS at LAFENE

Thursdays

October 10, 17, 24 & 31

Prepay at the Business Office, room 112

Lafene Health Center

8:30 - 11:30 am
1:30 - 4:30 pm

(No appointment necessary.)

Cost: $7 students, $10 faculty/staff

20 minute wait period required following injection

Call 532-6544 for more information.

Western Wireless.

Western Wireless Corporation is looking for customer service representatives to work in our Manhattan call center. Western Wireless is a leading player in the exploding wireless industry and recognizes the important role that quality employees play in that success.

We offer the environment to learn the business, grow professionally and build a future career. Our state of the art call center in Manhattan serves cellular customers in a 19 state area.

¡Western Wireless habla español!
Bilingual Customer Care Representatives
Must be fluent in both English and Spanish
$8.50 per hour

Handling inbound calls from Spanish speaking CellularOne customers, you'll provide quality service in a friendly, caring, professional manner. You'll help resolve billing discrepancies and troubleshoot technical issues. Previous customer service and computer experience is required. Must be able to work in a fast-paced, ever-changing environment and flexible to work variable shifts.
Job Code: SP-CCR.

¡Aproveche esta gran oportunidad de empleo utilizando sus habilidades en español con CellularONE!

Please send, e-mail or fax resumes to: Western Wireless Corporation.
Attn: Customer Services Recruiter,
5960 Technology Circle, Manhattan, KS 66503.
Fax: (785) 565-7672. E-mail: ksjobs@wwireless.com.

For additional company information, see our website at www.wwireless.com.

We are an Equal Opportunity Employer.

CELLULARONE®

OPEN to your world of IMAGINATION

During Bernina's Super Saturday Sale
October 19, 2002

All Bernina sewing machines, embroidery machines, software and more will be specially sale-priced.

You'll encounter a wealth of creative ideas and awe-inspiring products, like the new artista 200 sewing and embroidery system. And, you'll receive a very special financing offer:

No Interest and No Payments Until January 2004*
with select Bernina purchases over $1,000

PLUS
No Interest and Payments For 1 Year**
when you purchase the artista 200/200E

If you don't already have a Bernina credit card, come in and apply today!

Bernina Shoppe
330 N. 4th St.
Manhattan, KS 66502
Mon., Tues., Thurs., Fri.
10 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

* ** On your Bernina credit card, subject to credit approval. No interest. No Payments Until January 2004 Offer: Minimum purchase of $1,000 required. Finance charges will not be imposed on these purchases and payments will not be required until the 120th anniversary of the purchase date indicated on your billing statement. If your account is kept current. No interest. No Payments For One Year Offer: Purchase of artista 200/200E required. Finance charges will not be imposed on these purchases and payments will not be required during the 12 months promotional period if your account is kept current. Standard Rate APR for both No Interest. No Payments Until January 2004 and No Interest. No Payments For One Year Offer is 25.9%. For Accounts not kept current, the Default Rate 24.9% will be applied to all balances. Minimum Finance Charge $1.00. Offer valid on purchases made only on October 19, 2002. Certain sales apply to the allocation of payments and Finance Charges on your promotional purchase if you make more than one purchase on your Bernina credit card. Call 1-888-367-4111 or review your cardholder agreement for more information.

TO THE POINT GAMMA's effort helps eliminate misconceptions

The abuse of alcohol is getting worse, making it more crucial than ever to drink responsibly.

This week's Alcohol Awareness Week at K-State reminds us of the dangers of drinking. But it doesn't seem to sink in. It doesn't matter that alcohol-related traffic accidents are on the rise for the fourth straight year. It doesn't matter that almost 20 percent of all fatal accidents in Kansas are because of alcohol. And it doesn't matter that ABC rounded up more than 100 minors at this year's Oktoberfest.

Alcohol abuse appears only to worsen.

Tailgates and fraternity parties are havens for those looking to chug a few. It's that group that needs to step up and set the example for others.

That's what GAMMA, a greek awareness group, is doing. Their efforts should be seen as a catalyst for changing the stereotype many have of students. It's long been the idea that the "Animal House" image reflects on campuses today. That is not the case.

Drinking alcohol is a part of college life, but the effects of abuse can be eternal.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Janel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

CONTRARY BELIEF

Historians should be careful to balance their views

You probably remember from grade school that Oct. 14 is the anniversary of Christopher Columbus' arrival in the New World. He reached San Salvador in 1492, which means Monday was the 510th anniversary of his arrival.

Your grade-school teacher probably spent much less time talking about the Columbian Exchange. That's a term Alfred W. Crosby coined in 1972, and it deals with European effects on the New World.

The phrase has taken on more meanings since 1972, and there are now almost as many definitions of it as there are historians. If you don't believe me, just do a Google search for "Columbian Exchange."

Definitions differ, but the general idea is the same.

The exchange involved the transfer of New World plants, animals – basically, anything that wasn't nailed down – to Europe.

In return, Europeans brought with them a host of icky things like diseases, harmful plants and animals, and really bad hairstyles.

Many emphasize the harmful parts of the exchange. One reason for this is that a lot of indigenous groups only contact with Europe was from contagious diseases. In their rush to place blame on Europeans, however, some critics mistakenly label the exchange as purely harmful.

They then proceed to demonize Columbus and those who came after him.

In spite of the social and ecological problems it caused, colonization of the Americas gave the Old World something it desperately needed in order to develop: new land and new opportunities for those willing to pursue them.

The abundance of land in the Americas was especially important in Columbus' time, because land in 15th- and 16th-century Europe was about as readily available as women who want to go out with me.

New opportunity made a way for low-born people to break out of their social strata and make better lives for themselves. In this way, it provided a powerful impulse for democratic thought.

Although we might not like some consequences of European colonization of the Americas, it created conditions favorable to the eventual success of the United States – and of democracy. Some historians, like Frederick Jackson Turner, write that the entire history of the United States was shaped primarily by the availability of new land to settle.

Ideally, Europeans probably should have been more considerate in the way they related to the preexisting population of the Americas.

They should have learned more about native cultures.

They shouldn't have been so quick to impose their values on others.

Sadly, our world is not ideal. Bad things can result even from the best of intentions.

We can't change the consequences of past actions. We can, however, look at those actions in a balanced way.

The Columbian Exchange wasn't completely bad. It also wasn't the best thing that ever happened to humanity. It had both positive and negative effects, and to say otherwise would be to ignore the truth.

Micah is a senior in English and history. You can e-mail him at mph7686@ksu.edu.

Illustration by Jeff Yeung | COLLEGIAN

Birthday blues: Life after 21 exists; students have plenty to look forward to

"Happy birthday to me. Happy birthday to me..."

At 1:21 p.m. today, I will officially turn the big 2-3.

Well, whoopie-doo. What does it all mean, Basil?

As the oldest undergraduate on the Collegian staff, this birthday is kind of a drag. In all actuality, I'm still a spring chicken, but when I'm around some of the younger staff, I feel decrepit. Everyone's excited to turn 19, 20 and 21. Good grief.

And several people I've talked to seem to think that once they hit 21, there's nothing left to look forward to.

Well, I'm here to prove them wrong. They have lots of things to look forward to. Turning 16 means receiving a driver's license, turning 18 means getting to vote and going to clubs and turning 21 means getting to drink at those clubs. So, turning 23 is far from the milestones celebrated earlier in one's life.

But there are still plenty of events that make birthdays worthwhile.

Take college graduation, for instance. Like your high school ceremony, this is a once-in-a-lifetime event. When I walk across that stage in December, I know I'll never forget that moment – or those that led up to it. But it won't happen without getting older.

There's also the "real world" and the excitement of getting hired for that first, post-graduation job. True, the stress I'm under to find that job could take its toll, but I'm prepared. There's no way I'm going to let a little thing like getting older ruin the feeling I'll have when I receive that first paycheck.

Plus, when I turn 25, I'll receive a discount on my car insurance. This will go along nicely with the married discount I already receive.

Speaking of marriage, if you haven't yet taken the plunge, you've still got a wonderful world full of marital bliss awaiting you. You have that companionship to look forward to, as well as starting a family, raising that family and using your retirement fund to put that family through college.

But it won't happen without getting older.

There is a whole world out there waiting for us to take advantage of it, but we're too preoccupied with our glass-is-half-empty attitude to see life for what it's worth.

We are obsessed with defying our biological clocks, hitting the snooze for years while we continuously ignore the fact that having birthdays should be fun, not boring or mundane.

We get plastic surgery. We color our hair. We grind the tires of youth into the mud so far it takes the sudden realization of being alive 80 years, without actually living, to pull us out.

It's OK to go bald. It's OK to see gray hair. It's OK to have wrinkles.

Aging is natural. We need to take advantage of the opportunities life presents while we're still able to and not continue to harbor the assumption that turning older means there's nothing left to look forward to.

All of our birthdays possess a certain specialness. Let's see our aging years as a blessing, not as a postponement of the inevitable.

It's time to pile on the candles, cut the cake, break out the spiked punch and celebrate getting older. After all, the most important thing we have to look forward to is life itself.

Amber is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail her at adm9559@ksu.edu.

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Janel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

Did they have "your mom" jokes in Ancient Israel?

I'm glad someone set Hollingsworth straight.

Hey, Ell, there may not be any "I" in "team," but there's an "m" and an "e." Thanks for the win over OSU.

I just read the comment about people selling marijuana having issues. If they don't sell it, how am I supposed to smoke it?

Do you know what would be cool? If I had a robotic arm that shot doughnuts.

Gee, I wish I could have my picture taken in front of a row of Johnny-on-the-Jobs.

To the girls with thongs sticking out of their jeans: Keep it up. We like it.

Kansas has the most male prostitution. We all pay for Cox.

A good friendship is often more important than a passionate romance ... in bed.

Silly sororities. Frats are for kids.

I'm calling in the middle of class – just because I can.

All right, you caught me. Last week's Fourum comment was about you.

To Angel Wilson: Ghetto-ghetto-bo-betto, banana-fanna-fetto, me-my-mo-metto, ghetto.

Hey, tighty-whitie man: We know they give better support, but you don't know the long-term repercussions.

Finally, I've made it into the Fourum. I've tried since the first day of school, and I finally made it in. All thanks to the drum major.

I would like to apologize to the owners of the hippo. It died last night. But you can rest assured, it did receive a proper burial.

Maybe Kathryn Hollingsworth's next column could be about how everyone needs to walk like her, too.

This is for the NAACP comment: You can join the NAACP. We have meetings every first Wednesday of every month at 7 p.m. in the Big 12 Room. To let you know, the NAACP is not just for black people or people of color. It is for everyone to enhance the upper mobility of every colored person under-represented in this country.

People who sell pot have major problems, such as it's really dry right now.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions.

For the full version check out www.kstatecollegian.com.

TO THE EDITOR

U.S. shouldn't feel obligated to accommodate immigrants' cultural differences

Editor,

The United States should not have to, with open arms, accept all nationalities. Quite frankly, no nation should.

America has its own culture and way of doing things. This should not be changed because immigrants feel the need to retain every bit of their culture rather than accept ours.

When immigrants decide to relocate, they make a choice to leave what they know and love. With that choice will come many consequences. It is not a nation's responsibility to accommodate immigrants so they do not have to live with consequences like cultural conflicts or learning a different language.

I am not saying a nation should not help these individuals, but multiple languages for driver's license tests, English and Spanish on ballots for voting, multiple languages for documents or interpreters at government offices, is more like accommodating than helping.

Some people think this helps, and they call it being "diverse." Diversity does not bring about unity this way. The more people focus on the culture in which they came, the more they stray from American culture. It creates separate groups of people.

How are people to co-exist when everyone around them wants to be somebody else?

Diversity this way is more of a force that pulls a nation apart rather than enhancing it. If immigrants want to retain their culture they can do so in the home, not parade it in public or try to change public policy to better suit their heritage.

I am sure people will be quick to argue this country is called a "melting pot." This is true, but every culture has some aspect of another in it. Look at languages. Many words come from, or are based off of, a word of a different language. The way things are done here are similar to, but not the same as, elsewhere. We have our own culture – it's our own way of living. I, for one, am not completely against diversity. It is useful to respect another person's culture. This will help stop conflict or false accusations of racism. But trying to blend or incorporate cultures will cause problems because people do not like change. We also need not criticize those who do not want change.

It's important to recognize one language and one culture for a nation. This will act more toward unifying a nation rather than harboring hatred and resentment within. Cultural blending or being "diverse" is not going to solve problems created by cultural differences. It might make them worse.

Thomas Forehand | JUNIOR IN WILDLIFE BIOLOGY

Recycling program put off

Request to obtain bids for service proposal fails

By Jessica Pitts
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A request to obtain bids for a recycling program failed 2-3 during Tuesday's Commission meeting.

The request would have asked for service proposals for a single-family residential curbside recycling program in Manhattan, but three commissioners said there wasn't enough information to move forward.

Mayor Ed Klimek, Mark Taussig and Brad Everett said no to the request based on a lack of financial information.

"I don't think the proposal is clear enough for us to continue," Taussig said. "There is a lot of money involved in this process, and the contractor needs to know ahead of time more precise numbers in order to compete bid wisely."

Those general numbers include the following:

- the number of residents who will choose to opt-out of the recycling program. Right now, the Mayor's Recycling Task Force is estimating that number at roughly 25 percent, based on a similar program in Overland Park, Kan. Commissioners are concerned this number might be higher, which would not be profitable for the potential contractor.

- the number of single-family residents in Manhattan. Sammi Mangus, assistant to the city manager, said the task force's "best guess" is around 9,000. They compiled those numbers from city utility billing, trash hauling services and the housing project, but she also pointed out these were "not exact numbers."

- the 25 cents charged to each serviced household per month the city would collect for public education about the recycling program. Klimek was concerned with how the task force decided on the number and what the money would be used for. If 75 percent of the households participate, as the task force estimated, that would generate $1,687.50 per month. Again, the number was extracted from other examples, said Judy Willingham, chair of Mayor's Recycling Task Force.

"If you really want this to be attractive, you have to keep cost down," Taussig said. "I know $3 a year doesn't seem high, but you have to be able to justify that number."

- market value of recyclable material. However, Willingham said those numbers are extremely flexible, and there is no way to gage that amount exactly.

"There might be a market for newspapers one month and then none the next," she said. "That is something the contractor would have to deal with."

- the amount it would cost the city. Everett said he was hesitant "solely because of the open-endedness of the financial cost on city staff." However, Mangus had assured the commissioners that no new staff would be hired and that the responsibilities would be shouldered by existing staff.

"I just think we need more precise numbers," Everett said. "I have mixed emotions on the issue, but I can't support it without solid numbers. I think we are relying on false hopes."

"I think we should put it to rest. The community at large is recycling. We should let them do it from home because it has been successful in the past."

However, Snead said none of the issues raised were significant enough to vote against the request.

"It is not our job to craft proposals," he said. "The businesses will have to develop their own information, and then if they have questions we can set down and talk. If we don't proceed now, we won't have the opportunity to learn what is out there."

And residents seemed to agree.

"I want to remind the commissioners they are voting on a request to accept bids," said Steve Galitzer, a member of the Riley County Solid Waste Committee. "We don't know what it will cost. That is why we are requesting proposals. We are just saying 'lets see what this will cost us.' We are not saying yes to the program."

Ben Champion, senior in chemistry, reminded the commission the proposal is meant only as a "good estimate."

"There is no harm in getting more information," he said. "There has been success in other cities, and that is where these numbers are coming from. They are not exact, but they will allow the task force to move on and obtain more exact numbers to bring back to the commission for approval."

But that was not enough for the three commissioners.

"Whoever bids needs accurate numbers," Klimek said. "I don't see those numbers in this request."

Bush doesn't support firearm fingerprinting, questions accuracy, gun owners' privacy

By Sandra Sobieraj
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — President Bush does not support the push for firearms "fingerprinting" that has grown from the Washington-area sniper shootings, a spokesman said Tuesday, saying Bush is unconvinced of the technology's accuracy and is concerned about gun owners' privacy.

Besides, added White House press secretary Ari Fleischer, when it comes to new gun controls generally, "How many laws can we really have to stop crime, if people are determined in their heart to violate them no matter how many there are or what they say?"

A sniper has struck in the Washington area 11 times in the past 13 days, killing nine people and seriously wounding two others at random. The rifle attacks have revived interest in a national system of "fingerprinting" for guns — requiring gun makers to file into a law-enforcement database the distinct markings that each gun leaves on a test-fired shell casing. Police could then possibly use the recorded etchings to trace crime-scene slugs to the weapon that fired them.

"Ballistic fingerprinting increases the chance of you getting a lead that can take you one step closer," said Eric Gorovitz, who tracks gun laws for the Coalition to Stop Gun Violence.

New York and Maryland are the only states that currently require such ballistics data to be kept on handguns sold in those states.

Sen. Herb Kohl, D-Wis., and Rep. Robert Andrews, D-N.J., are among those in Congress trying to pass legislation to create a national system. The National Rifle Association and other gun-rights lobbyists oppose such a system, fearing it is one step down a path to a national database of gun owners.

Bush, too, is resistant as long as he has questions, Fleischer said.

"There are some issues that are raised with this that deal with the accuracy of the ballistic fingerprinting that need to be explored and reviewed before any final determination can be made," Fleischer said in response to three days of questions from reporters.

Federal and state law officers investigating the Washington-area sniper killings have used such markings to confirm the linkage among the 11 shootings.

Bush also has concerns about privacy and liberty questions surrounding a national database, which Fleischer likened to the prospect of fingerprinting every American.

Maryland state Sen. Christopher Van Hollen, who pressed for passage of the Maryland law and now is a Democratic candidate for Congress, countered that the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms itself testifies to the technology's usefulness. He blamed Bush's resistance on an alliance with the NRA.

A July 2001 report by ATF found that even the limited computerized ballistic fingerprints currently available to federal law enforcement officials had produced during the preceding 15 months 8,800 matches linking 17,600 crime scenes.

Gary Mehalik, a spokesman for the Newtown, Conn.-based National Shooting Sports Foundation, elaborated on the gun lobby's accuracy concerns that Bush evidently shares.

Gorovitz said such changes are inconsequential, and the value of ballistic imagery has been proved repeatedly in trials.

As for the assailing terrorizing Washington and its suburbs, the president's spokesman said: "In the case of the sniper, the real issue is values. These are the acts of a depraved killer who has broken and will continue to break laws, and so the question is not new laws."

Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle said he is open to having the Senate look at a national fingerprinting system.

you can finally buy a book
WORTH ITS PRICE
CAMPUS PHONE BOOK

On sale in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

$2 OFF
purchase of $10 or more
Must present coupon
Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-6 p.m.
Sat. 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

Something
Uniforms
Alterations
Embroidery
Different, Inc.
317 Ft. Riley Blvd.
537-1171

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Mini-Bingo 1:15 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
Mini-Bingo 6:45 p.m.
"Progressive Bingo"
Sundays & Wednesdays
- Win Big Bucks -
114 McCall Rd.

Come Get Stoned!
Great Fall Specials
Bring in this ad to receive the savings. Not valid on gift certificate sales. Only good for one visit.
Taking appointments M-F 8:00AM - 7:00PM
Body First
2308 Anderson
Manhattan, KS
www.bodyfirst.com
785-587-8300

CONGRATULATIONS

2002 K-State Career Fair Door Prize Winners

Company	Prize	Winner
Adm	Memo Cube	Betsy Shaffer
Adm	Pen	Greg Dessman
Black & Veatch	Sweatshirt	Eric Burgess
Boeing	Bag	Abby Brookover
Boeing	Bag	Elizabeth Becker
Boeing	Bag	Janell Hill
Buckle	Gift Bag	Andrew Moreau
Buckle	Gift Bag	Emily Diener
Buckle	Gift Bag	Jessica Kail
Buckle	Gift Bag	Matt Dewell
Buckle	Gift Bag	Rorie Thompson
Cargill	Backpack/Lap Top Carrier	Shelley Zabel
Crop Quest	Hat	Cody Richardson
Crop Quest	Hat	Katie Maibe
Epic Landscape	Jacket	Amol More
Eveready Battery Co	Battery Pack	Justin Booth
Eveready Battery Co	CD Case	Nicholas Hesse
Eveready Battery Co	CD Case	Robert Miller
Eveready Battery Co	Sweatshirt	Steve McClurg
Eveready Battery Co	Sweatshirt	Wynn Conover
Farm Credit	Clock	Steven Bonzianis
Farm Credit	Lantern	Andrew Bell
Farm Credit	Lantern	Kelly Kasmarick
Ferguson	Mug	Ananda Gleason
Ferguson	Mug	Ashley Umbarger

Company	Prize	Winner
Ferguson	Mug	Gregg Bitter
Ferguson	Mug	Kalyan Sattaluri
Ferguson	Windbreaker	James Ouellette
Fort Riley Cpac	Golf Coupon	Adam Braden
Fort Riley Cpac	Golf Coupon	Brooklyn Abbey
Fort Riley Cpac	Wrestling Pass	Matt Redhair
Fort Riley Cpac	Wrestling Pass	Seung-min Park
GE Johnson	Canvas Brief Case	Carson Moser
GE Johnson	Canvas Brief Case	Dana Haley
GE Johnson	Canvas Brief Case	David Boolmann
GE Johnson	Canvas Brief Case	Grant Reynolds
GE Johnson	Canvas Brief Case	Heather Hofner
GE Johnson	Canvas Brief Case	Michael Porter
GE Johnson	Leather Portfolio	Ana Velazquez
GE Johnson	Leather Portfolio	Grace Berry
GE Johnson	Leather Portfolio	Kendra Robben
GE Johnson	Leather Portfolio	Mary Paireddy
GE Johnson	Leather Portfolio	Michelle Clayman
GE Johnson	Leather Portfolio	Ryan Roloff
Hallmark	Gift Bag	Ashley Menges
Hormel	Spam Can Huggers	Loray Easterwood
Hormel	Spam Toy/Clock	Erin Green
Hormel	Spam Toy/Clock	Manmohan K.uttarwar
Kansas Dept Of Trans	Mug	Edward Larson
Kansas Dept Of Trans	Mug	Jeremy Meyer

Company	Prize	Winner
Kansas Dept Of Trans	Mug	Gregg Bitter
Kennedy & Coe	Shirt	Kalyan Sattaluri
Kennedy & Coe	Shirt	James Ouellette
KSU Research & Extension	Portfolio	Adam Braden
Nestle	10 Lb Crunch Bar	Brooklyn Abbey
Raytheon	CD Case/Radio	Matt Redhair
Raytheon	CD Case/Radio	Seung-min Park
Raytheon	CD Case/Radio	Carson Moser
Rsm Mcladrey	Mug	Dana Haley
Rsm Mcladrey	Mug	David Boolmann
Rsm Mcladrey	Mug	Grant Reynolds
Rsm Mcladrey	T-shirt	Heather Hofner
Sherwin Williams	Bag	Michael Porter
Sherwin Williams	Hat	Ana Velazquez
Sherwin Williams	Shirt	Grace Berry
Sprint	Mug	Kendra Robben
Sprint	Pen & Pencil Set	Mary Paireddy
State Street	Picture Frame	Michelle Clayman
State Street	CD Case	Ryan Roloff
Tyson	Portfolio	Ashley Menges
Yellow Transportation	T-shirt	Loray Easterwood
	Race Car Replica	Erin Green

Company	Prize	Winner
Kennedy & Coe	Shirt	Gregg Bitter
Kennedy & Coe	Shirt	Kalyan Sattaluri
KSU Research & Extension	Portfolio	James Ouellette
Nestle	10 Lb Crunch Bar	Adam Braden
Raytheon	CD Case/Radio	Brooklyn Abbey
Raytheon	CD Case/Radio	Matt Redhair
Rsm Mcladrey	Mug	Seung-min Park
Rsm Mcladrey	Mug	Carson Moser
Rsm Mcladrey	Mug	Dana Haley
Sherwin Williams	Bag	David Boolmann
Sherwin Williams	Hat	Grant Reynolds
Sherwin Williams	Shirt	Heather Hofner
Sprint	Mug	Michael Porter
Sprint	Pen & Pencil Set	Ana Velazquez
State Street	Picture Frame	Grace Berry
State Street	CD Case	Kendra Robben
Tyson	Portfolio	Mary Paireddy
Yellow Transportation	T-shirt	Michelle Clayman
	Race Car Replica	Ryan Roloff

Company	Prize	Winner
Kennedy & Coe	Shirt	Gregg Bitter
Kennedy & Coe	Shirt	Kalyan Sattaluri
KSU Research & Extension	Portfolio	James Ouellette
Nestle	10 Lb Crunch Bar	Adam Braden
Raytheon	CD Case/Radio	Brooklyn Abbey
Raytheon	CD Case/Radio	Matt Redhair
Rsm Mcladrey	Mug	Seung-min Park
Rsm Mcladrey	Mug	Carson Moser
Rsm Mcladrey	Mug	Dana Haley
Sherwin Williams	Bag	David Boolmann
Sherwin Williams	Hat	Grant Reynolds
Sherwin Williams	Shirt	Heather Hofner
Sprint	Mug	Michael Porter
Sprint	Pen & Pencil Set	Ana Velazquez
State Street	Picture Frame	Grace Berry
State Street	CD Case	Kendra Robben
Tyson	Portfolio	Mary Paireddy
Yellow Transportation	T-shirt	Michelle Clayman
	Race Car Replica	Ryan Roloff

THANKS!

Career Fair 2002 Student Volunteers

Andrea Ahrens	Lindsay Burger	Erin Dittman
Jasmy Anderson	Andrew Burlingham	Ben Dolezal
Peter Anderson	Michael Burns	Chelsea Doonan
Stephanie Angalet	Rick Bush	KaTrina Drake
Jody Antes	Tanner Callender	Lindsay Drosselmeyer
Lindsay Archer	Carolyn Campbell	Kelsey Dunaway
Albert Arjona	Meggie Carpenter	Cody Echols
Steph Arnold	Keili Canwell	Heather Edmundson
Chris Barker	Jennifer Cavallaro	Alicia Elliott
Kim Bartak	Megan Challender	Clayton Elgres
Lawrin Bartsch	Katerina Chuda	Charlie Elsea
Dakota Base	Melissa Colgan	Becky Erickson
Erika Bauser	Sarah Coover	Gayla Eubank
Audree Bazil	Cortney Corliss	Lacey Evans
David Beach	Roland Craddolph	Kira Everhart
Kristene Beck	Eric Cramer	Sarah Evert
Jennifer Beckman	Abby Crow	Patricia Farley
Krista Boltman	Jake Curtiss	Joshua Felts
Leslie Bolz	Anne Davidson	Jessica Ford
Angela Boos	Matt Davidson	Corey Fortin
Steve Bouzianis	Erin Dean	Kristi Fortin
Justin Bowlin	Austin Deforest	Ashley Frederking
Barb Bremerkamp	Lisa Derks	Terra Frieling
Katie Brown	Kelly Devaney	Ben Frusher
Meredith Brown	Matthew Dickson	Ethan Gantrell
Nicholas Brown	Emily Diener	Alison Garry
Wade Brown	Sarah Dietz	Ethan Gantrell
Loretta Bunc	Briana Dipierro	Julie Geraghty
		Jennifer Gibbens

Zoe Gill	Nathan Hughes	C.J. Lehr
Lauren Glasco	Lisa Humrich	Jessica Lensch
Gretchen Glenn	Jennifer Isaac	Erin Leonard
Melissa Goodyear	April Jacobs	Erin Leonard
Adam Grant	Katie Jarmer	Amanda Lewis
Kelly Grant	Kelli Jarmer	Dana Lewis
Dan Greenwood	Nicole Johnston	Todd Lindquist
Katie Greenwood	J.J. Jones	Rebecca Nedrow
Eleri Griffin	Kara Jones	Kati Neill
Alecia Haddox	Cindy Kage	Casey Neill
Brian Hall	Laney Kathrens	Lindsay Nelson
Matt Hall	Kevin Keatley	Sonya Nelson
Kendra Harbaugh	Trevor Keegan	Emily Nemechek
Katherine Hardin	Krista Keller	Kent Nichols
Andrea Harms	Kim Kerschner	Michael Noll
Sarah Hawley	Cody Knepper	Sarah Nolting
Tyler Headrick	Leah Koehn	Jeff O'Connor
Curt Hemphill	Carrie Kohake	Katie O'Donnell
Liz Hendrix	Dan Kuhlman	Kelli O'Toole
Barbie Herbst	Jimmy Kummer	Barb Oberle
Pam Hermes	Sharla Kurr	Sarah Osborne
Randy Hiesterman	Jenny Landsberg	Emily Overstake
Mary Beth Hoke	Ashley Lang	Jake Oxley
Orrin Holte	Heather Langton	Chris Pacht
Kristin Holtgrew	Heather Lanoue	Hana Pak
Matt Honas	Michael Lanter	Ryan Parisi
Jason Hooper	Pamela Larson	Julie Parker
Robyn Horton	Lilly Lee	Adair Parreiras Jr.
Erica Hufford	Chris Legler	Katie Patterson

Ally Moore	Emily Peine	Eric Serrano
Dustin Moore	Leah Pence	Betsy Shaffer
Julia Morgan	Randi Ponton	Beth Shanholtzer
Meredith Morris	Laura Priest	Kristin Shaw
Kristy Morton	Laurie Quafie	Justin Shelte
Dusty Myers	Crystal Rahe	Brandy Sherwood
Amanda Nash	Brad Raymond	Matthew Showalter
Rebecca Nedrow	Renée Reiswig	Becky Simon
Kati Neill	Katie Remsburg	Aaron Sloup
Casey Neill	David Richard	Mark Smelser
Lindsay Nelson	Cody Richardson	Adam Smith
Sonya Nelson	Joel Richardson	Ashley Smith
Emily Nemechek	Wendy Riekenberg	Sarah Smith
Kent Nichols	Justin Riley	Jenny Sorahan
Michael Noll	Erica Rippel	Stephanie Spencer
Sarah Nolting	Sarah Risdon	Josh Stahl
Jeff O'Connor	Meghan Romain	Jill Steinhilber
Katie O'Donnell	Daniel Romans	Lindsay Sutton
Kelli O'Toole	Lane Roney	Renée Swanson
Barb Oberle	Nathan Ronside	Jenna Tajchman
Sarah Osborne	Jennifer Samayoa	Brooke Taylor
Emily Overstake	Betsy Schaffer	Cole Taylor
Jake Oxley	Lea Schmidt	Jason Terry
Chris Pacht	Ron Schroeder	Amber Theisen
Hana Pak	Joseph Schurle	Jason Tholstrup
Ryan Parisi	William "Jimmy"	Jana Thomas
Julie Parker	Schwartz	Cassie Thompson
Adair Parreiras Jr.	Jessie Scott	Jennifer Thompson
Katie Patterson	Paul Seger	Jaron Tibbetts

Stacey Tilley	Shannon Timmons	Travis Tozer
Laramie Trapp	Frank Urteaga III	Trisha Vering
Elgin Vollbracht	Trisha Wagner	Emilee Wallace
Doug Wegener	Brent Wehmeyer	Beth Wehrman
Kristina Wendt	Jill Wenger	Jill Westhoff
Abby White	Rachel Williams	Stacia Williams
Katie Wilson	Melinda Winslow	Amy Wright
Andrew Young	Nicole Young	Lindsey Yungans
Shelley Zabel	Patty Zabludil	Julietta Zaldumbide
Lance Zimmerman

Career Fair 2002 Committee

Jayne Bock, College of Agriculture Student Representative
Jan Crow, College of Business Administration, Logistics/Traffic Control
Lucy Crowell, College of Technology & Aviation, Employer Registration
Audrey Diehl, College of Human Ecology Student Representative
Barb Finnegan, College of Engineering, Employer Registration
Kimberly Freed, College of Arts & Sciences Student Representative
Wendee Grady, College of Agriculture Student Representative
Kerri Keller, Career & Employment Services, Traffic Control/Freight

Sheila Luke, College of Business Administration Student Representative
Erin Mauck, College of Education Student Representative
Jackie McCaskey, College of Agriculture, Facilities
Jodi McGatlin, K-State Alumni Association Representative
Jim Muller, Bramlage Coliseum Representative
Molly Norris, College of Education Student Representative
Karen Pence, College of Human Ecology, Publicity & Student Registration
Mike Perl, College of Education, Volunteers

Diane Potts, College of Architecture, Planning, & Design, Hospitality
Brenda Schoendaller, Career & Employment Services, Project Manager
Marcia Schuley, Career & Employment Services, Chair
Roger Trenary, College of Arts & Sciences, Freight
David Vruwink, College of Business Administration, Logistics/Traffic Control
Austin Wareing, College of Engineering Student Representative
Janice Young, College of Agriculture Student Representative

Longhorns in for rude awakening

Texas takes cake for accomplishing least with most talent

BEN FEHR

Let's get right down to it. I'm not a fan of the Texas Longhorns.

Granted, since the inception of the Big 12 Conference in 1996, the list of teams in the conference who I'm not a fan of has been growing and growing.

For the longest time, it was Nebraska. Our red nemesis to the north pummeled K-State relentlessly, year after year, until vengeance was taken in 1998.

And then K-State won again in 2000. And now, I just kind of feel sorry for Nebraska.

Don't get me wrong — I still enjoy watching them lose. I just don't revel in it now quite as much as I did two years ago. And I do recognize that Nebraska is one of the landmark programs in college football.

After Nebraska there was Oklahoma. The Sooners came to town in 2000 and just flat rained on everybody's parade.

Really, I mean, it was bad enough that the turncoats — Bob and Mike Stoops, Brent Venables and Mark Mangino, I'm looking at you — went to coach for the rival Sooners.

But to come back into Manhattan and rally against their mentor like a pack of rabid dogs?

It was sad to watch. And it was despicable.

And then they beat the Wildcats again in the Big 12 Championship. And then they won it all. And then they beat us again last year. OK, OK, enough. I despise Oklahoma.

Next came Colorado. Who forgot to tell Colorado it didn't have the personnel to beat K-State last year? Who didn't let the Buffaloes know they weren't supposed to win the Big 12 in 2001?

And then Colorado dumps the Wildcats in Boulder this year, ruining K-State's shot at a perfect season.

What can you say about Colorado, except at least they're not Oklahoma?

But Texas — whoa, boy, now you're talking. Could a team have any more and do any less with it?

I've heard the comparisons between their program and K-State's. Yes, the Longhorns have won national championships. Two, to be exact.

And holy smokes, the last one was in 1969.

It must have been tough to hoist coach whoever he was onto the players' shoulders after that one, what with all the dinosaurs running around and all.

Here's some stuff you might have missed if you assumed Texas ranks among college football's elite.

Did you know Texas has won only five bowl games in the last 23 years? Were you aware that last year was Texas' first 11-win season since 1983? And did you know Texas has only surpassed its preseason expectations once since the inception of the Big 12?

I didn't think so.

Last year, however, Texas did have the team — and the quarterback — to win it all.

Texas coach Mack Brown had the 1999 Big 12 offensive player of the year and all-time Texas passing leader in Major Applewhite back, and healthy, in 2001.

Brown assumed the next logical step was to bench Applewhite for Chris Simms, an unproven young quarterback with a startling penance for choking when the game was

KSU golfers take 1st

Cat women outlast field

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Different course conditions couldn't faze the Wildcat women's golf team as players claimed their third first-place finish in eight years.

The wind blew all day for Tuesday's final round of the Marilyn Smith Sunflower Invitational, and it came from a different direction than it did Monday.

Coach Kristi Knight said it was like playing an entirely different course.

"They played their butts off. They deserve this title," she said. "There were some bad shots, but they kept fighting."

One thing junior Christine Boucher was fighting for was a first-place individual finish.

Boucher trailed Randi Gauthier of North Texas by three strokes going into the final round, so Boucher knew she would have to turn in a good score.

She did just that.

She made up the lost ground and forced Gauthier into a playoff.

The two battled in sudden death for three holes before a wind gust snagged Boucher's tee shot on a short par three and knocked it into a hazard just off the green.

"The playoff didn't work out for Christine," Knight said. "But she played a great tournament. Sometimes those things happen."

The whole team played well throughout the tournament, she said.

K-State last won a tournament on March 24 2002 at the Mountain View Collegiate tournament in Tuscon, Ariz.

That was a closer tournament, Knight said, as K-State fought off Arizona State — winning by four strokes.

"It was nice to have some breathing room," Knight said. "Winning by seven strokes is nice, but a win is a win."

Knight said it was also nice to have three Wildcats finish in the top 10.

"They all played today, and that's what it takes to win," she said. "Everyone has to pull their weight and turn in good scores."

"That's what good teams do."

Knight said shorter distances at Willowbend worked in the Cats' favor.

Boucher and senior Miranda Smith can hit the long ball, Knight said, but not all of the women on the team are long-ball hitters. Willowbend is a good course for players who are accurate, but do not sail the ball as far.

That is where Elise Carpentier, Sarah Heffel and Karen Quintelier can be a threat, Knight said.

"That allowed us to more competitive," she said. "We gained a lot of strokes because of our accuracy and didn't lose strokes to longer hitters. I'm very proud of the way the team played."

And for good reason.

The team's 903 set the K-State record for the lowest score shot on 54 holes. The score replaces the 914 set Sept. 10, 2001, at the Alltel Husker Invitational at Firethorn Golf Club in Lincoln, Neb.

"We've set a new mark, and that is always good to spark competition and a goal for improvement," Knight said.

BIRD HUNTING

Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

Outside hitter Carl Jensen digs the ball against Texas on Sept. 28 in Ahearn Field House. The Cats lost the match to the Longhorns in a three-game sweep, but have won three straight going into tonight's matchup with the Jayhawks.

Wildcats to battle KU for state bragging rights

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

For seven seasons, K-State volleyball has completely dominated Kansas.

Not only have the Cats won 14 straight matches over the Jayhawks, but they have won in decisive fashion.

Kansas has won just six games in those 14 straight defeats at the hands of the Wildcats.

This kind of dominance has been important in the Wildcats' efforts to maintain a stronghold because it's against a state rival, coach Suzie Fritz said.

"Any time it's KU and K-State, I think it's a big rivalry," she said. "Both sides are going to get pretty fired up for that match."

"But, in the past, it hasn't been a big rivalry. This is going to be the first time when — in terms of records being identical and having similar schedules and similar teams — this will be first year when it will be a real nice battle."

Fritz said the reason for the potential threat of the streak's end is due to the experience and quality of Kansas' players in big positions.

The Jayhawks welcome back four seniors to this year's team, led by middle blocker Kylie Thomas.

But Kansas also has big-time players who are young, Fritz said. One of them is freshman setter Andi Rozum.

"They are just more talented," she said. "They have been through some battles and fought through some things a year ago. The Lima kid from Brazil that's playing in the middle for them is exceptional. They are playing a freshman setter who I think is very athletic. I think in both ways — in experience and personnel — they are

Drew Rose | COLLEGIAN

Middle blocker Lauren Goehring completes a dig during K-State's match against Colorado on Saturday night. The Cats beat the Buffaloes 3-1.

Cats in action

K-State (9-6, 5-2) at Kansas (14-2, 5-2)

When: 7 tonight

Where: Horejsi Family Athletic Center (1,300), Lawrence, Kan.

Key Stat: Wildcats have won 14 straight

"We did a nice job of creating opportunities. The balls we were digging, we were turning in transition to points," Fritz said. "We played with nice composure and the experience the team is gaining is starting to show. They're getting better and we are making improvements."

"It's never our priority to stuff a lot of balls, because it's very difficult to do. All of the things kind of have to fall in place, all the stars have to align to block a lot of balls. We just want to touch them and run them down and turn them into trans. If we block them that's even better."

But even more important in Fritz' eyes is stringing points together, she said.

At the beginning of the year, the Cats were getting in side-out wars with other teams, something that doesn't fit K-State's style of play, she said.

But, against Colorado, the Cats opened the match with a 10-1 run, gaining the momentum for that game.

That will be something K-State will have to do against Kansas, Fritz said, in an effort to take the expected sell-out crowd out of the match.

"It's going to be real critical, that and winning the serve — serve, receive," she said. "Kansas, from what we can tell, is a very aggressive serving team, and so just more important than anything is our ability to stay in system and try to side-out on the first time."

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NCAA | Lord not punished, Cepero to miss one match

Nebraska quarterback Jammal Lord will start Saturday at Oklahoma State despite having been cited last weekend for disturbing the peace.

Coach Frank Solich said Tuesday that Lord would be disciplined, but the misdemeanor ticket did not warrant any sort of suspension.

Nebraska volleyball and basketball player Greichaly Cepero, who was at Lord's apartment when police were called to it around 3 a.m. Sunday, was cited with disturbing the peace and failure to obey a police order. Police said Cepero, who had asked officers to take her home, later grabbed at officers' arms and pushed one officer away from Lord.

Volleyball coach John Cook announced Tuesday that Cepero would not play Wednesday night when the Cornhuskers play at Oklahoma.

• • •

MLB | Piniella leaves Seattle

Lou Piniella is leaving the Seattle Mariners, the latest marquee name in a recent exodus that's included Ken Griffey Jr., Randy Johnson and Alex Rodriguez.

The New York Mets and the Tampa Bay Devil Rays are said to be interested in hiring the Mariners' manager. Piniella has said he wants to stay closer to his Tampa, Fla., home, and he has a history in New York, with the Yankees.

The Mets said they would make a statement Tuesday afternoon about their possible interest in Piniella.

Teams will be allowed to interview Piniella after "appropriate and reasonable compensation" is arranged, chief executive Howard Lincoln said.

The Mariners agreed to release Piniella from the final year of his contract, allowing him to leave Seattle after a 10-year span when he elevated the team into baseball's upper tier.

• • •

NFL | Broncos player suspended 1 game

Broncos strong safety Kenoy Kennedy was suspended by the NFL for one game without pay Tuesday for his helmet-to-helmet hit on Miami receiver Chris Chambers.

He will miss Denver's game next Sunday at Kansas City, but will not be fined.

Chambers got a concussion when he went up high for a pass from Jay Fiedler and was hit in the face by Kennedy in the second quarter of Miami's 24-22 victory Sunday night.

Chambers' head twisted after the hit, and he lay on the field for about five minutes before being helped off the field.

Kennedy was flagged for a personal foul and tried to apologize to Chambers as he walked off the field, but he was pushed back by Miami's Randy McMichael.

Kennedy has already been fined twice this season and received a warning from the league last week.

He received a $7,500 fine for a hit on St. Louis' Isaac Bruce on opening day, then was fined $10,000 last week for a shot on San Diego's Fred McCrary.

• • •

MLB | Chicago White Sox allow Thomas to become free agent

The Chicago White Sox invoked a contract clause that drastically reduces Frank Thomas' salary, clearing the way for the two-time MVP to become a free agent.

The White Sox sent Thomas a letter on Oct. 6 telling him they were invoking a "diminished skills" clause in his contract, a lawyer with knowledge of the talks said Tuesday on condition of anonymity. That clause would reduce his base pay to $250,000, and defer most of his nearly $10 million salary.

Thomas' contract says he had seven days following the notification to choose whether to become a free agent, although the sides have discussed extending that deadline, possibly to the end of this week.

BY THE NUMBERS

K-State Golf

The women's golf team finished first in Wichita, Kan. yesterday, playing in the Marilyn Smith Sunflower Invitational. Here is a look at the top five finishes, as well as each of the player's individual scores.

Wildcat Individual scores

2. Christine Boucher	74-73-75
4. Miranda Smith	77-74-74
8. Elise Carpentier	80-75-73
14. Karen Quintelier	74-77-78
43. Sarah Heffel	79-79-80
43. *Stephanie Limoges	77-81-80
78. *Julie Kim	83-82-86
*Played as individuals, not with team

Top five teams

1. K-State	304-299-300	903
2. Texas-EI Paso	309-295-306	910
3. Kansas	309-303-312	924
4. Texas A&M-C.C.	310-304-310	924
5. Illinois State	303-304-324	931

OUTLAW COUNTRY

Texas musician ready to stir up excitement

By Courtney Duffield
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The large crowds drawn by performances from Pat Green and The Great Divide have prompted Longhorn's to feature The Cory Morrow Band on Thursday.

"We had good success with Pat Green and The Great Divide, and his music is a lot like that. It is Texas music," Matt Church, Longhorn's manager, said.

Church said Texas music is not like mainstream pop country. He called it outlaw country.

Cory Morrow, lead singer, said The Cory Morrow Band usually gets good crowds at venues where Pat Green and The Great Divide have previously played.

He said it is because they have the same fan base. Morrow said they are all friends and want each other to succeed.

Cory Morrow

When and Where: Thursday at 8 p.m. at the McCain Auditorium.

Price: $8 in advance, $10 at the door, available at Longhorn's.

"I think it's just that we run in the same crowd in the South," Morrow said. "We are kind of like the Highway Men of the next generation."

Morrow said he and Pat Green produced an album called "Songs We Wish We Had Written." The album was released a year and half ago.

The band's fourth album, "Outside the Lines," was released in February.

"It's a combination of a bunch of songs I wrote a long time ago and some songs I wrote recently," Morrow said. "The songs seemed to fit this album better than past ones."

Morrow said he was co-producer of this album, so this was the first time he was allowed input on every song.

Morrow said the things he has learned in the studio have made it easier to make his music a reality.

"I love producing, and I also love being able to tell the band what I hear in my head and them being able to do it with their God-given talent," he said. Morrow said the new album is more laid-back than his previous efforts with many love songs.

"This one has more of the writing style I am good at," he said. "It reflects the music from me that I want people to hear."

Though Morrow is not well known in Manhattan, Church said they have already sold many tickets.

"Just being from Texas, we expect him to pull a big crowd," he said.

Morrow said the crowds in the south, and especially the band's home state of Texas, are diverse. Though he has never performed in Manhattan during the nine years the band has been touring, Morrow said he often plays college towns. He said he enjoys surprising the crowd and giving people the unexpected.

"I really like watching the crowd get something out of the show," Morrow said. "We can turn their world around and help them forget their trouble for a couple of hours."

Though he tires of fast food on the road, Morrow said the band will be ready to deliver a good show Thursday.

"We're gonna light them up and give them something to get excited about," Morrow said.

"We are there to have fun and hit everyone up for a while and give them some faith that anything can happen."

Funky band hoping to make O'Malley's crowd dance Thursday

By Adam Lee
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Since 1996, the Band That Saved the World has been performing its eclectic style of music, which its members refer to as "grassroots, funky, American rock 'n' roll."

Thursday will be TBSTW's first performance in Manhattan since playing O'Malley's in August. Here is what drummer Tom Wenner said in hopes of acquainting K-Staters with the outlandish octet.

Q: What are you saving the world from, and how are you going about saving it?

A: Anything that ails it, I guess. It's a tough world out there, and if we can at least momentarily make people forget about all the bad stuff, I think we can help save or salvage this sphere.

On the most fundamental level, getting people to dance is a good way of changing their attitudes. Also, Shannon and Rev (the band's vocalists) write lyrics that aren't the typical funk band 'blah, blah, blah.' There's a lot of deeper meaning addressing human beliefs and values.

We go beyond typical barroom banter but still let you shake it, which I think is key to changing where people are at.

Q: Do you think much modern music has lost the ability to get people to dance?

A: I don't really know about that, but it's definitely changed. I think things are becoming a lot less organic and more processed.

There's a lot of hip-hop pushing the boundaries of what's funky. Some of these rap groups like the Roots, Mos Def and Common that tour with live bands are keeping musicality

The Band That Saved the World

When and Where: 9 p.m. Thursday at O'Malley's.

Price: Cover charge has not yet been announced.

involved.

Your general Top 40 might not be the funkier stuff in the world, probably because it's too slick or processed for its own good, but I think there's still a lot of people out there getting it right.

Q: Your band seems centered around live performances and keeping the experience as energetic and entertaining as possible. How do you guys maintain that level of vitality?

A: We've got eight guys in the band, so sometimes it's hard for all of us to be feeling it, but as long as six or seven of us are going, it usually works out.

We really try to get a vibe going and develop audience participation. When you've got that, it's easy to get pumped up - no matter where you drove in from.

Q: How do you go about creating such a broad sound and diverse collection of songs?

A: There's a lot of voices in the band, and we have a lot of different backgrounds. Rev is big on jazz. Me and Will (Bass) are really into hip-hop.

When I was growing up, and I think it's the same for the others, I listened to everything from heavy metal to classical. We all sort of bring something different to the table.

When it gets down to writing songs, I'm not sure if it's a conscious effort or if it just happens naturally, but all the songs end up having a pulse that you can dance to.

CALENDAR

Performances

All Ages

"Anton in Show Business," a play by Erica Wetter, will be at 7 p.m. Thursday through Saturday in the Purple Masque Theatre.

"Barefoot in the Park," a play by Neil Simon, will be at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Manhattan Arts Center. There will be a 2 p.m. matinee performance Sunday. Tickets, available at the Arts Center, are $8 for students and $11 for general admission. Student walk-in tickets are $5 Sunday.

The Kansas City Ballet will present a performance featuring excerpts from "Napoli" and "Swan Lake," at 8 p.m. Friday in McCain Auditorium. Tickets are $12.50 for students and children, $25 for the general public, and are available at McCain Box Office, 532-6428, or www.ksu.edu/mccain.

Ten 'til Blue (featuring David Oakleaf), will play at 9 p.m. Friday at Gumbo's.

Brad Sneed will discuss his children's book illustrations at the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art at 7 p.m. Thursday.

18 and over

The Pembertons will play at 9:30 tonight at Dave's Hideaway. Cover charge will be $3.

Cory Morrow will play at 10 p.m. Thursday at Longhorn's. Doors open at 8 p.m. and tickets are $8 in advance, $10 at the door, available at Longhorn's.

21 and over

Three Rivers Kennedy and Getaway Driver will play at 9:30 p.m. Thursday at Auntie Mae's Parlor. Cover charge will be $3.

The Band That Saved the World will play at 9 p.m. Thursday at O'Malley's.

Sun Cured Red will play at 10 p.m. Saturday at Pat's Blue Rib'n Barbecue. Cover charge will be $2.

Art

Urban Design

1204 Moro

The MFA Thesis Exhibition of Joshua Cross, graduate student in fine arts, will be on display until Nov. 9.

Radina's Coffeehouse and Bakery

618 N. Manhattan

"Dark Winter Branches," recent drawings by Katie Kingery-Page, will be on display until Oct. 30.

Manhattan Arts Center

1520 Poyntz

The Columbian Artists Membership Exhibit will run until Nov. 6.

William T. Kemper Art Gallery

K-State Student Union

A collection of art by art department faculty will be on display until Friday.

Willard Art Gallery

116 Willard

The work of Ian Harvey will be on display until Friday.

Java Espresso &amp; Bakery

1219 Moro

The work of Evgeniya Parish, sophomore in art, is currently on display.

Strecker-Nelson Gallery

406 1/2 Poyntz Ave.

"Amongst Friends," a show featuring the work of Barbara Waterman-Peters, Larry Peters and Marko Fields will run through Oct. 26.

Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art, on campus

"Beyond Oz: Children's Book Illustrations from the Region," will be on display until December. The show features the work of children's book illustrators from the Midwest.

Supported by Digital Shelf

5,000+ different DVD titles

701 N. 11th 776-6959

www.ksuDIGITALSHELF.com

Hours

Mon.-Sun. 11 a.m.-midnight

sell us your DVDs & video games

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

MAKEUP MAKES THE MAN

Katie Lester | COLLEGIAN

Lizze Regehr, senior in TV and radio, puts lipstick on Aaron Kennedy, senior in interior architecture. Kennedy made rounds with the resident assistants of West Hall and dressed as a woman since the residents raised over two hundred dollars for multiple sclerosis research. Kennedy said he felt secure enough in his manhood to parade around in feminine attire for the evening.

GAMMA | Activities promote alcohol awareness

Continued from Page 1

fellow students."

Throughout the week, GAMMA members remembered the victims in a variety of activities, including a 31 second moment of silence before the home football game Saturday. In addition, sorority and fraternity members have worn ribbons during the week.

Along with Alcohol Awareness Week, GAMMA members take part in similar activities throughout spring break and Greek Week.

"Being in GAMMA, I hope to influence a lot of my fraternity brothers," Sebelius said. "I don't drink and this is a very good outlet to find others who don't drink."

As the final activity of the week, the wooden crosses were another way to inform students of drunk driving and prevent future alcohol-related accidents from happening.

"I hope this has a positive effect on the students, so that next year it's less than 31 crosses," Sebelius said.

Indonesia questions 2 men about bombing in Bali; traces of plastic explosives found

By Tim Sullivan
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Indonesian officials interrogated a security guard and another man Tuesday about the deadly nightclub bombing in Bali and said traces of C-4 plastic explosives were found at the scene of the blast.

With Indonesia under increasing international pressure to combat terrorism, a violent Muslim group with ties to Indonesia's military disbanded — the first apparent sign the government was getting serious about moving against Islamic extremism.

The announcement by the group, Laskar Jihad, came as the accused spiritual leader of another extremist network linked to the al-Qaeda terror network said he would submit to police questioning.

Most of the nearly 200 victims of Saturday's blast were foreign tourists, and the grim toll prompted calls for Indonesia to crack down on al-Qaeda terrorists and local allies blamed for the bombing. President Bush said Monday he planned to talk to Indonesian President Megawati Sukarnoputri about the need to stop terrorism.

"You cannot pretend it (terrorism) doesn't exist in your country," Secretary of State Colin Powell said, adding he hoped the attack "reinforces Indonesia's determination to deal with this kind of threat."

Police spokesman Maj. Gen. Saleh Saaf said police have questioned at least 47 people about the blast — and that a security guard and

"This attack has been well-planned, and it required experience in handling high-tech (bombs). It is outside the ability of local hands"

Mohamad Abdul Hendropriyono
INDONESIA'S INTELLIGENCE CHIEF

another man were being "intensively interrogated."

He denied reports the two had been arrested.

The second man was the brother of a man whose identification card was found at the blast scene, intelligence officers said on condition of anonymity.

Traces of the military explosive C-4 — a putty-like plastic explosive used in the attack two years ago on the USS Cole in Yemen — were found at the scene, National Police Chief Da'i Bachtiar said. Richard C. Reid, the alleged al-Qaeda-trained shoe bomber thwarted on an American Airlines flight, packed explosive that appeared to be C-4 into his shoes.

In past cases in Indonesia, whenever C-4 has been found in any bombing, it has been traced to the military, raising speculation the explosive was bought or stolen from military stocks.

Days after the explosion ripped through the jammed Sari Club, Bali was still struggling to cope with the corpses.

At the island's main hospital — now largely used as a morgue — dozens of volunteers cared for the bodies, icing them down or loading them into refrigerated containers to slow decomposition in the tropical heat.

Australia, which lost dozens in the attack, was arranging for the bodies of its citizens to be repatriated.

Dozens of shoulder-high flower wreaths were left at the edge of the morgue, where hundreds of people waited, watched over by armed Indonesian soldiers.

Indonesia's intelligence chief, Mohamad Abdul Hendropriyono, told reporters his organization was cooperating with foreign agencies in the investigation.

"This attack has been well-planned, and it required expertise in handling high-tech (bombs)," he said.

"It is a very complicated task and is outside the ability of local hands."

Megawati's government is in a delicate position — looking for ways to prevent terrorism without sparking further attacks or unrest in Indonesia, the world's most populous Muslim nation.

Laskar Jihad's dissolution is a relatively easy way for Jakarta to show its willingness to fight terrorism, and perhaps gain ground in its efforts to restart American military aid. The group is not suspected in the Bali bombings, but putting it out of operation gives the government much-needed public relations points amid accusations it has turned a blind eye to extremist violence.

Are you in? The 2003 Royal Purple yearbook is taking FREE portrait pictures NOW. Check the Collegian every day for when and where.

check out these
SPOOK-TACULAR SAVINGS

Pilates Tue. @ 7:40, Yoga Thu. @ 7:40
Turbokick M, W @ 7:40
Try any class for only $2.
At Pro Fitness in Aggieville
We want your body...and so will everyone else! 1125 Laramie 539-7095

Above & Beyond
Trading Company
PURPLE POWER
AMETHYST NECKLACES
$19.99 $14.99
YOUR CHOICE OF 4 DIFFERENT BEAD SHAPES!
BRACELETS
ALSO AVAILABLE
$14.99 $9.99
Amethyst relieves depression and can help conquer unwanted habits and addictions. It is a stone of peace and balance.
MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER BY SEARS • 539-9900

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts
Celebrate Halloween with
The Palace Cards & Gifts!
Halloween Candles
Decorations
Partyware & Toys
Greeting Cards
Candy & Balloons
Aggieville Trick-or-Treat 3:30-5:30 on Thursday, October 30th!
704 N. MANHATTAN AVE. • IN AGGIEVILLE • 539-7654
MON-FRI 8:30-8:30 • SAT 8:30-5:30 • SUN 12:00-5:00

HAVE AN IDEA FOR HALLOWEEN?
GRAND OL' TRUNK
has a lot of clothes and odds and ends to pick from.
Grand Ol' Trunk
Thrift Shop
1304 Pillsbury Dr
537-2273
HOURS
10 a.m. - 6 p.m. MON-SAT
Noon - 5 p.m. SUN

TACOS N' SALSAS
2 FOR 1
Buy ANY COMBO PLATE and get a second combo plate of the same price or less for free!
Mon. - Sat.
8 p.m. - 9 p.m.
Every Night of the Week
Manhattan Town Center
Food Court
Good thru 12/31/02

Longhorns
Tonight
LADIES NIGHT
$1.50 bottles 50¢ tacos
Halloween Costume Party
$500
in cash prizes!
Best Decorated Bar in the Ville!

THE LIBRARY
DISCOUNT LIQUOR
CORNER OF 12TH & LARAMIE
AGGIEVILLE
Mon-Sat 9am-11pm
539-5269
CRUZAN
Jumbie Brew
$6.49
PRICES GOOD WHILE SUPPLIES LAST

Crum's Beauty College
Hair Reconstructor
$8 and Facial
Eyebrow Wax
$4
Lip Wax
$4
CLASSES FORMING
IN NOVEMBER
All services performed by students
under the supervision of licensed instructors.
EXPIRES OCT. 31, 2002

DROP YOUR PANTS...
... off at the Outpost, and we'll donate them to the Salvation Army, and give you
$5 off the purchase of a pair of Cinch,
Cruel Girl and Rockies jeans.
All Cinch, Cruel Girl and Rockies shirts 20% off
Promotion good thru Wednesday, Oct. 23
R Outpost
Feed, Pet Food, Saddles and Tack,
Western and Casual Apparel,
Gifts and Home Decor
10 Miles Northwest of Manhattan on Hwy. 24
539-7316 • Open Mon.-Sat. 8 a.m. - 7 p.m.

Woodchuck Amber Cider
12 packs $9.89
Sauza Gold w/Free Mix
1.75 L $27.98 SAVE 8
Trinidad Spiked Rum
Bacardi Cielon
750 ml $13.98
Kesoneigh 24oz Cans Case $9.69
Southern Comfort
750 ml $10.98
Cruzan Rum Flvrs
750 ml $10.96
Dekuyper Schnapps
750 Travelers $8.97

TEXAS | K-State not afraid to mess with Texas; Wildcats to give Longhorns better contest than OU

By Ellen Knickmeyer
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At home, Iraqis have spoken of besting Saddam's 99.96 percent "yes" vote the last referendum, in 1995. In the capital, Baghdad, Saddam's Baath Party staged neighborhood drives

Pushing her vote for Saddam into the ribboned ballot box, the old woman reared her head and let loose a tribal volley of celebratory trilling: "LU LU LU LU LU LU LU LU LU!"

"I am voting not for Saddam, because my vote for Saddam was determined long ago, but I am voting against America and Britain," voter Abdul Munaim said in Baghdad.

Can't get enough Fourum? Get your Fourum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

check out these
SPOOK-TACULAR
SAVINGS

Ben is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at fehr7@hotmail.com.

Ben is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at fehr7@hotmail.com.

Mature and experienced fairy awaits your command.
FOR RATES AND AVAILABLE DATES
Call Fairy's cell phone @
(505) 699-1853
References Available

Aggie Station
RESTAURANT & PUB

Wednesday
after chapter

$2 domestic pitchers

$3 wheat & pale ale

10¢ wings, shrimp & chicken nuggets

710 N. Manhattan • 639-4671

UNIQUE CLOTHING
and accessories

15% OFF

your total purchase
with this coupon

*Excluding sale and contract items
expires 11-4-02*

 ZOTCIS

Mon.-Wed. 11-6 p.m.
Thurs.-Sat. 11-9:30 p.m.
Sun. 1-6 p.m.

1203 Magnolia Ave., Acapulco, Mex.

Live Music
LIVE LIVE LIVE LIVE

Pemberton's

$2<sup>00</sup> bottles

$2<sup>50</sup> wells

DAVE'S
HIDEAWAY
12TH & LARAMIE

Hurry! Halloween is coming fast!
RESERVE YOUR COSTUME NOW!

Racks & racks of every imaginable costume
 (some for sale, some for rent)

Wigs • Shoes • Hats • Masks • Makeup • Free Candy
 Drawings for Prizes

529-5200
2011 FT. RILEY BLVD • MANHATTAN
Mon-Sat 10-7, Sun 1-6

Bush to discuss Israel's security with Sharon; Prime Minister promises action against Iraq

And on Thursday, before flying home, Sharon was due to see Powell.

Federal screeners are now working at 160 of the nation's 429 commercial airports, the TSA said.

Federal screeners are now working at 160 of the nation's 429 commercial airports, the TSA said.

1st state after hours:

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18

COFFEE HOUSE 9 P.M. - 11 P.M.

- Board Games
- Open Mic with stand by performer
- Refreshments Served

CRAFTS 9 P.M. - 11 P.M.

- Union Courtyard

FREE MOVIE Starts at 11 P.M.

- The Majestic
- Forum Hall

[illegible]

Illinois begins clemency hearings

Condemned inmates' cases to be heard in sweeping review of capital punishment

By Jerry Crimmins
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO — Illinois opened a marathon series of clemency hearings Tuesday for nearly every prisoner on death row in what could be the most sweeping review of capital punishment in U.S. history.

In all, more than 140 petitions for clemency will be heard before the end of next week.

The hearings for all but a few of the state's 160 condemned inmates come after Gov. George Ryan said earlier this year that he intended to review every death penalty case before he leaves office in January.

Ryan declared a moratorium on executions in 2000, calling the state's death penalty system "fraught with error" after 13 inmates were found to have been wrongfully convicted.

The board will make confidential recommendations to the governor.

But Ryan has suggested that he may grant a blanket clemency to all.

Prosecutors disputed the

"This man is an evil devil. For the victims, I beg of you, please leave Ronald Kitchen to die."

Rebecca Ramos
A VICTIM'S MOTHER

notion that the death penalty itself is on trial in Illinois. They argued that the clemency petitions must be considered by the board on a case-by-case basis.

"This is not a referendum on the death penalty," O'Connor told one of four panels of the review board.

From the beginning Tuesday, the battle lines were clear. Prosecutors highlighted evidence from scores of Illinois' most notorious and gruesome murders, while defense lawyers pointed to weaknesses and apparent corruption in individual cases and in the criminal justice system as a whole.

In Chicago, prosecutors passed out yellow ribbons for the families of victims to make visible the dozens of relatives attending the hearings.

Board member Victor Brooks opened one of the first hearings with an apology to the victims' families for forcing them to "revisit the unwarranted carnage inflicted on their lives."

Emma Jean Burts left the hearing room in tears while listening to the case of Leonard Kidd, 48, who was convicted of setting a 1980 fire that killed 10 children, three of them hers. He was also convicted in the 1984 stabbing deaths of four people.

Prosecutors said Kidd has killed more children than anyone in the history of Illinois. But defense attorney Sharon Hicks argued Kidd is mentally retarded and was tortured by police to get him to confess.

At least 10 of the inmates seeking clemency contend their confessions were tortured out of them by Chicago detectives under the supervision of a police lieutenant who is no longer on the force.

A judge has appointed a special prosecutor to examine those allegations.

In the case of Ronald Kitchen, who confessed to killing five people, his lawyer argued that he admitted to the crimes after being beaten in the groin with a nightstick.

"No one hit him, no one beat him, no one tortured him," countered Cook County prosecutor Steve Goebel.

"This man is an evil devil," said Rebecca Ramos, whose daughter was among those Kitchen was convicted of killing.

"For the victims, I beg of you, please leave Ronald Kitchen to die."

Bodies of 11 suspected illegal immigrants found Monday in locked railroad car in Iowa

By Mike Wilson
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DES MOINES, Iowa — Eleven suspected illegal immigrants whose decomposed bodies were found in a locked railroad car probably died slowly and painfully from severe overheating or asphyxiation, authorities said Tuesday.

The victims apparently boarded the grain hopper in Mexico four months ago and may have been smuggled into the country, said Jerry Heinauer, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service for Nebraska and Iowa.

Their nationalities were unknown and authorities said they did not know if the victims were men, women or children.

The car had been latched from the outside and there was no evidence of food or water inside, Sheriff Tom Hogan said.

He said it was difficult to count the huddled bodies; authorities said there were as many as 11.

Authorities removed the bodies Tuesday, one day after they were discovered near Denison, 60 miles northwest of Omaha, Neb. The rail car was sealed and moved to Des Moines for examination by investigators.

The medical examiner will try to determine causes of death, and authorities will then begin trying to identify the remains.

Corinne Stern, the chief medical examiner in El Paso County, Texas, said the victims may have become delirious and suffered hallucinations, severe cramping, headaches and vomiting before succumbing to the heat or a lack of oxygen.

"They were probably subjected to temperatures equivalent to those inside a locked car during the heat of summer," said Stern, who is not involved in the investigation.

Heinauer said authorities did not yet know if the victims were being smuggled, but he said the case fits the pattern of some smuggling operations.

He said he was told by Mexican officials that the rail car left Matamoros, Mexico, in June.

It had been parked long-term in Oklahoma since then, before being brought to Denison.

Julio Salinas, a supervisory agent with the U.S. Border Patrol at McAllen, Texas, said it is not unusual for immigrants to cross the border in rail cars.

He said trains are often checked by Border Patrol and customs agents as they pass through cities.

"Most recently, a couple of months ago, we found 26 that had been inside a hopper car a couple of hours, and some of them were dehydrated," Salinas said.

"There were no fatalities. We do come across situations like that."

He said immigrants take life-threatening risks when they climb into a grain car on a smuggler's promise of freedom.

"There are some boxcars or grain hoppers that can only be opened from the outside," Salinas said.

"Once they shut the door, they leave their life in the hands of a smuggler."

Read it. Live it. Wear it.

Can't get enough Fourum? Get your Fourum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744. www.ksu.edu/kscf

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@man.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

NEW LOCATION as of October 1. Lewis's Auto Repair 610 B South Juliette. (785)770-8553. $40.00/hour labor rate call for appointment.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST ORANGE and white male cat. Last seen on ninth street between Claflin and Ralston on Friday evening. Call (785)323-0607.

030 Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100 housing real estate

WHY WORK? LET THE CLASSIFIEDS DO IT FOR YOU.

Kansas State Collegian classifieds 103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555

Yes, the students are back in town. They're also spending money to furnish their living spaces. They're shopping in the Kansas State Collegian classifieds. Call to place an ad today. 532-6555.

SELYOURSTUFF

105 For Rent-Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

"Stay In Class At The Commons" Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

*Fully Furnished
*2 & 4 Bedroom
*Alarm System
*Swimming Pool
*Washer/Dryer
*Computer Lab
*Fitness Center
*Permit Parking
*Tennis/Volleyball Courts
*Individual Leases
Office Hours: M-F 9-5

539-0600

UNIVERSITY APARTMENTS 2215 COLLEGE AVE

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT in house available now. $22 Vattier, $600/month. Trash paid, pets considered. Call MDI. (785)776-3804

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

One man's junk is another man's treasure.

115 Rooms Available

INDIVIDUAL DSL/CABLE access. Newly remodeled house, five minute walk to campus, off-street parking. $240 monthly, call (785)776-3454 or (785)317-2456.

120 For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carpet, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/pets. $800. 1526 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO CAMPUS, nice four, six-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7090.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus, central air, washer/dryer hook-ups, garage, off-street parking. Available November 1. 1508 Jarvis, $650. (785)341-5180.

145 Roommate Wanted

INDIVIDUAL DSL/CABLE access. Newly remodeled house, five minute walk to campus, off-street parking. $240 monthly, call (785)776-3454 or (785)317-2456.

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592 or (785)341-5105.

150 Sublease

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. 1031 Moro. $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

SUBLEASER NEEDED for one bedroom in new three-bedroom house for Spring semester. $265 rent, cheap bills, laundry, parking. (785)323-1141.

200 service directory

250 Automotive Repair

LEWIS AUTO oil change specials $19.99- five quarts house oil and filter. $21.99- five quarts any other oil and filter. Prices are subject to tax. Call (785)770-8553 for appointment.

300 employment opportunities

310 Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

GET PAID FOR Your Opinion! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com

STUDENTS INTERNET USERS WANTED! $20/hr POSSIBLE

LABOR: PART-TIME position, Tuesday-Friday. Must be available to work 1-5 or 8-5 Tuesdays and Thursdays. Will include painting, yard work, maintenance, cleaning, etc. (785)539-2309.

LAUNDRY MAT Attendant: Speed Wash Laundry Mat is seeking a part-time, week-end attendant. Must possess good customer service skills and the ability to perform light janitorial duties. Please call (785)539-0410.

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xcalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

WANTED: CARING, reliable caregiver for part-time pre-schooler care in Christian home near Wamego. Next spring also. Call (785)456-7899.

310 Help Wanted

RESORT ACTIVITIES, HOSPITALITY, AND GOLF INTERNSHIPS. Orlando, FL. Myrtle Beach and Hilton Head Island, SC. Now hiring for all positions and seasons! Take a semester off or summer and learn about the hospitality industry in sunny resort locations! Receive a certificate from the largest hospitality training company in the United States. Fully furnished housing, stipend and transportation provided. Three to six month internships. Call (888)859-5293 for more information and to set up a phone interview. www.AmericanHospitalityAcademy.com

WEEKLY HOUSE-CLEANING, private home. Send qualifications, resume to: Student Publications, 103 Kedzie, c/o Box 5, Manhattan, KS 66506.

320 Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD, Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.drb-movement.org www.humana.org elfemaria@humana.org

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

CROP-TIMIZER WILL be on Campus on October 22 to conduct interviews for December and May graduates for full-time positions as well as summer internships. The sign-up sheet will be located in Throckmorton Hall, room 1022. Majors considered are Agronomy, Plant Science, Entomology, Agribusiness, and Ag. Econ.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

BOOK: Anthology of Chinese Literary Essays (Translated to English) Please visit http://il_chungwang0.tripod.com.

KING SIZE waterbed with head board/ bookshelf. $100. (785)776-9873.

450 Pets and Supplies

FREE KITTENS. Seven weeks old. No shots. Free to good home. Call Josh at (785)341-6518 or Chris at (785)341-6256.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

WANT TO buy ICAT tickets to Texas and Iowa State. Call (785)313-1711.

WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309.

500 transportation

1993 BLACK Honda Prelude with sunroof. Good condition. 91,000 miles. $6100. (785)776-9873.

1997 HONDA Accord SE. Automatic, loaded, keyless entry, alloy wheels, tinted windows, well maintained. Call (785)770-9327.

1998 TOYOTA Tacoma Extended Cab 4x4, maroon, five-speed, cruise, power windows and locks. Great truck $11,500 firm. Call (785)341-6715.

MUST SELL 1988 Honda Accord. Well taken care of, great school car. $2000 or best offer. Call (785)537-6091 or (785)341-2308.

530 Motorcycles

1999 SUZUKI Bandit. 1200S, Fast Street fighter, black, many sweet mods, most speed, best looks for the money. $4900. (785)341-5059.

600 travel trips

610 Tour Package

College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE Ski & Resorts for the Price of 1! Breckenridge, CO. Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin. 1-800-SKI-WILD 1-800-724-5243 www.skiwild.com

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPadre. 110% Best Prices! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007 endlessummers.com

KSU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price, FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE, Reps needed, earn $$$, Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578) ext. 2626 / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-283-1443 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext.14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

Student Travel America

COLLEGE SNOW RIDE Party 6 days, 5 nts, with a 4 day lift ticket DURANGO MT RESORT COLORADO call (800) 235-TRIP www.studenttravelamerica.com

Fraternities • Sororities • Clubs Student Groups

Earn $1,000-$2,000 this semester with a proven CampusFundraiser 3 hour fundraising event. Our programs make fundraising easy with no risks. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so get with the program! Contact CampusFundraiser at (800) 923-3230, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

Cleaning house? Sell your stuff in the Collegian. Kansas State Collegian • classifieds • 103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555

630 Spring Break

SPRING BREAK 2003 is now sponsored by Student Express! Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza! Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentexpress.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

CANCUN • ACAPULCO • JAMAICA • SOUTH PADRE ISLAND • VAIL • STAMBOULT • DAYTONA BEACH • BRECKENRIDGE

WINTER/SPRING BREAK Panama City Beach South Padre Island • Vail Steamboat • Daytona Beach Breckenridge

FREE Welcome Party Happy Hour VIP Parties 1.800.SUNCHASE www.sunchase.com

Take a seat. Let the classifieds do the work.

Kansas State Collegian classifieds 103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $8.00
each word over 20 20¢ per word
2 DAYS
20 words or less $9.40
each word over 20 25¢ per word
3 DAYS
20 words or less $11.05
each word over 20 30¢ per word
4 DAYS
20 words or less $12.25
each word over 20 35¢ per word
5 DAYS
20 words or less $13.35
each word over 20 40¢ per word (consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

SNIPER | Virginian FBI analyst's murder linked to Washington sniper

Continued from Page 1

Robert Young, a Washington construction worker, returned to the shopping center Tuesday to talk with police. He said he heard a muffled gunshot and saw a white van.

Young said as he backed his truck out of his parking spot, a white Astro van with two men inside tried to turn into his lane.

He said the driver appeared very agitated to find his way blocked and instead drove by a neighboring Chinese restaurant and out of sight.

Young described the driver as a short man of slight build who appeared to be Mideastern. He said, "I got a good look at the guy."

Since Oct. 2, nine people have been killed and two others wounded, each of them cut down by a single bullet fired from a distance with a high-powered rifle as the victims went about their everyday tasks.

The sniper's only apparent communication with investigators has been a tarot death card inscribed, "Dear Policeman, I am God."

In a continuing appeal for the public's help, Moose released composite images of a white van with roof racks that witnesses saw after Friday's slaying of a man at a gas station near Fredericksburg, Va.

Moose said there appeared to be similarities between the van seen at Friday's shooting and the light-colored van from Monday night's attack.

Manger would not say whether the witnesses to the latest attack were able to give complete license plate numbers to investigators.

The sniper escaped a huge dragnet that closed down a tangle of highways around Falls Church, 10 miles west of the nation's capital.

Traffic was backed up for miles as police surrounded and searched dozens of white vans.

Tod Burke, a former Maryland police officer who teaches criminal justice at Radford University in Virginia, said the killer is either escaping before the dragnet comes or has some kind of hideout where he can watch the chaos that erupts.

Outside the Home Depot, shoppers tentatively returned while officers made a last sweep for evidence and towed the victim's car.

CUPPA JOE

Allen Archer, associate professor of geology, looks out the window at Radina's Coffee House and Bakery while having a drink and working on his laptop computer Monday afternoon.

Nicole Donnet | COLLEGIAN

Employees show appreciation for their bosses

National holiday set up 44 years ago by insurance employee

By Kari Kennedy
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Bosses around the nation might receive some extra recognition today.

October 16 is National Boss Day — a day for employees to show their appreciation for their bosses.

The day was created in 1958 by Patricia Bays Haroski, an Illinois employee of State Farm Insurance Company.

According to www.hallmark.com, Haroski's idea was to show appreciation for her boss and others.

While it may have been easy for Haroski to appreciate her boss, as she worked for her father, she hoped the day would be a way for employees to stop and acknowledge the hard work of being in charge.

"(My boss) puts a lot of herself into the job," said Katie Brown, career specialist at the Academic and Career Center. "She does it because she enjoys it."

Lynette Hoffman, accountant IV at the Research and Extension business office, said National Boss Day is a great opportunity to recognize her boss' work.

"We're always quick to go to him with a complaint, but very rarely do we say, 'Hey! You do a good job,'" she said.

When things around the office get stressful, employers may have to endure without any positive reinforcement, said Lynn Beier, senior administrative assistant at the K-State Alumni Association.

"A lot of times, employees look for positive comments from their employers," Beier said.

"But sometimes they aren't directed back at them."

To observe the holiday, some offices pool money together for a gift.

Others provide a gift on an individual basis. There are also quick ways to drop a line to the head honcho, such as sending an e-card from a Web site.

Brown said National Boss Day is a nice idea, but a lot of people don't know about it, just like some don't know about National Friends Week or other similar holidays.

Whether the day is celebrated or not, there are bosses who deserve credit for the work they do.

"She does a great job of recognizing the good job the staff does," Beier said.

"It is a great way for us to formally recognize her good job."

After a day of praising the boss, employees go back to work and wait for the secretaries' turn on April 24.

U.S., British airstrikes in Iraq targeting southern air bases

By Robert Burns
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — A key target of U.S. and British bombing in Iraq in recent weeks has been an air base south of Baghdad that would be central to Saddam Hussein's defense against an American invasion.

Since mid-September, Tallil Air Base — a key link in an Iraqi air defense network that remains formidable despite damage from years of periodic U.S. bombing — has been struck seven times, more than any other target in that period, according to Central Command, the headquarters for U.S. operations in the Persian Gulf.

The choice of bombing targets could reflect Pentagon efforts to lay the groundwork for an invasion if President Bush decides military force is needed to oust Saddam Hussein. Pentagon officials, however, say the attacking pilots are simply responding in self-defense, to provocations from Iraqi air defense guns and radars.

Although Tallil has been a frequent target lately, the bombing has not been extensive enough to neutralize the target. Over the years, Iraq has shown a remarkable ability to repair and replace damaged air defenses.

Little Caesars
WEDNESDAY
HOT & READY
1 LARGE
14" PIZZA
WITH PEPPERONI
4:00 PM - 8:00 PM
$5.00
Includes tax
Pick up only

No Coupon Necessary
Valid only at participating locations. ©2001 L.C.E., Inc.
539-3333

HUNAM
Restaurant and Mongolian BBQ
1304 Westloop 539-6568

Lunch Buffet
$4.95 All you can eat!
Mon.-Sat.

Dinner Buffet
$6.95 All you can eat!

Friday Seafood Buffet
$7.95
Crab legs, scallops, fish, shrimp, etc.

$1.00 off Buffet
Please present coupon and valid till 11:00 PM

FREE DELIVERY
* OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK *

Wind Power Forum

Wed., Oct. 16
7:30-9:30 p.m.
K-State Student Union
K/S Ballroom (2nd floor)

CHARLES BENJAMIN
attorney based in Lawrence, Kan.

RON KLATASKE
executive director of Audubon of Kansas

RICHARD NELSON
renewable energy engineer with Engineering Extension Programs in the College of Engineering

ALAN POLLOM
Kansas state director of The Nature Conservancy

DR. KYLE WETZEL
president of K. Wetzel & Company, Inc.

GENE YOUNG

Bosses Day Buffet

Wednesday, October 16th, 2002

Bluemont Room
2nd Floor
K-State Student Union
11:00 - 1:30

Cost: $7.00 per person.
tax included

Cash & Credit Card
Payments ONLY

Tortellini Salad * Tossed Caesar Salad *
Dill Potato Salad * Mediterranean Couscous Salad
Penne Pasta tossed with a Sundried Tomato Basil Cream Sauce * Carved Round Beef with Demi-Glace and Raspberry Horseradish Sauce *
Parmesan-Pepperoni Chicken with Mushrooms *
Garlic Mashed Potatoes with Cream Gravy *
Broccoli with Lemon Butter * Carrots with a Honey-
Dill Glaze * Multi Grain Dinner Rolls with Whipped Butter *
Oreo Cheesecake * German Chocolate Cake *
Cherry Pie

www.unionksu.edu/food/bluemont/

Making Violence Visible

Making Violence Visible

Your Untold Stories

We are gathering stories which are hard to tell, but which need to be told. We are collecting stories that tell the truth about the violence that individuals have endured. Rape, intimidation, battery, sexual assault, brutality, being drugged, coercion under fear of violence -these events are happening to us, day after day, year after year- and seldom is the full story told. Here is your invitation to tell your story.

No names will be used. Complete confidentiality.

Pick up and return your form at the Women's Center, 206 Holton Hall, or call 532-6444 for more information.

Help us make the invisible Visible. Tell us your story.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Thursday, October 17, 2002

Car strikes student; no serious injuries in accident

By Edie Hall
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Tyler Headrick, freshman in mechanical engineering, said he was on the way to his Chemistry I lecture when he crossed Denison Avenue and was hit by a Ford Aspire.

The driver was Donald Lambert, Topeka resident and 1972 K-State graduate.

The vehicle-pedestrian accident occurred at around 11 a.m. Wednesday at the crosswalk by Goodnow Hall.

"I turned and looked and realized I was going to get hit by a car," Headrick said. "The next thing I knew I was on the hood, then the pavement. I guess my head hit the windshield, but my head doesn't even hurt now."

Headrick said he was taken to Mercy Health Center on College Avenue by ambulance and was released about three hours later.

"They said I didn't break anything, but I dislocated my shoulder," he said. "My tailbone hurts, and my leg kinda hurts. They said I'm going to feel bad tomorrow, but I'm up and moving today."

Lt. Richard Herrman of K-State Police said Lambert looked away from the road as he was approaching the crosswalk, and he struck Headrick.

Although conditions were rainy Wednesday morning, Herrman said K-State Police didn't believe the rain contributed to the accident.

"At this point, we don't think so," Herrman said. "He looked away and boom — hit the pedestrian. He wasn't paying attention."

Herrman said Lambert received a ticket for failing to yield at a crosswalk.

He said the car, which had a shattered windshield and dented roof, was towed after the accident.

Headrick said he feels fortunate to be out of the hospital.

"I feel pretty lucky that I didn't break anything," he said. "I got hit pretty hard, and I'm surprised I didn't get hurt more."

See ACCIDENT Page 8

Panel to decide on use of evidence

Judges to declare if information credible in administrator's trial

By Dana Strongin
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Kansas Court of Appeals held suppression hearings Tuesday for a K-State administrator and a former administrator.

Renée Freeman, former director of GEAR UP II (Gaining Early Awareness and Readiness for Undergraduate Programs), and Reginald McGowan, assistant vice president of educational and personal development programs, were arrested on Aug. 24, 2001 and later charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

At their March 15, 2002 trial, Freeman's and McGowan's defense attorneys motioned to suppress evidence, claiming the two were illegally stopped in Junction City.

On Tuesday, the Court of Appeals reviewed their cases, which were submitted without oral argument, said Ron Keefover, education-information officer in the judicial administration office. The three-judge panel will use written briefs as the basis of their argument.

The panel will take four to six weeks to decide whether the evidence should be suppressed or if it should be used in trial, Keefover said. No trial date is set.

Freeman resigned in January 2002, according to Holton Hall business office records. McGowan's position has not changed.

OFF THE RACK

Vincent Hope
SALVATION ARMY FAMILY THRIFT STORE TRUCK DRIVER

"Why would I go spend 40 to 50 dollars on shoes when I can get them for $1.99 down there?"

Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

Susan Henry, freshman in biochemistry, looks through racks of clothes at the Salvation Army Thrift Store on Monday afternoon. Thrift stores provide clothing at reduced costs for people looking to save some cash.

Students prefer cheap, used merchandise over new

By Kacia Seyb
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Melody Boltz likes good deals.

So she stockpiles as many as she can at Grand Ol' Trunk Thrift Shop & Book Store.

"I don't know what I'd do without it, because I am cheap," she said.

And she's cheap about everything.

"The other day, I said, 'I need filters for my furnace.' They found some in the back — we can always find stuff in the back — and they said, 'But they're only 50 cents. Go buy one!'"

"And I said, 'nuh uh — I'm not going to go out and buy one when I can get it here.'"

"I'm that way about everything," Boltz, co-owner of the thrift shop, said.

She's not the only one.

Others value bargains, too, like Vincent Hope, Salvation Army Family Thrift Store truck driver. He said the Salvation Army thrift store is the only place he shops.

"Why would I go spend 40 to 50 dollars on shoes when I can get them for $1.99 down there?" he said.

Some students ask similar questions and see thrift stores as havens for deals on clothes, party costumes, furniture, computers and street ware.

At the Salvation Army thrift store, Johnny Harsh, captain for the Riley County Salvation Army, said at least one student bought a computer, printer and all the accessories for less than $100.

Ryan Flynn, sophomore in public relations, said his roommate's girlfriend bought an Army dress shirt, Army pants and Army beret for a greek function all for $7 at the Grand Ol' Trunk. Flynn said he found an old, green factory jacket at a thrift store in the Kansas City area. Still, he said he doesn't wear all thrift store clothes.

"But the ones I do wear, I wear a lot," he said. "The coat I got, it had a tiny little hole in the back, but it adds a little character."

If buyers don't like their threads to have that type of character and want brand name labels, Boltz said Grand Ol' Trunk has them.

See THRIFT Page 9

Thrift Stores

- Encore Shop, 611 Poyntz Ave., 776-7866
- Family Center Budget Shop, 730 Colorado, 565-5010
- Grand Ol' Trunk Thrift Shop & Book Store, 1304 Pillsbury Drive, 537-2273
- My Friend's Closet, 3515-B Hoffman Lane, 537-8909
- Salvation Army Family Thrift Store, 310 Poyntz Ave., 770-3171
- Second Thyme Around, 515 N. Third, 776-0703

Salvation Army assists, provides services to many

By Kacia Seyb
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Vincent Hope can't live without the Salvation Army.

Without it, he would be missing some things — like furniture, clothes, a car and a job.

If the Salvation Army, a non-profit organization, hadn't provided his wife, his two children and him with furniture, Hope said, they wouldn't even have their apartment right now.

"God works in mysterious ways," said Hope, truck driver for the Salvation Army Family Thrift Store.

Hope wasn't the only one blessed — his presence helped the Salvation Army, too, said Johnny Harsh, captain of the Riley County Salvation Army.

"God answered prayers for both of us. One of the things we were praying for since we opened was a truck driver," Harsh said. "Vince has been the best driver we've ever had."

Hope picks up donated items and delivers necessities to the needy. He also takes coats to places such as Job Corps, Riley and Flint Hills Apartments as part

See DONATIONS Page 9

Habitat to collect food at rugby game

By Rogie Dorpinghaus
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Tonight, K-State's Rugby Club will go head to head with the Topeka Rugby Football Club in the Aluminum Bowl.

The game will start at 8 p.m. at Memorial Stadium and is sponsored by Manhattan Habitat for Humanity, Annie Mae's Parlor, KMKF-FM 101.5/KMAN-AM 1350 radio, Game Guy, the Aluminum Can Association and Flint Hills Beverage.

The purpose of the bowl game is to collect aluminum cans for Manhattan's Habitat for Humanity. Suggested admission is either aluminum cans or a $2 donation, but cans are preferred, said Isaac Madison, development coordinator for Habitat and K-State rugby team member.

"Aluminum cans is one of the easiest ways to donate money," Madison said. "Nobody has to give anything up that they haven't used."

Manhattan's Habitat is one of 15 national finalists in a competition for a $50,000 award from the Aluminum Can Association. There are more than 1,600

See HABITAT Page 8

INSIDE

Fancy footwork: Kansas City Ballet to perform variety of dance routines at McCain Friday

The Edge, Page 7

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Bush signs Iraq war resolution
President Bush signed Congress' war-making resolution and told wary world leaders to "face up to our global responsibilities" to confront Saddam Hussein, Wednesday.
Page 3

Saddam wins by 11 million-to-0 margin
Iraq declared Saddam Hussein the winner Wednesday — by an 11 million-to-0 margin — in a war-shadowed referendum on his two-decade military rule.

Investigators say latest sniper attacks yield new clues to identity of killer
For the first time since the sniper shootings began, more than one witness saw a man fire and flee in a white van, but investigators said Wednesday that the accounts weren't clear enough to produce a sketch.

Senate to pass election overhaul
The Senate voted Wednesday to establish nationwide election standards and provide states billions of dollars to upgrade voting systems.

Ivory Coast rebels ready to sign truce
After repeated delays, rebels who launched Ivory Coast's bloodiest uprising agreed Wednesday to sign a truce with the country's embattled government.

Weather

Today 60 | 39

Friday 70 | 45

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 42

Westport Cleaners

1120 Westport776-2323

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Carry on

5 Chewing gum

8 Quantity

10 Simpleton

12 Always

13 Actor

14 Stephen

15 Tony's cousin

16 Photog's choice

18 Citric

19 Quencher

17 Misfortunes

18 First verb in

20 "Rebecca"

22 Pinnacle

23 Bell-bearing item

23 Zaba-gilone case

24 "Desafinado"

27 saxophone

27 Problem-free

32 Blond shade

33 Coffee-shop vessel

34 Up to 35 Alarmed somewhat

36 Appear

39 Fresh

DOWN

1 Join by

2 heat and pressure

3 State

3 It's in a pool

4 Poor substitute

5 Appreciative

6 U.K. ref.

7 Folk singer

8 one's way (through)

9 Larry's pal

10 Exceptional

11 Dazzle

12 Sleeping Beauty's place

13 Evidenced

19 Young truly

21 Sushi offering

24 Petrol

25 Superlative suffix

26 Bread-and-butter message

28 "All the Things You"

29 Owing

30 "A pox upon thee!"

31 Shade source

36 Fame

37 Love-seat

38 Town near the city

41 Bell or Barker

42 Rock band's gear

43 Hallelu

44 Pyramid, really

46 Exam format

47 Shrek is one

48 Requisite

51 Canape spread

Solution time: 28 mins.

Yesterday's answer 10-17

10-17 CRYPTOQUIP

K'SJ GJUBE FR U OBUIE-IJP

QUID KI HFVWGJBI

QUMKRFBIKU DIFPI UH

HUI UIEBJUH SUVMW

Yesterday's Cryptquip: SUPPOSING A CAT WERE FULL OF RADIOACTIVE WASTE, WOULD IT HAVE EIGHTEEN HALF-LIVES?

Today's Cryptquip Clue: I equals N

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 25

Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to: Crypt Classics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Dana Strongin at 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291-020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 101, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 101, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

SPOTLIGHT | Assassins

Drew Rose | Collegian

Sheena Nagaraja, freshman in biology, signs up for the campus-wide game of assassins while Chris Thompson, freshman in mass communications, makes sure all of her information is correct. The money raised from the game will help start an online radio station.

Students start game to raise money for online radio station

By Tina Deines
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Starting on Halloween, students will have to be extra careful, or they may be killed — with a sticker.

A group of K-State students, led by Chris Thompson, freshman in mass communications, and Brandon Cummins, freshman in music, has organized a large-scale game of "Assassins" to fund an online radio station at www.friendwithafro.com.

Thompson said that in the game, each player is given a picture of another player and they have to stalk and "kill" that person.

Players can eliminate other participants by placing a sticker on them, indicating they have been "assassinated."

There are several "safe zones, including classes, a person's job and bathrooms.

The last person "alive" is deemed winner and will receive a cash prize. A prize also will be awarded to the player with the most assassinations.

The cost to participate is $3 per person and the number of people participating will determine how large prizes will be.

Thompson said the group chose the game Assassins as a fund-raiser because it is popular at many schools.

He said he participated in the game in high school, but is excited to see the turn out at a large campus. Cummins also played Assassins in high school. He said it will be exciting to see a game like this with the possibility of such a large number of players.

Most games, he said, are played with only a few hundred people. Thompson said he hopes to have 1,000 participants, but said he is expecting anywhere from a few hundred to a thousand players.

Some people will go to great lengths to win this game.

Carly Waugh, freshman in pre-veterinary medicine, said that when she played the game in high school, someone camped out in a tree in front of her house to make a kill.

"It was a lot of fun," Waugh said. "People definitely got into it."

She said she also plans on playing the game at K-State and thinks the large campus will make the game fun.

"It'll definitely make it interesting finding out who the people are and where they're gonna be," she said.

While the game is going on, students can keep updated on surviving players at the Web site, which is scheduled to be up and running by Halloween.

Cummins and Thompson said the main reason for initiating the station is that other radio stations are letting listeners down because of their affiliations with corporate sponsors and record labels.

They said www.friendwithafro.com, which is named for Thompson's hairstyle, will overcome this because an on-line radio station does not need ties to any corporation. There will be no playlists or regulations for the station.

"I'm a firm believer in freedom of speech and I think we should exercise our full right to do this," Cummins said.

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Tuesday, Oct. 15

- At 9:30 a.m., Jeremiah Kriebs, Missouri, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $750.
- At 11:20 a.m., Martin Schieler, Ogden, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $1,500.
- At 2 p.m., Jose Cruz-Toledo, 3480 Excell Road, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $750.

Wednesday, Oct. 16

- At 3:35 p.m., Tylesha Pryor, 2046 College View, was arrested for aggravated burglary. Bond was set at $500.
- At 4:45 p.m., Lewis Vaughn, Topeka, was arrested for forgery. Bond was set at $15,000.
- At 6:45 p.m., Daniel Brown, 916 Allison, was arrested for rape and aggravated criminal sodomy. Bond was set at $10,000.

The planner | Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

- Recreational Services will be taking entries for intramural volleyball, four-wall handball singles, four-wall racquetball singles, squash singles, table tennis singles and the HORSE shootout today in the administrative office.
- 2002-03 K-State Ambassador applications, due by 5 p.m. Friday, are available at OSAS and Alumni Center 1720.
- "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 in Hale Library's second floor.
- Lafene Health Center is providing walk-in flu vaccines from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. today in the center. Cost is $7 for students and $10 for faculty and staff.
- The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Peng Zhang at 9 a.m. today in Throckmorton 4031.
- Royal Purple yearbook pictures will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in Goodnow Hall. Students who have not gotten their pictures taken can get them from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Union Courtyard until Oct. 15.
- Basic library classes will be from 11 to 11:45 a.m. and from 1:30 to 2:15 p.m. today in Hale 208.
- Future Financial Planners will meet and have a guest speaker at 5:30 p.m. today in Union 212.
- Underground Poets will have an

- organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205.
- The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Brad Porter at 2 p.m. Friday in Throckmorton 4031.
- The K-State Alumni Center ribbon-cutting ceremony will be at 8:30 a.m. Saturday on the east side of the center. Tours will be available until 3 p.m. The center's open house, including tours, will be from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday.
- KSU Theatre students present a Monster Makeup Demonstration at 11 a.m. Saturday at Manhattan Public Library for children and teenagers interested in learning techniques for using costume makeup. For more information, call (785) 776-4741 ext. 125.
- The American Society for Public Administration will be host to a simulated audit sponsored by the legislative division of post audit at 6 p.m. Monday in Hale 301-A.
- Amnesty International meets at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the International Student Center.
- Collegiate 4-H will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Waters 137.
- K-State Rotaract will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Waters 137.
- The Public Relations Student Society of America will meet and have speaker Melissa Miller, marketing/development officer for Sunset Zoo, at 7 p.m. Monday in Calvin 217.
- Circle K International will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in Union Staterooms 2 and 3.
- A Community Service Program, International and Kansas teams informational meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union 212.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct an overseas teaching panel workshop from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday in Hollz Hall.

Up next | In Monday's Collegian

News | Balancing budgets
How hard are budget cuts hitting K-State? Find out how colleges and departments are coping with the effects. And read about what mid-year cuts made by the Kansas Legislature could do to K-State's already troubled financial situation.

Sports | Taking on Texas
K-State faces arguably its biggest home test of the season when Texas comes to town on Saturday. Get full coverage of the game, including player reactions and breakdown of stats. Also, read about how the volleyball team did this weekend, as they take on Texas A&M in Ahearn Field House.

The Edge | Rating "The Ring"
Find out if the video that kills after seven days in "The Ring" is more likely to bore people to death in 90 minutes, and if Samuel L. Jackson's chemistry carries "Formula 51" in reviews.

NEED A ROOMMATE or are you LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO LIVE?
advertise in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555

DAVE'S HIDEAWAY Fall Break

celebrate at Dave's!

everything

open at 5

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."

539-3338

Free pregnancy tests

Totally confidential service

Same day results

Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

1000100101001

The eCollegian

browse all about it!

1000010001110

K's Nails

Choose one of the following with purchase of a full set (reg. $25):

- $5 off white tips (reg. $30)
- Free soak off
- 2 free Powercat designs
- $10 off solar set (reg. $45)

Bring this ad in

776-2444 • 2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Read to me, and I'll read to you.

Claflin Books and Copies

GUMBYS Pizza

770-3333

702 N. 11th

Domestic Pint Night

$3 Keep the Glass!

$1.50 Refills

1st place $25.00

Fri. Oct. 18

TENTH BLUE Tournament

featuring Dave Oakleaf

Thurs. 8pm

Ramblers

STEAK HOUSE & SALOON

Thursday Night Specials

12 oz. USDA Choice Top Sirloin

Choice of potato, salad and dinner roll

all for $7.99 + tax

or

"The Couples Special"

2 complete dinners for only $14.99 + tax

8711 E. Hwy. 24 539-4989

Congratulations to all the new initiates of Gamma Phi Beta!

Kelsey Anderson

Kyle Anderson

Lindsay Biggs

Johnna Blackwell

Erica Boucher

Megan Bray

Erin Bruce

Mary Coyle

Megan Davis

Rachel Deery

Alisha Dierks

Abby Doll

Shannon Donaldson

Katie Doran

Jessica Eisenhauer

Beth Ferrell

Stacey Fischer

Stephanie Guezman

Molly Hoyer

Cassandra Gordon

Andee Groatney

Caitlin Heckathorn

Lindsey Huelsman

Susie Knetter

Megan Koehn

Abby Larson

Lauren Legler

Maria Letourneau

Teal Ludwig

Mary Martin

Megan Martin

Megan Mill

Sarah Mobley

Annie Moulton

Jasmine Nelson

Andrea Nickisch

Summer Ott

Grace Pestinger

Emily Reed

Ashley Robins

Soni Rosales

Sarah Smith

Allie Stevens

Erin Stump

Roya Taghizadeh

Kathryn VanKeuren

Caitlin Wagner

Lainee Waye

Michelle Williams

Anne Wisdom

Love in TTKE,

The Women of Gamma Phi Beta

11th Street

Liquor

Drive-thru Coming Soon!

Tailgating Headquarters

Bud Lt bottles 20-pack ... $13<sup>99</sup>

Miller Light 30-pack ... $15<sup>99</sup>

Natty Light cases ... $10<sup>99</sup>

750 mL Bacardi O ... $12<sup>99</sup>

Key Light 30-pack ... $14<sup>99</sup>

1 L Captain Morgan ... $15<sup>99</sup>

11th & MORO in Aggieville

Checklist outlines suicide prevention measures

Officials address how K-State measures up

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Suicide is the second leading cause of death among college-age students.

However, a recent report states administrators can help safeguard their students against suicide.

The National Mental Health Association and the Jed Foundation released a report outlining programs, policies and services universities can implement as preventative measures.

It addressed what measures institutions should include in an 18-point checklist. Here is how K-State measured up:

Administrative policies

1. Do we have a mental health management plan in writing?

No. Fred Newton, director of University Counseling Services, said there is not a written plan, but there is a plan.

2. Have we allocated enough financial resources to accommodate the plan and all of its components?

Yes, Pat Bosco, dean of student life, said.

"I think we're in pretty good shape."

3. Do we have a Medical Leave policy in place that includes mental health problems?

Yes, Bosco said the program is on a case-by-case basis.

Risk identification programs

4. Do we have a screening program in place?

No. "There isn't any question on the admissions application regarding mental health or arrests, and I don't believe in that," Bosco said.

5. Do we have a transitional support program in place for parents of families of incoming students who have already been diagnosed with mental health disorders?

No. "However, there are many masks, and it's extremely difficult, but our record speaks for itself. We've been extremely responsive when we know," he said.

6. Have we trained our faculty, coaches, clergy and student/resident advisers to identify students who may be at risk for suicide and/or suicidal behaviors?

Yes, Bosco said.

"So, yes, but we can always do better, though."

7. Have we educated our students so that they are able to identify at-risk behaviors within themselves and among their peers?

No, Bosco said, not to the level it needs to be.

"We could do much better," he said. "However, it is extremely difficult to get the attention of young people who think they are invincible and think they can solve anything by themselves, and always have in the past."

On-campus support services

8. Do we have an on-site mental health services center?

Yes, University Counseling Services.

9. Have we hired providers who are appropriately trained to handle suicidal clients?

Yes, Bosco said.

10. Do we have an on-site medical center with personnel who can prescribe the appropriate psychotropic agents?

Yes. "But we probably could do more," he said.

11. Do we have a 24-hour emergency service that is accessible to students?

No. Newton said a 24-hour hotline previously existed, but ended because they received few calls and found more people used Internet help lines than phone help lines.

12. Do we have a crisis-management plan in place in the event of a suicide or other trauma on campus?

Yes. Newton said all crises are covered the same way.

Depending on the situation, Bosco said it includes immediate response to the victim, to all parties affected, medical attention, sometimes law enforcement, media contact and follow-up care for all affected by the crisis.

13. Do we provide students with support programs (social, academic, etc.)?

Yes. "This is huge," Bosco said. "This is brand new. Not all universities have this." The Web site is www.ksu.edu/healthsafety.

"We try to be a caring environment, and this is an example of that," Bosco said. "But we could do more."

Newton said preventative measures can be taken, but identifying someone who might be suicidal can be difficult.

"It's hard," he said. "You basically have to have a caring community."

It requires people who care and are responsive, he said.

K-State possesses this, he said, whether it's among friendship groups, faculty or residence hall staff.

"So, I think on the whole," he said, "it's a pretty responsive campus. When there's something, we see it."

14. Have we made our students and faculty aware of exactly what services are offered on campus and in the community?

We try, Bosco said.

"We use the traditional and non-traditional methods, but there's always room for improvement," he said.

15. Have we publicized the names and numbers of on-campus and off-site support providers?

Yes, through the campus directory and campaigns during the year, Bosco said.

Bush signs war resolution

President urges United Nations to take action

By Jennifer Loven
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — President Bush signed Congress' war-making resolution and told wary world leaders to "face up to our global responsibilities" to confront Saddam Hussein, Wednesday.

"Those who choose to live in denial may eventually be forced to live in fear," Bush said as the United Nations began a debate over his plans to disarm and oust Saddam.

"Every nation that shares in the benefits of peace also shares in the duty of defending the peace," he said.

With dozens of lawmakers from both parties on hand for the East Room signing ceremony, Bush used his speech — and Friday's strong congressional vote — to press the U.N. to adopt a new resolution compelling Iraq to submit to unconditional weapons inspections.

Though he said military action would be his last resort, Bush left little room for Saddam to avoid confrontation.

The U.N. Security Council on Wednesday started its first day of open debate on Iraq at the behest of the dozens of non-Security Council nations who oppose an attack on Baghdad. The debate is mostly designed to take the administration to task on its Iraq policies, and White House officials expected sharp criticism throughout the day.

Even as Bush spoke, Russia's deputy foreign minister said the United States' proposed resolution is unacceptable, while a two-step proposal from France is closer to the Kremlin's stance. Both nations hold veto power in Security Council.

"The American variant of the resolution on Iraq has not undergone changes. It is unacceptable and Russia cannot support it," Yuri Fedotov said.

However, the French proposal contains "many positions that Russia shares," Fedotov said.

As if in reply, Bush said, "The time has arrived once again for the United Nations to live up to the purposes of its founding — to protect our common security. The time has arrived once again for free nations to face up to our global responsibilities and confront a gathering danger."

"They don't have forever and the president is mindful of that," White House press secretary Ari Fleischer said.

Bush, who received a standing ovation as he signed the resolution from the roughly 100 lawmakers in the audience, said: "This nation will not live at the mercy of any foreign power or plot."

In a major victory for the president, weeks of back-and-forth between Congress and the White House produced little significant change in Bush's initial draft of the resolution. The measure giving Bush the authority to use military force, if necessary, to rid Iraq of its biological and chemical weapons and disband its nuclear weapons program was approved Friday.

The resolution requires the president to notify Congress, before or within 48 hours after an attack, that further diplomatic approaches would not have protected U.S. security and to explain to Congress how the military action will not hurt the war on terror. But it allows Bush to take unilateral action regardless of U.N. actions.

www.kstatecollegian.com

HUGE AUCTION

Bid Online and See Full Listing at:

www.purplewaveauction.com

14 K. diamond jewelry 500 + LOTS
Fenton Glassware
Mattresses
Smoker grills
Baby bed
Rifle scopes
Sporting goods
Tents

Every Thursday
at 6 p.m.

PURPLE WAVE

611 Pecan Circle
785-537-5057

12TH STREET PUB

THURSDAY IS STEAK NIGHT

EACH COMES WITH BAKED POTATO, SIDE SALAD, PLUS TEXAS TOAST

$5.95 $9.95
Sirloin Strip Top Sirloin

$2 ANYTHING

BOTTLES, CALLS, BIG BEERS, MICROS, MARGARITAS AND MUCH MORE

LIVE RPI

RYAN PATRICK IMMING at 10 P.M.

ANTON in SHOW BUSINESS

A PLAY BY JANE MARTIN

October 17, 18 & 19
8:00 pm on the 17th

7:00 pm & 11:00 pm on the 18th & 19th
PURPLE MASQUE THEATER
$3.00 for students $5.00 for general public

Religion Directory

Episcopal
Church at K-State
5 p.m. Sunday
Danforth Chapel
Worship and Praise
Fr. Matthew Cobb - 532-5099

Blue Valley
Memorial UMC
835 Church St. 539-8790
Worship: Sat. 5:30 p.m./Sun. 10:30 a.m.
Free food first Sun. of the month.
e-mail: revs2@flinthills.com
Rev. Dr. E. Carolyn Willis

Faith Evangelical Free Church
• Worship at 8:00, 10:30, 12:00
• Sunday School at 9:15
• College Class at 9:15

1921 Barnes Rd.
1.6 Miles North of Kimball 776-2086

NEW HOPE
community church
Pursuing relationships that change the world

WORSHIP SERVICE 10 A.M.

Bible Studies, Men's & Women's Groups,
College and Family Ministries,
Youth & Children's Ministry
Wed. 6:30 p.m.

3905 GREEN VALLEY ROAD
537-2389

Mt. Zion
Church of God
in Christ

Service Times
Sunday School 10:00 a.m.
Worship Service 11:30 a.m.
Wednesday Bible Study 7:30 p.m.
Friday Joy Night 7:30 p.m.

916 Yuma Street
Supt. Caleb J. Weathersby, Pastor
785-587-9140

Lutheran
Campus
Ministry
Tuesday Supper, 6 p.m.
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Sunday Evening Worship
7 p.m., Danforth Chapel
www.ksu.edu/lcm-elca
Pastor Jayne Thompson
(pastorj@ksu.edu) 539-4451
— Open to All —

WESTVIEW
COMMUNITY
CHURCH
8:15, 9:30, 11:00AM & 6:00PM
College and Young Married Couples
Sunday School @ 9:30 & 11:00AM
Youth Ministry Opportunities
College Pastor: David Kinnan
Senior Pastor: David Thompson
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.
537-7173
www.westviewcommunity.com

Grace
Baptist
Church
2901 Dickens - 2 bks. E. of Seth Child
♦ Sunday ♦
Morning Worship
8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Evening Service or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

St. Luke's
Lutheran
Church
330 Sunset Avenue
Saturday-
Traditional Worship 6:00 p.m.
Sunday-
Traditional Worship 8:30 a.m.
College Bible Study 9:45 a.m.
Contemporary Worship 11:00 a.m.
Campus Pastor - Eric Wood
Email: campusmn@flinthills.com
(785) 539-2604

First United Methodist Church

Worship at 8:30, 8:45 and 11:00

Come at 8:30 and 11:00 for more traditional worship
with choirs and organ in our beautiful sanctuary.

Come at 8:45 for a BLENDED worship in our auditorium. Free doughnuts. 45 minutes long.
Great band. COME AS YOU ARE!

Come at 9:45 for Sunday School in the auditorium.
A special class for college students, relating the Bible to
YOUR life.

JUST COME

612 Poyntz, Manhattan Kansas
CAMPUS MINISTRY: Check out
the website: Ksu.edu/umcm

First Presbyterian Church
Worship at
9:15 & 10:30 a.m.
Sunday School for all
at 9:15 a.m.
Students Welcome!
www.firstpresmanhattan.com
801 Leavenworth St. • 537-0518

St. Isidore's
Catholic Student
Center
MASS SCHEDULE
Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m.
Friday 12:10 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.
Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m.
Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.
Father Keith Weber, Chaplain
711 Denison 539-7496

ST. MARY MAGDALENE
ORTHODOX CHRISTIAN
MISSION
ECM Bldg. 1021 Denison, 2 South.
539-3440
Services: Divine Liturgy 9:30
AM Saturdays in the ECM Nave
Visit the K-State OCF webpage
at www.ksu.edu/orthodox

Faith Tabernacle
United Pentecostal Church
Pastor: Edwin Young
Sun.: Sunday School, 10:00 a.m.
Worship, 11:15 a.m.
Evangelistic, 6:00 p.m.
Tues.: Youth, 7:30 p.m.
Thurs.: Bible Study, 7:30 p.m.
1010 Burke 238-2988

First Assembly of God

Weekly Services

Wednesday
Prayer Meeting 7:00 p.m.
Youth Group (grades 7-12)
Royal Rangers (Boys Clubs)
Missionary (Girls Clubs)
Pastor: J. A. Elliott
Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship for College Students 8:00 p.m. -
(KSU Little Theater)

Sunday
Sunday School
9:00 a.m.

Morning Worship & Kid's Church
10:00 am

Evening Worship
6:00 p.m.

Nursery Provided for all Services
Rev. Todd Weston, Pastor
2310 Candlewood Dr. Manhattan, KS
(785) 537-7633 www.manhattanag.org

FIRST LUTHERAN
10th Poyntz 537-8532
Worship
Sat. 5:30 p.m., Sun. 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School all ages 9:40 a.m.

Come Worship
With Us
1st Church of the Nazarene
3031 Kimball Ave.
9:30 Sunday School
10:40 Sunday Worship
7:00 Wed. Bible Study, Teens
Youth & College ministry opportunities
Senior Pastor: Pat Weyranch
539-6376

CALVARY CHAPEL
OF MANHATTAN
Sunday Service - 10:00 a.m.
1961 Strong Ave.
Come Just As You Are
Contemporary Worship
Very Casual Atmosphere
Solid Verse By Verse Bible Teaching
Pastor Dade Roman
785-539-3667
ccofmanhattan@cox.net

Unitarian-
Universalist
Fellowship
of Manhattan
481 Zeandale Road. (South on K-177
across viaduct, left on K-18 1/2 mile)
Program each Sunday at 10:45 a.m. Religious education classes for youth.
Day care for toddlers.
The Rev. David Grinn.
For information call (785) 537-2349
www.flinthills.com/~uafellow

Christian Science
Society
Sunday 10:30 a.m.
Danforth Chapel
KSU Campus
Wed. 7:30 in Reading Room
Reading Room open Tues. -Thurs. 11-1
105 N 4th St.

TO THE POINT K-State should show opposing team respect

Fan behavior at collegiate sporting events has gotten out of control.

There is the guaranteed "boo" and "hiss" when opposing teams enter the playing arena, but when people attack opposing teams' fans, there is a chance someone will get hurt.

It's understandable every team has impolite fans, but throwing objects at people in the stands, shouting obscenities and waving a middle finger at those who travel long distances to support their team shouldn't be tolerated.

We want visiting-team fans to appreciate K-State's hospitality, not wish they had stayed home to watch the game on television. Acting immaturely disgraces our university and tarnishes our reputation. We want other teams to respect us when we roll into their hometowns, so why not dish out the same warm welcome in our own backyard?

This weekend, the Wildcats take on Texas, in what promises to be an exciting game. Let's show those Longhorns that Manhattan is a great place to be for football games.

Let's invite Texas fans to join our tailgate parties or meet us in Aggieville for a brew after the action.

Let's set the standard for behavior at athletic events and give other universities something to strive for.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Janel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

PLACING BLAME

No-fault insurance policy raises premiums for policy holders, students

When paying the monthly bills, we might damn our economy or inflation or that minimum-wage job as we wade through surmounting debt.

In actuality, Kansas' no-fault insurance concept could be to blame for your depleted funds.

There is much criticism concerning this policy, and with good reason. Though this policy was implemented in hopes of compensating an accident victim without the use of our court system, proof abounds the opposite has occurred. According to the insurance site www.insure.com, the no-fault insurance policy makes each party involved in an auto collision pay for their own bodily harm no matter who caused the accident. Each individual's insurance company is responsible for lost wages, medical expenses and damage to the automobile, so long as the accident is not severe.

These laws were enacted to reduce the instance of auto-injury fraud and keep insurance costs down. Historically, these reductions have not materialized.

The Foundation for Taxpayer and Consumer Rights explains the reasons insurance premiums have increased since the implementation of no-fault laws at www.consumerwatchdog.org.

First, the victim and the motorist who caused the accident are compensated for medical expenses, wage loss and other benefits, regardless of fault. Paying both claims is more expensive than the Personal Responsibility System, in which the policy of the at-fault driver only covers the innocent driver's expenses. State Farm Insurance has stated that "the advantage of no-fault laws lies in a redistribution of insurance benefits based on need rather than fault."

This quells my fears that drunken and reckless drivers are getting the benefits they deserve.

Second, under no-fault laws, insurance companies are required to provide benefits to policy holders on a first-party basis. Policy holders do not face the procedural hurdles of litigation that exist under the Personal Responsibility System. Often, individuals not covered by other forms of health insurance file claims under the no-fault system for injuries not caused by the operation of a vehicle.

Litigation costs are not lowered as the no-fault policy makers proposed. Litigation over property damage continues.

No-fault laws do not cut down on the various insurance policies a driver needs. Liability insurance remains a necessity for many drivers in no-fault jurisdictions.

Additional insurance covering damage caused by uninsured or underinsured drivers must be purchased to protect drivers in the instance of a serious collision.

Although both parties are compensated for their medical bills and car damage, the issue of pain and suffering is greatly ignored in no-fault states. With no one being "at fault" concerning an accident, the victim loses his right to sue for additional pain and suffering.

The exception to this rule states you may sue if the accident was "extremely serious." And who decides how serious the accident is? The insurance company, of course.

According to consumerwatchdog.org, eight of the 10 states with the highest insurance premiums in 1989 were no-fault states. In 1995, the number dropped to six out of 10, due to Connecticut and New Jersey's decision to repeal the law.

In fact, premiums in mandatory no-fault states — like Kansas — rose nearly 25 percent between 1989 and 1995.

The no-fault laws do nothing more than eliminate accountability for reckless drivers. When opening a policy with an insurance company we should inquire about the average policy holder's character. It just might be the only way to keep our costs down.

SUSAN POWELL

Susan is a senior in English. You can e-mail her at sjp8478@ksu.edu.

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Janel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

Roommate situations often lead to unhappy living quarters

If roommates follow simple rules of cleanliness, politeness, living situations can be improved

Based on my years of experience as a roommate, I've gained an understanding of the unwritten rules of roommatehood. For those of you out there struggling to live with the most vile strands of human existence, I've written a want ad for your next roommate. Enjoy.

ROOMMATE(S) WANTED:
* Potential roommate(s) must not listen to rap while trying to break dance when no ability or skill has been attained.

* There is no leeway for those who steal precious foods and later lie about taking them. Stay away from my food unless you ask first.

* Roommate must never leave 40-oz. bottles of tobacco spit on the edge of counters for unsuspecting others to tip over.

LAYTON EHMKE

* The spiller of the tobacco juice must clean it up. It's that simple. You make a mess, you clean it up.

* Roommates should help each other stomp on roaches, even though they are there because one roommate left a half-eaten pizza on the floor for more than a week.

* At no point are orgies allowed in the home. No orgies, please.

* Respect the notion of personal space. If you're too bored or too stupid to entertain yourself, don't make it someone else's problem. How about learning a magic card trick to impress your friends? Go for a walk, take a hike, pick your nose. Just leave me alone.

* Always flush. There's nothing as appetizing as discovering a disintegrating Cleveland steamer before breakfast. Don't let this abominable phenomenon occur. Ever.

* I've lived with more guys than I can remember, and I know all the tricks. Hiding dirty dishes be isn't going to help anything. How about putting soap and water on them? See what happens.

* Please refrain from the repeated use of four-letter words when people held in high respect are present. It reflects poorly upon everyone. Also, don't tell grandiose tales of drunken debauchery in the presence of most ladies. Why? Because you shouldn't.

* If you see a hot chick jogging by, please don't yell "Nice rack!" at her. The chances are she probably already knows. What could you possibly accomplish by doing that?

You can be an idiot on your own, but don't be a twit around me.

* If you use all my sugar to make your stupid jungle juice, at least say thanks. Then make a trip to Food-4-Less and buy more.

* Never, and I mean never, interrupt the viewing of the following films: "The Big Lebowski," "Platoon," "GoodFellas" or "The Royal Tenenbaums."

* Finally, pay your portion of the rent. Preferably, pay it on time.

Nobody said college living was easy, but it could be a lot more comfortable if roommates paid a little more attention to the effect they have on others. Rock on.

Layton is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at lre3684@ksu.edu.

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

People who wear flip-flops on rainy days are compensating for two things they don't have: brains and common sense.

My new marketing idea: Collegian umbrellas.

I get comments into the Fourum like it's my job.

Since when did people only have braids in the ghetto?

Is there any way we can have a separate Campus Fourum for sex?

I think Kansas would've been one of the top five smartest states in the nation if it weren't for all those stupid greeks dragging us down. Yeah, I'm talking about you.

Big girl, small umbrella, wet friend.

Bimbly-nimbly. Absolutely.

To all the people calling the Fourum with worthless comments: Please stop calling if you don't have anything worthwhile to say. I'm tired of the Fourum inbox being full of your crap.

I agree. The girl drum major is pretty hot. I wonder if she's single.

As a man, I can see why women find Sean Connery attractive.

Sometimes I look in the mirror and ask myself how I ever got laid.

All the officer did was harass underage drinkers. How is that a job well done?

Why is George Bush so worried about Iraq when he's got a sniper in the D.C. area who has killed nine people since Oct. 2? Gotta love those priorities.

To the girl complaining about the girl in Ford: Get laid.

I just want to say that Dana Strongin is one of the cutest red-heads on the K-State campus.

Angel Wilson, if you don't want us using the word "ghetto" because of its bad connotations, what about "son-of-a-gun" or "dang nabbit?"

College: Trade your old, used friends for new, better ones. And yes, this is directed towards you, Kim.

It's too bad Miss Cleo isn't working for the Psychic Hotline anymore. At least she's coming out with a new paper: the USA Tomorrow.

To the readers of the opinion page: Although rap music isn't necessarily an accurate portrayal of African-Americans, please know Angel Wilson isn't, either.

In an attempt to stir things up, all Wilson does is offend African-Americans who aren't like her.

Can I just e-mail my comments? I'm tired of saying things like, "closed parentheses," and "end quote."

To the guy at Woodway who yelled, "I love acid," last night: You need help.

Hey, Angel, if variety is the spice of life, then small, white homegirl says, "Let me listen to my own music."

I think it's great the picture in Monday's paper has the twirler in front of the Johnny-on-the-Job.

I've made 10 calls to the Fourum so far, and none of them have gotten printed.

Why is it that really nice guys always have jerks for friends?

Voters: Friends don't let friends vote for Tim Shallenburger.

My friend wanted to make $1,500 monthly, so she sent in to one of those envelope-stuffing jobs. Stupid, stupid, stupid.

Do you think it's gross my roommate asked me to wax his back?

I don't want to go out with you again. Can't you get the hint?

Why do all the best movies star Joan Crawford or Brooke Shields?

If you dedicated a whole page of the Fourum on Fridays, it would be called, "Funny Fourum Fridays."

I once farted on the set of "Blue Lagoon."

Life would be so much better if they made Frankenberry Pop-Tarts.

I'm sorry, but K-State has nothing over Octoberfest in Hays.

My roommate's last name is Boozier. How cool is that?

What's your favorite position? That's not my favorite, but I'll do it.

Oh, my gosh, it's cold outside. Now what are all the frat boys going to do instead of wearing flip-flops?

Hey, Roberson, if you can't throw the ball, why don't you become a running back?

Note to self: Swallow from now on. Spitting is way too messy.

Will the people who live on either Ratone or Pomeroy with the high-pitched, barking dog please put it inside. Thank you.

Ghetto-rigged? Might as well say "African-engineered."

Maybe this week, just to be safe, we should hold the "over-rated" chants until after we win.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions.

Parents take over students' bedrooms, turn space into guest rooms, storage

Changes can cause tension

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When Billy Kelly went home for winter break his freshman year of college, he found a big surprise.

After making the trip home to Lawrence, Kelly, junior in park management and conservation, was looking forward to sleeping in his own bed and enjoying his spacious room.

Instead, he walked into a different situation.

"When I went home for break, I found my room not how I had left it," he said. "My stuff was in the closet, and my parents had emptied out my dressers and put my clothes in tubs. They even sold my bed and bought a different one."

According to Tony Jurich, professor of family studies and human services, Kelly is not alone. Hundreds of college students go home each year to find their rooms different than how they had left it.

"I think what happens is you get into a circumstance where the college student winds up scooting off," he said. "They sit there and say, 'I'm off on my own and we're going to see what we can wind up doing and have a good time.'"

"What they don't realize is that they also have a room back home that is not very usable anymore."

As a result, many parents decide to take over their child's room, making for a difficult transition when he or she comes back home.

"Parents seem to see the situation as 'we need some more room, and it's the logical thing to do,'" Jurich said. "They come up with all sorts of logical things to do with the room."

However, to the student, a changed room is not a happy homecoming after weeks away from home. It can create tension with parents.

"What they do is a little bit of howling and parents are almost universally flabbergasted over it," he said. "I think the reason why is, it's the child's house also and it has a lot of childhood memories. To the kid, it's a place where they grew up."

Kelly said that although the change upset him at first, he later realized why his parents decided to transform his room into an extra guest room and storage area.

"I didn't really care, since I don't live there anymore," he said. "I see why they did it, since they have a lot of guests come over."

Although Megan Halespeska, freshman in open-option, doesn't go home often, she said it was difficult going home for the first time and seeing her parents' belongings in her former area.

"It kind of makes you feel that they haven't forgotten you, but they have replaced you with their stuff," she said.

Halespeska said her room was turned into an all-purpose storage space, with her parents' belongings placed in her closets and throughout the room.

"It feels different when you go in there because not all of your stuff is in there anymore, and it isn't the way you had left it," she said. "It was so messy when I was home, and now that it's so clean, I feel like it's a guest room."

Jurich said it is not uncommon for students to feel out of place when going back home to a changed room.

In fact, he said that most of the time, students don't want to show their true feelings to their parents.

"It's a thing that no college student wants to admit to. You may not want to make a fuss over it, but it makes good sense as to why it's being made," Jurich said. "Parents are always very much surprised when they get this response from teenagers because they don't think it's a big deal."

Consequently, these hidden feelings can soon lead to frustration and a lack of communication between the child and parent.

"I would suggest it's in the best interest if they try to come to some sense of understanding," Jurich said. "That's not going to be easy since they're dealing with feelings of symbolism. We've got some symbolic feelings on behalf of the students, so we have to take that into account when we start to look at everything else that's going on."

Above all, Jurich said communication is key to resolving problems relating to the control of the room.

"Parents need to understand why the kids are upset, and the kids need to understand why parents do the things they do," he said. "Make sense of all this, and when all of the smoke clears, come up with a compromise."

"It's an important piece of history, and you have to deal with how you're going to try to at least accommodate each other and find a middle ground."

GIVE US YOUR OPINION.
CAMPUS FORUM: 395-4444

EL GRAN BAILE

Friday, October 18, 2002
9 p.m. - 1 a.m.

$2.50 per person • $4 per couple
Union Station

Join us in celebrating the closing of our Hispanic Heritage Month.

Then, listen to good music and have a fantastic time.

Salsa Merengue Lessons 7 - 8:30 Friday at Union Station.
Be there!

Another year has passed and the weather's turning cold.
Legends of Rouletter have begun to be told.
All hell will break loose, we'll party all night.
We don't plan on stopping until morning light.

It's the original barn party you can't imitate,
The Rouletter Ghost you'll soon hallucinate.
Come Friday night we'll all be together,
For the 64th year, we call it Rouletter.

My boots are shining, six gun on my hip,
I'll raise a chilled flask or a beer to my lips.
So pull out your glass, and I'll give you a shot,
If you've never partied with me, you soon will be taught.

It's an indisputable fact, no one does it better
It's the boots, the beer, the brothers together.
Let it be heard from the near and the far,
You haven't partied cowboy 'til it's with AGR.

Signed,
The Rouletter Ghost

"The Boots, the Beer, the Brothers Together, It's not just a party ... It's Rouletter."

Reign
Crash & Smash
begins tonight!
Friday
AGGIEVILLE BLOCK PARTY
STEPHEN PEARCY
FORMER ORIGINAL LEAD SINGER OF RATT WILL PLAY ON MORD STREET PLUS STREET VENDORS AND TONS OF PRIZES FOR ALL! THE FUN STARTS AT 5PM.
BROUGHT TO YOU BY BUDWEISER AND RUSTY'S LAST CHANCE.

Crash & Smash the Longhorn car!
Whichever group gets the most people in the car wins a FREE Chance T-shirt and a $200 gift certificate!

Rustys LAST CHANCE SALOON

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Getting out of the sand, A.J. Elgert hits the ball at Colbert Hills Golf Course during the Jim Colbert Intercollegiate Tournament on Sept. 30. Elgert will play OU today at Colbert Hills. The match against OU was canceled last year because of inclement weather.

ONE ON ONE

Cats look to improve after MU loss, to play in dual

By Tom Fontana
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The men's golf team has counted on a strong second day to bounce back from rough first rounds in all four tournaments it has competed in this year.

But there won't be a second day to lean on when the Cats face Oklahoma today in a dual match at Colbert Hills.

K-State's first round score has been its highest score in three of the four tournaments, something Coach Tim Norris said must improve.

"More consistent play top to bottom and being able to play three solid rounds," he said. "We've had a lot of tournaments where we've played two solid rounds. We have yet to play a tournament where we've had all three solid rounds. I think when that happens, we can compete with anyone. Until that happens, we'll just keep striving to try and do it."

Coach Norris said the Wildcats must come out strong and be patient if they hope to compete with the Sooners.

"The opening holes aren't easy," he said. "Obviously, it depends on the wind because the first six holes can play hard into a north wind. It's a patience thing. If you start with bogeys, you have to be patient because there is some birdies out there."

K-State will have eight players in the 36-hole event, taking the best six of eight scores.

Juniors Aaron Watkins, A.J. Elgert, Greg Douglas, Tim Moody and Nick Schumacher, along with sophomore Jonathan James and freshmen Josh Persons and Jimmy Dietz, will compete for the Wildcats.

K-State usually sends a lineup of six players to a tournament, but with eight playing today, it gives different players a chance to prove themselves, Norris said.

"That's what this match is about," he said. "So often, we go to a tournament with five or six players, and now we have the ability to play eight. I'm about giving these guys competitive opportunities and seeing what they do with it."

"One of our goals in our program this year is rise to the occasion. Some guys need to focus on rising to the occasion and some guys don't. But again, this is a great chance for those guys who haven't seen a lot of action. If they want to see more, this is a chance to step up and be counted. It's their chance to step up and say, 'Hey, here's what I can do, coach.'"

See GOLF Page 10

Aaron Watkins putts in the Jim Colbert Intercollegiate Tournament Sept. 30 at Colbert Hills Golf Course. Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

Fans should have stadium rocking on its foundation this weekend

By Joel Reichenberger
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The big game is Saturday. For the Cats to have a chance, KSU Stadium will have to rock.

I remember one time when the stadium did rock.

The year was 2000, and K-Staters woke up that morning with high hopes.

A victory later that day could define a season, and they all knew it could right a wrong.

But as the clock dwindled away through the first half, and even into the third quarter, their beloved Wildcats still were sitting on the starting line.

Yes, K-State was well on its way to getting run over by Oklahoma. Worst of all, Bobby Stoops and his evil brother Mikey were behind the wheel.

I watched from my perch in the student section as OU seemed to answer every Cat attack, as the Sooners bled the heart out of the once-confident audience that surrounded me.

See COLUMN Page 10

JOEL REICHENBERGER

Volleyball extends streak over KU to 15

Cats end Jayhawks' perfect home record in 3 games

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

LAWRENCE — Kansas paraded a perfect 8-0 home record, until K-State showed up with a little rain.

The Wildcats swept the Jayhawks in three games (30-27, 30-25, 30-22), Wednesday night at the Horejsi Family Athletic Center in Lawrence, something Coach Suzie Fritz said was exactly what she anticipated.

"I really expected this to be a very emotional match, and it was," she said. "And I expected it would be a back-and-forth match with a lot of side-outs, and it was."

She also said she had expected it to be a tough victory, and it was — especially since this year's KU squad was 14-2 overall and 5-2 in the Big 12 coming into the match. That is something that definitely worried her, she said.

"This is for the bragging rights in the state of Kansas," she said. "We want to be the No. 1 team in Kansas, and we had to come in here and win against a tough Kansas team to win those rights."

This victory marked the Cats' 15th straight win over

Game 1: K-State 30, KU 27
Game 2: K-State 30, KU 25
Game 3: K-State 30, KU 22

See VOLLEYBALL Page 9

Rowing squad to compete in world's biggest regatta

By Brent Gray
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

After a three-week layoff, the women's rowing team is ready to take its boats to Boston.

The Cats will try their hand at the Head of the Charles, the largest regatta in the world, Saturday and Sunday.

The Wildcats have competed in the event every year since 1998 and are looking to have their best showing yet this year, coach Jenny Hale said.

The Cats finished 17th in 2000 and are hoping for a top 15 finish this season.

"If we can finish 17 one day, we can do it any other day," she said. "The ideal finish for us is in the top 15. If we poke into the top 17 or 18, I'll be happy."

The Cats' last regatta was Sept. 28, when they went to the Head of the Des Moines. At the race the irthree open 8-plus boats finished third, fifth and 12th. The Cats also placed five of eight boats in the top 10, in the open pairs. K-State's top finishers in the open pairs were Lara Schrock and Lori Holcomb, who finished second behind Iowa.

The Cats will compete against nearly 6,000 competitors and 70 to 80 boats in Boston, Hale said.

She said that the first few years the Cats went to the regatta, the intimidation factor was high, but as years go by the Cats have found their comfort zone.

"When we first went, it was

See ROWING Page 9

CAT CALENDAR

Here is a look at Wildcat action for the next seven days.

Today

■ Men's golf — Home dual with Oklahoma. Cats will play at Colbert Hills Golf Course, with the first tee time set for 8 a.m.

Friday

■ Rowing — The Wildcat women's team travels to the Head of the Charles regatta in Boston. It is the largest regatta in the world. Races will run through Sunday.

Saturday

■ Volleyball — Cats take on Texas A&M in Ahearn Field House, with first serve set for 2 p.m.

■ Football — K-State battles Texas at 6 p.m. at KSU Stadium. The game will be broadcast on Fox Sports Net.

Wednesday

■ Volleyball — K-State continues its home stand when it plays host to Missouri at 7 p.m. in Ahearn.

■ Tennis — Wildcats travel to Tulsa to compete in the ITA Regional. The tournament will last until Oct. 27.

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NCAA | Another player to leave CU?

Injured University of Colorado running back Marcus Houston dismissed talk that he will follow former CU quarterback Craig Ochs by considering a transfer.

Houston will miss this week's home game against Baylor, his fifth missed game since suffering a partially torn posterior collateral ligament in his right knee Aug. 31 against Colorado State.

Speculation that Houston would consider a transfer at the end of the season has been fueled by injuries and conflicts with the coaching staff.

Houston, CU's top recruit in the class of 2000, has been plagued with a torn adductor muscle, torn hip flexor and this season's knee injury. Out of a possible 29 games in three seasons, he has played 11.

• • •

NCAA | Collins reportedly might transfer

Nebraska I-back Thunder Collins has missed the Huskers' last two practices and might leave the team, the Lincoln Journal Star reported Wednesday.

Collins, who served a four-game suspension earlier this season for undisclosed violations of NCAA rules, is reportedly unhappy about a lack of playing time since his return two weeks ago, the newspaper reported, citing an unnamed source.

Running back coach Dave Gillespie told the Journal Star: "I'm not sure we're ready to release anything on that. I can't tell you anything right now."

Collins could not be reached for comment Tuesday and Wednesday.

Chris Anderson, NU's sports information director, declined to comment Wednesday.

Collins most recently has been listed as the Cornhuskers' No. 3 I-back. He has touched the ball five times in Nebraska's past two games since returning from his suspension for undisclosed reasons.

• • •

NCAA | FSU kicker tries to move on

Xavier Beitia has received hundreds of e-mails and phone calls since missing what could have been a game-winning field goal for Florida State against top-ranked Miami on Saturday.

Beitia missed a 43-yarder Saturday, becoming the fourth Seminole kicker to miss in the closing seconds against Miami, which won 28-27.

BY THE NUMBERS

Plenty of big games are on tap this weekend. Here is a look at the big ones.

Top 25 football

- No. 2 Oklahoma vs. No. 9 Iowa State, 2:30 p.m., ABC
- No. 3 Virginia Tech vs. Rutgers, noon
- No. 4 Ohio State at Wisconsin, 2:30 p.m.
- No. 5 Georgia vs. Vanderbilt, 11:30 a.m.
- No. 6 Oregon vs. Arizona State, 2:30 p.m.
- No. 7 Notre Dame at No. 18 Air Force, 9 p.m., ESPN
- No. 8 Texas at No. 17 Kansas State, 6 p.m., Fox Sports Net
- No. 11 Michigan at Purdue, 11 a.m., ESPN
- No. 13 North Carolina State vs. Duke, 11 a.m.
- No. 14 LSU vs. South Carolina, 6:45 p.m., ESPN 2
- No. 15 Iowa at Indiana, 11 a.m.
- No. 19 Southern California vs. No. 22 Washington, 2:30 p.m.
- No. 20 Penn State vs. Northwestern, 11 a.m., ESPN 2
- No. 21 Mississippi at No. 24 Alabama, 2:30 p.m.
- No. 23 Colorado vs. Baylor, 2 p.m.
- No. 25 Bowling Green vs. Western Michigan, 5 p.m.

KEEPING IN STEP

Kansas City Ballet to perform at McCain Auditorium

By JJ Duncan
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Stepping onto the McCain Auditorium stage Friday will be a dance company with a rich 20-year history and acclaimed talent working within it.

William Whitener, artistic director of the Kansas City Ballet, has worked with dance experts like Twyla Tharp and Jerome Robbins, and danced in the Joffrey Ballet of Chicago. The critical praise he has received since taking over as the artistic director in 1996 has not made him or his work less accessible, and he likes to keep it that way.

"The truth is, you don't need to be educated to enjoy a dance performance, because everyone moves all day long," he said. "Everyone has a body, and most people dance in one way or another."

"We know what it feels like and we've seen a great deal on film and television. Dance occupies a strong presence in our culture, whether it's ballroom, tango, ballet, jazz or Broadway."

The company will present a range of pieces, putting the dancers through the paces of classical, jazz and modern dance.

On the classical side of the spectrum are the pieces titled "Bournonville Variations," a set of dances choreographed by 19th-century Danish choreographer August Bournonville. Though the dances were choreographed at the dawn of the royal Danish ballet technique, Whitener said they do not appear dated.

The more modern 1983 Nacho Duato piece, "Jardi Tancat" ("Closed Garden" in English), is danced in bare feet. Whitener said that in modern dance, the weight is often driven downwards, whereas classical dance strives to achieve an effortless, nearly weightless quality.

"The dance is more grounded," he said. "It's passionate and very sensual."

The show will close with Whitener's own piece, "Each and Every." Whitener said the energetic piece features the entire company and called it "a rousing finale for the evening."

The company has participated in several forms of outreach programs in Manhattan throughout the week. Linda Martin, director of community programs for Kansas City Ballet, has been visiting local grade schools to introduce children to dance. Martin said she keeps the sessions simple, giving the students a general dance experience that involves live music and some simple choreography.

"It usually starts out with the boys saying 'oh brother,' but by the time they get started, they realize it's physical, active and challenging," she said. "They're doing things they like to do, like running and jumping and responding to the music. By the end, everyone wants to keep going."

Former Kansas City Ballet dancer Rebekah Sakati has been teaching master classes to K-State dance students all week. Joyce Yagerline, associate professor of speech communication, theater and dance, has helped to decide what classes to visit, Martin said.

"In the master classes, we use live piano music, and students seem inspired by that because they're not used to having live music, so it's exciting for them," she said.

Regardless of familiarity with dance, Whitener said the performance can be a rewarding experience for anyone.

"If you walk into a museum, you don't have to study Picasso to appreciate it," he said. "It may help you understand it more, but not having that education doesn't take away from the experience."

The Kansas City Ballet

■ When and Where:

8 p.m. Friday in McCain Auditorium

■ Tickets:

$12.50 for students and children, $25 for the general public, available at the McCain Box Office, 532-6428, or www.ksu.edu/mccain.

COMING UP

"Anton in Show Business," a play by Jane Martin, will be at 7 p.m. tonight through Saturday in the Purple Masque Theatre with 11 p.m. performances Friday and Saturday. Tickets, available at the door, will be $3 for students and $6 for the general public.

Director Mike Eaton, graduate student in theater, said the comedy calls only for women, although some play men. The cast gave him an opportunity to use more of K-State's strong female actors, he said.

The story follows a San Antonio theater company that visits New York City to cast Anton Chekhov's "Three Sisters," and focuses on the creative process and artistic values. Here is what Eaton had to say about the play.

Q: Why was the play written with an exclusively female cast?

A: It's explained in the play that theater is a male-dominated profession. There's a quote from it that says "80 percent of the roles in American theater are for men, and 90 percent of the directors are men." Part of this is Jane Martin doing her part to offset that imbalance.

Q: Why did you choose this play?

A: The way it's written and the interaction and message attracted me to it. It was difficult to find what it was really about. I started off thinking it was just about the male-dominated world and how women don't have as many opportunities.

But actually, it's about being who you are in the world and dealing with that and accepting it.

LISTENING BOOTH

The Collegian wants to know what music you are listening to. If you are passionate about music and want to express your opinion, e-mail A&E Editor JJ Duncan at jduncan\_80@hotmail.com. This week we asked Jamon Brewer, freshman in business management, what he's playing.

What five albums are you listening to and why?

1. Bad News: "Bad News Travels Fast"

Bad News is coming up in Kansas City right now, and they're looking to come through Manhattan sometime. It's basically raw, uncut hip-hop talent representing for the Midwest. They bring real gangsta rap party music. They're not flashy, talkin' about diamonds and stuff. It's about real situations.

2. Swisha House: "Camillionaires"

This is screwed-up music, and that means it's messed with at a slow speed. There's a lot of screw music out there, but on this I appreciate the lyrics and all the talent and freestyle stuff they do. It's innovative and creative, and screw music has been around since about 1990, but it hasn't made it into the mainstream yet.

3. Rich Tha Factor: "Black Border Brothers"

He's been around a while and produced some hits. He raps about the streets and hustlin'. All the young hustlers out there should get this album.

4. Lil' Wayne: "500 Degrees"

Lil' Wayne's with Cash Money and his previous two albums were tight, but this new one just adds solidarity to his work. It's very lyrical and everyone should hear track 17.

5. Erykah Badu: "Love of My Life" (Single from the "Brown Sugar" soundtrack)

I've gotta have some soul on the list, and she's just a great artist. When she slows it down on this track and screws it all up, it sounds good.

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

Former Lucasfilm employee arrested

A former Lucasfilm employee faces 13 felony counts of theft for allegedly stealing sound effects recordings, images, video files and the musical score to the movie "Star Wars: Episode II — Attack of the Clones."

Shea O'Brien Foley, 30, was arrested Oct. 8 in Burbank, Calif., where he worked at the facilities department of NBC studios.

Neil Simon's 'Barefoot in the Park' opens at Manhattan Arts Center on Friday

By J. Scott Bowman
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Newlyweds normally have dreams of their first homes with their significant other, but normally those dreams don't come true.

The humorous trials of a newlywed couple's first week together is the focus of Neil Simon's "Barefoot in the Park." Simon also wrote "The Odd Couple" and the Pulitzer Prize-winning "Lost in Yonkers."

Simon's ability to create witty dialogue carries the story of the couple moving into a small, overpriced apartment in New York City, Pat Weisenburger, director, said.

"Neil Simon is a genius when it comes to writing comedy," she said. "We were thinking of a good play to start off the season, and our set designer, Frank Dolan, really wanted to do it and loves doing special effects like making it snow. After he suggested it and after I re-read it, I remembered how funny the play was."

The couple encounters a series of problems such as a broken skylight and a leaky closet. The idealistic wife Corie, played by Tara Bauer, junior in theater, loves the apartment and finds it a fun challenge getting moved in and getting organized, while Paul, played by Nick Wasinger, senior in engineering, hates the apartment.

Though Paul is disappointed in the apartment, he loves his wife and is excited about his new job as a lawyer. Visits from Corie's mother, played by Miriam Climenhaga, and a quirky upstairs neighbor complicate things even more.

When the two nearly separate over the struggles, Simon is able to show that people can still be in love when they disagree, Bauer said.

"In this play, you see these two people find out how different they are," she said. "They realize it when they are faced with all these problems. But they work it out because they are so in love with each other."

Barefoot in the Park

■ When and Where:

8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Manhattan Arts Center. There will be a 2 p.m. matinee performance Sunday. The play will continue Oct. 24 through Oct. 27.

■ Tickets:

$8 for students and $11 for general admission, available at the arts center. Student walk-in tickets are $5 Sunday.

The play takes place in the 1960s and has a different feel from many modern plays, but that doesn't seem to be much of a problem for this group of actors, Climenhaga said.

"It's a different culture, since it's an older play," she said. "They act in a different way than we do now which can be difficult at times. But I think the story is very universal."

Corie and Paul, played by Tara Bower and Nick Wasinger, embrace when Paul comes from home from work in the Manhattan Arts Center's production of "Barefoot in the Park." The play is about the joys and trials of life as newlyweds.

Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

Corie, played by Tara Bauer, explains an idea to her husband, Paul, played by Nick Wasinger, in the Manhattan Arts Center's production of "Barefoot in the Park."

Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

HABITAT | Manhattan non-profit organization to collect cans at rugby game as part of national contest

Continued from page 1

Habitat affiliate locations throughout the United States.

As of Tuesday, Manhattan's Habitat was in third place with more than 3,000 pounds of cans collected since the end of June. The competition will last until December and is based on poundage per capita.

The award would help fund Habitat, which is a Christian non-profit organization. Habitat builds houses for families in need and allows the families to repay the cost of the home with a no-interest mortgage. The home buyers' monthly mortgage payments are used by Habitat to help build more homes.

Madison has been promoting the aluminum can drive with more than 1,000 radio commercials. He said the commercials were funded by two $5,000 awards distributed by the Aluminum Can Association to help promote the competition of obtaining the most cans per capita.

"The grant would not pay for the entire cost of the duplex we are in the process of building, but it would greatly help with not only the construction costs but maybe the tail end of our next home," said Elise Lambert, director of Manhattan's Habitat for Humanity.

Madison said the total amount of poundage raised in the past three years was between 1,000 and 1,800 pounds. He said he was amazed that in three months this year, Habitat has nearly doubled the total poundage of the past three years.

He said aluminum can donations can be dropped off at Howie's Recycling, corner of 10th Street and Fort Riley Boulevard, or at any of the Dara's Fast Lane. He said if participants say "cans for humanity," the proceeds will go to Manhattan's Habitat for Humanity.

Danny Blea, coach of the K-State Rugby Club, said he is excited the game will help Habitat.

"It's a great opportunity for both of us," Blea said. "It's good for us that we're going to be able to do something good for them. In the future, we want to donate our time and resources to help them out."

Madison said rugby is more exciting than football and people who come to the game not only will be donating to a good cause but also will enjoy the non-stop action.

"Football's an exciting game. I'm not disrespecting the football guys in any way - but having played both - rugby's more exciting," Madison said.

"It's 80 minutes of non-stop action, aside from the five-minute halftime."

ACCIDENT | Pedestrian struck by car receives only minor injuries

Continued from Page 1

At least two vehicle-pedestrian accidents resulted in injury during the spring 2002 semester. On March 27, a student was hit on North Manhattan Avenue and remained in intensive care for several months. Another accident was on April 7, when a student was hit at the 800 block of Bertrand Road and stayed in a coma for more than a week.

Lambert said he drives on campus relatively often.

"My concern was with the young man," Lambert said. "Right afterwards, he stood up and said he wanted to leave."

Fortunately, some students who had gathered around told him not to do that."

Lambert said a student with a cell phone called, and Headrick waited in the car with him until the ambulance came.

"I can understand wanting to do that, but I'm still glad he didn't," Lambert said.

Headrick said he'd probably pay more attention when crossing a street from now on.

"There were other people there too, so I wasn't paying attention - and I got hit. I'm a little more wary now," he said. "I don't know, you cross a crosswalk on campus and you don't really think you're going to get hit."

When you're looking for a bargain, check out the Collegian Classifieds.

If you don't find what you need, advertise in the Open Market section!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555

CLASSIFIED ADS

LET THEM WORK FOR YOU

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

103 KEDZIE • 532-6555

On sale in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

Some bookstores charge YOU a membership fee in order for you to receive a discount. At Clafin, no membership is required to receive a discount.

Please ask our staff about our book discounts.

There are some restrictions as a limited number of books (including all textbooks) are not discounted.

Clafin Books and Copies

1814 Clafin Road 776-3771
Monday-Friday 9am-7pm
Saturday 9am-5pm
Sunday 1pm-5pm

1800 Clafin Road
776-5577

We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

Beat TEXAS Bash!

Party on the Patio!

BAND THAT SAVED THE WORLD
MOTHER KALI

Show @ 7

$2 tons of prizes

Bud/Bud Light Cans

99¢ 1/2

Sign up for the Travel the Apple Pub Crawl - Friday, October 18th.

Trevor - LIVE On the Back Patio

710 N. Manhattan Aggieville

LIVE TONIGHT

Cory Morrow

DOORS OPEN AT 8 P.M.

altering | STATE

Royal

Thursday, October 17

Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures

Goodnow Hall
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Union
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Next up: Monday, Oct. 21
Alpha Tau Omega 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Sigma Alpha Epsilon 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

Lunchtime Lounge
wednesday | oct. 16
activities begin at 12:00
union courtyard

don't forget "after hours" friday | oct. 18
activities begin at 9:00 p.m.
student union

HOTLINE: 532 6572 WEBSITE: www.ksu.edu/upcc

(A message from Ordinary Women: Last week, while anti-war protests and petitions were increasing around the country, both Congress and the Senate passed resolutions giving George Bush unprecedented power to wage war as he sees fit. This petition cannot, therefore, affect that vote. But we nonetheless wish to register to our community and our elected officials that we oppose going to war.)

Petition organized by Ordinary Women, signed between 10/7/02 and 10/13/02:

I, the undersigned, am opposed to any pre-emptive military action against Iraq.

I urge my elected representatives to vote against authorizing the President's unfettered use of force against Iraq.

President Bush's international preparations for war have had local repercussions.

It is imperative at this time that our community not allow any racially motivated violence here at home.

Signed,

Mickayla Fink	Mary Beth Reese	Kristin Whitehair	Paris Rossiter	Katherine Allred	Steve Washington	Deidra Saina	Russell Thompson
Hayley Cherveny	Debbie L. Nuss	Joseph Ponte, Jr.	Jessica Wisneski	Kelli Riedmiller	Kelli Riedmiller	Jeremy May	Joe Moore
Rachael Griess	Ann A. Warren	Lauren Berlin	David Suizen	Kristin Demel	Anne Collins	Andrea Shane	Misheil Albawweer
Erika Townsend	Linda Brigham	Matt Groneman	Jodi Ann Holopirek	Devota Gardner	Veronica Sama	Elizabeth Kinzel	Andrea Blair
Kendra Staley	Gregory Eiselein	Georg Jyng	Courtney Duffield	Jon Holden	Titus James Jr.	Marn Gillis	Sylvia Beeman
Michele Janette	Alison Wheatley	Eric Stafford	Michael Moeder	Rachel Daily	Scott Harmon	Shelli Baughman	Paul E. White
Melinda Snyder	Christina Hauck	Sarah Albrecht	Justin Whedon	Michael Mitchell	Andrea Wiecher	Greg Roman	Dean Denner
Mandy Zelch	Jonathan Flann	Ronald Harvey	Emily Rose	Fred Hartman	Toby Massenburg	Garrett Gottschalk	Frantz Samuelson
Melissa Divine	Bridget Franklin	Richard Smith	Noel Trabanco	JD Bussa	Aaron Gottschalk	Dan Ireton	Anne Woodmansee
Julie Nelson	Diontey Moore	Danny Cooper	Rebecca Schlogel	Candice Marquess	Angela Juno	Ionut Buricea	Marion S. Kundiger
Christi Nelson	Emily Lebsack	Jean Stoverink	Marc Mondt	Kendra White	Courtney Keith	Tyson Moore	Lindsay Graham
Lindy Enlow	Roy Martin	Vicky Henning	Kate Menke	Luke Woellhof	Andrea Patrick	Katie Flynn	Sherry Sperman
Stacie Sutherland	Scott Shaw	Lori Jordan	Carolyn Boos	Abbie Adams	Dan Sheely	Nikki Adams	Shane McCune
Cindy Dugger	Keelin Counihan	Jenny Brawner	Susan Buntington	Chris Gonzales	Corey O'Brien	Kerry Hillard	Victor Force
Danna Shulde	Kelley Sylvester	Callie Cornell	Robin Cramer	Rebecca Schutz	Paul D. Bowman	Tara Thacker	C. Eric Castaneda
E. Wayne Nafziger	Luke Strand	Sandy Wessling	Sandy Wessling	Michele Mulryan	Florencia A. Reyes	Dathan Moore	Erik Lundberg
Kevin Peirce	Whitney LaBarge	Cheryl Poister	Cheryl Poister	Vicki Arnett	Michael Sharpe	Mark McGeorge	Lindsay Franz
Steven G. Brown	Elaine Tucker	Courtney Ashlock	Stephanie Pawlusch	Cynthia Gallaway	Mary Hubbard	Dennis Kurtz	Diane Schrempf
Sonny Ramaswamy	Kris Little	Amber Johnson	Sarah Dietrich	Penny Culler	Joshua W. Jones	Lindsey Rapoff	Tiffany Leach
Charlotte MacFarland	Daniel Stout	Amber Blasco	Jeb Hoverter	Alex Munoz	Amanda Mosteller	Robyn Myers	Kate Jacob
Megan Urbanek	RuTh Douglas Miller	Kevin Kobylinski	Erin Reid	Alissa Duncan	Andres Gonzalez	Ahlan Al-Rawi	Ben Champion
Jennifer Kehler	Ian Miller	Djamila Massinga	Tyler Fritz	Shea Williams	Sam Zamanian	James Collins	Samantha Gangapuran
Erin Downey Howerton	Sophie Exdell	Ara Savage	Philip Walzer	Natalye Sidorovskaya	Thomas E. Murray	Tamar Breslauer	Nicholas Endicott
Megan Bygness	Charles Case	David T. MacFarland	Tommy Thompson	Abby Kruger	Kendra S. Adams	Anindya Banerjee	Matthew J. Padilla
Hugh O'Connell	Adam Cossette	Shannon Draper	Sage Woodard	Lance Parker	Judy Exdell	Judy Exdell	Miriam Nila
Sarah Hamblin	William Wake	David Seamon	Juan Leon	Javier Andrade	Barakah Nelson	Barakah Nelson	Antoinette Tadolini
Mathias Nilges	Stan Proboszcz	Erin Runnels	Aruna Michie	Amber Kovac	Christopher Stone Lamb	Christopher Stone Lamb	Susan M. Scott
Stephanie Swanson	Kira Peterson	Brenda Wockenfuss	James R. Hamilton	Sara Hupp	Chantel Nichols	Chantel Nichols	Sarah Wartman
Matthew Hoppock	Mary B. Wells	Olgaly Ramos	Robert Clark	Jessica Burch	Susan Carrigan	Sarah Wartman	Sarah Nordhus
Heidi Hellwig	Sabrina L. Bowker	Suzanne Newman	Nathan Trent	Angie Service	Philip P. Botts	Sarah Nordhus	Stephenie Thompson
Erin Fritch	Hana Pak	Emily Thompson	Jessica Facer	Nick Trotte	Kalena Schroeder	Stephenie Thompson	Falana Augustine
Dan Bergen	Scott Hansen	Russell Graves	Aaron Howell	Liz Revak	JJ Duncan	Falana Augustine	Chaytan Hille
Nancy Thurman Trimm	Sherrailynn Cokes	Elizabeth Phillips	Chelsea McKay	Everett Mead	Megan Challender	Chaytan Hille	Kristina Krimer
Cree Roberts	Nathan Fosse	Beth Ross	Victoria Mariscal	Julie Christensen	Amy Walker	Kristina Krimer	Erik Coplin
Wendy Barnes	Angela Webster	Joe Pacey	Travis Bradshaw	Sarah McCoy-Harms	Lee Lashbrook	Erik Coplin	Kyler Sheets
Francine Tolf	David Reed	Dave Manning	Bryan Snyder	Nathan Jackson	Cystal Trout	Kyler Sheets	Darla Allen
Katherine Harder	Kane Davis	Ted Stroepe	Jeff Powell	Marie Nolan	Derek Chiarelli	Darla Allen	Richard Brown
Tina Maria	Abby Robertson	Amelia Moreland	Jeff Bishop	Nichole Anderson	Ivory Porter	Richard Brown	Terrie Clark
Lyman Baker	Micah P. King	Emily L. King	Hana Petrikova	Sara Brogan	Cliff Bassett	Terrie Clark	Amelia Roudebush
Talat S. Rahman	Margaret Mary Wheeler	Jon Tveite	Jana Hradkova	Joseph Ellebracht	Amber Bassett	Amelia Roudebush	Megan Reilly
Tim Dayton	Jessica Ahrean	Nora Zacharias	H. El Hayes	Isaac Madison	Cliff Bassett	Megan Reilly	Aryn Crowley
Deborah Murray	Athanas Mutiso	Andrea Grace	Ricardo A. Moura	Chris Dunback	Nichole Garbarino	Aryn Crowley	Thomas Manney
Elizabeth Dodd	Eric Leahy	Jennifer Williams	Mike Heptig	Jennifer Elliot	Nichole Garbarino	Thomas Manney	Meghann Martin
Jerome S. Dees	Zack Casey	Stephanie Paxton	Cari Williams	Erika Meisel	Nichole Garbarino	Meghann Martin	Mike Katzif
Don Hedrick	Stefanie McKenzie	Aaron Smith	Jose Gorostiaga	Tara Hull	Nichole Garbarino	Mike Katzif	Jo Maseberg
Naomi Wolf	Tyrene Davis	Allison Beasley	Philip Walter	Nicole Williams	Nichole Garbarino	Jo Maseberg	Jared Wiesner
Matthew Webber	Morgan Fisher	Isaac Dennis	Benjamin Murphy	Rogelio Soldevilla	Nichole Garbarino	Jared Wiesner	Nate Dorsett
Allen Stoughton	Anthony Whaley	Ben Fenwick	Ann Pipes	Chris Thompson	Nichole Garbarino	Nate Dorsett	Joe Bryson
Donna Potts	David E. Proctor	SharOn Gutz	Ben Hadle	Tarin Taylor	Nichole Garbarino	Joe Bryson	Todd Bruce
Phil Anderson	Megan Welch	Megan Hughes	Sarah Coover	Jeffrey Shoop	Nichole Garbarino	Todd Bruce
Lucinda Hardesty	Cornelius Washington	Tom Reynolds	Alexis Eldridge	Shahram Shafie	Nichole Garbarino
Eldon Epp	Jason Tomlinson	Steffanie Moran	James Kearns	Carlton Hastings	Nichole Garbarino
Odin Olson	Amanda Knight	Janet Jackson	Bobby Curiel	Elvira Piero	Nichole Garbarino
Annemarie Olson	Kenneth Samg	Monika Munce	Ken Kaniff	Christa Gaschter	Nichole Garbarino
Charles G. Oviatt	John Exdell	Nicole Copel	Rachel Salvay	Adam Childs	Nichole Garbarino
Margo Kren	Carolyn Thompson	Justin Liberty	Jack Wilding	Brandee Obiorah	Nichole Garbarino
Bryan Snyder	Sandra Westhoff	Akeia Haddox	Praipan Ritherson	Sarah Eaverson	Nichole Garbarino

THRIFT | Quality merchandise available for low prices at local stores

Continued from Page 1

People would be shocked at the quality items that end up in thrift stores, Harsh said.

"I had no idea what people donate to these places," he said. "We have a woman who comes in and gets brand new Liz Claiborne blouses, skirts — the whole outfit."

People also might be surprised to learn about some rather well-worn items that people bring to a thrift store, Boltz said.

"Already-been-used, gross, dirty underwear. Dirty diapers," she said. "When people asked, 'what will you take,' I used to say, 'anything — as long as it doesn't eat.'"

"But there's been times when I've taken that, too — like fish, a cat or two. I've got a dog kennel, too."

But Boltz said her customers shouldn't worry about running across dirty underclothes — the Grand Ol' Trunk throws them away and washes garments before selling them. She spends her days sorting through piles of clothing and loading and unloading the store's two washers and two dryers.

She stores donations in the Grand Ol' Trunk's 2,000-square-foot storage area. She keeps her own collection of stuff in her barn, which is about 5,000 square feet.

"When my daughter comes home and looks at it, she says, 'Don't you dare die,'" Boltz said.

Although her children don't want to inherit the thrift store, Boltz said she still gets a kick out of working there and watching students shop and try on attire. Through the years, Boltz said she's learned a few thrift store tips. For one, buyers should grab items if they like them.

"The minute you decide you want it, it's gone," she said. "One time, we weren't even open yet. I walked in the front door, saw something on the table and said, 'Oh, I want that.' I went to the back to drop my stuff off, went back up, and that sucker was gone."

"We weren't even open, but somebody followed me in the door, and they had it up at the counter."

"I don't do that any more. If I see it and want it, I buy it."

She and co-owner Terrie Haller buy items — besides clothes — that people bring in. It's usually not very much, Boltz said, but she will give them some money — even if they find sellable stuff in trash cans.

"I call them my Dumpster divers," she said. "If they want to dive for it and bring us their stuff, I'll give 'em something for it."

She said she doesn't encourage Dumpster diving — sometimes divers can overload the store with junk. Instead, she wishes people would consider giving thrift stores their possessions rather than throwing them in their backyard trash cans.

"It's amazing what you can come up with, especially after college ends. Behind the sororities and fraternities, they've got homes back there."

Boltz said that although she sometimes is amazed that some people donate brand new items — some with clothing labels still on them, she doesn't complain.

"I can't bitch at the rich," she said. "I need their stuff."

DONATIONS | Salvation Army provides assistance for needy families

Continued from Page 1

of a coat drive later this fall.

That's the Salvation Army's No. 1 goal, Harsh said — to help people like Hope and to reach out and touch people's lives.

Needy families in Riley County can come to the Salvation Army social services office. If the families qualify for assistance, the Salvation Army will give them vouchers to use in the thrift store.

Grand Ol' Trunk Thrift Shop & Book Store accepts vouchers from organizations such as Head Start, Job Corps and Emergency Shelter, said Melody Boltz, co-owner of the store.

Riley County residents donate all items in the Salvation Army thrift store, Harsh said. And there are more donations in Riley County than Manhattan's thrift stores can handle, he said.

The Salvation Army thrift store is about 6,000 square feet with about 6,000 square feet of storage. The Grand Ol' Trunk, including the bookstore beside it, encompasses about 8,000 square feet. Filling all this space requires big donations.

"That surprises me, more than anything else — people's generosity," Harsh said. "People have donated some beautiful, beautiful things. Some people get furniture and decide they don't like it, and then they just donate it."

Some donate cars. The thrift store has sold or given away 19 vehicles, Harsh said. Hope bought his 1986 Nissan there for $19.95, and "it runs,"

Hope said.

People who benefit from Salvation Army and who give their time to the organization often come from the streets, Harsh said. He, for example, never attended college. He said Hope also uses his experience to aid those down on their luck.

"Vince is always available to help somebody," Harsh said. "He can tell them there is hope for them, that their life's going to be changed, because he's lived it."

"I'm still living it," he said.

ROWING | Women confident they can compete at Boston regatta

Continued from Page 6

intimidating," Hale said. "Then after a few top 20 finishes the expectation of the team has risen and the intimidation has gone down."

The rowers who will make the trip are mostly upperclassmen and have competed in the race before. The Cats carry with them a confidence that they can compete at the regatta, Hale said.

"The only people who show nerves are some of the walk-ons from Kansas," Hale said.

One of the firsts for the Cats this weekend will be racing with an alumni boat. It is common for schools to bring alumni boats to the Head of the Charles and this year will mark K-State's first year to do it.

"After seven years of a rowing program at K-State we are starting to really add some depth to this program," Hale said.

The competing alumni are recent graduates of K-State and not from the club sport days of the rowing program, she said.

"It is just great that our alumni are showing an interest in rowing after graduation," Hale said.

VOLLEYBALL | Cats hold explosive hitter in check during 3-0 sweep

Continued from Page 6

KU — and their fifth straight sweep.

One thing K-State did really well was shutting down freshman stand-out Josiane Lima.

Fritz said Lima is an explosive hitter, but the Cats stayed in it with good read defense.

Lima had just eight kills on the night, on .091 hitting.

There could have been a lot more scoring from her, Fritz said.

"I don't think we saw everything they can do," she said.

KU had more attacks than K-State, 153 to 145, but K-State made more points count, scoring a better hitting percentage — .297 to .170.

The Wildcat hitting machine showed up when it counted, as three Cats posted hitting percentages of better than .375 — juniors Lauren Goehring (.462) and Cari Jensen (.389) and sophomore Lisa Martin (.500).

"It was all due to good setting," Goehring said. "When you get good sets, the hitting comes easy."

Goehring said she expected a competitive KU team this fall because they've really been playing well, especially in the Big 12 Conference.

But she said she wasn't nervous.

"I'm confident with our abilities," she said. "So I knew we would come out here and get the win."

The Jayhawks' 14-2 record leading into this match-up marked the team's best record after 16 matches since the team started 15-1 in 1991.

That was good enough to earn votes in the USA Today/AVCA poll, so Fritz said it was good to sweep them.

"I'm really excited, because our team is getting better," she said. "The game was tight, but we kept our composure and we were able to get things done."

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

bulletin board

010

Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

020

Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST ORANGE and white male cat. Last seen on ninth street between Clifton and Ratione on Friday evening. Call (785)323-0607.

030

Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100 housing/real estate

105

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

"Stay In Class At The Commons"

Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

•Fully Furnished
•2 & 4 Bedroom
•Alarm System
•Swimming Pool
•Washer/Dryer
•Computer Lab
•Fitness Center
•Permit Parking
•Tennis/Volleyball Courts
•Individual Leases
Office Hours: M-F 9-5

539-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS

APARTMENTS 2215 COLLEGE AVE

VERY NICE one-bedroom furnished. By campus, Aggieville. Water, trash paid. Parking, laundry. $420. 1122 Kearney #16. December, January. (785)539-7961.

110

For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

CUTE ONE-BEDROOM apartment for sublease November 1. $375/month. Call (785)969-6065

TWO-BEDROOM, two bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

Fraternities • Sororities • Clubs Student Groups

Earn $1,000-$2,000 this semester with a proven CampusFundraiser 3 hour fundraising event. Our programs make fundraising easy with no risks. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so get with the program! Contact CampusFundraiser at (888) 923-3235, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

115

Rooms Available

INDIVIDUAL DSL/CABLE access. Newly remodeled house, five minute walk to campus, off-street parking. $240 monthly, call (785)776-3454 or (785)317-2456.

120

For Rent-Houses

NEXT TO campus, nice four, six-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7050.

TWO-BEDROOM. Two blocks from campus, central air, washer/dryer hook-ups, garage, off-street parking. Available November 1. 1508 Jarvis. $650. (785)341-5160.

145

Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592 or (785)341-5105.

150

Sublease

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus 1031 Moro. $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118

SUBLEASER NEEDED for one bedroom in new three-bedroom house for Spring semester. $265 rent, cheap bills, laundry, parking. (785)323-1141.

200 service directory

250

Automotive Repair

LEWIS AUTO oil change specials $19.99- five quarts house oil and filter. $21.99- five quarts any other oil and filter. Prices are subject to tax. Call (785)770-8553 for appointment.

300 employment/opportunities

310

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential making our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com

STUDENTS WANTED! $20/HR POSSIBLE WHILE USING THE INTERNET FOR DETAILS/ONLINE REGISTRATION SEE http://www.collegiandirect.com/ad

LABOR: PART-TIME position, Tuesday-Friday must be available to work 1-5 or 8-5 Tuesdays and Thursdays. Will include painting, yard work, maintenance, cleaning, etc. (785)539-2309.

MALE Dancers wanted for Mondays/ Fridays at Junction City's only Alternative Dance Club, Xcalibur Club, 384 Grant Avenue. Call (785)761-6695.

WEEKLY HOUSE-CLEANING, private home. Send qualifications, resume to: Student Publications, 103 Kedzie, c/o Box 5, Manhattan, KS 66506.

310

Help Wanted

RESORT ACTIVITIES, HOSPITALITY, AND GOLF INTERNSHIPS. Orlando, FL: Myrtle Beach and Hilton Head Island, SC. Now hiring for all positions and seasons! Take a semester off or summer and learn about the hospitality industry in sunny resort locations! Receive a certificate from the largest hospitality training company in the United States. Fully furnished housing, stipend and transportation provided. Three to six month internships. Call (888)859-5293 for more information and to set up a phone interview. www.AmericanHospitalityAcademy.com

WANTED: CARING, reliable care-giver for part-time pre-schooler care in Christian home near Wamego. Next spring also. Call (785)456-7899.

320

Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD, Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply (413)458-0294. www.dh-movement.org www.humana.org elfernanie@humana.org

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410

Items for Sale

FULL SET used golf clubs $40. Two bicycles at $40 each. (785)539-2940.

410

Items for Sale

BOOK: Anthology of Chinese Literary Essays (Translated to English) Please visit http://li.chungwang0.tripod.com

MAGIC CARPET Sale! Come buy beautiful oriental rugs and benefit Study Abroad and International Student Center! Saturday and Sunday, October 19 and 20. Union ballroom. 9-6 p.m. (Saturday), 11-5 p.m. (Sunday)

450

Pets and Supplies

FREE KITTENS: Seven weeks old. No shots. Free to good home. Call Josh at (785)341-6518 or Chris at (785)341-6256.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

INTERNATIONAL DISCOUNTED airline tickets and rail passes. AAA Travel. (800)365-5222.

TWO KSU vs. Texas reserved tickets. (785)776-9490.

WANT TO buy ICAT tickets to Texas and Iowa State. Call (785)313-1711.

WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309

500 transportation

510

Automobiles

1993 BLACK Honda Prelude with sunroof. Good condition. 91,000 miles. $6100. (785)776-9873.

1995 CAMARO Z28, dark green, power chip, flowmaster plus K&N, tint windows. Asking $6500, serious inquiries only. Kyle (785)341-9143.

MUST SELL 1988 Honda Accord. Well taken care of, great school car. $2000 or best offer. Call (785)537-6091 or (785)341-2308.

530

Motorcycles

1993 SUZUKI Katana 600. $2000. Runs great. (785)564-0196. Ask for Aaron

600 travel/trips

610

Tour Package

WINTER/SPRING BREAK Panama City Beach South Padre Island • Vail Steamboat • Daytona Beach Breckenridge

#1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1

WANT TO buy ICAT tickets to Texas and Iowa State. Call (785)313-1711.

WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309

WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309

WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309

WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309

WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309

WANTED: TO buy student football tickets for November 9 game against ISU. Call (785)770-3309

630

Spring Break

1 KSU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price, FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends—travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE, Reps needed, earn $$$ Group Discounts for 6+ 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578) d e p t . 2 6 2 6 / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1443 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

SPRING BREAK 2003 is now sponsored by Student Express! Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza: Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentexpress.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

SPRING BREAK Blowout! Lowest prices, free trips, free meals, and parties. Book by November 6. Limited inventory. Most reliable, 15 years experience. Featured on Travel Channel and MTV. sunsplashtours.com. 1(800)426-7710.

CANCUN • ACAPULCO • JAMAICA • BAHAMAS • FLORIDA

SPRING BREAK

SPRING BREAK

SPRING BREAK

SPRING BREAK

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

bulletin board

100 housing/real estate

200 service directory

300 employment/opportunities

400 open market

500 transportation

600 travel/trips

COLUMN

Wildcat fans could make the difference between win, loss at Saturday's game

Continued from Page 6

What had been a loud, supportive crowd had given way to sitting students and negative comments.

Then, a few caught a glimpse of hope.

Quincy Morgan and Jonathan Beasley connected for a long touchdown.

The heartbroken fans began to stir. Eventually, most stood back up.

Then, the Wildcat defense seemed to find its courage at last, and forced OU to punt from deep in their own territory.

The fans smelled blood.

People screamed, and people chanted as OU's punt team took to the field. KSU Stadium rocked on its foundation.

Then-superstar punt returner David Allen trotted out in front of the crowd. It was his first appearance on the field of battle since he attempted an ill-advised punt return in the first game of the season.

The crowd responded, and the ovation was deafening.

The city of Manhattan rocked on its foundation.

Then, a high flying Wildcat blocked the OU punt, and it was recovered for a touchdown.

Those unfortunate enough to be stuck on KSU Stadium's new upper deck feared for their lives as the concrete shook.

Those sitting in the press box suites grabbed on to something as the windows rattled.

Me — I lept high into the air. Upon landing, I bypassed the traditional high fives and replaced them with great big bear hugs.

We jumped, we laughed, we sang and we reveled in what was the loudest moment in my history at KSU Stadium.

Another time, in an equally important contest, the fans again responded with overwhelming uproar.

That time, the opponent was Nebraska.

The year was 1998.

K-State was battling to end nearly 40 years of Husker dominance. After Michael Bishop helped the Cats to a late three-point lead, it was the defense's turn to shine.

Linebacker Travis Ochs recorded what some call a facemask, but what the refs called a sack. But the fans didn't care. Smelling Husker blood for the first time in so many years, they were relentless. The defense forced a turnover and returned the ball to lock away the game, 40-30.

The students swarming the field had to be ushered back to the sidelines twice before the clock finally expired, and when it finally did, the party started.

The funny thing was, most Cat fans figured the '98 K-State-NU game was the loudest and most magical game they'd ever see.

After witnessing the performance that year, no one really expected to see the real magic in 2000.

Nevertheless, the cold November day managed to yield just enough mystique to make the 2000 Nebraska game live on in Wildcat folklore.

It was a tight contest, and Nebraska took the lead midway through the fourth quarter.

But then, K-State quarterback Jonathan Beasley took command and marched the Cats down the field.

With only a couple minutes remaining on the clock, the magic began and snow started to fall.

Quincy Morgan managed to dodge the flakes and keep his feet, and he caught the game winning touchdown pass.

To say the least, the stadium exploded.

Four plays later the Huskers' Eric Crouch watched as his last-chance pass fell to the snowy turf as a result of a jarring hit laid by a Wildcat defensive back. Again, in the winter wonderland, the stadium rocked and the ground shook.

Folks, when Texas comes to town on Saturday, K-State needs to set a new level of loudness.

Coach Bill Snyder and crew will be doing everything they can to help the Cats pull out the win, but I have a feeling the fans can make the difference.

When Texas quarterback Chris Simms walks up to his line and decides to change the play, it will take every voice in 50,000 to convince him to change his mind.

By the end of the game, his head will be so frazzled he won't know what is going on.

On Saturday, I challenge the fans to make Chris Simms' ears bleed.

Let's show the big boys of Texas a little K-State hospitality, and rock their world.

Joel is a junior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at pilotksu@hotmail.com

GOLF

Cats to play Sooners in 36-hole dual match today

Continued from Page 6

The eight players K-State has in its lineup will give Norris a chance to evaluate his team in preparation for the last tournament of the fall season next week in Waco, Texas.

"For us, it's just a chance to compete," Norris said. "For Oklahoma, I'm sure they feel the same way. Their season is over — they don't have any more tournaments after this one."

"This is a chance to compete against a top-20 program right here on our home course. We've still got a very important tournament left at Baylor. Quite a few of them are playing for a position in our final tournament. So this is an important match for us."

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

Advertise

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
ADVERTISING
118 KEDZIE • 532-6560

in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Congratulations

KAPPA OMICRON NU

Fall Initiates

Tiffany Bullard
Heather Cunningham
Audrey Diehl
Liza Dunn
Erin Elmore
Kendal Goodheart
Stephanie Grecian
Elizabeth Greig
Angeline Hauck
Heidi Heinrichs
Tiffany Jensen
Katherine Maurer

Chelsea Mueller
Angela Reitemeir
Ashley Robbins
Debra Sellers
Kylie Siruta
Heather Smith
Annie Tompkins
Kayce Von Leonrod
Kristin White
Jennifer Witsken
Linda Yarrow

RC McGraws

Manhattan's Oldies, Country, Night Club

ALMOST LIVE KARAOKE

Thursday, 9-1

50¢ TACOS
hard or soft

$1.99
$1.99 Island
Oasis Margaritas

776-9588 • 2317 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Blue Hills Shopping Center

STUDENT TRAVEL

take off

For the holidays...

 Minneapolis...$209 Newark.....$251 Boston.....$253 London.....$385 Paris.....$461 Sydney.....$1263   <small>Fares are round trip. Tax not included. Fares subject to change and availability. Restrictions apply.</small>

(800) 777.0112

www.statravel.com

STA TRAVEL

ONLINE >> ON THE PHONE >> ON CAMPUS >> ON THE STREET

As an engineer in the U.S. Air Force, there's no telling what you'll work on.
(Seriously, we can't tell you.)

United States Air Force applied technology is years ahead of what you'll touch in the private sector, and as a new engineer you'll likely be involved at the ground level of new and sometimes classified developments. You'll begin leading and managing within this highly respected group from day one. Find out what's waiting behind the scenes for you in the Air Force today. To request more information, call 1-800-423-USAF or log on to airforce.com.

COVER ALL FOUR FOOD GROUPS IN ONE HANDY BITE.

Chipotle

TELL MOM YOU'RE EATING WELL.
IN AGGIEVILLE

Game 7: #17 K-State vs. #8 Texas
Kickoff: 6 p.m. Sat/Day
Location: KSU Stadium (50,000)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

GAMED

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Thursday, October 17, 2002

GAMEDAY NOTES

Football tickets — The game is sold out.

Radio — Fans can tune into KMKF-FM 101.5 or KMAN-AM 1350 for pre-game, game and post-game coverage of the Cats' game against Texas. Mid America Sports Network will be the official network carrier for K-State Athletics. The network covers 25 affiliates throughout the state of Kansas. Wyatt Thompson will be the 'Voice of the Wildcats' for 2002, with former Wildcat quarterback Stan Weber on color and Chris Allison on the sideline. Steven Weber is the producer of the Mid America Sports Network.

Television — The game will be televised nationally on Fox Sports Net. Joel Meyers and Dave Lapham will provide play-by-play and color.

Storyline — K-State continues a three-week stretch against teams from the Big 12 Conference South Division when Texas comes to Manhattan on Saturday.

The Wildcats defeated Oklahoma State 44-9 Saturday, face Texas this week and head to Baylor on Oct. 26. K-State went 0-3 against South Division opponents last season when they lost to Oklahoma, Texas A&M and Texas Tech.

The Texas game is the sixth of a school-record eight home games on the 2002 Wildcat schedule. The Cats have been home for six of the first seven games of the schedule. K-State is 5-0 so far this season at KSU Stadium, but faces North Division rivals Iowa State and Nebraska in its final two home games.

K-State is in third place in the Big 12 North, chasing both Iowa State (3-0) and Colorado (2-0). In a league that has shown tremendous balance thus far, half of the dozen teams in the league have a 1-1 conference mark coming into this week's games.

The Wildcats moved up four spots to 19th in the ESPN/USA Today coaches' rankings this weekend, while Texas dropped from second to eighth after its 35-24 loss to Oklahoma. In the Associated Press poll, K-State moved up two places to 17th, while Texas fell to eighth.

Series — This is the seventh meeting between Texas and K-State, with the teams having split the previous six games.

K-State has a two-game winning streak in the series with the Longhorns, winning 48-7 in Manhattan on Sept. 19, 1998 and 35-17 in Austin on Oct. 2, 1999. The previous meeting between the teams prior to the creation of the Big 12 Conference came in 1942, when the Longhorns blanked K-State 64-0.

K-State's other win in the series came on a 13-3 triumph on Oct. 2, 1976 in Manhattan. Texas is 0-2 in games played here.

In the most recent meeting between Texas and K-State, Jamie Rheem had a school-record five field goals and David Allen scored on a 35-yard run and 74-yard punt return to lift the Wildcats to a 35-17 win in Austin. K-State held Texas to just one field goal in the second half in rallying from a 14-9 halftime deficit.

K-State allowed only 34 yards rushing to the Longhorns and picked off three passes from Major Applewhite. One of those picks was returned 37 yards for a touchdown by Mark Simoneau in the fourth quarter that extended a one-point Wildcat lead.

The last time ...

The last time K-State had a player who tallied more than three sacks in a game was in 2000 when Chris Johnson had four sacks at Missouri, a game the Cats won 28-24.

— K-State Sports Information

Corey White assists a tackle on Derek McCoy during K-State's loss to Colorado. The Cats return to action Saturday night to play Texas at KSU Stadium.

Kelly Glasscock
COLLEGIAN

ROLL ON OR STALL OUT?

Texas looking to rebound from tough loss; K-State hoping to continue winning ways

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

In Texas, everything has always been bigger.

The biggest section of land in the continental United States boasts one of the most recognized programs in college football.

And it's a program on the rebound.

Suffering a loss to Oklahoma last weekend, Texas now will try to do what K-State did after losing a big game to Colorado — trounce an opponent the following week, and make a statement.

Wildcat players know this is what Texas wants to do — and they say they're ready to deny them that opportunity.

"We're pumped," linebacker Terry Pierce said. "Sometimes it can affect the way you play if you're overly pumped. It can affect what you do. But Coach Snyder does a good job of teaching us how far is far enough as far as being emotionally ready for the game."

For Pierce and 26 other players, there's some added emotion going into this game.

Along with linebacker buddies Bryan Hickman and Josh Buhl, Pierce calls Texas home.

Deemed the "Texas Connection," Pierce said this game means a lot more to the trio of linebackers.

"It's a whole lot of pride, playing against people we've played against," he said. "I know I played against a lot of them, so this is going to be a big bragging factor as far as this game is concerned."

Buhl said it's bragging rights for K-State — which looks to go 3-0 against the Longhorns since the inception of the Big 12 Conference.

He said being from Texas gives him added incentive to send a message and to continue Texas' losing ways.

"The University of Texas has a lot to do with Texas itself," Buhl said. "Texas has a lot of good players coming from Texas who go to the University of Texas. Me personally, I have mixed issues about it because a lot of those guys were in competition with me in high school. Well, whatever, I don't want to go there."

But quarterback Eli Roberson said he knows where people are coming from when they talk big about Texas.

He should know, because he's one of them.

From Baytown, Texas, Roberson said players from UT talk big because they have a right to.

"I can understand where they come from when they say stuff like that because there's a lot of pride when it comes to Texas," he said. "I'm just like they are, I think it's the best state around. They're well-respected, they're a big-time school and everybody knows them. So if you're big like that, you can talk like that."

One thing K-State will have to contend with, especially on the defensive side, is a trio of Texas receivers that all have shown they are capable pass catchers, Coach Bill Snyder said.

Sloan Thomas, who Snyder said visited the K-State campus, along with Roy Williams and B.J. Williams, have combined for nearly 850 yards of offense, while scoring six touchdowns in the process.

"They are all very talented and very good," Snyder said. "They can run, they have good range, run good routes and have a quarterback that can get the ball to them."

Jeanel Drake | COLLEGIAN

Fullback Travis Wilson is tackled by Oklahoma State defenders during Saturday's 44-9 victory over the Cowboys. K-State will have to run the ball effectively to be successful against Texas on Saturday.

See TEXAS Page 5

Cats to take advantage of Longhorns' whining when UT visits Manhattan

Texas' emotional loss to Oklahoma still fresh in Longhorns' minds; K-State's momentum after last week's blowout will help fuel another Cat win

Throughout the country, the college football season is in full stride.

South of the Red River, you get the impression that it's over.

Ross Perot used to make references to "a giant sucking sound" — this week that has been replaced by a giant sobbing sound. After the loss to Oklahoma, you would think some sort of horrible tragedy had fallen upon the burnt orange and white.

From El Paso to Tarkana. From Wichita Falls to Brownsville, Bevo's big pasture known as Texas is distraught.

The University of Texas players, coaches and fans take losses hard.

CHRIS SHANK

Especially to the Sooners. And rightfully so.

Year in and year out, Texas is ranked high in preseason polls. Year in and year out, they have finished the season in the top 10 just once. Year in and year out, the Longhorns rank in top five recruiting classes. Yet even with all this stockpiled talent, UT has seemed to fire blanks under Mack Brown. The last time Texas won a league title was under the best-dressed coach in college football, former head coach John Mackovic, now head coach at Arizona.

While Mackovic is wearing suits on the sidelines these days, Brown has been wearing a frown.

But not everyone in Austin is so down. Or are they?

This week I made the usual call to the upcoming opponent's newspaper to set up a column exchange. These are often interesting conversations with the enemy before the game. But even the fountain of optimism, the school newspaper, The Daily Texan, did not want to talk about this week's game.

Now, I expected this kind of downtrodden outlook from the likes of Eastern Illinois, who came right out and basically said that they would lose to us. But Texas?

The editor said they could not find anyone willing to write a column about this week's game. He said they were all still smarting from the loss to OU.

You mean to tell me that not one of the 40,000-plus students of Texas could muster enough school spirit to write a column about the game against the Cats?

I took it as a slap in the face. I could understand no enthusiasm coming out of a school gearing up to play KU, but K-State? I thought about calling the editor back and just make sure that he heard me right that Texas was playing the Wildcats and not the Jayhawks. But it probably would have been to no avail since the depression the 'Horns seems to be suffering is about as severe as Jammal Lord's legal problems.

Hopefully all the Longhorns have the same mentality, because frankly I can't see Tank Reese holding a tissue for Roy Williams this weekend.

So with no Texas propaganda running in the Collegian this week let's break down why the 'Cats will run wild Saturday night.

The Simms of all fears

The poster child of Texas' underachieving definitely would have to be golden boy Chris Simms.

Even before Simms ever took a snap at Texas he was the "chosen one."

The term underachiever is too kind for Simms who has been the most overrated player in the Big 12 Conference the past four years.

Texans forgot about Major Applewhite, a true-tested leader, who was one of the top quarterbacks in the Big 12.

They also forgot that they had signed greenhorn Simms, not his baffle tested father,

NFL quarterback Phil Simms. Also forgotten was that Simms is from a college football wasteland known as New Jersey where they think a big time college football program is Rutgers.

Like most of his career, this year was supposed to be Simms' year. A premature Heisman campaign kicked off before the senior had even completed a pass and talk of Texas' return to the BCS mix was rampant.

After the Red River Shootout, Simms said, "I don't give a damn about my legacy." There is only one way reason why Chris doesn't care about it.

Because right now Simms legacy has already been etched in stone. He will be forever

See TALKING SMACK Page 6

K-STATE WILDCATS

PASSING	CMP-ATT-INT	YDS	TD
Roberson, Eli	30 55 2	554	3
Dunn, Marc	18 28 1	303	5

RUSHING	ATT	YDS	AVG	TD
Sproule, Darren	91	599	6.6	7
Roberson, Eli	74	436	5.9	5
Davis, Daniel	29	186	6.4	1
Morris, Danny	23	98	4.3	3
Saba, Ayo	16	59	3.7	4

RECEIVING	REC	YDS	AVG	TD
Wallace, Taco	19	399	21.0	3
Terry, James	11	203	18.5	4
Evans, Derrick	8	132	16.5	0

DEFENSE	TAK	SAK	INT
Buhl, Josh	68	0	0
Pierce, Terry	51	2	0
Washington, Rashad	39	0	1
Hickman, Bryan	34	2	2
Reese, Tank	30	1.5	0
Newman, Terence	26	0	2
Jordan, Randy	25	0	2
Shull, Andrew	24	3	0
Williams, Melvin	22	3	0
White, Corey	21	0	0

TEAM STATS	KSU	OPP
SCORING	281	80
Per game	46.8	13.3
FIRST DOWNS	124	83
Rushing	76	30
Passing	27	42
Penalty	11	11

RUSHING YARDAGE	1533	604
Avg. per rush	5.4	2.9
Avg. per game	255.5	100.7
TDs rushing	24	4

PASSING YARDAGE	960	1006
Comp-Att-Int	55-96-3	89-195-10
Avg. per comp	17.5	11.3
TDs passing	9	6

TOTAL OFFENSE	2493	1610
Total Plays	382	406
Avg. per play	6.5	4.0
Avg. per game	415.5	268.3

INT RETURNS-YDS	10-218	3-10
-----------------	--------	------

FUMBLES-LOST	21-10	10-4
--------------	-------	------

PENALTIES-YDS	40-329	49-347
Avg. per game	54.8	57.8

PUNTS-YDS	21-903	50-1906
Avg. per punt	43.0	38.1
Net punt avg.	40.2	30.7

TIME OF POSSESSION	29:03	30:57
--------------------	-------	-------

3RD DOWN CONVER.	31/69	30/98
------------------	-------	-------

3rd-Down %	45	31
------------	----	----

4TH DOWN CONVER.	6/8	4/11
------------------	-----	------

4th-Down %	75	36
------------	----	----

SACKS BY-YDS	13-124	7-61
--------------	--------	------

TDs SCORED	39	11
------------	----	----

FIELD GOALS-ATT	4-6	1-3
-----------------	-----	-----

PAT KICKS-ATT	29-35	9-10
---------------	-------	------

ATTENDANCE AVG	46454	52584
----------------	-------	-------

DEPTH CHART

Offense

8 — Taco Wallace, wide receiver
65 — Thomas Barnett, left tackle
53 — Nick Leckey, left guard
78 — Steve Washington, center
60 — Mike Johnson, right guard
75 — Dralinn Burks, right tackle
88 — Thomas Hill, tight end
82 — James Terry, wide receiver
3 — Eli Roberson, quarterback
44 — Travis Wilson, fullback
43 — Darren Sproule, running back

3 — Nathan Vasser, cornerback
40 — Cory Redding, defensive end
95 — Marcus Tubbs, defensive tackle
61 — Rodrigue Wright, defensive tackle
41 — Austin Sendlein, defensive end
21 — Rod Babers, cornerback
11 — Derrick Johnson, linebacker
45 — Reed Boyd, linebacker
23 — Lee Jackson, linebacker
7 — Michael Huff, strong safety
9 — Dakari Pearson, safety

Collegian Insight

Texas gave up 248 rushing yards to Oklahoma's Quentin Griffin last week in Dallas. Look for Darren Sproule to get his carries this weekend against a defense which ranks 42nd in the nation in run defense.

Defense

94 — Thomas Houchin, left end
30 — Tank Reese, defensive tackle
62 — Corey White, nose tackle
97 — Melvin Williams, right end
4 — Terence Newman, cornerback
9 — Randy Jordan, cornerback
18 — Bryan Hickman, linebacker
56 — Terry Pierce, linebacker
7 — Josh Buhl, linebacker
23 — Jesse Tetuan, free safety
2 — Rashad Washington, strong safety

82 — B.J. Johnson, flanker
71 — Robbie Doane, left tackle
61 — Tillman Holloway, left guard
52 — Jason Glynn, center
74 — Beau Baker, right guard
76 — Derrick Dockery, right tackle
84 — Brock Edwards, tight end
4 — Roy Williams, split end
2 — Chris Simms, quarterback
46 — Matt Trissel, fullback
32 — Cedric Benson, tailback

Collegian Insight

The Cat defense will face arguably the best QB in the league in Chris Simms. The senior has thrown for more than 1,300 yards already this season. Texas also features a trio of All-Big 12 receivers in Sloan Thomas, Roy Williams and B.J. Johnson.

Collegian pigskin picks

	Sean Purcell (15-10)	Ben Fehr (17-8)	Joel Reichenberger (14-11)	Chris Shank (17-8)
#8 Texas (5-1) at #17 K-State (5-1)	K-State 35-21	K-State 35-6	K-State 34-16	K-State 52-7
#13 Iowa State (6-1) at #2 Oklahoma (6-0)	Oklahoma 17-13	Oklahoma 28-24	Oklahoma 21-13	Oklahoma 34-7
#7 Notre Dame (6-0) at #15 Air Force (6-0)	Air Force 28-27	Air Force 10-3	Air Force 43-17	Air Force 35-14
#22 Mississippi (5-1) at Alabama (4-2)	Alabama 24-17	Alabama 21-10	Alabama 35-31	Alabama 21-10
Missouri (3-3) at Texas Tech (4-3)	Missouri 35-31	Texas Tech 38-32	Missouri 45-41	Texas Tech 44-41

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291-020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

TEXAS LONGHORNS

PASSING	CMP-ATT-INT	YDS	TD
Simms, Chris	104 190 6	1317	10

RUSHING	ATT	YDS	AVG	TD
Benson, Cedric	152	676	4.4	5
Young, Selvin	30	151	5.0	3
Williams, Roy	2	36	18.0	0
Williams, Ivan	6	26	4.3	0
Thomas, Sloan	1	24	24.0	0

RECEIVING	REC	YDS	AVG	TD
Thomas, Sloan	21	292	13.9	2
Williams, Roy	18	337	18.7	3
Johnson, B.J.	16	206	12.9	1
Benson, Cedric	14	72	5.1	0
Edwards, Brock	9	126	14.0	1
Jeffery, Tony	5	51	10.2	0
Stevens, Chad	5	22	4.4	1

DEFENSE	TAK	SAK	INT
Boyd, Reed	60	2	1
Johnson, Derrick	57	0	2
Jackson, Lee	37	2	0
Griffin, Cedric	36	1	0
Redding, Cory	32	1	0

TEAM STATS	UT	OPP
SCORING	210	82
Per game	35.0	13.7
FIRST DOWNS	122	90
Rushing	53	43
Passing	58	32
Penalty	11	15

RUSHING YARDAGE	905	787
Avg. per rush	3.8	3.8
Avg. per game	150.8	131.2
TDs rushing	13	6

PASSING YARDAGE	1345	738
Comp-Att-Int	107-196-6	78-171-13
Avg. per comp	12.6	10.1
TDs passing	10	4

TOTAL OFFENSE	2250	1525
Total Plays	435	377
Avg. per play	5.2	4.0
Avg. per game	375.0	254.2

INT RETURNS-YDS	13-231	6-93
-----------------	--------	------

FUMBLES-LOST	7-3	11-5
--------------	-----	------

PENALTIES-YDS	49-467	48-393
Avg. per game	77.8	65.5

PUNTS-YDS	36-1504	49-1933
Avg. per punt	41.8	39.4
Net punt avg.	n/a	n/a

TIME OF POSSESSION	32:26	27:34
--------------------	-------	-------

3RD DOWN CONVER.	34/91	19-84
------------------	-------	-------

3rd-Down %	37.4	22.6
------------	------	------

4TH DOWN CONVER.	4/6	3-4
------------------	-----	-----

4th-Down %	66.7	75
------------	------	----

SACKS BY-YDS	15-126	16-105
--------------	--------	--------

TDs SCORED	27	10
------------	----	----

FIELD GOALS-ATT	7-13	4-7
-----------------	------	-----

PAT KICKS-ATT	27-27	6-7
---------------	-------	-----

ATTENDANCE AVG	n/a	n/a
----------------	-----	-----

NEED A ROOMMATE or are you LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO LIVE?

advertise in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN • 302-4553

Hand Tossed PIZZA
Fast Free Delivery
Best Prices in Town!
770-3333
GO CATS!
702 N. 11TH ST.
Thurs. - Sat. 11 a.m. - 3:30 a.m.
Sun. 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.

Welcome Students to Crum's Beauty College
Classes forming in November. Call for an appointment.
512 Poyntz Ave. Manhattan • 776-4794
Available:
Haircuts
Perms
Color
Highlights
Manicures
Facials
Artificial Nails
Chemical Hair Relaxers
All services performed by students under the supervision of licensed instructors.

Show Someone You Care
Downtown • 302 Poyntz • 539-6227
"Voted Best Florist"
Steve's Floral
"Simply the Best"
Toll Free 1-800-752-9105
Hours: Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-6 p.m. Sat. 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

Mid-America Office Supplies
K-State Wildcat Bean Bags (other Big 12 available)
328 Poyntz (Downtown) 539-8982
you can finally buy a book WORTH ITS PRICE
CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
On sale in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

Lee's Western Wear
Boots, Hats, Jeans, Belts, Shirts, and much more.
Now carrying Rockies jeans
8424 E. Hwy 24
21/2 miles East of Manhattan
(785) 776-6715
Mon.-Fri. 10-6, Sat. 10-5

CHEER ON THE CATS!
Do you need to turn electronics, jewelry, sporting goods, music, cameras, guns, DVDs, etc. into cash?
We loan or buy any of these at the highest prices in town.
We also offer payday loans.
MISTER MONEY USA
Pawn Loans INC.
705 N. 11th • 501 A Fort Riley Blvd.
2 mi. east of Mall • 537-1801
*2 Topeka locations too!

HONDA TOYOTA
Little Apple Toyota /Honda
785-539-7441 Manhattan
785-238-8935 Junction City
OUTSIDE MANHATTAN DIAL
1-800-365-0017

G-Spot
Tuesday - 12 Pitches Beer
Wednesday - 12 Go Boppers
Thursday - 50¢ Well Shots
Friday/Saturday - 11 Can Beer
(785) 223-0768
18 to enter, 21 to drink

Let's Dish Now Open hand painted gifts dishes, glassware
mom/dot family trees
Closed Mondays
Tues.-Sat.: 10-5
Fri.: 12-5
next to Auntie Mac's manhattan, kansas 785-537-7450

OPEN HOUSE
THE PLASTIC SURGERY CLINIC
Friday, November 1st • 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.
DR. KENNETH FISCHER, M.D.
Board Certified, The American Board of Plastic Surgery
Botox • MicroDermabrasion • Skin Care
Chemical Peels
1133 College Ave, Building A, Suite 211 • 776-7500

TAKING ON TEXAS

K-State ground attack likely to play key role in showdown with Texas

By Ben Fehr
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When the final whistle blew in Texas' 35-24 loss to the Oklahoma Sooners last Saturday, Oklahoma had amassed 266 yards rushing.

Of those yards, 248 came by way of one man, Quentin Griffin.

Griffin is not a big man at 5-foot-7 and 190 pounds, but that didn't seem to hurt him as he blew right past the second-ranked rush defense in the nation on his way to three touchdowns.

Griffin is second in the Big 12 in total rushing yards amassed this season.

The spot three places down from Griffin on that same list is occupied by running back Darren Sproles. And the spot two places down from Sproles belongs to quarterback Eli Roberson.

The Wildcats' combined rushing attack trails only Nebraska in total yards in the Big 12.

Oklahoma ranks No. 6 in the same category.

So, one might think K-State would be eyeing the possibility of taking the ball right at Texas.

After all, Oklahoma didn't have a dangerous rushing quarterback to aid Griffin last Saturday.

Coach Bill Snyder said the Wildcats are well aware of what the Sooners did to Texas on the ground in the Red River Shootout.

"We are always very cognizant of what our opponent sees from other teams and what's successful against them and what's not successful against them," Snyder said.

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

K-State running back Darren Sproles avoids Eastern Illinois strong safety Fred Miller during the Sept. 14 game against the Panthers. K-State won 63-13.

Terry Pierce chases down Oklahoma State quarterback Josh Fields during the second half of Saturday's game at KSU Stadium.

Kelly Glasscock
COLLEGIAN

Simms' lineage leads to increased pressure

By Joel Reichenberger
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Life isn't always all that it's cracked up to be for children born to Super Bowl MVP quarterbacks.

First of all, there are the high expectations that come when a kid is touted as the best prep player in the nation.

Then there is the pressure of performing for a university with undeniable tradition, and there are the uncompromising fans.

Finally, there is the shadow which follows a child who is born and bred to be a superstar on the gridiron.

Yes, children with the pedigree of Chris Simms come with some baggage, but that's just part of having two-time Super Bowl champion and former New York Giant quarterback Phil Simms as a father.

"I think he has taken a lot of criticism," K-State senior defensive end Andrew Shull said.

"He's a guy who is always in the spotlight. You know there has to be a lot of pressure on him because his dad was such a great quarterback."

Shull is right. At the start of the 2002 season, the pressure was most certainly on for Chris Simms. After two years of trying, the dreams of a child prodigy quarterback and of the rabid do-or-die Texas fans have yet to come true.

Entering into the 2002 season, Simms had earned a reputation for performing well, at times even exceptional. But, he had also begun to develop

See DEFENSE Page 6

Web Hosting & Design
IT Consulting

Interkan.Net

www.interkan.net
565-0991

"We sell memories"

THE BARN
A Kimble Cliff

ANTIQUES & Collectibles

Open Fri. Sat. & Sun. 1-5:30 PM
Weekdays By Appointment
(785) 539-3816

6782 Anderson Ave.
Manhattan, KS 66503

HUNAN EXPRESS

*** Chinese Food Lover's Choice ***

BUFFET

Lunch 11:00 - 2:30 $3.99

Dinner 5:30 - 9:00 $4.99

Free Delivery: 537-0886

Hours: Sun. - Thurs. 11 - Midnight; Fri. - Sat. 11 - 2:30 am
1116 Moro St. Aggieville (Only a few blocks south of KSU)

PIZZA SHUTTLE
DELIVERS

1800 Claflin Road

776-5577

We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

REPAIRING

- SHOES
- LUGGAGE
- BACK PACKS
- BOOTS
- PURSES
- LEATHER COATS
- BIRKENSTOCKS

8-5:30 Mon.-Fri. • 9-1 Sat.
216 South Fourth • Manhattan

776-1193

Jandis Gifts & Ceramics

Free Lessons

Ceramics - Ready to Paint

Bisque ∞ Firing ∞ Repairing ∞ Supplies

Greenware on Order ∞ Finished Items

785-776-0840 800-645-0840

715 N. 12th, Manhattan

Going on our 9th year

Collegian

explore it!

kstatecollegian.com

Go, Cats! Show us your Wild Side

ON THE WILD SIDE

COOL STUFF TO DECORATE YOUR PAD!

- Subway Posters
- Incentives
- Door Bells
- Candles & holders
- T-Shirts
- Clothing
- Jewelry
- Garter Sandals
- Disc Golf
- Hockey Socks
- Beads
- Much More...

1128 Moro • Aggieville • 776-2252

K-STATE SUPER STORE

A Division of GTM Sportswear

Shop at the #1 K-State Store IN THE WORLD!

KSU Tees $6.99

We also carry GREEK gifts and clothing.
Paddles • Lacrosse • Key Chains
License Plates • Window Decals
and tons more!

520 McCall Road (Northeast of Wal-Mart)
Manhattan, KS
785-537-0844
Toll Free 1-877-537-1327

www.kstategear.com
Register online to win $100 in KSU merchandise!

Store Hours
M-F 8:30am - 7:00pm
Sat. 9:00am - 7:00pm
Sun. 12:00pm - 5:00pm

October Specials

$65 Foil Highlights
(add another color OR haircut $10)

Free
Skinner Dip with all nail services
($10 value)

$25 Full Set of Nails

Pick one for $30

Spa Pedicure Back Facial
One-hour Massage Preventive Facial

Pick two for $50

CRIMPERS

"Best Deal in the Ville"

Be sure to visit Crimpers Too in the K-State Union Lower Level.

717 N 11th St.
539-7621

HUNAN
Restaurant and Mongolian BBQ
1304 Westloop 539-8888

Lunch Buffet
All you can eat!
$4.95
Mon. thru Sat.

Friday Seafood Buffet
$7.95
Crabs legs, scallops, fish, shrimp, etc.

Dinner Buffet
$6.95 All you can eat!

$1.00 OFF BUFFET WITH THIS COUPON

FREE DELIVERY 539-8888
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

Satisfy all your smoking needs.

10% off
Zippos and accessories with this ad.

Special orders available

Tobacco Alley

3037 Anderson
Village Plaza Shopping Center
(785) 770-3641

RadioShack. -Manhattan

Your Satellite TV Headquarters

★ Single TV systems
Installed FREE

OR

★ Up to 4 TV's
Only $49.99

—All including Professional Installation—
See store for details. Requires 1 year service commitment.

Catch The CATS on Fox Sports Net

FOX SPORTS NET

RadioShack. Associate Store

MODERN ELECTRONICS

Mon.-Fri. 9 to 8
Sat. 9 to 6
Sun. 12 to 5
(Both Stores)

2609 Anderson
539-6151

Ft. Riley Blvd. between 3rd & 4th

AUTOCRAFT

Domestic & Import Specialists

COMPLETE AUTO REPAIR & SERVICE

537-5049

Open Mon-Fri. 8am-5pm
201 B Service Circle
(behind Wal-Mart)

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN

Melvin Williams forces a fumble as he hits Josh Fields in K-State's win over Oklahoma State. Williams had two sacks in Saturday's game for a loss of 21 yards.

Defensive front 4 sharing time; Williams emerging as unit's leader

By Joel Reichenberger
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It's not easy getting a member of the K-State football team to talk about senior defensive end Melvin Williams.

Even though he recorded two sacks and caused a fumble last week, any question regarding Williams or another one of the Cats' four defensive ends automatically is answered as if the question were asked about all of them.

"They have all played pretty well," Coach Bill Snyder said. "Coach Del Miller will tell me constantly that he thinks you could just draw them out of a hat."

The four ends, juniors Andrew Shull and Thomas Houchin and seniors Williams and Henry Bryant are basically interchangeable, coaches say.

Thus, when a question is posed about one of them, the answer inherently involves all four of them.

Six games into the season, all four have been listed as No. 1's, and all but Houchin have started. That should change Saturday because he is currently slated to do so.

The defensive ends have combined to account for 85 tackles and seven of the Cats' 13 team sacks.

Despite their equal levels of play at times, one player has found a way to stand out.

And that's just what Williams was able to accomplish last Saturday versus Oklahoma State, Shull said.

"He was hitting on all cylinders," Shull said. "He was flying around, making some plays. He got a couple sacks and forced that fumble."

Williams recorded six tackles on Saturday, and the two sacks bumped his season total up to three.

The fumble was the clincher, though.

It was third and 5 when the Cowboy quarterback stepped back into the pocket and looked deep.

He looked deep instead of to his left, where Williams was coming like a freight train.

Williams blind-sided the quarterback nine yards deep, the ball flew out and Shull was able to fall on it.

Shull said Saturday

See WILLIAMS Page 5

Hickman making great strides in 3rd year; junior leading Wildcats in tackles for loss

By Ben Fehr
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Last weekend against Oklahoma State, junior linebacker Bryan Hickman made his presence known.

Hickman had seven solo tackles — one for a 15-yard loss — intercepted two passes and deflected two more.

Coach Bill Snyder said two words describe how far Hickman is ahead of the player he was when the coaches received him in 2000.

"Light years," Snyder said. "He really has made tremendous progress and he is really playing well. His numbers are good, but even more than that, he is playing well."

Hickman's numbers are indeed good.

He has 35 tackles on the year, trailing only fellow linebackers Terry Pierce and Josh Buhl and strong safety Rashad Washington for most on K-State's squad.

Hickman leads the Wildcats in tackles for losses with six for 33 yards, and is also in a four-way tie for most interceptions with Randy Jordan, Terence Newman and Bobby Walker.

Defensive coordinator Bob Elliott said what Hickman has done this season is significant if not particularly noticeable.

"He's improved a lot and he's a really good player right now," Elliott said. "And not that he wasn't before, he's just developed with a lot of playing time. He's doing some things that are really, really good for us both against the run and the pass."

"Brian has quietly been as consistent as anybody on our team defensively."

Snyder said the reason for Hickman's progress is an attention to the necessities of becoming a better football player.

"I think it was a maturity

Nicole Donnell | COLLEGIAN

Linebacker Bryan Hickman intercepts a pass during the second quarter of the game against Oklahoma State at KSU Stadium.

thing," he said. "You get into this thing of football and understand what needs to be done and understand how to do it and take it upon yourself to do those things and accept the responsibility for it."

"I'm happy with what he's done along those lines. He does it and he does it well."

Hickman said getting it done has a good deal to do with his fellow starting linebackers Terry Pierce and Josh Buhl.

"We're roommates," Hickman said.

"We just know when we go out on that football field that we're going to have each

See HICKMAN Page 6

Kirk J. Adam

Insurance Specialist

-Life
-Health
-Dental

Short term medical insurance for people who are:

- Graduating from college
- Dependents coming off parent's health plan
- Leaving Military

Office: 785-776-7470
Home: 785-776-3843
MANHATTAN, KANSAS

Dr. Paul E. Bullock

Optometrist

$10 Off

Complete Eye Exam

with coupon

Save up to $20

on complete eyeglass or contact lens packages.

We fill outside prescriptions

Most contact lens fittings done same day. • Glasses also available same day for most prescriptions.

1441 Anderson Ave. • Anderson Village • 776-9461 • Toll Free 1-800-432-0036
Adjacent to KSU Expires 11/18/02

Say No to Naked

Select fall clothes on sale!

Krystallos

708 North
Manhattan Ave.
Aggieville

SUN CONNECTION I & II

JOIN OUR
SUN CLUB V.I.P.
membership

- 1 Cyberdome Tan
- 1 Mega Tan
- 1 Super Tan
- 1 St-up Tan

• Tan Accelerator & Goggles

Receive 10% off year round!

$29.95

1125 Laramie
776-2426

1814 Claflin
537-0744

Wohler's used Furniture

Visit Wohler's for used: Furniture Antiques, Appliances, and miscellaneous

615 N.
3rd St.
items for all needs
539-3111

Southside Auto Sales

'99 Ford Escort ZX2

4 cyl, 5 speed, 71 k

$5,395

'91 Nissan 300ZX 2+2

V6, Auto, 96K

$6,895

'98 Ford Ranger XLT

V6, Auto, Cruise

$4,995

'93 Jeep Grand Cherokee

V6, Auto

$5,995

'94 Ford Explorer XLT
V6, Auto, Loaded	$3,995
'96 Mercury Cougar XR7
V8, auto, loaded	$4,995
'96 Mitsubishi Galant
4 door, auto, loaded	$3,995
'98 Pontiac Bonneville SE
4 dr, loaded	$5,995
'96 Chevy S10
EXT, 4.3 LT, V6, 5 speed	$4,995
'92 Olds Bravada
4x4, V6, auto	$3,995
'96 Nissan Sentra
21K, 4 cyl, Auto	$4,495
'93 Ford Explorer XLT
V6, Auto	$2,995
425 Yuma, Manhattan, KS
785-776-2170 800-837-2170

a new Lease on LiFe...

university
COMMONS
apartments

Looking for an excuse to get into a new place? Ready for your new lease on life? We've got the perfect place for you, it's UNIVERSITY COMMONS. And what a place it is - ideally located, totally affordable, awesome apartments decked out with...

- 2 & 4 Bedroom Apartment Homes • Individual Leases
- Decked-out Kitchens • Fully Furnished
- Near KSU Stadium • Computer Lab with Copier & Fax
- Washers and Dryers in unit
- Tennis, Basketball & Volleyball Courts • Recreation Room
- Swimming Pool • Permit Parking • Exercise Room
- Monitored Alarm Systems • Roommate matching
- Balconies

the place for people like you...

2215 COLLEGE AVENUE / 785-539-0500

www.universitycommons.com

Gameday breakdown

Here is a look at the top four match-ups for this weekend's game between K-State and Texas. Note: Advantages are based on opinions of the Collegian's sports editor.

Texas key components

Chris Simms
TEXAS QUARTERBACK

The cornerstone of the Texas offense is looking to redeem himself this weekend against the Cats. Simms has thrown for more than 1,300 yards so far this season, but still drags around the title, "Loser in big games." But Simms also has garnered the label of a "catchable ball thrower" from his trio of All-Conference receivers.

Advantage

Reason: Close call, but Simms is more of a tested QB.

K-State key components

Ell Roberson
K-STATE QUARTERBACK

After finally seizing the starting job, Roberson has held onto it with authority. Overshadowed by a poor defensive performance in the Colorado game was Roberson's ability to engineer 31 Wildcat points. The junior is obviously a threat to run, giving K-State a different look to opposing defenses.

Receivers
WILLIAMS, THOMAS, JOHNSON

Never have three receivers got as much press for being collectively some of the best pass catchers in the game. The trio of Roy Williams, Sloan Thomas and B.J. Johnson have given teams fits all season long. Williams is not 100 percent, but Thomas and Johnson have been able to shoulder the load of the Longhorns.

Reason: Terence Newman can't guard everyone.

Cat Secondary

LED BY DEFENSIVE BACK TERENCE NEWMAN

After a horrendous performance against Colorado, Terence Newman and company rebounded to stop Josh Fields and Oklahoma State. The Cat secondary had two picks in the game, as K-State rolled 44-9. Defensive back Bobby Walker is still not completely healthy, so it will be Jesse Tetuan who has to step up.

Run Defense
LED BY LINEBACKER REED BOYD

Allowing 248 yards at the hands of Oklahoma running back Quentin Griffin is the glaring difference here. The Texas run defense ranks 42nd nationally. While the Longhorns do rank 2nd in total and pass defense, against a K-State team that has been dedicated to the run for years, that doesn't bode well.

Reason: The numbers don't lie here.

Darren Sproles

K-STATE RUNNING BACK

Sproles has pretty much run at will so far this season, and Texas doesn't seem like a team that can stop him. The sophomore has rushed for nearly 100 yards a contest and with the comparisons between him and Quentin Griffin, it's safe to assume Sproles has a chance to do the same against Texas.

Mack Brown
TEXAS HEAD COACH

Brown has never dipped below nine wins in a season since arriving at Texas in 1996. In fact, Brown hasn't had a losing in 12 years. But with all of that, the Longhorn master-mind hasn't been able to win against K-State. Brown is 0-2 against the Cats, with both losses coming by 18 points or more.

Reason: Just call it a hunch.

Bill Snyder

K-STATE HEAD COACH

Snyder's history of success against Mack Brown could be the difference-maker in this game. The Wildcat general is known for being meticulous in everything he does, and with a big game on the line, has probably thought of everything down to the last detail. It seemed to work in the last two meetings with Texas.

TEXAS | Wildcats will face strong competition this weekend

Continued from Page 1

That speaks to every one of them."

While Texas will look to get the ball in the hands of those receivers, K-State will hope the kickers won't take the game out of its hands.

Last week the Cat kickers had three extra points blocked, something Snyder said he's concerned about, but knows can be fixed if all parties will just execute.

"We haven't made a distinct decision as to who our kicker is. We'll let them work it out on the field," he said.

"Will I have confidence? Most certainly, I wouldn't put somebody out there if I didn't have confidence in them. At no time last weekend did I put someone on the field that I wasn't confident in to get the job done. Sometimes it doesn't happen and those sometimes were Saturday."

But this Saturday, everything will have to be executed correctly, Roberson said.

Texas comes into town, perhaps with bitter thoughts still in mind from a loss nearly a week ago.

Roberson said K-State will have to be ready to play Wildcat football this weekend, if they want to keep the Wildcat Express on track and roll over the Longhorns.

"Everyone knows Texas is a great team and they've shown they're a great team," he said. "But at the same time, we're a team that can contend too — so they'll have to worry about us just as much as we have to worry about them."

WILLIAMS | Senior defensive end complements defensive front

Continued from Page 4

represented a more comfortable and prepared Williams. Slated as a starter until driven to the bench by injury last season, Williams had a difficult time battling back into the lineup.

"He's doing a great job, and he's been really picking up his game," Shull said. "I've known for a long time that Melvin had it in him. He's just now getting comfortable."

He has gotten so comfortable at times, that Shull said it's hard to communicate with him on the field.

"He goes out there and you can hardly talk to him," Shull said. "He's just so zoned into what is going on."

Despite his big day last Saturday and his recent streak of starting games — three in a row this Saturday — Williams knows that it is his fellow defensive ends that have helped him gain success.

"That's the good thing about our position. We got four starters and we all got great talent," Williams said. "Everyone has a different pass rush, so it's kind hard for an offensive tackle to scout us."

This weekend, Williams and crew will have a chance to show off what they do best. They will be facing off against one of the most touted quarterbacks in the nation in Chris Simms. The opportunity to key off on one of the most watched QBs, though, is just what Williams wants.

"He's one of the Heisman Trophy candidates, and I just want to get to him," he said. "I just want to say 'hi' in the backfield a couple times."

NEED A ROOMMATE or are you LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO LIVE?

advertise in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kozlue 532-6555

GOLDEN WOK BUFFET

All You Can Eat

Coupon Good For
$1.00 Off
Golden Wok Buffet
(1 Coupon Per Person)
or 10% off with a student I.D.
Grill Table • Mongolian BBQ
Seafood Dinner Buffet Daily • Desserts • Large Salad Bar • Big Party Room
3003 Anderson Ave. (Behind ALCO) 587-9111
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

GO WILDCATS
WATCH THE GAME ON OUR 12' BIG SCREEN
open at 11 a.m.
BEAT THE LONGHORNS!
friday:
$1 BURGERS $1 DRINKS $2 WELLS
Cory Morrow
Oct. 17
LONGHORNS
BAR & GRILL

We've got everything you need for a winning weekend...

Kansas State
T-shirts and Sweats
Pole and Car Flags
Powercat Yard Rocks
Glasses & Mugs
Stadium Blankets
Tailgating Supplies

Go, Wildcats!
Beat the Longhorns!

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

704 N. MANHATTAN AVE. • IN AGGIEVILLE • 533-7851
MON-FRI 8:30-2:30 • SAT 8:30-5:30 • SUN 12:00-5:00

Visit THE K-STATE
Student Union Bookstore
on gamedays

AND GET YOUR
GAME DAY FUN PASS!
GOOD FOR FREE BOWLING OR BILLIARDS ALL DAY.

FREE SHUTTLE STARTING 2 HOURS BEFORE GAME TIME

GO CATS! Your Game Day Fun Pass!

DISPLAY ADVERTISEMENT • NOT REDEEMABLE

Pizza ☐
Bowling (Union Recreation) ☐
Billiards (Union Recreation) ☐

Saturday, October 19, 2002
K-State vs. Texas

RECEIVE FREE pizza
In the Courtyard
11 a.m. till 2 p.m.
while supplies last

532-6583
8 a.m. - 8 p.m. Mon.-Sat.
11 a.m. - 7 p.m. Sun.

TALKING SMACK | Cats ready to tee off on Horns

Continued from Page 1

remembered as being 0-2 as a starter versus Oklahoma in the "Super Bowl of Lower Education" played every year during the Texas State Fair.

Simms was even a no show in this week's press conference, which is a rarity since he has only missed one session this season. The weirdest part was that something fashionable in Austin these days was missing: an excuse.

Wicked wind

During the press conference after Texas' loss to Oklahoma, Brown was questioned about the lack of passes attempted in the pivotal third quarter.

What was Mack's answer? He blamed the conservative play calling on the wind.

Meanwhile, back in Manhattan, Ell Roberson threw for more than 200 yards in wind gusts more than 30 miles an hour.

So how hard were those hurricane-force winds blowing on Saturday?

Right around 10 mph.

If Texas expects to even have a chance on Saturday they will have to deal with the wind.

Tee time

Now on the box, Simms. Next up Houchin, Williams, Pierce, and Reese.

This week the defense is set to tee off on Simms. So far this season, the defense has shown what happens to quarterbacks who can't run.

They will be relentlessly hurried, chased, grabbed, spun, hit, sacked and pretty much be put through nothing less than going through a John Deere combine, throughout the game.

Just ask Oklahoma State's Josh Fields, who doubled his sack yardage against the Cats — or USC's Carson Palmer, who was rattled constantly. Both were tormented by the K-State's defensive pressure all game long. Simms' fate Saturday night under the lights looks to be no better.

This will be a great opportunity for the defense to show what they are made of against a highly touted, soon to be routed, quarterback.

I have one word of wisdom for Simms: "Fore."

Texas talent

The Texas message boards have been lit up with Horn fans wondering how little old K-State has been able to lure some of the state's great athletes like Terry Pierce and Josh Buhl away from Austin.

I have one simple answer, the Cats are 3-0 against Texas since the start of the Big 12.

Enough said.

Here comes the beef

No, I'm not talking about Bevo.

In last week's avalanche of 499 yards total offense, you have to tip your hats to the offensive line. Darren Sproles and company had some holes wide enough for a Mack truck to go through. Ell Roberson also had plenty of time back in the pocket to throw. This week it's a match up against the Longhorn defensive line that was highly touted before OU's Quentin Griffin shredded the vaunted Texas defense for 248 yards.

If jitterbug Griffin can stick to the Horns, Sproles can too. Sprinting Sproles and the rest of the crew will count on another stampede from the Cats' offensive line this week on our way to 300 yards on the ground.

Saturday night, the Longhorns will enter the Purple Packinghouse known as Wagner Field, still dazed and confused from their loss to Oklahoma.

So let the Cats roll.

And as the funeral procession known as the 2002 Texas Longhorns' Season makes its way north for Saturday's game, let's do our best to remind the burnt orange that yes, even after they lost to Oklahoma, there is still a football season going right now, and there is still a Big 12 title to be won.

One that belongs to K-State.

Chris is a senior in secondary education. You can e-mail him at chrisshank@yahoo.com.

HICKMAN | Linebackers putting up big numbers

Continued from Page 4

others' back no matter what.

"They are people to look up to. They work hard, they watch film all the time, they prepare well, and so me being a linebacker too, I want to do the same so I can go out there and contribute as much as they do."

Together, the three have made a mark. Hickman, Buhl, and Pierce have combined for 149 tackles this season, five of them for losses.

Hickman said if it looks like he and the other two starting linebackers are on a mission, it's for good reason — they are.

"We are doing whatever we can to make it happen this year," Hickman said. "We want to take this to another level."

"We want to make our mark here so when we leave, people will look back and see Terry Pierce, Josh Buhl and Bryan Hickman as some of the greatest linebackers to ever come through Kansas State."

Snyder said the abilities and preparation styles of his starting linebackers are starting to remind him of an ex-Wildcat linebacker legend.

"We've had some very, very fine linebackers here," Snyder said. "And one I've always held so close, because of the way he prepared himself, is Mark Simoneau."

"And I'm beginning to see the same type of focus, the same type of preparation skills, the same type of intensity in regards to how they prepare. That's a great asset to have in any player and all three of them are growing closer and closer to that."

Snyder said Hickman in particular has benefited from this occurrence.

"Bryan has come a long ways in a lot of ways," he said.

DEFENSE | Simms looking to forget last weekend

Continued from Page 3

a rap of failing to materialize for big games.

Simms never has beaten the Longhorns' arch rival, Oklahoma. In fact, he has never even completed a touchdown pass against a top 10 team.

Now in his senior campaign, the season that was supposed to silence the critics and right the wrongs, the same problems have persisted.

Last weekend, Texas again lost to the Sooners. The three interceptions Simms threw helped him drive his big-game stats up to zero touchdowns and fifteen turnovers versus top 10 opponents.

The wind has been taken from his Heisman sails, and the loss could possibly have torpedoed the Longhorns' national championship dreams and their Big 12 title hopes. Nevertheless, when K-State and Texas play Saturday, the Cats still will be wary of what is an extremely dangerous Texas team, and what could be a vengeful Longhorn quarterback.

"I think (Simms) is going to come into this game looking to make a statement," Shull said.

"He is going to come in trying to hush critics, saying 'If I do good in this game I'm going to make everyone shut up.'"

Despite his well-chronicled troubles with good teams and big games, the Cats know Simms has the potential to ruin their day.

His career numbers already rank him among the top five in most of the Longhorns' quarterback records.

He has successfully guided Texas to bowl games in each of the past two seasons. He is 20-5 when starting.

Simms has been able to find such success based on his strong arm and pin point accuracy. During his career, he has connected on nearly 60 percent of his passes and has thrown for more than 5,200 yards. Earlier this season he threw four touchdowns and nearly 300 yards as the Horns beat up on North Carolina.

How can the Cats stop the deadly accurate quarterback?

Defensive coordinator Bob Elliott said the answer is simple.

"We got to rush him and cover his guys," he said.

While Elliott declined to elaborate on the intricacies of his plan, it is clear that in order to contain Simms, K-State plans to give him the same treatment they gave the Oklahoma State signal caller — a rough one.

Stopping Simms requires a quick pass rush, solid execution and consistency, Shull said.

"I think if you give him time he will pick you apart," Shull said.

Team captain Terry Pierce agreed. He said the Cats needed to establish a credible pass rush early and often to keep Simms from getting comfortable. If the Cats are able to do that, and can keep Simms guessing and on edge, it could be a big day for the defense.

"If you rattle him — if you get him out of a good flow in the game and he doesn't get a chance to figure out what's going on — you always got a good chance against any quarterback," Pierce said.

"He rarely throws a pass that's uncatchable," he said. "And that's the biggest thing — having a quarterback that's as accurate as he is, and as confident with his throws. We don't want him to ever get confident with the way he is throwing the ball or who he's throwing the ball to."

If the Wildcat defense can find success in getting to Simms, Saturday might become just another embarrassing stat versus a ranked team for him.

If K-State can find a way to lay consistent hits on him, Simms could remain in the shadow of his last name for yet another season.

But the Cats aren't counting on it. Simms' performances in too many other games have proven to K-State that he can play.

While national media continues to focus upon Simms' shortcomings in high-profile games, K-State knows it can not afford to grant any merit to the idea that Simms will not show up on Saturday. Linebacker Josh Buhl said he has seen Simms work through too many similar problems to even imagine that he would fold now.

Buhl said he doesn't view Simms' heritage as an obstacle to be overcome. Rather he sees it as the mark of a good player.

He said he knows Simms can overcome the shadow versus the Cats.

"He's got a lot of issues that came with him. He got a lot of criticism," Buhl said. "But, he is a good quarterback. He's won some games. Basically, because his name is what it is, he's a good football player."

OFFENSE | Ground game makes Cats successful

Continued from Page 3

ball well, as the Big 12's leading rushers list shows, Sproles is the centerpiece of K-State's running attack.

Sproles, like Griffin, is not a big back. Standing just 5-foot-7 and weighing just 170 pounds, Sproles is more likely to run around a defender than run over him.

Snyder said that with Sproles, like Griffin, that's not necessarily the case.

"I think they both have, from what I've seen of Quentin, some of the same similarities," Snyder said. "The quick change of direction that Darren has been so very good with, I think Quentin possesses the same thing."

"And both of them are aggressive runners. Both run hard. For anybody you look at that doesn't have exceptional size, you normally say they're quick and elusive and all that, but probably don't run into tacklers real well, but both of them do."

Running backs coach Michael Smith said Sproles has the talent, whether he's running around people or running over them, to be one of the best backs the Wildcats have ever had.

Smith said Sproles is capable of becoming a back similar to ex-Wildcat standout and all-time K-State rushing leader Eric Hickson.

"He has the potential to be the best," Smith said. "People ask me how I feel about Kevin Lockett and he's the best because, statistically, what he did here, he represents the best."

"And right now, as far as a goal for Darren Sproles, Eric Hickson is a guy who has a lot of records that are known. Potentially, Darren will be the best."

Smith said he believes Sproles' hard work is what translates into the sophomore running back's success on the field.

"I think it's Darren's work ethic," Smith said. "He does possess the same kind of work ethic that Eric had but I think Darren's talent is probably a little bit better. He brings a little bit more to the table."

Smith said his running backs understand what the K-State program is looking for from its running game.

"I think I've instilled an attitude in these guys that when this team isn't successful it's because of what we do as a running back corps," he said. "And that's a pressure these guys accept and are willing to take on as a challenge."

"Until we reach our ultimate goal of having an opportunity to play for a Big 12 championship, and hopefully a national championship, then that's where we are."

Against Texas, Sproles and Roberson will likely get the opportunity to gain some ground on K-State's list of top rushers.

Sproles said he's not too concerned with records.

"As long as we win," Sproles said. "I don't care about any list."

NEED A ROOMMATE or are you LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO LIVE?

Affordable Health Insurance For College Students

JOSH SALMANS

Agent
Town East Shopping Center
463 East Poyntz (By K-Mart)
Manhattan, KS 66502-5045
Off: (785) 776-8754
Fax: (785) 776-8841

STATE FARM INSURANCE COMPANIES
HOME OFFICES: BLOOMINGTON, ILLINOIS

"Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there."

Precision
Automotive
Inc.

537-5050

Westside Location
1120 Waters St.
Behind Car Quest West

Go Cats!

SUN
DIAGNOSTICS

Complete Car & Truck Service & Repair Center
Domestic & Imported

VISA MasterCard DISCOVER

Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Southern Sun

Keep your sun dreams with us!

Two-fer
special

2 people enjoy 1 month unlimited tanning for just $50
(exp. 10/31/02)

West Tanning Beds • Sunbath Cabins • Spa at the Lila Bells • West Side Location •
• Open 12 hours with convenient hours • Serving Bath Products & Skincare Products •
• Call us for our tanning specials 776-8845

3232 Kimball (next to Bobby's)

Little Caesars PARTY! PARTY! PACK

THREE PIZZAS, 14" LARGE
WITH 1 TOPPING
2 CRAZY BREAD

$21.99

CARRY OUT
PLUS TAX
DELIVERY
CHARGE MAY APPLY

Valid only at participating locations
©2002 L.C.E., Inc.

GO CATS!

MANHATTAN
(Westloop Center)
539-3333

GET READY FOR BIG 12 FOOTBALL

Bacardi Cielon
750 ml $13.98

Keystone Light
30 packs $13.89

ShinerBock
12 packs $8.98

Svedka Vodka
750 ml $10.98

Sam Adams
12 packs $11.99

Sauza Gold w/Free Mix
1.75 L $27.98

Dekuyper Schnapps
750 Traveler $8.97

Southern Comfort
750 ml $10.98

Evan Williams
1.75 L $16.98

Bud Light
Party Balls $24.99

Watching K-State
Beat Texas.....
Priceless!!

THE LIBRARY
DISCOUNT LIQUOR

CORNER OF 12TH & LARAMIE
AGGIEVILLE

539-5269

PRICES GOOD WHILE SUPPLIES LAST

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Monday, October 21, 2002

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Cabinet discusses Korea

Military action wouldn't remedy arms concerns

By William C. Mann
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — Fighting nuclear proliferation on two fronts, the Bush administration said Sunday that military action contemplated against Iraq would not remedy North Korea's violation of a U.S. agreement to dismantle its weapons program.

Whether through force or diplomacy, the U.S. goal is to eliminate both countries' weapons programs, the White House's leading foreign policy advisers said.

"We're not going to have a cookie cutter for foreign policy, where we try to apply the same formula to every case. It would be foolhardy to do that," said Condoleezza Rice, President Bush's national security adviser.

"The president put it very well when he said there may be many modalities, but there's only one morality. And the morality is that we are not prepared to allow nuclear powers of this kind to grow up," she said on CNN's "Late Edition."

Secretary of State Colin Powell stressed the need of working with the leaders of Russia, China, Japan, South Korea and others in the region to deter North Korea's nuclear ambitions.

See KOREA Page 8

Students protest abortion

Life Chain event attracts 40 to 50

By Lindsey Tipling
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A nonviolent protest Sunday afternoon in front of the K-State Alumni Center along Anderson Avenue showed how some K-State students feel about abortion.

Karl Singer, president of Students for the Right to Life, said the protest was an annual event that students from all across the country participate in on their own campuses.

"We had our annual Life Chain from 3 to 4 p.m.," Singer said. "It's a nation-wide protest that takes place in October."

Singer, junior in mechanical engineering, said about 40 to 50 students showed up for this year's Life Chain at K-State.

"I thought it was a pretty good turnout," he said. "I'm glad it was such a nice day out."

The protest is intended to be completely silent and nonviolent, Singer said.

"We line up along a main street and hold signs," he said.

Singer said the choice to line up on a main street is basically to bring more attention to the protest.

Sarah Truman, freshman in elementary education, said she participated in the event. She said protesters' signs included phrases like "Abortion kills children" and "Lord, please forgive us and our nation."

See PROTEST Page 3

CUTTING DEEP

K-State slashes budget to absorb state reductions

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The cuts are deep, but they could get worse. Lagging state revenue already has forced K-State to cut its budget twice this fiscal year, resulting in a loss of about $9.3 million in spending power.

Cuts came in May and again in August. They forced the relocation of Fort Riley classes, reductions in language lab requirements and even reduced how often paper towel dispensers are refilled.

Administrators are coping, they say. They are maintaining quality while working with less. But additional cuts are on the horizon. And those, officials say, could be detrimental to K-State.

"The real concern is what's coming," said John Struve, vice president of administration and finance. "If you accept some of the projections that come out of Topeka, if those actually occur both for this year and next fiscal year, it would be the worst reductions K-State has ever seen, at least in the last reasonable years."

The cuts

Last spring, K-State foresaw state funding decreases. The state was in financial ruin, attempting to fill a $770 million hole in the state budget. At the end of its longest legislative session in history, K-State was left with $7.9 million less in spending power. Cuts occurred in three areas: the academic colleges, Veterinary Medicine and Research and Extension.

Struve said several areas were hit as a result. However, the largest portion of these reductions existed in unfunded mandates, costs the state traditionally has covered. They include increases in fringe benefits, such as group health insurance.

K-State had to absorb the costs. It also had to absorb costs to pay for salary increases and longevity bonuses for classified staff members.

"Classified staff for years have had a longevity bonus program," Struve said. "This year, the state cut half the funding out, but we of course still have to pay the full bonus, so we had to absorb that."

Then the state slashed funding in all state agencies. K-State alone lost about $1.4 million.

See BUDGET Page 8

Budget breakdown

Budget cuts, absorbed costs and reallocations forced each college to reduce their budgets by target amounts. Here is the breakdown of the reductions:

- College of Agriculture: $249,274 in teaching operations; $2.2 million in Research and Extension
- College of Arts and Sciences: $1,250,134
- College of Engineering: $529,692
- College of Education: $252,409
- College of Technology and Aviation: $240,002
- College of Business Administration: $215,343
- College of Architecture, Planning and Design: $198,471
- College of Human Ecology: $194,933
- College of Veterinary Medicine: $296,000

Other areas of reduction:

- Hale Library: $315,713
- President's office and its reporting units: $66,978
- Provost's office and its reporting units: $424,385
- Vice president for administration and finance's office and its reporting units: $677,927
- Vice president for institutional advancement's office and its reporting units: $296,959

Total reduction without tuition factored in: $9.3 million

Total reduction with tuition factored in: $7.5 million

Cuts force College of Ag to alter operations

By Nancy Foster
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The changes are permanent. Budget cuts to the College of Agriculture and Extension and Research were drastic, and administrators say their effects are everlasting.

"Five years from now, we'll look entirely different," said Paul Ohlenbusch, state leader for extension agronomy and grazing land management specialist, regarding agronomy extension. "We'll operate entirely different."

Extension and Research, under the College of Agriculture, slashed its budget by $2.2 million to absorb lacking state funds.

See AG BUDGET Page 8

Budget Cuts

In the next two weeks, the Collegian will explore the effects of budget cuts made by the Kansas Legislature by analyzing each of K-State's 11 colleges, along with services that affect students. With mid-year cuts that could be detrimental to the university, higher education funding has become a top issue in November's elections.

Alumni Center opening draws crowd; open house today

New center changes face of university while integrating traditional aesthetics of campus buildings

By James Hurla
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

About 500 alumni, students, city officials and faculty were present to witness the dedication ceremony of the new K-State Alumni Center on Saturday morning.

Curt Frasier, chairman of the Alumni Center project, wielded the ceremonial oversized scissors for the ribbon cutting and was accompanied by other key figures in the facility's construction, including President Jon Wefald, Student Body President Zac

Cook and Alumni Association President Amy Button-Renz.

During his remarks prior to the ribbon cutting, Wefald said the building was incredible.

"Already in the 21st Century," he said, "this is one of the seven wonders of the modern world."

Others agreed with Wefald's perception.

"It's beautiful," Diane Wheat, 1977 graduate, said of the new building.

In the Hagans Library, Bob Hagans, 1950 graduate, talks with his nephew, Alex "Casey" Case, 1984 graduate, about Case's appearance in the 1982 Independence Bowl. The family members were at the dedication of the K-State Alumni Center on Saturday morning. After the ribbon cutting, they made their way to the library, where they looked for themselves in old yearbooks.

Karen Mikols
COLLEGIAN

INSIDE

Frightful film: 'The Ring' is a 5-star thriller

The Edge, Page 5

Coming up short: Blocked field goal seals Cats' loss to Longhorns

Sports, Page 6

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Investigators search for links to sniper slayings, say victim has reasonable prognosis

Investigators searched for clues in another possible sniper shooting at a Virginia parking-lot shooting scene Sunday. The victim was critically injured in the Saturday night shooting.

Page 3

Powell, an early proponent of 'regime change' in Iraq, says full disarmament would be enough

Secretary of State Colin Powell said Sunday the United States might not seek to remove Saddam Hussein if he abandoned his weapons of mass destruction.

Ireland gives Europe green light for eastward expansion

Irish voters approved a plan for nearly doubling EU membership and extending the Union to the borders of Russia, official results showed Sunday.

As precarious peace takes hold, French troops fan out to secure Ivory Coast cease-fire

French troops fanned out across Ivory Coast on Sunday, moving between government and rebel forces to secure a cease-fire after a month of fighting that split the West African country.

State Department warns Americans on Indonesia, says more attacks possible

The State Department has urged Americans to put off any planned trips to Indonesia and warned that terrorists there might be plotting more attacks against foreigners.

Weather

Today 63 | 41

Tuesday 53 | 45

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom: 532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising: 532-6560
Classified advertising: 532-6555
Delivery problems: 532-6555
Photo reprints: 532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 43

"Come Grow With Us"
Manhattan's Hometown Community Bank Is Building
To Meet The Future Needs Of Our Community.

KANSAS STATE BANK
FDIC Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Most undergrad degrees (Abbr.)
4 TV revenue source
7 Hand warmer
11 Flight angles
13 Furrow
14 Sutherland solo
15 Unadulterated
16 Scratch
17 Benevolent
18 "Horse in striped pajamas"
20 Gas station job
22 Under the weather
24 Hoboes
28 Might they tie up loose ends?
32 Ongoing
33 Reed instrument
34 Computer acronym
36 — podrida

DOWN
37 Dutch bloom
39 With frugality
41 Puts into words
43 Illustrations
44 Engraved
46 Acclaim
50 Singer
53 Prior to
55 Totenberg of NPR
56 Opposite of "sans"
57 Wet
58 Chows down
59 Dog owner's hassle
60 Dict. explanation
61 Part of UCLA
62 Monokin's lack
63 Got the ball rolling
65 Double agent
26 Survey
27 Command to Rover
28 Nursery denizens
29 Touch
30 Soft-drink flavor
31 Brillo rival
35 Hot tub
38 Pod dweller
40 Clumsy boat
42 Bullock/Reeves movie
45 Genealogy chart
47 — M for Murder
48 Aware of
49 Back talk
50 Pugnacious play
51 Eggs
52 Bottom line
54 Toy-shop staffer?

Solution time: 25 mins.

Friday's Answer

STUMPED?

For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-228-5961 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/long-distance phones. (10¢ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

10-21 CRYPTOQUIP

CR DINHDS QR CMYU
XIMYY KOHUY UJM VINHS
VOR, D OAADXMHUOPPR
XM-KPMOUMX UJMQ

Saturday's Cryptquip: I WONDER IF TOP-NOTCH BAKERS TRADE FINE BREAD RECIPES ON A KNEAD-TO-KNOW BASIS.

Today's Cryptquip Clue: X equals D

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK #1 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to Crypt Classics Book 1, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.

The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Dana Strongin at 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

NEWS OF THE WEIRD
Veterinarians develop tests to detect udder-enhanced milk

By Chuck Shepherd
UNIVERSAL PRESS SYNDICATE

University of Wisconsin-Madison veterinarians said in September they now have the technology to detect the fraudulent use of three udder-enhancing schemes employed on show cows at dairy exhibits. Forty percent of a cow's grade is on how full, symmetrical and smooth her udders are (but unlike in, say, human beauty contests, cow udders are important only for their financial, milk-producing potential). Tests of the milk can detect whether saline was injected into the udder, and ultrasound can reveal whether the udder has received isobutane gas "foamies" or a liquid-silver protein that does for the udder what Botox does for human wrinkles.

Contemporary holy shrines

(1) A mud puddle in the shape of Buddha's footprint, attracting pilgrims to Thailand's Pungna province and "guarded" by a frog whose skin is being fondled by people searching for lottery numbers; (2) a potato in the shape of the Hindu god Ganesh, attracting pilgrims to a private home in Bombay, India; (3) an outline in a dead tree trunk in the likeness of the Virgin Mary looking down at her baby, attracting pilgrims to the property of nonbeliever Bill Gaede in Fresno County, Calif.; (4) the Condensation on a Greenhouse Wall in the image of the Virgin Mary, attracting pilgrims to a private home in Ile-a-la-Crosse, Saskatchewan.

Can't be true

In September, Washington state Sen. Joe Zarelli acknowledged to the Columbian newspaper he had collected $12,000 in unemployment benefits in 2001-02 without declaring that he was also being paid $32,000 a year as a senator, but he blamed the state bureaucracy for not catching him and explaining to him why that was wrong. Sen. Zarelli said he "had no clue" that he was supposed to report his legislator's salary (which would count against any benefits he might receive) and said he thought the reason the Employment Security agency was after him was because he is a Republican.

Police blotter

From the Bozeman (Mont.) Chronicle, Sept. 24: "A caller reported at 7 p.m. Sunday that a man was holding a knife to a woman in a car parked in the Albertson's parking lot. Officers responded and determined that the woman was actually using the man's knife to clean her teeth."

Photo by Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

From the Orem, Utah, Daily Herald, Sept. 4: "Orem police officers responded to a report of someone seeing a man dragging a woman into a residence ... The woman explained she had been 'playing hard to get' and had been running around until her boyfriend could catch her, and he then played like a caveman and dragged her into the house, (a police) spokesman said."

From the August 2002 Alta, Utah, town newsletter (as featured in the Salt Lake Tribune): "July 14: At 12 p.m., the deputy on duty responded to a report of a man chasing a moose in Albion Basin. It is suspected that this is related to a subsequent report of a moose chasing a man."

People with issues

"Shy," "brilliant" (according to colleagues) neurologist Joseph James Warner was arrested in Gainesville, Fla., in August and charged with illegally storing numerous human heads, brains and other body parts in his home.

Warner was teaching at the University of Florida but was immediately fired because the body parts belonged to the school's lab and could not be lawfully removed. A former girlfriend called the Warner home a "hellhole" because of the organ-containing tanks and jars strewn around the house, and a St. Petersburg Times reporter said many of Warner's co-workers described him as a "deeply troubled man."

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Wednesday, Oct. 16

■ At 10:10 a.m., Kenneth Ward, Fort Riley, was arrested for rape and aggravated criminal sodomy. Bond was set at $10,000.
■ At 3:40 p.m., Levi Dickerman, Fort Riley, was arrested for worthless check. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 5 p.m., Ralph Carlone, Ohio, was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $1,000.
■ At 9:55 p.m., Jacqueline Murphy, 430 Osage, was arrested for battery against a law enforcement officer, criminal trespass and obstructing a legal process or official duty. Bond was set at $1,500.
■ At 10:40 p.m., Robert Cuchy, Ogden, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $5,000.
■ At 10:45 p.m., Brian Shirley, 11313 Rimrock, was arrested for possession of simulated controlled substances or drug paraphernalia, unlawful possession of substances and DUI. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 2:10 a.m., Leon Hutchins IV, Fort Riley, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $750.
■ At 8:15 a.m., Michael Stevick, 805 Ratone, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $5,000.
■ At 8:51 a.m., Tamara Bueker, 101 N. Dartmouth Drive, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $750.
■ At 2 p.m., Christopher Mueller, 3012 Sandstone, was arrested for unlawful possession of substances. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 4:25 p.m., David Weir, 509 Bertrand St., was arrested for aggravated assault, criminal threat and violation of a protective order. Bond was set at $5,000.
■ At 4:30 p.m., Herman Moore, Ogden, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $400.
■ At 7:37 p.m., Joyce Larsen, 2420 Buena Vista Drive, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $20.

Friday, Oct. 18

■ At 1:05 a.m., Crystal Cummings, 1369 Flint Hills Place, was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 2:45 a.m., Lindsey Lay, Texas, was arrested for disorderly conduct. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 3:05 a.m., Landon Vannahmen, 1400 Hartford, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $750.

Thursday, Oct. 17

■ At 12:30 a.m., Felipe Viera, 4440 Tuttle Creek, Lot 253, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license and DUI. Bond was set at $1,500.

The planner | Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house on 918 N. Manhattan.
■ "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 in Hale Library's second floor.
■ The Alumni Center open house, including tours, will be from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today.
■ A "How to Find Journal Articles" class will be from 9:30 to 10:20 a.m. today in Hale 408.
■ Royal Purple yearbook pictures will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today at Alpha Tau Omega and the Union Courtyard and from 6:30 to 9:30 tonight at Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
■ A basic library class will be from 10:30 to 11:15 a.m. today in Hale 408.
■ The American Society for Public Administration is sponsoring a simulated audit sponsored by the legislative division of post audit at 6 tonight in Hale 301A.
■ Amnesty International will meet at 6:30 tonight at the International Student Center.
■ The Apostolic Campus Ministry will meet for Bible study at 7 tonight in Union Stateroom 1.

■ Collegiate 4-H will meet at 7 tonight in Waters 137.
■ KSU Aikido will conduct a martial arts class from 7 to 9 tonight in Ahearn 301.
■ The privilege fee SGA committee meeting will be at 7 tonight in the OSAS conference room.
■ The Public Relations Student Society of America will meet and have speaker Melissa Miller, marketing/development officer for Sunset Zoo, at 7 tonight in Calvin 217.
■ Circle K International will meet at 8 tonight in Union Staterooms 1 and 2.
■ Hale Library presents the "Terrifying Tuesday Lecture Series" with speaker Jerry Weis presenting "Bioethics: Should we or shouldn't we?" at noon Tuesday in the hemisphere room. Bring a lunch.
■ The American Marketing Association will meet at 6 p.m. Tuesday at Pizza Hut in Aggieville.
■ A Community Service Program, International and Kansas teams informational meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union 212.
■ Career and Employment Services will conduct an overseas teaching panel workshop from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday in Union 212.
■ K-State Rotaract will meet and discuss how to prepare for an interview at 7 tonight in Waters 137.

Up next | In Tuesday's Collegian

News | Signs of the season
Fall's arrival signals a change in behavior for many people. Check out how it affects students.
The Edge | Christian trends
The series on music trends in Manhattan continues with a look at contemporary Christian music. It has become more popular than ever in the music industry. The praise and style of the bands have come to Manhattan as well.
Sports | Jensen's ascension
Cari Jensen has been volleyball's go-to player lately. Against Texas A&M on Saturday, Jensen extended a double-digit kills streak to eight. Read about how she thinks she is progressing.

Little Caesars
MONDAY madness
1 LARGE 14" PIZZA WITH 1 TOPPING
$4.99
NO LIMITS
Valid only at participating locations. ©2001 L.C.E., Inc.
539-3333

EC
Emergency Contraceptive
For the morning after...
or the morning after that...
or the morning after that... but not the morning after that Available by prescription
For More Information contact the
National EC Hotline
1-888-Not-2-Late
(1-888-668-2528)
<http://not-2-late>

Alpha Kappa Psi
RAFFLE TICKETS
$1
Prizes included from: Gold Fork, GTM Sportswear, Chipotle, Varney's, Radina's, Royal Thai Cuisine, Wal-Mart and CoCo Bolos
Available at the Management Office, Calvin 101
Tickets available until 10/24

Royal altering | STATE
Monday, October 21
Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures
Alpha Tau Omega & Union
10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon
6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
Next up: Tuesday, Oct. 22
Salina Campus 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Salina Organizations 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

THROWING A HALLOWEEN BASH?
LET THE KITCHEN FAIRY ASSIST YOU WITH:
• Setting up
• Serving
• Cleaning up
ENJOY YOUR OWN PARTY!
Mature and experienced fairy awaits your command.
FOR RATES AND AVAILABLE DATES
Call Fairy's cell phone @
(505) 699-1853
References Available

Aggie Station
RESTAURANT & PUB
3.99 All You Can Eat Tacos
125 Bud Light Bottles

Dwight D. Eisenhower Lecture in War & Peace
Eisenhower, the Army, and the American Way of War
by
Prof. Brian Linn
Texas A&M University
Forum Hall
K-State Union
8:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 22

OPEN THE LATEST!
Deliver the latest!
GUYS
Pizza & Pub
770-3333
1 Monday mania $3.99
LARGE CHEESE PIZZA • MONDAY ONLY
CARRY OUT ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA
stick it to me
2 Tuesday
BUY ONE POKEY STICK AT REGULAR PRICE
GET ONE EQUAL OR LESSER VALUE FREE
DURING WEEKENDS ONLY
3 Wednesday wildcat $6.99
X-LARGE 16" CHEESE PIZZA • WEDNESDAY ONLY • CARRY OUT ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA
EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH

Symposium benefits students

Educators help motivate future teachers to lead

By James Hurla
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Teachers on the discussion panel at the Education Symposium can gain some great things: contact with education students, ideas from their peers and — true love.

Barb Chamberlain, one of eight Kansas Teachers of the Year speaking at the symposium, met her husband at the same event four years ago.

Chamberlain, an English teacher at Seaman High School in Topeka, was one of the panel discussion's founders.

During a committee meeting, she met the man she would later marry — Allan Goodman, K-State professor of architectural engineering and construction science.

"There was an immediate connection," Chamberlain said.

"We started talking about antiques, then he called me that night, and we went on our first date the night after. The rest is just history."

The Education Symposium is an all-day professional-development event sponsored by K-State's College of Education.

The discussion panel is part of the Richard B. Hause Creativity Lecture Series, in honor of Hause, a former professor in the College of Education.

Chamberlain and Goodman are both former students of Hause, and they were involved in starting the lecture series to honor him.

Chamberlain, along with the other teachers of the year, presented to College of Education students ways to maintain enthusiasm for teaching.

They used examples from their teaching experiences, singing, drums and role-playing with an Albert Einstein mask to relate their ideas.

"It was very inspiring," Lisa Monteen, senior in elementary education, said.

"It seemed like it would be difficult coming up with and implementing ideas. But they made it seem like there's so many ways to get involved and make it exciting."

The teachers said they enjoyed the opportunity to present to prospective teachers.

"It's an incredible opportunity," said Sarah Pike, eighth-grade English teacher at Turn Middle School.

Drew Rose | COLLEGIAN
Linda McPherson, music instructor of kindergarten through fifth grade at Mize Elementary School, gives words of encouragement to College of Education students at the Education Symposium on Thursday morning.

"Imagine infinite, and then it's bigger. This is a critical time — schools are under fire. I loved seeing almost 400 future teachers excited about coming."

In addition to the students, Hause and his wife returned from their home in Colorado to attend the event.

Hause, who taught at K-State for nearly 30 years, returns each year to see the creativity lectures.

"Good teaching is one of the major interests — and joys — of my life," Hause said.

Originally, the creativity lecture was a stand-alone lecture before the Teachers of the Year were invited to speak as a panel.

When the lecture was incorporated as part of the symposium three years ago, the events tied together well, Hause said.

Hause said he was glad the creativity lecture became part of the symposium, because creativity is such an integral part of good teaching.

"Creative teaching takes the individual student into account," he said.

"You don't just teach a group, because each student is different. You're going out to work with young Michelangelos."

"They might not all paint the Sistine Chapel, but you have to remember that each of them is an individual."

Investigators search for links to sniper slayings

37-year-old man wounded by single shot Saturday night

By Allen G. Breed
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ASHLAND, Va. — Investigators acting on the assumption that the Washington-area sniper has expanded his geographic range searched for clues at a parking-lot shooting scene Sunday, while doctors said the critically injured victim has a reasonable prognosis.

Dozens of officers completed a methodical search of a wooded area near the Ponderosa restaurant where a 37-year-old man was downed by a single shot to the abdomen Saturday night.

Some witnesses said they heard a shot coming from a wooded area.

If the shooting is linked to the sniper attacks that have killed nine and injured two since Oct. 2, it would be the first weekend attack and the farthest the sniper has traveled — about 85 miles south of Washington.

The longest previous distance from the Washington area was Spotsylvania County, about 50 miles south of Washington. It also would break the longest lull between shootings, about five days.

The most recent confirmed sniper attack was the Monday night slaying of FBI analyst Linda Franklin outside a Home Depot store in Falls Church.

Residents were on edge in Ashland, a town of about 6,500. At the Virginia Center Commons mall, about seven miles from the shooting, a normally busy food court sat half-empty Sunday. Shopper Nancy Elrod said she almost had been too afraid to come.

Police said the victim, whose name was not released, and his wife were traveling and stopped in Ashland. His wife told authorities the shot sounded like a car backfiring and said her husband took about three steps before collapsing.

Authorities were on the lookout early on for a white van with a ladder rack. Ashland Police Chief Frederic Pleasants Jr. said after interviewing witnesses, however, police had no suspects and no clear description of a vehicle that could be placed at the scene.

ALUMNI CENTER | Ribbon cutting draws large crowd Saturday

Continued from page 1

"I like that they used the old rocks to make it fit in with the rest of the campus."

Robert VanLerberg, 1976 graduate, said he enjoyed the traditional look of the building.

"This is one of the best campuses in the Midwest and possibly in the whole country," he said. "There's a certain awe about it."

"K-State doesn't change. There's new buildings, but lots

Grand opening

The K-State Alumni Center is having an open house until 4 p.m. today. Staff members will be available to answer questions.

But some alumni said they noticed a lot of changes.

Greg Best, 1983 graduate living in Pittsburgh, Penn., said he has not been back to K-State for 16 years.

"It's amazing what's happened at this university in the last 16 years," he said. "And it's all for the better."

Donna Relihan, 1949 graduate now living in Chapman, Kan., walked around the Memorabilia Room reminiscing about how college life has changed since she was at K-State.

Relihan, whose son was one of the primary players in the center's development, said her family is dedicated to K-State.

"We're purple-blooded," she said.

Bleeding purple isn't something a lot of K-State students do, Wheat said.

"You won't appreciate most of this until after you graduate," she said.

"You don't bleed purple until you're gone."

PROTEST | Pro-life students act

The organization tried to promote student involvement at the event, Singer said.

"We had 17 churches put a notice of the event in their bulletins," he said.

Truman said she read about the event in her church bulletin.

"I was involved in a pro-life club at my high school," she said. "I just wanted to continue my involvement here."

Truman said a lot of her friends who were involved in pro-life organizations in high school have chosen to become a part of Student for the Right to Life.

"We all really just want to stay involved," she said.

Singer said the group tried several ways to get people involved, including e-mails and meetings.

Students for the Right to Life is concerned with many political and moral issues.

"We are not solely based on abortion," Singer said. "We are just based on a general respect for life."

Singer said the organization protests many other issues, including the death penalty, genocide and euthanasia.

It's Chili Week!!!
at
Clafin Books and Copies
1814 Clafin Road 776-3771
Monday-Friday 9am-7pm
Saturday 9am-5pm
Sunday 1pm-5pm

GAME GUY
Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent
Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games
Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5
(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA

PIZZA SHUTTLE
DELIVERS
1800 Clafin Road
776-5577
We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials!)

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER
"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."
539-3338
Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Campus Phone Books
On sale in Kedzie 103 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

K-STATE TOUCHDOWNS SCORE BIG SAVINGS FOR YOU!

FOR EVERY TOUCHDOWN THE CATS SCORE AGAINST TEXAS ON SATURDAY, K-STATE STUDENT UNION BOOKSTORE WILL TAKE 5% ...UP TO 25% OFF OF K-STATE APPAREL & GIFTS!

Union Hours:
8:00 a.m. - 8:00 p.m. Mon. - Sat.
11:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m. Sundays

Limited to regular priced in stock merchandise.
Purchases must be made in the store.
Not applicable with other coupons and/or discounts.

GO CATS!!!

K-STATE STUDENT UNION Bookstore

K-STATE STUDENT UNION BOOKSTORE
532-6583
www.ksubookstore.com

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY INFORMATION SYSTEMS OFFICE LASER PROJECT

SYSTEMS SPECIALIST-FINANCIALS SYSTEMS

Position Summary: Two new positions responsible for software configuration, data conversion, interface design and development for implementing the Oracle Financials application under the Legacy Application Systems Empowered Replacement Project. Upon completion of the Project, the position will provide ongoing application support, maintenance and enhancements for the Oracle Financials application.

SYSTEMS SPECIALIST-STUDENT SYSTEMS

Position Summary: Three new positions responsible for software configuration, data conversion, interface design and development for implementing the Oracle Student Solution application under the LASER Project. Upon completion of the Project, the position will provide ongoing application support, maintenance and enhancements for the Oracle Student Solution application.

Salary: $42,000 - 50,000

SYSTEMS COORDINATOR-INFORMATION INTEGRATION

Position Summary: Member of Oracle Database Administration team responsible for all aspects of technical deployment and operational support of Oracle Applications, Oracle Application Servers, Oracle Databases, support related to applications development and applications and database administration tools such as Applications DBA (AD) Utilities, Enterprise Manager, and Oracle Internet Directory. KSU deploys most of its major enterprise applications primarily on Sun Solaris Servers using Oracle 8i/9i database and application server technologies. From time to time other hardware and operating system platforms may be utilized.

SYSTEMS COORDINATOR-APPLICATIONS DEPLOYMENT

Position Summary: A member of six-person Oracle Database Administration team responsible for all aspects of technical deployment and operational support of Oracle Applications, Oracle Application Servers, Oracle Databases, support related to applications development and applications and database administration tools such as Applications DBA (AD) Utilities, Enterprise Manager and Oracle Internet Director. KSU is in process of deploying new Oracle Financials, Student and Advanced Recruiting enterprise applications software to replace key components of its core central administrative applications software, which currently operate in the System/390 OS/390 CS-IDMS DB/DC environment. Initially, this position will serve primarily as the lead database administrator for Oracle Applications, Application Server and Database Servers required for deployment of the LASER Project.

Salary: $48,000 - 56,000

Qualifications and Application Procedures: See www.ksu.edu/iso or email iso@k-state.edu

Application Deadline: Review of applications will begin November 11, 2002 and continue until qualified candidates are hired for all seven positions.

Kansas State University is an equal opportunity employer. K-State actively seeks diversity among its employees.

TO THE POINT Students should know stance of future governor

K-State has lost nearly $9.3 million – even after tuition increases lessened effects by about $1.8 million – and it's planning for more cuts from the Legislature this year.

Every college is suffering. Many services are suffering.

Research and Extension alone lost more than $2 million, making it hard for our land-grant university to meet the expansions President Wefald envisioned when he came to the university.

In this time of monetary uncertainty, it is important for political candidates to keep issues like education funding at the forefront of their campaigns. The people elected in three weeks are the only ones who can change the situation.

The new governor will make budget recommendations shortly after being sworn into office, and we want those recommendations to reflect the dire need for more educational funding.

For more information on Kathleen Sebelius' and Tim Shallenburger's stance on educational funding, visit their respective Web sites at www.ksgovernor.com and www.timshallenburger.com.

Now is the time to listen to what candidates are promising. When you go to the voting booths on Nov. 5, be educated before you check any boxes.

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Jeanel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   ASK EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

DUAL ADVANTAGE

Bilingual people able to communicate better

¡Comuniquémonos! La
ventaja del bilingüismo

Editor's note: Lorena is pursuing a doctoral degree in curriculum and instruction. Every Monday, she will tackle an issue in her native language, Spanish, as well as English. Gloria Freeland, associate professor of journalism, edits the columns. Both columns convey the same message and allow the Collegian to reach a more diverse audience. You can e-mail her at lorena@ksu.edu.

Marketing experts talk about the competitive and competitive advantages on the market battlefield. In our highly internationalized world, a unique advantage is being bilingual. To be able to communicate in more than one language opens important doors to initiate business and economic transactions and cooperation.

Nothing is as comfortable as one's mother tongue, the one language that is automatic and fluid. But the modern global reality is that very often one finds oneself immersed in social situations when interaction and communication take place between people who use different languages. Of course, you can try to impose your language on the rest of the people around you, but the result might be the end of communication and the termination of cooperation and trade. When we're in a situation where we don't know the language, we feel helpless, uncertain and unable to handle the situation properly. This is not the best possible scenario for successful economic exchanges and transactions.

But what is true in the marketplace is imperative on campus. Just the first step of learning a different language creates the opportunity for mental growth. Language is not only the vehicle of communication – it is also the expression of different cultures, different and valid ways to use the human mind, and the path to new and profound insights into your own psychological and cultural mentality.

Learning the language of the people with whom we interact is not just the best way to overcome cultural shock, but it is also a way to achieve a positive and enhancing cultural growth. This is the reason why, from the very beginning of the university, languages have occupied such an important and dignified place in the academic structure. Not only human languages have been taught and learned in academic places, but also electronic and specialized scientific and technological languages have been taught there as well.

Our university has an outstanding Department of Modern Languages that offers French, Japanese, German, Arabic, Spanish, Latin and many other languages. In this department, the funds and economic resources are very scarce, but the human resources are abundant. You can find people from many national and linguistic backgrounds training students in their native languages.

It is a rewarding experience to see people coming from such diverse national, cultural and linguistic backgrounds working together and cooperating with no problems. I feel as if I am in the middle of a little United Nations. The department chairman keeps his door open, and everybody is invited to make suggestions, comments and criticism to perfect that inspiring task. The modern languages department is a very good option to start learning another language. If the problem in modern societies is to train a large number of people capable of speaking many languages and to create the bridges required by global multicultural and multilingual trade, we need to start preparing ourselves for that task – and for the exchange.

LORENA BARBOZA

Los expertos en mercadeo hablan mucho de las ventajas comparativas y competitivas en el campo del mercado. En un mundo altamente internacionalizado como es el nuestro, la única gran ventaja es la habilidad de poder hablar dos o más idiomas. Ser capaz de comunicarse en más de uno, abre puertas importantes a situaciones que son altamente favorables para establecer negocios, cooperación y transacciones económicas.

Nada es tan confortable como el idioma materno, el lenguaje que llega automática y fluidamente; pero la realidad del mundo moderno es que, muy a menudo, nos encontramos inmersos en situaciones sociales donde la interacción y la comunicación tienen lugar entre gente que usa su propio idioma. Por supuesto podemos tratar de imponer nuestra propia lengua a quienes nos rodean, pero el resultado puede ser el término de la comunicación o la imposibilidad de negociar. Cuando estamos en una situación y no conocemos el idioma nos sentimos inútiles, inciertos e inhabilitados para manejarla adecuadamente. Ese no es el escenario más propicio para tener éxito en las transacciones e intercambios económicos.

Así, lo que aplica al mercado es un imperativo en el campus universitario. Solamente el primer paso en el aprendizaje de un idioma diferente, crea la oportunidad para un crecimiento mental. El lenguaje no es solo el vehículo para comunicar mensajes, es la expresión de diferentes culturas, la manera diversa de utilizar la mente, el camino a la nueva y profunda vivencia de nuestra mentalidad psicológica y cultural.

Aprender el idioma de la gente con la que tenemos que interactuar no es solamente la mejor forma de superar el choque cultural, sino también la manera de lograr un verdadero y positivo crecimiento cultural. Esta es la razón por la cual, desde el inicio del recinto universitario, los idiomas han ocupado un importante y digno lugar en la estructura académica. Además de las lenguas, también han sido enseñados y aprendidos en la academia el lenguaje electrónico, el científico y el tecnológico.

Nuestra universidad tiene un prominente Departamento de Lenguas Modernas que ofrece clases de español, francés, alemán, japonés, árabe, latín y griego entre otros. En este departamento los fondos económicos son realmente escasos, pero los recursos humanos son abundantes. Usted puede encontrar gente con muchos antecedentes lingüísticos y culturales entrenando a los estudiantes en su idioma materno. Es una experiencia maravillosa ver a tantas personas de otras naciones trabajando juntas y cooperando sin mayores problemas. Personalmente me siento como en el medio de unas pequeñas Naciones Unidas. El director mantiene las puertas de su oficina abiertas y todos estamos invitados a hacer sugerencias, comentarios y críticas para perfeccionar el trabajo. En Lenguas Modernas están las opciones para iniciar el aprendizaje de otro idioma.

Si el problema de las sociedades modernas es entrenar grandes cantidades de ciudadanos capaces de hablar varias lenguas y crear los puentes requeridos para el comercio multicultural y multilingüe, es necesario abrir los ojos y comenzar a prepararnos para esa tarea. Y para el intercambio.

Illustration by Melesa Loret | COLLEGIAN

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

I hope Kathryn Hollingsworth has read all the other comments printed in the Collegian. I praise the Collegian for printing Spanish and English. Hollingsworth is narrow-minded and needs to go to a third-world country to see what life is all about. She needs to get out of Kansas and grow up.

Paul White, if you dislike the United States so much, why don't you go somewhere else, like Iraq?

I've never seen such a lack of respect from football players until Saturday night, when a Texas player started kicking field goals over the halftime show.

Kathryn Hollingsworth, public relations means you can relate to the public. What public do you plan on relating to?

Hey, Angela, David Duke called. He said thanks for making his point.

Oh, how I hate the greeks.

This is a memo to all the stupid professors out there: It no longer qualifies as a fall break when you give twice as much homework on Wednesday because we don't have class on Friday.

Thank heavens for the Dirt Devil. Dirt Devil is a registered trademark.

I do not like big, fat girls, man. I do not like green eggs and ham.

Ugly people bother me. Why do they have to be so ugly?

Abacadabra, ala peanut butter sandwiches. Poof! You are a froggie.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. For the full version check out www.ksstatecollegian.com.

Executive branch seeks tyrannical power, should wait for U.N.

For the first time since the Revolutionary War, Americans have the threat of authentic, undeniable tyranny in our government.

In order to recognize the threat, one must examine the Bush Doctrine of Pre-emptive Strike in relation to international law, how this doctrine violates the very ideological foundation of our nation and what the consequences of this doctrine are to the world – specifically Americans.

Under the provisions of the United Nations, nation states are guaranteed sovereignty except in cases of crimes against humanity.

Any forceful action must first be determined by the U.N. Security Council, then carried out by a coalition of forces.

The only exception to this is acts of self-defense, an action defined to take place following an attack.

Bush's Doctrine of Preemptive Strike does something an American president has never attempted to justify. Bush started by creating new international law. This new law says "rogue states" are a dire threat to the United States, and they must be pre-emptively attacked to institute regime change.

The sole entity judging states as "rogue states" is the Bush Administration, by virtue of fiat alone. The enforcer of this new international law is also the executive branch, which will exterminate any regime it has judged a "rogue state."

There's a familiar term for what happens when legislative, executive and judiciary power rest with one entity. We call that tyranny. It appears our leader has exempted himself from accountability to any other nation state or people, and he has done so by the sole virtue of having military might to subjugate any and all who oppose him.

The doctrine of separation of powers is crucial to preventing tyranny over men. As a nation founded on the principles of liberty, one could take for granted we would never allow a tyranny to occur in our own government. But as Thomas Jefferson wrote, "All tyranny needs to gain foothold is for people of good conscience to remain silent."

Of course, there are those who think a tyranny over the world wouldn't necessarily be a bad thing for American interests. By utilizing force against evil world regimes, we would be protecting our interests and making the world a more democratic place.

Some would even say we are rescuing the good people of Iraq from an oppressive dictator.

An examination of history revealed to C.S. Lewis: "Of all tyrannies, a tyranny sincerely exercised for the good of its victims may be the most oppressive." We cannot follow the road paved with good intentions – we must stay the course of justice.

If we support tyranny in the executive branch of our government, it won't be long before the tainted fists of power tear our civil liberties away completely – maybe even irreversibly.

An inevitable result of a presidential tyranny will be the just retribution for our actions. If we exercise tyranny and actively attack another nation state, then the resulting attacks on our soldiers and our people will be an act of self-defense. We will be providing our assailants justification to enact the evil we are attempting to eradicate.

Americans of good conscience cannot just sit idly while tyranny is established in our own home.

We cannot defend our lives and our freedom by allowing the Commander in Chief of the U.S. Armed Forces to arbitrarily persecute any who oppose him. The result will be the loss of our lives and our family's lives to those foreigners defending themselves.

The primary avenue for changing the direction our government is taking comes with the election of our leaders. We should make a deliberate effort to be heard by those leaders and our communities. We must be involved with the democracy we live in – our freedom depends on it.

Travis is a junior in computer science. You can e-mail him at ctb888@ksu.edu.

TOPPING THE LIST

Illustration by JJ Duncan | COLLEGIAN

'The Ring' qualifies as 1 of history's greatest horror films with simple methods

Prepare to modify your personal list of top-five horror films. "The Ring" is possibly the greatest horror film since "The Exorcist."

The first 10 minutes of this movie create the kind of tension that made the "Psycho" shower scene, the shark attacks of "Jaws" and the dropping thermostat of "The Sixth Sense" instant classics.

The film opens when Katie (Amber Tamblyn) confides in a friend that she saw a mysterious videotape with three others exactly one week ago. They received a phone call after the tape was over informing them they would die in one week. That night leaves Katie and the other three dead – and her friend catatonic.

Katie's Aunt Rachel (Naomi Watts, "Mulholland Dr."), a reporter in Seattle, gets busy investigating the death right away, and soon she has seen the

"THE RING"

★★★★★

Movie review By JJ Duncan

seen the tape, as well as her son.

The basic plot is beautifully simplistic. You watch a short video. You get a phone call assuring you of certain death in seven days. Exactly one week later, you die.

The material on the tape is psychologically bizarre and unsettling. It looks like a conceptual student film produced by the combined forces of Rodin, Franz Kafka and Trent Reznor.

Tension and atmosphere are created using minimal horrific and disturbing gore. The suspense and promise of death from that first scene are enough to assure the audience that the danger our protagonists face is very real.

Most of the story is told in Rachel's investigation as more about the tape and its images are revealed. Soon, it is shown that an abused little girl named Samara had some special extrasensory ability, but she used it to hurt people and animals, making them go insane. Somehow, she has made the tape as some sort of post-mortem message.

Though the movie clocks in at nearly two hours, not a moment is wasted. Each day closer to the end of Rachel's week reveals more about the tape's story. By the end, we are shown the significance of every image on the tape, and all the details come together in a denouement that will invade your thoughts, if not dreams, for days.

Keep in mind, the movie is based on the Japanese screenplay "Ringu," by Hiroshi Takahashi (conveniently for Dreamworks, never released in the United States.) and the novel of the same title by Koji Suzuki. Some of the symbolism, especially in the technology, is meant more for Japan, but that doesn't diminish the experience of the film.

At first glance, the cast doesn't appear to be impressive, but these performances are top-notch and well directed by Gore Verbinski ("The Mexican" and "Mouse Hunt"). Coming off the phenomenal success of her role in "Mulholland Dr.," Watts is Hollywood's upcoming "it-girl."

Martin Henderson holds his own as her ex. The cast is filled in by her son, Aidan (David Dorfman) who is spookier than Haley Joel Osment, giving a dark and foreboding feel.

Perhaps what makes this movie so scary is the inevitability of the ticking clock and the use of modern technology. Most of the time horror movies are told in some remote place where no help is to be found. In "The Ring," it doesn't matter where the victims are or who is around – death is inevitable.

Despite a few technical mistakes, "The Ring" is one of the best horror movies ever made.

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

Verizon pulls bill insert for sniper movie "Phone Booth"

Verizon has pulled a bill insert promoting the movie "Phone Booth," a thriller about a sniper in New York City, because of the deadly shootings in the Washington, D.C., area.

THE CHARTS

Billboard Hot 100*Top 10

1. "Dilemma," Nelly (featuring Kelly Rowland). Fo' Reel.
2. "Gangsta Lovin'," Eve (featuring Alicia Keys). Ruff Ryders.
3. "A Moment Like This," Kelly Clarkson. RCA.
4. "Hey Ma," Cam'ron (featuring Juelz Santana, Freekey Zekey & Toya. Roc-A-Fella/Def Jam.
5. "Work It," Missy "Misdemeanor" Elliott. The Gold Mind/Elektra.
6. "Lose Yourself," Eminem. Shady.
7. "Underneath It All," No Doubt, featuring Lady Saw. Interscope.
8. "Luv U Better," LL Cool J. Def Jam.
9. "One Last Breath," Creed. Wind-up.
10. "Sk8er Boi," Avril Lavigne. Arista.

Billboard 200 Top Albums*Top 10

1. "Elvis: 30 31 Hits," Elvis Presley. RCA.
2. "Bounce," Bon Jovi. Island.
3. "Forty Licks," The Rolling Stones. ABKCO.
4. "Let Go," Avril Lavigne. Arista.
5. "Nellyville," Nelly. Fo' Reel.
6. "Home," Dixie Chicks. Monument/Columbia.
7. "The Eminem Show," Eminem. Web.
8. "Man vs. Machine," Xzibit. Loud/Columbia.
9. "The Last DJ," Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers. Warner Bros.
10. "American Idol: Greatest Moments," Soundtrack. RCA.

Hot Adult Contemporary*Top 5

1. "Complicated," Avril Lavigne. Arista.
2. "One Last Breath," Creed. Wind-Up.
3. "Where Are You Going?" Dave Matthews Band. RCA.
4. "The Game of Love," Santana, feat. Michelle Branch. Arista.
5. "A Thousand Miles," Vanessa Carlton. A&M.

Hot Country Singles*Top 5

1. "Somebody Like You," Keith Urban. Capitol.
2. "Beautiful Mess," Diamond Rio. Arista.
3. "Where Would You Be," Martina McBride. RCA.
4. "Work in Progress," Alan Jackson. Arista Nashville.
5. "American Child," Phil Vassar. Arista Nashville.

Top Electronic Albums*Top 5

1. "Heaven," DJ Sammy. Robbins.
2. "The Richest Man in Babylon," Thievery Corporation. Eighteenth Street Lounge.
3. "Dirty Vegas," Dirty Vegas. Capitol.
4. "Bunkka," Oakenfold. Warner Bros.
5. "AHundredDaysOff," Underworld. V2.

Top Independent Albums*Top 5

1. "This Side," Nickel Creek. Sugar Hill.
2. "Jerusalem," Steve Earle. Artemis.
3. "Thug Misses," Khia, featuring DSD. Artemis.
4. "Imagine," Eva Cassidy. Blix Street.
5. "Reggae Gold 2002," Various Artists. VP.

Weekly charts for the nation's best-selling recorded music as they appear in next week's issue of Billboard magazine. Reprinted with permission.

www.kstatecollegian.com

Read JJ Duncan's review of Interpol's new album "Turn on the Bright Lights" online.

Movie's drug-laden plot underestimates viewers' intelligence

"FORMULA 51"

★★★★☆

Movie review By Adam Lee

We all know party drugs, like ecstasy, might leave your brain with more holes than a golf course, but sometimes a film about those narcotics can be just as neurologically abusive.

"Formula 51" is so mind-numbing, it leaves you drooling uncontrollably in your seat, questioning the existence of God.

The movie starts in 1972 with Elmo McElroy (Samuel L. Jackson) driving down the California coastline with Buddy Miles' funk-rock masterpiece "Them Changes" blaring from his eight track. Elmo is celebrating earning a degree in pharmacology with a post-commencement spliff when a state trooper pulls him over.

What follows is the movie's most comical and intelligent scene.

A drug offense will negate his pharmaceutical license, so Elmo tries to explain to the trooper that this minor offense will ruin his life.

"Rules are, like, arbitrary, you know," Elmo contends, "Made up for, you know . . . like, people who believe in Santa Claus."

The cop doesn't buy it, time jumps forward 30 years, Elmo becomes a drug manufacturer, funk-rock is replaced by funky rap-rock, and the movie starts to feel like a bad trip.

Elmo has developed a new super-drug, which he plans on using to fund his retirement. So he blows up his boss in L.A. and flies to Liverpool, where he's secured a $20 million bid for his formula.

When his English business associates are greased by a sniper, Elmo is forced to team up with a football hooligan played by Robert Carlyle ("The Full Monty," "Ravenous") in hopes of finding another buyer.

Dead bodies and expletives increase exponentially, but the film's charm continues to plummet.

Director Ronny Yu, a member of the Hong Kong action school, must have some resentment against the United Kingdom hold-over from colonialism. He portrays England in such a derogatory and trite manner that it's no wonder the film bombed last year when it was released in that country under the title "The 51st State."

Even with a cast of British actors, it's hard to believe that anyone involved in this film has actually been to England. Cliches like fish and chips, Mini Coopers and Manchester United abound, treating the audience like a bunch of ignorant American tourists.

If you're looking for some Brit-thug action, save some money and avoid a headache by renting "Lock, Stock and Two Smoking Barrels" or "Gangster No. 1."

Courtesy art

Americal | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

Give Brite a break

Kicker's will should be commended

SEAN PURCELL

My hat goes off to Jared Brite.

The K-State kicker will receive grief and criticism all week for the field goal he didn't make in Saturday's loss to Texas, and maybe he deserves a little of it.

But he shouldn't be getting all of it.

I understand he's a Division-I athlete who isn't executing like he should, but at the same time, he's just one man.

And one man can't win or lose a game.

After the 17-14 loss to the Longhorns, Brite strode into the media room, where sharks were ready to feast on his broken, bleeding heart.

Anyone without some toughness would have folded and buckled under the impending scrutiny.

But Brite didn't.

He took every question and answered each one fully — never dodging one.

He never made an excuse, and he was genuine when explaining how much it pained him to have let his team down.

To be honest, he showed some courage when it would have been easy not to even show up.

But when you're a skilled player, you have to face the firing squad when you mess up and revel in the praise when you give your team a chance to win.

And Brite has done that.

In Colorado, Brite hit a clutch field goal when called upon to do so, bringing K-State within just four points of making an amazing comeback.

But people don't think about moments like those after losses like these.

That's OK — Brite seems like he can take it.

The guy was obviously overwhelmingly saddened by what happened, but at least he had the guts to stare a situation like that right in the face and give it his best shot.

No one else would have even stood up to the challenge.

What student is going to have the nerves to try to win a college football game on his own in front of 50,000 plus people?

What west-side sitting chair-backer is going to kick a ball 36 yards and send a game to overtime?

Every single one of them can only criticize and yell obscenities, because that's what fans do.

But when you are a kicker, you're always either the hero or the goat. You have to be ready to handle moments like these.

Brite knows this. Coach Bill Snyder still has faith in his kicker. Brite's teammates still have faith in him. That's because each one of those players has been in a situation where he feels like he's lost the game for his team.

Take, for instance, the Cat secondary in the Colorado game.

Or what about Eli Roberson and his pitch to no one in last season's Oklahoma loss?

Good teams rally around each other, or around one person, when times get tough.

So should fans.

I'll tip my cap to Brite. I know I couldn't do it — neither the kick nor press conference afterwards.

So who am I to criticize?

Sean is a senior in electronic journalism. You can e-mail him at spu5598@ksu.edu

DISAPPOINTMENT

Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN
Lee Jackson, left, hits quarterback Eli Roberson during the second half Saturday night in the Wildcats' 17-14 loss to the Longhorns. "My hat goes off to Texas," Roberson said. "They came out and played us. Offensively, we couldn't get ourselves going, and we were killing ourselves with penalties every time we had a good drive."

Kicking troubles continue as Cats' comeback bid fails

By Sean Purcell

A 35-point win can sometimes overshadow a growing problem.

But a three-point defeat brings it right to center stage.

With seven seconds left in Saturday's 17-14 loss to Texas, K-State kicker Jared Brite had a chance to tie the game and send it to overtime.

But his 36-yard field goal attempt was blocked — a low kick that left K-State wondering what could have been, had it been given an extra frame of football.

For Brite and the Cat kicking crew, the sight was all too familiar.

K-State's first score didn't result in seven because of a blocked extra point. Three times against Oklahoma State, the same thing happened.

The Cats, however, didn't score enough points to compensate this week.

Brite said he couldn't tell if it was low, but he knew what had happened because he heard it.

"My head was still down when I heard the thump from someone's hand, so I couldn't see if it was the low or not," Brite said. "The way I hit it, it felt like it was going high, but you never can tell."

The decision to kick can be debated and looked at in hindsight, offensive coordinator Ron Hudson said. But it wasn't much of a second thought initially.

With seven seconds, it's hard to run one more play, he said.

"If you throw a fade, then you could

Matt Stamey | COLLEGIAN
K-State's Jared Brite attempts a field goal with seven seconds left in Saturday's game against Texas. The field goal would have tied the game, but it was blocked, and the Longhorns won 17-14.

end up using seven seconds," Hudson said. "So we opted to go ahead and kick the field goal, and we all know what happened there."

And now it will be second-guessed.

Coach Bill Snyder said the last play is what people will talk about days after the game, but it shouldn't be the focal point of the contest with Texas.

"When you look back, it's easy to focus all of our attention on that, but those are two snaps out of 150 in the ball game," Snyder said. "Don't tell me we didn't have ample opportunity to win the ballgame."

Many of those opportunities for the Cats were called back because of penalties.

On two different occasions, K-State's offense had a chance to move the chains. But a penalty negated each play, and both times the drive resulted in a punt.

The first came in the opening quarter, when quarterback Eli Roberson hit James Terry for 21 yards to the Texas 38-yard line. But a holding penalty brought the ball back to the K-State 31.

Two plays later, the Cats were punting. Then Roberson tried to hook up with Taco Wallace early into the third quarter. The 23-yard pass and catch would have taken the Cats out of their own end zone and near midfield.

But another holding call sent K-State backwards.

Two plays later, the Cats were punting once again.

See TEXAS Page 7

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NFL | Chiefs blow lead

The Kansas City Chiefs just can't hold a lead.

Jason Elam kicked a 25-yard field goal with 12:03 left in overtime as the Denver Broncos rallied from a two-touchdown deficit in the fourth quarter to beat Kansas City 37-34 Sunday.

Elam's game-winner, set up by a 25-yard pass interference penalty against Chiefs cornerback Eric Warfield, came four plays after Keith Burns blocked Dan Stryzinski's punt and Dwayne Carswell recovered at the Kansas City 32.

Shannon Sharpe set a franchise record with 214 yards receiving and caught two second-half touchdown passes for Denver (5-2), which beat the Chiefs (3-4) at Arrowhead Stadium for the first time since 1998.

Broncos quarterback Brian Griese completed 30 of 50 passes for 376 yards. He was 20-of-33 for 278 yards after halftime.

Chiefs kicker Morten Andersen became the NFL's career field goal leader — then missed a big one in the fourth quarter.

BY THE NUMBERS

Texas 17, K-State 14

Second quarter

UT: Johnson 39 yard pass from Chris Simms (Mangum kick), 14:14
K-State: Hobeisel 2 yard run (Brite kick blocked), 11:55

Third quarter

UT: Thomas 2 yard pass from Chris Simms (Mangum kick), 5:35

Fourth quarter

K-State: Hill 15 yard pass from Eli Roberson (Sproles rush), 10:40
UT: Mangum 27 yard field goal, 1:32.

Rushing: K-State — Sproles 20-136, Roberson 26-23, Saba 1-2, Hobeisel 1-2, Wilson 1-0, Team 1-(-4), Texas — Benson 23-59, Young 4-4, Team 1-(-2), Simms 4-(-15).

Passing: K-State — Roberson 7-18-0-102, Texas — Simms 13-24-1-184.

Receiving: K-State — Terry 4-80, Hill 3-22, Texas — Johnson 4-132, Williams 3-16, Shanahan 1-13, S. Thomas 1-7, Edwards 1-6, Timmons 1-5, Robin 1-3, O. Thomas 1-2.

Team Statistics	UT	KSU
First downs	10	16
Rushing	3	20
Passing	6	9
Penalty	1	3
Rushing attempts	32	50
Yards gained	67	245
Yards lost	21	84
Net yards	46	159
Net yards passing	184	102
Passes attempted	24	18
Passes completed	13	7
Had intercepted	1	0
Total offensive plays	56	68
Total net yards	230	261
Avg. gain per play	4.1	3.8
Fumbles: number-lost	0-0	5-1
Penalties: number-yards	4-25	7-55
Number of punts-yards	9-358	9-386
Avg. per punt	39.8	42.9
Punt returns: number-yards	5-16	2-9
Kickoff returns: number-yards	1-0	2-55
Interceptions: number-yards	0-0	1-0
Fumble returns: number-yards	0-0	0-0
Miscellaneous yards	0	0
Possession time	27:15	32:45
Third-down conversions	5/15	6/16
Fourth-down conversions	0/0	1/1
Sacks by: number-yards	4-22	3-15

TOP 25

K-State fell three spots in the latest Associated Press top 25 poll. They are also ranked No. 21 in the ESPN/USA Today top 25 rankings. Here is a look at the rest of the AP top 25.

Record	Pts	Pvs
1. Miami (61)	6-0	1
2. Oklahoma (13)	7-0	2
3. Virginia Tech	7-0	3
4. Ohio St.	8-0	4
5. Georgia	7-0	5
6. Notre Dame	7-0	7
7. Texas	6-1	8
8. Michigan	6-1	11
9. Washington St.	6-1	10
10. LSU	6-1	14
11. Florida St.	5-2	12
12. N.C. State	8-0	13
13. Iowa	7-1	15
14. Oregon	6-1	6
15. Southern Cal	5-2	19
16. Tennessee	4-2	16
17. Iowa St.	6-2	9
18. Penn St.	5-2	20
19. Alabama	5-2	24
20. K-State	5-2	17
21. Colorado	5-2	23
22. Air Force	6-1	18
23. Arizona St.	6-2	—
24. Bowling Green	6-0	25
25. Minnesota	7-1	—

Others receiving votes: Florida 85, Marshall 66, Colorado St. 38, Washington 27, California 26, Texas Tech 21, Virginia 21, Mississippi 17, Boise St. 13, Boston College 12, Texas A&M 10, Kentucky 7, Maryland 6, Pittsburgh 3, TCU 2, Wisconsin 1.

Horns' big plays dampen defense's solid effort

By Ben Fehr
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It was hardly a terrible effort.

K-State's defense, in giving up just 46 yards on the ground and 184 yards through the air in Saturday's 17-14 loss to Texas, might have played well enough to win.

The Wildcats have won two games in which the defense surrendered more yards.

Eastern Illinois put up 324 yards against K-State and Southern California was able to move the ball for 296.

Linebacker Terry Pierce, who had nine tackles against Texas, including three for losses, said the defense was confident coming into the game.

"We never had a doubt in our minds whether or not we were going to win," he said.

"It just hurts to know we had that much confidence and didn't get it done. We wanted this win so bad that it's hard to explain how bad it feels to actually lose."

But big plays are what hurt the Cats against Texas.

A 39-yard touchdown in the second quarter, a 53-yard pass in the third and a 32-yard pass that set up the game-winning field goal for the Longhorns, all from quarterback Chris Simms to wide receiver B.J. Johnson.

Pierce said those types of breakdowns are what killed the Wildcats in both losses this year.

"What's so frustrating is that we're not playing teams that really just beat us," he said. "We're playing teams we're just as good as, and we should have been able to win the games."

"We've been in a position to win and we've just made too many mistakes," he said. "We've had some critical stuff happen to us and we just have to be able to play better in the clutch."

See DEFENSE Page 7

Kelly Glasscock | COLLEGIAN
Terence Newman pulls down Texas' Roy Williams after completing a play for a Longhorn first down. He finished with four solo tackles and an interception.

Volleyball holds off Texas A&M's late charge

Wildcats finish off Aggies in 3rd set; team uses good serving to earn shutout

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State's volleyball team didn't play a five-game thriller with Texas A&M this weekend, but it sure felt like it.

Tied at 27 in the third game of Saturday's match, the Cats had a chance to either fold and allow the Aggies to take them to a fourth game or pick it up and put Texas A&M away.

They chose the latter. The Wildcats (11-6, 7-2) defeated the Aggies (12-6, 4-5) 30-21, 30-21, 32-30 Saturday afternoon in Ahearn Field House, but it wasn't as easy as the first two games would indicate, Coach Suzie Fritz said.

"I didn't expect to be 2-0 going into the locker room," she said.

"That is a very good volleyball team, and they have been rolling over people. So we were expecting a very competitive match."

One year ago, the Wildcats and Aggies duked it out to the end in Ahearn — playing five games where K-State was up two games — but let Texas A&M force a fifth game.

This year, though, K-State was able to withstand the Aggie charge.

The difference in the match came down to the simplest of aspects, setter Gabby Guerre said.

K-State won the serve and pass.

"Our serving is starting to get really good. We were serving aggressive, and they passed pretty poorly, to be honest," she said. "That helps our defense when they aren't setting the ball to who they

K-State's Jami Sleichter digs the ball over the net Saturday afternoon at Ahearn Field House against Texas A&M. The Cats swept the Aggies in three games.

Drew Rose
COLLEGIAN

want to set it to."

Fritz said the domination the Cats were able to show over the Aggies, for the most part, reminded her of their performance not too long ago against Texas.

"Everyone has their night," she said. "I remember we played poorly against Texas, and we've bounced back. Maybe this was A&M's night. I don't expect them to go away. I expect them to still be one of the top teams in the conference."

DEFENSE | Despite limiting Texas to manageable gains, Cats give up too many big plays in clutch situations

Continued from page 6

Co-defensive coordinator Bob Elliott said the potential for giving up big plays increases considerably when playing a talented team like Texas.

"Texas is one of the two or three most talented teams in America," Elliott said. "You give them enough chances to throw the ball deep to those receivers and they're going to make plays. They're the best in the country."

Elliott said the Longhorns were simply the more fortunate team on Saturday.

"To hold Texas to 230 yards of offense on a night like this and fight them right down to the nubs, and go down swinging, I'm not displeased with the overall effort and execution," Elliott said.

"They were five of 15 on third down. They didn't sustain drives. They got some field position, converted a couple things, and won the game. You have to give them credit."

But strip it all down, and what's left is the Wildcats' inability to keep Texas at bay when they needed to most.

The 32-yard, Simms-to-Johnson pass at the end of the game came on a third and 11.

Freshman defensive back

Jesse Tetuan said the play haunts him.

"It was one of those things where there was nothing we could do about it," he said. "The play was made and they got the first down. We did what we had to do, we stopped them on the next three plays, and they got the field goal."

"You think back and say, 'If we could have stopped them,' but there's nothing you can do about it. The play's over."

Tetuan said the big play at the end of the game doesn't speak to the effort the defense showed against Texas, however. "I'll put this frankly," he said. "Our defense played their heart out just like every game. If I thought any less, then I wouldn't want to be here. Our defense put it on the field and I don't have any doubt we played as hard as we could."

The pass came on fourth and nine, capping a nine-play drive that brought the Cats as close as they would ever get to overtime.

"I sprinted out, and he just came open," Roberson said. "I just saw him and got it to him, and he made a play for us."

Initially, though, that drive gave K-State a glimmer of light on a dark night.

Then a late drive to set up the field goal allowed that light to shine a little brighter.

But the sound of a hand knocking down the pig skin all but slammed the door on the Cats' hopes at a conference title.

And now K-State is left looking to bounce back again, something Newman said can be done if team members can forget about that one play.

"Everyone is going to put a lot of pressure on him — he's a kicker," he said. "He had a chance to win the game and didn't do it. Michael Jordan had a lot of chances to win games, and he didn't do it. So now we are just going to leave it alone."

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

Yes, the students are back in town. They're also spending money to furnish their living spaces. They're shopping in the Kansas State Collegian classifieds. Call to place an ad today 532-6553

SELYOURSTUFF

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744. www.ksu.edu/ksfc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST OCTOBER 14th: Gold ring with three small leaves and a white ball in middle. Much sentimental value. Call (785)395-2125.

LOST ORANGE and white male cat. Last seen on ninth street between Clafflin and Ratone on Friday evening. Call (785)323-0607.

030 Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (K&S, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100 housing/real estate

105 For Rent-Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

"Stay In Class At The Commons"
Now Leasing for 2002-2003!
•Fully Furnished
•2 & 4 Bedroom
•Alarm System
•Swimming Pool
•Washer/Dryer
•Computer Lab
•Fitness Center
•Permit Parking
•Tennis/Volleyball Courts
•Individual Leases
Office Hours: M-F 9-5

539-0500
UNIVERSITY COMMONS
APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE

VERY NICE one-bedroom furnished. By campus, Aggieville. Water, trash paid. Parking, laundry. $420. 1122 Kearney #16. December, January. (785)539-7961.

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

115 Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM FOR sublease in a five-bedroom house. Close to campus. $240/ month plus bills. Call (785)317-5606.

120 For Rent-Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM. NEAR campus, central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking/ pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus, nice four, six-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7050.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus, central air, washer/ dryer hook-ups, garage, off-street parking. Available November 1. 1508 Jarvis, $650. (785)341-5160.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for next semester for a five-bedroom, three bathroom house. Rent $300/month. Call (785)539-5081.

MALE, WALK to class. Needed for lower level. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, pets. $185 plus utilities. (785)539-1554.

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592 or (785)341-5105.

ROOMMATES NEEDED for five-bedroom house, one block from campus. Washer/ dryer included. $275/ month. Call (785)537-4920 or (785)341-9510.

150 Sublease

FEMALE SUBLEASER needed for apartment at University Commons. Shared with three other girls. Please call (785)770-8576. Ask for Sandy.

ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus. 1031 Moro. $350/ month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

200 service directory

250 Automotive Repair

LEWIS AUTO oil change specials $19.99- five quarts house oil and filter. $21.99- five quarts any other oil and filter. Prices are subject to tax. Call (785)770-8553 for appointment.

300 employment opportunities

310 Help Wanted

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

WANTED: CARING, reliable care-giver for part-time pre-schooler care in Christian home near Wamego. Next spring also. Call (785)456-7899.

310 Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

GET PAID For Your Opinion! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. Info (1985)646-1700 Dept. KS-6438.

STUDENTS INTERNET USERS $20/HR POSSIBLE

LABOR: PART-TIME position, Tuesday-Friday. Must be available to work 1-5 or 8-5 Tuesdays and Thursdays. Will include painting, yard work, maintenance, cleaning, etc. (785)539-2309.

WEEKLY HOUSE-CLEANING, private home. Send qualifications, resume to: Staking Publications, 103 Kedzie, c/o Box 5, Manhattan, KS 66506.

320 Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD, Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.dh-movement.org www.humana.org offermaria@humana.org

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

BOOK: Anthology of Chinese Literary Essays (Translated to English) Please visit http://li_chungwang0.tripod.com.

FULL SET used golf clubs $40. Two bicycles at $40 each. (785)539-2940.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

INTERNATIONAL DISCOUNTED airline tickets and rail passes, AAA Travel. (800)365-5222.

WANTED TO buy: student football tickets against ISU. Call (785)323-0369.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1995 CAMARO Z28, dark green, power chip, flowmaster plus K&N, tint windows. Asking $6500, serious inquiries only. Kyle (785)341-9143.

530 Motorcycles

1993 SUZUKI Katana 600. $2000. Runs great. (785)564-0196. Ask for Aaron.

Get personal with the Collegian

600 travel/trips

610 Tour Package

WINTER/SPRING BREAK
Panama City Beach
South Padre Island • Vail
Steamboat • Daytona Beach
Breckenridge
Cover Charges
FREE
Happy Hours
VIP Parties
1.800.SUNCHASE
www.sunchase.com

#1 College Ski Week
BRECKENRIDGE
Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1
Breckenridge, Vail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin
179
1-800-SKI-WILD
1.800.754-6453
www.gskski.com

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPadre. 110% Best Prices! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007 endlessummers.com

I KSU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price, FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

WE PAY to party and we need Marketing Reps! Great commissions- full training provided. Reps get FREE trips and VIP Access on-site! Lowest spring break prices and largest parties in South Padre, Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan. (877)633-2386/jobs@InertiaTours.com

630 Spring Break

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE. Reps needed, earn $$$ Group Discounts for 6+ 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578 dept. 2626) / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica, and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1443 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

SPRING BREAK 2003 is now sponsored by Student Express! Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza: Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentexpress.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

SPRING BREAK Blowout! Lowest prices, free trips, free meals, and parties. Book by November 6. Limited inventory. Most reliable, 15 years experience. Featured on Travel Channel and MTV. sunsplashtours.com. 1(800)426-7710.

JACON • MAZATLAN • JAMAICA
BARRABAS • FLORIDA
SPRING BREAK
PROMOTE TRIPS, EARN CASH, GO FREE!
1-800-648-8891
www.daltravel.com

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext.14 Ask for Craig

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

Deadlines

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $8.00
each word over 20 20¢ per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $9.40
each word over 20 25¢ per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $11.05
each word over 20 30¢ per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $12.25
each word over 20 35¢ per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $13.35
each word over 20 40¢ per word (consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

BUDGET | Tuition helps absorb shortfall; officials plan for future cuts

Continued from Page 1

"K-State, financially, did not come into this fiscal year in a strong situation," Struve said.

Struve said K-State's overall funding was already well below its peer universities, which include Oklahoma State, Colorado State, Iowa State, Oregon State and North Carolina State University. He said K-State's overall budget is at about 80 percent of its peers. The operating budget is around 54 percent of its peers.

K-State was not in a competitive situation, Struve said.

But then the situation worsened.

In August, almost two months into the fiscal year, Gov. Bill Graves ordered $41 million in emergency cuts as a result of lagging tax revenues. Universities were forced to cut their budgets by $5.2 million — K-State's portion was just less than $1.5 million.

Struve said K-State knew more cuts were coming.

"We track this thing very closely. We watch what's going on with the state, watch state revenues. We have people in Topeka, so we know what's going on. This was not a surprise," Struve said. "But it doesn't make it any easier. Sometimes when we say, 'No, we weren't surprised by this,' there's an interpretation that it didn't cause any pain. That's not the situation.

"We pride ourselves on keeping on top of where things are going and plan accordingly, but it doesn't make it any easier."

The emergency cuts, combined with the first state cuts, resulted in $9.3 million less in spending power.

The effects

Administrators in each college had to decide where to cut spending. Some cut travel, some froze positions and some decisions have yet to be made.

"So far, colleges are maintaining the undergraduate education, but it is becoming extraordinarily difficult," Struve said. "And can we continue doing it? Because we were so poor from the outset of this thing, you have to wonder if colleges can continue to keep not only the quality of education but keep the uniqueness of K-State intact."

Other areas also experienced cuts, such as Hale Library. Its hours originally were reduced to absorb the cuts, but after student outcry, they were restored. "Although we are dealing with the budget reductions, it's really tough," Struve said. "It's just been extremely difficult for the areas to deal with it."

About 3 percent of K-State's 25-percent tuition increase helped soften the blow.

Tuition funds helped alleviate the reduction in spending power by about $1.8 million, but those funds were not designed to offset state general fund reductions. They were intended to support faculty salary increases.

"It's unfortunate these two issues had to collide head on with the appropriation reductions and the significant increase in tuition," Struve said.

Struve said a team of university leaders and administrators made presentations across campus to educate students and faculty about the reductions.

President Jon Wefald declined to comment regarding the budget.

The future

It's hard, administrators say, to plan a budget when cuts keep coming.

"It just drains the energy that could be put toward more positive endeavors, and not knowing the full magnitude makes it increasingly difficult," said Bob Krause, vice president of institutional advancement.

Three crucial events will help determine additional cuts, Struve said.

On Nov. 5, the state will elect a new governor. That same day, the state consensus estimating group will make a revised revenue projection for this fiscal year, and on Nov. 8, the state director of the budget will present possible revised budget recommendations.

Then, toward the end of January, the governor will make budget recommendations to the Legislature.

"We can derive from this a pretty good sense of what to expect in January, and that will also help us quantify how large any reductions may be and, to an extent, will shape the initiatives we come up with to deal with them," Struve said.

Krause said they hope those estimates will be worst-case scenarios.

"If we look at last estimates, it would create a situation where the reductions they held would have an incredibly negative impact on the programs at Kansas State," Krause said.

If the worst-case scenario comes true, which Krause said could be around an additional 12-percent decrease, it would hinder the quality of education.

"It would make it impossible to maintain the level of quality we have been able to provide students in the past," he said.

However, Krause said he feels encouraged. He said both gubernatorial candidates addressed the Kansas Board of Regents and said they would like to see higher education funded at an adequate level.

"There seems to be the recognition of higher education and its importance to the future of the state," Krause said. "And that is a starting point."

KOREA | Powell says leaders need to deter nuclear ambitions

Continued from Page 1

"We'll move forward as a group of nations that are concerned about this issue," he said.

North Korea was branded, along with Iraq and Iran, as an "axis of evil" by Bush in January. He pledged after the Sept. 11, attacks that the United States would not allow those nations to threaten the world with weapons of mass destruction.

Iraq has chemical and biological weapons and is said to be working on nuclear arms. Unless U.N. inspectors are dispatched and eventually certify Iraq's disarmament, President Saddam Hussein's government faces U.S. military action either under U.N. auspices or with the authority of a congressional resolution signed by Bush this month.

North Korea has chemical weapons and a rudimentary biological weapons program, and the United States says the North Korean officials admitted this month the country is enriching uranium to make nuclear weapons in violation of a 1994 agreement.

Rice and Powell said the administration is considering how to force North Korea to abandon its program, but there is no plan so far for an invasion.

Powell said the administration considers the 1994 agreement, signed eight years ago Monday, effectively dead.

When the North Koreans told a U.S. envoy of its nuclear program, they "blamed us for their actions and then said they considered that agreement nullified," Powell said on NBC's "Meet the Press."

"When you have an agreement between two parties, and one says it's nullified, then it's hard to see what you do with such an agreement."

As part of the accord, Washington agreed to head a consortium to provide North Korea with two modern atomic reactors to replace its existing nuclear reactors, which could yield more bomb-grade plutonium. Japan and South Korea were to pay most of the $4 billion bill.

A senior White House official said Sunday that, considering North Korea's admission, it was unlikely the two new power plants will be completed. North Korea said the consortium's failure to meet a 2003 deadline was why it nullified the pact.

Powell said Bush will consult with the leaders of South Korea, Japan and China this week at a summit of Pacific Rim leaders in Mexico about whether to halt a provision of the agreement under which the United States supplies North Korea up to 500,000 tons of heavy oil a year. The oil is to help meet the country's energy needs until the new reactors come on line.

Despite the consultations, the White House official said, the decision to suspend the shipments already is all but final.

U.S. officials have said there were aspects of the agreement that the administration wants to preserve.

"We're looking at all of the things that rest on the agreed framework, to see what is in our interest to keep doing, what is in our interest not to keep doing," Powell said on ABC's "This Week."

He mentioned plutonium stored at a facility in Yongbyon that is monitoring by the International Atomic Energy Agency and Energy Department workers. "We don't want to see that suddenly become unwatched," Powell said. "So, we have to be very careful and move with a certain deliberateness."

Powell said it was essential for North Korea's neighbors and other countries "to put maximum pressure on North Korea to make the point to them that this is totally inconsistent with trying to improve the lives of your people."

He said North Korean leader Kim Jong Il constitutes "a threat in his own right" but less so than Iraq's Saddam.

Rice cited differences between the two.

"North Korea ... is deterred by 37,000 American forces and a strong alliance with the Republic of Korea that has kept the peace for 50 years," Rice said, and in recent years Kim has indicated a desire for some opening of his society.

"It is also a poor and isolated power that ... can be told very bluntly that it cannot break out of that isolation at the same time that it pursues illegal nuclear weapons," she said on CNN.

In Iraq, she said, "we've tried everything" since the Persian Gulf War. Both situations are dangerous, but they're not comparable, Rice said. "We believe that we have different methods that will work in North Korea that clearly have not and will not work in Iraq," she said.

That approach won praise from Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle, who has criticized the administration's foreign policy in the past.

"I think there are very significant circumstances that require a different approach," said Daschle, D-S.D., "and I think the administration is making the right decision in using the different approaches."

AG BUDGET | Extension changes travel operations, reduces positions

Continued from Page 1

The college's teaching operations slashed its budget by $249,274. And, if state revenue continues to decline, it might have to slash them again.

"This economic downturn will affect our attitudes for a very long time, recognizing that state resources are very risky," said Dean of Agriculture Marc Johnson.

Research and Extension

Johnson said budget cuts will hit Research and Extension the hardest because it cannot generate or utilize tuition revenue. Tuition revenue can only be used for teaching operations.

So, Johnson said, they reduced 15 permanent full-time equivalent positions, 13 support positions and cut about $1.6 million in operating funds.

Reducing positions is difficult, he said, because they already used flexible positions last year.

"And we don't have much empty now," he said.

They now are in the process of planning for priority programs in case of future cuts, Johnson said.

"You cannot continue to take budget cuts across all programs, or you end up with a mediocre set of programs," he said.

Ohlenbusch said agronomy extension will revamp its operations, such as travels. Prior to budget reductions, county agents and specialists traveled to deliver up-to-date education to farmers, landowners, ranchers and farmers.

Now, he said, they will have to look for alternate ways to deliver their programs, such as by telephone or through the Internet.

"It gives us an opportunity to look at new things, but it's also very frustrating that it's happened rather suddenly, and we're having to make some very drastic changes very quickly," Ohlenbusch said. "We're not able to plan as well as what we have in the past and what we will be able to do this next year, and if we get another cut, I'll have no idea what it means. It won't be good."

They already cut a secretarial position, he said, but additional effects are still unknown.

They will occur when additional budget cuts occur.

Everyone is dealing, Ohlenbusch said, but they all are waiting.

"Everyone's just waiting to see where we end up," he said regarding the budget. "It's one of the most difficult subjects there is to talk about."

Teaching operations

Johnson said the college had no choice but to cut its teaching budget. They could not cut the operations budget because it is already low, he said.

So, six open full-time equivalent teaching positions were closed. Even if economic conditions improve, Johnson said those positions will remain closed because they will still have to recover from the cuts.

He said departments now are in the process of revising curriculums to see if they can still have excellent undergraduate and graduate programs while working with fewer teachers.

"Which ultimately," he said, "is going to mean reviewing the wisdom of offering smaller classes and consolidating some classes so they can maintain the fundamental principles but offer less credit hours."

The quality of education will be affected in several ways, Johnson said. Fewer teachers means larger class sizes and fewer course offerings.

Extracurricular activities also are negatively affected.

"Faculty are also extremely active in advising extracurricular activities, taking students on trips and coaching, judging contests, and things of that nature that all enhance the quality of the academic program," Johnson said.

"And when you have less people, you have less time to do those kinds of activities."

However, Johnson said they still will offer quality, competitive degrees.

"We will maintain an excellent core program for teaching, but the additional educational opportunities on the edges will be diminished," Johnson said.

Tyler Breeden, senior in agricultural economics and agriculture senator, said the cuts will hinder the college's advancement.

"The College of Agriculture is one of the best agriculture colleges in the nation," Breeden said, "and what most distresses me as a student is the fact these government cutbacks will not allow us to progress as a college as rapidly as we could have expected."

Course cutbacks also worry him, he said.

"The decrease in offerings in class times is also a worry to me because the students needing required classes might find it difficult to complete their requirements," Breeden said.

And now, he said, tuition money is maintaining current levels of educational opportunities instead of improving them.

Despite the cuts, Breeden said the level of his education will be maintained due to the excellent teaching staff.

"I don't feel like my education will be affected in a negative way, but there could possibly be limits on short-term improvement," he said.

GIVE US YOUR OPINION.

CAMPUS FOURUM: 395-4444

Bobby T's

Monday Night Football Mega Blowout

3 X-Box games competing at the same time

50¢ Wings
Biggest, Baddest,
Best Wings in Town
10¢ Peel & Eat
Shrimp

Monday Night Football
•Trivia
•Madden 2003
•Bingo
Win $475 CASH & Prizes
Win a 27" Color TV & Microsoft X-Box

$2 Bud and Bud Light Bottles
$2 Wells & Calls

$5.95 Chicken Fried Steak

$2.95 Chili Dog

you can finally buy a book
WORTH ITS PRICE
CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
On sale
in Kedzie 103
8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon-Fri.

Monday Night Football

Indianapolis vs. Pittsburgh

JOE'S MONDAY
KING OF THE WING

ONLY 10¢
TILL HALF TIME
Why pay more?

$2 Big Domestic Beers

Best Wings in the 'Ville

Hurry! Halloween is coming fast!
RESERVE YOUR COSTUME NOW!

Racks & racks of every imaginable costume
(some for sale, some for rent)
Wigs•Shoes•Hats•Masks•Makeup•Free Candy
Drawings for Prizes

Marie's
Costumes

529-5200
2011 FT. RILEY BLVD • MANHATTAN
Mon-Sat 10-8, Sun 1-6

Porter's
BAR

WEEKLY SPECIALS

monday
$1 OFF All Drinks
tuesday
$1.50 Enchiladas
$2 Red Stripes
$2.50 Rum Drinks
$2.50 Bud Pints*
*keep glass plus
$1.50 refills
$1 Sex on the Beach Shots

wednesday
10¢ Wings from 6 - 9
$1 Hot Sex Shots
$1.50 Cosmos
$2 Big Domestic Beers
$2.50 Frozen Drinks

thursday
50¢ Tacos
$1 Montezuma Tequila Shots
$2 Import & Micro Bottles
$3 Red Bull/180's and Vodka
friday
$2.50 Boulevard Big Beers
$2.50 Miller Lite/MGD Bottles

Best Lunch Deal
in the 'Ville
$3 sandwich and chips
TUES-FRI
11-2

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Tuesday, October 22, 2002

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Regents restrict credit solicitors

Policy goes into effect this spring

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

After a year of student complaints from the six Kansas Regents universities, the Kansas Board of Regents took action against the solicitation of credit cards on campus with the adoption of a new policy.

The policy, which passed with a 6-3 vote Thursday in Topeka, states that the solicitation of credit card applications from students will not be allowed to take place on campus during first two weeks and last week of each new semester. Solicitation also is banned the week prior to each semester.

The policy will take place beginning next spring.

"The matter was brought to our attention by a group of students and concerned legislators," said Dick Carter, director for external relations for the Kansas Board of Regents.

"This sets a baseline

See CREDIT CARDS Page 3

Sales tax revenue lacking

Kansas totals down for 2nd straight year

By James Hurla
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sales tax revenues were down in Kansas for the second straight fiscal year, according to Department of Revenue figures.

Only 18 of Kansas' 105 counties experienced gains from July 2001 to June 2002, with the state seeing a 1 percent decrease overall.

"The big impact is the support the state gets from this," said David Darling, community development economist with

See TAX Page 3

SIGNS OF THE SEASON

Changing leaves along Wreath Street signal cooler weather for students. Morning temperatures are often colder, and students have to alter their summer patterns of dress.

Photos by Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

Changes in weather can affect students in many aspects of life

By Edie Hall
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The fall season visibly changes the world.

Leaves change color and fall to the ground.

Students see their breath on the way to class in the morning instead of feeling sweat drip down their backs.

In addition to this, some officials say the changes fall brings go deeper than the landscape and the weather. It can affect students in their personal lives, academics and health.

Personal lives

Dorinda Lambert, associate director for clinical services at University Counseling Services, said that if students see a trend of relationships ending in the fall, they are noticing something pretty consistent with what happens to others.

However, Lambert said it is important to distinguish between changes that occur due to students returning to a school setting and changes that might occur because of seasons. She said that if relationships do end in the fall, it is more likely due to students returning to school after a summer away rather than the changing seasons.

She said that when students come back to school in August, many things are happening.

"They've gained new experiences over the summer," she said. "They've been growing and learning about themselves."

Lambert said students might return to school to find that old relationships don't work anymore.

"You've been changing and you've been changing - sometimes you come back together and can't resolve differences due to these changes, and relationships do end," she said. "But it's not like a virus. It's a natural process of growth and development."

Lambert said an increase in stress brought on by being back in class can potentially end relationships.

"The pressure of being back with classes and tests and juggling 15,000 things and trying to keep a relationship going can be too much depending on how they handle that pressure," she said. "They may become more irritable and not be able to handle those relationships."

Lambert said she believed people could learn how to handle the increase in stress. She encourages students to check out www.ksu.edu/counseling for information.

Academics

Judy Lynch, director of the Academic Assistance Center, said professors see a drop in how students are doing in their classes after spring break, and a similar drop after Thanksgiving break.

"The time between Thanksgiving and Christmas can make or break a student," Lynch said. "Sometimes it hurts them - they just totally lose their focus. They go home for Thanksgiving and don't come back mentally."

Lambert said increased stress from returning to school was also a factor in students' academic success.

"People are juggling a variety of things," she said. "If a person can't manage time and studies normally, as stress grows that gets worse. Some students push themselves too hard using the same skills that don't work."

Lambert said students should learn how to study effectively and how to balance schoolwork with time for themselves.

"We do suggest people learn to take better care of themselves, then the pressure becomes less toxic," she said. "The most successful students recognize when pressure is coming and prepare themselves for it."

Lambert said that if students are failing academically, it probably has less to do with the change in the weather and more to do with not having sufficient skills to keep up with their school work.

However, she said some people may have a sensitivity to a lack of light, which could make them more prone to become depressed. These students may be diagnosed with Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD).

She said SAD isn't as much of a concern in this part of the country as in more northern regions.

"I wouldn't suggest that all students who have trouble getting out of bed in the morning have this disorder," she said.

Leaves are strewn on the ground in Sunset Cemetery. The change in color marks more for students than a scenery change. After the first frost, students don't struggle with allergies.

See AUTUMN Page 7

INSIDE

Cat sparkplug:
Volleyball's Jensen team's go-to player during sizzling 8-game streak

Sports, Page 6

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Two men taken into custody for questioning in sniper case

Investigators said Monday the Washington-area sniper apparently tried to contact them in a phone call, but it was too garbled to understand. Also, Virginia authorities surrounded a white van at a pay phone outside a Richmond gas station and seized two men. The men were not involved in the attacks and would be deported for immigration violations.

Page 7

Car bomb sets fire to Israeli bus; at least 16 killed, 45 wounded

A car with explosives pulled up to a bus in northern Israel during rush hour Monday, igniting a fireball that trapped passengers in the bus and killed at least 16 people, including two suicide attackers, and wounded about 45.

U.S. distributes new Iraq resolution

The United States on Monday distributed a revised U.N. resolution on Iraq to the other veto-wielding members of the Security Council that it said would toughen weapons inspections and ensure there will be "consequences" if Iraq fails to comply.

Court won't review teen executions

The Supreme Court declined to hear two capital murder cases Monday, revealing deep divisions over the constitutionality of executing people who killed when they were juveniles and allowing exceedingly long waits on death row.

Six men suspected of receiving al-Qaeda training indicted by grand jury

Six men from Buffalo, N.Y., were indicted Monday on charges of supporting terrorism by training at an al-Qaeda camp in Afghanistan and providing material support to a foreign terrorist organization.

Weather

Today 52 | 40

Wednesday 48 | 38

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 44

Colleges of Engineering, business hope to make up lost funds

Future budget cuts forces schools to find new ways to fund programs or cut them

By Katie Lane
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Larger class sizes and less resources are predicted characteristics for the futures of the colleges of Business Administration and Engineering.

Past budget cuts and the expected upcoming budget cuts have deans in both colleges hunting for dollars everywhere they can.

The College of Engineering

The engineering college has wrung out all the inefficiencies it could and is looking for ways to increase revenue.

Terry King, dean of the College of Engineering, said philanthropic gifts, reorganization of office staffs and partnerships with the government are all opportunities to bring in new resources.

"With cuts of this magnitude, you can't do business like you've been doing business," King said.

The College of Engineering already has had to cut 3 percent of its budget, and about 4 percent more is expected to be cut next year, King said.

"The way we do our budgeting is all of our resources are put into departments," he said. "The departments are expected to make the cuts."

Although staff cuts might lie ahead for the College of Engineering, King said it won't happen anytime soon.

"The biggest problem from the staff is they feel uncertainty," he said. "We've tried to assure them there are no imminent layoffs, but they're concerned."

This year's budget cuts have yet to trickle into the classroom, said James Goddard, professor of architectural engineering and construction science.

"It hasn't affected me directly in the classroom," Goddard said. "We've lost funding for one full-time faculty position. That's impacting us because now we'll have to cover the sections that individual would've taught."

The college's enrollment has been growing for the past few years, which puts added pressure on class size, Goddard said.

"At the same time we're getting cuts, the students are growing," he said. "We're already finding out some courses aren't going to be taught in the spring."

Cutting sections means larger class sizes, which could affect the overall level of education, Goddard said.

"If a class is designed to be a smaller, interactive class, it's harder for the instructor to get involved," he said.

King said it is difficult to find ways to cut the budget and maintain quality education at the same time.

"People are being squeezed pretty hard," King said. "We're going to have to find ways to improve the

Budget cuts

In the next two weeks, the Collegian will explore the effects of budget cuts made by the Kansas Legislature by analyzing each of K-State's 11 colleges, along with services that affect students. With mid-year cuts that could be detrimental to the university, higher education funding has become a top issue in November's elections.

quality and less expense. It's still a bargain to come to school here."

This year, both engineering and business students were charged a $5 fee to help retain faculty in the colleges. King said it is difficult to maintain faculty members with the salaries they were being paid.

"The salaries are so low we tend to lose some faculty," King said. "We expect the budget to be cut 4 percent. Clearly we must reduce personnel. Long term, we just can't survive that way."

The College of Business Administration

Business students and faculty are being affected tremendously from the budget cuts, said Yar Ebadi, dean of the College of Business Administration.

"It's one of the most challenging things I've ever faced," he said. "It's not fun to deal with cuts and find

See BUDGET Page 7

Interview Suits

23 Years of Launching Careers
with Professional Clothing

Borck Brothers

Westloop Shopping Center
785-537-8636 • www.borck-bros.com

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Remove a garment

5 Resistance unit

8 Beauty mark

12 Broad spread

13 Miller

14 Sebastian

15 Hollywood

17 Crushing blow

18 Remnant

19 Luminox

20 Healthy

21 Young fellow

22 Listening device

23 Spiral

26 Tackled the tall grass

30 "So be it"

31 Greet the villain

32 Head light?

33 Perfect score

35 Bach's scores?

36 Poster

37 Anderson's "high—"

DOWN

1 Clinton opponent

2 "The Good Earth" heroine

3 Vendetta

4 Visibility hindrance

5 Eightsome

6 Piece of stock footage?

7 Guys

8 Playwright

9 Skunk's defense

10 Hardly subdued

11 Catch a glimpse of 16 Con game of

20 Dinner for Dobbin

21 Airborne Charles

22 "Misreadings" author

23 "I scoot at thee!"

24 Ostich's cousin

25 Spy novelist

26 Turf

28 Wallace or Whitney

29 Dopey friend?

31 Plead

34 Scoot

35 "Lisa"

37 Piquant

38 "The Godfather" author

39 Largest of the seven

40 Tony-winning musical

41 Despot

42 Card-table capacity

43 Emanation

44 Helen's place

46 Regis' employer

Solution time: 21 mins.

Yesterday's answer 10-22 47 Irritate

STUMPED?

For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-228-5851 95¢ per minute, touch-tone only. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

BM X SNHBWVC AM

D XSBH MNEE AMM X

KSBWIN BC'H DAHHBKEN

COXC ON'W IA BV HNBVN

Yesterday's Cryptquip: BY IRONING MY BEST DRESS PANTS THE WRONG WAY, I ACCIDENTALLY DE-PLEATED THEM.

Today's Cryptquip Clue: H equals S

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to: Crypt Classics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Dana Strongin at 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291-020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

FACFS IN THE CROWD

Illustration by Adam Hayes COLLEGIAN

Unauthorized billboards have Woods wondering

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tiger Woods is teed off about six billboards using his likeness that call for the passage of a state ballot proposal.

Woods' agent Mark Steinberg said neither he nor Woods gave permission for the ad.

The billboards feature a drawing of a golf-club-toting Woods with the words "water hazard" in red. They show Woods spitting out murky, brown Michigan water and saying he doesn't feel "up to par."

Rooney not apologizing

Andy Rooney conceded he probably shouldn't have said anything in the first place about women reporting from the sidelines at NFL games.

But he didn't apologize for his remarks on CBS's "60 Minutes."

Earlier this month, Rooney said on the "Boomer Esiason Show" on the MSG Network: "I'm not a sexist person, but a woman has no business being down there trying to make some comment about a football game."

The curmudgeonly commentator said Sunday the statement was "a derogatory remark I would have been better off not having made." But he didn't change his mind that women have no place on the sidelines at football games.

"I wish I hadn't included all women covering football. Some are quite good," the 83-year-old said. "But most of the women are there because they're good looking, not because they know the game."

Oasis cancels concert

The British rock group Oasis canceled its concert in the Philippines after a spate of deadly bombings in the country and in Indonesia.

The band was scheduled to perform Wednesday at the Araneta Coliseum in suburban Quezon City.

"Due to recent terrorist attacks in both Bali and the Philippines, Oasis has regrettably decided not to play its show in Manila on Wednesday," agent Ben Winchester said in a statement.

Cooper looking for screams

Alice Cooper, the rock star who's frightened audiences for years with gruesome concert performances, has opened his latest haunted house attraction.

"Alice Cooper's Nightmare: The Breakdown," which opened Oct. 2, is the sequel to 2001's "Alice Cooper's Nightmare."

This year, the effects include lifelike props, high-tech robots and computer movement systems staffed by the same company used by major theme parks.

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Friday, Oct. 18

At 9:30 a.m., Akkavit Aindilokwong, 1630 Humboldt, Apt. A, was arrested for lewd and lascivious behavior and sexual battery. Bond was set at $1,500.

At 11 a.m., Marcus Ingram, Missouri, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $3,000.

At 2:25 p.m., Pedro Ramirez, 359 N. 14th St., Apt. B, was arrested for failure to appear. No bond was set.

At 4:15 p.m., John Clark Jr., (no address given), was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $2,500.

At 5:05 p.m., Sabrina Ferguson, 730 Allen, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $2,500.

At 5:25 p.m., Jerry Rash Jr., 2009 Casement Road, was arrested for worthless check and failure to appear. Bond was set at $1,780.25.

At 7:45 p.m., Wendy Montgomery, 708 Frey, was arrested for forgery. Bond was set at $3,000.

Saturday, Oct. 19

At 1 a.m., Lana Woodyard-Ramsey, 818 Bluemont Ave., No. 2, was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.

At 2 a.m., Michael Stephenson, 1140 Village Drive, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $750.

At 2:15 a.m., Paul Rothschilder, Junction City, was arrested for disorderly conduct. Bond was set at $500.

At 2:35 a.m., Howard Blaylock, Fort Riley, was arrested for aggravated battery and disorderly conduct. No bond was set.

At 3:05 a.m., Gary Winslow, Clay Center, was arrested for DUI and driving on a revoked license. Bond was set at $3,000.

At 10:35 a.m., Toni Keener, 931 Claflin Road, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.

At 4:50 p.m., Jennifer Bindee, 805 Kearney, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $260.

At 9 p.m., Cecilia Maurer, Wichita, was arrested for unlawful possession of substances. Bond was set at $500.

At 11:53 p.m., Kelly Ellsworth, 1027 Thurston, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $750.

Sunday, Oct. 20

At 12:57 a.m., Michael Fogarty, 1530 McCain, Apt. 11, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $750.

At 1:50 a.m., Roy Joosten, Riley, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

At 2 a.m., Sheila Casey, 8610 E. Highway 24, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

At 2:50 a.m., Robert Billinger, Wamego, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

At 2:50 a.m., Gary Wheatley, Garden City, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

At 2:55 a.m., Anthony Conrad, Riley, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

At 4:30 a.m., Lino Rueda, 158 Redbud Estates, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license, DUI and transporting an open container of liquor. Bond was set at $1,000.

At 4:45 a.m., Corey Isbell, Wamego, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

At 6 p.m., Sean Russavage, Nebraska, was arrested for unlawful use of a license. Bond was set at $750.

At 6:50 p.m., Sylvian Arceneaux, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.

The planner | Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house on 918 N. Manhattan.

"Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 in Hale Library's second floor.

Royal Purple yearbook pictures will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today through Friday in Union Courtyard. Pictures will also be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the Salina campus.

Hale Library presents the "Terrifying Tuesday Lecture Series" with speaker Jerry Weis presenting "Bioethics: Should we or shouldn't we?" at noon today in the hemisphere room. Bring a lunch.

The American Marketing Association will meet at 6 tonight at Pizza Hut in Aggieville.

The Lutheran Campus Ministry will meet for supper and Bible study at 6 tonight at 1745 Anderson Ave.

SGA committee meetings tonight in OSAS conference room: senate operations at 6 and governmental relations at 9.

A Community Service Program International and Kansas teams informational meeting will be at 6:30 tonight in Union 212.

The Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30 tonight in Hale Library Tower Room 3.

Basic library classes will be from 10 to 10:45 a.m. today in Hale 408 and 7 to 7:45 tonight in Hale 114.

Career and Employment Services will conduct an overseas teaching panel workshop from 7 to 9 tonight in Union 212.

Career and Employment Services will conduct an experiential learning orientation workshop at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in Holtz Hall. Call (785) 532-6506 for a reservation.

Up next | In Wednesday's Collegian

News | Be aware

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness month. Find out how this disease has affected students and alumni and learn some interesting facts.

Sports | Winning ways

The volleyball team squares off with Missouri tomorrow. The Cats are riding a five-match winning streak. Read about how the team stacks up against the Tigers and how confident they are going into Wednesday's match.

Life | Cleaning up

Learn more about what happens after you leave Aggieville and find out the truth about when you have to vacate the bar scene.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS

1800 Claflin Road

776-5577

We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

October is ALL treats at Hair Experts!

"Treat" yourself to our Spa Experience
Come in & pick your coupon treat from our Jack-o-lantern.

Hair Experts Design Team
1325 Anderson Ave. 776-4455

Alpha Xi Delta Greek Games Mr. Lungs Competition

Union Food Court 9:30 - 3:30
Tuesday - Thursday this week

Who's your favorite Mr. Lungs?

Give change for your favorite guy!

Benefits Asthmatic children through the American Lung Association

GAME GUY

Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent

Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games

Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5

(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com

712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA.

Little Caesars

TUESDAY SPECIAL!

1 18" GIANT PIZZA
WITH 1 TOPPING
PLUS AN 8 PIECE ORDER
OF CRAZY BREAD

$8.99

539-3333

Valid only at participating locations. ©2001 L.C.C., Inc.

Join Us at

The Other Side

Gothic & Fetish Clothing

Sat. 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Sun. 12 p.m. - 4 p.m.

100 N. 5th St., #112
Salina, KS 67401

Making Violence Visible

Making Violence Visible

Your Untold Stories

We are gathering stories which are hard to tell, but which need to be told. We are collecting stories that tell the truth about the violence that individuals have endured. Rape, intimidation, battery, sexual assault, brutality, being drugged, coercion under fear of violence - these events are happening to us, day after day, year after year - and seldom is the full story told. Here is your invitation to tell your story.

No names will be used. Complete confidentiality.

Pick up and return your form at the Women's Center, 206 Holton Hall, or call 532-6444 for more information.

Help us make the invisible Visible. Tell us your story.

Movies to promote diversity

By Tina Deines
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Exposing students to diversity issues is the purpose of a series of movies that will be shown throughout the year.

A film will be shown at 11:40 a.m. every Tuesday and Wednesday in Bluemont 19 as part of an awareness campaign sponsored by the Midwest Equity Assistance Center.

The center is one of 10 regional organizations that foster assistance concerning race, gender and national origin. It is based at K-State and serves the states of Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri.

The center began showing movies Oct. 8 and will continue to show them throughout the year, said Ronna Oliver, administrative assistant at the center.

She said the movies are chosen by the students who work at the center and are picked according to timeliness and content.

This week's featured film is "Killing Us Softly," a movie that addresses gender issues in society.

Tina Henderson, office assistant at the center, said she feels that the movies will raise awareness on issues that aren't usually discussed among college-age students.

"Basically we're trying to get information out there to make people more aware," Henderson said.

She said she hopes students will retain the information they get from watching the videos and attain a deeper understanding of societal issues.

"Students will hopefully come away with more information regarding certain issues and certain genders," Henderson said.

Carrie Wewers, student as-

Upcoming movies

- Oct. 22-23 — "Killing Us Softly"
- Oct. 29-30 — "Tough Guise"
- Nov. 5-6 — "Bill Cosby on Prejudice"
- Nov. 12-13 — "Playing Unfair: The Media Image of the Female Athlete"
- Nov. 19-20 — "All Orientals Look the Same"
- Nov. 26-27 — "Off the Straight & Narrow: Lesbians, Gays, Bisexuals & Television"
- All movies will be shown at 11:40 a.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays in Bluemont 19.

Source: Ronna Oliver, administrative assistant at the Midwest Equity Assistance Center.

Assistant at the center, said the videos will be very effective for the purposes they serve.

"I think these videos are interesting," she said. "They are enlightening and leave you thinking."

Wewers also said that when students are exposed to blunt messages, they gain a new understanding of the world and a willingness to change it.

Henderson agreed about the strengths of the movies.

"These movies kind of throw it in your face," Henderson said. "Sometimes it's kind of uncomfortable, but it makes you want to do something about these injustices."

Henderson said an important part of changing unjust practices is through exposure to the issues.

"I think a lot of people at K-State aren't exposed to things like this on a daily basis," Henderson said. "The more people are exposed to things — to races and other sexes and homophobia, the more of a catalyst it is to change society."

TAX | Decrease in revenue leaves education, housing facing budget cuts

Continued from Page 1

K-State Research and Extension.

Higher education already has seen numerous cuts, Darling said, and the decrease in sales tax revenue almost undoubtedly will force more cuts.

"The governor doesn't want to make more cuts," Darling said. "Not on his watch. He wants to put it off so the next governor is forced to on their watch."

There is no question that there will be cuts, Darling said, but legislators must decide where to make the cuts. Higher education, K-12 education and housing are among the possibilities.

Darling said inflation was about 2 percent for fiscal year 2002, which makes the decrease even more dramatic.

"It was a surprise to me because inflation alone will usually make it creep along," he said. "It is a red flag to me as an economist to see the numbers aren't keeping pace with inflation."

Despite troubles across the state, Riley County was able to post a 2.2-percent gain. Darling said this is a huge improvement from fiscal year 2001, when Riley County saw a 7.8-percent drop.

Bernie Hayden, chief financial officer for the city of Manhattan, said the increase so far during calendar year 2002 has been about 4 percent. He said he expects the final change to be between 2-1/2 and 3-1/2 percent.

"Manhattan's economy is surprisingly strong considering obvious difficulties the national economy is suffering," Hayden said.

Because of the procedures involved in reporting sales tax revenues, Hayden said the amount collected in September more accurately represents what business was done in July. This can cause discrepancies in how accurately revenue numbers reflect gross sales, he said.

Maintaining a consistent retail base is important to the

Fiscal Year 2002

Percent change in sales tax revenue for fiscal year 2002 (July '01-June '02)

- Geary: -0.7
- Johnson: 1.3
- Pottawatomie: 3.3
- Riley: 2.2
- Sedgwick: -0.7
- Shawnee: -2.4

Source: Kansas Department of Revenue

health of Manhattan's economy, Hayden said.

"We shouldn't be surprised at these numbers," he said. "With a new Target and eventually a new Home Depot, it will equate to new growth."

CREDIT CARDS | New policy restricts cards on Regents campuses

Continued from Page 1

minimum standard and requires campus administration to adopt a policy."

The Board's policy also requires each soliciting company to educate and inform students on the responsible use and the risks of credit, along with providing information on the solicitation of credit card applications.

Each university will include educational material on these topics through student programs and various materials.

At K-State, revisions to the university's former policy are taking place after numerous complaints from students and faculty members.

"Changes have been suggested by students and SGA," Student Body President Zac Cook said.

"We found that over the past few months, a blanket policy wouldn't be the way to go for the state schools."

In the coming weeks, members from the Student Government Association and student activity services will be working to adapt the changes into the new policy.

"A committee will be looking to get that done in the next few weeks," Gayle Spencer, coordinator of student activities, said.

"It's definitely on the radar." While these changes will be made within the month, Cook said he did not see many differences taking place with the new policy.

"The new policy will make it a lot more conducive to learning," he said.

"One key change to the policy is there will be no hawking, which means that solicitors cannot yell at the students."

"The contact must be initiated by the students. That will be the major change that people will see on the main campus."

Under this policy, Cook said only on-campus solicitation will be affected.

There are different rules for the solicitation that takes place in the K-State Student Union and during athletic competitions.

Although he agrees with the Board's decision on a new solicitation policy, Pat Bosco, dean of student life, said he would have liked K-State to create its own policy.

"I would have liked a policy that would be homegrown and specific for K-State," he said.

"However, we'll work with the approved Board of Regents policy, and with the help of SGA and Gayle Spencer, we will comply fully with the new policy."

With the change taking place in the spring semester, Bosco believes it will take some adjustment time and eventually will become beneficial.

"Our students and organizations will adapt, and it will be a good thing in the long run," he said.

 GUMBY'S Pizza Thurs - Sat 11 a.m. - 5:30 a.m. Sun 11 a.m. - 2 a.m. Mon - Wed 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m. FAST FREE DELIVERY $0.50 PBR Pints DAILY	SUNDAY NFL FOOTBALL on ALL TV's $3-60 oz. PBR pitchers $2.50 Bloody Marys/ Screwdrivers $2.50 Calls	MONDAY CASH for 1st place MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL $1 PBR draws $2.75 Jack Drinks $4 Domestic pitchers TUESDAY Common Ground 9pm $2 wells $2 Boulevard draws $2.50 Jager shots	WEDNESDAY POOL TOURNEY 7pm Cash for 1st place $2 Domestic bottles $1.50 Coors Lt. Pounds $3 Premiums $3 PBR pitchers	THURSDAY PINT NIGHT/ GOLDEN TEE TOURNAMENT $3 domestic pints w/ $1.50 refills &amp; Keep the glass! $2.50 Calls $2.50 imports/micros	FRIDAY LIVE MUSIC $3 domestic big ass beers $2.50 Captain drinks $1 PBR draws SATURDAY College Football on All TV's $1.50 domestic draws $4 domestic pitchers $4 Red Bull and Vodka
---	--	--	---	--	--

Royal altering | STATE

Tuesday, October 22

Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures

Salina Campus Salina Organizations

10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Next up: Wednesday, Oct. 23
Kappa Sigma 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

It's a lot of talk for just a little.

FREE PHONE

5,400 MINUTES

First Month FREE
On New Local Plans
With One Year Agreement

CELLULARONE

SIMPLICITY CHOICE VALUE 30 DAY SATISFACTION GUARANTEE

1.800.cell.one cellularone.com Cellular One proudly supports The National Youth Anti-Drug Media Campaign www.TheAntiDrug.com

Cellular One

1115 Westloop Place
785-537-4646
800-467-7858
Ask for Rich or Will.

Manhattan Town Center Mall
785-776-1414
Ask for Angela, Scott or Mike.

Offer good for a limited time on new activations on select rate plans only and are subject to change without notice. Not available in all areas. May not be combined with any other offers or discounts. Included minutes apply to calls from within local service area only. Unused minutes expire each month. "Night" minutes apply to calls made from 8:00 p.m. to 8:00 a.m. Monday through Thursday, and "weekend" minutes apply to calls made from 8:00 p.m. Friday to 11:59 p.m. Sunday from within home calling area only. Except as indicated, additional fees apply for taxes, assessments, surcharges, roaming, long distance, operator-assisted, credit card or other bill charges. Incoming and outgoing calls are charged up and billed in full-month increments from the time the network begins to process the call through to termination of the call. Prepaid offer other than rebate. Rebates have no cash value. Taxes apply to original purchase price. Rebates may take up to 10 weeks to process. Offer must be purchased by Oct. 26. Only one rebate per phone purchased. Rebates are subject to the terms of our standard 12 or 24-month service agreement that includes a $200 fee for early cancellation and a mandatory activation provision for each phone. Activation fee and deposit may be required. Digital handset required. Outside the digital coverage area, service may be limited, and certain digital features may not function. This offer may be changed upon notice to the customer if more than 60% of usage is outside the Western Wireless network on nationwide rate plans. Must reside within a Western Wireless-served market to have nationwide plans. On nationwide plans, weekend minutes apply to calls made within our 20 state regional area. Preferred hardware available at Cellular One stores and participating dealers while supplies last. Service is not TV compatible. See coverage maps and website for details. Offer restrictions may apply. Cellular One is a registered service mark of The Cellular One Group. © 2002 Western Wireless Corporation.

Organization Guide

Join the ski club

K-State Snow Ski Club

Meet other skiers and snowboarders. Regular scheduled meetings as well as social events and ski trips. Next meeting is Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 8:30 p.m. in 209 Union.

Call David Burch at 565-0426 or e-mail snowski@ksu.edu. Adviser, Randy Taylor, 232 Seaton, 532-2931.

Join us

Clubhouse Managers Association of America

Learn more about the hospitality industry in private clubs.

Go to local meetings and national conferences.

For more information call Kale Becker, 587-0995. Adviser, Pat Pesci.

Join us

KSU Microbiology Club

Microbiology Club is great for learning about research and work in this field through speakers and tours, as well as having fun activities to get to know others with similar interests.

To learn more, e-mail Anne Hanzlick at ach5983@ksu.edu.

All students welcome

Phi Beta Lambda (PBL)

Being a member of PBL is fun and exciting. PBL is the college division of FBLA. We compete on the state and national level and also PBL will fine-tune your leadership skills during the conferences and workshops you will attend.

For more information e-mail Mike at mls8855@ksu.edu and visit www.kansaspbll.org.

KANSAS STATE

Panhellenic AND Inter-fraternity Councils

Check us out

MIS Club

Come to the MIS Club meeting on Oct. 28 at 7 p.m. in Calvin 212. Representatives from Manhattan Steel & Pipe will be there to discuss their Enterprise Resource Planning software and other information technologies.

Be sure to check out the MIS Club website for more information at http://cba.ksu.edu/org/mis

Phi Beta Lambda (PBL)

Kappa Delta

Opportunity of a lifetime.

Rotaract Club

- Professional Development
- Leadership Development
- International/Community Service
- Regional/International Travel "Service Above Self"

Call Summer Alford at 539-2381 ext. 24.

Honesty & Integrity Peer Educators H.I.P.E.

Help educate the campus about K-State's honor system! Join an organization with fun and enthusiastic students whose goal is to promote academic integrity on campus. Visit us at www.ksu.edu/hipe

For more information contact Helene Marcoux at 532-2595 or e-mail helene@ksu.edu.

BECOME A BEACH BUM

Join Student Friends of the Beach Museum of Art

Student Friends is dedicated to supporting the Museum through service projects, encouraging appreciation of the fine arts at K-State and creating an interest and promoting participation within the campus community.

ONLY $10 PER SEMESTER FREE T-SHIRT 10% DISCOUNT AT MUSEUM SHOP INVITATIONS TO RECEPTIONS PLUS MORE!

For more information call 532-7718.

Join for some fun

KSU Paintball Club

Paintball is an adrenalin-filled sport in which it is easy to make friends. Discounts on paintballs and air fills. Play in a safe, organized environment. Membership open to anyone.

Call Darran McEwen at (785) 554-1389 or e-mail dpm9996@ksu.edu. Adviser, Tsgt. Dies, 108 M5.

Join

Wheat State Agronomy Club

- Many fun activities
- Traveling opportunities
- Fun and friendly atmosphere

Please contact Stacie Corbin sjc6655@ksu.edu or 532-7258.

Adviser, Dr. John Fritz, 3016 Throckmorton, 532-5539.

Become involved

Agricultural Economics/Agribusiness Club

Meet fellow students and faculty and learn of career opportunities in the field.

To learn more contact Joe Dolezal at 770-8334 or e-mail jjd9498@ksu.edu.

Adviser, Hikaru Peterson, 3046 Waters Hall, 532-1509.

Come to a holiday party on Nov. 21 and make Christmas cards and decorations.

TO THE POINT Solicitation laws do not reflect university needs

The Kansas Board of Regents has set restrictions on credit card solicitation, but its decision seems to aim more at appeasing the six Regents universities than at solving solicitation problems.

The policy mirrors a University of Kansas moratorium on credit card solicitation from Aug. 15 to Sept. 5. Officials from KU and the other Regents universities were concerned that college students would make poor financial decisions resulting in debt, which ultimately would be the fault of solicitors.

What the Regents failed to understand was that these solicitors are student organizations just trying to earn money through fund-raisers. It's a fast and easy way for campus organizations to raise a large amount of money.

The policy bans solicitors for three weeks of the semester. This still allows solicitation for 13 weeks a semester, or 26 weeks a year. This policy seems to reflect a Regents decision that didn't want to set demands on an issue it didn't appear to be concerned about.

A better decision would have been to let the universities develop individual policies, therefore reflecting the needs of their students.

The legislation was silly and lacked a firm stance.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Janel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

Reality television mimics viewer's life experiences

NASRINA BURNETT

Why is it that every Wednesday night I am glued to my TV screen?

Because I can't wait to find out which contestants will be chosen by the bachelor as potential brides.

I admit it. I am addicted to a reality TV show. I didn't mean for it to happen. I was watching the first show of this season with my roommate, and before I realized what was happening, I was hooked.

During the first season of "The Bachelor," I remember thinking how stupid the show was, and what idiots the women on it had to be in order to put up with dating a guy who dated several other girls at the same time.

How did I lose my convictions and become another victim of the growing reality television addiction? What happened to the sitcoms I watched in my youth? Am I the only person who still watches reruns of "Family Matters," "Saved by the Bell" and "Just the Ten of Us"?

Sociology professor Mark Fishman of Brooklyn College, in a study of reality television, writes "The Germans have a word for it, the appeal of some of these shows. It's called 'schadenfreude.' It means taking delight in the misfortunes of others. It's a guilty pleasure. You feel you shouldn't be watching. It's always been in good taste not to look at these things. It's a moral envelope that's being pushed. We seem to be in a new age of making public what [we used to think] shouldn't be seen."

Illustration by Ben Dolezal | COLLEGIAN

I do not fully agree with this explanation of the reality television phenomenon. I admit that when I see the whiny, two-faced, over-emotional blonde get rejected by the bachelor, it is a satisfying experience. But I am equally satisfied when the genuine, down-home brunette from Texas is chosen to remain on the show for another round.

The component of reality television that sucks viewers in like a Hoover sucks dirt is the ease with which viewers relate to the characters. We pick our favorites based on personal preference. Then we proceed to watch the show religiously in order to cheer them on or mourn their failure.

The reality TV addiction is so powerful because we connect to these "real life" characters more than the fictitious Zack from Saved by the Bell or Laura from Family Matters.

The people we see on reality shows are, after all, just like us.

This sends a clear message about our cultural values. There are two basic varieties of reality TV shows - romantic and monetary. You either win some hottie's affections or a really huge cash prize; sometimes both. "The Bachelor" and "Temptation Island" are two examples of popular shows falling into the romantic category, while "The Mole" and "Survivor" are oriented monetarily.

"Fear Factor" is a show which provokes thought on the influence of fear in our life and how monetary rewards facilitate overcoming those influences. "The Amazing Race," which offers education about traveling abroad, also has received rave reviews, but this again is a show about winning money.

It seems the only important things in life are love, sex and money.

By watching these shows, we are able to learn more about the kinds of people we are, or the kinds of people we would like to be.

The contestants on the shows are people like us, pursuing the material things and relationships we strive for throughout our lives.

However, while some reality TV shows can be enjoyable and even educational experiences, I would advise discretion when selecting your dose of the fad.

If I am ever caught watching "The Anna Nicole Show," I hope someone will disconnect my cable permanently.

Nasrina is a senior in philosophy. You can e-mail her at ne66793@ksu.edu.

When Parking Services strikes, appeals process could waive violation fee

I've been hit - hit with a parking ticket.

There's nothing like the sight of the little yellow envelope that sticks to your windshield like a leech to its prey. It is the envelope in which no good news comes. It's there to tell you that you get to donate $18 more to the school you've given thousands to already.

I fell victim to the yellow-envelope virus the first week of school. I had a meeting on campus all day and my parking permit was not available to be picked up. Since there weren't any permits, I figured there couldn't be any tickets, so I parked illegally.

Imagine my surprise when I returned after a long day and found a ticket stuck to my windshield. I responded with the usual signs of maturity: swearing, anger and bitter resentment. My roommates were compassionate, but not too concerned until the following day when another one of my roommates received one.

Now it was an epidemic. Her parking ticket was again given before permits were available. She had cross country practice and was forced to park illegally.

Armed with our youthful optimism of fighting the system, we decided to appeal our tickets. We went to Parking Services to file an appeal.

The Parking Service employee was helpful and gave us the forms in order to complete the following process:

1. Answer a few basic questions about the situation.
2. Explain the situation. This is the section where you really have to plead your best sob story, something worthy of a Lifetime movie.
3. Fill out an envelope with your name and address. You must provide the stamp.
4. Wait to hear.

A couple of weeks later, my roommate received a call saying her ticket had been voided. I was still waiting, but figured mine would surely be voided, too. I mean, what does she have that I don't, aside from being older, athletically gifted and really smart?

I continued to wait until a self-addressed letter finally came saying my ticket had not been voided. I now had been bitten by snail mail.

There's nothing like losing twice to the system.

Still bitter, I decided to investigate the appeal process. I prepared myself to do battle with some evil villain from Parking Services. Imagine my disappointment when the Director of Parking Services, Darwin Abbott, turned out to be a nice guy.

He gave me some insight into how the process works. Once filed, appeals go to two judges - one is a student and the other a faculty member. They are elected by students and faculty. The judges vote whether to void the ticket.

Their votes are sent back to Parking Services where, if the judges agreed, the appeals are either voided or returned to the owner. If the judges don't agree, the form is sent to a third judge to break the tie, which is probably where mine went, and why it took longer.

Abbott said he didn't know exactly why mine was not voided, because the system works on a jury-like system it can vary somewhat on its selection. He said sometimes in the beginning of a semester, there are variances due to a new judge.

Abbott said that of the many appeals Parking Services receives, about 40 percent are voided. He offered a few tips to make sure your appeal is part of the minority.

Make sure to tell the story completely with full details in order to ensure the best results. Generally the forms that receive voids are those that are truthful and explain the situation with factual evidence.

Although my appeal fell into the 60-percent loser category, and I had to write the painful check, I don't consider it a loss to the system. After all, with the knowledge I gained from writing an appeal and the money I'll make from this column, I'll call it breaking even.

Amy is a junior in print journalism. You can e-mail her at am17555@ksu.edu.

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Janel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

Is there any way we can entice "Automatic Gramatica" to come back and kick for us? I wonder what he's thinking right now.

There's a time and place for everything. It's called college.

Hey, Chris Shank, those whining Longhorns came into Manhattan and beat us physically and mentally. You suck.

If you're going to blame anybody for K-State's losses, blame offensive coordinator Ron Hudson.

Does anybody know how to get ahold of Ray Finkel?

I think it's time to give the third-string kicker a shot.

To the protesters out front of the $30,000 walls we just built: No to war equals no to peace.

I want to get hit by a car. Who cares about the pain? I get a jazzy chair.

Yeah, to the girl who gave us the $5.55 deal at Arby's Sunday night: You are hot.

Great job, defense. Offense, you suck.

It's not the kicker's fault, not the coach's fault, not the quarterback's fault. It's James Dunnigan's fault. You suck.

I think the Collegian should have a sex column just like the KU paper.

What if the Hokey Pokey really is what it's all about?

Girls at football games need to wear underwear so I don't have to see their hairy cracks when they bend over.

I'm interested in being a PAT kicker. I was wondering when Bill Snyder is holding tryouts.

I suggest an all-university kicking contest and whoever wins it gets a full-ride scholarship.

If I was a place kicker at K-State, I wouldn't show my face around campus for a couple of days.

I don't care what anyone says. K-State football still rocks.

It's worth getting pulled over and getting a ticket if the cop is as hot as mine was today.

All kickers have to do is kick the ball through the uprights, and they can't even manage that. How are we supposed to win games if the only people who have one job to do can't do it?

To the guy who was doing the YMCA at the game on Saturday: Make sure your "C" faces the right direction.

Tim Shallenburger and Eli Robertson: They both drop the ball.

Girls are like parking spaces: All the good ones are taken and the rest are handicapped.

Help wanted: A kicker who can kick.

Next week, the kicker needs to take some Viagra so he can get it up.

I think the fans of K-State football would like to see Joe Rheem. He's the man.

To whoever stole my credit cards: I hope you have fun with them. Next time, try selling your body. Maybe you'll make more money.

Next time somebody behind me at a football game says something bad about Eli, I'll probably just turn around and punch you in the face, just to get it over with right there.

Whoever No. 19 is on the football team, I was watching him kick and, um, yeah, that's nice.

To all you lazy people out there who don't go to class: Please quit school so I can have your parking space.

To all the women of K-State: Jared Brite has a problem getting it up.

Whoever keep farting at the football games: Yeah, that's a lot of gas, and that's two weeks in a row. Take some Bean-o.

Eli, what the heck is going on? You dropped what, two or three snaps? You need to get it together.

People need to stop making fun of the football players because they try so hard to be leaders of our school and win games. Even though I hate them, it doesn't mean we should make fun of them.

More like Eli Over-throw-berson.

Athletes' report: Pervis Pasco passed out in my eggs at Village Inn at 3 a.m. Saturday. Whoa.

Remember to shave your legs. You should never get to the point where you're able to brush your leg hair.

Instant potatoes are the most remarkable invention ever.

You know you're ghetto when you have a laundry detergent box holding your CD player shut. You gotta love living in the dorms.

Maybe if the kickers had SUVs they'd start winning games, too.

I found the G-Spot last night.

Snyder, if you were bright, you'd get rid of Brite.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. Not enough fourum? For the full version check out www.kstatecollegian.com.

Page 5

MUSIC WITH A MESSAGE

Karen Mikols
COLLEGIAN

Christian bands trade hymnals for electric guitars, rockin' beats

WHAT WE HAVE HERE IS EVIDENCE TO DEMONSTRATE: IF YOU GO TO KENNEDY AND ARTICLE TWO, 40 THIRTEENTH, FORTY-SIX AND FORTY-EIGHT, YOU'RE GOOD. MAINE AAAAAH YIP.

YOU SUGGEST CHOMSKY IS A SENIOR RALPH WILSON?

I HAVE SEEN HEAVEN, AND IT'S ENDING. LOOK DOWN AT THOSE EYES. VERY, VERY TIGHTLY. PUT US BACK THE TOP!

DAMNIT, JUNIOR, YOU REMEMBER THE AGREEMENT WITH YOUR FATHER? 8% ME AND 12% HIM? THE BILLIONS OF DOLLARS WERE SPENT ON RESEARCHING AND PR. RESEARCH AND TELLING US SOMETHING DIFFERENT. WOULD HAVE DESTROYED GEORGE!!! AND ONE MORE THING...

TBC

WELL I JUST WANT THAT ONE THING!

IF THEY STILL WANT TO DO FRIENDS THATS COOL GIVES ME A BACK UP!

YOU KNOW? I HATE MEN LIKE YOU! YOUR THE REASON GIRLS CANT TRUST NICK GUYS..

WOW! I HIT A BUTTON. DID I?

Don
Cassidy

_____

FAVORITE TARGET

Terry emerges as Cat quarterbacks' top receiver

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Wide receiver James Terry dropped a catchable pass in the first quarter of Saturday's 17-14 loss to Texas.

Quarterback Eli Roberson placed the ball over Terry's right shoulder, but the junior couldn't come up with the reception.

The completion would have given K-State the first down. Instead, the Cats were forced to punt.

At that moment, Terry gave himself a little pep talk.

"You got to give yourself that pep talk because you might just be flat the whole game," he said. "My teammates helped me out with that, and I just let it go — just went back there and make some plays."

Eventually, Terry became a crucial part in the K-State drive that set up the potential game-tying field goal.

Roberson threw Terry's direction four times on the final drive — and the 6-foot-5-inch receiver hauled in two of those for catches.

Both receptions were back to back and took the Cats from their own 47-yard line to the Texas 18.

At that point, Terry said the offense really felt they were going to punch it in for six and upend the Longhorns.

"We were very confident," he said. "When you have a drive like that at the end, constantly getting first down after first down, you just feel that it's going to come."

But it didn't. Roberson tried to find Terry one last time inside the five yard line, but Terry was covered, and couldn't hold on to the football.

Terry said the coverage on that play showed the Texas defenders' ability to stay with receivers at crucial times. He said their speed on defense meant he had to be on his game just to get

Terry tearing it up

James Terry played an instrumental role in K-State's final drive. He caught two passes, each for 15 yards or more. Here is a look at the final drive, which set up the field goal attempt.

- Drive start time — 1:32 on the KSU 37
- 1st and 10: Roberson pass incomplete to Terry
- 2nd and 10: Roberson rush for nine yards to the KSU 46.
- 3rd and 1: Roberson rush for two yards to the KSU 48.
- 1st and 10: Roberson sacked for loss of five yards to KSU 43, fumble by Roberson recovered at KSU 38, Roberson for two yards to KSU 40.
- 2nd and 18: Roberson to Terry for 27 yards to the UT 33.
- 1st and 10: Roberson to Terry for 15 yards to the UT 18.
- 1st and 10: Roberson incomplete to Newman.
- 2nd and 10: Roberson incomplete to Terry.
- 3rd and 10: Brite 36 yard field goal attempt blocked, recovered by UT at eight-yard line.

open.

"To get away, you have to basically run good routes," he said. "You can't run right by them, you have to run good routes to get open."

With 15 catches already this year, Terry is on pace of equaling his total of 32 at Butler County Community College last year. Terry averaged 18.2 yards per catch for the Grizzlies, which is almost the same as his YPC this season (18.9).

That shows his consistency, Terry said, something he is looking to improve as the season goes on.

"I know how good I can do and what I can do on the field. I'm just not showing that right now," he said. "Just working hard, getting in practice and working on my weaknesses. Just get it right."

Matt Stamey | COLLEGIAN

Wide receiver James Terry leaps for a reception during the second half of K-State's 44-9 win over Oklahoma State on Oct. 13. Terry is averaging 18.9 yards per catch and has four touchdowns this season.

Despite loss to Texas, football still has chance to do something special

The K-State football team is at a crossroads.

It lost to Texas, the BCS bids are diminished and people are pontificating on which second-tier bowl the team will play in this December.

But truthfully, how big of a crossroads is it?

Dry your eyes, K-State fans. Before you get down, there is light at the end of the tunnel.

K-State will likely be 7-2 when Iowa State comes to Manhattan in three weeks.

This crossroads is like deciding whether to eat at Harry's Uptown Supper Club in Manhattan, or the Plaza III in Kansas City. It can't be that bad with Baylor and Kansas on the schedule.

You are bound to get a good dinner out of it — or in football terms, a victory.

These are a couple of pre-season-like games for K-State. They should be treated as such. The Cats should blow out Baylor and then whip Kansas.

If K-State wins these two games, then anything can happen in the Big 12 Conference. Iowa State has to play Texas this week and then Missouri. Colorado plays Texas Tech and then Oklahoma. Also, these two teams meet on Nov. 16, and Iowa State still must travel to Manhattan.

So this race is far from over. That's why this two-week stretch is critical. The Cats need to hold serve, get better and hope other teams lose. They must take care of conference cupcakes and let the Big 12 Conference teams beat up on each other.

The future is still bright.

It's also what makes the loss to Texas hurt. K-State should be 6-1. If K-State makes that kick and wins in overtime, this team is a legitimate top-10 team and a BCS contender. If that kick finds the middle of the uprights, K-State fans are dreaming today.

Instead, K-State fans are faced with a nightmare. A team that seems to lose close games.

Now the purple faithful have to hope Big 12 North teams lose, and K-State wins out to have a shot.

Forget last week K-State. Figure out the special teams problems and the team should be fine. Granted it isn't easy. Overcoming a slump never is.

Life isn't easy for this crop of K-State kickers. Not when you play for a school that has a tradition of great kickers — when the names like Martin Gramatica and Jamie Rheem were synonymous with being automatic.

Clearly the problem in K-State's kicking game goes deeper than Jared Brite, though. The Cats haven't had a kicker in two years who could consistently hit extra points. It is time for someone to step up.

But congratulations to K-State players for not blaming individuals. Had that happened after the game, we could have been talking about a discombobulated team.

Instead, the team is together, thinking about Baylor and moving the program forward.

Nick is a senior in print journalism and public relations. You can e-mail him at ne8030@ksu.edu.

NICK BRATKOVIC

Wrigley's to credit for Jensen's double-digit kill streak

Junior's consistent hitting attributed to superstition; Jensen continues to sizzle

By Michael Watson
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It doesn't hurt to be superstitious, especially when you're on a roll.

Junior outside hitter Carl Jensen posted double-digit kills for her eighth straight game Saturday against Texas A&M, and she did it chewing Wrigley's peppermint gum.

It's a superstition she's had since playing volleyball at Fowler High School in Fowler, Colo.

"It's just something I do," she said.

"I have to chew gum during every game. I always played well when I chewed peppermint gum, and I just continued doing it."

It paid off this weekend. Jensen had 13 kills against the Aggies, sizzling on a .345 hitting percentage.

About two weeks ago, Coach Suzie Fritz said Jensen was two weeks away from being the outside hitter K-State needed.

That two weeks has passed, and Fritz said Jensen has been a go-to player.

"She's been practicing and hitting a lot of balls," Fritz said. "It's about finding good sets, and Gabby (Guerre) has been putting the ball where it needs to be. Carl has improved a lot and is really taking advantage of those good sets."

Jensen has been consistently good this season, but peaked in the last two weeks.

Out of 17 matches this season, Jensen has scored double-digit kills in 13 of them. Eight of them have been in 3-0 sweeps. She set her season-high 17 kills against Kansas on Wednesday with a .389 hitting percentage.

But Jensen said she doesn't focus on numbers.

She said she just steps on the court expecting to do her best to help the team.

"I don't necessarily try to reach double-digits," Jensen said. "I'm just trying to be a terminal hitter. I want to be a hitter with range, because the more terminal our outside hitters are, the more terminal our team will be."

Fritz said Jensen did exactly what K-State needed her to do Saturday.

Texas A&M is a great team, and they have been rolling over people, she said.

She said she never expected to go into the locker room 2-0 against the Aggies, but improved passing and great setting helped them do just that. And this was against a team that led the all-time series 7-6 going into the match.

"It's composure, and it's something we've talked a lot to this young team about," Fritz said.

"Maybe the thing I am the most excited about, other than the fact that we are just getting better, is that this team is playing like a veteran team."

"I don't necessarily try to reach double-digits. I'm just trying to be a terminal hitter."

Carl Jensen
JUNIOR OUTSIDE HITTER

The Aggies were looking for their first road win in the series in Manhattan.

But K-State forced them to try again next week, holding strong in game three.

The Aggies rallied in game three and carried momentum to a 30-30 tie, but Jensen and the Wildcats answered back.

Saturday's match really made a statement, she said.

"You have to maintain focus," Jensen said. "You definitely can't think they're going to roll over and give you the win. You have to stay aggressive. When you get timid, that's when you start making errors."

But Jensen and the Cats maintained that focus and rolled past Texas A&M.

It was Jensen who led K-State once again, but she said it's about the entire team staying focused and getting the job done.

"We did a good job of keeping our focus (Saturday), and it was good to beat them in three games," she said.

"That's what we have to do — keep our focus for three games and put them to bed."

Drawn Rose | COLLEGIAN

Junior outside hitter Carl Jensen spikes a ball against Texas A&M setter Lexy Beers last Saturday at Ahearn Field House. Jensen had 13 kills during the Cats' three-game shutout of the Aggies.

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NFL | Favre won't need surgery

Brett Favre won't need surgery on his sprained left knee, and the Green Bay Packers are optimistic he won't miss any games.

An MRI on Monday confirmed the team's original diagnosis of a sprained lateral collateral ligament and showed no structural damage to the star quarterback's knee.

The Packers are idle this week. Their next game is Nov. 4 against Miami.

WNBA | Orlando franchise to relocate

The Orlando Miracle will move to a different city next season as part of the WNBA's restructuring plan.

San Antonio has applied for a WNBA franchise in 2003, and is nearing its goal of 6,000 season ticket deposits. The WNBA is also talking with several people in other cities who are interested in acquiring a team, the league said in a release.

The WNBA is owned collectively by the 29 NBA owners, and all of its teams have been in cities where an NBA franchise is located.

But the NBA Board of Governors decided this month to allow non-NBA owners to acquire teams and to allow teams in non-NBA markets. The board decided the Charlotte Sting could remain in that city even though the Hornets moved to New Orleans.

K-State Sports Information

Cross Country | Mortimer finishes 4th

All-American Amy Mortimer placed fourth, leading the K-State women's cross country team to a second-place finish Saturday at the Chile Pepper Invitational at the Razorback Cross Country Course. The senior finished the course in a time of 20:44 after setting the pace for much of the race.

The Wildcat men finished ninth and were led by sophomore sensation Mathew Chesang (30:33), who placed 19th overall in an outstanding field of individuals from 24 teams. Chesang's mark was the seventh-best time by a Wildcat at 10,000 meters.

Arkansas took the team title in both the men's and women's race with 48 and 47 points, respectively. Alabama's David Kimani won the men's race with a time of 28:42 while the women's champ was Karin vanRooyen from Southern Methodist with a clocking of 20:32.

Following Chesang were five other Wildcats that all had personal bests in the competition: Drew Tonniges (30:58), Matt Swedlund (32:23.94), Jordan Lacore (32:34.43), Derek George (32:27.12), and Keil Regehr (33:24.16).

On the women's side behind Mortimer were sophomores Trisha Culbertson-11th (21:37) and Shauna Burrell-29th (22:14) and freshmen Monica Anderson-35th (22:23) and Erin Mortimer-38th (22:27).

Eight Wildcats recorded personal records on Saturday. Culbertson, Burrell, and Anderson all recorded times that put them in the top 10 at K-State at the 6,000-meter distance. Culbertson's mark put her at fifth, Burrell's time came in at ninth, followed by Anderson at 10th.

The Wildcats will compete for the conference crown in the Big 12 Championships at 10 a.m. Nov. 2 in Columbia, Mo.

BY THE NUMBERS

The women's team grabbed second, and the men's team nailed down ninth place at the Chile Pepper Invitational in Arkansas this weekend. Here is a look at the individual times of all K-State runners.

Women's team 2nd place, 104 points

- |                       |         |
|-----------------------|---------|
| 4. Amy Mortimer       | (20:44) |
| 11. Trisha Culbertson | (21:37) |
| 29. Shauna Burrell    | (22:14) |
| 35. Monica Anderson   | (22:23) |
| 38. Erin Mortimer     | (22:27) |
| 158. Kelly Carlton    | (26:12) |

Men's team 9th place, 279 points

- |                    |         |
|--------------------|---------|
| 19. Mathew Chesang | (30:33) |
| 32. Drew Tonniges  | (30:58) |
| 71. Matt Swedlund  | (32:23) |
| 73. Derek George   | (32:27) |
| 81. Jordan Lacore  | (32:43) |
| 108. Keil Regehr   | (33:24) |

The following are the first Bowl Championship Series college football ratings, used to determine the national champion and postseason bowl match-ups:

- |                     |       |
|---------------------|-------|
| 1. Oklahoma         | 3.92  |
| 2. Miami            | 6.41  |
| 3. Notre Dame       | 7.07  |
| 4. Virginia Tech    | 8.63  |
| 5. Georgia          | 8.69  |
| 6. Ohio State       | 8.89  |
| 7. Washington State | 19.44 |
| 8. Michigan         | 19.83 |
| 9. Louisiana State  | 20.71 |
| 10. Texas           | 21.37 |

AUTUMN | Ability to handle change helps students adapt to fall

Continued from Page 1

Health

Dr. Earl Reppert, medical director at Lafene Health Center, said the fall season has some effect on students' health.

He said students might have increased problems with their allergies in the fall until a frost comes. He said Lafene also treats more athletic injuries due to intramural activities in the fall.

He said that as fall turns to winter, influenza becomes more of a problem.

Reppert said flu season can be anywhere between November and February, but if students want to protect themselves from the illness, the best time to get a flu shot is in October or November.

Carol Kennedy, director for health education and promotion, said Lafene will take walk-in patients wanting flu shots, which cost students $7 and faculty $10, Oct. 24 and Oct. 31, and also at some unscheduled dates in November.

Kennedy said students should recognize the changes in temperature that fall will bring and prepare themselves accordingly.

"Students aren't always prepared for the weather,"

"The pressure of being back with classes and tests and juggling 15,000 things and trying to keep a relationship going can be too much depending on how they handle that pressure."

Dorinda Lambert
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR FOR CLINICAL SERVICES AT UNIVERSITY COUNSELING SERVICES

she said. "They aren't properly dressed for it sometimes. They should pay attention to the weather forecast and dress for cold weather."

Kennedy also said students should make sure to continue to get fresh air even though temperatures are cooling down.

Reppert said that when an apartment or house is closed to fresh air, fumes from appliances can accumulate as well as germs from roommates breathing, coughing or sneezing.

Reppert said cracking a window is important.

"If our houses and apartments don't have good air exchange, it's not good for us," he said.

BUDGET | Quality of education could suffer if future cuts are drastic

Continued from Page 1

a way to make it less painful."

The college is facing the possibility of having to cut sections and combine classes.

"Combining classes is not a good idea," Ebadi said. "You do not have the personal interaction. We will try our best to provide the best education and opportunity we can possibly do."

"I'm counting on the dedication of faculty to make the opportunity advantageous to the students."

Laurie Werth, senior in finance, said that although she hasn't heard complaints, she can see the negative effects of cutting sections.

"To stress out the professors and to give them all this extra load will make it difficult for them to teach," she said. "It's unfortunate, but what can we do about it if the money's not there?"

Staff cuts still remain a possibility for future budget cuts, Ebadi said.

"It's always a possibility. We are thinking about combining non-faculty staff to help us," he said.

The $5 fee increase for business students to help retain faculty is a little late for the College of Business, Ebadi said. "We lost six faculty members," Ebadi said. "The main reason was salary. They were not even in the market. If we don't have quality faculty then the program will not be the standing program we have now."

Ebadi said the most difficult aspect about budget cuts is not having the resources to give students the quality education they deserve.

"We are trying to find the least painful way of handling this," Ebadi said. "We already had a 4-percent cut and there is more to come. It's going to get a lot worse before it gets better."

Police say sniper might have tried to contact them

By Stephen Manning
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ROCKVILLE, Md. — In a tantalizing turn in the hunt for the Washington-area sniper, investigators said Monday the killer apparently tried to contact them in a phone call that was too "unclear" to be understood. They pleaded with the person to call back.

The announcement came hours after Virginia authorities surrounded a white van parked at a pay phone in Richmond, Va., and seized two men.

Police later said the men had nothing to do with the case and would be deported for immigration violations.

The most intriguing development came from Montgomery County Police Chief Charles Moose, who is in charge of the investigation.

Moose disclosed for the first time that a call had been received from someone of high interest to investigators — but was somehow muddled.

He did not disclose who received the call, when or where it was made or other details.

But investigators believe the call may have come from the sniper and that the caller was the same person who left a note and phone number the scene of the latest shooting, a law enforcement source told The Associated Press on condition of anonymity.

For the second consecutive day, Moose seemed intent on establishing a dialogue with the killer. On Sunday, he publicly pleaded with the note writer to call authorities.

Early Monday, he said:

"The message that needs to be delivered is that we are going to respond to a message that we have received. We are preparing our response at this time."

Moose said he could not discuss the message further.

The flurry of activity raised hope there had been a break in the search for the sniper who has killed nine people and critically wounded three others in Virginia, Maryland and Washington since Oct. 2.

The latest attack came Saturday night in a steakhouse parking lot in Ashland, just north of Richmond.

The victim, a 37-year-old man, was felled by a single shot to the stomach.

He remained in critical but stable condition at a Richmond hospital Monday after having his spleen and parts of his pancreas and stomach removed. Surgeons removed the bullet from the victim, and authorities said Monday that ballistics tests had linked the slug to the sniper.

The white van, which had 30-day Virginia tags and a small Marine Corps sticker on the back window, had been idling beside the pay phone in Richmond for some time, said David Dunham, a mechanic at a nearby car dealership.

Witnesses said officers converged on the van and dragged out a man. Authorities didn't say how the second man was arrested.

Hours later, the lead fell apart. A Justice Department official said deportation proceedings had begun against the 24-year-old Mexican and 35-year-old Guatemalan.

Get personal with the Collegian personal ads. Call 532-6555.

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent - Apt. Unfurnished
NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

150 Sublease
FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom apartment. Fully furnished with washer/dryer. Will lease individually. Call (785)323-1778. Ask for Beth.

150 Sublease
ONE-BEDROOM CHASE Manhattan Apartments. $490/month includes water and trash available late December. Call (785)565-0674.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements
"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744. www.ksu.edu/ksc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

020 Lost and Found
Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST OCTOBER 14th: Gold ring with three small leaves and a white ball in middle. Much sentimental value. Call (785)395-2125.

030 Post a Note
We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

700 housing/real estate

ADVERTISING... IT WORKS
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie
532-6600

145 Roommate Wanted
ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592 or (785)341-5105.

310 Help Wanted
Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

320 Volunteers Needed
VOLUNTEER ABROAD, Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.dth-movement.org. elfemarie@humana.org

530 Motorcycles
1993 SUZUKI Katana 600. $2000. Runs great. (785)564-0196. Ask for Aaron.

630 Spring Break
KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza. Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentcity.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

150 Sublease
FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for nice three-bedroom apartment for spring semester. Close to campus. Water, trash, gas paid $195/month. (785)770-3570.

150 Sublease
FEMALE SUBLEASER needed for apartment at University Commons. Shared with three other girls. Please call (785)770-8576. Ask for Sandy.

ONE-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus. 1031 Moro. $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

SUBLEASER NEEDED for spring semester. Two blocks from campus. $240/month, with cheap utilities. Extras include washer/dryer, private parking, pool table, foosball and more. (785)236-9553.

200 service directory

250 Automotive Repair
LEWIS AUTO oil change specials $19.99. Five quart house oil and filter. $21.99. Five quarts any other oil and filter. Prices are subject to tax. Call (785)770-8553 for appointment.

300 employment/opportunities

310 Help Wanted
The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

WANTED: CARING, reliable care-giver for part-time pre-schooler care in Christian home near Wamego. Next spring also. Call (785)456-7899.

410 Items for Sale
55 GALLON aquarium stand, all you need is the fish. $250 or best offer. Email jbargen@ksu.edu.

BOOK: Anthology of Chinese Literary Essays (Translated to English). Please visit http://li.chungwang0.tripod.com.

450 Pets and Supplies
MALE RED-TAILED Boa for sale. $125 or best offer. Call 587-9968. Ask for Matt.

465 Tickets to Sell
WANTED TO buy: student football tickets against ISU. Call (785)323-0389.

500 transportation
1995 CAMARO Z28, dark green, power chip, towmaster plus K&N, tint windows. Asking $6500. Serious inquiries only. Kyle (785)341-9143.

510 Automobiles
1995 CAMARO Z28, dark green, power chip, towmaster plus K&N, tint windows. Asking $6500. Serious inquiries only. Kyle (785)341-9143.

530 Motorcycles
1993 SUZUKI Katana 600. $2000. Runs great. (785)564-0196. Ask for Aaron.

630 Spring Break
KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza. Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentcity.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

SPRING BREAK Blowout! Lowest prices, free trips, free meals, and parties. Book by November 6. Limited inventory. Most reliable. 15 years experience. Featured on Travel Channel and MTV. sunslashtours.com. (800)426-7710.

SPRING BREAK 2003 is now sponsored by Student Express! Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Las Vegas, Florida, and Ibiza. Book early and get FREE MEALS! Student Express sponsors the BEST PARTIES and is NOW HIRING salaried Salespeople, Campus Reps, and On-site Staff. Contact www.studentcity.com or (800)787-3787 for details.

SPRING BREAK Blowout! Lowest prices, free trips, free meals, and parties. Book by November 6. Limited inventory. Most reliable. 15 years experience. Featured on Travel Channel and MTV. sunslashtours.com. (800)426-7710.

SPRING BREAK Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, Spade. 110% Best Prices! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring Campus Reps! (800)234-7007. endlesssummertours.com.

I KSU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST prices. FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252. www.springbreakDIRECT.com.

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE, Reps needed, earn $$$ - Group Discounts for 6+ - 1-888-THINK-SUN - (1-888-844-6578) dept. 2626 / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

JUST GIVE us two hours of your time per week until Spring Break and travel free! South Padre Island, Cancun, Acapulco, and Mazatlan. No time and just wanna go? Huge on-site parties and best prices. Friendly help- 800-821-2178 or email: tripinfo@InterliaTours.com

WANTED! BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

ADVERTISE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT

Deadlines
Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

Classified RATES

1 DAY	20 words or less $8.00
	each word over 20 20¢ per word
2 DAYS	20 words or less $9.40
	each word over 20 25¢ per word
3 DAYS	20 words or less $11.05
	each word over 20 30¢ per word
4 DAYS	20 words or less $12.25
	each word over 20 35¢ per word
5 DAYS	20 words or less $13.35
	each word over 20 40¢ per word (consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

SPRING BREAK
Cancun • Acapulco • Jamaica • Bahamas • Florida
South Padre Island • Vail • Steamboat • Daytona Beach • Breckenridge

COVER CHARGES
Welcome Party
FREE
Happy Hours
VIP Parties
Wine from Italy
$64

1.800.SUNCHASE
www.sunchase.com

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003
Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext.14. Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4786 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com.

Collegian xplora

it!

kstatecollegian.com

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."

539-3338

Free pregnancy tests
Totally confidential service
Same day results
Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

STUDENT TRAVEL

take off

For the holidays...

Minneapolis.....	$209
Newark.....	$251
Boston.....	$253
London.....	$385
Paris.....	$461
Sydney.....	$1263

Fares are round trip. Tax not included. Fares subject to change and availability. Restrictions apply.

(800) 777.0112

www.statravel.com STA TRAVEL

ONLINE >> ON THE PHONE >> ON CAMPUS >> ON THE STREET

Dwight D. Eisenhower Lecture in War & Peace

Eisenhower, the Army, and the American Way of War

by
Prof. Brian Linn
Texas A&M University

Forum Hall
K-State Union

8:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 22

TUESDAY

$1.50 Everything $2.95 All-You Can Eat Spaghetti

WEDNESDAY LIVE MUSIC

DAVE OAKLEAF

$2 Bottles & Wells

DAVE'S HIDEAWAY

12TH & LARAMIE

GUMBY'S Pizza & Pub

770-3333

1 STICK IT TO ME

Buy one Pokey Stick at regular price, get one of equal or lesser value for FREE

2 SPECIAL

12" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 12" POKEY STICKS • $5.99
14" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 14" POKEY STICKS • $6.99
M - TH. ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA • CAMPUS ADDRESS ONLY

3 Wednesday wildcat

X-LARGE 16" CHEESE PIZZA • Wednesday Only
Carry Out Only • Toppings Extra

EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH

K-STATE STUDENT BIG 12 Pack

All 8 Big 12 home games for only $48

Includes KU, OU, Texas Tech, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa State, Baylor and Colorado

FREE PARKING WITH ALL STUDENT TICKET PACKAGES!

PACK IT WITH PURPLE!

MEN'S BASKETBALL STUDENT SEASON PICKUP

ICAT ONLY - Tuesday, Oct. 22 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

ALL TICKETS - Wednesday, Oct. 23 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

BRAMLAGE COLISEUM TICKET OFFICE

upcc Lunchtime Lounge

wednesday | oct. 23
activities begin at 12:00
union courtyard

LIVEmusic
thursday | oct. 24
begins at 8:00p.m.
union station

LEAVING OUR MARK... ONE EVENT AT A TIME

HOTLINE: 532 6572 WEBSITE: www.ksu.edu/upcc

favorites from our bookshelf

The Chili Queen
-Sandra Dallas

Sandra Dallas does it again painting a picture of place and time with her latest book The Chili Queen. This book doesn't have the pathos of Dallas' Alice's Tulips or The Diary of Mattie Spenser but it does have delightful, memorable characters. The setting is a brothel called The Chili Queen in New Mexico and as the story warms up each character romps and fringes out the story line to an O. Henry ending. A fun read!

-Stormy

Clafin Books and Copies
Independent books for independent minds

Fat's Bar & Grill

Tuesday

$1 pints
$2.50 lab rats

Wednesday

$1.50 Anything
$3.50 Toasted Sandwiches

A Great Way to Earn $25 Today!

Donate your blood plasma to help save kid's lives.

Earn $25 CASH.
(for approx. 2 hours.)

Call or stop by:
ZLB Plasma Services
formerly Nabi Biomedical Center
1130 Gardenway
785-776-9177
Fees & donation time may vary.
www.zlb.com

100

You called a hundred times

So What?

10

Did you make the Top 10?

Find out in Kedzie 103 and get your Top 10 Forum Calls T-Shirt for only $15

POP COLOR

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

International Coffee Hour

"PAKISTAN: LAND OF TALENT AND FAITH"

Presenter: Altaf Karim

Come learn about Pakistani sports heroes and artists, meet people from different cultures, taste Pakistani food and have fun.

Wed. Oct. 23, 4-5 p.m.

International Student Center

PUSH

NOT ALL AIR FORCE ROTC STUDENTS FLY PLANES. GETTING THEIR TUITION PAID BY THE AIR FORCE IS THRILL ENOUGH.

Your pulse quickens. Your heart races. And that's just when you're in line at the bus stop. For Air Force ROTC, getting your tuition paid by the Air Force is just one of many experiences you can have in Air Force ROTC. Get some hands-on training through one of our summer internship programs. Hone your competitive edge at a leadership seminar. Then enjoy some serious downtime with up to $400 extra spending money in your pocket every month. Not to mention graduating with a guaranteed job and no student loans to pay back. Push your dreams, your life, your limits, your mind. Apply for a scholarship today by visiting the Air Force ROTC Web site or calling our toll-free number.

U.S. AIR FORCE R.O.T.C.

AFROTC.COM
1-888-423-7632

Royal altering | STATE

Don't be left out!

Get you free portrait pictures so you can be in the 2003 Royal Purple yearbook to order your yearbook with the new DVD-ROM go to Kedzie 103 or order one during your portrait pictures.

LIVE OFF CAMPUS?
Union Courtyard
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.
until Oct. 25

Tuesday, Oct. 22
Salina Campus
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Wednesday, Oct. 23
Kappa Sigma
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 24
Makeup Pics
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Friday, Oct. 25
Rusty's Last Chance
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

2003 P

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Wednesday, October 23, 2002

Bond reduction denied

Man accused of sexual battery remains in jail

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A man accused of sexual battery was denied a bond reduction for the second time Tuesday at the Riley County District Court.

Aikawit Aimdilokwong, 26, graduate student in chemical engineering, was accused of sexual battery after "several girls had been touched and talked about numerous incidents with the same subject," said Carla Schwartz, detective for the Riley County Police Department.

Along with the denied bond reduction, Schwartz and one of the alleged victims pled their cases against Aimdilokwong with Riley County Assistant Attorney Valerie Peterson.

The alleged victim, a K-State student, told the Riley County District Court judge that Aimdilokwong had uncomfortably touched her during a Christian organization soccer

See OFFENDER Page 5

Colleges slashing programs

Human ecology, education facing program cutbacks, graduation delays

By Lindsey Tipling
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The colleges of Human Ecology and Education have been affected by the state budget cuts somewhat this year, but next year's cuts could mean

Budget cuts

In the next two weeks, the Collegian will explore the effects of budget cuts made by the Kansas Legislature by analyzing each of K-State's nine colleges, along with services that affect students. With mid-year cuts that could be detrimental to the university, higher education funding has become a top issue in November's elections.

Tony Jurich, professor in family studies and human services, said the budget situation is not looking good right now for his department.

"The worst case scenario, which at this point is very possible, would be a budget cut in excess of 17 percent of our funding," Jurich said.

See BUDGET Page 5

Bus driver killed

Maryland man could be D.C. sniper's 13th victim

By David Dishneau
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ROCKVILLE, Md. — A bus driver was shot to death Tuesday as he was about to set out on his morning route in what authorities fear was the 13th attack by the Washington-area sniper. Police also revealed a chilling warning found at a weekend shooting scene: "Your children are not safe anywhere at any time."

Montgomery County Police Chief Charles Moose issued a new plea, urging the gunman to continue a dialogue with investigators.

"It is important that we do this without anyone else getting hurt," he said.

In an extraordinary statement that appeared to confirm authorities are in a desperate parley to stop the killing, the police chief said the sniper had tried to communicate with police during the past several days — and he suggested the gunman had made demands.

"We have researched the options you stated and found that it is not possible electronically to comply in the manner that you requested," Moose said. "However, we remain open and ready to talk to you about the options you have mentioned."

He said the sniper was seeking an 800 telephone number to talk with authorities, and he offered to set up a private post office box "or another secure method."

"You indicated that this is about more than violence," said Moose, who had asked the sniper to contact authorities for two days before Tuesday's slaying.

He refused to take questions from reporters.

The sniper has killed nine people and critically wounded three others in Maryland, Virginia and Washington since Oct. 2. Authorities were awaiting ballistics tests to confirm that bus driver Conrad Johnson.

Johnson, 35, was gunned down in Aspen Hill, the same community where the attacks began.

He was shot once in the abdomen just before 6 a.m. as he stood on the top step of his bus, setting off a police dragnet and snarling traffic in the suburbs north of the nation's capital. Johnson, a married father of two children, died later at a hospital.

THE FIGHT

Photo illustration by Jenny Braniff | COLLEGIAN

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Mammograms are recommended every three years starting at age 20 and annually after age 40. Breast cancer is the leading cause of death for women ages 35 to 54.

Students speak out about breast cancer awareness

By Jessica Pitts
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

People will remember Kriss Oliveras.

They will remember her for her courage, for her love and for her strength.

But perhaps most importantly, she will be remembered for her inspiration.

Oliveras, a Manhattan resident, died from breast cancer Oct. 7. After living with the disease for five years, people will not concentrate on how she lost the battle but that she fought the enemy.

"I grew to have high respect for her," Ann Gleason, Oliveras' friend, said. "She always had that sparkle in her eye, even when she was feeling terrible. It is scary the enemy, the cancer, has the ability to take that away. It is devastating."

Gleason, a breast cancer survivor, met Oliveras at a support group for people affected by cancer. The two were diagnosed with breast cancer at about the same time and became fast friends.

"In a sense, we both ran the same race," Gleason said. "One seems to have had good luck, and it is an extremely sad feeling the other didn't."

It is fitting, she said, that Oliveras be remembered during October, which is Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

"She faced each day head-on, no matter what it brought," Gleason said. "She inspired me to stay strong. Hopefully her story can inspire others."

And it has. Rounding out the trio of support was Tibisay Marin, a bone cancer survivor. The three

See CANCER Page 9

Alliance for Peace and Justice members protest for peace

Possible war with Iraq spurs second rally from organization

By Shannon Hartenstein
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

About 15 people showed their opposition against potential war with Iraq during a nonviolent protest Tuesday.

In their second protest this week, students, faculty, community members and Manhattan Alliance for Peace and Justice members stood with signs on the corner of 17th Street and Anderson Avenue.

"I guess I'm trying to let people know that war is not the only answer," Al Gard, senior in English, said. "It's not inevitable."

The group plans to continue protesting from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. every Monday and Tuesday as long as it can muster support or until the prospective war with Iraq is over, Naomi Wood, associate professor of English, said.

"The point is to establish that not everyone is not supporting this war with Iraq," Wood said. "As long as there seems to be a climate in which war is being actively pursued, we're going to protest that."

Lyman Baker, English instructor, helped hand out

Karen Milkois | COLLEGIAN

At the corner of Anderson Avenue and 17th Street (from right to left), Jiang Shult, former instructor, Ernest Shult, math professor, and Nate Dorsett, junior in English, protest plans to attack Iraq.

See PROTEST Page 9

INSIDE

Cleanup process: Aggieville workers deal with elements to ensure crowds have good time

Life, Page 10

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

North Korea agrees to dialogue to resolve nuclear furor

North Korea agreed Wednesday to resolve international concerns about its nuclear weapons program but stopped short of meeting a U.S. demand to immediately abandon its nuclear weapons program, according to South Korean media reports.

• • •

Russia, France unsatisfied with latest U.S. draft on Iraq

Russia and France said Tuesday they weren't satisfied with a revised draft of a U.S. resolution on Iraq that warns Baghdad of "serious consequences" if it fails to cooperate with weapons inspections.

• • •

U.S. mediation proceeding despite deadly Palestinian suicide bombing

Israel held off retaliating Tuesday for the deadliest Palestinian terror attack in three months, allowing a U.S. mediation effort to continue on a proposal to set up a provisional Palestinian state by next year.

• • •

State Department listing Islamic extremist group as a terror group

The State Department will name an Islamic extremist group that is under suspicion in the nightclub bombing that killed nearly 200 people in Indonesia as a terrorist group.

• • •

Bombing in Bogotá's heart stokes fears of war in Colombian capital

A car bomb exploded outside police headquarters Tuesday in downtown Bogotá, killing two people and wounding 36.

• • •

54 Kansas counties declared primary disaster areas

Ranchers in every Kansas county are now eligible for drought assistance through the Livestock Compensation Program and low-interest federal loans.

Weather

Today 43 | 35

Thursday 47 | 37

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 45

SPONSORED BY:
M·A·N·H·A·T·T·A·N
CHRISTIAN COLLEGE
www.mccks.edu

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Big fish story?
5 Energy
8 Big barrel
12 October birthstone
13 Rhoda's mom
14 Stud fee?
15 Highest-rated
17 Channel marker
18 Ace
19 Overexertion woe
21 Do a marathon
22 KFC additive
23 — Mahal
26 Hostess shade
28 Nut-bearing tree
31 Hodgepodge
33 More to Manual
35 Loyal
36 Third Greek letter
38 Incidentally, for short
40 Lunch hour, for some 41 Prima donna

DOWN
1 Jupiter's alias
2 Pinnacle
3 Distortion
4 More crafty
5 "Full Metal Jacket" locale
6 Check-casher's needs
7 Corneal
8 Life, to Sally
9 Highest-rated
10 Put an end to
11 Jailer's jangler
16 Very dry, to vintners
20 C.S.A. soldier
23 Dress (up)
24 King lead-in
25 Highest-rated
27 Apprehend
29 Goller's target
30 Be non-committal
32 Foreboding
34 Left a good impression?
37 "Hail, Caesar!"
39 Small songbird
42 Oil of roses
44 Parade structure
45 Type of tomato
46 Old Trevi toas
48 Emulate
49 Wall-paint shade
50 Lean-to journalism, at 53 Pay with plastic

Solution time: 21 mins.

Yesterday's answer 10-22

CRYPTOQUIP
NM TZY OR ORVUUT
QZZC VK MNSNDQ, IZHR
HNQFK VBKYVUUT BZDINCRO
KFKV V "UNVSNUNKT."
Yesterday's Cryptquip: IF A RESIDENT OF PARIS FELL OFF A BRIDGE, IT'S POSSIBLE THAT HE'D GO IN SEINE.
Today's Cryptquip Clue: U equals L.

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 11 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptClassics Book 1, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.
The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals Q, it will equal Q throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

STUMPED?
For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-228-8889. 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Eastern Time. A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP
NM TZY OR ORVUUT
QZZC VK MNSNDQ, IZHR
HNQFK VBKYVUUT BZDINCRO
KFKV V "UNVSNUNKT."
Yesterday's Cryptquip: IF A RESIDENT OF PARIS FELL OFF A BRIDGE, IT'S POSSIBLE THAT HE'D GO IN SEINE.
Today's Cryptquip Clue: U equals L.

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 11 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptClassics Book 1, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.
The Cryptquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals Q, it will equal Q throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

There was an error in Tuesday's Collegian. The Board of Regents policy bans credit-card solicitations at least one week before the start of a semester and two weeks after. The Collegian regrets the error.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291-020) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State 101, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, K-State 101, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.
© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

BANTER AND BELLOW

Tool, Red Hot Chili Peppers offer memorable live shows

Red Hot Chili Peppers

Nothing fries the nerves more than a solid concert. Even after you leave the venue, you should still be feeling the vibrations the music — and your heart — created. And, you hope, your soul has been moved. It doesn't matter what type of music floats your boat. A great concert takes you to another state of being — be it punk, funk or soul. The concert that most moved me was not long after the turn of the millennium.

I was about to graduate from high school, and the Red Hot Chili Peppers were coming to what was then Sandstone Amphitheater, before it became a cellular ad.

Keep in mind that I am not a weak Chili Peppers fan. Sure, "Under the Bridge" got me interested, but that was only the start. I know every song from "Yertle the Turtle" to "If You Want Me to Stay." Oh, and you can ask the boys from Crazy Town about "Pretty Little Ditty" and see if they think it sounds familiar.

2000 was the year of "Californication," and I knew the words to every song. Then the concert arrived. There were about eight of us lined up in the fourth row.

That proximity brought me closer to Flea and friends than any amp ever could.

I could see their sweat beads — and their sexy muscles. The strength of their expressions and movements made me feel each word more and more.

This isn't anything like sitting at home with your childhood boombox, kiddos.

I've never had such a great view of Anthony Kiedis. My only disappointment was that he must have left his tube sock at home, opting for more coverage. Afterward, I walked through the Sandstone lot feeling numb.

I had been there, and only at a live concert could I ever return again.

If life is getting stale, leave the discs and MP3s behind. Go to a show, and let the music overwhelm you.

Tool

Music listening is something I take most seriously. It dictates the mood and commands the atmosphere surrounding you. If you can choose the right tunes in which to chill, it's just like possessing The Force.

There's nothing like a hefty rollin' Tool show to freak me out. It's energized and passionate, and it's as crazy as a sack of rabbits. They're mystical and creepily cool like Led Zeppelin. They are the incontrovertible creative genius in modern music.

One week ago today, I saw Tool live at Kemper Arena. I'll let you in on a little secret: It was damn smooth.

"Seeing Tool live is a religious experience, they are the most progressive rock band around," Kali Sallman, senior in public relations, said. Sallman has been a Tool fan and has attended shows since 1993.

"Even the 'love your neighbor' vibe at a jam-band show doesn't compare to the high you feel at Tool," he said.

Of the four concerts Sallman has seen this year, the Kansas City encore was one of the best shows he's ever seen.

It was one of the most hot-rockin'-rawhide, nut-cracking shows I've seen, too. The visuals were stupefying, and Maynard was maniacal.

One treat from last week's experience was the 15-minute version of "Third Eye" from the album "Aenima." Maynard introduced it by repeating, "Think for yourself. Question authority" — words that were relieving.

The showmanship and intensity the band brings is awe-inspiring.

Tool rules. If you've been missing its shows, may Tool have mercy on your soul.

The blotter | Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Monday, Oct. 21

■ At 9:20 a.m., Rochelle Scurlock, Junction City, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 2:30 p.m., Dane Simonsen, 1900 Bluestem Terrace, was arrested for criminal threat. No bond was set.

■ At 2:56 p.m., Tobias Nettie, 1000 Humboldt, No. 1, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 6:20 p.m., Rachel Foote, Florida, was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 7 p.m., Damian Schmidt, 923 Ratone St., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $1,500.
■ At 10:22 p.m., Matthew Beaver, Tennessee, was arrested for conspiracy to commit a crime and theft. Bond was set at $1,000.

The planner | Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Recreational Services will be taking entries for intramural inner-tube water polo, the cross country meet and bowling today and tomorrow in the administrative office of the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.
■ Blue Key is accepting applications for the self-development program until Nov. 1 at the leadership house on 918 N. Manhattan.
■ "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is on display through Nov. 15 on Hale Library's second floor.
■ Lafayette Health Center is providing walk-in flu vaccines from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the center. Cost is $7 for students and $10 for faculty and staff.
■ Royal Purple yearbook pictures will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in Union Courtyard and at Kappa Sigma.
■ Basic library classes will be from 11:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and from 2:30 to 3:15 p.m. today in Hale 208.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Samir El-Zarkouny at 1:30 p.m. today in Call 205.
■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Waldemar Axmann at 1:30 p.m. today in Cardwell 119.
■ The International Student Center will have a coffee hour, "Pakistan: Land of Talent and Faith" from 4 to 5 p.m. today at the center.
■ The K-State Chess Club meets from 6 to 10 tonight in Union 206.
■ KSU Aikido will conduct a martial arts class from 7 to 9 tonight in Ahearn 301.
■ Career and Employment Services will conduct an experiential learning orientation workshop at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in Holtz Hall. Call (785) 532-6506 for a reservation.
■ Wet Willies swim club will meet at 5:30 p.m. Thursday in Union Staterooms 1 and 2.
■ Ag Ambassador/REPS will meet at 5:45 p.m. Thursday in Waters 231.
■ Manhattan Jaycee's will have a haunted house at 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday at Green Valley Industrial Park on Highway 24.

Quotable | Words worth repeating

"Please pray also for the attacker and that no one else is hurt."
The wife of the latest sniper victim, in a statement released through the hospital where her husband is recovering

"I have been feeling this person's anger and rage toward law enforcement. (The Washington-area sniper must) stop hurting innocent people."
"Son of Sam" serial killer David Berkowitz, who wrote a letter from prison

"We act today because the SEC has failed to act, and self-policing has failed to protect the investors of the United States."
Massachusetts Secretary of the Commonwealth William Galvin, after demanding that Credit Suisse First Boston pay a $1.9 million fine for misleading investors

Source: The Associated Press

Up next | In Thursday's Collegian

News | Living situations
How well do you get along with your roommates? Classes have been in session for about two months. Find out how the roommate situation is going for some K-State students.
Opinion | Ethical nightmare
Layton Ehmkie writes about shock radio as it falls into the timeline of American media, and Susan Powell tackles seasonal affective disorder, and how it is commonly mistaken for Bipolar Disorder.
The Edge | Music mania
This is a busy week for music lovers. Find out about the many Thursday and Friday options, including Pat Green, Arthur Dodge and Orange.
Sports | Arena action
K-State's equestrian team has its first home show of the year this weekend. Players are excited to see what other teams think about their facility. Read the breakdown of how the show works, as well as opinions on having a home show.

Cleaning house? Sell your stuff in the Collegian classifieds | Stop by Kedzie 103 or call 532-6555.

Little Caesars
WEDNESDAY
HOT & READY
1 LARGE
14" PIZZA
WITH PEPPERONI
4:00 PM - 8:00 PM
$5.00
INCLUDES TAX
PEEP UP ONLY
No Cash Necessary
Valid only at participating locations. ©2001 L.C.E., Inc.
539-3333

WATER SKI TEAM
NEW MEMBERS MEETING
THURSDAY OCT. 24
UNION RM. 213 @9PM
EVERYONE WELCOME
NO COMPETITIVE
EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

Olson's Shoe Service
Replace Heels & Soles
& Repair Western Boots,
Women's & Men's Dress, All
Birkenstock, Handbags & Backpacks.
Edwin C. Olson Sr., Certified Pedorthist
~ Aggieville ~
539-8571 • 1214-B Moro

GAME GUY
Buy • Sell • Trade • Rent
Video Games • DVD Movies
Computer Games
Open Mon-Sat 11-7, Sun 1-5
(785) 537-0989
1-800-895-GAME
www.game-guy.com
712 N. MANHATTAN AVE
AGGIEVILLE, USA.

sure, you can quit.
or stick around
and [learn]
how not to.

In Army ROTC, you'll develop skills you can use in the real world — thinking on your feet, staying focused under pressure, taking charge. Give it a shot. Visit the Army ROTC department. We'll stick around for you.

ARMY ROTC
Unlike any other college course you can take.

For more info call the Admissions Officer
at 785-532-5177
or visit our web site at www.ksu.edu/armyrotc

K-State Student Union Bookstore

Fall Dog Days Clearance Sale
Up To 70% Off

Art & School Supplies

- Selected Matboards
- Oil Paints
- Charcoal
- Brushes
- Tempera Paint
- Pen Refills
- Pens
- Plotter Pens & Markers
- Office Supplies
- Lots More

820 Ka 1995 State Union • 532-6583

COMMERCE BANK

DISTINGUISHED GRADUATE FACULTY MEMBER AWARD

Students, Faculty and Staff
Are Invited to an Honor Lecture

"Mind Over Matter: The Ascent of Quantum Chemistry"

Lecture by
Joseph Vincent Ortiz
Department of Chemistry

Recipient of the 2002 Commerce Bank
Distinguished Graduate Faculty Member Award

Hemisphere Room, Hale Library
3:30 P.M., Tuesday, October 29, 2002
Kansas State University
Manhattan, Kansas

Reception following the lecture in the foyer of the Hemisphere Room

Web site unites Vietnam veterans

Former pilots to meet face to face after years of corresponding

By Rogie Dorpinghaus
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

About six years ago, Al Rankin browsed the Internet for information on the type of plane he used to fly while he was enlisted in the Navy, the A-3 "Skywarrior."

When Rankin, assistant scientist at Macdonald James R. Laboratory at K-State and Vietnam veteran, came up empty-handed, he decided to distribute some of his knowledge of the planes by scanning pictures of the A-3 onto his personal Web page, which was connected to K-State's Web site.

However, more people visited the Web page than Rankin expected. Rankin wanted to expand his Web page into a commercial Web site, so he and some people he met through his personal Web page created a board of directors for the A-3 "Skywarrior" Association.

The association purchased and now maintains a commercial Web site, www.A3skywarrior.com.

There are more than 700 members of the association who used to fly or work on A-3 planes, Rankin said.

Most of the association's board members will meet each other face to face for the first time this weekend at the A-3

"One of the rewarding parts of this project is that we've had e-mails from kids of Vietnam veterans whose fathers were killed in the war. And they've been helped to find people who knew their dads — squadron mates of their fathers"

Al Rankin
ASSISTANT SCIENTIST AT MACDONALD JAMES R. LABORATORY AT K-STATE AND VIETNAM VETERAN

"Skywarrior" 50th Anniversary First Flight Reunion, which the board organized.

This will be a time when individuals can get reacquainted with old shipmates, mourn lives lost, share their interests in the A-3 planes and view a reenactment of the first A-3 "Skywarrior" flight 50 years ago.

Five hundred people will attend the reunion in Van Nuys, Calif., at the Airtel-Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles.

Mary Rankin, Al's wife, said she's amazed so many people are coming to the reunion because of what they found out through the Internet.

"It's an electronically-developed event," she said.

Attendees will have served in A-3 squadrons between 1956 and 1991 and are coming from areas spanning from England to Hawaii.

The keynote speaker, Rich Haver, is the assistant to the secretary of defense on intelligence and has served in an A-3 squadron. The reunion will also include the reading of a letter from President Bush.

Rankin said there are only about 25 A-3 planes left in existence.

He said one of the association's goals is to help ensure the remaining aircrafts, which were used predominately in the Vietnam War, are well taken care of and on display in museums.

Rankin said the A-3, commonly called the "Whale" because of its size, was not rare during the Vietnam War but was a lesser-known plane because it didn't have a glamorous role.

"It's not a sexy fighter plane," Rankin said. "You didn't see much of them. There would be about 75 to 80 planes total on an aircraft carrier during those years, and only two

Matt Elliott | COLLEGIAN

Al Rankin, assistant scientist in the J.R. Macdonald Lab, is the founder for the A-3 Skywarrior aircraft Web site. "It all started from a few pictures, touched a nerve, and a lot of people started making connections," he said. The Web site allows for former pilots and crew members to communicate about the A-3.

to three were A-3s, because they were so big."

Rankin's simple act of scanning pictures onto his personal Web page has morphed into a commercial Web site that brings people from all over the world together with information about loved ones who died in wars in which A-3 planes were used.

"One of the rewarding parts of this project is that we've had e-mails from kids of Vietnam veterans whose fathers were killed in the war," Rankin said. "And they've been helped to find people who knew their dads — squadron mates of their fathers."

K-State has a Vietnam Veteran's Memorial located next to McCain Auditorium. The memorial has the names of K-State students who lost their lives in the Vietnam War engraved on it.

The son of one of the students recognized on the memorial e-mailed Al to learn if his father was listed as MIA or KIA, because for many years, his family wasn't sure.

"I took a picture of it and sent it to him," Rankin said. "It's a small-world deal where someone in another part of the country had a connection."

As of Tuesday afternoon, since the year 2000, just fewer than 350,000 people have visited www.A3skywarrior.com.

Rankin said he is excited to meet people who are associated members this weekend face to face.

"It'll be neat to get everybody together and hear some stories," Rankin said. "It'll be nice to put faces to the names I've seen over the years."

OPEN HOUSE

NEW ADDITION
The PLASTIC SURGERY CLINIC is introducing its New Aesthetics Center

Dr. Kenneth Fischer, Board Certified Plastic Surgeon
Krista Lee, Esthetician

COME TO OPEN HOUSE TO RECEIVE FREE SKIN CONSULTATION CERTIFICATE

DEMONSTRATIONS ON:

- CHEMICAL PEELS
- MICRODERMABRASION
- BOTOX
- SKIN CARE

November 1, 5:00 to 8:00 p.m.

1133 College Ave, Bldg A Suite 211
The Manhattan Medical Center

785-776-7500

Alpha Kappa Psi

RAFFLE TICKETS

$1

Prizes included from: Gold Fork, GTM Sportswear, Chipotle, Varney's, Radina's, Royal Thai Cuisine, Wal-Mart and CoCo Bolos

Available at the Management Office, Calvin 101

Tickets available until 10/24

KSU Bakery Science Club

WEEKLY BAKE SALE

TODAY 3 TO 5 P.M.

Shellenberger First Floor

Please visit us at: www.ksu.edu/bakeclub

LEAVING OUR MARK...ONE EVENT AT A TIME.

Lunchtime Lounge

wednesday | oct. 23
activities begin at 12:00
union courtyard

LIVEmusic

thursday | oct. 24
begins at 8:00p.m.
union station

HOTLINE: 532 6572      WEBSITE: www.ksu.edu/upcc

Delivers the latest!

OPEN THE LATEST!

GUNBY'S

Pizza & Pub

770-3333

Great Spot Before or After Aggieville closes

102 N. 11th Street
Sunday 11a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Thurs. - Sat. 11 a.m. - 3:30 a.m.
Fast Delivery, Dine-in, Carry-Out

1 Wednesday $6.99

X-LARGE 16" CHEESE PIZZA • WEDNESDAY ONLY • CARRY OUT ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA

2 BIG ASS 20" One Topping $11.99 or Two for 21.99

Additional Toppings $1.10 per pizza

3 DORM special

12" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 12" POKEY STICKS • $5.99
14" 1 TOPPING PIZZA OR 14" POKEY STICKS • $6.99
M-TH ONLY • TOPPINGS EXTRA • CAMPUS ADDRESS ONLY

EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH

Western Wireless.

Western Wireless Corporation is looking for customer service representatives to work in our Manhattan call center. Western Wireless is a leading player in the exploding wireless industry and recognizes the important role that quality employees play in that success.

We offer the environment to learn the business, grow professionally and build a future career. Our state of the art call center in Manhattan serves cellular customers in a 19 state area.

¡Western Wireless habla español!
Bilingual Customer Care Representatives
Must be fluent in both English and Spanish
$8.50 per hour

Handling inbound calls from Spanish speaking CellularOne customers, you'll provide quality service in a friendly, caring, professional manner. You'll help resolve billing discrepancies and troubleshoot technical issues. Previous customer service and computer experience is required. Must be able to work in a fast-paced, ever-changing environment and flexible to work variable shifts.
Job Code: SP-CCR.

¡Aproveche esta gran oportunidad de empleo utilizando sus habilidades en español con CellularONE!

Please send, e-mail or fax resumes to: Western Wireless Corporation.
Attn: Customer Services Recruiter,
5960 Technology Circle, Manhattan, KS 66503.
Fax: (785) 565-7672. E-mail: ksjobs@wwireless.com.

For additional company information, see our website at www.wwireless.com.

We are an Equal Opportunity Employer.

CELLULARONE®

October 20th-26th Is National Massage Therapy Awareness Week

Bringing Your Body Back To Homeostasis

Special's	Price
• Soothing Stone Therapy	$40.00 (Save $10.00)
• Sports Massage	$35.00 (Save $10.00)
• 60-Minute Massage	$40.00 (Save $5.00)
• 30-Minute Massage	$25.00 (Save $5.00)
• Traditional Facial	$30.00 (Save $5.00)

Expires: 11/30/02
Must mention or present this ad to receive the savings

International Massage Association Member
www.imagroup.com

Nationally Certified
www.ncbtmb.com

BODY FIRST

Body First
2308 Anderson Ave
Manhattan, KS 66502
www.bodyfirst.com

Phone: 785-887-8300
Email: doug@bodyfirst.com

What Are the Benefits Of Massage?

Massage enhances blood circulation and relieves tight, sore muscles—as well as eases stress. For sports to work related injuries & pregnancy to chronic muscular diseases, massage therapy can help lessen pain and swelling, improve range of motion and enhance flexibility. According to research massage therapy can reduce heart rate, and lower blood pressure. What ever you are looking for the seven therapists at Body First can customize each massage session to the individual needs of any client.

Make your appointment today!

TO THE POINT Breast cancer can take toll on all people

Breast cancer can attack anyone. It can affect people of any race, gender, ethnicity or age. Taking care of your body and knowing how to detect the disease early could save your life.

By the end of the decade, nearly 1.8 million women and 12,000 men will be diagnosed with invasive breast cancer, according to the Susan G. Kohman Breast Cancer Foundation.

The disease is the leading cause of death in women ages 35 to 54 and is second only to lung cancer in cancer deaths. But when caught early, patients have a high survival rate. Monthly breast self-exams, clinical breast exams every three years and annual mammograms for women 40 and older are three ways to detect cancer early and perhaps stop it in its tracks.

It's never too early to begin preventive measures. Men also need to be aware of the disease and how to detect it, because it is not limited to women.

Breast cancer awareness comes in many forms, and during National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, information is plentiful.

Visit your local doctor or health care center to learn more about the disease.

You never know — someday it might affect you or someone you love.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Jeanel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

RATIONING TIME

Planning ahead allows opportunities for fun

William Penn understood well when he said, "Time is what we want most and use worst."

For instance, what are you doing right now?

The obvious answer is that you're reading my wonderful words of wisdom, supposedly on time management.

But is this really the best use of your time? Could you be doing something more productive right now?

Don't get me wrong — I'm not trying to turn you off from reading this column. Chances are, the following information is just what you need to help juggle work, partying, school, partying and — did I mention partying?

With three jobs and a full class load, I need all the help I can get when it comes to efficient time management. And I'm sure I'm not alone.

"Day mapping," or tracking the highest, most effective use of your day, is just one exercise you can perform to ensure you're operating at peak efficiency, says Jeff Zbar, a home-based journalist who specializes in alternative officing and small-business technology and marketing issues. His Web site, www.goinsoho.com, provides tips on how to make the most of your day.

"Efficiency is paramount, and people must think of ways to squeeze more time out of an otherwise static day," Zbar writes.

But most people just saunter through their days, then plan their schedules when a "higher power" compels them.

A recent University of North Carolina research project asked 4,000 retired executives — all age 70 or older — what they would change if they had a chance to do things over again. The majority said they would like to have realized earlier that time is a non-renewable asset and made better use of the time they were given, according to one of Zbar's articles.

This couldn't be a more accurate conclusion. How many of you right now wish you could go back and make better use of your time?

We just don't realize how easily it slips away — how fast it comes and goes — before it's too late.

With that in mind, Zbar suggests following the three P's to boost your time management:

Plan

Sketch out your day and week early to avoid wasting time along the way. Prioritize important projects and set realistic deadlines for them, knowing all the while that other projects (a rewrite or new quick-hit assignment, for example) will arise to find their place around them.

Prioritize

Ask yourself what the most valuable use of your time is. Ask what you should do that will give you the greatest return.

Perform

Stick to your assessment. Don't squeeze in more "important" projects, knowing you'll have to scramble to meet deadlines or possibly beg for an extension.

Zbar also recommends tallying your time.

During the next few days, map your days and chart your time usage, asking if what you're doing right now is the best use of your time. Note your productivity peaks and valleys throughout each day.

Some people are most creative in the morning, so they'll use those hours for productive or creative processes.

Some people find they need to have interaction with others during the day, so they'll do their routine tasks during "business hours" and save more challenging tasks for early mornings or evenings.

Even though this sounds like a lot of extra work, you'll eventually learn to function in a more productive way.

Illustration by Jeff Yeung | COLLEGIAN

Time is the one commodity we can't create more of. But we could all use better time-management skills to extract more quality time out of our busy college lives.

Hopefully, that will make for a life absent of regrets.

Amber is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail her at adm9559@ksu.edu.

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Jeanel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hermen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

Couples paying out thousands to determine sex of unborn children

Six British couples recently bought — for the low, low price of about $6,000 — the ability to play God.

According to BBC News, these forward-looking Brits shelled out the cash to the Genetics and IVF Clinic in Fairfax, Va., which uses the MicroSort method to make an embryo of a particular sex.

From there, it's a simple matter of implanting the embryo in the expectant mother. Nine months later, BAM! You've got a baby who has your choice of genitalia.

Isn't technology wonderful?

Just think of all the trouble it can save. For instance, if your house already has a pink room where you want to keep your little bundle of love, you can just spend a wad of dead presidents to make sure the baby is a girl. That way, you can be certain you won't have to repaint the room if the stork decides to bring a boy.

There are only a couple of problems: the procedure isn't a sure thing, and even if it were, it's wasteful.

According to BBC News, the success rate of the process is 91 percent effective for producing females and 74 percent effective for males.

Hence, about every fourth attempt to produce a male embryo will end in failure, as will every 10th attempt to make a female embryo. This would necessitate scrapping the embryo and starting over, which opens a whole new can of ethical worms.

MICAH HAWKINSON

That problem aside, the process of sex determination is more wasteful than giving a case of beer to a bunch of home-schooled kids.

The above-mentioned $6,000 figure is on the low end of the cost range. The upper end is more like $22,000. Consider this: even with a mere $6,000 tacked onto the normal price of having a child, medical bills start to take on epic proportions.

According to DrSpock.com, the price of having a child is normally between $6,000 and $8,000. It doesn't take a degree in mathematics to figure out that the total is more than many college students see in a year. Heck, it's more than I've seen during the past four years.

Why not adopt? There are thousands of children who need good, loving homes. So why bring a new baby into the world? Why spend more than $15,000 doing it?

I'm not suggesting that adoptions are a cheap alternative to having children. In fact, they can be quite expensive. According to the International Adoption Information Group, adoptions can cost between $12,000 and $30,000, although most run about $16,000.

An adoption, however, can make an existing person's life better. It doesn't bring new life into the world for you to love, but it provides a way for you to share love with someone who desperately needs it — and who wouldn't have it without you.

If you adopt a child, you can know for sure what sex the child is. More importantly, you can also learn something about the child's personality. To me, that seems like a more valuable thing to know about a child than whether it has a penis or a vagina.

Sex selection is uncertain and expensive. If you feel you absolutely can't live without having genetic offspring of your own, but you think having a boy might drive you crazy, then maybe the procedure is for you.

But if you want to use your time and resources more productively, and maybe make the world better in the process, you should consider adoption instead.

Micah is a senior in English and history. You can e-mail him at mph7686@ksu.edu.

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

Dude, I'm one of those fat girls, and all those comments do is make me want to eat more and shower less.

First down: option. Second down: QB draw. Third down: option. Fourth down: option. No wonder we lose all these damn games.

It's pretty bad when you live near Aggieville and you call from Holton Hall for a ride home. Are you lazy, or what?

K-State has so many fair-weather fans. What's the problem? They've only lost two games.

If you have a problem with the kicking game, go try out. Otherwise, shut your mouths. All you loser arm-chair kickers make me sick.

Hairy boys: Thanks for the toilet paper.

No, we're not drunk and dying, we're just drunk.

After the Colorado game, James Dunnigan said he would've changed the face of the game if he had started. So, why is it that BJ Johnson is the only one who had 136 yards this season and Dunnigan was on him all day? Come on, man, let's think next time before you make a quote.

A guy told me not to rag on the kickers, but after their horrible performance last season and their sub-par performance already this year, it's kind of hard not to. They suck big time.

My roommate's totally PMS-ing, so if you find me dead, don't believe the suicide note.

Darren Sproles is a badass. Go State!

How many times do we have to call in to make the Forum just us?

Sean Purcell is so freaking hot. I don't care what he writes as long as his picture stays above it.

Manhattan Christian College girls rock my world. It reminds me of the whole Catholic-girl fantasy thing.

Another classic Bill Snyder choke.

I'm a guy, and I just read Cosmopolitan magazine for the first time. It's the dirtiest thing I've ever read. It's worse than any porno.

Lorena, I want to thank you so much for writing in Spanish. Quite often we forget a little bit about our languages, and it's nice to have somebody to remind us. We have to keep it alive. Gracias.

Kathryn Hollingsworth should realize speaking two languages will open more doors, and she should read Lorena's columns about bilingual education.

Thanks, engineering. Not only do I spend all my free time in the library, but I've lost the ability to talk to girls.

To the man I saw walking on campus with the fanny pack: I just have one question for you. What'da got in that bag?

You don't have to be bright to kick a field goal.

The Collegian's Campus Forum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions.

Not enough forum? For the full version check out www.kstatedcollegian.com.

TO THE EDITOR

Opposing views, opinions crucial in coming months

Editor,

With the recent vote in Congress and the signature by President Bush supporting military action against Iraq, the threat of war has increased significantly.

In light of these two events, it is disturbing to me that football and social events continue to be the main focus of discussion on our campus rather than whether military action against Iraq is warranted and necessary.

Some experts assert that there could be thousands of deaths and casualties when the United States tries to overthrow Saddam Hussein. Others claim the United States will be at greater risk for terrorist attacks against its citizens. Still others say the use of chemical and biological weapons is a real threat.

Yet, with all these allegations, students at K-State seem to have the attitude that, "This won't affect us, so why worry, and why talk about it?"

I, for one, would be less worried if more people talked about it.

President Bush said Congress' votes were to show the world the United States speaks with one voice. Not everyone believes we should go to war, but for whatever reason, those voices are not being heard.

History has shown that whenever there has been opposition to a conflict, it usually has started on university campuses across the country. For that reason, students should take an active role in initiating discussions on our campus and should find ways to ensure that their opinions are heard.

After all, students today will be leaders tomorrow and will have the unenviable responsibility of dealing with the future consequences of present actions.

I urge all students to stop and think about what will most likely happen in the next couple of months. The actions our country takes now will resonate into the future and will affect us in innumerable ways. They will affect our economy, our social structure, our sense of well-being, our sense of security and our sense of who we are as Americans.

No matter what side of the issue you are on, talk with people — your friends, your professors, other students in your classes, your family or even complete strangers. Educate yourselves about the reasons being given as to why the United States should take military action against Iraq, then consider the potential outcomes and the negative effects that might occur as a result.

Without the expression of diverse opinions and ongoing discussion, our country runs the risk of entering into a conflict its citizens might not really support — and ultimately could be blindly following leaders who might not necessarily be acting in their best interests.

Benjamin Fenwick | SOPHOMORE IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

BUDGET | Reduction of course sections could cause graduation delays

Continued from Page 1

A budget cut that sizable, Jurich said, would mean a loss of around $350,000 for his department alone.

There is no question that there will be another cut, but the question is how big that cut will be, Burden said.

He said the College of Education has been considering the possibility of a 10-percent budget decrease.

One of the ways students may be directly affected is that certain classes will be offered less often, Burden said.

Some classes might even be eliminated completely.

"Our dean has a priority to maintain programs and courses," he said. "However, if we don't have the fund, we can't offer the classes as often as we would like."

Virginia Moxley, associate dean of human ecology, said she did not think there was a single place at K-State that has not been affected by the cuts.

"We have gone through every department's budget and the dean's budget," she said. "We have trimmed every place we could and rearranged to get the classes covered."

Moxley said the obvious steps have been taken, such as increasing class sizes and reducing the frequency that certain classes are offered.

For a serious answer to the budget-cut problem though, Moxley, as well as many others, looks to the new governor.

"The governor is the leader when it comes to setting the tone for state finance," she said.

"And so far I haven't heard either candidate talking about what they will do for higher education."

Jurich agreed that the new governor could play a big role in K-State's fate.

"The new governor will have some very hard choices," he said. "And in those, choices we are going to hope there is some wisdom."

Jurich said his department has already cut out as much as possible without cutting programs and staff members.

"Everyone keeps saying to trim the fat, trim the fat," he said.

"But we are already down to the bone."

Jan Wissman, associate dean of education, said choices for classes will be a lot more limited, but she does not expect students to be forced to push back their graduation dates because of this change.

"We will do everything we can to offer courses that are required as timely as possible," Wissman said.

Jurich said that when it comes down to it, the students who only have to delay their graduation dates by a year may feel like the lucky ones.

"You may have people who will not be able to graduate at all," he said, "because the programs will be cut out from under them."

Moxley said the College of Education is going to do its best to help students.

"We will work diligently to see that students who are doing their part academically will not be delayed in terms of graduating," she said.

But Moxley still has concerns about the budget cuts.

"The worry for me is that the state Legislature does not have any plan in place to keep us even where we are at currently," she said.

It is important for the students to be aware of the situation, Jurich said, because it could affect them in a very drastic way.

"I don't know if the situation is life or death, but we are certainly fighting for the heart and soul of Kansas State University."

OFFENDER | Bond reduction denied; alleged victims speak up

Continued from Page 1

game at City Park in August.

"He knew I didn't want to be hugged, and he grabbed me," she said.

"He grabbed my chest with two hands and pulled me forward."

She said she pushed Aimdilokwong away with her hands after he held her for approximately four to five seconds.

Alleged victims were interviewed by Schwartz throughout the month of September and the first week in October.

"I interviewed several girls," Schwartz said. "All of them talked about numerous incidents."

Riley County Assistant Attorney Valerie Peterson said in previous interviews that Aimdilokwong, a convicted sex offender, is on probation for previous charges, and additional charges may be pending.

Aimdilokwong was arrested April 17 in the K-State Student Union for aggravated assault and confined on a $5,000 bond. His most recent arrest was Oct. 18 for lewd and lascivious behavior and sexual battery on a $1,500 bond.

Aimdilokwong is scheduled to appear in court at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 4.

Read it. Live it. Wear it.

Can't get enough Forum? Get your Forum t-shirt for $15 in Kedzie 103.

Organ Recital

Dr. Robert Edwards

KSU professor of music and organist at First Presbyterian Church

TIME: 7 p.m.

DATE: Sunday, Oct. 27

PLACE: First Presbyterian Church
801 Leavenworth
Manhattan, Kan.

Assisted by Dr. Reginald Pittman and Dr. Craig Parker

favorites from our kitchen

Warm-Up Chili

3 pounds lean beef
1 cup chopped onion
6 garlic cloves, minced
4 tablespoons chili powder
2 teaspoons ground cumin
2 cups water
2 teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons pepper sauce, or to taste
1/2 cup chopped green chilies, drained

In a 5-quart container, brown the beef well in oil and drain. Set aside. Add onion and garlic and cook for 5 minutes, or until tender, stirring frequently. Stir in chili powder, cumin, salt, and pepper sauce, and cook for 1 minute. Add water and chilies and bring to a boil. Return the beef to the pot. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, 1 1/2 hours, or until beef is tender.

Clafin Books and Copies

independent books for independent minds

American Legion BINGO!

Sunday 2 p.m.

Mini-Bingo 1:15 p.m.

Tuesday 1:30 p.m.

Wednesday 7:30 p.m.

Mini-Bingo 6:45 p.m.

"Progressive Bingo"

Sundays & Wednesdays

- Win Big Bucks -

114 McCall Rd.

Royal

altering | STATE

2003 P

Wednesday, October 23

Don't forget to take your FREE portrait pictures

Kappa Sigma

10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Live off campus?

Miss your picture time?

Union

10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Next up: Thursday, Oct. 24

Union 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Alpha Of Clavia 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

Shear Dynamics Introduces Terra!

FREE HAIRCUT WITH HIGHLIGHT

•$10 off Pedicure or Massage

•$10 off any Body Treatment

w/ Christy or Stephanie

•10% off All Retail

•Matrix•Redken•American Crew•Osis•OPI

Exp 10/31/02

Alpha Xi Delta Greek Games Mr. Lungs Competition

Union Food Court 9:30 - 3:30

Tuesday - Thursday this week

Who's your favorite

Mr. Lungs?

Give change for your favorite guy!

Benefits Asthmatic children through the American Lung Association

We're celebrating our 15th Birthday with a Sidewalk Sale!!

Thursday - Sunday, October 24-27
at Manhattan Town Center

Shop for outstanding
"mall-wide" savings!

This Saturday,
October 26 at 2pm,
if your question
STUMPS B104.7's
Mark & Kinsey Jo,
then You could be a Winner!

Grand Prize:
A Sears Big Screen TV,
Pier 1 Imports Papasan
Chair and an Applebee's
"Party Platter"!

With just $100 in mall receipts dated October 24-27 receive a 52 oz., Aladdin Thermal Mug FREE from Varney's K-State Place!

MANHATTAN
TOWN CENTER

Limit one per customer, per day, while supplies last.
Redeem at the Customer Service Center.

In Downtown Manhattan • 539-9207 • www.manhattantowncenter.com

Back from Break!

If you join SHAPE, you will:

- Help your fellow students!
- Have a chance to attend the 2003 national peer education conference in Washington D.C.
- Become an American Red Cross Certified HIV/AIDS Instructor
- Earn 3 KSU credit hours (use credit as leadership minor or elective)
- Have a BLAST!!!!

Sponsored by:
Lafene Health Center
Need more info? Call 532-6595 or email shape@ksu.edu

Hope your Fall Break was great!

Now it's time to start thinking about getting in SHAPE!

Don't go to the gym, go to Lafene, room #3 to pick up an application. Or print it online at <http://www.ksu.edu/lafene/shapeapp.htm>

Sexual Health
Awareness Peer Educators

Applications due Nov. 8th

Neal Lane

Former Director of the White House
Office of Science and Technology Policy

Science in the White House - and Around the Town

Hemisphere Room
Hale Library

Thursday, October 24, 2002
10:30 AM

Dr. Neal Lane served as Assistant to the President for Science and Technology and Director of the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy, from 1998 to 2001, and as Director of the National Science Foundation (NSF) and member (ex officio) of the National Science Board, from 1993 to 1998. He is currently serving as professor and senior fellow at the James A. Baker III Institute for Public Policy at Rice University. He works on projects related to science and technology policy and is also teaching and conducting research in atomic and molecular physics in the Department of Physics and Astronomy.

University Distinguished Lecture

Big 12 title still possible

Football has easier road now

BEN FEHR

You have to hand it to Texas.

Following the Longhorns' 17-14 victory over K-State, Texas coach Mack Brown said it was just his team's time.

"I felt like it was our night," Brown said.

And standing next to him while he said that, I couldn't help but think he was right.

True, K-State's abysmal kicking game finally cost the team big with seven seconds to go in this one.

But Texas won that game when the kickers were watching the seconds tick off the clock from the sidelines.

And when it was all said and done, it was the Longhorns who stole one away.

So where do the Cats go from here?

I have to tell you, I'm almost fresh out of scenarios where K-State will get a shot at the Big 12, but the key word there is "almost."

The Wildcats can still do it. But it's going to take some mettle, and it's going to take some help from some of the dirty dozen's finest.

Right now, the squad to add to your most-hated list is absolutely Colorado.

Believe me, the pride of Boulder's road to the Big 12 is not paved with Buffalo treats.

Next up for Colorado is a home game Saturday against Texas Tech. The Red Raiders hung 49 points on Texas A&M's highly-touted wrecking crew defense and has the offensive potency to give any team fits.

After Tech, the Buffaloes will travel to Norman, Okla., to face a scary, and likely undefeated, Oklahoma Sooners team.

I think Colorado will lose both these games, outgunned against Tech and out-toughed by Oklahoma.

After some Sooners hospitality, Colorado can look forward to facing Missouri at Columbia.

The Tigers aren't exactly a team you want to go looking past, either. Just ask Oklahoma.

I think the Buffs have the edge against Missouri in that one, but then Colorado must deal with Iowa State in Boulder and Nebraska in Lincoln.

Three losses for Colorado can definitely happen. But that's only going to help if K-State wins out in the conference.

The Wildcats will crush Baylor this weekend. And K-State will have no problem with struggling-at-best Kansas on Nov. 2.

But then comes Iowa State. I'll take comfort in the fact that the Cats have won 12 straight homecoming games while looking at this one.

Then there's Nebraska. In comparison, K-State looks like the better football team right now, and with three losses already, the Huskers could very well be at .500 when they come to Manhattan after showdowns with Texas A&M and Texas.

Lastly, Missouri will be a tough one to end the regular schedule, but the Wildcats have taken nine straight from the Tigers.

At 5-2 with five games to go, it's going to take a whole lot of Colorado losing and a whole lot of K-State winning to make it to that title game. But it's accurate to say the Wildcats are still alive.

But one thing is certain — losing is no longer an option.

Ben is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at fehr7@hotmail.com.

Crew races top programs

Team gains needed experience against nation's best competition

By Brent Gray
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The women's rowing team looked to show where it stood against some of the best teams in the world this weekend as it traveled to Boston to compete in the Head of the Charles regatta, which is the world's largest rowing race.

In the varsity fours, the Cats finished 30th out of 33 boats. The team finished with a time of 20:37, 2:13 behind the champion London Training Center boat and 1:34 behind the first-place university boat, Washington.

This was the first time the Cats competed in the championship fours, rather than in the club division. Coach Jenny Hale said this was a great learning experience for the girls.

"For all four of the rowers, this was their first time at the Head of the Charles, so this was great experience for them," she said.

In the varsity eights race, the Wildcats finished in the middle of the pack — at 24th of the 47 boats. The Cats' finish matched last year's.

Hale said it was a solid race for the eights, but the finish could have been a couple of places higher.

"The coxswain made a decision to pass Miami on the inside of the first turn, and the boat didn't deliver," she said.

"It was a good decision, but Miami just didn't want to let us by, so they kicked it up a notch."

While trying to pass the Miami boat, the Cats were pushed out going into the second turn. That cost them about 10 seconds, Hale said.

The Cats were in 17th place heading into the turn but were knocked back into 26th after the turn.

The team was able to recover from the bad luck to climb into its final spot of 24th. The Cats were 1:31 behind first-place finishers U.S. Rowing and 1:53 behind the top university finisher Yale.

"The coxswain tried to get the boat around the Miami boat. But the crew did not realize the necessity of getting around them," Hale said.

"It's like being on the 2-yard line and having to drive the ball in and not being able to do it."

The learning experience the

See ROWING Page 8

UP FOR GRABS

Kris Jensen and Gabby Guerre both dive to make a dig during a match against Texas A&M last Saturday afternoon. The Cats will be back in action at 7 tonight against Missouri at Ahearn Field House.

Drew Rose | COLLEGIAN

Cats, Tigers battle for league's No. 2 spot tonight

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Second place in one of the top volleyball conferences in the nation is up for grabs tonight.

And it involves the Cats.

K-State (11-6, 7-2) will tangle with Missouri (17-3, 7-2) tonight in Ahearn Field House. It will be the first of two meetings between the teams in a two-week span.

Coach Suzie Fritz said Missouri is a very dangerous team, given what they have already done in the Big 12.

"You know 17-3 is going to be determined on your strength of schedule. But 7-2, they're doing some stuff in the conference," she said. "They have a very big right-side block. They serve very aggressive, and I think they are similar to us in that their strengths are their ball control, and they serve and pass very well."

Wildcat action

K-State (11-6, 7-2) vs. #19 Missouri (17-3, 7-2)

When: 7 tonight

Where: Ahearn Field House (5,000)

Cost: Free with student ID

Radio: KMAN-AM 1350, Brian Smoller with the play-by-play

That big Missouri block is led by Mary Lauren Smith, one of the best right-side blockers in the country, Fritz said.

She said that will put more pressure on senior Jennifer Pollard and junior Cari Jensen, K-State's left-side hitters.

"I don't think they have to do anything different. They just have to be aware that there's a physical presence out there waiting on them," Fritz said. "So they are going to have to continue to hit high and

See VOLLEYBALL Page 8

Lindsey Bauman | COLLEGIAN
Jami Sleichter digs against Texas A&M last Saturday. The Cats won the match in three games and face Missouri tonight at Ahearn Field House.

Tennis coaches anxious to see improvement in Oklahoma

After 2-week hiatus, women return to court ready for competition

By Ben Fehr
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State women's tennis team is trying to get better.

At the Hoosier Classic in Bloomington, Ind., two weeks ago, the Wildcats won six of 15 singles matches and five of eight doubles contests.

It wasn't a bad first showing, but in this week's Intercollegiate Tennis Association Regionals in Tulsa, Okla., which begin today and will run through Sunday, Coach Steve Bietau said his Wildcats will be looking to build on the good start.

"We want to make some progress from our last tournament," he said. "We've put in two weeks of pretty hard work. We had a pretty good experience at Indiana, and we want to see if we can continue with that."

"After the volume and the intensity of the work we've been able to put in since we were at Indiana, I'm anxious to see if that's going to produce the kind of results we think it might."

Against Iowa, Ohio State, and Indiana at the Hoosier Classic, Maria Rosenberg, Andrea Cooper and Hayley

McIver all picked up singles wins. Bietau called these wins important, but he said he is ready to see if these athletes can sustain the early momentum.

"Maria, Andrea and Hayley all had pretty good tournaments in Indiana," he said. "We want to see if that's going to continue."

The Wildcats' success will depend on whether K-State can advance players through qualifying action this week.

The five-day tournament will be broken into qualifying draws and qualified play, with singles matches beginning today and doubles to get underway on Thursday.

Assistant coach Andres Gonzalez said the Wildcat coaches will be looking for solid performances across the board.

"We saw a lot of improvement in the last tournament," he said. "Pretty much everyone is playing better than they have. So we're looking to get good results out of everybody."

One player the Cats will likely need good results from to be successful in Tulsa is senior No. 1 singles player Petra Sedlmajerova.

Sedlmajerova lost her match at the Hoosier Invitational but said she is optimistic about the upcoming tournament and the year ahead.

See TENNIS Page 8

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NBA | Rookie has blood clot removed

Cleveland Cavaliers rookie guard Dajuan Wagner had surgery Tuesday to remove a blood clot from the tube connecting his bladder and left kidney.

Wagner underwent the procedure at the Cleveland Clinic, where general manager Jim Paxson expects him to remain for the next few days.

The 19-year-old player has been in the hospital for more than a week. He was initially admitted with stomach cramps before it was discovered that he had a bladder infection.

Doctors found the blood clot while doing tests Monday. There is no prognosis pending more tests, Paxson said.

The sixth overall pick in June's draft hasn't played during the preseason. The Cavs said the operation should speed up Wagner's recovery, although it has not been determined when he will return to the team.

Cleveland opens the season next Tuesday night in Sacramento.

...

K-State Sports Information

Men's Basketball | Laing resigns

K-State men's basketball coach Jim Wooldridge announced Tuesday that assistant coach Robbie Laing resigned his post on the Wildcat coaching staff to pursue other available opportunities.

Laing joined Wooldridge's staff at prior to the 2000-01 season.

Wooldridge indicated that director of basketball operations Jimmy Elgas would assume Laing's responsibilities as assistant coach immediately. He has served as the Wildcats' point person for operations since arriving at K-State in 2000. Prior to his employment at K-State, Elgas served as an assistant coach at Southwest Texas from 1995-2000.

...

Women's Basketball | Ohlde and Wecker on watch list

K-State junior Nicole Ohlde (above) and sophomore Kendra Wecker were selected as preseason candidates for the 2002-03 Naismith College Basketball Player of the Year Award announced Monday by Jackie Bradford, President of the Atlanta Tipoff Club. Ohlde and Wecker are two of five Big 12 players on the preseason list.

Ohlde, K-State's top returning scorer, is one of the program's first Naismith Player of the Year candidates. The All-America candidate averaged 17.9 points, 7.7 rebounds, 2.7 assists, 2.0 blocks and 1.4 steals in 34 games as a sophomore. She also ranked among the top 10 in six different statistical categories in the Big 12 Conference, including fourth in scoring, fifth in rebounds, third in field-goal percentage, first in blocks, second in defensive rebounds and double-doubles.

Wecker, K-State's top returning rebounder and third-leading scorer, averaged 16.4 points, 7.8 rebounds, 2.8 assists, 1.7 steals and 0.5 blocks in 34 games as a freshman. She also was ranked eighth in points, seventh in rebounding, eighth in field-goal percentage, third in free-throw percentage and seventh in steals in the tough Big 12 Conference.

The candidates were selected by a vote of the Board of Selectors comprised of leading basketball coaches, journalists and basketball analysts. Members of the board were asked to name top male and female players who are most likely to be in contention for the award.

2002-03 Preseason Naismith Player of the Year Watch List

Chantelle Anderson	Vanderbilt
Jacqueline Batteast	Notre Dame
Alana Beard	Duke
Kara Braxton	Georgia
Coretta Brown	North Carolina
Shameka Christon	Arkansas
Chrissy Floyd	Clemson
Catrina Frierson	Louisiana Tech
Vanessa Hayden	Florida
Caton Hill	Oklahoma
Ebony Hoffman	USC
Gwen Jackson	Tennessee
Temeka Johnson	Louisiana State
Kara Lawson	Tennessee
Kelly Mazzante	Penn State
Nicole Ohlde	K-State
Jocelyn Penn	South Carolina
Nicole Powell	Stanford
Alicia Ratay	Notre Dame
Alysha Smith	Louisiana State
Stacy Stephens	Texas
Brianne Stephenson	Boston College
Diana Taurasi	Connecticut
iciss Tillis	Duke
Brandi Thomas	Mississippi State
Kendra Wecker	K-State
Lindsey Wilson	Iowa State
Shreka Wright	Purdue

STUDENT SHOWCASE

CALENDAR

Performances

All Ages

Rodgers' and Hammerstein's musical, "South Pacific" will be at 7:30 tonight in McCain Auditorium. Tickets are $20 and $18 for students and children, $40 and $36 for the general public, and they are available at McCain Box Office, 532-6428, or www.ksu.edu/mccain.

Orange will play at 8 p.m. Thursday at Union Station in the K-State Student Union. Admission is free.

Midnight Madness will be at 11 p.m. Thursday in the Purple Masque Theatre. Admission is free.

"The Mothman Prophecies" will be shown at 9 p.m. Friday in the Union Forum Hall. Admission is free.

"Barefoot in the Park," a play by Neil Simon, will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Manhattan Arts Center. There will be a 2 p.m. matinee performance Sunday. Tickets, available at the arts center, are $8 for students and $11 for general admission. Student walk-in tickets are $5 Sunday.

Collage artist Jonathan Talbot will lecture on his work and related topics at 10:30 a.m. Friday at the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art. He will lead a collage workshop starting at 1:30 p.m. Friday as well. Both events are free.

"The Rocky Horror Picture Show" will be shown at midnight Friday in the Main Ballroom on the second floor of the Union. Admission is $5.

Lucky Joan will play at 9 p.m. Tuesday at Gurnby's for free.

18 and over

David Oakleaf will play at 9:30 tonight at Dave's Hideaway. Cover charge will be $3.

Pat Green will play at 10:30 p.m. Thursday at Longhorn's. Doors open at 8 p.m., and tickets are $15, available at Longhorn's.

21 and over

The Pembertons and Mankato will play at 10 p.m. Thursday at Pat's Blue Rib'n Barbecue.

Arthur Dodge will play at 9:30 p.m. Friday at Auntie Mae's Parlor. Cover charge will be $3.

Art

Willard Art Gallery

116 Willard
An exhibition of current art graduate students including Joshua Cross, Brian McCallum, Carol Simmons, Matt Deford, Amiko Matsuo and Chad Lindemann is now on display.

Urban Design

1204 Moro Street
The MFA Thesis Exhibition of Joshua Cross, graduate student in fine arts, will be on display until Nov. 9.

Radina's Coffeehouse and Bakery

618 N. Manhattan
"Dark Winter Branches," recent drawings by Katie Kingery-Page, will be on display until Oct. 30.

Manhattan Arts Center

1520 Poyntz
The Columbian Artists Membership Exhibit will run until Nov. 6.

William T. Kemper Art Gallery

K-State Student Union
The Student Art Show features entries and winners from the Union Program Council's art competition. They are on display until Nov. 1.

Java Espresso &amp; Bakery

1219 Moro
The work of Evgeniya Parish, sophomore in art, is on display.

Strecker-Nelson Gallery

406 1/2 Poyntz Ave.
"Amongst Friends," featuring the work of Barbara Waterman-Peters, Larry Peters and Marko Fields will run through Saturday.

Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art

on campus
"Beyond Oz: Children's Book Illustrations from the Region," will be on display until December. The show features the work of children's book illustrators from the Midwest.

"Escape," by Eric Abeln, junior in environmental design, is on display at the William T. Kemper Art Gallery in the K-State Student Union. Abeln entered several works that appear in the exhibition. The show will be on display until Nov. 1. Best-of-show winners were awarded with $50, first place won $30 and second place won $20 in each category. The judges retained anonymity for the competition.

Photos by Karen Mikols | COLLEGE

Above: "Eads Bridge," by Eric Abeln, junior in environmental design, is on display in the art gallery.

Left: "Modern Woman #1" by Adam Hayes, senior in art, is displayed in the art gallery. "Drift and Die," by Joseph Xiong, senior in architecture, is in the background.

The show features entrants and winners of the Union Program Council art competition. "Modern Woman #1" secured the 2-D best-of-show prize for Hayes. Other best-of-show winners include 3-D winner Matthew Harbtreit, senior in fine arts, for "Centered," which features a large banana shape in the center of a wooden and steel platform. Stephany Graham, junior in fine arts, won the graphic-design prize for "Chair," a book featuring several graphic interpretations of chairs and tables.

Winning art

The Union Program Council art competition winners are on display in the William T. Kemper Art Gallery in the K-State Student Union.

3D

Best of show: Matthew Harbtreit for "Centered."
First place: Joseph Xiong for "Drift & Die."
Second place: Jessica Williams for "Hondurus."

2D

Best of show: Adam Hayes for "Modern Woman."
First place: Eric Abeln for "Escape."
Second place: Adam Hayes for "Il Vappo."

Graphic Design/Illustration

Best of Show: Stephany Graham for "Chair."
First place: Jason Hitchcock for "Family Yrs."
Second place: Justin Mosher for "Song After Song."

Band to debut original compositions, maintain familiar melody

By JJ Duncan
KANSAS STATE COLLEGE

David Oakleaf has made a name for himself for singing what people want to hear.

Oakleaf, junior in mass communications, covers popular radio-friendly music from the likes of Dave Matthews. Now he and his currently unnamed band are working on originals that, hopefully, people will enjoy, he said.

The band will try out seven or eight originals tonight, along with many crowd-favorite covers, Oakleaf said. Here is what Oakleaf had to say about the current line-up.

Q: Are you comfortable with being known around town as such an excellent cover artist?

A: It's cool that people know me for covers, but I'd like to become known for my originals. We still do a lot of improv and mix stuff up. It's been really fun so far, and it's given me a lot of opportunities to meet people.

I've been working with Dave Owens (bass player) to

David Oakleaf

When: 9:30 tonight
Where: Dave's Hideaway
Price: $3

write material. We've been doing some original stuff of mine, and we're working in new songs every show. We've started to get a good response from one of ours called "I Need You, I Want You." Eventually we want to do recording of just original stuff.

Q: With a strong voice and a good sense of what people want to hear, how do you choose which songs you cover?

A: I pick songs I like to sing, and that challenge me.

I look for lyrical content over instrumental work. I try to find stuff that gets people going.

Q: Does that show in your originals?

A: When we're writing songs, I think it shows, but I try not to copy anything. I come up with something original, but I want a melody or beat people can relate to. I'm a rhythm guitar player — I write stuff that uses my voice.

We get a lot of songs from freestyle jams. I'll just write about whatever is on my mind and start to flow. It comes out easier that way than if I sit down and just try writing something.

Right now, though, we're still looking for a name, so if anyone has any suggestions, they should let us know.

We were Ten 'til Blue, but we want to do something else with a different name.

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

Be supported in what you do.

We're building a unique culture where it's people first, employees second. See it in the high quality of life, the meaningful recognition, the chance to make a difference, and the amazing opportunities.

It's no accident we swept every award in the full-service category of the Nation's Restaurant News Industry of Choice Awards, which recognize companies that champion employee satisfaction.

The innovative programs that make Buffets Inc. such a great place to work arose from the ideas and desires of our managers and employees.

Management, Internships and Hourly opportunities are available.

- ◆ Competitive wages
- ◆ Career opportunities
- ◆ 401(k)
- ◆ Excellent benefit options
- ◆ Comprehensive training
- ◆ Early closing times
- ◆ Fresh, made-from-scratch food
- ◆ Family-friendly policies

Country
•Buffet•

HOMETOWN BUFFET

Old Country
•Buffet•

We recognize the ProStart® National Certificate of Achievement as a valuable industry credential. ProStart® is a registered trademark of the National Restaurant Association Educational Foundation.

ProStart
National Certificate Program

•Buffets, Inc.®

To learn about internships and other opportunities at Buffets, Inc., call toll-free at 1-877-7BUFFET or contact us at www.buffet.com

CANCER | Monthly examinations key to prevention

Continued from Page 1

Oliveras, Gleason and Marin — fought the cancer together, Marin said.

"It makes it easier to deal with when you have someone to fight with," Marin said. "But it's also hard, because we lost a great friend. I couldn't believe such an angel had cancer. But when she would battle the cancer, it would make me stronger. She let me know I could do it."

The fact that Oliveras was able to continue her daily routine, even when she was sick, amazed her friends, Marin said.

"She just kept going," she said. "Her number-one concern was always her family. It was never about her."

Oliveras left behind three sons — Brian, Kevin and Mark Oliveras — all K-State students.

"She was so strong," Mark, freshman in history, said. "She never let on how sick she was. She fought for a long time and did everything she could to get well. It is still a shock."

The biggest shock, he said, is that it happened in his family.

"People ignore it," Kevin, junior in computer engineering, said. "They don't give it a second thought, but they should. Someday it might happen to you and your family. I never expected it to happen here, and it did."

Cancer support group

The group meets at 7 p.m. the first Tuesday of every month at College Avenue United Methodist Church.

Cancer victims, survivors and family members are welcome.

For more information, contact Janet Kiser, 776-9936, or Kay Farley, 537-8642.

Facts about breast cancer

- By the end of the decade, about 1.8 million women and 12,000 men will be diagnosed with invasive breast cancer.
- About 44,000 women and 300 men will die of the disease each year.
- For women ages 35 to 54, breast cancer is the leading cause of death.
- Breast cancer accounts for 30 percent of all new cancer cases in women.
- When breast cancer is confined to the breast, the five-year survival rate is more than 95 percent.

Source: The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation

The three men agree cancer education is important.

"I honestly never thought about it much until my mom was diagnosed," said Brian, who is taking off a semester to tie up loose ends after his mother's death. "People need to be aware of this. My mom fought hard, but ultimately the cancer beat her. Our hope now is that people can learn from my mom's story and become educated about the cancer."

Janet Kiser, a nurse and facilitator of a support group

Oliveras attended, said early detection is extremely important in fighting breast cancer.

"We can't stress that enough," she said. "It is something we tell everyone who asks."

Kiser said women should know three vital steps in fighting cancer. The first is monthly breast self-examinations.

"I know there has been some talk of these not being effective," Gleason said, "but that is simply not true. That is how I found my lump."

Another step is taking clinical breast examinations at least every three years beginning at age 20 and annually after 40.

"It is never too early to begin," Kiser said. "It could save your life."

An annual mammogram is also suggested for women age 40 and older, Kiser said.

For those diagnosed with cancer, Gleason said she cannot stress enough the importance of a support group.

"We are a family," she said, "and losing Kriss was hard. We were with her for all of her treatments, just like she was there for us. Hopefully people will read her story and learn about the cancer."

"You are your own best advocate. Being aware of your body and doing self-exams can only be helpful."

PROTEST | Alliance invites community, students to participate in non-violent protests opposing war

Continued from Page 1

signs to protesters.

"We want people to be aware that their neighbors in town are reflecting on this, as I'm sure they are," he said. "We want to lend a peaceful presence to express that this proposed adventure is going to sabotage rather than preserve the security of the U.S."

The nonviolent war protest furthers the alliance's long-term mission of working for peace and justice locally and abroad, said Anne Cowan, Manhattan Alliance for Peace and Justice treasurer.

Other organizations, including several student organizations, have been invited to participate in the protests, Cowan said.

The group is also sponsoring public forums and encouraging participants to write and call newspapers and elected state and national representatives.

"We hope to add our voice to the voices all across the country that are speaking out against the move toward war in Iraq," Cowan said. "These demonstrations are going on all over, and we feel that they do make a difference. If politicians in Washington see enough people out on the street, they'll have to consider this when they make their decisions."

Cowan said the community is invited to participate in the protests.

"We hope that as people in Manhattan see us out there, they will join us," Cowan said.

Wood said there were many reasons the group was protesting the possible war.

"We question whether the United States has a right to begin a war with Iraq based on the kind of information President Bush has shared with the world," she said. "By setting a precedent by which one country can serve as jury, judge and executioner of another without an outside body, we are establishing the U.S. as a tyrant, so we are going against the values we say the United States stands for."

Wood said that if intervention occurs, it should be a multinational force under the leadership of the United Nations.

Paul Youk, senior in sociology and English, said he had several reasons for becoming involved with opposition efforts.

"In the most basic sense, examining the role of what our government does is important for any citizen of America to do," he said. "There's really a double standard about how America treats countries in the Middle East. We will let political allies get away with things that we condemn other nations for, when other nations do things that are just as bad or worse."

"There are a lot of people concerned that this issue will take away from others in the U.S. that are really more pressing," Wood said.

"Corporate ethics, responsibility and accountability, the stock market, the economy, education — you name it. There are a lot of things going on domestically that we need to be giving our attention to."

NEED A ROOMMATE or are you LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO LIVE?

advertise in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie Hall 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

310
For Rent-
Apt.
Unfurnished

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. pets allowed. $445/month. Lease ends in May but can be renewed. Can move in immediately. Park Place Apartments. (785)539-2951.

ADVERTISE
CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

150
Sublease

ONE-BEDROOM CHASE Manhattan Apartments. $490/month includes water and trash available late December. Call (785)565-0674.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom apartment. Fully furnished with washer/dryer. Will lease individually. Call (785)323-1778. Ask for Beth.

GET YOUR AD HERE. Call Today 532-6555

000
bulletin board

910
Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes and lowest rates. Call (785)776-1744. www.ksu.edu/kstc

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-8100. chuckharper@msn.com.

BARTENDER TRAINEES needed $250/day potential. Local positions. (800)293-3085 ext. 623.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

020
Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST OCTOBER 14th: Gold ring with three small leaves and a white ball in middle. Much sentimental value. Call (785)395-2125.

030
Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100
housing/real estate

105
For Rent-
Apts. Furnished

VERY NICE one-bedroom furnished. By campus, Aggieville. Water, trash paid. Parking, laundry. $420. 1722 Kearney #16. December, January. (785)539-7861.

"Stay In Class At The Commons"

Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

- Fully Furnished
- 2 & 4 Bedroom
- Alarm System
- Swimming Pool
- Washer/Dryer
- Computer Lab
- Fitness Center
- Permit Parking
- Tennis/Volleyball Courts
- Individual Leases

Office Hours: M-F 9-5

539-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE

110
For Rent-
Apt. Unfurnished

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $300/month. Available January. 928 Leavenworth. A very cute apartment. Absolutely No Smoking. Call Stan (785)537-7681

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT in house available now. 622 Vattier, $800/month. Trash paid, pets considered. Call MDI. (785)776-3804

TWO-BEDROOM DAY-LIGHT basement. $420, bills paid, references, lease. (785)539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

SELYOURSTUFF

115
Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM FOR sublease in a five-bedroom house. Close to campus. $240/month plus bills. Call (785)317-5606.

120
For Rent-
Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM, NEAR campus. central air, washer/dryer hookups, carport, appliances, fenced backyard, no smoking! pets. $800. 1528 Hartford. (785)759-3520.

NEXT TO campus. nice four, six-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7050.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. central air, washer/dryer hook-ups, garage, off-street parking. Available November 1. 1508 Jarvis. $650. (785)341-5160.

145
Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for next semester for a five-bedroom, three bathroom house. Rent $300/month. Call (785)539-5081.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester in three-bedroom apartment. Washer/dryer included. Across the street from campus. Call (785)565-4108.

MALE OR female roommate wanted for Spring 2002. Rent $223/month. Split utilities. Very nice! Call (785)770-3715.

MALE, WALK to class. Needed for lower level. Washer/dryer without meter. All furnished. No smoking, drinking, pets. $185 plus utilities. (785)539-1554.

ROOMMATE DESIRED to live with mature male. (785)776-8854.

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592 or (785)341-5105.

ROOMMATES NEEDED for five-bedroom house, one block from campus. Washer/dryer included. $275/month. Call (785)537-4920 or (785)341-9510.

WANTED MALE or female for house directly across from campus. Off-street parking, washer/dryer. $325 all utilities paid. Call (785)317-0630.

150
Sublease

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for nice three-bedroom apartment for spring semester. Close to campus. Water, trash, gas paid. $195/month. (785)770-3570.

FEMALE SUBLEASER needed for apartment at University Commons. Shared with three other girls. Please call (785)770-8576. Ask for Sandy.

FEMALE SUBLEASERS needed for Spring. Nice four-bedroom duplex one block from campus. $250/month plus bills. Call (785)776-4260.

ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus. 1031 Moro. $350/month. No pets. Trash paid. Water and gas shared. (785)565-9118.

SPRING SEMESTER. Large bedroom in four-bedroom/ two bath house. Near campus. $240/month, one-fourth utilities. Washer/dryer. (785)587-8303 (Lesley).

SUBLEASER NEEDED for spring semester. Two blocks from campus. $240/month, with cheap utilities. Extras include washer/dryer, private parking, pool table, foosball and more. (785)236-9553.

200
service directory

250
Automotive Repair

LEWIS AUTO oil change specials $19.99. five quarts house oil and filter. $21.99. five quarts any other oil and filter. Prices are subject to tax. Call (785)770-8553 for appointment.

300
employment opportunities

One man's junk is another man's treasure.

310
Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/ Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

FIRST UNITED Methodist Church of Wamego seeks part-time Christian Education Director. Contact Darwin Olson at (785)456-8478 by November 2.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. Info (985)646-1700 Dept. KS-6438.

KFC is seeking to hire/ train part time help who should apply in person at 901 N. 3rd street. For KFC senior management positions in the region, please contact Dan directly at (620)341-0353 or call toll free 1-888-323-4954 ext. 13.

LABOR: PART-TIME position, Tuesday-Friday. Must be available to work 1-5 or 8-5 Tuesdays and Thursdays. Will include painting, yard work, maintenance, cleaning, etc. (785)539-2309.

WANTED: CARING, reliable care-giver for part-time pre-schooler care in Christian home near Wamego. Next spring also. Call (785)456-7899.

RESEARCH ASSISTANT Professor. The University of Kansas medical Center has an immediate opening for Research Assistant Professor in our School of Nursing. Incumbent will be responsible for overseeing the recruitment and scheduling of data collection through interface with nursing home administrators and state survey region administrators; to assist with the assessment of the nursing home survey process; to serve as a team leader for the development and integration of data analysis files; and to oversee project personnel. He/ she will also be responsible for procuring administrative databases, integrating with project databases, ensuring integrity of data; and assisting with complex multi-level data analysis. Requires a Masters, Doctorate preferred, in Nursing or related field; research experience in a grant-funded project; and experience with quantitative data management.

NEED SOME stuff? Don't want new? Come and shop - College Avenue! All church rummage sale. College Avenue United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall, 1809 College Ave. Friday, October 25 - 5:00PM-9:00PM. Saturday, October 26 - 7:00 AM - 12:00 PM noon. Proceeds go to Ogden Friendship House and Mission Projects.

Pets and Supplies

MALE RED-TAILED Boa for sale. $125 or best offer. Call 587-9968. Ask for Matt.

465
Tickets to Buy/Sell

WANTED To buy: student football tickets against ISU. Call (785)323-0389.

310
Help Wanted

Prefer experience working with large databases and quantitative data analysis. If interested, please submit cover letter and resume to: Dr. Sarah Forbes, 3901 Rainbow Blvd., Kansas City, KS 66160 or e-mail: sforbes@kumc.edu or fax (913)588-1660. KUMC is proud to be an Affirmative Action/ Equal Opportunity Employer.

320
Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD, Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply (413)458-0294. www.drh-movement.org elfemarie@humana.org

330
Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/ Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400
open market

410
Items for Sale

55 GALLON aquarium stand, all you need is the fish. $250 or best offer. Email jbarjen@ksu.edu.

BOOK: Anthology of Chinese Literary Essays (Translated to English). Please visit http://li.chungwang0.tripod.com.

420
Garage/Yard Sales

#1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1 Breckenridge, Vail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin. $179. 1-800-SKI-WILD. 1-800-754-6453. www.skiwild.com

630
Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPadre. 110% Best Price! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007 endlessummers.com

I KSU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price, FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE, Reps needed, earn $$$$. Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578) dept. 2626 / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4788 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext.14 Ask for Craig www.usaspringbreak.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4788 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com

Cleaning house? Sell your stuff in the Collegian. Kansas State Collegian • classifieds • 103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555

500
transportation

510
Automobiles

1995 CAMARO Z28, dark green, power chip, flowmaster plus K&N, tint windows. Asking $6500, serious inquiries only. Kyle (785)341-9143.

MUST SELL! 1987 Honda Accord LX, gold, manual shift, CD, nice stereo. High miles, well cared for, records, new tires. Asking $1700 or best offer. Call (785)969-8272.

530
Motorcycles

1993 SUZUKI Katana 600. $2000. Runs great. (785)564-0196. Ask for Aaron.

600
travel/trips

610
Tour Package

#1 College Ski Week BRECKENRIDGE Ski 5 Resorts for the Price of 1 Breckenridge, Vail, Beaver Creek, Keystone & A Basin. $179. 1-800-SKI-WILD. 1-800-754-6453. www.skiwild.com

630
Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Florida, SPadre. 110% Best Price! Book Now and get Free Parties & Meals! Group Discounts. Now Hiring Campus Reps! 1(800)234-7007 endlessummers.com

I KSU SPRING BREAK... ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price, FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE, Reps needed, earn $$$$. Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578) dept. 2626 / www.springbreakdiscounts.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Sun Coast Vacations wants to send you on Spring Break 2003 to Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, or Jamaica FOR FREE! Call us now at 1-800-795-4788 or email us at sales@suncoastvacations.com

USA SPRING Break Presents Spring Break 2003 Campus Reps Wanted. Earn two free trips for 15 people Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Acapulco, South Padre and Florida. Philadelphia Based Corporate Office. Call Toll Free 1-877-460-6077 ext.14 Ask for Craig www.us

CLOSING TIME IN AGGIEVILLE

Stephanie Powers, senior in print journalism, counts a night's worth of tips to be divided among the staff at Auntie Mae's Parlor. Much of the work at Auntie Mae's goes on after the bar has closed, including sweeping, washing dishes, and trash removal.

Lindsey Bauman | COLLEGIAN

Cleanup crew faces dirty restrooms, spilled beer

Story by Dan Smith | COLLEGIAN

Dan Thornton, in the Army at Fort Riley, sweeps the floor of Aggie Station after closing time Sunday morning. Thornton works at Aggie Station on the weekends, and said he takes drunk soldiers home to Fort Riley if they need a ride.

Matt Stamey | COLLEGIAN

The clock reads 1:30 a.m. at Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon, and things are about to get interesting inside one of Aggieville's most popular bars.

Jamie Burkholder, senior in marketing and a waitress at Chance, will make her last round of deliveries shortly — mostly cheap bottles and a couple of Big Beers for those wanting to race the clock — before it's time to start cleaning up the night's remnants.

"It's a great atmosphere, and you get to interact with a lot of people," Burkholder said. "It brings K-State together."

Within 30 minutes, however, the atmosphere — consisting of thousands of people and plenty of alcohol — will be gone, leaving only the mess to gauge the night's business success.

On this Friday night, K-State football fans have come to gather in the Little Apple's entertainment district, swelling the crowd and making cleanup look more challenging than usual.

Since it's a gameday, Burkholder is nearing the end of a double shift. She started around noon and worked until 6 p.m. before taking a break before her 9-to-close shift.

She has served the clientele with as much courtesy as she can muster, but now, the Chance waitress has turned into a cleaning machine, determined to leave the bar before 2:30 a.m.

By 1:50 a.m., empty and half-filled drinks of every variety, piles of paper and bottle caps, evidence of the alcohol's influence in the bar's restroom, and a few misplaced cell phones and sets of keys are the only signs anyone was even at the bar.

"I thought it'd be a lot worse than this," Burkholder said before tackling cleanup duties.

It's Burkholder's responsibility, working with a handful of other waitresses, to make students' favorite night spot look respectable again by Saturday.

"We wipe down tables, put up stools and clean bathrooms, but we leave the real dirty stuff," she said. "We make sure the patio looks decent. We do the basic stuff and upkeep of the bathrooms."

The same transformation occurs at

Closing time

Aggieville's bars have strict timetables for getting guests out and cleaning up after them. Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon follows its schedule to the minute:

1:30 a.m. With a packed house, the DJ at Chance announces "last call." It's the last time customers can order a drink for the night.

1:35 a.m. "Be careful, folks — it's time to go," announces the DJ one last time. The music stops, and the lights come up in bars around Aggieville.

1:40 a.m. Waitresses at Chance and other bars begin filling large trash cans with bottles, cups and any other debris that has accumulated throughout the night. Bartenders serve their final drinks by this point and begin pulling drawers out of cash registers.

1:45 a.m. While most customers take last call as a hint to leave, some need a little encouragement. Bouncers start to take drinks and round up customers and direct them to the door.

1:50 a.m. By this time, there are few people in the bar besides employees. Waitresses begin wiping down tables and putting up bar stools to make sweeping easier.

2 a.m. With the bars officially closed, managers count cash, and waitresses finish cleaning before leaving around 2:30 a.m.

2:30 a.m. A cleaning crew takes care of the bar's bigger messes and puts the final touches on the cleanup effort.

O'Malley's, where the smell of beer and the sight of ravaged bathrooms greet Manager Katie Talamantez.

"Guys have a problem with not going where they're supposed to go," she said.

But while nightly bathroom disasters might be the most daunting task of cleaning up party spots, Aggieville employees take it all in stride.

"It's a tiring job, but it's not too bad," Burkholder said. "Every job has its dirty things and its bad parts. It's a lot of fun, and the money's good."

In fact, the atmosphere is enough to make most waitresses forget about the monotony.

"We just have fun," said Francie Talamantez, Katie's sister and waitress at O'Malley's.

"That's why people like coming here. We have fun, and we like to have fun with people that come here. They have fun because they see us having fun."

For Burkholder, too, the process is worth lugging around a spray bottle and wipe cloth at the end of the night.

"It's a fun job and a great environment," she said, "so you learn to like doing it."

Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN

Restocking behind the bar at Longhorn's, All Diesel, second-year veterinary medicine student, puts more bottles in the cooler. After the bars close, bartenders wade through the mess behind the bar to replenish the supplies they use during the evening. "I have a pair of bar shoes," Diesel said. "They get dirty, and I only wear them to work."

UN BUY I GET I
KIDS EAT FREE
MON $399
ALL YOU CAN EAT

Aggie Station
RESTAURANT & PUB

Matt Stamey | COLLEGIAN

Matt Lewis, junior in construction science management, right, and Russell Shipley, senior in accounting, share a laugh after leaving Aggie Station after breakfast at 3 a.m. Sunday. The two were leaving while Aaron Knight, freshman in criminology and employee at Aggie Station, put up the next day's advertisements on the marquee.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Thursday, October 24, 2002

Nicole Donnet | COLLEGIAN

Diana Brunner, freshman in biology and pre-physical therapy, listens to her roommate, Anna Campbell, freshman in pre-veterinary medicine, speak to a friend who has stopped to talk while passing by their room at Haymaker Hall on Wednesday evening. The two roommates get along well and share many of the same friends.

ROOM RELATIONS

Establishing strong roommate connections important; residence hall students accommodate different lifestyles

By Shannon Hartenstein
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Anna Campbell started the semester anew — new to Kansas, new to K-State and new to residence hall life. So for the freshman from Texas, living potluck and meeting a new friend was a simple decision.

Campbell, freshman in pre-veterinary medicine, and her roommate, Diana Brunner, freshman in biology, live in Haymaker Hall. They began the semester as strangers but since have become good friends. They help each other study, motivate each other to go to class, hang out together and share time with friends.

"It's been great so far," Campbell said.

Brunner agreed. She said she went potluck because she wanted to meet new people.

"I thought it would be hard to live with a friend, and it might hurt our relationship," Brunner said.

Other students choose their roommates.

Joel Flory, freshman in architectural engineering, and Brian Wendling, freshman in business, have been friends since kindergarten. During their senior year at Halstead High School, they decided living together would be an easy way to start their college experience.

Gambling on potluck living arrangements wasn't a good option for Wendling.

"You don't want to get stuck with somebody that you're not going to get along with," he said. "I wanted to know the person I was living with."

About 3,800 students live in residence halls, said Belinda Hunter, occupancy coordinator for the Department of Housing and Dining.

Positive living arrangements could make life in the residence halls more comfortable. But when times get tough, tiny flaws or annoying habits could transform into serious problems.

See ROOM Page 9

Authorities obtain warrants in sniper case

By Stephen Manning
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ROCKVILLE, Md. — Police hunting the serial sniper issued an arrest warrant Wednesday for a 42-year-old man they believe has information about the string of terrifying shootings that have left 10 people dead in the Washington suburbs.

Montgomery County Police Chief Charles Moose said the man, John Allen Muhammad, should be considered "armed and dangerous" and that he was being sought on a federal weapons charge.

He also cautioned that the public should not assume Muhammad is involved in any of the shootings that have stricken the Washington area since Oct. 2.

Moose identified Muhammad as a black male who also goes by the name John Allen Williams. He also said a juvenile may be accompanying Muhammad.

He did not identify the juvenile, but a law enforcement source identified him as 17-year-old Lee Malvo.

A U.S. official in Washington said authorities were looking for two "people of interest," including one who was formerly connected to Fort Lewis, an Army base south of Tacoma, Wash., that provides some of the most intense sniper training in the U.S. military.

A Fort Lewis spokesman said the FBI had asked for help from the base but could say nothing else.

Moose also issued another cryptic message to the sniper:

"You asked us to say 'We have caught the sniper like a duck in a noose.' We understand that hearing us say that is important to you," Moose said. "Let's talk directly. We have an answer for you about your option. We are waiting for you to contact us."

The announcement came hours after the investigation jumped across the country. FBI agents converged on a rental home in Tacoma with metal detectors and chain saws, carting away a tree stump from the

See SNIPER Page 9

INSIDE

Horses at home: Equestrian team prepares to ride in 1st competition of season at home

Sports, Page 6

NEWSWORTHY

The Associated Press

Bush signs defense spending bill, lauds new tools for war against terrorism
President Bush signed into law Wednesday the biggest military spending increase since Ronald Reagan's administration — a $355.5 billion package.

U.S. circulates new working draft on Iraq, drops several inspection demands
The United States circulated a new draft resolution Wednesday that warns Iraq will face "serious consequences" if it fails to comply with inspections.

North Korea's nuclear program to dominate United States-China summit
President Bush and Chinese President Jiang Zemin will be searching for common ground when they meet Friday to discuss their shared concerns over North Korea's determination to acquire nuclear weapons.

United States brands Southeast Asian terrorists; asks other nations for help
The United States on Wednesday linked a group of Islamic extremists in Southeast Asia to the al-Qaeda network and asked the United Nations to join in drying up contributions to Jemaah Islamiyah and blocking travel by its members.

Armed Chechens enter Moscow theater, take audience hostage
About 50 armed Chechen rebels seized a crowded Moscow theater Wednesday night, firing their weapons and taking hundreds of audience members hostage.

Weather

Today 43 | 38

Friday 56 | 40

Contact Us

Kedzie 103
Manhattan, KS 66502
Newsroom.....532-6556
news@pub.ksu.edu
Display advertising.....532-6560
Classified advertising.....532-6555
Delivery problems.....532-6555
Photo reprints.....532-6304

www.kstatecollegian.com

Vol. 107, No. 46

Colleges of architecture, Arts and Sciences bracing

Colleges already suffering from shortages

By Amy Preston
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The effects of budget cuts have been sweeping across campus, and the College of Architecture, Planning and Design, and the College of Arts and Sciences have been seeing their consequences.

Although each school is different in size and structure, both have had similar effects from the budget cuts and more importantly, are awaiting to see what the future holds for them.

College of Architecture, Planning and Design

As one of the nation's top colleges, Dean Dennis Law worries that the cut of about $250,000 in the College of Architecture, Planning and Design's $6 million budget might jeopardize the reputation of one of the smallest schools on campus.

"I don't sleep at night, and it worries me terribly," he said. "We've established quite a legacy nationwide, and we've been a center of excellence for the state."

Along with the other eight colleges on campus, the college has experienced cutbacks in labor, travel and office supplies.

"We've completely shut down travel, and most of the faculty pay and travel at their own expense," Law said. "Also, we're basically shutting down all copying, doing everything online or using e-mail."

The greatest cut to the college, however, has been to its staff members. Law said the college has had to cut various staff members in the

Budget cuts

The Collegian is exploring the effects of budget cuts made by the Kansas Legislature by analyzing each of K-State's 11 colleges, along with services that affect students. With mid-year cuts that could be detrimental to the university, higher education funding has become a top issue in November's elections.

dean's office and architecture programs.

These cuts, Law said, create future problems for students and faculty members alike.

"The numbers are going to be going up in our classes, which is a real problem in studio class," he said.

However, Law and the associate deans are informing students of these changes.

"I've been very good about communicating this to the students," Law said. "I called an all-college meeting, and the students are fearful enough that they're getting organized to try to influence the legislators on their concerns. I'm pretty proud of them."

Ray Weisenburger, associate dean for the college, said that because the college is smaller than the other eight, any significant changes could affect the school in a larger way.

"It's a tremendous impact on a college that's small and doesn't have much maneuvering room," he said.

In addition, Law said the college's lack of physical diversity affects the overall budget cuts.

"We lack a lot of physical diversity that the other colleges do," he said.

See CUTS Page 8

Nicole Donnet | COLLEGIAN
Manhattan firefighters walk out of a house at 1231 Laramie St. while working to extinguish a fire that started in a bedroom Wednesday afternoon.

Firefighters battle Laramie blaze; damage estimates not released

By Amy Link
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Firefighters are still unsure of what caused a fire Wednesday afternoon at 1231 Laramie St.

Director of Fire Services James Woydziak said that at about 2:25 p.m., fire fighters responded to a house fire at the 1200 block of Laramie.

Woydziak said it appeared the fire had started in the bedroom, and damage may be extensive. Woydziak was not available to comment on the amount of damage later in the afternoon.

He said when firefighters arrived, smoke was coming out of all the windows, including the ground floor windows.

At about 2:45 p.m., firefighters began entering the building a second time.

"This involves searching the building foot by foot to make sure that nobody is in there," Woydziak said.

Woydziak said the two residents of the house were not home.

McCullough Development Inc. manages the house, and James Kearns, supervisor for McCullough, witnessed the fire.

Kearns said he received a call informing the company of the fire but said he did not know the residents personally.

Doug Donald, Manhattan resident, was sitting in Radina's Coffeehouse & Bakery when he heard a couple of people yelling in the street for the police. Donald said he witnessed the firefighter cut a hole in the roof in order to release the smoke.

"When I came out, the firefighters were setting up their entry," Donald said.

Westport Cleaners

1120 Westport 776-2323

Puzzles | Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Wedding entertainment

5 Exemplar of gentleness

9 Lingerie buy

12 Lab aide?

13 Part of B.O.

14 Layer

15 Good way to start the day

17 Corn spike

18 Bicycle attachment

19 Intoxicating

21 Actor

22 Poolroom supply

24 Sailors

27 Turn on the water-works

28 Lather

31 Melody

32 Terhune dog

33 Italian actor

34 Tognazzi

34 Entirely

36 Snacked

DOWN

37 Mulligan, for one

38 Real-dence

40 "Whad'ja say?"

41 Gotham City villain

43 Nebraska river

47 — out a living

48 Reason to call AAA

51 Blunder

52 PC symbol

53 "Zounds!"

54 — de deux

55 Sharpness of

56 Lip

DOWN

1 Variety of lettuce

2 Taj Mahal city

3 Oppositionists' votes

4 Ducklings' dads

5 Hay there

6 "Bingo!"

7 Wrong (Pref.)

8 South African leader

9 Escape

10 Fork

11 Distorted

16 St.

20 Sprite

22 Orange container

23 Eleven-son baddie

24 Hiatus

25 Lubricate

28 Surfers seek them

27 Dressed

29 Candle count

30 Tend the lawn

35 Rushmore figure

37 Dark glasses

39 Trip around the world?

40 Vapil

41 Army vehicle

42 Gumbo base

43 Hunger three

44 Frat party outfit

45 "Jabberwocky" start

46 They go with the odds

48 GE merger partner

50 Lots of time?

Solution time: 25 mins.

Yesterday's answer 10-24

CRYPTOQUIP

V K F B G T O B J E H O W B X H Q

Z O B V W E K F Z B Y Q O K - P Y S K

H V B : " N Y S I V K G W E I O T

N V J O E W Y S O P G Y X ! "

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IF YOU'RE REALLY GOOD AT FIBBING, SOME MIGHT ACTUALLY CONSIDER THAT A "LIABILITY."

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: W equals T

10-24 CRYPTOQUIP

V K F B G T O B J E H O W B X H Q

Z O B V W E K F Z B Y Q O K - P Y S K

H V B : " N Y S I V K G W E I O T

N V J O E W Y S O P G Y X ! "

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IF YOU'RE REALLY GOOD AT FIBBING, SOME MIGHT ACTUALLY CONSIDER THAT A "LIABILITY."

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: W equals T

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-800-228-5851 $99 per minute, touch-tone only. (11a only.) A King Features service, NYC.

10-24 CRYPTOQUIP

V K F B G T O B J E H O W B X H Q

Z O B V W E K F Z B Y Q O K - P Y S K

H V B : " N Y S I V K G W E I O T

N V J O E W Y S O P G Y X ! "

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IF YOU'RE REALLY GOOD AT FIBBING, SOME MIGHT ACTUALLY CONSIDER THAT A "LIABILITY."

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: W equals T

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to localizing vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2002 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Corrections and clarifications

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Dana Strongin at 532-6556 or e-mail collegian@ksu.edu.

Kansas State Collegian

(USPS 291 021) The Kansas State Collegian, a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and on Wednesdays during the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, KS 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, K-State 103, Manhattan, KS 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 2002

SPOTLIGHT | Cancer research

Cancer sufferer sees dream come true

New Ackert Hall addition becomes home to research center

By Crystal Welborn
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

What once was a vision to one man can now be seen by all.

The new addition to Ackert Hall is now home to the Terry C. Johnson Center for Basic Cancer Research.

Johnson, who is suffering from the final stages of liver cancer, has been the director of the Center for Basic Cancer Research since its development in 1980.

Richard Consigli, university distinguished professor emeritus and long-time personal friend of Johnson, said Johnson is honored by having his name on the center that he helped to create.

"He is a very private kind of person, and he is honored about being named," he said.

"It was his creation, and he is very proud."

The center is a non-profit organization devoted to basic cancer research and education. It relies heavily on donations and government grants.

"We receive funding from the National Cancer Institute, and we are the only non-medical school that has had this funding," said Janis Galitzer, administrative assistant at the center.

Galitzer said Johnson wanted the center to be a way for educators and students of different educational backgrounds to join together and share ideas.

"He has created a cancer center in a school that isn't a medical school, making it possible for people from all different disciplines to interact, thereby increasing the opportunities and the possibilities for cancer discovery," she said.

Johnson was a professor and the director of the Division of Biology from 1977 to 1992 after receiving his doctorate in microbiology from the University of Minnesota.

Johnson's dedication to helping students learn more about cancer research helped to earn him the honor of university distinguished professor in 1989.

"He was director of the Division of Biology for years here, and he was a tough boss, but there were a lot of great things happening while he was there," Galitzer said.

Galitzer said Johnson and the rest of the center's staff are proud of their program because of the quality of students they train and produce.

Johnson not only helped college students, but younger children as well.

He and the staff at the center created a coloring book to help explain cancer to young children.

The book, "A Day with Dr. Waddle," explains to children about cancer, science and good health and is available in both English and Spanish.

Consigli said the books are just one of the many things Johnson dreamed about.

"There were so many things that he had visions that he made come true," he said.

"They named the cancer center after him because he is very deserving — he is one of a kind."

Galitzer said she doesn't think the cancer center would exist without Johnson's hard work and dedication.

"This building now exists because it was his lifelong dream," she said. "This is the pinnacle of what he has worked for for 20 years and he doesn't even get the chance to come in, sit in a chair and say, 'I did it.'"

Galitzer said Johnson was diagnosed with his illness in June and has only been into the center a couple of times since then.

She said he's never been inside the new center.

"He is a very personal and private person," she said. "Nothing is ever about him."

Consigli said Johnson has been a phenomenal fund-raiser and was always willing to help out those who needed the money the most.

"He had a lot of visions about the cancer center — not only helping students get into cancer laboratories, but helping a lot of faculty if they needed equipment or something like that," he said.

"The cancer center was always there to help."

Galitzer said the center has put back more than $125,000 into the economy at K-State through paying for lectures and seminars.

"Our goal has always been to provide funding where the university does not," she said.

Stephen White, interim dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, said there will be a ceremony to dedicate the new center to Johnson at some point in the future.

"The center has been named in his honor, and he is aware of that," he said.

"They are not even totally moved in yet, so we will have the ceremony when the dust settles."

Although the ceremony hasn't commenced, the center is up and running, doing all of the things Johnson envisioned.

"He made it possible for those people to get together in different areas for different reasons."

"Because of that, confederations have been made that may never have existed," Galitzer said. "His dream was to bring these people together, to get them to share their ideas and to work together."

Galitzer said that if Johnson were to walk into the office today, he would look around and be proud of what he helped build, but would still work to develop more.

"He would sit back and say, 'Here it is. We did it.' Then he would say, 'OK, what more could we do now?'"

Karen Mikols | COLLEGIAN
The Center for Basic Cancer Research moved from its off-campus office to Ackert Hall. Its new name is the Terry C. Johnson Center for Basic Cancer Research, named as such for the man who has directed the center since its development in 1980.

The blotter

Arrests in Riley County

Reports are taken directly from Riley County Police Department's daily logs. The Collegian does not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Tuesday, Oct. 22

- At 8:02 a.m., Oren Little II, Ogden, was arrested for failure to appear and driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $1,450.
- At 9:30 a.m., Matthew Pemberton, 815 N. 10th, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $160.
- At 4 p.m., Jason Ward, Overland Park, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $500.
- At 4:10 p.m., Justin Everett, 1022 Laramie, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $2,500.
- At 5 p.m., Jeremie Bradstreet, 1023 Yuma, No. 1, was arrested for worthless check. Bond was set at $323.10.
- At 5:45 p.m., Wade Simmitt, Leonardville, was arrested for driving on a canceled or suspended license. Bond was set at $500.

The planner

Campus bulletin board

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@pub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

- Recreational Services will be taking entries for intramural inner tube water polo, the cross country meet and bowling today and Friday in the administrative office.
- Royal Purple yearbook pictures will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today through Friday in the Union Courtyard.
- "Frankenstein: Penetrating the Secrets of Nature" is open through Nov. 15 on Hale Library's second floor.
- Lafene Health Center is providing walk-in flu vaccines at 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. today in the center. Cost is $7 for students and $10 for faculty and staff.
- Basic library classes will be at 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. today in Hale 408.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct an experiential learning orientation workshop at 2:30 p.m. today in Holtz Hall. Call (785) 532-6506 for a reservation.
- Wet Willies swim club will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in Union State Rooms 1 and 2.
- Ag Ambassador/REPS will meet at 5:45 p.m. today in Waters 231.
- Lutheran Campus Ministry presents "Frodo!" a one-woman show, at 7 p.m. Saturday in Nichols Theatre.
- Career and Employment Services will have representatives from Koch Industries and Pfizer talk about job offers at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union 212. Call (785) 532-6506 for a reservation.
- BAPP will meet at 5 p.m. Tuesday in Calvin 218.
- The class EDICP 832 will meet from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Oct. 30 to discuss the future of higher education in Blumont 106.

Up next

In Friday's Collegian

News | Alternative solutions
Without passes, students are choosing to park off campus in residential neighborhoods
Opinion | Halloween horror
Horror movies are to Halloween what carols are to Christmas. Check out our culture's dark side

Learn Hebrew

Starting Nov. 3 every Sunday at the Manhattan Jewish Congregation 1509 Wreath Ave.

9:00-10:00 Conversational Hebrew

10:00-11:00 Liturgical Hebrew

Cost: $40 for 6-1 hour sessions

Call 537-0401 or 565-0907 (evening)

Fat's Bar & Grill

Thursday

$2.50 pitchers

$2.50 fish bowls

$3.50 Toasted sandwiches

Live Texas Music w/ Pete Gile

Friday

$2 Bottles

$3.50 Toasted sandwiches

SPOOKTACULAR SPECIALS

at SALON 1 with Jodi or Heather

3104 Anderson

$10 men's haircuts

FREE bottle of shampoo with hite or color and haircut, $54

FREE OPI nail polish w/full set of acrylic nails, $37

Call Today 539-3626

Expires Oct. 31, 2002

Mention this ad when scheduling appointment

Schlumberger:

"Because they put no limits on how high I can climb or how far I can explore."

Schlumberger Ltd. is a $13 billion technology services company active in more than 100 countries. So when we promise you the world, we mean it.

And careers at Schlumberger are "borderless," which means you have lifelong opportunities to move across disciplines and divisions. So you can follow your heart and intellect. And explore the boundaries of science and technology as you expand your own horizons.

If you have a passion to excel and want a future without limits, you'll discover we speak your language. In any language, it's the opportunity of a lifetime. Take a minute to visit our website at www.slb.com/careers.

Kansas State Interviews!

Information Meeting:
October 30, 2002 • 7:00pm - 9:00pm
Student Union, Room 207

Interviewing:
October 31, 2002

BS or MS Degrees:
All Engineering and I.T. disciplines, Geoscience, Chemistry, Physics, Math

Schlumberger

www.slb.com/careers

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

"Supportive services for pregnancy, parenting & adoption."

539-3338

Free pregnancy tests

Totally confidential service

Same day results

Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

MORTAR BOARD WOULD LIKE TO CONGRATULATE THE FOLLOWING K-STATE FACULTY MEMBERS FOR THEIR OUTSTANDING WORK WITH STUDENTS:

College of Agriculture: Honoree: Dr. Bryan Schurle, Associate Dean Larry Erpelding

College of Architecture, Planning and Design: Honoree: Fayeze Hussein, Associate Dean Ray Weisenberger

College of Arts and Sciences: Honorees: Dr. Robert Meeds & Dr. Lou Williams, Associate Dean Gerald Reeck

College of Business Administration: Honoree: Dr. Jeffrey Katz, Dean Yar Ebadi

College of Education: Honoree: Dr. Patricia Staver, Dean Michael Holen

College of Engineering: Honoree: Dr. Ronaldo Maghirang, Assistant Dean Ray Hightower

College of Human Ecology: Honoree: Dr. Carmel Parker White, Associate Dean Virginia Moxley

Student Affairs: Honoree: Gayle Spencer, Dean Pat Bosco

United Nations celebrates 57 years

Organization's ongoing peace efforts honored

By Crystal Welborn
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

With the possibility of an impending war with Iraq, American students are hearing about the United Nations more and more in the news.

Today is United Nations Day, a day that Dale Herspring, director of the Political, Diplomatic and Military Lecture series, said needs to be celebrated for one very important reason.

"The U.N. is a vehicle to promote international peace, and that needs to be celebrated," he said.

Herspring said many American students do not know much about the U.N. or its purposes and functions.

"Students don't have a clue about government," he said. "Students are illiterate when it comes to how the government functions."

Andrew Hayhurst, senior in political science, said that because many students are not informed about international policy, more responsibility is on those who do study it.

"There are students who are learning about it," he said. "It would be nice for everyone to know about foreign policy, but it's not going to happen so we have to rely on those who have knowledge of the subject."

According to www.patriotism.org/un\_day, the U.N. was formed during World War II when representatives from 26 nations said their countries would continue to fight against the Axis Powers. The charter was ratified Oct. 24, 1945 - thus the U.N. was born.

"The U.N. was formed to create peace and increase international cooperation," Herspring said.

Today marks the 57th anniversary of the ratification of the U.N.

The U.N. has representatives from 81 countries. The duties of the U.N. are vast and include peacekeeping as well as international disease control.

"The U.N. takes care of everything from AIDS to preventing wars," Herspring said. "The question is - what doesn't the U.N. do?"

Hayhurst said a problem with the U.N. is that they have no power to enforce the policies they implement and they rely on individual troops to enforce rules.

"The U.N. is a good thing, but right now it's not working," said Svitlana Chernykh, graduate student in political science. "I don't think the U.N. is capable right now of solving problems, because they are so weak."

Hayhurst said the U.N. is valuable but needs to work on following through on decisions.

"We need an organization where countries and organizations come together to discuss what is going on in the world," he said. "But if the U.N. isn't going to stick with its decisions, their work is in vain."

Chernykh said the U.N. needs to concentrate on keeping up with the changing world and changing policies.

United Nations Day is celebrated every year on Oct. 24 as a part of United Nations week, which was designed to teach citizens the duties of the U.N.

National newspaper trial begins

By Nick Bratkovic
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Professional newspaper distribution around campus will increase Monday.

A four-week trial will begin with USA Today, The Manhattan Mercury, The New York Times and The Kansas City Star being distributed at four points on campus.

Susanne Howard, a representative with USA Today, said USA Today officials were still finalizing distribution points for the papers. As of Tuesday, the distribution plan is set for Hale Library, Derby Dining Center, Durland Hall and Goodnow Hall. However, she said one location might switch to the K-State Student Union.

The pilot program will serve as an evaluation process for both K-State and USA Today.

During the pilot program, USA Today officials will conduct surveys to gauge reader habits and other market research.

Zac Cook, student body president, said that when the pilot period ends, students will have the option to bring the publications to campus by raising privilege fees to pay for the distribution program.

Cook said he decided to pursue the program after speaking with student leaders at other schools.

"When I went to Israel, I talked with a lot of student leaders that had the program," he said.

"Particularly, KU has the program, and they have had a positive response to the program."

Cook said the program should benefit those students needing to read the papers for a class, and others who want to study the writing styles.

However, Cook and other leaders will have a better idea of the program's usefulness to students after the pilot program. He said a student referendum could be on the spring election ballot to raise privilege fees and pay for the programs.

Cook said he didn't have figures on what the program would cost for students, however, at the University of Kansas, University Student Body President Jonathon Ng said the students pay about $5 per semester for the program in student fees.

Cook said the privilege fee increase may be difficult to pass during a time of tuition increases and budget cuts.

"In this tight budget year, we will have to see what people think," he said.

However, K-State is the latest in a long line of schools considering the program. Howard said the program started in 1997 at Pennsylvania State University because the school's president wanted to get students reading the paper.

"He felt like students during college were in a bubble, and he wanted them to be more aware socially," Howard said.

The program started with just that school and has grown.

Howard said the program's goal isn't increased circulation, but to increase the amount of people reading the paper.

RC McGraws
Manhattan's Oldies, Country, Night Club

LIVE KARAOKE

Thursday, 9-1

50¢ TACOS
hard or soft

$1.99

$1.99 Island Oasis Margaritas

776-9588 • 2317 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Blue Hills Shopping Center

sure, you can quit.
or stick around
and [learn]
how not to.

In Army ROTC, you'll develop skills you can use in the real world - thinking on your feet, staying focused under pressure, taking charge. Give it a shot. Visit the Army ROTC department. We'll stick around for you.

ARMY ROTC
Unlike any other college course you can take.

For more info call the Admissions Officer
at 785-532-5177
or visit our web site at www.ksu.edu/armyrotc

kstatecollegian.com

STUDENT TRAVEL
take off
for the holidays...

Minneapolis.....	$209
Newark.....	$251
Boston.....	$253
London.....	$385
Paris.....	$461
Sydney.....	$1263

Fares are round trip. Tax not included. Fares subject to change and availability. Restrictions apply.

(800) 777.0112

www.statravel.com STA TRAVEL

ONLINE >> ON THE PHONE >> ON CAMPUS >> ON THE STREET

GET CARDED

USE YOUR WILDCAT VISA® CARD AND SUPPORT THE K-STATE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

OFFICIAL WILDCAT VISA CARD
Apply today.
www.intrustbank.com
630 Humboldt • 785-565-5400
2706 Anderson • 785-565-5440
1-800-222-7458

INTRUST.

INTRUST encourages responsible credit card spending. To learn more about handling credit, contact Consumer Credit Counseling Service at 1-800-363-0217.

As an engineer in the U.S. Air Force, there's no telling what you'll work on.
(Seriously, we can't tell you.)

United States Air Force applied technology is years ahead of what you'll touch in the private sector, and as a new engineer you'll likely be involved at the ground level of new and sometimes classified developments. You'll begin leading and managing within this highly respected group from day one. Find out what's waiting behind the scenes for you in the Air Force today. To request more information, call 1-800-423-USAF or log on to airforce.com.

U.S. AIR FORCE
CROSS INTO THE BLUE

TO THE POINT Students should show interest in media program

USA Today, The Manhattan Mercury, The New York Times and The Kansas City Star are coming to K-State — for free.

Starting Monday, students will have the opportunity to take advantage of a pilot program sponsored by the Gannett Newspaper Company, which plans to distribute the newspapers at Hale Library, Derby Dining Center, Durland Hall and Goodnow Hall.

During the four-week trial period, USA Today representatives will be conducting surveys and other market research to gauge reader habits. At the end of the trial period, the research will be presented to the Student Governing Association, which may choose to pursue a privilege-fee increase to continue the program.

The University of Kansas already has this program, and students pay only $5.50 per semester.

This is an opportunity for students to receive a broader range of news from multiple organizations. With everything going on in the world, it's important for students to be educated and fully informed about national events.

Give as much input as you can to the USA Today representatives to help keep the program here. You may never have another opportunity like this again.

To the point is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. This is the Collegian's official opinion.

April Middleton
Dan Smith
Dana Strongin
Jeanel Drake
Sarah Rice
Edie Hall
JJ Duncan
Sean Purcell
Amber Koehn
Katie Lane
Paul Restivo
Kecia Seyb
Jamie Barrett
Chris Harrop

WRITE TO US

The Collegian welcomes your letters to the editor. They can be submitted by e-mail to letters@pub.ksu.edu, or in person to Kedzie 116. Please include your full name, year in school and major. Letters will be edited for length and clarity.

FALL 2002 EDITORS

April Middleton   EDITOR IN CHIEF	Amber Koehn   OPINION EDITOR
Dan Smith   MANAGING EDITOR	Katie Lane   PRESENTATION EDITOR
Dana Strongin   NEWS EDITOR	Paul Restivo   COPY CHIEF
Jeanel Drake   PHOTO EDITOR	Kecia Seyb   FEATURES EDITOR
Sarah Rice   CITY/GOV EDITOR	Jamie Barrett   WRITING COACH
Edie Hall   CAMPUS EDITOR	Chris Harrop   ONLINE EDITOR
JJ Duncan   A&E EDITOR	Adam Hemmen   AD MANAGER
Sean Purcell   SPORTS EDITOR	Angie Danekas   ASST. AD MANAGER

SHOCK RADIO DJs pushing ethical standards too far

Shock radio used to be fun, but now it's downright repugnant.

Even the garbage we get around here is usually just old, dirty morons laughing way too hard about crude and tactless motifs.

LAYTON EHMKE

Opie and Anthony, Boston radio personalities and known degenerates, were shut down when their 1998 April Fool's prank announced Mayor Tom Menino was killed in a car wreck. After being canned, these two ninnyes were hired at WNEW, New York City, where they broadcast a live and boorish account of sex in St. Patrick's Cathedral this past August. I can't wait until the FCC revokes the station's license and tells it to "stick it."

It takes a crass jerk to pull that off, and it takes a damn wit to think it's funny.

Recently another shock jock flunkee, Beau Duran, was fired because he prank called the widow of St. Louis Cardinals pitcher Darryl Kile. He asked her if she had a date to the play-off game that day.

Where the hell is decency?

When did shock jocks turn radio into such a damaging medium? Howard Stern talking about sadomasochism, bestiality and lesbianism had its place and served its tour of duty. But now it's so far beyond the 'envelope push' stage it has simply become a product of a serious media defecation into the ears of Americans.

I've lost respect for advertisers who pay good money for talk radio featuring derogatory, offensive and sometimes racist remarks and crude "humor."

It has really gotten out of hand. "In your face" radio is like that cocky, pimple-infested adolescent jock wannabe who thought he was God's gift to the planet in high school. He annoyed you and wouldn't go away. You always thought he would grow up, but he never did.

It's time for radio to grow up a little bit, too. Instead of pushing the envelope through offensive lewdness, it should be pushed with true wit and thick humor. Boundaries should be questioned progressively, not the way they are now with cesspool shock radio.

Bottom line: the FCC is not enforcing the law, which prohibits indecency on radio and television between 6 a.m. and 10 p.m., when children are likely to be in the audience.

Here are two examples of complaints the FCC dismissed: A parent alleged a radio shock jock was taking calls from people who had never masturbated and told one caller to try it for 10 minutes to win prizes from the station. Another listener alleged radio personality "Man-cow" sanctioned statutory rape by claiming at age 27, he had sex with a 9-year-old child. Both of these shows aired in the early morning when children were apt to be listening, according to USA Today.

Children are incredibly impressionable, especially when it comes to radio and television.

They shouldn't be exposed to this kind of behavior.

Not yet anyway.

These shock jocks are scraping the spit from the trough for material.

They're some of the cockiest, coprophagetic bottom-feeders in media I've ever heard, and they are out of style.

From now on, I'm listening exclusively to KSDB-FM 91.9 and all public stations carrying National Public Radio. The Wildcat 91.9 provides me with mind-blowing tunes and lots of laughs. NPR is absolutely plum-full of excellent news coverage, thick content, diversity and an incredibly desirable broad view of life.

Rock on.

Layton is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at ire3684@ksu.edu.

Seasonal disorder could be to blame for winter doldrums

It's that time of the semester where stress abounds concerning midterms, we ache for more sleep and often feel a general sense of anxiety or dread. Many of us might blame these effects on upcoming exams, a lack of motivation or good ol' senioritis.

SUSAN POWELL

Actually, there could be a cosmic connection to your woes: you might suffer from seasonal affective disorder.

Seasonal affective disorder is recognized in the DSM-IV (the American Psychiatric Association's diagnostic manual) as a subtype of a major depressive episode. It's highly seasonal and usually begins in late fall or early winter.

SAD, also known as winter depression, is triggered by changes in the amount of sunlight during different times of the year, according to the American Academy of Family Physicians' Web site, familydoctor.org.

Women are more susceptible to winter depression — 70 to 80 percent of sufferers are female — and symptoms usually surface in young adulthood, around age 20. SAD and its symptoms affect as much as 6 percent of our population.

Some common symptoms of winter depression are a drop in energy level, a tendency to oversleep, irritability, fatigue and weight gain. These symptoms might sound like the typical effects of college life, but there are variations of symptoms more severe and lasting than just a craving for sweets.

Since SAD is classified as depression, it's logical to note that winter depression can initiate feelings of guilt, loss of interest in favorite activities, ongoing feelings of hopelessness and physical ailments, such as headaches.

According to the Northern County Psychiatric Associates Web site, www.ncpamd.com, winter depression is often balanced with a feeling of mania in the spring or summertime. If mood swings are severe, an individual with SAD might be diagnosed with bipolar disorder.

These symptoms usually return year after year, appearing and disappearing at about the same time each year. Women are more prone to winter depression, but individuals living in northern geographic regions or those who work in buildings with little natural light are susceptible as well.

One means of battling the blues is through light therapy. Psychiatrist Norman Rosenthal introduced this method of treatment in 1984.

The concept is simple: more light, better mood. A sufferer of SAD often uses a specially made light box or a light visor worn on the head like a normal cap. The patient then sits in front of the light box or under the visor for a certain length of time each day, usually around 30 minutes.

Surprisingly, tanning beds are not recommended for treatment of SAD. UV rays will fry your skin, but sadly, won't improve your mood.

There are side effects to light therapy, such as eye strain, headache, fatigue and inability to sleep. If these effects persist, there are the options of pill-popping and behavioral therapy to explore as well.

Though many people suffer mild forms of winter depression, a severe case should not be overlooked or misinterpreted. If six of 100 Americans are susceptible, that means hundreds of young adults on campus are at risk.

If you find yourself more irritable, sensitive or anxious than usual, talk to a friend. Research your symptoms online or in the DSM-IV. Finally, visit Lafene Health Center.

Your first four visits are free, and you might ease more than your seasonal anxiety.

Susan is a senior in English. You can e-mail her at sjp8478@ksu.edu.

Illustration by Anna Wetzel | COLLEGIAN

CAMPUS FOURUM | 395-4444

Um, yeah, I just wanted to say that Micah Hawkinson is really hot.

I'll tell you what's on my mind: It's butt cold and I'm fresh out of beer.

Laces in or laces out, it doesn't matter. They're still going to miss it.

Don't blame it on the new surface. I don't see the other teams missing field goals or extra points.

The laces were in, the laces were in.

If Eli likes to run so much, why doesn't he try out for the track team?

Don't you hate it when your friend owes you money and she pays you back all in quarters?

I'm going to keep dogging the K-State kicking game until they can prove to me they can kick an extra point or field goal under pressure.

It's good to know Ray Finkel has joined the K-State football team.

Why is it that the slow people always walk in the middle of the sidewalk?

I like to promote diversity, and eating Team Cheerios is my way of doing that, one bowl at a time.

Less than a month to K-State women's basketball.

If you were a dog, what type of dog would you be and why?

Oh, sweet, it's not full.

Halloween is coming up and it's Hagatha Christie's time to shine.

Hey, Paul White, the board game Clue called. It wants its maid back.

Just to be politically correct, Hagatha Christie is a Transylvanian-American.

I didn't think I was that annoying at the dinner table, but last night I made someone get up and leave. Maybe it was my breath.

To all the morons who called in criticizing our kicker: The next time we're 40 yards out and we need a field goal, why don't you get your lazy butts out of the stands and kick it for us.

So far this semester, I've paid $134 in parking tickets. Something's wrong with that.

It's been 10 minutes, and I can still feel the stinging sensation from the coaster hitting my head.

They make crosswalks for a reason.

The lice hate the sugar.

I have mirrors on the ceiling and pink champagne on ice. Welcome, ladies, to my Hotel California.

Forget blow-up dolls. We've got one named Ursula on our wall made out of duct tape.

Fourum, you're like my own personal Jesus. I can tell anything to you.

To whoever lost their ticket outside of Van Zile on Saturday: Thanks for the 20 bucks.

I think the R.A. from eighth-floor Moore is sexy.

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions. For the full version, check out www.kstatecollegian.com.

TO THE EDITOR

Confronting peers is more effective way to deal with cheaters

Editor,

One day last spring, J. Stone Laraway had had enough, and he stood up for his beliefs.

The University of Massachusetts-Boston student revealed to his instructor that widespread cheating was occurring in his class. He took a lot of flack for it. His story even appeared in the Boston Globe on Sept. 3.

The K-State Undergraduate Honor System Office is starting to see the same phenomenon happening in small pockets around the university. In more than a couple of instances, students are "screwing their courage to the sticking place" — a phrase found in William Shakespeare's "Macbeth" — and talking to their instructors about the cheating they are witnessing.

I would challenge these concerned students to take it to a higher level — confront your peers. When you see or know that a student is taking the easy way out, say something like, "I know what you're doing. I don't like it because it cheapens my degree and it dissolves trust in this community of learners. You have two options: one, turn yourself in to the instructor or two, I will. Your choice."

To borrow from — and broaden — a well-known phrase, "Friends don't let friends cheat." Not now, not here at K-State, not because they might get caught (which can lead to a lot of trouble), but because you care that they learn to make wise choices when confronted with a dilemma.

Who knows? You might be thwarting a future corporate CEO's temptation to "take the money and run."

By the way, Laraway received a standing ovation Oct. 5. More than 300 faculty members and students attending the Center for Academic Integrity's 10th annual conference at the University of Virginia honored him as the recipient of the first Richard L. Storringer Award.

The Board of Directors recognized Laraway for courageously upholding academic integrity in the face of opposition and/or adversity.

When I asked Laraway if this show of affirmation canceled the rude behavior of his classmates, especially the young women who had spat on him, he couldn't answer. He was still trying to wipe his eyes and swallow the lump in his throat, but he nodded.

K-State students: "Screw your courage to the sticking place" and confront misconduct when you see it.

Helen Marcoux
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR, K-STATE UNDERGRADUATE HONOR SYSTEM

PENCILING IT IN

Courtesy art

Little Apple prepares for busy arts weekend

By JJ Duncan
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Over the course of the next few days, a variety of events will be available to keep people busy. These are highlights from a packed weekend.

Pat Green

Country recording artist Pat Green will be back at Longhorn's at 10:30 p.m. Friday. Doors open at 8 p.m., and tickets are $15, available at Longhorn's.

Green wasn't available for comment this week because he has been finishing the songs for his next album, which he will start recording in November, manager Jimmy Perkins said.

"He's been locked away in Colorado all week finishing the songs," Perkins said. "The album will be produced by Don Gehman who worked with R.E.M. and Hootie and the Blowfish. Right now we're looking at getting it out in May of 2003."

Green has become a regular performer in the Manhattan area, and Perkins said that's not just because college towns possess the core demographic for his audience.

"Manhattan has been an exceptional market for us," he said. "They seem to really enjoy his work."

Frocked!*

"Frocked!*" is a one-person autobiographical comedic drama written by and starring Lutheran pastor Jayne Thompson, graduate student in theater. The free performance will be at 7 p.m. Saturday in Nichols Theatre.

Lasting about 90 minutes, Thompson said the drama is possibly the most difficult thing she has ever done.

"It's been harder than any paper I've had to write or test I've had to take," she said.

Thompson, who is a blackbelt and teacher of Aikido, said she incorporates some of the martial art into her performance while relating the funny, scary and traumatic experiences of her life. Also featuring some of her singing, Thompson said it incorporates a little of everything.

"One of my favorite sayings is that life is an adventure," she said. "In the midst of everything we live through, it's important not to neglect the child within us and be able to laugh at the things that happen to us."

As a female pastor, Thompson said she still encounters sexism, so her response to that also shows in the play.

"Girls grow up being told what they can and can't do," she said. "It's not as bad as it used to be, but it's still there in subtle messages."

"I mean look at Britney Spears' new single, 'I'm a Slave For You.' It's like we're moving backwards sometimes."

Arthur Dodge and the Horsefeathers

Another country artist returning to Manhattan, Arthur Dodge, will play at 9:30 p.m. Friday at Auntie Mae's Parlor. Cover charge will be $3.

Dodge has played the small bar several times in the past year and will be bringing the Horsefeathers with him again Friday on his way back to Lawrence, Kan., from several Colorado tour stops.

He's sure to have plenty of new material since the release of his next album "Nervous Habits" is only about two weeks away.

Auntie Mae's bartender Bro, whose band, the Pembertons, will be playing tonight at Pat's Blue Rib'n Barbecue, said the staff at Auntie Mae's never tires of Dodge's show.

"Arthur is one of my favorite songwriters, and I don't mean just locally. — I mean he's just one of my favorite songwriters," Bro said.

"And every time he comes down, we have a blast, and he puts on a great show whether it's packed or empty."

For a complete listing of events, visit www.kstatecollegian.com.

IN BRIEF

The Associated Press

'To End All Wars' wins top prize at Heartland Film Festival

"To End All Wars," a drama about Scottish soldiers held captive by the Japanese in World War II, won the top prize at the 11th-annual Heartland Film Festival in Indianapolis, Ind.

The not-for-profit festival honors life-affirming films, with screenings held at theaters across the city.

Seventeen independent films collected Crystal Heart Awards and a total of $105,400 at Saturday's annual awards gala.

"To End All Wars" received the $50,000 grand prize. The movie is based on the true story of a young Scottish soldier captured with his regiment and forced to build a railway through a jungle in Thailand.

The film, directed by David L. Cunningham, stars Robert Carlyle, Kiefer Sutherland, Ciaran McMenamin and Sakae Kimura.

• • •

Emmylou Harris to be inducted into Alabama Music Hall of Fame

Emmylou Harris is among the inductees for the Alabama Music Hall of Fame's class of 2003.

The 55-year-old singer will be inducted at an awards banquet and show in Mobile on Jan. 25, the Hall of Fame announced Monday. Other inductees include soul singers Clarence Carter and Eddie Floyd, songwriter Mack Vickery and jazz orchestra leader James Reese Europe.

Harris, who was born in Birmingham, has been an influential force in country, folk and pop since the early 1970s. She's among the artists on the Grammy-winning "O Brother, Where Art Thou?" album.

"We couldn't be more excited about the fact that Emmylou will be inducted and that she'll be performing at the induction banquet," said David Johnson, the hall of fame's executive director.

LISTENING BOOTH

The Collegian wants to know what music you are listening to. If you are passionate about music and want to express your opinion, e-mail A&E Editor JJ Duncan at jduncan\_80@hotmail.com. This week we asked James Warren, senior in social science, what he's listening to.

What five albums are you listening to and why?

1. Blind Melon: "Classic Masters"
This is good, mellow music, but it's not whiny. I'm getting kinda old so I like the early '90s flavor of it. I almost got "Nico" but I liked this one better, because it's almost like a greatest hits anyway.
2. Built to Spill: "Keep It Like a Secret"
My roommate turned me on to Built to Spill, and I like it because it's not pop. It has some substance, and it's music for music's sake. I think this is the band's best album because it's more consistently good, and I don't skip anything.
3. Ryan Adams: "Demolition"
It's just good music. I liked his first album, too, but I like this one just as much. He has a melodic voice, and I don't normally listen to mellow stuff, but this is good.
4. Mad Season: "Above"
I'm a big Alice in Chains fan so I like Layne Staley's vocals on this. It's quality music for when I get sick of hearing the same stuff on the radio all the time. This kind of music can broaden people's horizons. I'm constantly amazed by people's lack of musical knowledge past five years ago.
5. Alice in Chains: "Jar of Flies"
I've always liked Alice in Chains. I grew up listening to hair bands like Slayer and Metallica, and this is the type of stuff I really got into. "Jar of Flies" is a slower album. Maybe I'm listening to this mellow stuff because it's getting cold out, and I'm chilling out more.

Collage artist creates life metaphors from range of materials

By JJ Duncan
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Water paints can slide onto any shelf. Oil paints can take up whole closets. But storage space for a collage artist's material is much trickier.

"There's a lot of junk laying around the house," Jonathan Talbot, collage artist and painter, said. "My wife said I can't go out and find any more stuff until I make more art."

Talbot, who lives in Warwick, N.Y., said he stores clips from magazines, product wrappings and other flat materials in files according to color. The 1,000 little compasses, 5,000 small plastic figures and various other three-dimensional materials he hopes to use are stored in a barn behind his house.

Talbot said he enjoys working in collage because the material "is not innocent," because it already holds historical, social or sexual implications.

Collage also provides a metaphor for the way people live, Talbot said.

"With collage, there is almost an infinite number of materials to work with," he said. "It's like waking up to face the day and finding an infinite number of choices. You choose who to call, what words to use, how to spend your time. Collage reflects that human condition."

Of course there are other reasons.

"You don't have to draw," he said. "I can paint reasonably well, but some people who can't draw or paint, collage is wonderful because you just cut it out and put it in."

Talbot will speak at 10:30 a.m. Friday and will hold a workshop starting at 1:30 p.m. in the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art. He said he will explore ideas of what art is and how to acquire visual language skills.

"Art is a language of visual symbols where English is a language of verbal symbols or sounds," Talbot said. "Most of us are pretty good with English, but those of us who work with visual mediums, there are things we can learn from verbal language and how to apply those to art."

Jonathan Talbot
COLLAGE ARTIST
PAINTER

In his afternoon workshop, Talbot will walk students through the making of their own collages using a technique he developed.

Most collage art makes use of paste, meaning the artist either has to put the piece together and then disassemble it before putting it back together, or work incrementally until the piece is finished.

Instead of using old technique, which limits the amount artists can work with the materials, Talbot said he will show how to fuse images together.

The technique is the subject of Talbot's book, "Collage: A New Approach," which is available at amazon.com.

Talbot said this will be his 11th workshop this year, and he has experience working with college students. In 1999, Talbot said he led 20 workshops.

On another subject, Talbot said he will talk about the relevance of art and what it means to be an artist.

"What difference does it make to create art when we're faced with war in Iraq, AIDS and so many other things?" he said.

"I've driven from here in New York to California and back and asked everyone I meet to name a famous living American artist, and no one can do it. We live in a country where 99 percent of the people can't name a famous living American artist, but we can name basketball players and famous criminals and politicians. So what does art matter?"

Jonathan Talbot collage artist

Lecture: 10:30 a.m. Friday
Workshop: 1:30 p.m. Friday
Where: Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art

America! | Paul White and Brent Engstrom

americanthings@evilemail.com

To Be Continued ... | Jordan Mizell

Football hopes to remedy turnover woes at Baylor

By Joel Reichenberger
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

With five games remaining on the 2002 schedule, K-State finds itself suffering from a severe case of the butterfingers.

The Cats have already fumbled the ball nine times more than they did during the entire 2001 campaign, losing four more than they did a year ago.

On Saturday against Texas, K-State put the ball on the ground five times. Even though the Cats were able to recover four of those fumbles, they still proved to be a headache for the offense — halting several potential scoring drives.

In the post-game search for answers, Coach Bill Snyder was able to find a recurring problem in some of the fumbles. He said the difficulties were encountered while quarterback Ell Roberson was in the shotgun formation.

"There is a common thread. He was in the shotgun each and every time it took place," Snyder said. "With exception of the pitches on the option, the fumbles took place off the snap."

Roberson said he felt the problem was a little more widespread.

He said the fumbles did not just result from the snap from center. They also came from his inability to focus on the ball, and accomplish one task at a time.

On one play, Roberson was bobbling the ball right from the snap, when he tried to hand off to fullback Travis Wilson. Roberson was never able to get a solid hold

See BAYLOR Page 10

Wooldridge trying to improve again with promising class of recruits

Things aren't looking incredibly bright for K-State sports fans right about now.

Few Cat fans have really harbored much hope for the men's basketball team. After losing my personal hero Larry Reid, why would they?

Even last year everyone knew 2002-03 would be a tough year on the hardwood for the Cats, and that was before Nick "Benedict Arnold" Williams decided to transfer.

But on Wednesday, while at basketball media day, there seemed to be a sense of hope at Bramlage Coliseum. After getting a chance to talk to the players, I have even been convinced that there is good reason for it.

The best thing the Cats have going for them this year is Coach Jim Wooldridge. That, and the 6-foot-9, 218-pound behemoth known as Pervis Pasco.

It is Wooldridge, though, who believes in this team more than anyone else. It's because this isn't the first time he has gambled with young, unproven players while at K-State.

In 2000, there was not very much talent returning, and he relied on a squad of Juco players.

Those unproven players — guys like Larry Reid, Phineas Atchison and Matt Siebrandt — helped dig the Cats out of their hole and surprise some people around the conference.

Now, the Cats face a similar situation. Most of the guards who proved they could play graduated last year.

But, Wooldridge has again filled in with top quality Juco talent.

Frank Richards promises to pick up where Reid left off. He is a 6-foot-2 point guard, and as soon as he can grasp the Triangle.

See COLUMN Page 10

JOEL REICHENBERGER

K-State's Laura Downey-Wallace and Jami Schlechter celebrate the Wildcats' first-game win against Missouri on Wednesday night. The Cats swept the Tigers in three games, with a 39-37 game-three victory.

Drew Rose | COLLEGIAN

Wildcats play tight match with Missouri, set record for points scored in game

By Sean Purcell
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State fans got their money's worth Wednesday night in Ahearn Field House.

A crowd of 889 were on hand Wednesday night to see the most points scored in a single game in Wildcat history — as K-State and No. 19 Missouri combined for 76 points (39-37) in the final game of the Cats' three-game sweep over the Tigers.

It was a game the Cats had to win, Coach Suzie Fritz said, because letting that one slip by would have given Missouri the momentum going into a fourth game.

"They just kept the ball in play," she said. "We're an efficient team — we're like seventh or eighth in the conference in kills, so we have to be efficient. I was pleased with what we did tonight."

And it was easy to look efficient when K-State let junior Cari Jensen do the hitting.

Jensen tallied a season-high 20 kills on a .400 hitting percentage. It was the junior's ninth-straight, double-digit kill match.

Of Jensen's 20 kills, 12 came in the final game. During an 8-0 Cat run in that game, Jensen had five kills.

Jensen said she was locked in at that point.

"I wanted the ball and when I got it, I just hit it as hard as I could," she said. "I think Gabby (Guerre) and I had something going on where she knew to get the ball to me."

And when Jensen got the ball, she made the most of it — committing just four errors on the night.

But despite a headlining performance by the junior, she said it was the team's ability to stay composed that made the difference in the match.

"We knew coming in they would be a tough team to beat," she said. "I think we kept our composure well throughout the match, and we stayed the aggressor throughout."

Game 1: K-State 31, MU 29
Game 2: K-State 30, MU 27
Game 3: K-State 39, MU 37

Photos by Nicole Donnet | COLLEGIAN

ABOVE: Sara Zurlene does a jump with the horse Dalton while practicing for the K-State English show this weekend at the Fox Creek Stables, which is outside Manhattan. BELOW: Brett Beale, junior in fisheries and wildlife biology, trots Dalton around the arena during practice at the Fox Creek Stables.

STARTING OFF RIGHT

Equestrian looks to make impression on nation's top programs at 1st home show

By Brent Gray
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Wildcat equestrian English team will see its first action of the season this weekend when it is host to the K-State English Show.

One hundred competitors will participate in the show, which starts Friday and runs through Sunday. The Cats look to be a big part of those competing.

"We are definitely the largest school at the show," English coach Meghan Cunningham said. "We will probably account for 50 percent of the competition."

Cunningham said the team's expectations are high heading into its first show of the year.

"We hope to win all three days," she said.

One advantage the Cats hold in the first show of the year is that being the host team, they get to provide the horses.

This comes into play because the riders at K-State have practiced on the horses they will use in competition.

"It is an extreme advantage," Cunningham said. "Our girls know these horses. They know what to expect."

The reason the host team provides the horses for competition is because riders are taught to get used to all types of horses, she said.

Cunningham said she is looking for riders Allison Woodworth, Dehli Burdan and Maureen Reynolds to help the Cats come away victorious in their first show.

English show

When: Friday at 3 p.m., Saturday at noon, Sunday at 9 a.m.
Where: Manhattan, Fox Creek Stables
Admission: free

"I'm looking for them to compete for the Cacchione Cup this season," Cunningham said.

The Cacchione Cup is given to the top rider in the nation, and Cunningham said she is confident in her riders' abilities to compete for the award.

It is important for the Cats to get off on the right foot to start their season, she said.

It's even more important, she said, because the next time the Cats compete after this weekend will be March 1-2.

"We want to see how our riders will do and make the corrections before the next show," Cunningham said. "We'll identify some of our weaknesses and strengths and try to improve from there."

CAT CALENDAR

As the men's and women's basketball teams get ready to hit the court, there will be plenty of Wildcat action for fans to catch. Here is a look at the next week of K-State sporting events.

Friday

■ Equestrian — K-State English Show in Manhattan. Show starts at 3 p.m.

Saturday

■ Football — Cats travel to Waco, Texas, to face the Baylor Bears.

■ Equestrian — Second day of the K-State English Show. Show starts at noon.

■ Volleyball — Wildcats play against Colorado in Boulder. First serve is set for 8 p.m.

■ Rowing — K-State travels to Iowa for the Head of Iowa regatta.

Sunday

■ Equestrian — Final day of the K-State English Show. Final show begins at 9 a.m.

■ Rowing — Second day of the Head of Iowa regatta.

Monday

■ Men's Golf — Men travel to Baylor to compete in the Baylor Intercollegiate.

Tuesday

■ Men's Golf — Final day of the Baylor Intercollegiate.

Wednesday

■ Volleyball — Wildcats travel south to Lubbock, Texas, to face the Texas Tech Red Raiders. First serve is scheduled for 7 p.m.

1-MINUTE DRILL

The Associated Press

NBA | Jordan files lawsuit

Michael Jordan filed a lawsuit Wednesday against a woman he contends is trying to extort $5 million from him to keep quiet about their relationship of more than 10 years ago.

Jordan acknowledged in the lawsuit filed in Cook County Circuit Court that he paid the woman $250,000 "under threat of publicly exposing that relationship."

Jordan, who plays for the Washington Wizards but spent most of his career with the Chicago Bulls, never agreed to pay any amount above the original $250,000, the lawsuit stated.

The lawsuit asks the court to stop the woman from further attempts to get money from Jordan.

Jordan's lawyer, Frederick Sperling, refused to say whether he asked the police to get involved. He also refused to answer questions about the nature of the relationship.

• • •

NCAA | KSU picked 11th in preseason

Kansas, which returns three starters from last year's Final Four team, is favored to repeat as Big 12 champion, according to the conference preseason coaches poll released Wednesday.

The Jayhawks received seven first-place votes and were followed in the poll by Oklahoma, which also made the Final Four last year. The Sooners got three first-place votes. Texas was third and received the other two first-place votes.

UT was followed, in order, by Missouri, Texas Tech and Oklahoma State, Iowa State, Baylor, Colorado, Nebraska, K-State and Texas A&M.

Oklahoma senior Hollis Price is the coaches' preseason Big 12 player of the year. Price was the most outstanding player of the Big 12 tournament and the NCAA West Regional.

Other players receiving votes were Nick Collison and Kirk Hinrich of Kansas, and T.J. Ford of Texas. Price, Hinrich, Collison, Ford and Texas Tech guard Andre Emmett were the coaches' preseason All-Big 12 team selections.

• • •

MLB | Kile to be on 2003 HOF ballot

Darryl Kile, the St. Louis Cardinals pitcher who died of heart disease this summer, will be on the 2003 Hall of Fame ballot.

The 33-year-old Kile will become only the third player to appear before the customary five-year waiting period.

• • •

K-State Sports Information

Women's Basketball | K-State picked 2nd in preseason coaches' poll

The K-State women's basketball team was picked to finish second in the 2002-03 Big 12 Women's Basketball preseason poll, and junior Nicole Ohlde was named the league's Preseason Player of the Year as voted on by the league's head coaches, the conference office announced Wednesday.

The Wildcats, who were led to a 26-8 record (11-3 Big 12) and a third-place finish last season by sixth-year head coach Deb Patterson, received 113 points and four first-place votes from the Big 12 coaches.

Texas Tech was tabbed to win the 2003 Big 12 Championship after collecting six first-place votes and a total of 114 points. Texas was chosen third with 105 points and two first-place votes. Oklahoma and Colorado rounded out the top five. The remainder of the preseason poll included: 6. Iowa State; 7. Baylor; 8. Missouri; 9. Oklahoma State; 10. Texas A&M; 11. Kansas; and 12. Nebraska.

You don't have to unwrap it, unroll it, or worry that it can Break.

Depo-Provera is 99.7% effective.
Birth control you think about just 4 x a year.

Of course, using condoms is the only way to protect yourself against HIV/AIDS or other sexually transmitted diseases, but make sure you're also as protected as possible against pregnancy. That's why more women than ever are choosing Depo-Provera — it's 99.7% effective when administered on time every 3 months.

Remember, Depo-Provera doesn't protect you from HIV/AIDS or other sexually transmitted diseases.

Some women using Depo-Provera experience side effects. The most common are irregular periods or spotting. Many women stop having periods altogether after a few months and some may experience a slight weight gain. You shouldn't use Depo-Provera if you could be pregnant, if you have had any unexplained periods, or if you have a history of breast cancer, blood clots, stroke, or liver disease. When using Depo-Provera, there may be a possible decrease in bone density.

Depo-Provera. One of the best and most convenient ways to protect yourself from pregnancy. Ask your health care professional if prescription Depo-Provera is right for you.

See what Depo-Provera is all about.
Call toll free 1-866-519-DEPO or visit Depo-Provera.com.

Birth control you think about just 4 x a year.

Please see important product information on adjacent page.
© 2002 Pharmacia Corporation    LX002161702    9/02

CUTS | $1.25 million cut from College of Arts and Sciences budget

Continued from Page 1

"We don't bring in a lot of research dollars, so our faculty are on what I call hard money. I think the other colleges are hurting just as bad, but we don't have the flexibility."

As for the future, the College of Architecture, Planning and Design will just have to wait for the result.

"So far, we're still trying to figure out how to deal with this," Weisenburger said.

Law said he is nervous about the future of the college.

"I guess I'm fearful," he said.

"I don't know what to expect and a lot of that will depend on who is elected, especially in the governor's office."

College of Arts and Sciences

As one of the largest colleges on campus, the College of Arts and Sciences has had to deal with its budget cuts in a much larger way since about $1,250,000 was cut.

With 25 academic programs still fully intact, Stephen White, interim dean for the College of Arts and Sciences, said faculty feel the largest effect of the budget cuts.

"We're creating more vacancies in the college simply by not hiring this year," he said.

This will hopefully create more job openings for next year, he said. Because of these vacancies, the college will be relying on temporary instructors to fill the basic courses.

"In arts and sciences, what we're trying to do is to protect our students," White said.

The college has not been affected this academic year, but the future is still in question.

"I think there's a lot of uncertainty in the future," White said. "We don't know how the state revenue will come in over the next several months."

However, the college is hoping for an economic turnaround.

"We're hopeful that the economy will change and that state revenue will increase," White said. "We're being prepared to serve our students in a time of budget pressures, so we can't just ignore it."

jazz up your life

with the Collegian Classifieds

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE
532-6555

Thursday

10¢ wings
$2 wells
$1.75 draws

DAVE'S HIDEAWAY
12th & Laramie

CLASSIFIED ADS

LET THEM WORK FOR YOU

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE • 532-6555

Trying to sell your car?
Try the Collegian Classifieds
Kansas State Collegian
103 Kedzie • 532-6555

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS

1800 Claflin Road
776-5577

We Deliver During Lunch!
(Ask about our monthly specials)

Buy-Sell-Trade

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

Aggie Station
RESTAURANT & PUB

99¢

1/2

710 N. Manhattan
Aggieville

favorites from our CD rack

iÉchale Salsa!
-Los Blancos

The sounds of this Latin jazz band will sweep you and your partner away. Fred and Ginger will have nothing on you after you've heard these guys wail. Enjoy the white hot stylings of this group.

-Will

Clafin Books and Copies
Independent books for independent minds

Ramblers STEAK HOUSE & SALOON

Thursday Night Specials

12 oz. USDA Choice
Top Sirloin
Choice of potato, salad and dinner roll
all for $7.99 + tax

or

"The Couples Special"
2 complete dinners for only $14.99 + tax
8711 E. Hwy. 24 539-4989

Islam and West A Cultural Dialogue

by Professor Fateh Mohamad Malik
(Chairman National Language Authority Pakistan)

6:00 p.m.
Thursday, October 24, 2002
Flint Hills Room
Student Union
Kansas State University

Sponsored by: Pakistani Student's Association

Science in the White House - and Around the Town

Hemisphere Room
Hale Library

Thursday, October 24, 2002
10:30 AM

Dr. Neal Lane served as Assistant to the President for Science and Technology and Director of the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy, from 1998 to 2001, and as Director of the National Science Foundation (NSF) and member (ex officio) of the National Science Board, from 1993 to 1998. He is currently serving as professor and senior fellow at the James A. Baker III Institute for Public Policy at Rice University. He works on projects related to science and technology policy and is also teaching and conducting research in atomic and molecular physics in the Department of Physics and Astronomy.

University Distinguished Lecture

Back from Break!

If you join SHAPE, you will:

- Help your fellow students!
- Have a chance to attend the 2003 national peer education conference in Washington D.C.
- Become an American Red Cross Certified HIV/AIDS Instructor
- Earn 3 KSU credit hours (use credit as leadership minor or elective)
- Have a BLAST!!!!

Sponsored by:
Lafene Health Center
Need more info? Call 532-6595 or email shape@ksu.edu

Hope your Fall Break was great!

Now it's time to start thinking about getting in SHAPE!

Don't go to the gym, go to Lafene, room #3 to pick up an application. Or print it online at <http://www.ksu.edu/lafene/shapeapp.htm>

Sexual Health
Awareness Peer Educators

Applications due Nov. 8th

Depo-Provera® Contraceptive Injection

medroxyprogesterone acetate injectable suspension

DEPO-PROVERA® Contraceptive Injection (medroxyprogesterone acetate injectable suspension) USP

This product is intended to prevent pregnancy. It does not protect against HIV infection (AIDS) and other sexually transmitted diseases.

What is DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?

DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection is a form of birth control that is given as an intramuscular injection (a shot) in the buttock or upper arm every 3 months (13 weeks). To continue your contraceptive protection, you must return for your next injection promptly at the end of 3 months (13 weeks). DEPO-PROVERA contains medroxyprogesterone acetate, a chemical similar to but not the same as the natural hormone progesterone, which is produced by your ovaries during the second half of your menstrual cycle. DEPO-PROVERA acts by preventing your egg cells from ripening. If an egg is not released from the ovaries, during your menstrual cycle, it cannot become fertilized by sperm and result in pregnancy. DEPO-PROVERA also causes changes in the lining of your uterus that make it too thin for pregnancy to occur.

How effective is DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?

The efficacy of DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection depends on following the recommended dosing schedule exactly (see "How often do I get my shot of DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?"). To make sure you are not pregnant when you first get DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection, your first injection must be given ONLY during the first 5 days of a normal menstrual period. ONLY within the first 5 days after childbirth if you breast-feed and if exclusively breast-feeding ONLY at the sixth week after childbirth. It is a long-term, reversible, contraceptive when administered at 3-month (13-week) intervals. DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection is 99% effective, making it one of the most reliable methods of birth control available. This means that the average annual pregnancy rate is less than one for every 100 women who use DEPO-PROVERA. The effectiveness of most contraceptive methods depends in part on how reliably each woman uses the method. The effectiveness of DEPO-PROVERA depends only on the patient returning every 3 months (13 weeks) for her next injection. Your health-care provider will help you compare DEPO-PROVERA with other contraceptive methods and give you the information you need in order to decide which contraceptive method is the right choice for you.

The following table shows the percent of women who get pregnant while using different kinds of contraceptive methods. It gives both the lowest expected rate of pregnancy (the rate expected in women who use each method exactly as it should be used) and the typical rate of pregnancy (which includes women who become pregnant because they forgot to use their birth control or because they did not follow the directions exactly).

Percent of Women Experiencing an Unplanned Pregnancy in the First Year of Continuous Use
Method	Lowest Expected	Typical
DEPO-PROVERA	0.2*	0.2*
Oral contraceptives (pills)	0.3*	0.7*
Female sterilization	0.1	0.1
Vasectomy	0.1	0.1
Onal contraceptive (pill)	0.1	0.1
Condom (male)	0.1	0.1
Progestin-only	0.1	0.1
EED	0.1	0.1
Progestin	0.1	0.1
Copper I, IUD	0.1	0.1
Diaphragm (with spermicide)	0.1	0.1
Cervical cap	0.1	0.1
Withdrawal	0.1	0.1
Periodic abstinence	0.1	0.1
Spermicide alone	0.1	0.1
Coitus interruptus	0.1	0.1
Used before childbirth	0.1	0.1
Used after childbirth	0.1	0.1
Not used	0.1	0.1

Source: Triggall et al. Obstet Gynecol 1990;76:538-547

*From manufacturer package

Who should not use DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?

Not all women should use DEPO-PROVERA. You should not use DEPO-PROVERA if you have any of the following conditions:

- If you have any vaginal bleeding without a known reason

Birth control you think about just 4 x a year.

- If you have had cancer of the breast
- If you have had a stroke
- If you have or have had blood clots (thrombosis) in your legs
- If you have problems with your liver or your kidneys
- If you are allergic to DEPO-PROVERA (medroxyprogesterone acetate) or any of its other ingredients

What other things should I consider before using DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?

You will have a physical examination before your doctor prescribes DEPO-PROVERA. It is important to tell your health-care provider if you have any of the following:

- A history of depression
- An abnormal heart rate (an irregular heartbeat)
- A history of breast cancer, breast lumps, or swelling from your breasts
- Diabetes
- Irregular or scanty menstrual periods
- High blood pressure
- Ringing in the ears
- Allergies
- Kidney (nephritis) or liver disease
- Diabetes or a family history of diabetes

If you are taking any prescription or over-the-counter medications.

This product is intended to prevent pregnancy. It does not protect against transmission of HIV (AIDS) and other sexually transmitted diseases such as chlamydia, genital herpes, genital warts, gonorrhea, hepatitis B, and syphilis.

What if I want to become pregnant after using DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?

Because DEPO-PROVERA is a long-acting birth control method, it takes some time after your last injection for it to wear off. Based on the results from a large study done in the United States, for women who stop using DEPO-PROVERA in order to become pregnant, it is expected that about half of those who become pregnant will do so in about 10 months after their last injection; about two thirds of those who become pregnant will do so in about 13 months after their last injection; and about 90% of those who become pregnant will do so in about 18 months after their last injection. The length of time you use DEPO-PROVERA has no effect on how long it takes you to become pregnant after you stop using it.

What are the risks of using DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?

The side effects reported most frequently by women who use DEPO-PROVERA for contraception is a change in their normal menstrual cycle. During the first year of using DEPO-PROVERA, you might have one or more of the following changes: irregular or unpredictable bleeding or spotting; an increase or decrease in menstrual bleeding; or no bleeding at all. Unusually heavy or continuous bleeding, however, is not a usual effect of DEPO-PROVERA. If this happens, you should see your health-care provider right away. With continued use of DEPO-PROVERA, bleeding usually decreases, and many women stop having periods completely. In clinical studies of DEPO-PROVERA, 55% of the women studied reported no menstrual bleeding (amenorrhea) after 1 year of use, and 68% of the women studied reported no menstrual bleeding after 2 years of use. The reason that your periods stop is because DEPO-PROVERA causes a resting state in your ovaries. When your ovaries do not release an egg monthly, the regular monthly growth of the lining of your uterus does not occur, and therefore, the bleeding that comes with your normal menstruation does not take place. When you stop using DEPO-PROVERA, your menstrual period will usually, in time, return to its normal cycle.

Long-Term Menstrual Bleeding

Use of DEPO-PROVERA may be associated with a decrease in the amount of menstrual blood in your uterus. This could increase your risk of developing uterine fibroids. The rate of bone mineral loss is greatest in the early years of DEPO-PROVERA use, but after that it begins to resemble the normal rate of age-related bone mineral loss.

Cancer

Studies of women who have used different forms of contraception found that women who used DEPO-PROVERA for contraception had no increased overall risk of developing cancer of the breast, ovary, uterus, cervix, or liver. However, women under 35 years of age whose first exposure to DEPO-PROVERA was within the previous 4 to 5 years may have a slightly increased risk of developing breast cancer similar to that seen with oral contraceptives. You should discuss this with your health-care provider.

Unplanned Pregnancy

Because DEPO-PROVERA is such an effective contraceptive method, the risk of accidental pregnancy for women who get their shots regularly (every 3 months [13 weeks]) is very low. While there have been reports of an increased risk of low birth weight and neonatal infant death or other health problems in infants conceived close to the time of injection, such pregnancies are uncommon. If you think you may have become pregnant while using DEPO-PROVERA for contraception, see your health-care provider as soon as possible.

Some women using DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection have reported severe and potentially life-threatening allergic reactions known as anaphylaxis and anaphylactoid reactions. Symptoms include the sudden onset of hives or swelling and itching of the skin, breathing difficulties, and a drop in blood pressure.

Other Risks

Women who use hormone-based contraceptives may have an increased risk of blood clots or strokes. Also, if a contraceptive method fails, there is a possibility that the fertilized egg will begin to develop outside of the uterus (ectopic pregnancy). While these events are rare, you should tell your health-care provider if you have any of the problems listed in the next section.

What symptoms may signal problems while using DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?

Call your health-care provider immediately if any of these problems occur following an injection of DEPO-PROVERA:

- Heavy chest pain coughing up blood, or sudden shortness of breath (indicating a possible clot in the lung)
- Sudden severe headache or vomiting, dizziness or fainting, problems with your sight or speech, weakness or numbness in an arm or leg (indicating a possible stroke)
- Severe pain or swelling in the calf (indicating a possible clot in the leg)
- Unusually heavy vaginal bleeding
- Severe pain or tenderness in the lower abdominal area
- Unusual pain, pain, or swelling at the injection site

What are the possible side effects of DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?

Weight Gain

You may experience a weight gain while you are using DEPO-PROVERA. About two thirds of the women who used DEPO-PROVERA in clinical trials reported a weight gain of about 5 pounds during the first year of use. You may continue to gain weight after the first year. Women in one larger study who used DEPO-PROVERA for 2 years gained an average total of 8.1 pounds over those 2 years or approximately 4 pounds per year. Women who continued for 4 years gained an average total of 13.6 pounds over those 4 years or approximately 3.4 pounds per year. Women who continued for 6 years gained an average total of 16.5 pounds over those 6 years or approximately 2.7 pounds per year.

Other Side Effects

In a clinical study of over 3,000 women who used DEPO-PROVERA for up to 7 years, some women reported the following effects that may or may not have been related to their use of DEPO-PROVERA: irregular menstrual bleeding, amenorrhea, headache, nervousness, dizziness, cramps, dizziness, weakness or fatigue, decreased sexual desire, leg cramps, nausea, vaginal discharge or irritation, breast swelling and tenderness, itching, swelling of the hands or feet, hiccups, depression, insomnia, acne, joint pain, no hair growth or excessive hair loss, rash, test, fatigue, and joint pain. Other problems were reported by very few of the women in the clinical study but some of these could be serious. These include: convulsions, anisocoria, urinary tract infections, allergic reactions (rash, hives, redness, swelling, itching, or burning), loss of hearing, deep vein thromboses, pulmonary embolism, breast cancer or cervical cancer. If these or any other problems occur during your use of DEPO-PROVERA, discuss them with your health-care provider.

Should any precautions be followed during use of DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?

1. Missed Periods

During the time you are using DEPO-PROVERA for contraception, you may skip a period, or your periods may stop completely. If you have been receiving your DEPO-PROVERA injections regularly every 3 months (13 weeks), then you are probably not pregnant. However, if you think you may be pregnant, see your health-care provider.

2. Laboratory Test Interference

DEPO-PROVERA may interfere with laboratory tests that your health-care provider uses to see if you are using DEPO-PROVERA for contraception. Certain blood tests are affected by hormones such as DEPO-PROVERA.

3. Drug Interactions

Cocaine (an amphetamine) is an anesthetic drug that may significantly increase the effectiveness of DEPO-PROVERA if the two drugs are given during the same time.

4. Nursing Mothers

Although DEPO-PROVERA can be passed to the nursing infant in the breast milk, no harmful effects have been found in these children. DEPO-PROVERA does not prevent the breast milk from producing milk, so it can be used by nursing mothers. However, to minimize the amount of DEPO-PROVERA that is passed to the infant in the first weeks after birth, you should wait until 6 weeks after childbirth before you start using DEPO-PROVERA for contraception.

How often do I get my shot of DEPO-PROVERA Contraceptive Injection?

The recommended dose of DEPO-PROVERA is 150 mg every 3 months (13 weeks) given in a single intramuscular injection in the buttock or upper arm. To make sure that you are not pregnant at the time of the first injection, it is essential that the injection be given ONLY during the first 5 days of a normal menstrual period. If used following the delivery of a child, the first injection of DEPO-PROVERA MUST be given within 5 days after childbirth if you are not breast-feeding or 6 weeks after childbirth if you are exclusively breast-feeding. If you wait longer than 3 months (13 weeks) between injections or longer than 6 weeks after delivery, your health-care provider should determine that you are not pregnant before giving you your injection of DEPO-PROVERA.

For only CB-75

Pharmacia & Upjohn Company
Kalamazoo, MI 49001, USA

ROOM | Roommate conflicts typically occur in 1st half of semester

Continued from Page 1

Conflicts between roommates usually occur during the first few weeks or by mid-semester, Tanya Massey, residence life coordinator, said.

"They've been around each other long enough to say, 'That's it. I've had it,'" Massey said.

"Generally, if they make it past Christmas, they'll make it through the rest of the year."

Some residents change rooms because they can't get along with their roommate or find someone else they are more compatible with, she said.

Hannah Finney, sophomore in music education and Spanish, said most problems are caused by miscommunication. As a resident assistant in Haymaker Hall, Finney helps mediate conflicts between roommates.

"Communication is really, really important," Finney said.

Residents need to address problems as they arise, she said.

"It's not really you wanting to change the other person but just letting them know that 'Hey, this really bothers me,'" Finney said.

"A lot of it is just respect and being willing to compromise."

Finney said communicating about problems is more than just telling a roommate about complaints - it's defining the problem and offering potential solutions.

Residents also can build good relationships with each other by spending time apart and respecting the other person's separate social life, she said.

When problems become too difficult to solve together, roommate mediation may be necessary, Finney said. The process allows roommates to meet in a neutral place to express problems and consider possible solutions. Solutions sometimes include writing out and signing contracts, Finney said.

"Sometimes it's possible that they don't want to work it out," she said. "If they're not willing to work it out, you can't force them to. But most of the time, if those people are willing to compromise and work together, it should be a great year."

Campbell and Brunner said they have few problems getting along.

"Most problems are when one of us is in a bad mood, and doesn't want to be around anyone else," Campbell said.

Building strong roommate relationships is important for successful residence-hall living experiences, Finney said.

Campbell and Brunner said they maintain a good relationship by looking out for each other's needs.

"We just respect each other's space," Campbell said.

Brunner agreed. "I just make sure I don't do things that offend her," she said.

Sharing space has been the most challenging part of living together, Brunner said. But she and Campbell agreed the experience has been easier than they expected.

"It's actually pretty easy if you get a good roommate - I got a good roommate," Brunner said.

The benefits have outweighed the risks of living with a new person, she said.

"I met a new person from out-of-state and hopefully, we can stay friends for the present time and keep in touch when school gets out," Brunner said.

TRIAL | Program would increase privilege fees if adopted

Continued from Page 1

however, at the University of Kansas, Student Body President Jonathon Ng said the students pay about $5 per semester for the program in student fees.

Cook said the privilege-fee increase may be difficult to pass during a time of tuition increases and budget cuts.

"In this tight budget year, we will have to see what people think," he said.

However, K-State is the latest in a long line of schools considering the program. Howard said the program started in 1997 at Pennsylvania State University because the school's president wanted to get students to read the paper.

"He felt like students during college were in a bubble, and he wanted them to be more aware socially," Howard said.

The program started with just that school and has grown.

Howard said the program's goal isn't to increase circulation, but to increase the amount of people reading the paper.

One man's junk is another man's treasure.

Kansas State Collegian Classifieds • 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

NEW TOWNHOMES. Two and three-bedrooms. $750-$900. Manhattan Rentals. (785)341-4496.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. pets allowed $445/month. Lease ends in May but can be renewed. Can move in immediately. Park Place Apartments. (785)539-2951.

145 Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Call (785)587-9592 or (785)341-5105.

150 Sublease

FOUR-BEDROOM. Two bathroom apartment. Fully furnished with washer/dryer. Will lease individually. Call (785)323-1778. Ask for Beth.

ONE-BEDROOM CHASE Manhattan Apartments. $490/month includes water and trash available late December. Call (785)565-0674.

Need to sublease?

Advertise your sublease before it's too late!

Kedzie 101 • 532-6555

310 Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY potential making our circles. For information call (203)977-1720.

BARTENDERS NEEDED. No experience necessary. Earn up to $300 a day. (866)291-1884 extension U140.

FIRST UNITED Methodist Church of Wamego seeks part-time Christian Education Director. Contact Darwin Olson at (785)456-8478 by November 2.

GET PAID For Your Opinions! Earn $15-$125 and more per survey! www.dollars4opinions.com

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. Info 1(985)646-1700 Dept. K5-6438.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

EAT COOKIES, lose weight and make money. Sugar busters diet cookies are here! Leaders wanted to open in KSU area. Huge income potential. Join the number one team. Call (800)242-0363 voice mailbox 1983. www.prosper2y.net

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

55 GALLON aquarium stand, all you need is the fish. $250 or best offer. Email bjargen@ksu.edu.

BOOK: Anthology of Chinese Literary Essays (Translated to English) Please visit <http://li.chungwang0.tripod.com>.

MUST HAVE! Like new, professional soccer/football table in perfect condition. $300 firm. (785)456-6940.

QUEEN FUTON bed for sale; excellent condition! Call (785)776-6714.

420 Garage/Yard Sales

NEED SOME stuff? Don't want new? Come and shop - College Avenue! All church rummage sale. College Avenue United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall, 1609 College Ave. Friday, October 25 - 5:00PM-9:00PM. Saturday, October 26 - 7:00 AM - 12:00 PM noon. Proceeds go to Ogden Friendship House and Mission Projects.

450 Pets and Supplies

MALE RED-TAILED Boa for sale. $125 or best offer. Call 587-9968. Ask for Matt.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: two general admission ISU tickets. $40 or best offer. (785)395-2489.

500 transportation

320 Volunteers Needed

VOLUNTEER ABROAD. Africa, Asia, education, AIDS awareness, environment and more. Train in US and Caribbean. All welcome to apply. (413)458-0294. www.drt-movement.org www.humana.org stefmarie@humana.org

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2441.

BARTENDING $250/ DAY potential/ training provided. (800)293-3985 ext. 548.

510 Automobiles

1992 PLYMOUTH Laser. Blue, sporty, runs well. Manual transmission. $1,250. (785)395-5955.

1995 CAMARO Z28. dark green, power chip, flowmaster plus K&N, tint windows. Asking $6500, serious inquiries only. Kyle (785)341-9143.

1997 F350 white Ford dually. Diesel power stroke, 5 speed, 120k miles, excellent condition, many extras, $16,000. (785)457-3635.

MUST SELL! 1987 Honda Accord LX, gold, manual shift, CD nice stereo. High miles, well cared for, records, new tires. Asking $1700 or best offer. Call (785)969-8272.

530 Motorcycles

1993 SUZUKI Katana 600. $2000. Runs great. (785)564-0196. Ask for Aaron.

MUST SELL! 1994 Kawasaki Ninja 600. Discounted for end season. Includes two size large helmets. Call Kelly, (785)456-8582.

600 travel/trips

610 Tour Package

WINTER/SPRING BREAK

FREE

1.800.SUNCHASE

1.800-SKI-WILD

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

630 Spring Break

! KSU SPRING BREAK. ARE YOU GOING? Then GO DIRECT! Book now and get guaranteed LOWEST price. FREE drinks (50 hours), FREE meals, and FREE insurance! CAMPUS REPS WANTED! Organize some friends- travel FREE! We have ZERO customer complaints! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakDIRECT.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best spring break prices! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Margarita. TRAVEL FREE. Reps needed, earn $$$$. Group Discounts for 6+. 1-888-THINK-SUN (1-888-844-6578) www.springbreakdiscounts.com

JUST GIVE us two hours of your time per week until Spring Break and travel free! South Padre Island, Cancun, Acapulco, and Mazatlan. No time and just wanna go? Huge on-site parties and best prices. Friendly help! 800-821-2176 or email: tripinfo@InertiaTours.com

KANSAS STATE SPRING BREAK '03 WITH STUDENTCITY.COM! The ultimate vacation in Cancun, Mazatlan, Acapulco, Jamaica and more! Packages include airfare, seven nights hotel, FREE FOOD, FREE DRINKS and 150% lowest price guarantee! Reps wanted! Organize 15 friends and get two free trips and VIP treatment! Earn extra cash and bonus prizes just for promoting StudentCity.com! Call 1-800-293-1443 or email sales@studentcity.com today!

SPRING BREAK Blowout! Lowest prices, free trips, free meals, and parties. Book by November 6. Limited inventory. Most reliable, 15 years experience. Featured on Travel Channel and MTV. sunsplashes.com. 1(800)426-7710.

FREE FOUND ADS

As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before the ad is to be published.

THERE ARE PLENTY OF FISH IN THE SEA

SO HOOK ONE WITH A PERSONAL ALREADY!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN Classifieds • 532-6555

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

1.800-442-4444

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

ATTORNEY CHARLES W. (Chuck) Harper. 25 years experience, divorce and civil law. 400 Poyntz. (785)539-6100. chuckharper@msn.com

BARTENDER TRAINEES needed $250/day potential. Local positions. (800)293-3985 ext. 623.

COME GET your Royal Purple portrait picture taken free. Go to the Union Courtyard Monday-Friday, 9am to 5pm. If you missed your portrait at your Greek House, make it up at the Union.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: GLOVES outside of Kedzie Hall, please identify and claim in 103 Kedzie.

030 Post a Note

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a post a note.

100 housing/real estate

105 For Rent-Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, (785)587-2440.

VERY NICE one-bedroom furnished. By campus, Aggieville. Water, trash paid. Parking, laundry. $420. 1122 Kearney #16. December, January. (785)539-7961.

"Stay In Class At The Commons"

Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

• Fully Furnished
• 2 & 4 Bedroom
• Alarm System
• Swimming Pool
• Washer/Dryer
• Computer Lab
• Fitness Center
• Permit Parking
• Tennis/Volleyball Courts
• Individual Leases

Office Hours: M-F 9-5

539-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS

APARTMENTS

2215 COLLEGE AVE

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

ONE-BEDROOM ACROSS the street from campus. No pets. Call John at (785)539-2356.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $300/month. Available January. 928 Leavenworth. A very cute apartment. Absolutely No Smoking. Call Stan (785)537-7681

TWO-BEDROOM DAY-LIGHT basement. $420, bills paid, references, lease. (785)539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM. Two bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

115 Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM FOR sublease in a five-bedroom house. Close to campus. $240/ month plus bills. Call (785)317-5606.

120 For Rent-Houses

NEXT to campus, nice four, six-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7050.

105 For Rent-Apts. Furnished

"Stay In Class At The Commons"

Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

• Fully Furnished
• 2 & 4 Bedroom
• Alarm System
• Swimming Pool
• Washer/Dryer
• Computer Lab
• Fitness Center
• Permit Parking
• Tennis/Volleyball Courts
• Individual Leases

Office Hours: M-F 9-5

539-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS

APARTMENTS

2215 COLLEGE AVE

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

ONE-BEDROOM ACROSS the street from campus. No pets. Call John at (785)539-2356.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $300/month. Available January. 928 Leavenworth. A very cute apartment. Absolutely No Smoking. Call Stan (785)537-7681

TWO-BEDROOM DAY-LIGHT basement. $420, bills paid, references, lease. (785)539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM. Two bathroom with two extra study rooms. Call Woodway Apartments for special rates. (785)537-7007.

115 Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM FOR sublease in a five-bedroom house. Close to campus. $240/ month plus bills. Call (785)317-5606.

120 For Rent-Houses

NEXT to campus, nice four, six-bedroom house. Central air, laundry, garage, living room, dining room, fire place. No pets. (785)537-7050.

105 For Rent-Apts. Furnished

"Stay In Class At The Commons"

Now Leasing for 2002-2003!

• Fully Furnished
• 2 & 4 Bedroom
• Alarm System
• Swimming Pool
• Washer/Dryer
• Computer Lab
• Fitness Center
• Permit Parking
• Tennis/Volleyball Courts
• Individual Leases

Office Hours: M-F 9-5

539-0500

UNIVERSITY COMMONS

APARTMENTS

BAYLOR | Cats' offensive attack not to be changed

Continued from Page 6

on the ball, and rather than attempt to do so, he tried to hand it off anyway.

His quick move to dish it off was hamstrung from the start.

Roberson was caught stepping ahead of himself again, and the ball was jarred loose, falling to the turf.

When he began to focus too far ahead, he said, the mistakes started to happen.

"It was just lack of concentration at times. I was trying to see the field and see the defensive line and catch the ball at the same time," Roberson said.

And on Saturday, it was hard for Roberson not to keep an eye on the Longhorn defensive line. Texas's defense sacked him four times and held him to under 25 yards rushing.

Nevertheless, Roberson said he insists he is the one at fault. While he admitted the Texas defense had its strengths, he said better concentration will make the difference and solve the problems when the Cats go to Waco, Texas, to play Baylor this Saturday.

"Their defense — it was fast," Roberson said. "I don't think that had an effect on me fumbling the ball. That was just all me. You have to catch the ball before you can do anything, and at times I was ready to go so fast that I was ready to look up field before I caught the ball. That is just lack of concentration. That's all."

The Cats have had at least one fumble in each game so far this season. They had five fumbles against Eastern Illinois, Southern California and Texas.

Two of the fumbles against USC came in the fourth quarter and nearly cost the Cats an early win.

When K-State travels to Baylor this weekend, Snyder said he hopes the team can hang on better than it has so far this season.

Snyder said he doesn't plan to alter the offense attack to solve the problem. Rather, he said, everyone just needs to concentrate and focus in order to get better, especially Roberson.

"The fine threads are probably good possession of the ball, good focus on the football, and he was in the shotgun," Snyder said. "We're not going to stop being in the shotgun, so he needs to redefine his focus on the football, which he will. He will."

COLUMN | Wooldridge could break Big 12 top 6

Continued from Page 6

Jarrett Hart is another promising Juco guard who saw significant playing time at Oklahoma before dropping out due to a death in the family.

To help get the new guys in the system, Matt Siebrandt is returning for his final year at the four spot. Siebrandt is a big stocky, tattooed guy who always finds a way to get the job done. He plays hard each and every time down the floor, and the man cannot miss with his signature move, the left-handed hook shot.

I know a lot of you still have your doubts about the team, but I urge you to try it out.

The Cats finished seventh in the Big 12 last year and were the highest rated team in the Big 12 not to go to a post-season tournament.

These Cats can climb into the top 6 this season, and could even make a post-season appearance. Show up and cheer when they play at home, and don't make K-State's team a joke. These guys are ready to go, and you know what? They made a believer out of me.

Joel is a junior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at pilotksu@hotmail.com

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
101 Redline 932-6555

SHAC

Student Health Advisory Committee

Applications are available at the Student Activities office in the Union or at Lafene, Room 3, or can be printed from http://www.ksu.edu/lafene/shac\_app.pdf.

Application deadline is 5 p.m. October 25th at the Student Activities office in the Union.

Royal

altering | STATE

Thursday, October 24

Don't forget to get your FREE portrait pictures

Union

10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Alpha of Clovia

6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.

Next up: Friday, Oct. 25
Rusty's 11 a.m. - 7 p.m.

See Kansas marching bands at their best!

16th Annual

CENTRAL STATES MARCHING FESTIVAL

October 26, 2002

KSU STADIUM

1:00-7:30 PM

Participating Schools:

Lakewood MS	Great Bend Freshmen
Riley County	Chapman	Liberal
McPherson	Great Bend	Buhler
Highland Park	Salina South	Maize
Blue Valley North	Dodge City	Derby
Leavenworth	Junction City	Manhattan

K-State Marching Band Performance at 7:20!

General Admission	$3.00
High School./Jr. High/Senior Citizens	$2.00
10 & under/KSU students with valid ID	free

It's a lot of talk for just a little.

FREE PHONE

5,400 MINUTES
$30

First Month FREE
On New Local Plans
With One Year Agreement

CELLULARONE
Call on someone you know.

SIMPLICITY CHOICE VALUE 30-DAY SATISFACTION GUARANTEE

1.800.cell.one cellularonewest.com Cellular One proudly supports
The National Youth Anti-Drug Media Campaign www.TheAntiDrug.com

Cellular One

1115 Westloop Place
785-537-4646
800-467-7858
Ask for Rich or Will.

Manhattan Town Center Mall
785-776-1414
Ask for Angela, Scott
or Mike.

